

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

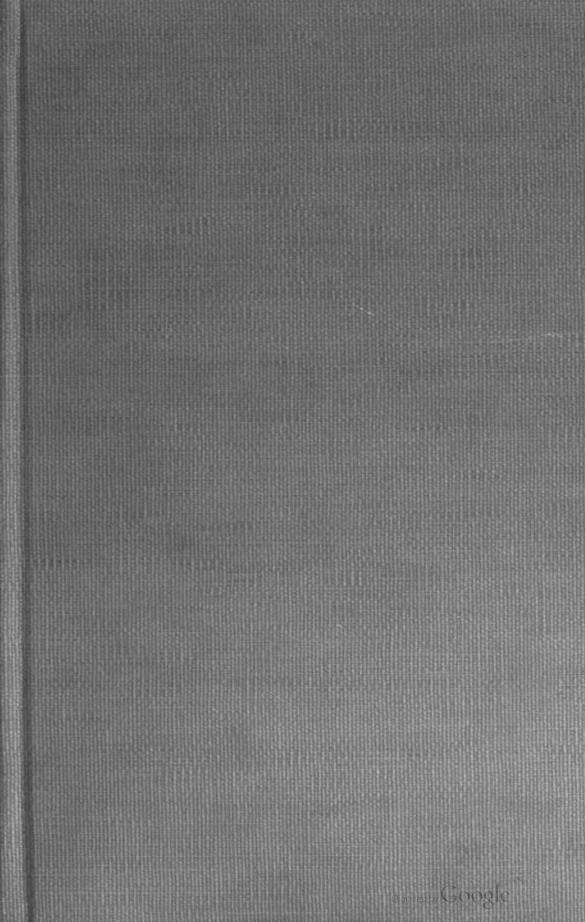

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

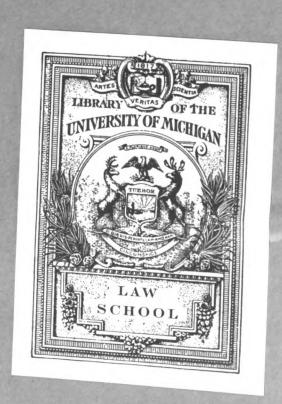

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

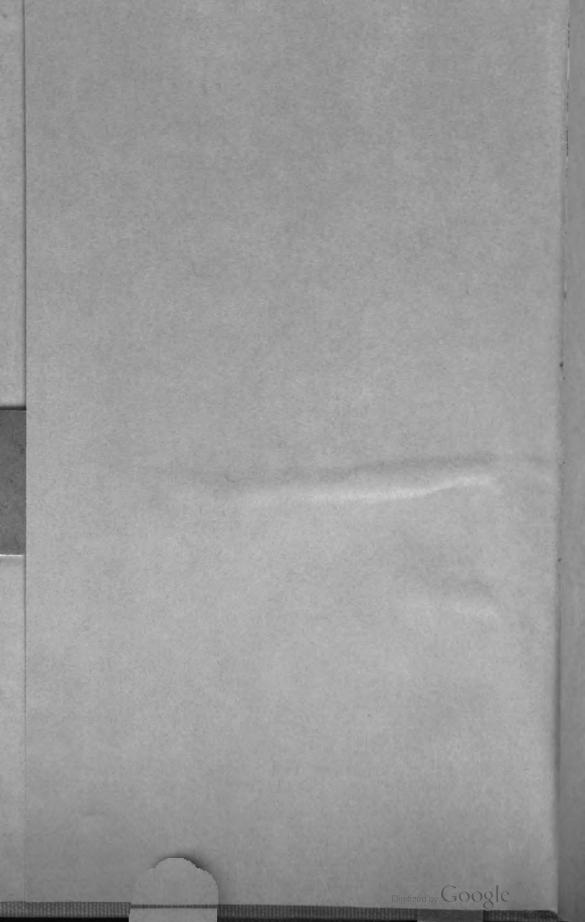

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at http://books.google.com/

Rave Post C 545 b 1842

BI

TH

TF.

--

CYON PRACTICAL TREATISE

ON

& M A

BILLS OF EXCHANGE,

CHECKS ON BANKERS.

PROMISSORY NOTES,

BANKERS' CASH NOTES.

AND

Bank Notes.

WITH REFERENCES TO

THE LAW OF SCOTLAND, FRANCE AND AMERICA.

BY JOSEPH CHITTY, ESQ.,

AND

JOHN WALTER HULME, ESQ.,

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE, BARRISTERS AT LAW.

TEN THE AMERICAN FROM THE NINTH LONDON EDITION,

CONTAINING THE AMERICAN NOTES OF FORMER EDITIONS, BY JUDGE STORY, E. D. INGRAHAM, THOS. HUNTINGTON, AND P. O. BEEBEE, ESQS.

TO WHICH ARE NOW ADDED,

THE CASES DECIDED IN ALL THE ENGLISH COURTS, IN THE COURTS OF THE UNITED STATES, AND OF THE SEVERAL STATES,

TO THE PRESENT TIME.

BY O. L. BARBOUR,

SPRINGFIELD:
PUBLISHED BY G. & C. MERRIAM.
1842.

Entered, according to the Act of Congress, in the year 1842, BY G. & C. MERRIAM, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of Massachusetts.

WEST BROOKFIELD, MASS.
MERRIAM AND COOKE, PRINTERS.

TO

WILLIAM TIDD, ESQ.,

THIS TREATISE IS DEDICATED,

AS A

TESTIMONY OF RESPECT FOR HIS TALENTS.

AND AN

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF THE

GREAT OBLIGATIONS WHICH HIS FRIENDSHIP

AND

HIS PROFESSIONAL INSTRUCTIONS,

HAVE CONFERRED ON

HIS PUPIL AND FRIEND,

THE AUTHOR.

Digitized by Google

:: .; T:;

ADVERTISEMENT

TO THE

TENTH AMERICAN EDITION.

THE ninth London Edition, from which the present is printed, was published in September, 1840, and embraces all the English decisions on the subject, down to that time. In the preparation of that edition, the learned Author was assisted by Mr. Hulme, of the Middle Temple, Barrister at Law. The result of their joint efforts has been, the production of decidedly the best work upon the subject of which it treats, that has ever been given to the Profession. For comprehensiveness of design, clearness of arrangement, precision of style, and accuracy of detail, it is un-The present Editor has not attempted to improve the text of such a work. He has contented himself with appending to it the references to American Reports, made by former Editors—expunging such references to English Cases, as are now incorporated into the text, and adding Notes of American Cases decided since the publication of the ninth American Edition in 1839—and of the English and Irish Cases decided since the London Edition, from which the present Edition is taken was published.

The Notes of the present Editor are designated by brackets \ \ \.

Saratoga Springs, August, 1842.

PREFACE

TO THE NINTH EDITION.

Since the publication of the last Edition of this work several important Acts have been passed relating to Bills of Exchange; namely, the 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 98, regulating the Place of Protest in certain cases; the 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 58, declaring the Time when Presentment for payment to an acceptor for honour, or referee in case of need, is to be made; the 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, making bills and notes given for a Gaming or Usurious consideration valid in the hands of a bonâ fide holder; and the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, s. 7—7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 80, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, for the exemption of certain bills and notes from the operation of the Usury laws. And it is to be observed that the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, which has since been continued by the 3 & 4 Vict. c. 83, till the 1st of January 1843, is not confined to bills and notes, but extends to all contracts for the loan or forbearance of money above the sum of 101.

The 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 123, and 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 84, abolish capital punishment in cases of Forgery.

Of the various decisions which have taken place on the subject of Bills of Exchange, perhaps the most important are those which establish in contradiction to the doctrine laid down by Lord Tenterden, that the claim of a bonâ fide holder of a bill or note which has been lost, or fraudulently obtained, is not to be defeated by his having taken it under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man; but that in order to destroy the holder's title he must be shewn to have taken the instrument MALA FIDE. The rule thus established not only relieves bills and notes from the clog which a contrary doctrine is calculated to impose on their negotiability, but presents at once a clear and intelligible question for the consideration of a jury; while to leave it to a jury to determine as to the degree of caution which a prudent man would exercise on taking such an instrument, leads to much perplexity and frequent injustice.

The cases as to the sufficiency of a notice of dishonour, though numerous, are far from being uniform, notwithstanding the manifest inclination of the Courts to put a liberal construction on such notices; and it is highly desirable that a question of so much commercial importance, and of such daily occurrence, should be settled by the intervention of the Legislature.

Several additions have been made to the tables of Usances and Days of Grace, and no pains have been spared to render the present Edition worthy of the continued approbation of the profession.

J. C. J. W. H.

1, Pump Court, Temple, September, 1840.

Digitized by Google

numeration of hly deh daily ays of orthy

PART OF THE PREFACE

TO THE

FIRST EDITION.

Considering the great circulation of Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes in this Kingdom, and the loss to which the parties are subject, if they neglect to observe the rules affecting these securities, together with the frequency of litigation respecting them, there is no branch of the law so important to the merchant as well as to the lawyer as that relating to these instruments. An intimate acquaintance with the commercial law in this respect is particularly essential to the trader, who, too frequently, for want of being sufficiently apprised of the rules affecting bills, &c. loses the benefit of the security in his hands. It is also of the greatest importance to every professional man, because more ready and immediate advice is required from him in regard to bills and notes than on almost any other point; and the Pleader in particular is called upon for the utmost expedition in advising and framing the legal proceedings. These considerations have induced the Author to offer the following work to the public.

In order to facilitate reference to the particular parts of The Treatise, it has been considered expedient, in addition to the General Index at the end of the work, to give an Analytical Statement of the Contents immediately preceding the Alphabetical Table of Cases.

TEMPLE, September, A. D. 1799.

B

ABBREVIATIONS USED IN THE PRESENT EDITION.

Adol. & El.	Adolphus & Ellis'	Reports.	К. В.
Bai.	Bailey's South Carolina	••
Bald.	Baldwin's U. S. Circuit Court	44
Blackf.	Blackford's Indiana	44 .
Brev.	Brevard's So. Carolina.	66
Brock.	Brockenbrough's U. S. Cir. Court	**
R. M. Charl.	R. M. Charlton's Georgia	**
Cont. or Conn.	Connecticut	44
Dev. Eq.	Devereux's N. Carolina Equity	**
Fairf.	Fairfield's Maine	44
Gill. & John.	Gill & Johnson's Maryland
Ham.	Hammond's Ohio	64
Нат.	Harrington's Delaware	4.6
Harr.	Harrison's N. Jersey	"
How.	Howard's Mississippi	44
Jebb & Sy.	Jebb & Symes	**
Leg. Obs.	Legal Observer, Loud.	**
Mee. & Wels.	Meeson & Welsby's	"
N. Hamp.	New Hampshire	**
Pick.	Pickering's Mass.	"
Port.	Porter's Alabama	44
Shep.	Shepley's Maine	**
Stew.	Stewart's Alabama	44
" & Port.	" & Porter's	46
Sum.	Sumner's U. S. Circuit Court	44
Verm.	Vermont	44
Wend.	Wendell's N. Y.	"
Whart.	Wharton's Pennsylvania	••

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

rion.

K. B

PART I.

CHAPTER I.

THE GENERAL NATURE, UTILITY, AND HISTORY OF BILLS OF EXCHANGE, &c., 1 to 13.

I. ETYMOLOGY, DEFINITION, AND GENERAL NATURE OF A BILL OF Ex- CHANGE, &c.
CHANGE, &C. II. GENERAL UTILITY, &C.	ge :
III. PECULIAR PROPERTIES AND ADVANTAGES OF BULLS	ì
Doctrine as to the assignment of Choses in Action.
Distinction between Bills and other Simple Contracts as to Consideration	5
When a Consideration not essential to validity of a Bill of Exchange, &c.	9
IV. THE HISTORY OF BILLS	10
Foreign	ib.
Inland
Checks, & c.	12 ib.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE PARTIES TO A BILL OF EXCHANGE OR PROMISSORY NOTE, 13 to 68.

I.	WHO MAY BE A PARTY, AND WHO NOT OF SUFFICIENT CAPACITY	13 Aliens
		ib.
	Clergy	14
	Merchant or Trader, or not	ib.
	Corporations and Copartnerships having more than six Co-partners
	Rank Postsiction A-tail I having more than six Co-partners	15
	Bank Restriction Acts and decisions thereon	16
	Incapacity in general	18
	Imbecility, Drunkenness, Fraud, &c.
	Infants	ib.
		ib.
	Ratification of Contract	ib.
	Married women	ib.
	Effect of Incapacity as to other Parties
11.	OF THE NUMBER OF PARTIES	24
Ħ	Manager OF PARTIES	ib.
	Modes of Becoming a Party	27
		~ .

By the Party himself	Page 2
By Act of Agent	ib
Who may be an Agent	2
Mode of Appointment	ib
Extent of Authority	ib
Limit and Construction of formal Powers of Attorney	29
Implied Authority	3
Subsequent Assent	3
Notice of Authority of Agent having ceased to be given	ib
Sub-agents	ib
Mode in which an Agent should draw, accept or indorse	ib
When an Agent is entitled to Relief	34
Consequences of acting without Authority	35
Duties of Agents as to Bills, &c.	36
Bill of Interpleader	37
By Act of Partner	ib
1. Private Partnerships	38
A mere Proposal does not constitute a Partnership	ib.
Nor a prospective Partnership	39
Party representing himself to be a Partner, liable	ib.
2. Liability in case of General Partnership	ib.
Partners bound notwithstanding Deed of Partnership	-01q
hibits Bills	42
Liability whether Name be used in Firm or not	49
Not compulsory to sue a secret Partner	ib.
Liability in case of a particular Partnership	44
Joint Ownership, when not a Partnership	45
Partnership must exist at Date of Bill or Contract	ib.
Must be in a Trade or Concern to which use of Bills is
sential	46
Admission of Liability as Partner	ib.
Holder having Notice of Fraud of Partnership cannot	re- ib.
cover	48
Particular Prohibition
Bill for Injunction to prevent Partners from fraudulent abusing partnership Name	49
3. Dissolution of Partnership	ib.
1st, By Effluxion of Time	ib.
2dly, By Act of Parties, &c.	ib.
Notice of Retiring or Dissolution	5 0
Notice not necessary on Retiring of a secret Parts
After Notice of Dissolution, no Bill in Name of	old
Firm binding on it	51
Injunction against Partners	52
What a sufficient Notice	ib.
Consequences of retiring Partner afterwards appe	ar-
ing as Partner	ib.
Acts, &c. of Partner after Dissolution, how far bi	nd-ing	53
Partners liable after Dissolution for Debts contract
during Partnership	54
3rdly, Dissolution by Bankruptcy	55
What Acts of Partner afterward bind	ib.
4thly, Dissolution by Death	. 56
4. When Evidence as to Custom of Merchants as to Partners	· 18
admissible, and how Partners are to sign Bills or Notes	ib.

Poge 27

25 i. i. 29 31 28 ii. ii. 34 35 56 7 ii. 35 ii. 39 ii.

ib

ib. ib. 18

19 6. 1.

How Partners should in general sign to bind a Firm	Page 57
How several Persons not Partners in Trade are to si	gn 59
5. One Partner cannot sue another on a Bill, &c. drawn is	n the
Partnership Name	60
When one Partner may sue another, &c.	ib.
6. How the Act or promise of one Partner will prejudice of fect the Firm inter se	61
IV. Public Regulations appecting Corporations and Coparts
	ib.
SHIPS Danking Companies	ib.
Banking Companies
Enactments of 7 Geo. 4, c. 46	61, 64
3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98	62
3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 83	63
1 & 2 Vict. c. 98	65
1 & 2 Vict. c. 96	ib.
Spiritual Persons	ib.
Power to sue and be sued	ib.
Individual liability of Members	ib.
Trading Companies
Enactments of 7 Will. 4 and 1 Vict. c. 73, respecting	66
Letters Patent	ib.
Power to sue and be sued	ib.
Individual Liability of Members	67
	ib.
Charters of Incorporation	•••
CHAPTER III.
AND THE STATE OF SOMETHING AND ANY ON WITHOUT A	DITT
OF THE CONTRACT OR CONSIDERATION ON WHICH A	BILL
OR NOTE MAY BE FOUNDED, 68 to 102
General Observations	68
	69
I. Adequacy of Consideration	ib.
1st, Want of, when a Defence	ib.
Presumption of Adequacy	ib.
Contrary may be shewn
Plaintiff's, or one of several, express promise to provide	70 ~
Delivery of Bill for specific purpose	72
Cases of Duress, Fraud, &c.	ib.
Mere Semblance of Consideration	73
What a sufficient Consideration	ib.
Debt of third Person	ib.
Debt barred by Statute of Limitation	74
Debt barred by Certificate	ib.
Moral Obligation	ib.
Exchange of Securities	ib.
Liability for a Debt, &c.	ib.
Subsequent Failure of Consideration	76
Entire Failure	ib.
Partial Failure	77
2dly, Want of Consideration when not a Desence	79
Bill or Note in Hands of third Person for Value	ib.
Accommodation Bills, &c.	80
II. ILLEGALITY OF CONSIDERATION OR CONTRACT	81
1. Illegality at Common Law	82
Benny at Common Nam	~~

Prejudicial to the Community	Page 82
Affecting Interests of Individuals	85
2. Illegality by Statute	86
Usury	87
Enactments respecting	ib.
Gaming	89
Enactments respecting	ib.
Stockjobbing	91
Horse-racing, Wagering Policies, &c.	92
Other Contract declared void by Statute	93
Other prohibited Transactions	ib.
Illegality in Part of Transaction	94
Effect of, on third Persons	ib.
When not void in Hands of bona fide Holder	95
Illegality in general in a second Indorsement in Blank	96
When a Defendant precluded from objecting	ib.
Prior legal Debt not destroyed by subsequent Illegality	ib.
III. RELIEF IN CASES OF FRAUD, &c.	97
Bill in Equity to restrain Negotiation	98
Bill of Discovery	99
Account
Account	101

----6@a ---

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE STAMPS ON BILLS AND NOTES, 102 to 126.

I. Of the Stamp Acts in general	102
II. OF THE STATUTE 55 GEO. 3, c. 184, IN PARTICULAR	103
Stamps on Inland Bills	ib.
What Instruments, though contingent, require a Bill Stamp	105
Stamps on Foreign Bills	ib.
Exemptions from Stamps on Foreign and Inland Bills	106
Exemptions as to Checks on Bankers	ib.
Stamps on Promissory Notes	107
On other Notes not reissuable	ib.
What to be deemed Promissory Notes	109
Exemptions	ib.
Stamps on Receipts	ib.
Exemptions	111
Observations on the Act	ib.
Decisions on the Statutes relative to Stamps	114
On Foreign Bills	ib.
On Inland Bills	115
On Promissory Notes	ib.
On checks	118
III. Time of Impressing the Stamp	ib.
No existing Power to Impress Proper Stamp, if Stamp of inferior	•
value	119
When Proper Stamp can be Impressed	120
IV. Consequences of Instruments not being stamped	122
Bills, &c. wholly unavailable	ib.
Otherwise to prove Fraud and Crime	124
Holder not bound to present or give Notice	ib.
When Relief may be obtained in Equity	125
V. Consequences of Alterations in a Bill, &c. as to Stamps	ib.
4. Consultations of residentions in a Dipp, Co. as 10 STAMPS	••• ij.

91 9,

107 ib. 100 ıb ib.

CHAPTER V.

FORMS AND REQUISITES OF BILLS, NOTES, &c.—CONSTRUC-TION.—DELIVERY TO PAYEE AND EFFECT THEREOF.—ALTERATIONS.—AND LIABILITY OF DRAWER, 126 to 195.

I. FORM AND PRINCIPAL REQUISITES OF BILLS, NOTES, &	c. Page 126
Must be in Writing	127
Concise in Form	ib.
Essential to know Requisites of Foreign Bills	ib.
In general no precise Form essential	128
Excepted Instances by Statute	ib.
What amounts to a Bill or Note	129
A mere Acknowledgment of Debt insufficient	130
Must contain an Order or Promise to pay	ib.
If Instrument ambiguous, may be treated as a Bill or No	te 131
Certain Qualities essential	132
Must be for Payment of Money only	ib.
Must be absolute, not contingent	132—134
Must be certain as to Amount	133
If Event must happen, as Death, &c. such Contingence	y does not vitiate	136
Contingent, because payable out of a particular Fund	137
When Statement of Fund will not vitiate	139
Contingency as to Person, by or to whom payable	ib.
Contingency by Indorsement or written Memorandum	140
By separate Memorandum	141
Steps to be taken thereon	142
Parol Evidence of Contingency inadmissible	ib.
Effect of a subsequent Agreement to renew	144
Consequences of Informality in Bill or Note	ib.
Action thereon cannot be supported	ib.
Cannot be proved under a Fiat	ib.
II. THEIR PARTS AND PARTICULAR REQUISITES	145
Forms of Bills, Checks, Notes and I. O. U.	146
lst, Stamp	147
2dly, Place where made	ib.
3dly, Date or 'Time of Drawing	148
4thly, Superscription of the Sum payable	149
5thly, Time of Payment	150
6thly, Place of Payment	151
Enactments of 1 & 2 Geo. 4. c. 78, as to Ac	ceptances payable at a particular Place	152
Promissory Notes, when payable at a particul	ar Place 153
7thly, Request to pay	154
Sthly, Of several Parts	ib.
9thly, To whom payable, and of Words authorising Tra	insfer 156
10thly, Payable to Order or to Bearer	159
11thly, Sum payable	ib.
12thly, Of the Words Value Received	160
13thly, Direction to place it to Account	162
14thly, Of the Words as per Advice	163
15thly, Drawer's Name	ib.
16thly, Direction to the Drawee	164
17thly, Place of Payment	165

19thly, Au Besoin, &c. Page	165
19thly, "Retour sans Protec" ou "sans Frais,"	ib.
20thly, Limit of Re-exchange and Expenses	ib.
21stly, Of subscribing Witnesses	ib.
Letter of Advice	166
Of Mistakes in Bill or Note	ib.
Of Courts of Equity compelling Parties to give the intended In- strument	166
Injunction to prevent Negotiation and compel Delivery up of Bill,	167
III. CONSTRUCTION OF BILLS AND NOTES, AND HOW GIVEN EFFECT TO	ib.
To be construed according to the Intention of the Parties	ib.
Construction to be according to Law of Country where made	168
But Remedy to be according to the Law of the Country where pur- sued	169
Foreign Lex loci to be given Effect to as to Protests, &c.	170
Foreign Law on this Subject	17l
The Language of the Bill must be observed	ib.
IV. DELIVERY TO PAYEE, AND EFFECT THEREOF	172
When Delivery essential	ib.
Taking of, when it suspends Remedy for prior Debts	ib.
When it waives a lien	174
When it precludes Inquiry as to Amount of prior Debt	175
Compels Holder to use and prove due Diligence	ib.
When must be produced on Trial, &c.	176
On Dishonour, when original Liability revives	178
Of renewed Bills	181
V. Consequences of Alteration in Bills and Notes	ib.
1. At Common Law	ib.
When without Consent, vitiates	182
Immaterial Alterations do not vitiate	184
Alterations to correct Mistakes allowed	ib.
2. Under Stamp Acts	185
Material Alteration after Bill has become an available security destroys it, though with Consent	ib.
At what Time Alterations may be made	186
Evidence in case of Alterations	189
Altered Bill when inadmissible in Evidence for any available purpose	191
When original Consideration recoverable	ib.
Consequences of Holder's making Erasures, &c. before de- livering it up	192
VI. LIABILITY OF DRAWER	ib.
ano@0

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE TRANSFER OF BILLS AND NOTES—OF RESTRAINING THEIR NEGOTIATION—AND OF THE LOSS OF BILLS, &c., 195 to 272.

I. OF THE TRANSFER OF BILLS AND NOTES	195
1st, What Bills, Notes, &c., are transferable	ib.
2dly. Who may transfer	197
Must be by Party legally interested	ib.
By an Agent in Fraud of his Duty	199
Transfer by an Infant	200

Page 16

nded in-

of Bill,

ECT TO

ity ik 186 189 ile 191 ik

199 id

By Executors and Administrators	Page 201
By Partners	ib.
By Trustee	202
By Bankrupt	ib.
Where he has neglected to indorse	203
In case of Accommodation Bills	204
After secret Act of Bankruptcy	205
Enactments of 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29
Contracts bona fide made previous to Date of Fiat, va
if no Notice of Bankruptcy	206
Decisions on 6 Geo. 4, c. 16	ib.
What a Payment under 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82	207
Transfers and Indorsements before Date of Fiat valid	208
What is Notice of an Act of Bankruptcy	ib.
Bankruptcy of a Banker	211
Bills remitted by Bankrupt for a particular purpose	ib.
By an Insolvent	212
3dly, Ťo whom	ib.
4thly, Time of Transfer	213
When may be before Bill complete, &c.	214
After refusal of Acceptance	ib.
Consequences of Transfers after Bill or Note due	215
Rule confined to Objections to the Bill itself, and	does not extend to a Set-off	220
Notes payable on Demand, how far within the Ru	le ib.
Checks on Bankers	221
Who precluded from Objecting	222
After Payment and when Note re-issuable	223
5thly, Modes of Transfer	224
Table of Forms of Indorsements	ib.
By Delivery	227
By Indorsement	ib.
Indorsement, how made	ib.
In full or in blank	ib.
Name of first Indorser must appear in Indorsement	228
By Partner	ib.
By Agent	ib.
When must be witnessed	229
When advisable to state Residence of Indorser	ib.
Indorsement in Blank	ib.
Its Effect	ib.
Special or in Full	231
Restrictive	232
Conditional	234
Qualified sans Recours	235
Indorsement in Part	ib.
Of numerous Indorsements	236
Of adding "au Besoin," &c., or "Retour sans Protes	" ib.
Delivery of Bill to Transferree	ib.
Sending Bills or Notes by Post	237
6thly, Of compelling an Indorsement	ib.
othly, Rights and Liabilities of the Parties	ib.
Right of Indorsee	ib.
Right of Bearer	241
Liability of Indorser	241 ib.
Revocation of Transfer, &c., when	243
C	~7U
-

Liability of Transferrer by Delivery	Page 244
Indemnity of an Accommodation Indorsee, & c.	247
Sthly, Of Guarantees in lieu of Indorsement	248
II. OF ACTIONS FOR BILLS O'T PROCEEDS, AND BILLS IN EQUIT	Y TO
RESTRAIN TRANSFERS	250
RESTRAIN CRANSPERS	253
III. OF THE LOSS OF BILLS, NOTES, &c.	ib.
Course to be pursued by Loser	254
Consequences of Loss, and where a Right acquired
Caution to be observed in taking	256
Mala Fides necessary to defeat claim of Holder	257
Instances of want of due Caution in taking Bills, &c.	ib.
Proper Inquiries suggested	258
Consequences of Notice of Loss	259
Halves	ib.
Forgery of Indorsement, &c.	260
Liability of Postmaster-General	262
Carriers	ib.
Necessity of applying for Payment of lost Bill, &c., when de	ie ib.
Demand of Duplicate Bill, &c. under the Statute	263
Embezzlement and Larceny, how punished	ib.
Loser's Right to require another Bill, &c.	ib.
Loser's Right to require another Din, &c.	264
Loser's Remedy in Court of Equity	265
When Remedy or not at Law	268
Destruction of Bill, &c.	200

CHAPTER VII.

OF PRESENTMENT OF BILLS FOR ACCEPTANCE, AND OF ACCEPTANCES, 272 to 325.

I. OF PRESENTMENT OF BILLS FOR ACCEPTANCE	272
1st, When necessary or advisable	ib.
ist, when necessary of advisable	274
2dly, V/ho to present	ib.
3dly To whom Presentment to be made	275
4thly, Time of Presentment
Hour of the Day	278
5thly, Place of Presentment,	ib.
6thly, Mode of Presentment	ib.
Olliy, hadde or a resolution.	280
II. Of ACCEPTANCES	ib.
1st, Definition of an Acceptance	281
adly, Of the Obligation to accept, & c.	ib.
Precautions to be observed before Accepting 3dly, Who to accept	283
Capacity	ib.
Agent	ib.
Partner	ib.
-	ib.
How many to accept	284
4thly, At what Time may be made	ib.
Promise to accept a non-existing Bill not an Acceptance
May be made after Bill due	286
5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances	287
Holder may insist upon Acceptance in Terms of Bill, and upon it	ib.
Of a Foreign Rill may be verbally or by a senarate Panet	288

Page 34
31:
24.
10
25
1.0
iš.
254
256 257 il 35
259
iš.
26
78, ið.
jō.
267
ib.
ið. 261
263
200 266
#UC

OF

27.2 ib

274

16. 27.5

ii ib

ib. M

Of an Inland Bill must be on Face of it P	age 291
Absolute	ib.
By a Partner or Agent	292
Acceptances payable at a particular Place before 1 & 2 G
4, c. 78	ib.
Enactment of 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, respecting	293
What written Words amount to an Acceptance of an Inla
Bill	294
Implied or constructive Acceptance of a Foreign Bill	295
Promise to accept	297
Conditional Acceptance	300
Conduct to be pursued by Holder on Offer of a condition
Acceptance	ib.
What is a conditional Acceptance	301
What a partial or varying Acceptance	303
6thly, Of the Liability of the Acceptor	ib.
Of an accommodation Acceptor	305
· Personal Liability of an Executor	307
In case of Forgery	ib.
When an Acceptance is revocable	308
How the Liability of an Acceptor may be discharged	3 09
By local Law	310
By Waiver or verbal Release	311
By formal Release	312
By Payment	314
By Neglect to present for Payment, when	315
Not by giving Time to Drawer of accommodation Bill	ib.
By Alteration •	316
7thly, Indemnity to Acceptor and his Right	317
What Costs recoverable	320
8thly, Liability of Drawee who has promised to pay out of Funds	321
9thly, Liability of Party who has guaranteed the Payment	323

CHAPTER VIII.

OF NON-ACCEPTANCE AND THE NECESCARY PROCEEDINGS THEREON—PROTEST FOR BETTER SECURITY—AND ACCEPTANCES FOR HONOUR SUPRA PROTEST, 325 to 353.

I. OF NON-ACCEPTANCE AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON	325
1st, When Notice of Non-acceptance necessary or not, and conse quences of Neglect	ib.
When want of Effects excuses Neglect	327
Death, Bankruptcy, &c. no Excuse	330
Notice in case of a conditional Acceptance	331
2dly, When Protest for Non-acceptance requisite, and Mode of Protesting	332
Sending Copy of Protest	334
3dly, When Notice without Protest sufficient, and how to be given	335
4thly, Time when Protest must be made and Notice given	336
5thly, By whom Notice must be given	333
6thly, To whom Notice must be given	ib.
7thly, Liability of the Parties on Non-acceptance	340

Sthly, How Consequences of Laches may be waired, &c.	Page 343
II. OF PROTEST FOR BETTER SECURITY	ib.
III. OF ACCEPTANCE SUPRA PROTEST	344
1st, By whom made	ib.
2dly, Mode of Accepting supra Protest	346
3dly, Liability of Acceptor supra Protest	347
Enactment of 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 98, respecting	349
Enactment of 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 58, respecting	351
4thly, Right of Acceptor supra Protest	352

CHAPTER IX.

OF PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT, AND OF PAYMENT, 353 to 433.

I. OF PRESENTMENT FOR PAYMENT	353
1st, When necessary	ib.
When Acceptor or Maker may defend an Action on Accoun	เ อะก
of an Omisssion to present for Payment	359
2dly, By whom Presentment to be made	365
3dly, To whom, and at what Place	ib.
4thly, Mode of Presentment	368
5thly, Time of Presentment	369
Computation of Time and different Styles in regard to Bills	ib.
Day of Date or of Acceptance to be excluded	370
Of Usances, their Length in different Countries, and how calculated	371
Of Months-when Bill payable after them due	373
When Bills or Notes payable after Sight due	ib.
Of Days of Grace, when allowed, their Number, and how	•
calculated	374
Bills at Sight entitled to Days of Grace	376
Checks and Notes payable on Demand not entitled to Days of Grace	377
Consequences of Bills, &c. falling due on a Sunday, &c.	ib.
Summary when Bills and Notes payable on a Day certain	378 must be presented
Checks and Notes payable on Demand must be presented within a reasonable Time	379
Reasonable Time a mixed question of Law and Fact	ib.
Notes, &c. payable on Demand need not be presented on same Day when received	380
Notes, &c. must be presented or circulated on Day after they are received	383
Country Banker's Note to be presented, &c. notwithstand- ing Stoppage of Bank	384
Checks on Bankers to be presented for Payment during the Hours of Business on the Day after they are drawn and received	385
Consequences of several Days delay in Presentment occa- sioned by a succession of Holders	387
Hour of the Day when Presentment should be made	ib.
What excuses delay in punctual Presentment	388

Page #

ENT.

ont

J!

3.1 3.1

معور د رق

j.

r r

6thly, Consequences of Laches and how waived Circumstances arising between Presentment and actual Payment	389 d 390
II. OF PAYMENT	391
1st, Preliminary Caution	ib.
2dly, By whom Payment to be made	392
Of Payments by a Bankrupt	ib.
By an Insolvent	393
3dly, To whom Payment should be made	ib.
Of Payment to a Bankrupt	396
4thly, Within what Time Payment must be made	397
Presumption of Payment after what Time	399
5thly, Payment, how made, and what amounts to	ib.
6thly, Of the Application of Payments	402
Separate Accounts	ib.
Time of Application	403
Joint Accounts	404
Dissolution of Partnerships	406
7thly, Consequences of giving Time to or releasing Acceptor, &c
Consequence of Assent to prior Indulgence	415
Effect of giving Time, &c. to one of several Acceptors or Makers of a Note	416
Of receiving Part-payment of the Acceptor, &c.	417
Effect of Indulgence to subsequent Parties, &c.	418
Proving under a Commission, &c.	421
Compounding with an Acceptor	ib.
8thly, Of the Receipt for Payment	423
9thly, Of the Effect of Payment, and of Payments by Mistake, &c. Forgery	425 426
CHAPTER X.
OF NON-PAYMENT:—NECESSARY PROCEEDINGS THEREO AND OF PAYMENT SUPRA PROTEST, 433 to 511.	N, l On New Towns and Newscare Payonanaya ayannay	400
	433
1st, When notice of Non-payment necessary or not—consequences of Omission—and what excuses such Omission	ib.
	434
Why the Law in general presumes Detriment to Indorsers, &c.
	435
Want of Effects, when it excuses Notice	4 36 Question whether Holder may proceed for Funds, when he 148
	149
	151
	152
	153
	54
2dly, When Protest for Non-payment necessary or advisable, and 55
	57
The Practice, and whether a Demand of Payment by a Nota-	. 5 8
rv'e tilark giimicient 4	. 267

Correspondence on the Subject P	age 459
Form of Protest	462
Stamp	463
Date '	ib.
Of sending Copy of Protest and Notice thereof	ib.
3dly, When a mere Notice suffices, and how given	466
Form of Notice	66, 471
What not a sufficient Notice of Dishonour	467
What a sufficient Notice of Dishonour	468
Mode of giving Notice	471
May be verbal	ib.
Suggested Form of Notice	471, n.
By Post	472
If by Post, Letters must be accurately directed	474
4thly, Time of making Protest and giving Notice	475
General Rule	ib.
In France	ib.
In Scotland	477
In England	ib.
Notice to be given within a reasonuble Time, and how co)11-strued	478
Notice of Non-payment of a Foreign Bill must be forward	rd-
ed by next Post or regular Conveyance	. ib.
Time of Protesting Inland Bills	479
When to protest and give Notice, where a Foreign or Inla	nd
Eill or Note would otherwise fall due on Good Friday, &
Time when Notice may and must be given, and necessa
Evidence of the Fact to be secured	480
Progress of the general Rule as to Time of giving Notice	ib.
Present Rules as to Inland Bills and Notes	481
Notice may be given on Day when Bill or Note due, b	ut
not before	ib.
Never necessary to forward Notice on Day when Bill	or
Note falls due, and why	482
Notice must be given or forwarded on next Day	483
Holder must give or forward Notice the Day after the Di	s, honour	ib.
Distinction where Parties reside in or near same Place of not	ib.
Where Parties reside in or near the same Town	ih.
Hour of the Day when Notice to be given	485
Where the Parties do not reside in or near the same Tow
When Notice by a special Messenger sufficient	487
Sunday considered as a Dies non	ib.
Good Friday, Christmas Day, &c.	488
Each Party to Bill, &c. has till the next Day after he received	ib.
ed Notice to give Notice
Banker and other Agent, when considered a distinct Holde	1 409 490
Consequences of a Day having been lost	492
Notice in due Time from any Party suffices	492 11.
What excuses Delay in giving immediate Notice	ib.
Ignorance of Residence, &c.	493
5thly, By whom Notice to be given	494
Notice from any Party to the Bill or Note sufficient	494 496
6thly, To whom Notice must be given

Page

93•

10

i:

10 id c. i

to be proceeded against by Holder	Page 497
7thly, Liability of Drawer and Indorsers on Notice of Non-p.	avment 499
Sthly, How Consequences of Neglect to give Notice may be a	vaived,
& c.	ib.
Waiver of Notice	500
Promise to Pay, when sufficient	501
Misapprehension of legal Liability	502
Promise to Pay after Declaration	503
Ignorance of Laches	504
Promise to Pay, when not sufficient	505
Consequence of a qualified Promise	506
Waiver by an Indorser not to be implied	ib.
9thly, Liability of an Agent in cases of Neglect	507
10thly, Of Drawing a Bill to reimburse the Principal, Interes	t and Expenses, called in France Retraite	ib.
II. OF PAYMENT SUPRA PROTEST	508
Who may pay supra Protest	ib.
Necessary Precaution	ib.
Remedy of Party paying supra Protest	509
ve z arej pajing supra z rotest	009

CHAPTER XI.

OF CHECKS ON BANKERS, 511 to 516.

Definition of, and Parties to	511
Form of	ib.
When not exempt from Stamp	ib.
Transfer of	ib.
Time of Transfer	513
Presentment for Payment, Time of	ib.
Payment of	514
Liability of Banker for not paying	ib.
Rules as to Bills and Notes, applicable to	515

CHAPTER XII.

OF PROMISSORY NOTES, BANKERS' NOTES, AND BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES, 516 to 533.

I. Of Promissory Notes	516
Definition and Form of	ib.
Origin of	ib.
Negotiability of, &c.	517
Provisions of 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9	ib.
To what Notes Act extends	518
How signed	520
Construction of 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9	ib.
Not affected by 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78	521
Coal Notes repealed	ib.
II. OF BANKERS' NOTES	ib.
Origin and Utility of	ib.
Origin and Utility of Bank Restriction Acts	522

Tender	Page 582
Presentment of	523
III. OF BANK NOTES	ib.
Origin and Nature of	ib.
May be taken in Execution	524
Tender	ib.
IV. FORM AND QUALITIES OF PROMISSORY NOTES, BANK NOT	ES, &c. 525
I. O. U.	526
Repeal of Lords' Act	ib.
Requisites of Promissory Notes in general	ib.
Joint and several Notes	529
Stamps	531

PART II.

---0-00---

CHAPTER I.

BY AND AGAINST WHOM AN ACTION OF ASSUMPSIT ON'A BILL, CHECK, OR NOTE MAY BE SUPPORTED, 534 to 541.

I. WHEN ASSUMPSIT THE PROPER REMEDY	534
II. By AND AGAINST WHOM ACTION SUSTAINABLE	ib.
Legal Rights and Liabilities	ib.
Need not be in Name of actual Holder	535
Several Plaintiffs	ib.
Holder may sue all prior Parties	536
Drawer's Right of Action	537
Remedy of accommodation Acceptor	ib.
Non-liability of subsequent Parties	ib.
Effect of appointing Acceptor or Maker Executor	53 8
Joint and several Note	ib.
Several Actions at same Time	ib.
Satisfaction by one of several Parties	5 39
Consolidating Actions	540

CHAPTER II.

OF THE AFFIDAVIT TO HOLD TO BAIL—ARREST—BAIL ABOVE—AND DECLARATION ON A BILL, &c. 541 to 584.

τΩe	THE AFFIDAVIT TO HOLD TO BAIL	541
I. OF	Requisites of	ih.
	Statement of Cause of Action	ib.
	Must shew Character in which Defendant became a Party to Bill	543
	Character in which Plaintiff sues need not be shewn	ib.
	Misnomer, &c. when cured	544
	Provisions of 1 & 2 Vict., c. 110	545
	Judge's Order to hold to Bail now necessary	ib.

Prez

)N A 41.

Affidavit to obtain	ge 545
At what Time Order may be made	ib.
Appeal against Order	ib.
Decisions on Act	546
	to 546
Abolition of, except in certain Cases, by 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110	ib.
Within what Time to be made	ib.
Application of Defendant to be discharged	ib.
Costs of Application	ib.
Of Insolvent Debtors, when	ib.
Fêmes Covert	547
III. OF BAIL ABOVE	548
Who may be	ib.
In what Amount	ib.
Liability of, to what Extent	549
IV. OF THE DECLARATION	ib.
When on Instrument or Consideration	ib.
How entitled	ib.
	550
Venue	-
Forms of Declarations regulated by Rule of Court of T. T.]
Will. 4	551
1 Count on Promissory Note against Maker, by Payee or Indor
see, as the case may be	ib.
2. The like against Payee by an Indorsee	553
3. The like against Indorser by Indorsee	ib.
4. Count on an Inland bill of Exchange against the Accepto by the Drawer, being also Payee	ib.
5. The like by the Drawer, not being the Payee	ib.
6. The like by Indorsee	554
7. The like by Payee	ib.
8. The like against Drawer by Payee on Non-acceptance	ib.
9. The like by Indorsee on Non-acceptance	ib.
10. The like against Indorser by Indorsee on Non-acceptance	555
11. Count on an Inland bill of Exchange against Payee by Indorsee on Non-acceptance	ib.
12. Directions for Declarations on Bills where Action brought after Time of Payment expired	ib.
1st, On Bills payable after Date	ib.
2d, On Bills payable after Sight	ib.
3d, On Bills and Notes payable at Sight	556
4th, On Foreign Bills	ib.
Common Counts	ih.
1. Goods sold	ib.
2. Work and Materials	ib.
3. Money lent	ib.
4. Money paid	ib.
5. Money received	ib.
6. Account stated	ib.
7. General Conclusion	ib.
8. Directions as to general Conclusions	557
Several Counts for same Demand not allowed	ib.
Rule H. T. 4 Will. 4, ss. 5 and 6	ib.
Exceptions as to Bills and Notes	ib.
Indebitatus Assumpsit	ib.
Account stated	ib.

D

Several Breaches	Page 557
Departure from these Rules, how taken advantage of	ib
Costs of Counts	558
Particulars of Demand	ib.
Statement of the Custom of Merchants, or on Statute of And	ne, 55 9
Unnecessary Count	ib.
First. On the Bill, Note, or Check	560
1. Statement of the Instrument	ib
Of Variances	ib.
Names of Parties	ib.
Misnomer not pleadable in Abatement, 3 & 4 Will. 42, s. 11	4, c. 561
When Initials may be used, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42,	s. 12 ib.
Number of Parties	562
Time	563
Place	564
Instrument must be stated in Terms, or according to Effect	legal ib.
Money payable	ib.
Consideration	565
Place of Payment	ib.
How much of Instrument to be stated	566
Informality in Bill or Note, how to be stated	ib.
When Plaintiff may recover on Common Count	ib.
Of Amendments under 9 Geo. 4, c. 15 and 2 & 3 Wi	JI. 4,
c. 42, s. 23.	567
Decisions on those Statutes	568
2. How Defendant became Party to the Instrument	569
Alleging Promise	ib.
Signature	570
Date of Acceptance	ib.
3. How Plaintiff became Party, and entitled thereto	57l
Indorsement	ib.
4. Defendant's Breach of Contract	573
As Acceptor or Maker	574
Presentment for Payment	ib.
As Drawer or Indorser	575
Presentment for Payment	ib.
Notice of Dishonour	576
Protest	ib. 577
Dispensation with Notice, &c.	911
Secondly, On the Common Counts, and what Evidence in sup of them	578
When no Privity between Plaintiff and Defendant, Bi
Note no Evidence in support of Common Counts	11 or 579
When the Bill or Note will prove a Common Count	ib.
Money Lent	ib.
Paid	580
Received	581
A news at the desired	r00

. [1]

CHAPTER III.

ų į

c. 12 s 12 s 35

12

io In Iii

57 jii

5. 5. F. 5. F. 18. F. 1

通道证

OF BILLS OF	INTERPLEADER	, AND MOTIONS TO	STAY PRO-
CEEDINGS	IN NATURE TH	EREOF—PAYMENT	OF DEBT
AND COST	'S—JUDGMENT B	Y DEFAULT—AND	OF EXE-
CUTION UN	NDER A FIERI FA	CIAS, 584 to 593.

I. OF BILLS OF INTERPLEADER AND MOTIONS TO STAY PROCEEDI	NG IN
NATURE THEREOF	Page 584
Decisions under 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58, s. 1	ib.
II. OF STAYING PROCEEDINGS ON PAYMENT OF DEBT AND COSTS	585
Inspection of Bills, &c.	ib.
Staying Proceedings	ib.
Costs of what Actions must be paid	ib.
III. OF JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT	587
Rule to compute	588
After Death of Plaintiff	ib.
In case of Loss or Destruction of Bill	ib.
When not allowed	589
At what Time may be moved for	ib.
Service of Rule	ib.
Effect of Irregularity before Judgment	590
Writ of Inquiry	591
IV. OF EXECUTION UNDER A FIERI FACIAS	ib
Provisions of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 12	ib
Bills, &c. may be taken under	ib
Indemnity to Sheriff	599

CHAPTER IV.

OF THE DEFENCES, PLEAS, AND REPLICATIONS, 593 to 623.

I. OF THE DIFFERENT KINDS OF DEFENCES	593
Desences formed on apparent Desects in Declaration	ib.
On extrinsic Defects and Variances	594
On Defect in Right of Action	ip.
II. OF THE PLEAS	ib.
New Rules affecting	ib.
Several Pleas not allowed	595
	ib.
Departure from the Rules, how taken advantage of Costs of Pleas	ib.
	596
Effect of Non-assumpsit	ib.
Bills and Notes no general issue
Matters in Confession and Avoidance to be pleaded specially	ib.
General Issue in Debt	ib.
Pleas in other Cases	597
Plea of Payment of Money into Court	ib.
Form of Plea	ib.
Proceedings by Plaintiff after Payment of Money into Court	598
Payments credited in Particulars of Demand need not be pleaded	ib.
Rule not to apply to Claim of Balance	ib.
Payment in Reduction of Damages or Debt not to be allowed	ib.

Non-assumpsit	Page 598
1411 Deoit	599
Non-acceptance, &c.	ib.
Indorsement	600
Several Pleas	ib.
Duplicity	601
Sham and Frivolous Pleas	ib.
Want of Consideration	602
Accord and Satisfaction	605
Set-off	606
Composition	ib.
Statutes of Limitations	608
When Statute begins to run	609
Dills and Notes payable after Sight	610
rotes payable on Demand	610 ib.
Account stated	•••
What a sufficient acknowledgment before 9 Geo. 4, c. 14	611
take Case out of the Statute	, 10 .,
W nat acknowledgment in W-iting	ib.
	612
Delivery of Goods	614
Delivery of Bill	616
Payment of Money into Court	ib.
What a sufficient Payment of Interest to take Case out of Statute	ib.
Statute Statute Case out of	the
Indorsement of Payment, &c.	ib.
in Equity	617
Foreign Law	ib.
Bankruptcy and Insolvency	618
THE REPLICATION	619
10 Plea of want of Consideration	ib.
De Injuria	ib.
To Plea of Accord and Satisfaction	620
TO I ICE OF KAIASE	621
To Plea of Set-off that Debt barred by the Santa and	ib.
To Plea of Set-off that Debt barred by the Statute of Limitation	ons ib.
Similiter	622
	ib.
••••

CHAPTER V.

OF THE EVIDENCE IN ACTIONS ON BILLS AND NOTES, &c. 623 to 677.

I. In GENERAL WHAT FACTS MUST BE PROVED, AND HOW
1st, Proof of the Bill or Note	623
Triat should be promed	624
How proved	ib.
2dly, How defendant became Party to Bill or Note What should be proved	625
What should be proved	626
410 QUAINSI A COORDII	ib.
As against Drawer or Maker Mode of Proof	ib.
Mode of Proof	628
Proof of Hand-writing	629
•	ib.

In case of accommodation Bill

Drawer when competent

Indorser

Acceptor

Co-desendant when a Witness for the other Par &

ibe

61° óŀ

ťi.

 f^{*}

ď.

ď

12

ÜĽ

671

673

ib.

674 ib.

ib.

When Party not a Witness to prove Title in himself Admissions When Witness compellable to give Evidence against his	Page 674 675 Interest ib.

7 I

J. Pa

in it g

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE SUM RECOVERABLE IN AN ACTION ON A BILL, &c. 677 to 689.

I. THE PRINCIPAL MONEY
Holder's Right to recover 6 to a	677
In case of Rill on N	ib.
In case of Bill or Note payable by Instalments	678
When recoverable	679
When not recoverable	ib.
When it begins to run	680
When it stops
At mb - A D	681
At what Rate	682
III. Expences, &c.	683
Noting and Protonia	ib.
CURIS OF MALLS A	ib.
IV. RE-EXCHANGE	684
Nature of
Tature of	ib.
Who liable to pay it	ib.
	685
V. DAMAGES.	686
Upon Dishanaus L. D.
Upon Dishonour and Protest of Foreign Bills	687
modult Ol	ib.
	698

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE ACTION OF DEBT ON A BILL OR NOTE, 689 to 692.

I. ADVANTAGES OF	OR NOTE, 689 to 692.
II. By WHOM MAINTAINABLE	68
	il

CHAPTER VIII.

OF BANKRUPTCY AND DISCHARGE UNDER INSOLVENT ACT, 692 to 763.

_	 100.					_
PART I.—OF BANKRUPTCY. I. WHAT CONSTITUTES A TRADING NOTE Bankers Brokers Brokers II. THE ACT OF BANKRUPTCY Beginning to keep House Debtor absenting himself		Party	то	A	Bill or	692 693 ib. 694 ib. ib.

BILL. &

CONTENTS.	xxxi
Remaining Abroad	.
	Page 694
rraudulent I fansier of Rill	ib.
Act of Bankruptcy under 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, s. 8	695 ib.
THE PERMITTER OF STREET	696
Amount of	ib.
What Bills and Notes sufficient Proceedings in case of Insufficiency of Petitioning Creditor's I)ebt 699 701
Enactments respecting	ib.
1. What Bills, &c. proveable 2. Who may prove	703
Holder of Bill for Value	706
Holder of accommodation Bill	ib.
1st, Cross Bills	708
2dly, Where accommodation Power by	ib.
2dly, Where accommodation Party has taken a Securi 3dly, Where accommodation Party has no Security When he has paid before the P	ity 710
When he has paid before the Bankruptcy	712
When he has not paid till after the Bankruptcy	ib.
Question whether an accommodation Indorser co	ib.
F	~
Reason why Indorser ought to have been allowed	713
When Surety or Party liable may compel Holder	714
4thly, When a Surety or Person hable may prove und	der 718
Partners	720
3. Against whom and under what Fint Under several Fints	721
4. To what Extent Proof may be made	722
Friendly Societies	724
Savings' Banks	727
Interest	728
Re-exchange	ib.
5. The Time of Proof and of making Claim	730
o. The mode and Terms of Proof.	ib.
Proceeding at Law and proving also	731
reducing and expunding Proof	732
restoring Proof	733 735
Benefit of another's Proof	ib.
Remedy to recover Dividend	ib.
7. Effect of Certificate	736
V. OF MUTUAL CREDIT AND SET-OFF	739
Enactments relating to	ib.
1. The Nature of the Date of	ib.
1. The Nature of the Debt to be set off Mutual Debts	741
2. In what Right due	743
	ib.
	744
- 118 to the Froperty of the Rankrupt and Contract	748
by him	.,
2. As to the Property of others	ib.
-	75 0

Bills paid into a Bankers generally, and entered short, con the Property of the Customer	tinue
the Property of the Customer	Page 750
	755
	756
	ib.
As to what Debts Insolvent discharged	759
	ib.
The would be the second of the	ib.
Bill or Note in Consideration of not opposing Insolven Discharge illegal	1'4
Discharge illegal	762

PART III.

---0 @0 ---

CHAPTER 1.

OF THE FORGERY OF BILLS, NOTES, AND CHECKS, AND OFFENCES OF THAT NATURE, 764 to 799.

I. ENACTMENTS OF 11 Co.
Observations and Decisions thereon As to the forged Levi Control Will. 4, c. 66	764 to 772
As to the formal T	772
As to the forged Instrument	ib.
	•-
What an Undertaking for Payment of Money What a Receipt for Money	775
What a Receipt for Money Foreign Security	777
	ib.
When the Instrument may be treated as a Bill or Note Forged Engravings	778
rorged Engravings of treated as a Bill or Note	ib.
How to proceed if Indictment for C	ib.
How to proceed if Indictment for Forgery not sustainable What a Form	779
	.1
Not necessary that the whole Instrument should be sufficient Assuming and signing in a fictitious Name	ib.
Assuming and similar instrument should be and a	t 780
Assuming and signing in a fictitious Name Assuming a false Description	782
Name - societion of Addition by	roper
What a felonious Uttering What a felonious Ittering	ib.
What a felonious having in Possession With what Intent the Forges	783
With what Intent the Forgery must have been committed II. Of the Indictment the Forgery must have been committed
Accessonia e digery milet have 1	785 205
II. Of the Indictment for Forgery	785
Venue FOR FORGERY	786
Statement of the r	787
Introductory Averments	ib.
How the Instruments	ib.
How the Instrument should be set forth Criminal Act of the Forgery, how to be stated Offence process.	789
Raise littoria	ib.
Offence not as 1	791
Offence not to be charged in the disjunctive	792
Statement of the Intent to defraud	793
Court in which to prosecute	ib.
· · · ·	794
	107

III. OF THE EVIDENCE.	•
Production of forged Instrument	Page 795
Notice to produce	ib.
Competency of Party whose Name forged as a Witness	ib.
Not absolutely necessary that he should be a Witness	ib.
In case of Uttering	797
Evidence of previous Uttering admissible	ib.
What subsequent Uttering admissible	ib.
Proof of Intent	79 8
1.001 0. 180081

CHAPTER II.

OF LARCENY, EMBEZZLEMENT, AND FALSE PRETENCES RELATING TO BILLS, NOTES, AND CHECKS, 799 to 809.

I. LARCENY OF BILLS, &c.	799
Enactments of 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 29, respecting	ib.
The Instrument stolen	800
Of the Indictment	802
Statement of the Instrument	ib.
Statement of Property	803
Conclusion	ib.
Accessories	ib.
Evidence	804
II. Embezzlement of Bills	ib.
By Clerks and Servants	ib.
By Agents	ib.
Of the Indictment	805
Instrument, how described under 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 48	806
Receivers	807
Evidence	ib.
III. OBTAINING BILLS, &c. UNDER FALSE PRETENCES	ib.
Provisions of 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 53	808
Obtaining Credit not within the Act	ib.
Nature of Pretences used	ib.
Assumption of false Character	809
Of the Indictment	ib.
Receivers	ib.
Evidence	ib.

S, AN

764.07

er

上部日司司 於 路 由

E

APPENDIX.

LIST OF FORMS CONTAINED IN BODY OF THE WORK GENERAL RULES AND ORDERS	811 811 to 813
NOTARIES' FEES OF OFFICE FORM OF NOTICE TO PRODUCE BILLS, &c.	813
INTEREST TABLE	814
- TABLE	815

ADDENDA ET CORRIGENDA, 819.

INDEX, 827.

71-

LIST OF CASES

CITED IN

THE ENGLISH TEXT AND NOTES.

N. B.—The page first referred to, generally contains the fullest report of the case.—The figures refer to the original pages, as numbered in the margin.

D	•
ABBEY v. Lill, 5 Bing. 299	(e)
Abbott v. Aslett, 1 M. & W. 209; 1 Tyrw. & G. 448: 4 Dowl 750	-
	v.
v. Pomfret, 1 Bing. N. C. 462; 1 Scott,	2 v.]
	_ v.]
v. Smith 2 Ris D 047	- 1
Abel v. Sutton, 8 Esp. R. 107; Ch. j. 619, 203, 51, 5. Ablet v. Ellis, 1 B. 37, P. 240	9 v. I
Abraham v. Dubois, 4 Campb. 269; Chit. j.	9 v. Y
946 Campo. 269; Chit. j.	. 1
Acerro v. Petroni, 1 Stark P. 100
Acheson v. Fountain, 1 Stra. 557; Sel. Ca.	- 1
126; Chit. j. 252	Allport v
Aciand to Pearce 9 Completes and Control
Adams, Ex perio 2 Poss 26 1 17	Alston v.
Adams, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 36; 1 Ves. & B. 495 72	B Alves v.
Ex parte, 3 M. & Ay. 157; 2 Dea. 265 78	4
v. Bankart, 1 C., M. & R. 681; 5 Tyrw. 425; 1 Gale, 48	Ambrose
) v
v. Bingly, 1 M. & W. 192 174 v. Claxton, 6 Ves. 226 74
74	Amicable
v. Duke of Grafton, Bunb. 243; Chit.	Amner v.
9 Green 2 Start and Start
v. Gregg, 2 Stark. 531; Chit. j. 1076 v. Lingard, Peake, 117; Chit. j. 495 v. Oakes, 6 C. & P. 70 Adney, Exparte, Cown 460; Chit. j. 600	.
" Oaker 6 C 8- D 7: Chit. j. 495 673	Amphlets
Adney, Ex parte Comp. 460 Cl.	Ancher v.
1 1 10, comp. 400; Cant. J. 603 144, 697,
Afflalo v. Fourdainian M. 1 0 20 704, 705	Anderson
Afflalo v. Fourdrinier, Mood. & M. 335; 6 Bing.	· ———
306; Chit. J. 1468 Agace, Ex parte, 2 Cox's Ca. 312 47
Aguttar v. Moses 2 Carl Los 312	1 :
Aguttar v. Moses, 2 Stark 499; Chit. j. 1069 561
TO A PULL I I WIND PS: NOSC 10 100 CO.	1 (
v. Langdale, 3 B. & Ad. 660; Chit.
7. Porc. 1 C. 191, 184	1 :
v. Pope, 1 Campb. 404 339, 498 Alexander v. Gibson, 5 Campb. 555; Chit. j.
1022 Campb. 555; Chit. j.	1
Aliken v. Howell, 1 Nev. & M. 191; Chit. j.
1618 1618 M. 191; Chit. j.
Alivon v. Furnival, 1 C., M. & R. 277; 4 Tyrw.
751 % R. 277; 4 Tyrw.	(
Allan v. Mawson A Complete and 171	i ———
Allan v. Mawson, 4 Campb. 115; Chit. j. 920 25,	Anderton
Allen, Ex parte 1 Mars 131, 278, 340, 560	Andrew v.
Allen, Ex parte, 1 Mont. 145; Cooke's B. L.	Andrews v
705, 158	v.
	,,

в	1	_
3	Allen a Dockson 1 Calls 100 Ct. 1 con an	Page
	Allen v. Dockwra, 1 Salk. 127; Chit. j. 206 85
3	v. Dundas, 3 T. R. 125	393
•	v. Hearn, 1 T. R. 56	3 4, 93
	v. Reeves, 1 East, 435; 3 Esp. R. 281	;
	Chit. j. 638	7, 118
1	v. Miller, 1 Dowl. 420; Chit. j. 1597	588
	v. Waldegrave, 2 Moore, 627	88
•	v. Walker, 2 M. & W. 317; 5 Dowl. 460);
	1 Mur. & H. 44	RAA
	Allesbrook v. Roach, Peake's Ad. 27; 1 Esp).
H	851; Chit. i. 546 63	1 699
	Allport v. Meek, 4 C. & P. 267; Chit. i. 1489	641
	Ainer v. George, 1 Campb. 392	494
	Alsagar v. Spalding, 6 Scott 204; 4 Bing N C	07 86
	ADBIOD D. AURY, 6 Nev. X7 M. 686	0.0
	Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 241: 1 Esp. R. 528	,
۱	Chit. J. 584 121, 125, 135, 144, 169	. 578
	Ambrose v. Clendon, 2 Stra. 1043	600
- 1	v. Hopwood, 2 Taunt. 61; Chit. j. 772	152.
-1	366	574
1	Amicable Society of Lancaster, Exp. 6 Veg 98	798
	Amner v. Clark, 2 C., M. & R. 468 10 19 104	115
1	Amory v. Mereweather, 2 B. & C. 573; 4 D. &	:
1	R. 86; Chit. j. 1200 92, 95	216
1	Amphlets, Ex parte, Mont. 77	700
-	Ancher v. Bank of England, Dougl. 637; Chit.	102
ļ	J. 400 232, 280, 224	504
1	Anderson v. Baker, 3 Dowl. 107	590 590
ï	v. Brooksbank, 4 C. & P. 286	44
1	v. Cleveland, 13 East, 430; 1 Esp.	77
1	R. 46; Chit. j. 400 310, 360
	v. George, Sel. N. P. 9th edit. 390;	, 500
	Chit. j. 346	408
1	v. Heath, 4 M. & Sel. 303; Chit. j.	400
	986 299, 309, 322,	890
		297,
ì	298, 300,
١.		6, 66
١.	v. Pitcher, 2 B. & P. 168 167,
١.	v. Sanderson, 2 Stark. 204; Holt,	111
1	C. N. P. 591	32
١.	w. Weston, 6 Bing. 296, 617, 626, 648,	607
١.	Anderton v. Beck, 16 East, 248; Chit. j. 872	389
	Andrew v. Pledger, M. & Mal. 508
1	Andrews v. Berry, 3 Anst. 624	594
١.	v. Blake, 1 H. Bla. 529	251
		588

Andrews v. Franklin 1 Str. 24. Ch : 222 Arnott a Pallam a Diagona a sa as ringen of inter, 4 Jurist, 196	4 9 C & D 00
Zinacistala V. Clarke, 4 T. R RIG
Annandale v. Harris, 2 P. W. 432 Anon. 1 Atk. 140; Chit. j. 335	4 Ashby v. Ashby, 8 M. & P. 186; Ch. j. 1438 129,
	140, 201, 582
1 Camph 400	3 7 7 R & C 446, 1 M & D 00.
Comb. 401: Chit i 100	5 Chit. 1. 1488 901
Bul. N. P. 272	4 Ashiord v. Hand, Andr. 270: Chit. i 288 678
1 Dowl. 188: Chit i 1691	2 Asinoy, Ex parte, 6 Ves. 441 798
Hardr. 486: Chit i 160	761 V. Killick, 5 Mee. & W 509
Holt, 115. Chit. i. 197	Aspinali b. Wake, 10 Bing. 51; 3 M. & Sc. 423;
—— Holt, 296	- Cart. . 1651 307
—— 3 Law J. 106 —— Lofft, 552	R - Dun in 1 7 7 1 00 34
— Lutw. 1591
12 Mod. 345: Chit i 210 20 24	Atkins v. Owen, 4 Ad. & E. 819; 6 N. & M. 309;
—— 12 Mod. 345: Chit. j. 212 39, 160, 231, 232	1 4 M. W. Woll, 59 97 951 401 695
455, 572, 655, 670, 690 12 Mod. 408. Chit. j. 215 244, 864	7 Tredgold 9 R & C 99, 9 D & D 900.
—— 12 MOU. 446	· 1 Cuit. 1. 1153 619 619
—— 12 Mod. 447: Chit. j. 216	7 T. Wheeler 9 Now D cos. CL : 200 Cot
12 MIOG. D17: ('hit i 918 184 5	716 716 Takingon, Ex parte, Cooke, 210
—— 12 Mod. 521 174, 244, 247, 340
	(
6 Price, 338 27, 28, 82, 894 24, 681 549, 681
— Ld. Raym. 781 625	741.745
Ld. Raym. 742, (1): 1. 202 255, 241	M 400, 111, 2 Ad. & E. 628; 4 N. &
280, 837, 844,	Attorney-Congret 37 1 1
1 Salk, 126: Chit : 200 867, 479	Atwood & Crowdia 1 Co. 1 400 (1)
3 Salk, 71 · Chit : 000 255, 497	1 Dtalk. 405; Chit. 1. 919
Styles, 970
—— 2 Taunt 61 89	1 Niunnings, 7 B. A. C. 278 · 1 M A.
— 1 Vent. 45 211 — 15 Vin. Ab. 103 327, 384, 464	(C) Chit, I. 1842 28 80 200, 333
	v. Rattenbury, 6 Moore, 579; Ch. j. 1131 229.
	041 545
r. Adams 1 Vans 698, 707	Aubert v. Maze, 2 B. & P. 375 82, 92, 95
	Auriol v. Thomas 2 7 3 5 Ch. j. 460 400, 424
v. Harrison, 12 Mod. 347; Ch. j. 575 98, 251 v. Layfield, 1 Salk. 292 t lav6ald 1 0 n ? Cit. J. 212 27. 31 39
v. Padden, Sewall D. Sy. 49	Aylet v. Bennett, 1 Anst. 45; Chit. j. 494 125, 167 Ayrey v. Davenport, 2 New R. 474; Ch. j. 736 414,
v. Ormston, 10 Mod. 286 128 158 265
	v. Fearnsides, 4 M. & W. 168 133, 583
Income v. Morsenead, 6 Tanne 224	Aysheford v. Charlotte, 4 Dougl. 210 587
558; Chit. j. 937 13, 83 Appleby v. Biddulph, cited 8 Mod. 363 140, 134, 527 Appleton v. Binks, 5 East, 148	Posts.
Appleton v. Binks, 5 East, 148	Backhouse v. Harrison, 5 B. & A. 1098; 3 N. &
v. Sweetapple, 3 Done, 100	M. 188 47, 257
CL: 170 170 187; 1 Fan 80.	Bacon V. Searies, I H Ris Co. Chi. : 440 900
Arbouin v. Tritton Hole C N p. 302, 278, 379, 380	Badnall v. Samuel a p. 395, 425, 536, 678
Arbonin v. Tritton, Holt C. N. P. 408; Ch. j. 976 742 Archangel v. Thompson, 2 Campb. 623	Badnall v. Samuel, 3 Price, 521; Ch. j. 985, 311, 414 Bagnall v. Andrew, 7 Ring, 217, 485, 486, 486
Archer v. Bamford, 3 Stark. R. 175; Chit. j.	Chit i 1514 Bing 217; 4 M. & P. 839;
1162, Cart. j.	Baker v. Birch, 3 Campb. 107; Ch. j. 84 338, 441,
v. Hale, 4 Bing. 464; 1 M. & P. 285 410	Campo. 107; Ch. j. 84 338, 441, Arckley, Ex parte, Cooke, 126 Arden v. Mornington, 4 Tyrw. 56 732	- v. Charlton Donly on The
	v. Jubber, 1 Scott's N. R. 26
—— v. Walking 3 Fagt 217. Cl 41. 47	v. Sydee, 7 Taunt. 179 759
v. Watkins, 3 East, 317; Ch. j. 667 204, 305, 749 Ardern v. Rowney, 5 Esp. 254; Chit. j. 717 Armit v. Breame, 2 Ld. Rown, 323
Armit v. Breame 2 I d Danier J. /1/ 822	Balb v. Batley, 1 Marsh. 424; 6 Taunt. 25; Chit. j. 923
Armitage v. Derry, 5 Bing. 501: 3 M & D 210, 570	Chit. j. 928 Balcetti
Chit. j. 1439 E. 37, 3 M. & P. 211;	*. Serani, Peake's R. 142; Ch. j. 497
Armistead, Ex parte, 2 Gly. & J. 371; Ch. j. 1390 753 Armstead v. Philpot, Dougl. 236	Daldney n Kitch
Armstead v. Philpot, Dougl. 236	Baldwin v. Billingslav 2 V
Arnell v. Bean, I Moore & S. 151; S Bing. S7	v. Richardson 1 P. 640
rnold v. Revoult, 1 B. & B. 445; 4 Moore, 70 23,	R. 285. Chit. B. & C. 245; 2 D. &
200, 571	- n Docke 1 1103 453, 481, 493
,,,,,	Ball v. Blackwood, 6 Dowl. 589 587
	901

112. 112.

keri Ka

	Page
Ball v. Dunsterville, 4 T. R. 313	40
v. Storey, 1 Sim. & Stu. 210 Ballantine v. Golding, Cooke, 115	185 737
Ballingalls v. Gloster, 3 East, 481; 4 Esp. R.	131
268; Chit. j. 678 194, 243, 273, 840,	654
Balmanno v. Thompson, 4 Jurist, 43	602
Balmer v. Bate, 2 B. & B. 673; 6 Moore, 28	93
Banbary v. Lissett, Stra. 1211; Ch. j. 310 133,
160, 801,	802
Bancroft v. Hall, Holt, C. N. P. 476; Chit. j. 968 473, 471, 388, 484,	487
Bamfield v. Solomons, 9 Ves. 84	703
Banfill v. Leigh, 8 T. R. 571	7, 8
Bank of England v. Anderson, 4 Scott, 50; 8
	, 62
v. Atkins, 1 Chit. 466; Chit.	589
v Booth, 2 Keen, 466	63
v Newman, 12 Mod. 241; 1	-
Ld. Raym. 422; Comyns, 57; Chit. j.
207 246, 367, 1	772
Bank of Ireland v Beresford, 6 Dow, 333; Ch. j. 1032 205, 69, 80, 316,	410
j. 1032 205, 69, 80, 316, 4 Bank of Scotland, Ex parte, 19 Ves. 311; 2	110
	167
Bank Prosecutions, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 378	796 1
	723
Banks v Camp, 2 M. & Sc. 734; 9 Bing. 604 552, 8 — v Colwell, cited 3 T. R. S1 217, 218, 221,	570 J
Bann v Dalzell, M. & M. 228; 3 C. & P. 376 679, 6	681 I
	543 I
Barber, Ex parte, 1 Gly. & J. 1; Chit. j. 1106
v. Backhorn, Peake, 61; Chit. j. 482 73,	47 E
Barber v. Gingell, 3 Esp. N. P. C. 60; Chit. j.	_ F
618 31, 291, 307, 636, 673, 6 Barbour v. Newall, 11 Shaw, 328 477, 4
Barbour v. Newall, 11 Shaw, 328 477, 4 Barclay, Ex parte, 7 Ves. 597; Chit. j. 656	E
180, 493, 338, 418, 7
v. Bailey, 2 Camp. 527; Chit. j. 818
389, 278, 485	_ B
Barfoot v. Goodall, 3 Camp. 147 53,	66 04 B
Barker, Ex parte, 9 Ves. 110 136, 144, 7 v. Malcolm, 7 C. & P. 101 6	68 B
Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 432; 3 Esp. R. 266;	J _
Chit. j. 637 23, 32, 33, 201, 228, 39	4, B
571, 579, 5
v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471; Chit. j.
1083 105, 117, 118, 133, 1- v. Leeds, 4 Ad. & E. 66; 5 N. & M.	45 - B
	37
Barnard v. Young, 17 Ves. 44 7-	41 B
Barnes v. Hedley, 2 Taunt. 184; 1 Camp. 187
89, 96, 70
	33
Barnesdale v. Stretton, 2 Chit. R. 79 Barnesley v. Baldwin, 7 Mod. 418; Chit. j. 292	is Be
134, 135, 13	37 Be
Barnford v. Burrell, 2 Bos. & Pul. 1 70	1 Be
Barough v. White, 4 B. & C. 325; 6 D. & R.	1
879; 2 C. & P. 8; Chit. j. 1261. 221,	Be
611, 663, 66
Barratt, Ex parte, 1 G. & J. 327; Ch. j. 1176 72 Barrett v. Deere, Mood. & M. 200 39
Barrington, In re, 2 Sch. & Lef. 112; Chit. j.	.
697 246, 144, 250, 704, 72	$1 \mid \mathbf{B} e$
v. Burton, 2 Sch. & Lef. 112 70	5 Be Parry v. Robinson, 1 New R. 293 534, 68
artlett v. Martin, 1 Jurist, 499 63	. 1
v. Pentland, 1 Bar. & Adol. 704 18, 6 252, 9
v. Vinor, Carth. 252, 9	. Dt

; 11 Nom, 3 #4.0 ind (14.) i#

6; CL ; 14.

14,5. M & L &

h:L; 200

y & & C

CL jimi i

. 181

N. & M. 26 97, 251 (file

D. & R.20 612 612

י לו נים

#: #1.4 (8

 194.12° hL 9 i nt J 99 402,444 (P 30)

154.34 1.1 M ± 30, 30.3

30, 25, 111, 2 1, 111, 2 2, 2 6) #

11 64.

58. f 31. f

.

*

Bung. N (n. j. 592 ... :41

		D
ge.		Page
40	Bartrum v. Caddy, 1 Per. & D. 207 108, 201,	223,
85	313.	538
37	Bass v. Clive, 4 Camp. 78; 4 M. & Sel. 13;
٠.		C90
	Chit. j. 980 163, 307, 562,	003
54	Basset v. Dodgin, 3 M. & Sc. 417; 10 Bing. 49;
02		719
_	v 2 M. & Sc. 777; 9 Bing. 653;
93
19,	Chit. j. 1629	719
02	Bastable v. Poole, 1 C., M. & R. 410; 5 Tyr. 11	l 7 8
_	Bastard v. Smith, 1 N. & P. 242; 5 A. & E. 827	595
37	Paston v Dattor 7 Fact 470: 2 Smith 496	78
	Basten v. Butter, 7 East, 479; 3 Smith, 486
03	Bate, In re, 3 Ves. 400	724
8	Bates, Ex parte, 3 Deac. 358	724
-	v. Russell, Mood. & M. 332	673
~~
52	Bateman v. Dunn, 7 Dowl. 105; 6 Scott, 739;
	5 Bing. N. C. 49 545,	546
9	v. Joseph, 2 Camp. 461; 18 East,
3	438; Chit. J. 801 280, 337, 367,	452
'3
- 1	478,
- 1	Bathe v. Taylor, 15 East, 416; Ch. j. 857 186,	187
2	Batley v. Catterall, 1 M. & Reb. 879 Batson v. Spearman, 3 P. & D. 77	649
- 1	Date of Garages & D. & D. 77
	Dation v. Spearman, S F. & D. 11	820
0	Batthews v. Galiendo, 6 Law J. 138, C. P.; 8
ı		668
7		6, 8
	Dauerman v. Rauemus, / 1. R. 000	, 0
6	Baxter v. Earl Portsmouth, 8 D. & R. 614; 5
3	B. & C. 170; 2 C. & P. 178	18
0		209
	- G-L-C-13 1 M 0- Q 000 007
3	v. Schofield, 1 M. & S. 338 207,
1	Baylis v. Ringer, 7 C. & P. 691 70, 667, 679,	6 8 I
3	Bealey v. Greenslade, 2 C. & J. 61; 2 Tyr. 121;
		615
1	D 1 W 11 0 D 6 D 60	-
7	Beard v. Webb, 2 B. & P. 93	21
- 1	Beardmore v. Cruttenden, Cooke, 211	716
	Beardsley v. Baldwin, Stra. 1151; 7 Moo. 417; 107
3	Chit. j. 293
1	Beauchamp v. Cash, Dow. & Ry. C. N. P. 3 336, 4	168
5	Beauchamp v. Parry, I B. & Ad. 91; Chit. j.
	1501 664, 6	282
- 1
- 1	Beaufoy, Ex parte, Cooke, 159; Chit. j. 552 70	04,
;	708, 7	111
ı İ	Beck v. Robley, Cited 1 Hen. Bla. 89; Chit. j.
. '		23
' i
1:	v. Smith, 2 M. & W. 191 212, 3	98
-11	Beckwith v. Corrall, 3 Bing 445; 11 Moo. 335;
- 1	2 C. & P. 261; Ch. j. 1291 223, 28	13
	254, 256, 2
1
1 :		78
1	Bedder or Pedder v. Wall. Peake's Add. 41; 2
1	Chit. R. 619; Chit. j. 547, 555	78
1	Bedford v. Deakin, 2 B. & Al. 210; 2 Stark.
١.	100. Cl.: : 1040
٠	178; Chit. j 1040 416, 4	09
I	Beeching v. Gower, Holt's C. N. P. 315; Chit.
i	j 966 383, 384, 356, $67, 381, 473, 48	87
1.	Beete v. Bidgood, 1 M. & R. 143; 7 B. & C.	•
1 *	the transfer of the state of th
1	453; Chit. j. 1355	27
- 1	Beely v. Wingfield, 11 East, 46 83, 8	34
i B	legbic v. Levy, 1 Tyr. 130; 1 C. & J. 180;	_
, -
	The CALCAGO	18
	Selairs v. Poultney, 6 M. & S. 230 59	90
- 13	Belbin v. Butt 2 M. & W. 758; 6 Dowl. 167 59	98
. 1		55
. •		,,,
1	r. Lloyd, 10 Bing. 310; 3 M. & S.
1	822 666, 744, 74	18
B		22
		4
"
1 -	Ex parte, 1 Mont. Bl. 3d. edit. 194 25	V
! B	sellasis v. Hester, Ld. Raym. 281; Lut. 1591;
	Ch i. 204 279, 870, 87	3
1 D	Sendelack v. Morier, 2 11. Bla. 338; Ch. j. 527	-
D
	83, 9	3

Benfield v. Solomons, 19 Ves. 84, 96	Page	Dischard D. A. C. C.	Page
Denield's case, b Ves. 424	252 44	Diremera v. Bartlett, 14 Mass. 279	242
Benn v. Greatwood, 6 Scott, 891 Bennett, Ex parte, 2 Atk. 528 729, 781	587	Bire v. Moreau, 2 C. & P. 876; Ch. j. 1806	114,
729, 731	, 732	Birks v. Trippett, 1 Saund. 83	350
v. Dawson, 4 Bing. 609; 1 M. & P. 594; Chit. j. 1396		Birt v. Kershaw, 2 East, 458; Chit, i. 652	672
v. Farnell, 1 Camp. 130; Chit. j. 748	541	Disnop v. Chambre, 1 Dans. & L. 83; M. & M.	,
	, 705	116; 8 C. & P. 53; Chit. j. 1865	123, 189, 190,
1601 Mont. & B. 120; Chit. j.		v. Chitty, 2 Stra. 1191; Ch. j. 303 v. Crawshay, 3 B. & C. 415; 5 D. & R.	863
v. Bennet, I Camp 200 752, 753,		279; Chit. j. 1231	396
	424	v. Hayward, 4 T. R. 470; Chit. j. 492
v. White, 4 Dow's Rep. 334; Chit. j. 960	665	1 26, 218 242 224 526.	571
Bent v. Baker, 3 T. R. 27	575	v. Polhill, 1 Mood. & R. 368 759 v. Rowe, 8 M. & Sel. 362; Chit. j. 921	, 760
v. Puller, 5 T P 404, (1)	669	175, 177 181, 316, 389, 442, 497,	222
Bentham v. Lord Chesterfield, 5 Scott, 417	756	v. Shilleto, 2 B. & Ald. 329	174
	588	of Winchester v. Fournier, 2 Ves. i. 445:	;
Chit. j. 712 298, 301, 309, 315, Bently v. Northouse, M. & M. 68, Chibin, 337;	333	Cmt. j. 331 9:	3.99
m. & M. 60; Chit. J. 1335		v. Young, 2 B. & P. 78; Chit. j. 621 5,	200
Benzing v. Scott, 4 Car. & P. 24	579	161, 304, 340, 520, 526, 534, 560, 689, Bize v. Dickenson, 1 T. R. 285	504
	568	Didok v. Peele, cited Donel 298	312
	588 99	Diackburne, Ex parte, 10 Ves. 204; Chit. j. 766	-
Bernasconi v. Duke of Argyle, 3 Car. & P. 29; Chit. j. 1351	, 00	214 178 170 94C 957 7 04	723
Berrington n. Collin 5 D:	572	Blackford v. Preston, S T. R. 93 Blackham v. Doren, 2 Camp. 503; Chit. j. 818	93
- Dolly 188. o D.:	63	990 414	445
Chit. j. 423	769	Blake v. Lawrence, 4 Esp. Rep. 147; Chit. j.	•••
Chit i 420 Dowl. 188;	102		682
Bevan v. Hill 2 Camp 201 Ct. 761.	762	Blakeley, Ex parte, I Glyn. & J. 197.	701
v. Nunn, 2 M. & Sc. 132; 9 Bing. 107	895	Blakeley v. Grant, 6 Mass. R. 386 463, 464, Blackenhagen v. Blundell, 2 B. & Ald. 417;	477
Bevans v. Rees. 3 Invier 600 3, 206,			527
	594 (THUE TO RYUN, PARKA'S AND DO. CL : EAT	234
Beveridge v. Burgis, 3 Camp. 262; Chit. j. 870	658	671 Kendrick, S Wils. 205; 2 Bla. Rep.
Basis o Camp. 262; Chit. j. 870	.	Blaxton v. Pye, 2 Wils. 309	681 93
Bevis v. Lindsell, 2 Stra. 1149; Ch. j. 291 588, Bickerdike v. Bollman, 1 T. R. 408, Ct.	280	Charles, 5 M A- P 14 . 7 Ding 946	73
485 40m 100 400 Cnit. 1			590
Bickley v. Hickman, 9 C. 1, 527, 330, 450.	699	Dieasby v. Crossley, 2 C. & P. 213: 3 Bing. 480;
Didmead w Colo 4 D	409	Blemfield's and Moore, 827; Ch. J. 1276 694,
Dieldy, Ex parte 19 v	92		539 343,
Bigs, Ex parte, 3 P. Wms. 419; Ch. j. 236 Biggs v. Dwight, 1 Man. & Pr. 200	723 164	Bloch r. Rell 1 34 325, 273, 336, 504,
1360 Chit. i.	,		132
v. Lawrence 2 m p 402, 12, 125.	403	Blogg v. Phillips, 2 Camp. 129 v. Pinkers, 2 Camp. 129 392,	896
	83	v. Pinkers, Ry. & M. 125; Ch. j. 1227 Bloxham, Ex parte, 8 Ves 531; Ch. j. 685, 709, Ex parte, 5 Ves 448; Ch. j. 685, 709,	98
Bignall v. Andrews, 7 Bing. 217 Bignold, Ex parte, 2 M. & A 622	148
719 •• 11. 000; 1 Den	i	Ex parte, 6 Ves. 449; Chit. j. 626	78,
v. Waterhouse, 1 M. & Sel. 259 498, 339, 4	149	Bloxsome v Needs No. 722, 725,	726
Bilbie v. Lumley, 2 East, 469 Billing v. Pully, 2 Marsh. 125 Bingham v. Jones MSS		Bloxsome v. Neale, MS., K. B. 1832 219, 220,	404
Billing v. Pully, 2 Marsh. 125 Bingham v. Jones, MS.	100	306, 306, 306, 306, 306, 306, 306, 306,	424
	21	Boddington e. SLi . 496,	407
Bingley v. Durham, 8 Ad. & E. 775; 1 P. & D.	23	Schlencker 4 D C- All are
v. Mallicon on Ma 11. Q D.		Woodless C 41, Citt. J. 1038 513,	396
7 T. R 570, C	56	Boehm v. Campbell. Gow 86. 975	546
Binnington at Waller 1	07	3 Moo. 15; Chit. j. 1045 114, 249,
	84 -		553
D. Sharland 1 70 D ' - '' J. 1409		Zarcias, 1 Camp. 425; Chit. 756, 2	87,
74 °	93 . 39 .	v. Stirling 7 m 5	34 7
Bircham v. Creighton, 3 M. & S. 345; 10 Bing.	08	Chit. j. 593; 217, 150, 197, 215, 222, 255, 2	79.
	1	Boletho, Ex parte, 1 Buck, 100 43,	13
•	19	Parte, 1 Buck, 100 43,
	,

| 1 日本 | 1 日本 | 1 日本 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日 | 1 日

ց Մերեու

1) 632 · 3: H 11

1 | 185 | 194 | 34 | 5,5Dil

(bit ; # ; ##: #*)

(ex.) Hi 1 6211 501 (d.)

n. 186 (31, 186) (31, 186) (11, 186) (11, 186)

3, 14.5 11.5 1.5 51.5

Rea no. C

eri Eri

阿姆里英国公司 经人民公司公司

ŧ

·	Page Page
Bolland v. Bygrave, Ry. & M. 271; Chit. j.	Boyd v. Emmerson, 4 Nev. & M. 99; 2 Ad. &
	404 E. 184 40, 822, 886, 891, 473, 494,
Bolland v. Nash, 8 B. & C. 105; 2 Man. & Ry.	487, 515
99; Chit. j. 1881 747, 224, 647,	740 Boyce v. Warburton, 2 Camp. 480; Ch. j. 807 680
Bolton, Ex parte, 3 Mont. & A. 867; 2 Dea.
587 25, 29,
v. Dugdale, 4 B. & Ad. 619; 1 N. & M.	Boyle, Ex parte, 1 Cooke, 561 712, 745, 742
	183 Bradbury v. Emans, 7 Dowl. 849; 5 M. & W.
v. Puller, 1 B. & P. 539: Chit. j. 567	595 602
199, 2
v. Reichard, 1 Esp. R. 106: Chit. j. 522	117 541, 548 244 Braham v. Bubb, MS. 135, 136
v. Richards, 1 T. R. 139: Chit. j. 538	Bramah v. Roberts, 1 Bing. 469; 1 Scott, 850
132, 178, 7
Bonbonus, Ex parte 8 Ves. 542 41, 39, 46,	18, v 3 Bing. N. C. 963; 5 Scott, 723, 7
	23 Brand and others, Ex parte, 2 M. & A. 708; 1
	54 Dea. 308 785
- v. Stockdale, 7 D. & R. 140: Ch. j. 1273 5	65 Brandon v. Brandon, 1 B. & P. 894 471
Booth, Ex parte, Mont. Rep. 249	86 v. Nesbitt, 6 T. R. 23
v. Grove, M. & M. 182: 8 C. & P. 835:	Brandram v. Wharton, 1 B. & Ald. 463; Chit. j.
Chit. i. 1895 570, 627, 6	83 1204 612
v. Howard, 5 Dowl. 489 558, 5	97 Branning v. Patterson, 4 Taunt. 487 590
v. Jacobs, 3 Nev. & Man. 851	30 Bray v. Hadwen, 5 M. & Sel. 68; Chit. j. 957
	486, 483, 485, 488, 490, 492
Borough v. Moss, 10 B. & C. 558: 8 Law J. 287	23 Brazier v. Bryant, 2 Dowl. 477 402
Borrodaile v Lowe, 4 Taunt. 98: Chit. j. 885	v. Jones, 6 B. & C. 196 549
507, 66
v Middleton, 2 Campb. 58; Chit. j.	Brett v. Levett, 13 East, 213; 1 Rose, 112; Chit.
765 511, 51
Bosanquet v Anderson, 6 Esp. R. 43; Chit. j.
726 645, 572, 637, 63	9 Breverton's case, 1 Dyer, 80 7 Brickwood v. Annis, 5 Taunt. 614; 1 Marsh.
904 74, 218, 220, 404, 58	-1
v Ransford, 4 Jurist, 457 81
v Wray, 6 Taunt. 597; 2 Marsh. 319	175, 816, 825, 854, 442, 578, 666
40
Boswell v Smith, 6 C. P. 60 51	Bridget v. Coyney, 1 M. & Ry. Mag. Ca. 1 464
Bosworth v Cockett, House of Lords, 6th May,	v. Mills, 4 Bing. 18; 12 Moore, 92 738
1824 609	Briggs, Ex parte, 3 M. & A. 393; 2 Dea. 549 700
Botten, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & B. 412 690
Bottomley v. Brook, cited 1 T. R. 621	Chit. j. 371 194
v Wilson, 3 Stark. R. 148; Chit j.	Brill v. Crick, 1 M. & W. 232 122, 141, 142
1151 671	Brind v. Hampshire, 1 M. & W. 365 322, 323
Boucher v. Lawrence, R. T. Hardw. 198 121
Boughton v. Frere, 3 Camp. 29 561, 645	Brisbane v Dacres, 5 Taunt. 148 508
Boulager v Talleyrand, 2 Esp. R. 550; Chit. j.	Bristol, Earl of, v. Wilsmore, 1 B. & C. 514; 2 D. & R. 755
585 834, 885, 575, 576, 665
Boultbee v Stubbs, 18 Ves. 21 449, 380, 412, 450 Boulter v Coghlan, 1 Bing. N. C. 640; 1	British Linen Company v. Drummond, 10 B. &
Scott, 588; 1 Hodges, 145 90, 662	0.000
Boulton v. Hillesden, Comb. 450 32
Boulton v. Welsh, 3 Bing. N. C. 688; 4 Scott,	v. Hughes, 5 Bing. 460; 3 M. & P. 77 85
425 467	v. Webb, 2 B. & C. 483; 3 D. & R.
Bounsall v. Harrison, 1 M. & W. 611 219	650; Chit. j. 1198 26, 27, 218, 242, 324,
Bourne v. Freeth, 9 B. & C. 632 39	536, 7
Boville v. Hammond, 9 D. & R. 186; 6 B. & C.	Brix v. Braham, 1 Bing. 281; 8 Moore, 261;
149 60	Chit. j. 1184 74
Bowerbank v. Monteiro, 4 Taunt. 884; Chit. j.	Bromage v. Rice, 7 C. & P. 548 641
889 142, 143, 303	Brombridge v. Osborne, 1 Stark. 374 394, 425
Bowes v. Howe, 5 Taunt. 80; 16 East, 112;	Bromley v. Frazier, 1 Stra. 441 389, 497, 658
1 M. & Sel. 555; Chit. j. 864, 892 361	Bromley v. Goodere, 1 Atk. 75 729
830, 855, 884, 452, 454, 574, 652	Properties of Loyd 2 Later 1585: Chit i 198
Bowman v. Nicholls, 5 T. R. 587, 1 Esp. 81;	Bromwich v. Loyd, 2 Lutw. 1585; Chit. j. 193
Chit. j. 522 186, 189 Bowyer v. Bampton, 2 Stra. 1153; Chit. j. 296	Brook, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 334 785
82, 90, 95, 96	v. Coleman 2 Dowl. 7 542
v. Peake, Freem. 215	v Enderby, 2 Bro. & B. 70; 4 Meore, 501 406

Brook w Golber & Asla est. Daniel a Brook v. Galby, 2 Atk. 84; Barnard. 1	S Buckland a Touloud with the record to the
Brookes a Chalca I Yamb. 449; Chit. j. 757 52	85; Chit. j. 523 674, 671
Brookes v. Clarke, I Law J. 29; 2 D. & R.	Buckler v. Buttivant, 8 East, 72; 1 Mont. 138;
148; Chit. j. 1157 Brookhard a Woodley Broket B	Ch. j. 659 204, 580, 707, 708, 709, 710.
Brookhard v. Woodley, Peake's Rep. 20	713
Brooks v. Elkins, 2 M. & W. 74 180, 520	B Durables C . I II a C II a ca con con concession
v. Stuart, 1 Per. & Dav. 615 313, 416, 62	544
v. Rogers, 1 H. Bla. 640; Ch. j. 480 71;	Buckler v. Moor, 1 Mod. 89
	Buckstone v. Jones, 1 Scott, N. R. 19
1 581k. 131; Chit. j. 223, 224 332	Buckworth e Levy 7 Ring 981. 8 M & P
RRA RRE ACE	Duly, I Duly, 201, U Mr. C. I.
Diognosi v. Bianchester Waterworks Company	1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
O D. & Ald. 8. 15	1 Dowl. P. C. 211
Brown, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Chit. 198	Durkerey v. Dutter, 2 D. & C. 484; 8 D. & R.
Ex parte, 1 G. & J. 407; Chit. j. 1206	Vao, Cu. J. 1183 100, 100, 182, 202,
004 00-	Paller v. C.: 22.
and others, Ex parte, 3 Mont. & A. 471;
	119; Z Ld. Raym. 757; Ch. i. 222 12.
V. Ackerman, 5 Fan R 110	139, 158, 241, 888, 457, 517, 523
v. Austin. 4 Dowl 161	1 Ching C. a lost, 1 Cap. Rt. Zab
7. Killen Done 407	Bullock v. Lloyd, 2 C. & P. 119: Ch. j. 1274
v. Collinson, Reawe's pl 200	1 247. 330
	v. Richardson, 14 Ven. 278
	Dulmer, Ex parte, 18 Ves. 818 92,704
v. Duncan, 10 B. & C. 93	Dulpin v. Clarke, 17 Ves 266 11
v. Gracy. D & R N D C 43	Bunn v. Guy, 4 East, 200 9,83
V. Darraden A'T D 140. Ct : 400	v. Markham, 7 Taunt. 280: 2 Marsh. 582
54, 240, 869, 974, 517, 701, 31, 470, 520,	Bunney v. Poyntz, 1 N. & M. 229: 4 B. & A.
54, 240, 869, 874, 517, 521, 523, 559, 571 v. Heathcote, 1 Atk. 160	568
v. Hutchinson, Morr. App. No. 21 477	Burbridge v. Manners, 3 Camp. 194: Ch. j. 855
v. Jodrell, 3 Car. & P. 80	207 000 007 400 401 401
T. NAWIOU 9 D G. D FIG.	Burchell v. Slocock 14 Parry 1747 Ch
v. Leeson, 2 H. Bla. 43	Burchell v. Slocock, Ld. Raym. 1545: Ch. j. 267
v. Leonard, 2 Chit. R. 120; Ch. j. 958 53	Burden v. Halton, 1 M. & P. 223: 4 Bing. 454:
	8 C. & P. 174: Ch. j. 1874 176, 585
	Burgess, In re, 2 Moore, 745; 8 Taunt. 660;
v. M'Dermot, 5 Esp. R. 265; Ch. j. 721	Cn. J. 1042 679, 680, 690
	v Cuttill, 6 C. & P. 285; 1 M. & R. 815 672
  *	v Merrui, 4 Taunt. 468; Ch. j. 869
Janey, 10 East, 216; Ch. i. 852	L. KYN KXX DOJ
455 247 997 990 440 45	Burgh v Legge, 5 M. & W. 418 577, 451, 481, 501
DI OL DEL VAL	1
	Burke v Jones, 2 Ves. & B. 275
	1 During v Stott, 8 B. & C. 37: 2 M & R. 98:
- Turner, 7 T. R 680, 9 E-
	1 VIJUITH, X I: As Mr Esc. Test
v. Watts, 1 Taunt. 353; Ch. j. 753 125, 517 Browne v. Carr, 7 Bing. 508: 1 M. 6.	2 - 44 U 7 I Oling 17 Vac 44
Browne v. Carr, 7 Bing. 508; 1 M. & P. 497 421 Browning v. Kinnear Gov. P. 497 421	1 " dille V Milliot. A Moore 946 40
tor, dow, Rep. 81; Chit. i	171 D 014
Bruce v. Bruce, 1 Marsh 165, 280, 337, 458, 478
Chit. 908 245, 428, 431	T TO SEE O MICHES, IC B. A. C. KKO, KIM A. D.
— v Hunter, 8 Campb. 467 — v. Hurley, 1 Stark, 22 681
	Burrows v. Jemino, Stra. 733; Sel. C. 44; 2 Eq. Ca. Ab 525. Ch.
Brucker v. Fromont, 6 T. R. 659	Burt v. Moult 1 Co. ; Ch. j. 265 310, 168, 251, 787
Brunskill, Exp. 2 M. & Ay. 220; 4 D. & C. 442 733 Brutt v. Picard, Ry. & M. 38; Ch. i 1902
Brutt v. Picard, Ry. & M. 38; Ch. j. 1205 149, 185 Bryan v. Tomkins, MS.
Bryan v. Tomkins, MS.	Burton, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 255; 1 Mont. 662 788
Bryant v. Christie, 1 Stark. 329	Post P 1 Rose, 320 746
Bryden v. Bryden, 11 Johns. R. 137
Diviniti LA DEFER COOKS 184	v lasit, 5 B. & Al. 267 42, 54
Duchanan, P.T howto 1 D oo. ''') 'UZ. (ZI)	Payne, 2 C & P 500 Cl 1216
Duchanan v. Findlay, 9 R & C 790	v Payne, 2 C. & P. 520; Ch. j. 1816
J. 1-1-1 211. NO 100 PA.	v Stanley cited 6 Nr. o. C
741 740, 100, 194	v Stanley, cited 6 M. & Sel. 382 589
Bucket v. Church, 9 C. & P. 209	Bush v Kinnear 6 34 1 174; Ch. j. 221 517
DUCKING DAM F.Y DOMO 4 I	Butcher p Churchill 74 77
Ducatiend v. Newsome, 1 Taunt. 477: 1 Came	Butcher v Churchill, 14 Ves. 573 Butler v Crime 1 Sall. 1985
	Per 1 Saint. 180 158, 12, 189, 241, 383, 701 (457, 517, 522

579; 1 Le l

: 1 Max.2 797, 76, 3

0.20

1. 19

:5 N E 2. & P =

1; 3D ±1 16, 191.2 B

. 190 Fe d. 3. 22 3, 457, 2

CP 1 121

1 B. # j

Ъ 5 123. г

5. (1. 39,12 15,13 17,13 17,13 17,13 18,13

(1) (2) (1) (2) (2) (2)

(% ;

京都 日間を見ればするする

Pa	ge Page
Butler v Malissy, 1 Stra. 76; Chit. j. 242 5	29 Carter v Ring, 3 Campb. 459 359, 610
v Play, 1 Mod. 27; Ch. j. 161 326, 337, 49
Butterworth v Lord Le Despencer, 3 M. & Sel.	v Whalley, 1 B. & Ad. 13 50, 39, 51 75 Carteret v Paschal, 3 P. Wms. 199 7
150; Ch. j. 913 361, 5' Butts v Swann, 2 B. & B. 84; Chit. j. 1084 10
105, 118, 14
Buzzard v Broomfield, 4 M. & W. 368: 7 Dowl. 1 5
v. Flecknoe, 1 Stark. 323: Ch. j. 966 394, 42
Byas v. Wyllie, 1 C., M. & R. 686: 5 Tyrw.	59, 172, 197, 201, 228, 642
377: 3 Dowl. 524 Byers v. Southwell, 6 Bing. N. C. 39: 9 C. &	77 Cary v Gerrish, 4 Esp. Rep. 9; Chit. j. 635 400, 580 — v Pitt, Peake, Add. 130 631
P. 320 699, 82
Byne v. Vivian, 5 Ves. 604 25
Bynner v. Russell, 1 Bing 23: 7 Moore, 267:	Cash v Taylor, 8 Law J. 262
Ch. j. 1151 877, 57
Byrn v. Godfrey, 4 Ves. 8
Byrom v. Thompson, 3 P.& Dav. 71: 3 Jur. 1121 53	1 Castleman v Ray, 2 B. & P. 383 118, 106 Cates v Hardacre, 3 Taunt. 424; Chit. j. 831 675
Cabell v. Vaughan, 1 Saund. 291 b. note 4 52
Cæsar v, 4 Doug. 14: Ch. j. 428 58
Callaghan v. Aylett, 2 Campb. 549: 3 Taunt.	E. 136
397: Ch. j. 820 154, 359, 362, 36
Callow, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 1 70 Laurence, 3 M. & Sel. 95: Chit. j.	1 Caunce v Rigby, 3 M. & W. 67 643 Cazenove v Prevost, 5 B. & Ald. 70 238
911 121, 223, 235, 530
Calton v Bragg, 15 East, 228 679, 68
Calvert v Baker, 4 M. & W. 417; 7 Dowl. 17 181	, Chalie v Belshaw, 6 Bing. 529; 4 Moore & P.
183, 582, 600
v Roberts, 3 Campb. 343; Ch. j. 884 188
Calye's case, 8 Co. 33 803 Cameron v Smith, 2 Bar. & Ald. 305; Chit. j.	Chalmers v Lanion, 1 Campb. 383; Ch. j. 754 220 v Page, 3 B. & Ald. 697 204
1047 679, 680, 696
Camidge v. Allenby, 6 B. & C. 373; 9 D. &	Chamberlaine v Hewson, 5 Mod. 71 21
R. 391; Ch. j. 1319 356, 244, 247, 339
354, 881, &c. 443, 449, 497, 496, 523
Campbell v. French, 6 T. R. 212; 2 Hen. Bla. 163; Ch. j. 541 370, 373, 463, 476	Chambers v Bernasconi, 6 Bing. 498; 4 M. & P. 218
"Hodgson, 1 Gow, 74; Ch. j. 1053 143,
402, 594	v Plumer, 1 New R. 252 139
Cannan v Bryce, 3 B. & Ald. 179 92	v Terry, 3 B & B. 295; 7 Moore, 180;
Capp v Lancaster, Cro. Eliz. 548 359, 360, 573, 610	Chit. J. 1144 267
Cardwell v Martin, 6 East, 312; Ch. j. 744 108 w Martin, 9 East, R. 190; 1 Campb.	Chandler v Dorsett, Finch, R. 431; Ch. j. 165 175 Channell v Ditchburn, 5 M. & W. 494 614, 616
79; Chit. j. 744	Chapman v Black, 2 B. & Ald. 598; Chit. j.
Carew v Winslow, 5 Dowl. 543 590
Carlos v Fancourt, 5 T. R. 482; Chit. j. 515 138,	v Keane, 3 Ad. & El. 193; 4 Nev. &
132, 137, 144, 521, 528	M. 607 495, 388, 494 Chappel, Exp. 3 Mont. & Ay. 490; 3 Dea. 298 496
Carmack v Gundry, 3 B. & Ald. 272; 1 Chit. R. 709; Chit. j. 1074 559	Charles v. Marsden, 1 Taunt. 224; Ch. j. 750 218, 69
Carman v Bryce, 3 B. & Ald. 179	Charrington v Milner, Peake, R. 6: Ch. j. 463 673, 674
Carne v Legh, 6 B. & C. 124; 9 D. & R. 126 587	Chaters v. Bell, 4 Esp. R. 48; Selw. 9th ed. 360;
Carpenter v Marnwell, 3 B. & P. 40; Chit. i.	Chit. j. 636 464, 231, 10, 114, 289, 334,
646 7, 204, 705 v White, 3 Moore, 231 757	336, 456, 477, 572, 642, 646 Chatfield v Paxton, MS. 2 East, 471, n. 502, 504
Carr, Ex parte, 3 M. & A. 64; 2 Den. 273 734	Chaworth v Beech, 4 Ves. 585; Ch. j. 616 76, 228
- v Brown, 7 Bing. 508; 5 Law J. 12 409	Chenp v. Hanley, cited 3 T. R. 127 261, 155
v Eastabrook, 3 Ves. 561; Chit. j. 572 401	Cheek v Roper, 5 Esp. R. 175; Chit. j. 702 278.
v Edwards, 8 Stark. 132 680	274, 367, 655
r Shaw, MS.; Ch. j. 614 519, 580	Cheetham v Butler, 5 B. & Ad. 937; 2 Nev. &
v Stephens, 9 B. & C. 758; 4 M. & R. 591; Chit. j. 1444 807, 537	M. 453 107, 116 Chesmer v Noyes, 4 Campb. 129; Chit. j. 929 655,
Carrol v Blencow, 4 Esp. 27	332, 385, 455, 466
Carstairs v Bates, 3 Campb. 301; Ch. j. 877 211,	Chevalier, Ex parte, 1 M. & Ay. 345 706, 723
231,755	Chevers v Parkington, 6 Dowl. 75 557
v Rolleston, 5 Taunt. 551; 1 Marsh.	Chew t Lye, 7 Dowl. 465 Chically a Road A Mod. 108. Ch. i. 191 504
207; Chit. j. 909 316, 419, 413 Cartwright v Williams, 2 Stark. 340; Ch. j. 1023 672	Chievly v Bond, 4 Mod. 108; Ch. j. 181 594 Child v Monins, 1 B. & B. 460; 5 Moore, 282;
Carter v Breton, 6 Bing. 617; 4 M. & P. 424 208, 213	Chit. j. 1103
- v Dowrish, Carth. 83; Chit. j. 176 559	v Morley, 8 T. R. 610 92
- v Palmer, 12 Mod. 380; Chit. j. 213 578, 580	Childers v Boulnois, Dow. & Ry. N. P. C. 8 180, 526
F

Chilton v. II. 1	Page	Clares a Marine and Page
Canton v Harborn, 1 Anst. 249	588	Cloves v. Williams, 3 Bing. N. C. 868; 5 Scott, v Whiffen, 3 Wils. 12; Chit. j. 378	320,	69 161, 553, 554, 579, 690
840 647 711 719	786	Clores For Carla 950
inprendite v. Intraton, M & M. 411: 4 C. &		Clowes, Exp. Cooke, 255
F. 95; Chit. 1, 1468 @1g	616	Classe Baselsont, 7 Law J. 147 482
Christie v Fonsick, Selw. 9th ed. 851		Clugas v. Penaluna, 4 T. R. 467 121
Unitty v. Naish, 2 Dowl, 511	610	Coates v. Stevens, 2 C., M. & R. 118; 5 Tyrw.
Cholmondely v. Payne, 4 Scott, 418; 3 Bing.	402	. 764; 8 Dowl, 784 599
		Cock v. Coxwell, 2 C., M. & R. 291; 4 Dowl.
Christy v Row, 1 Taunt. 300	569	187; I Gale, 177 181, 600
Churchill v Crease, 5 Bing. 197	179	Cockell v. Gray, 3 Bro. & B. 187 373
Carling Carling By	392	Cocks, Exp. 1 Rose, 317 679, 680, 729
v. Gardiner, 7 T. R. 596; Chit. j.	,	- v. Borrodaile, MS. 642
605 236, 227, 552,	573	v. Masterman, 9 B. & C. 902; Dans. & L.
ony or Loudon a case, h (o 196 a	689	290 AM A D. CO. Chi.
Clauricarde, L'a Darie. Cooke 169 *co *		829; 4 M. & Ry. 676; Chit. j. 1446
Claridge v. Dalton, 4 M. & Sal 202, CL.	•	426, 391, 509
704 410, 440, 320, 829, 410, 411, 40g, 40g,	400	v. Nash, 6 Car. & P. 154 666
v. Delvin, 3 R & P 262, Chi. :	211	v 4 M. & Sc. 162
	109,	Cockshott v. Bennett, 2 T. R. 673; Ch. j. 449
v. Noel, 3 Campb. 411; Chit. j. 896	304	85, 93, 97
v. Clement, 6 T. R. 525	417	Coffee v Brian, 8 Bing. 54; 10 Moore, 341;
Distant 10 3%	539	Chit. j. 1255 60, 319
. Figott, 12 Mod. 198; 1 Salk. 126;		Cording Williams D. 1 00
	234	Cophlan v Williamson, Dougl. 93 634
		Cohen v Morgan, 6 D. & R. 8 254
v. Blackstock, Holt, 474; Chit j. 968	20	Cole v Blake, Peake, 179 423
59, 108, 187, 188, 1	03,	v Gill, 7 Moore, 353 97
		v Gower, 6 East, 110 : Chit, i. 712 84
v. Cock, 4 East, 72; Chit j. 586 (297, 2	543	U Jones, 2 Vern RQ9 7
		Cal. v Parkin, 12 East, 471 159
284, 285, 288, 289, 298, 302, 3	303	Colehan r. Cooke, Willes, 893; Chit. j. 298
v. Hooper, 4 M. 4 Sc. 353; 10 Bing. 480 C	617	129 125 126 127 144 150 FIR 500
v. Johnson, 3 Bing 424; 11 Moore, 319 v. Percival, 2 Bar & Ad. 659	84	129, 135, 136, 137, 144, 150, 517, 520
v. Percival, 2 Bar. & Ad. 660	136	Coleman v Sayer, 2 Stra. S29; 1 Barnard. 303;
" Towell, 4 D. & Ad. 846 · 1 N & M		Calas T. Ch. j. 267 337, 370, 873, 877, 477, 479
492	92	Coles, 10 fe, 2 (i. & J. 831 700 703
		- v Bank of England, 4 Jurist, 266 661
	588	Darrow, 4 Tannt 754 Holt 174 211
v. Snarpe, 3 M. & W. 166 1 Here	4	C. Julkiu, 12 Page 471
Hurl. 35		T Robins, S Campb 109 906
v. Wilson, 8 M. & W. 208 416, 413,	175	v Trecothick, 9 Ves. 234
7 M. & W. 208 416, 413,	l	Colkett v Freeman, 2 T. R. 61; Chit. j. 441 397,
Classey v. Drayton, 6 Mee. & Wels. 17	109	1. R. 01; Chg. J. 441 351;
Claxton r. Swift 2 Shared Avels. 17	322	College v Horn 10 34
5 SWIII, 2 SHOW, 441 481 40E 40C		College v Horn, 10 Moore, 431; 3 Bing. 119 614
		Concurred Fardularson Start D 250 665
j. 167, 168, 171 11, 12, 160, 241, 2	47	Collett v Haigh, 3 Camp. 281; Chit. j. 877 417,
Clayton v. Gosling, B. & C. 200 411, 539, 5		915 410
		Colley v Smith, 9 Mood & D. oc.
110; Chit. j. 1287 136, 144, 161, 50		Comms v Denning, 19 Mod 444
, 101, 00	?	v Diantern, 2 Wile 240
v. Jennings, 2 Bla. R. 708	04	v Butler, 2 Stra. 1087; Chit. j. 285 280,
Ciay toli a case, i Maria 570	١	95 (967
Clary v. Dolbin, R. E. Hardw. 278; Ch. j.	104 (v Jones, 10 B. & C. 777; Chit. j. 1493
280 200 200 Ch. j.	- 1	5 10 B. & C. 777; Chit. J. 1493
Clegg, Exp. 1 Mont. & Ay. 191	99	v MS. 647, 740, 746
	10
239; Chit. j. 657	- 1	v Martin, 1 B. & P. 651; 2 Esp. 520;
v. Levy, 3 Camp. 166	50
Clements v. Landau v. 7	21	Emaiett, 1 H. Bla. 813 (hit 1 461
Clements v. Langley, 5 B. & Ad. 372; 2 N. & M. 269
Clerk v. Blackstock, Holt. N. P. C. 474 (718, 7		Colombier v Slim, MS.; Chit. j. 745 217, 229
	21	Combo 224, 536
v. Mundall, 12 Mod. 203 1 5817, 188, 5	ا 👡 ا	Combe v. Wolfe, 8 Bing. 156; 1 M. & S. 241
v. Mundall, 12 Mod. 203; 1 Salk. 188, 5 3 Salk. 68; Ch. j. 181, 206
3 Salk. 68; Ch. j. 181, 206	_ 10	Coombe's case, 9 Co. 75 b 409, 410 27, 32, 33
v. Withers, Lord Raym. 1072; 1 Salk.	54 (
822 10/2; 1 Salk.		Coming, Exp. Cooke, 123
Clerke v. Martin 2 I d Danis and 5	39
Clerke v. Martin, 2 Ld. Raym. 758; Ch. j. 181 5 Clermont v. Tullidge, 4 C. & P. 1	17	Compton v. Taylor, 4 M. & W. 138 553, 554, 579
Clifford n. Rurton 1 Din 100 6	31	Tollies, 2 C., M. & R. 719 . 4 Dowl.
Clipsam v. O'Brien, 1 Esp. R. 10; Chit. j. 508 6	32 .
Close, Exp. 2 Bro. C. C. 595 Chit. j. 508 6	63	v. Meaks, 2 Adol. & F. 326 A. N. &
	- 1
•	!	Connor v. Martin, 1 Stra. 516 - Sal Ca os 200, 22

13, 134, 79 69 : $54 13, 134, 29

3. 5 Tm

. 4 Вт 2:

hacai 1 - - - 4 42s. P.

「一種のはおけずして、一般のサードでは、これではない。」

ı	P	age		Page
1	Conroy, Exp. 1 Molloy, Rep. 1	733	Cowper v Jones, 4 Dowl. 591	602
	v. Warren, 9 Johns, Ca. 259 441,		v Pepys, 1 Atk. 1071	722
		607		606
	Cope v. Rowland, 2 M. & W. 149 Copeland, Exp. 2 Mont. & A. 177; 2 D. & Ch.	88	Cox v Coleman, Mich. 6 Geo. II. 1 Atk. 611; Chit. j. 274 288, 297, 298,
		752	v Earle, 3 B. & Ald. 430; Chit. j. 1078
	Coognan's case, 1 Leach, 449; 2 East, P. C. 948		510,
		821	v Kitchen, 1 B. & P. 338	21
	v. Tower, 1 Taunt. 372	194	v Morgan, 2 B. & P. 898 892,	896
	Cooke v. Colehan, Willes, 396; Stra. 1217;		v Troy, 5 B. & Ald. 474; 1 D. & R. 38;
	Chit. j. 298, 301 186, (Chit. j. 1129 308, 243,
		634	v Reed, Ry. & M. 202; 1 C. & P. 602	757
	Coolidge v. Payson, 2 Wheat. 66 284, 2 Cooling v Noyes, 6 T. R. 263	280 85	Coxon v. Lyon, 2 Camp. 307 Cramlington v. Evans, 2 Vent. 310; 1 Show. 5;	568
	Cromb v. Ingram, 4 D. & R. 210; Chit. j. 1206	00	Carth. 5; Chit. j. 174 11, 160, 870,	894
	73, 161, 5	65	Cranch v White, 1 Bing. N. C. 414; 1 Scott,	•••
(Cooper v. Davis, 1 Esp. R. 468; Chit. j. 548	i	314; 3 Dowl. 377; 1 Hodges, 4; 5
	423, 6	70	Car. & P. 767	251
-	v. Le Blanc, 2 Stra. 1051; R. T. Hardw.		Crawford v. Gurney, 2 Moore, 478; 9 Bing.
	295; Chit. j. 281 808, 854, 6	1		145
		42	Cranly v. Hillary, 2 M. & Sel. 120; Chit. j. 895	020
		00	S13,	509
	w. Comm. Ca.; 5 M. & R. 387; Chit.		Craven v Edmondson, 6 Bing. 734; 4 M. & P. 622	208
	j. 1480 158, 6	41	Crawford v. Hamilton, 8 Madd. 251
(Cooper v Moorcraft, 3 M. & W. 500; 6 Dowl.		Crawley v. Crowther, Freem. 257; Chit. j. 221
		98	69, 369,	879
	v. Pepys, 1 Atk. 106; Chit. j. 291 722, 7	27 🚶	Crawshay v Maule, 1 Swanst. 509 50,	56
-	v Smith, 15 East, 103	39		668
Ē		93	Cresswell v Crisp, 2 C. M. & R. 634; 2 Dowl.
č	ore v Calloway, 1 Esp. 116 233, 365, 393, 6		635; 3 Dowl. 243 169, 526, 6	990
č	ope v Rowlands, 2 M. & W. 149 opeland. Exp. 2 M. & A. 177; 3 Dea. & C.	92	Crew v Petit, 3 Nev. & M. 456; 1 Ad. & E. 196 34,	RIA
Ŭ	199 2: M. & A. 177, 5 Dea. & C.	38	Crisp v. Griffith, 2 C. M. & R.159; 8 Dowl. 752;	010
~		37	1 Gale, 106 174, 176, 180, 605, 6	521
C	opp v. M'Dougall, 9 Mass. R. 1 437, 82, 9		Crichlow v. Parry, 2 Campb. 182; Chit. j. 774
Ç	oppock v Bower, 4 M. & W. 361 119, 124 5		646, 231, 8	572
C	orbett v Polnitz, 1 T. R. 7			680
C	orfield v Parsons, 1 Cr. & M. 730 394, 642, 67		Cromwell r. Hynson, 2 Esp. R. 511; Chit. j.
C	ork v Saunders, 1 B. & Ald. 46		571 280, 464, 334, 339, 366, 474, 4	179
C.	orlett v Conway, 5 M. & W. 653 633, 82	21	Crook v. Jadis, 5 B. & Ad. 909; 3 N. & M. 257;	47
•	orney v Da Costa, 1 Esp. R. 303; Chit. j. 538 440, 33	19		47 78
Co	emforth v Revetts, 2 M. & Sel. 512 53			22
Co	ry v. Bretton, 4 C. & P. 462 63		Cropley v Corner, 4 Car. & P. 21; Chit. j. 1449 6
	- v Scou, 3 B. & Al. 621; Chit j. 1081 326	6, [0 9
~	327, 330, 339, 436, 438, 440, 442, 448, 450, 57	6	r Clark, 5 Dowl. 62 5	48
Co	star v Symens, 1 C. & P. 149; Chit. j.		Crosfield, Exp. 2 Mont. & Ay. 543; 1 Dea. 405 7
C~	1204 66	- 1		43
Cot	ster v Merest, 7 Moore, 87 les v Davis, 1 Campb. 485 23, 22, 32, 33, 20		Crosse v Smith, 1 M. & Sel. 545; Chit. j. 886	78
Co	lesworth, 1 Mont. & B. 92		454, 471, 330, 367, 435, 452, 485, 497, 5 Crossley, Exp. Cooke, 158; Chit. j. 493
Cot	hay v Marray, 1 Campb. 335 69		721, 7
Cot	teen v Missing, 1 Mad. R. 176 7.			79
Cot	ten v Horsemanden, Prac. Reg. 357 681	1 0		15
Cot	terell v Dixon, 3 Tyrw. 705 550		Frouch v Martin, 2 Vern. 595	7
Cot	terill and others, Exp. 8 Mont. & Ay. 376;		Crowfoot v Gurney, 9 Bing. 372 105, 13
C.,	8 Dea. 12 752	1 -	Froxon v Worthen, 5 M. & W. 5 502, 500, 39	90
Cot	ton v Catlyn, 2 Eq. Ca. Ab. 525 98, 251		ruikshanks v. Rose, 5 C. & P. 19; 7 Mood.	١.
Con	trell, Exp. Cowp. 742 84 gan v Banks, MS. 683		& R. 100 94, 40 Frutchley v Mann, 5 Taunt. 529; 1 Marsh. 29;	13
Cor	isins v Paddon, 2 C., M. & R. 547; 4 Dowl.	\	Chit. j. 908 29, 106, 114, 140, 156, 564, 68	37
	488 598, 606	3 i -	- v Clarence, 2 M. & Sel. 90; Chit. j.	••
Cov	van v Abrahame, 1 Esp. 50; Chit. j. 513 626		895 156, 29, 140, 214, 56	34
Cov	vie v. Halsall, 4 B. & Ald. 197; 3 Stark. 36;		fulley v Short, 1 Coop. Eq. Ca. 148
	Chit. j. 1099 182, 184, 308		ulverhouse r. Alexander, 2 Y. & C. 218	1
	- v Harris, MS.; M. & M. 141; 7 Bing.		uming v Baily, 6 Bing. 363; 4 Moore & P. 36;
Co=	97; 4 M. & P. 722 97, 148, 697, 699	'	Chit. j. 1485 695, 3, 210, 750, 80
	rley v Dunlop, 7 T. R. 571; Chit. j. 598 354, 537, 538, 580, 707, 708, 709, 713	. -	v French, 2 Campb. 106; Ch. j. 771 Roebuck, 1 Holt, C. N. P. 127 21
	ישט ושטן וערן וער אינט וויטט ודעט ורעט וויטט ודעט		V 160CDMCR; 1 11016; C. 17. 1. 121 21	4

Cundell v Pratt, Mood. & M. 108
Cundy v Marriott, 1 Bar. & Adol. 696 : Chit.	Davison v. Franklin, 1 B. & Ad. 142 90.96
trong, City	v. March, 1 New Rep. 157; Ch. j. 713 542
Cunliffe v Booth, 5 Scott, 17; 3 Bing. N. C.	r. Robertson, 8 Dow, 218; Chit. j. 934
	26, 28, 31, 42, 155, 722, 723
v Sefton, 2 Fast 193	Davy v. Prendergrass, 5 B. & Al. 187; 2 Ch.
" Whitehead, 8 Bing. N. C. 828: 5	336 410
	Dawe v Holdsworth, Peake, 64, 65 403, 404, 699
241 554 500 000	Dawkes r. Lord de Loraine, 3 Wils. 213 : Ch.
	1. 382 138, 128, 132, 137, 159, 160, 525 urrie v Child, 3 Campb. 283	Dawson r. Bowman, 1 C., M. & R. 594; 3
urus, Exp. Cook, 159	DOM. 160 550
	v. M'Donald, 2 M. & W. 26 102, 107, v Rickards, 1 Scott, N. R. 155; 4 Juriet	120, 599, 600
	v. Morgan, 9 B. & C. 620; Ch. j. 1440
	Day # Nin 0 M
outhoett v Haley, S 1. R. 391; 3 Eap. 22. Ch.	Day v. Nix, 9 Moore, 159; Ch. j. 1210 76, 77, 78
	v. Stuart, 6 Bing. 109; 3 M. & P. 334;
Cutts v Perkins, 12 Mass. R. 206 290, 96	Chit. j. 1448 90, 92 Deacon v. Stodhart, 5 Bing. N. C. 594 601
	Deane v. Crane, 6 Mod. 309 74
Dabbs v Humphreys, 4 M. & Sc. 285; 10 Bing.	v. Newhall, 8 T. R. 168 314, 412, 413, 416
Da Costa v Cole, Skin. 272; Ch. j. 179 614, 647	Deardon v. Binns, 1 M. & R. 130 107
000	Death v. Serwonters, Lutw. S85; Chit j. 167 160,
v Jones, Cowp. 729	537 538
D Pym Panka's E.: 1 or	Debenham r. Chambers, 3 M & W 128 556
Dagglish v Weatherby, 2 Bl. R. 747; Chit. j.	De Begnis v. Armistead, 10 Bing. 107; 3 M. &
382 , - 1 20 /4/, Calt. J.	r. 511 91
Dalbiac v Dalbiac, 16 Ves. 116	De Berdt v. Atkinson, 2 H. Bla. 336; Ch. j.
Dale v Lubbock, 1 Barnard, 199 Daley v Mahon, 6 Dowl 199 472, 636	1 020 439 979 990 959 901 450
Daley v Mahon, 6 Dowl. 192 Dalton v Gib. 6 Sect. 751. 7 542	De Bergareche v. Pilling, 3 Bing. 476; 11 Moore,
Dalton v Gib, 6 Scott, 751; 5 Bing. N. C. 113; 7 Dowl. P. C. 143
Dally v. Slatter, 4 C. & P. 200; Ch. j. 1487 489,	De Bernales v. Fuller, 2 Camp. 426 679, 680 Decy v. Shee, 2 T. R. 617 92
	Deerly v. Mazzarine, 1 Salk. 116
Danbridge v. Cord., 6 Taunt. 332	De Gaillon v. L'Aigle, 1 B. & P. 358 22, 33
	Dehers v. Harriott, I Show. 163; Chit. j. 485
Dane v. Kirkwall, 8 C. & P. 11; Ch. j. 1851 676	ZD. 115 918 990 969 970 977 158
Transcribed v. Wildy, 4 Feb 180. Ct.: 6.6	Tidviand C. Bowerbank 1 Camp 50 680 736
Daniell v. Cartony, 1 Fra R 224 (267, 268, 578)	Dank of England, 2 B. X.
Daniell v. Cartony, 1 Esp. R. 274; Ch. j. 537 96	Au. 383; 9 B. & C. 208; Ch. j. 1419,
v. Cross, 3 Ves. 277 Darhishire v. Parker, 6 Feet, 2, 9, 6, 66	1542 519, 520, 81, 128, 168, 196, 248.
	959 950 950 517 560
	De La Courtier v. Bellamy, 2 Show. 422; Ch.
Dark v. Hanks Mg (177, 178, 170, 451, 487, 656)
Darnell v. Williams, 2 Stark. R. 166; Chit. j.	De La Torre v. Barclay, 1 Stark. R. 7; Ch. j. 905
998 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70 70	De La Vega r. Vianna 1 D e. Al cot 100 618
Darrach v. Savage, 1 Show. 155; Ch. j. 181 369	Delauney v. Mitchell, 1 Stark. R. 439; Chit. j.
David v. Ellice, 5 B. & C. 196; 7 D. & R. 690; 1 C. & P. 368; Ch. 1278 R. 690;
1 C. & P. 368; Ch. j. 1278 Davies v. Acocks, 2 C. M & P. 416	Delagal v. Naylor, 5 M. & P. 443; 7 Bing. 460
Davies v. Acocks, 2 C., M. & R. 461; 1 Gale,	De Mantant 625, 685
v. Dodd, 4 Taunt. 602; Chit. 876 267	De Mantort v. Saunders, 1 B. & Ad. 398 44, 164 Dennis v. Morrico 9 F. 1 B. & Ad. 398
267,	Morrice, 5 Esp. R. 158; Ch. j. 626 327,
v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176; Chit. j. 996 99,	Dent v. Dunn 3 Compl. 200 Cl. 1 436, 505
v Franklin, 1 B. & Ad 142	Dent v. Dunn, 3 Campb. 296; Chit. j. 877 271, v Franklin, 1 B. & Ad. 142	389, 391, 399, 400, 680 389, 391, 399, 400, 680 493; Ch. j. 902 59,
v. Humphreys, 4 Jurist, 250	Depeke r. Munn. 2 C. 57, 680
Davis v. Bowsher, 5 T. R. 488. Chi.
200, Clift. J. 517
	Desbrow v. Weatherly, 6 C. & P. 758 182, 187, 190 De Silva v. Fuller Sel. Co. 2003 1832
462 Man.	200 mei, cei. ca. 235; MS.; Ch. J.
v. Holding, 1 M. & W. 159; 1 Colo 200, 174	De Symonde v. Minch. 11 a. 200, 550
4 Jurist, 336	De Tastet, Fyn. 1 D. 172
v. Mason, 5 T. R. 119
v. Reynolds, 1 Stark. 115; Chit. j. 945	v. Baring, 11 East, 265; 2 Campb. 65; Ch. j. 768 Devalles 684, 342, 685, 687
2. Watson, 2 14ev. & M. 709	Devaller : Hossia 684, 342, 685, 687
Travison, Ex parte, Duck, 31
-41	Devaynes v. Noble, 1 Mer. 468 43, 56, 66, 407

	Page
Dewdney, Exp. 15 Ves. 487 611, 617, 700, 703	, 706
v. Palmer, 4 M. & W. 664; 7 Dowl.
Demokrati Willia Michal 266 Ch : 100C	669
Dewsbury v. Willis, M'Clel. 366; Ch. j. 1226 Diack, Exp. 2 M. & Ay. 675	542 733
Dickenson, Exp. 2 Dea. & C. 520	708
v. Bowes, 16 East, 110; Ch. j. 340
361, 153, 366
v. Hatfield, 2 M. & M. 141; 5 C. &	,
P. 46	614
v. Prentice, 4 Esp. R. 32; Chit. j.
	674
v. Tengue, 1 C., M. & R. 241	701
v. Valpy, 10 B. & C. 128; 5 M. &
R. 126	46
Dickson, Exp. 6 T. R. 142 178, 179,	244
Exp. 2 Mont. & Ay. 99; 4 D. & C. 614
Fun 1 Dage 00	725
Exp. 1 Rose, 98 v. Cass, 1 B. & Ad. 343; Ch. j. 1502	733
207, 745,	206,
v. Evan's, 6 T. R. 57; Ch. j. 531 647,	600
707, 745,	746
Dignall v. Wigley, 11 East, 43: 2 Camp. 33	96
Dilk v. Keighley, 2 Esp. R. 481 Dillon v. Rimmar, 1 Bing. 100; 7 Moore, 427;	20
Dillon v. Rimmar, 1 Bing. 100; 7 Moore, 427;
Chit. j. 1160 174,	181
Dimsdale v. Lanchester, 4 Esp. R. 201; Ch. j.
684	581
Dingwall v. Dunster, Dougl. 235, 247; Ch. j.
401 319, 304, 35 8 ,
Diplock v. Blackburn, 3 Camp. 43	37
Disher v. Disher, 1 P. Wms. 204; Ch. j. 230 Ditchburn v. Goldsmith, 4 Campb. 152	75
	85 132
v. Chambers, 1 C., M. & R. 845; 5	102
Tyr. 502; 1 Gale, 14 107, 116,	117
	501
v. Nuttall, 1 C., M. & R. 307; 6 C. &	- 1
P. 320 115, 139, 272, 365, 374, 375, Dobree v. Eastwood, 3 C. & P. 250; Chit. j.	610
Dobree v. Eastwood, 3 C. & P. 250; Chit. j.	1
1370 491, 472, 473, 480,	485
Dobson v. Lockhart, 5 T. R. 133 745,	749
Dod v. Edwards, 2 C. & P. 602; Chit. j. 1334
Dodgen v. Markey, 4 N. S. M. 207	1
	613 700
v Biggs, 1 Taunt. 367	23
	568
	185
v Jesson, 6 East, 80	22
v Newton, 5 Ad. & El. 514; 1 N. & P. 1	633
v Suckermore, 5 Ad. & El. 703; 2 N. &
P. 16 632, 633, 6
v Turford, 3 B. & Ad. 89	554
—d Birtwhistle v Vardell, 5 B. & C. 439;	.~.
	171
= == , == = = = = = = = = = = = = = = =	12
1 Tyr. & G. 114 2 — d Kettle v Lewis, 10 B. & C. 673; 13	.12
	15
- d Patteshall v Turford, 3 Bar. & Ad. 890 6	558
— d Watson v Fletcher, 8 B. & C. 25	93
Dolman v Orchard, 2 C. & P. 104 40, 45, 51,
Donelly's case, 1 Mood. C. C. 438	77
Doman v Dibden, Ry. & M. 381; Ch. j. 1293 6	81
Doubleday v Muskett, 7 Bing. 110; 4 M. & P.	.
750 38, 40,
The state of the s	98 1 21

113 to

(D, C

1 N I

できる。 を 1000 で 2 から 1000 で 1

2• * 1 10 € € 1 *

e	l .	Page
6	Down v Halling, 4 B. & C. 830; 6 D. & F	₹. """
•	455; 2 C. & P. 11; Ch. j. 1262 47	. 151
9	216, 222, 256, 258, 26
ź	v Hatcher, 2 P. & D. 292; 3 Jur. 651 60.	5 606
3	Downes v Richardson, 5 B. & Ald. 680; 1 I	3, 000 1
8	to D 220. Ch : 120g 10
7		6, 188
	Drage v Netter, Ld. Raym. 65; Ch. j. 192	312
ו	Drake v Mitchel, 3 Ea. 251; Ch. j 665 3, 17	4, 410
.	Drayton v Dale, 2 B. & C. 293; 3 D. & R	(.
١	534; Ch. j. 1186 20, 24, 20
. 1		4, 148
1	Dubelloix v Lord Waterpark, 1 D. & R. 16
.		9, 679
		13, 44
1	Ducarry v Gill, M. & M. 450; 4 C. & P. 121
1		29, 33
1	Duck v Braddyll, M'Clel. 235	103
1	Duckham v Wallis, 5 Esp. 251; Ch. j. 716	665
1	Dufaur v Oxenden, 1 Mood. & M. 90; Chit.
	1566 291, 295
1	Duff v East India Company, 15 Ves. 213	3 93
1	v Atkinson, 8 Ves. 577	512
	Duffield v Creed, 5 Esp. R. 52; Ch. j. 684	399,
1	400	, 425
ı	v Hicks, 1 Bligh R. N. S. 497; 1 Dow
ı	N. S. 1	2
1	Duhammel v Pickering, 2 Stark. R. 90; Ch. j	•
1	994 14, 83	, 193
1		, 144
1	Dunbar v Wilson, 6 Bro. P. C. 231 99	, 223
!	Duncan, Exp. 4 Jurist, 368	723
İ	v Lowndes, 3 Campb. 478	40
	v Scott, 1 Campb. 100; Chit. j. 742	72,
	73, 639, 646	, 648
	Dundas v Lord Weymouth, Cowp. 665	566
	Dunlop v Hamilton, 1 Bell, 320	273
	Dunn v Slee, Holt, C. N. P. 399	416
	Dupays v Shepperd, Holt, 397; Bull. N. P.
1	283, 288, 332, 455,	, 670
	Duperoy v Johnson, 7 T. R. 473; Ch. j. 595	589
	Durenbury v Ellis, 3 Johns. Ca. 70	35
	Dwight v Schovill, 2 Comm. R. 654	499
	Dyer, Exp. 6 Ves. 9 288, 289, 297	, 704
•	v Tywrewell, 2 Vern. 122; 2 Freem. 112;
ı	Chit. j. 180	98
١.	D. L. Miller and H. M. C. M. D. on Cit. 1 and Eaglechild's case, Holt, C. N. P. 67; Ch. j. 759	581
	Eales v Dicks, M. & M. 234; Ch. j. 1428	581
l	Earle, Ex parte, 5 Ves. 833	710
:	" Bowman, 1 B. & Ad. 889	582
	Easley v Crockford, 3 M. & S. 700; 10 Bing. 243	257
'	East India Company v. Chitty, 2 Stra. 1175;
	Chit. j. 304	382
-	v. Glover, 1 Stra. 612	591
-	v. Hensley, 1 Esp. R. 11	29
-	v. Tritton, 3 B. & C. 280;
	5 D. & R. 214; Ch. j. 1216 28, 242, 391,
r	East v. Chapman, M. & M. 47; 2 C. & P. 570,	676
ī	v. Essington, Ld. Ray. 810; Ch. j. 222	227
	Castbrooke v. Scott, 3 Ves. 456	85
		612
Ľ		606
C	Caston v. Pratchett, 1 C., M. & R. 798, 3 Dowl.
	472; 1 Gale, 33; S. C. in error, 2 C.,
	M. & R. 49; 4 Dowl. 542; 1 Gale,	609
T.	250; 6 C. & P. 736 Astwood r. Brown, Ry. & M. 312
	Lasum v. Cato, 5 B. & Ald. 861; 1 D. & Ry.	757
		741
	w-r	4

42

Fai

Į,,

1-1

ici

F: 1

is ...

اج

٠.٠٠

10.

ja Ja

Faton w Roll & D. Av. Ald Ac. City to and	e I
Eaton v. Bell, 5 B. & Ald. 40; Chit. j. 1115	Page
	1 101 110
Ebsworth v. Cole, 2 M. & W. 31	1 450, 330, 339, 355, 436, 453, 455, 472,
E-LIC DIL COM, 2 M. C. W. SI
Echliff v. Baldwin, 16 Ves. 267 25	1 Franc a Brown 1 Fra D 150
Edden v. Ward, 4 Jurist, 719, Addenda oo	1 - 1 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 2 - 1 - 1 - 2 - 1 - 2 - 2
Edgesombs a Dadd & D	. Carth. D: Z Vent 307;
Edie a Feet India Company 2 P	Skin. 264; Ch. j. 174 158, 202
Late v. Last Hula Company, 2 Barr, 1918. 1
Bla. R. 295; Chit. j. 358 232, 234, 15	Davies, 3 N. & P. 464; S Ad. & El.
56 107 ro	362 601
Edis v. Bury, 6 B. & C. 433; 9 D. & R. 492;
Day, o D. & C. 433; 9 D. & R. 492;
2 C. & P. 559; Ch. j. 1326 131, 26	7 Drummond, 4 Esp. 89 50, 51
Edmeads v. Newman, 1 B. & C. 418. 2 D &	Wymer, 1 B. & Ad. 528; Ch. j. 1512 72, 80, 97, 222, 239, 251, 317
	1 # Lowis 1 Q 1 004
Edmonds v. Cates, 2 Jur. 183 467, 473, 484	Worsen 2 Co. A. I. s.o.
v. Lowe, 3 D. & (; 407. 9 M g. D	" Morgan, 2 Cro. & J. 543 22, 76, 77
44/1 Dans. N 1. 89: Chit i 1400	7 Inipots, 9 Car. & P 270 821
Edmunds v. Downes, 2 C. & M. 459; 4 Tyr. 173	7 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
202 21 20 Downes, & C. & M. 459; 4 Tyr. 173	" Underwood, 1 Wil. 262; Ch. j. 326 137, 528
618, 614	777:11: Wil. 202; Ch. J. 820 137, 020
v. Groves, 2 M. & W. 642; 5 Dowl.	vy mams, 1 Cro. & M. 30; 3 Tyrw.
Edwards 9 Diels 9 D 88, 91, 650, 662
24 Aid. 495; Chit. i	2 Campo. 515; Ch. J. 515 175, 400
v. — 4 B. & Ald. 212; Chit. j.	1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2
1101 82 89 90 95 96 100 THE	Exall v Partridge, 8 T. R. 310 539
	Exon n Russell 4 M a a t or Greenwood, b Bing, N. C. 47R. 7	Exon v Russell, 4 M. & Sel. 505; Ch. j. 949 361, 969 154
7 Jones 2 M (- 117 - 602, 621
v. Jones, 2 M. & W. 414; 5 Dowl.	Fyre a Penls CF 112 402
575; 7 C. & P. 633 69, 71, 79, 80,	Eyre v Bank of England, 1 Bligh R. 592 583
200,000	l .
v. Robertson, 7 Dowl. 857	Faikney v Reynous, 4 Burr. 2069 91
r Ronald 1 Known 200 547	Fair Milver 16 Fant 100 Cl : 207
	Fair Milver, 16 East, 130; Ch. j. 865 899, 708 711
-Kan P. Infeliali, 5 I) & D 996	Fairley v Roch, Lutw. 891, 892; Ch. j. 172 14,
Egerton v. Furzman, Ry. & M. 213	7 Zdiw. 551, 592; Ch. J. 172 14,
	Datation 75
Les of Darbett, 5 Fab. R 106. Ch : coc	Fairlie, Ex parte, 3 Dea. & Chit. 275 725, 726
Eland D. Mall. I Page 375	"Denton, 8 B. & C. 395; 3 Car. & P.
Eldon v. Smith, 5 Ves. 350
Elford v. Teed M & Sal as Sal 401
	v Herring, 8 Bing. 625; 11 Moore,
Elliott v. Cooper, Lord Raym. 1376; 1 Stra.
609. 8 Mod. 202 (1) 13/6; 1 Stra.	n Richmond 2 P. 44 668, 673
609; 8 Mod. 807; Chit. j. 255 163,	v Richmond, 3 Per. & Day. 187 531, 561
	[1 4.50 Bittle, 2 C., M. & R. 457 · 4 Dowl
Ellis and others, Ex parte, MS. 520
Ex parte, Mont. & B. 249; 2 D. & C. 555 56	Fancourt v Bull, 1 Bing. N. C. 681; 1 Scott,
v. Ellis, Gow, R. 216	6. Buil, 1 Bing. N. C. 681; 1 Scott,
" C-1:-) T 136
• Galindo, Dougl. 247; Ch. j. 403, 427 810,	P l'urnor 1 I To
- , , 400, 427 810,	Tarchuon, Ex narta Ruel, o.
v. Levi, 1 Bing. N. C. 767, note (a); 1 Scott, 669	Farmer v Arundul 9 Di
Scott, 669 N. C. 767, note (a); 1	Farmer v Arundel, 2 Bla. R. 824 504
- v. Mason, 8 Invist 40c 249	Champneys IC M t- D oco. o
v. Mason, 3 Jurist, 406
v. Schmæch, 5 Ring 521, 2 25	v Wood MS
Ellison v. Dezell, Selw. 9th ed. 365	Farnsworth a Communication 589
Elmes v. Wills, 1 H. Bla. 64	Farnsworth v Garrard, 1 Camp. 38 78
Flater v. W. 11. Dia. 64	1 0 MOITIN, 7 P 194 201
Elston v. Mortlake, 1 Ch. Rep. 648	- v Southey M e. s
Elitati v. Kingsham, i R & Ala coa	v Southey, M. & M. 14; 2 C. & P.
Elworthy v. Bird, 2 Sim. & S. 372	Farr. Fy parts 25: 1315 311, 184
Emes v. Widdowson, 4 C & P 151	and parte, S Ves Kis
Emes v. Widdowson, 4 C. & P. 151	TILLE, I Figet SS. OL: : co.
	v Ward, 2 Mee. & W. 844 584, 638
Emly v Collins, 6 M & Sol 144 Ct. 57	7 Mee. & W. 844 584, 638
Emly v Collins, 6 M. & Sel. 144; Chit. j. 990 105
, , ,	Farrar v Hutchinson, 1 Per. & Dav. 437 40,
E9 010 17 0/, I	40,
Emmott v Kearnes, 5 Bing. N. C. 559	Farrell v Dale, 2 Dowl. 15 424, 648 590
English v. Darley, 2 B x P 61, 2 P
Chit. j. 620 408, 410, 411, 414, 418,
,, +14, 418,	Favenc v Bennett, 11 East, 40 Fayle v Bird 6 B a 393
Ereskine v Murray, 1 Barn. 88; 2 Ld. Raym.	Favle n Bird C. B. 11 East, 40 393
Lu. Raym	2 10, 0 D. N. I. 891. A C. I. D. 646
	9 D. & R. 639. Ch : 1000
	152, 295,
	Fearne v Lewis, 4 C. & P. 173; 6 Bing. 343;
Esdaile v La Nauze, 1 Younge & C. 394	4 M 9, 4 C. & P. 173: 6 Ring 343.
131,	4 M. & P. 1; Ch. j. 1471 Featherstone v. Hunt. 1 Ph. 1 1471 613
98, 252, 261	reatherstone v Hunt 1 P 9 9 9
, -02, 201	R. 233; 1 Law J. 14
	100; 1 Law J. 14

The state of the s	Pa	e
Featherstonehaugh v Fenwick, 17 Ves. 298		5( render Randal, b T. R. 14R: ('h i 480	86,	98
A CHOWES D TAVIOR, 7 T. R. 477	-	9
Feltmakers, Company of, v Davis, 1 B. &	Р.
Pana a II	20	02
	27, 8	2,
Fenton v Holloway, 1 Stark. 126	28, 2
v Goundry, 13 East, 459; 2 Camp	. L	18 20
rentum v Pocock, 1 Marsh, 14: 5 Taunt, 19	ვ. ა	, 2
Chit. j. 896 815, 420, 80, 80	- , 4. 30 i	K .
0/	10 49	9
reiguson v Milichell, 2 Cr., M. & D. 607.	1	_
	5 5	6
Fergusson v Belch, Mor. Ap. to Bills, No. 13	12
Fernandez v Collas, 6 Bro. P. C. 276	45
Fernandez v Glynn, 1 Campb. 426; Chit.	. 87	6
]. 49:	~
	6, 70	4
refres v Shirley, Fitz 105	630
Ferris v Bond, 4 B. & Ald. 679; Ch. j. 1110	140
	209
Field v Carr, 5 Bing. 13; 2 M. & P. 46 Chit. j. 1405	;
Tleming 5 Day 450 and a 39.	4, 405
v Hemming, 7 Car. & P. 619; 5 Dow.	636	j
	l.
" Wainwright, 3 B. & P. 39	636
v voods, 7 Ad. & E. 114. 9 N A- D	549	,
		. !
Out 1 Ding. 13: 2 M A. D 46	;	1
Chit. j. 1405 Fieldhouse v Croft, 4 East, 510 Figgins v Ward OF	, 405
Figgins v Ward, 2 Dowl. 364	524
Finleyson v Mackenzie, 3 Bing. N. C. 825; t	5 90	1
Scott, 20; 6 Dowl. 71 597) " #00	-
Firbank v Bell, 1 B. & Al. 39 105, 113, 117,	, 599 133	1
Firth a fine	144
Firth v Thrush, 8 B. & C. 387; 2 M. & Ry. 359; Dans, & J. 151. Chic. 1999	,	1
101 Cill. 1. 1398	450	1
489, 490, 493, 497, 555, 575 Fisher v Boucher, 10 B. & C. 705	, 656	ļ
v Leslie, 1 Esp. R. 426 130,	694	1
	526
v Pomfret, Carth. 403; Ch. j. 203 232, v Samuda, 1 Campb. 190 v Snow, 3 Dowl. 27	18
v Samuda, 1 Campb. 190	78	Г
v Snow, 3 Dowl. 27	552
	606	'
Fitzrov n Gwilliam 1 7 P. B. C. 68	448	;
Fleming v Brook, 1 Scho & Loc 210 96, 97,
v Hayne, 1 Stark. 370	523]
USIMOSON 1 Completed	739]
	77]
Troggatt 2 C t. D sen	100	I
v Heath, 7 B. & C. 517; 1 M. & R.	001	(
000 010	319	`
Flindt v Rignell 1 Cl. 1248	381	_
Flint, Ex parte, 1 Swanner 20 00 000	590
Flint, Ex parte, 1 Swanst. 30 S0, 198, 211, 741, Flower, Ex parte, 2 M. & A. 224; 4 Dea. & C.	742	0
140 224, 4 Dea. & C.	- 1	0
Folley v Carlon 1 W. 238,	752
Folliott v. Ogden, 1 Hen. Bla. 123 Ford v. Hopking Hele 1123		_
Trans Mult. 110: 1 Salle 000. 71	168	G
j. 215 Forman v. Drew. 4 B & C 15 2 B 2 522, 4	581 l	G
Forman v. Drew, 4 B. & C. 15; 6 D. & R. 75; Chit. j. 1246		Ğ
7. 1240 7		Ğ

18 (16. 3 18. 2 13. 432 474 48.

191 15.855

99.)

70	1	D
60	Forman v. Jacob, 1 Stark. 47 642, 5	Page
5	Forster v. Clements, 2 Camp. 17; Chit. j. 76	61, 570
9	Chit. j. 76	5 639,
•	1	61, 396
2	v. Jurdison, 16 East, 105; Ch. j. 862	413,
	•	42, 435
2,	roster v. Allanson, 2 T. R. 479	50, 396
7	y. Jackson, Hob 50
S	v. Jolly, 1 C., M. & R 703 . KT 9	90 144
	v. Pearson, 1 C., M. & R. 849; 5 Tyr	39 144
2	255	w.
_		99, 240
	v. Surtees, 12 East, 605; Chit. j. 802	738
,	v veston, 6 Bing, 714	681
9	Foulger v Jadis, MS.	650·
.	Fowell v Petre, 5 Dowl. 276	542
3	Fowler v Baylis, 1 Law J. 82
.	Fox v Clifton, 6 Bing. 776; 4 M. & P. 676	819
5	20 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10	38,
	v Hanbury, Cowp. 449 39, 40, 52, 55, 20	46, 51
1	Foresco P. Hanbury, Cowp. 449 52, 55, 20	3, 207
,	Foxcraft v Devonshire, 1 Bla. R. 193; Chit.	j.
. 1	303	396
1	Frampton v Coulson, 1 Wils. 33	0, 574
1	Trance a I nov D. t. M. o.s.
. 1		8, 666
1 3, 524
ł	w Mott, cited Dougl. 612	227
- [v Rucker, Amb. 674; Ch. j. 380 688	5. 730
í	- 10 M C 1 M K R
- !	15; Unit. j. 1418 201 999 819	2 E 9 Q
1	FIGUELICK F. COLLON 2 Show 8. Ch ; leg ge.
1	Free v. Hawkins, Holt, 550; 8 Taunt. 92;	1, 071
- 1	Moore 28: Chie : 1000	1
1	Moore, 28; Chit. j. 1000 638	, 143,
1	Francis v. H. J. 2 G. 434, 439, 450, 451	, 646
1	rreeman v. moskins, 2 Cain R 268	221
1	v. Kennell, MS. 624 825	652
1	French v. Archer, 3 Dowl. 130	603:
1.	v. Birt, MS
1.	v. Nicholson, 1 Marsh. 72	82
11	Frere, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & M. 263; Chit. j.	184
Ι.	1451 ROULE & M. 268; Chit. J.
١.		. 752 .
١:	rier v. Drugman, 2 rast, 859	517
1	Frith v. Leroux, 2 T. R. 59	691
, ,	Fromont v. Coupland, 9 Moore, 819; 2 Bing.
1	170	60
I	Frontin v. Small, 2 Stra. 705
1	Frost v. Bengough, 8 Moore, 180; 1 Bing. 266;	33 .
-	1 Law J. 96
E	Than J. 50	614
	Fry v. Hill, 7 Taunt. 397; Ch. j. 992 276, 379,	656
_	v. maicom, o launt, 117	COK
r	ryer v. Brown, R. & M. 145. Ch i 1997 69K	680
F	rühling v. Schroder, 2 Scott, 143; 2 Bing. N.
	C. 11	679
F	uller v. Smith, Ry. & M. 49; 1 C. & P. 197;	013
	Chit. j. 1205 245, 155, 397	400
F	Chit. j. 1205 245, 155, 307, urlonge v. Rucker, 4 Taunt. 250
Ē	urnong v. Rucker, 4 18unt. 250	680
F.	urness v. Cope, 5 Bing. 114	660
ŗ	ussell v. Brooks, 2 C. & P. 318	89
1	ydell v. Clark, 1 Esp. R. 447; Chit. j. 561	246
G	ale v. Capern, 1 Ad. & E. 102; 3 Nev. & M.
		000
_	- m Wolch ET D 000 City t non	622
	455 995 999 499 499 499	32,
c.	455, 327, 333, 433, 436, 456, 1
7	alton v. Taylor, 7 T. R. 475	88
u	alway v. Matthew, 10 East, 264; 1 Campb.
	403 49, 58, 1	568
_	v. Rose, 4 Jurist, 320	322
G٤	ammon v. Schmoll, 5 Taunt. 344; 1 Marsh.
	80: Chit. i. 904 - 200 - 202 -	RR
Ge	intt n. Mackanzia & Comm. El. Chia : com.
 	antt v. Mackenzie, 3 Camp. 51; Chit. j. 837 diner v. Parker, 3 Madd. 184; 2 Swans, 92	883
:-	rdner France 9 D 200	_3
	rdner, Ex parte, 2 Dowl. 520	72

_	_
Gardner v. Alexander, 1 Sc. 281; 3 Dowl. 146	age
v. Baillie, 6 T. R. 591
	30 590	1
Gardom, Ex parte, 15 Veg 286 90 40		Glover v
Garnet v. Clarke, 11 Mod. 226. Ch ; 220 72	204 817	Class
Garnett v. vv oodcock, 1 Stark, 475; 6 M R. S.,	017	Glynn r I
44; Chit. j. 879, 881 387, 1	59	Goddard's
279 961 405	654	Goddard v
Valialy C. W Coller, I M & Soott 207	608	Godfrey v
Garrells v. Alexander, 4 Esp. 37. Ch ; 620	630	Godson v
Gallett V. Juli. Selw 4th ad 384	530	Goggerley
Gascoyne v. Smith, M'Cleland & Y. 349: Ch.		Golding v
j. 1200 77 aa 4	243	Goldsmith
Guss, La parte, I triv. At 1 339	729	j
Gaters v. Madeley, 4 Jurist, 724, Addenda	319
Gaywood v. M'Keand, House of Lords, 1831, case No. 64		(
Geary v. Physic, 5 B. & C. 234; 7 D. & R.	191
Gedge, Ex parte, 3 Vec 340		Goldstone
Gee, Ex parte, 1 Jac & W son	594	ĺ
7, Drown, Stra 799, Chia : 000	736	Gomeserra
uem v. Jerem v. Mood t. M. Ci. (1)	247	Good v Ca
	86,	v Ell
		- v Ha
v. Surrey, M. & M. 516; Ch. j. 876 90,		Goodall v
	30	431
2 C. & J. 254 153, 151, 294, 364, 30	ee l	v I
675 6	90,	Goodburn
Gibbins v. Phillips, 7 B. & C. 529	09	Goodchild,
Gibbon v. Coggan, 2 Camph 188. CL :	32,	Goode v C
	55	P
v. Scott, 2 Stark. 286; Chit. j. 1008	42	Goodban
Gibbons v. M'Casland, 1 B. & Ald. 690	64	Goodhay v Goodier v 1
Gibbs v. Merrill, 3 Taunt. 307 20, 74, 530, 5 Gibson v. Bell, 1 Bing, N. C. 713, 15	62	Goodman v
1 Hodges 196 10011, 712;		3
v Dickie 9 M e a	43
n Hantes 0 17 m	84	Goodwin v
v Minet, 1 H. Bla. 605; Ch. j. 479	57	Goostrey v
1, 4, 167, 172, 198, 201, 227, 241, 2	226	Gordon v C
282 571 500	61,	Ex
P Ry. & M. 68; 1 C. & P. 247;	83
9 Moore, 31; 2 Bing. 7; Ch. 247; Gidley v Palmerstone, 7 Moore 31, 5, 1208 s		- v
Gidley v Palmerstone, 7 Moore, 91; 3 Brod. & B. 275	23	a .
& B. 275 Giener e Maure 2 V. T.	33	Gorgier v
Gifford, Fy paste 6 V	68	Carl 6
Gilbert v Platt, 2 M. & W. 720; 5 Dowl. 748 5	3.1	Gorham v
v Sykes, 16 East, 150	99	Goring, Exp
Giles v Bourne, 6 M. & Sel 79, 9 31, 84, 85,	86	Goss v Nels
300 Ch ; 000 Chit. R.	Į	Gough v Ce
v Perkins, 9 East, 14: Ch : 148, 366, 563, 5	74	v D
,, o j. 131 21	11 1	Gould v Ro
v Powell, 2 C. & P. 259	53	100
Will, P.YD. S Mont & A., son	00	- v Whi
2 0 100 h 1) 1. h ac	06	Goulding, E
Ch. j. 1327 216, 256, 258, 260, 6 Gillard v Wise, 5 B. & C. 134 7 D.	۱.
Gillard v Wise, 5 B. & C. 134; 7 D. & R. 523; Ch. i. 1276	04	Goupy v Ha
523; Ch. j. 1276 Gillet v Ripon, M. & M. 406 601, 368, 33	90	Ho
Gilmore v Hagna 4 Danil D	20	Grace v Hu
Gilmore v Hague, 4 Dowl. P. C. 303	41	Graffe v Gre
Gladstone v Hadwen, 1 M. & Sel. 517; Ch. j.		Graft v Bert
210. 73 1	74	Graham, Ex
Gingter v Hewer 7 T D 400	59 \	v 11e
Glassington v Rawling 3 F (Ch. j. 596 698. 7	07	v Pi
Glassington v Rawlins, 3 East, 407; 4 Esp. 224 3 Glengall v Edwards, 2 Y. & C. 125	70	Gmn 37
	00	Granger v G
Glossop v Coleman, 1 Stark. 25	99	Grant v Aus
	20	v Da
	,	92

Glossop v Jacob, 4 Campb. 227; 1 Stark. 69	rage :
Ch. 1. 944 292, 565	. 623
Glover v Thompson, Ry. & M. 403; Ch. j 1306
Glynn r Baker, 13 East, 509 6	, 641 , 197
Goddard's Case, 2 Co. 5 a.	148
Goddard v Cox, 2 Stra. 1194	402
v Hodges, 1 Cr. & M. 33; 3 Tyr. 259 Godfrey v Macauley, Peake, 155; 1 Esp. 371	402 52
Clouson & Richards, 6 C. & P. 188	646
Goggerley v Cuthbert, 2 New R. 170 222, 239	, 251
Golding v Grace, 2 Bla. R. 749 586	, 591
Goldsmith v Bland, Bayley, 5th ed. 246; Ch. j. 626 454, 471, 375
c Raphael, 3 Scott, 385; 2 Bing. N	, 507
C. 310	598
v Shee, MS. Chit. j. 619	375
Goldstone v Tovey, 6 Bing. 98; 3 Jur. 1175	589 626, 628
Gomeserra v Berkelev, 1 Wils. 46; Ch. j. 307	223
Good v Coe, cited 7 T. R. 427, 429	217
v Harrison, 5 R & Ald 147	6, 9 3 88
Goodall v Dolley, 1 T. R. 712; Ch. i. 440	343,
437, 273, 325, 327, 338, 436, 496, 504	505
	220 92
Goodeniid, in re. 2 Law J 187 900
Goode v Cheeseman, 2 B. & Ad. 329: 4 C. &
P. 513 v Harrison, 5 B. & Ald. 147 Goodbay v Hand	606
Cooling & Hendry, I Mood & Mr &10	20 672
Gooder v Lake, 1 Atk. 446. Ch ; 984	625
Goodman v Harvey, 4 Ad. & E. 87; 6 N. & M.
372 47, 215, 216, 217, 222, 255, 257, 334, 464, 478, 524,	240, 604
GOOGWIN & Coates I M & Dob 991	176
9903057 CAIRBO, KIND AC D 991 994 996	464
Gordon v Corbet, 3 Smith, 179	589
	560
Exp. 1 Mont. & A. 282 706, v Austin, Doug. 667; Ch. j. 494 v Swan, 12 East, 419; 2 Camp. 429	-
Gorgier v Miswille a P . 6	681
Gorgier v Mieville, 3 B. & C. 45; 4 D. & R. 641; Ch. j. 1212	199
Totali V Thompson Donles 40	52
n Edmand a St	729
v Edmunds, 6 Bing. 94 Goss v Nelson, 1 Burr. 226; Ch. j. 339 136, Gough v Cecil. Solw. 9th and Factor.	410 897
Gough v Cecil, Selw. 9th ed. 547	634
v Davis, 4 Price, 200	406
,,,,	109,
v Whitehead, 6 Bing. N. C. 144	601
J. 118; 8 Law J. 19	42,
ioupy v Harden 7 m	724
47, 202, ioupy v Harden, 7 Taunt. 159; 2 Marsh. 454; Holt, 342; Ch. j. 971 235, 275, 33, 34,	229
race v Hutchins, 6 Law J. 121	D40
raft v. Regio Ats. 210,	749
ranam, Exp. 1 Rose 456	631 7 34
	52
v Pitman, 3 Ad. & E. 521; 5 N. & M.
ranger v George 5 D	603
	549 322
Da Costa, 3 M. & Sel. 351; Ch. j.
161, 160,	565

27 524	0 . 11	Pag	re .	_
	Grant v Hawkes, MS.		2 Cottonidas y 41 to 0 77 To	Page
	- v Jackson, Peake, 203		2 Gatteridge v. Smith, 2 H. Bl. 37	4: Ch. i. 524 628
£ 4% t	" Mills 2 Ves t D noc	62	9	630 639 046
	- v Mills, 2 Ves. & B. 306; Ch. j. 898	17	5 Guy v. Harris, MS.	629, 637, 646
	- r Stonenam, 7 Dowl, 126		O Comment 11	526
	v Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1517; Ch. j. 365		The section of the Ref.	. 436: 6 N. &
	150 100 100 (n. j. 305)	198	M. 723 212, 197	241 500 500 000
	157, 196, 197, 216, 241, 2	255, 260	Gwinnet " Dhilling of D D	241, 529, 538, 600
1: 3 Te 5	012 513 517 599	580 695)
	Welchman, 16 East, 207	300, 03,	Gwyn v. Goodbye, 4 Taunt. 346	680
: 1 [5]		6, 79, 94	l .	****
ig :	Graves v Key, 3 B. & Ad. 313	424 64	I Iladdock c. Bury, MS.; 7 East, 2
	Gray v Cox, 4 B. & Ald, 108	, 0-	East, 2	36; Ch. i. 724
10) #12	v Milner, 3 Moore, 90; 8 Taunt. 739;	78	· 1	0.00 -0.4
	739; 8 Taunt. 739;	; 2	Hadwen n Mendizubel 10 M	358, 500
d 26 1	Stark. 336; Ch. j. 1022 140, 1	54, 164,	Hadwen v. Mendizabel, 10 Moore	, 477; 2 C. &
	979 005 #	54, 104,	4 49 Un. 1. 127 I	177 180
14, 40, 7	" Palmer 1 Fee 105 (273, 295, 5	52, 566	Hagedon v. Reed, 3 Camp. 379;	1 Man 6 G
2 1-4	" almer, I Esp. 135: Ch 1 898 899 4	27 628	567	ı mau. & Sel.
• • •	a reoke, Tuitest, IDS		U	655, 659
	Green v Croft, 2 H. Bla. 30	84	Hague v. French, 3 B. & P. 173.	: Ch i 659 140
	n Delding of the man	423	1
h 212	- v Dakiu, 2 Stark. R. 347 45.	44 000	Hoigh a David on a	370, 563
h 616	- v Davis, 4 B. & C. 242; 6 D. & R. 30	77, 000		177
ar. 155	Ch i 1981 100 11. W R. 30	JO;	Hele F. Jackson, 3 Mee. & W.
	Ch. j. 1251 102, 119, 120, 122, 12	29, 139,	Hale, Exp. 3 Ves. 304; Ch. j. 574
/s •••		91, 525	5 ves. 304; Ch. J. 574	224, 707, 746
Ch. ; F	Ex parte, 2 Den. & C. 113		Exp. 1 Kose, 13
	West-war 2.113	706	Halford v. Rymer, 10 B. & C. 724	204
	Greene a Harrion, 2 Mood. & Rob. 105	672	Hall Fra 1 D. 200. 124
	Greene a Lieathe, 3 T. K. 301		Hall, Exp. 1 Dea. 171	86, 423, 701
		88, 591	— Exp. 3 Dea. 405
440	203. 2	04,705	v. Cecil, 6 Bing. 181	701
	Clark, 4 D. & F. SIR		v. Cech, o Ding 181	671
4*. 4	Greenland v Dver 2 M & D 400 Cl	750	v. Cole, 4 A. & E. 577; 6 Ne	v & M 194.
11 32	Greenland v Dyer, 2 M. & R. 422; Ch. j 11	04 92	1 H. & Wol 722	00 400 400
	1. Dower, 7 B. & C. 635: 1 M	&	- " Cuman O.D. C. C.	26, 409, 410, 414
_	16. 040
79	Greenway, Exp. 6 Ves. 812; Ch. j. 647 26	45, 46	y Franklin, 3 Mec. & W. 259	9 · 1 Hon 9.
1:401	26 26 cm. j. 647	64, 268	Н. 8	5, 1 Hor. &
1.	990 000 =0	5 731	- n Full # D o o	14, 65
	= V. EXO. OHER A19. Ch : C44		v. Fuller, 5 B. & C. 750; 8 I) & D 101.
	v. Carrington, 7 Price, 564	680	Ch. j. 1294 262, 430, 16	20 100 001 000
	Carrington, 7 Price, 564	550	3 202, 400, 10	00, 192, 261, 282,
	v. Hindley, 4 Campb 52; Chit. j. 91	14 501		92, 396, 428, 514
V. T. k	Gregory n France 2 C	3, 66 0 /	v. Smith, 1 B. & C. 407	537
• 43°	Gregory v. Fraser, 3 Camp. 454; Ch. j. 889	18. 73	Wilson 1 M 1 0 7	58, 529
			- v. Wilcox, 1 Mood. & R. 58	607
12	v. Hurrill, 3 B. & B. 212; 1 Bing. 32.	9, 124	V. W 0001 14 Fast 949
		4 701	Hallett v. Dewis, 1 M. & P. 79; 6	402
u +5	v. Walcot, Com. 76; Ch. j. 214 286	202	C. D. C. M. & F. 79; 6	Law J. 32, 4.5
	Grellier v. Nonlo Dant D. and 845	5, 347	Halliday v. Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 50	02. 0.5. 0.
1	Grellier v. Neale, Peake R. 146	633	Rv. 169	03; S D. &
	" " Deavan, S Storb 194, Ct. : 114		MY. 195	2
•	Grey v. Cooper, Selw. N. P. 302, 9th edit.;	73	Ward, 3 Camp. 32
c 42	Donal Cr. 14. F. 302, 9th edit.;	3	Hallie v. Smith, 1 B. & P. 566	54, 612
), 200	Holy a Lane O Ad 102 Gt	231
i.	parte, 2 Giv V, 1 114		Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182; Ch. j. 29	69, 22, 24,
A.B.	v. Yates, 2 Bing. N. C. 579; 2 Sc. 845	100	26 69 90 900	0 001 011 -
1/	Ding. N. C. 579; 2 Sc. 845	: 1	Hamilton v. Kinnear, 4 Shaw & D.	7, 201, 241, 305
•	Griffith n Port 1 Hodges, 387 603	620	t. Kinnear, 4 Snaw & D.	102 191
	Grimth v. Roxburgh 2 M A W 524 C.D.	, 020 } .	v. Mackrell, R. T. Hardw	/ 399 · Ch
	Griffith v. Roxburgh, 2 M. & W. 734; 6 Dowl.	- 1	1. 404
	Griffie 1 557	, 569	Inmmerslav v Kanada on a	368
.eg	THE V. IVOLV. X PAP X: Dan 180	22.	Hammersley v. Knowlys, 2 Esp. R.	665; Ch. i.
7		1	011
	Grigby v. Oakes, 2 B. & P. 526	661 -	r. Purling, 3 Ves. 757	404, 405
	Griega C. Canes, 2 B. & P. 526	524 I	Hammond a Duf-	251
	- 56 " CUCKS, 4 Sim 120	406	Hammond v. Dufrene, 3 Campb. 14	5; Chit. i.
•	Groom, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 119		040	415 900 444
		736 -	Jammonda v. Bandrell, 6 Ves. 772	445, 328, 444
	Grosvenor, Ex parte, 14 Ves. 588 Grove v. Dubois, 1 T. P. 144	73.1	Immonda D	16
		, 101	Iammonds v. Barclay, 2 East, 227;	Chit. i. 646
	Grove v. Dubois, 1 T. R. 114			201 511 550
	Groze r. La Page, Holt, C. N. P. 105 Guichard r. Morgan	707 I	Imper, Ex parte, 17 Ves. 403	, 391, 711, 750
	Grick La Page, Holt, C. N. P. 105	93 I	Indiana Tu	44
7	Guichard v. Morgan, 4 Moore, 36	95 1	Innbury v. Ella, 3 N. & M. 438; 1	Ad & F
	T Roberts DI T	199	61
	v. Roberts, Bl. R. 445; Ch. j. 371	10, 11		569, 595
	C-'1 60 01	00 1	lands r. Slaney, S T. R. 578	18
	Guidon v. Robson 2 Camp 200, Gris 69, 81	, 55 , 11	ankey, Ex parte, 3 Bro. C. C. 504	- A.
	Guidon v. Robson, 2 Camp. 302; Chit j. 779 Guillod v. Stock, 1 Esp. R. 347 Gully v. Rishop of V.	535 -	v. Hunter, Peake Add. Ca. 1	7)4
	Gully " D: 1 Lsp. R. 347	637 _	Trumer, Feake Add. Ca. I	107 404
		- VOI	v. Jones Cown 745. Cl.	396 14, 692
•	Guns v. Gullock, 1 Esp. Dig. 175 Gunson v. Metz. 2 D. L. Dig. 175	0 -	r. Smin 3 T R 507	PAR
	Gunson a Martin Dig. 175	637 _	1 Trotman 1 Di D	707, 742, 746
	" " " L L L L L L L L L L L L L L L L L		v. Trotman, 1 Bla. R. 1; Ch. j	320 379, 382
	Chit. j. 1168 434, 451, 502, 504	_ -	v. Vernon, 3 Bro. C. C. 313	716 797
	Gurgeon v. Smith 6 Ad 15 P. 434, 451, 502, 504,	660	- v. Wilson Say D gan Cu	716, 735
		31	v. Wilson, Say. R. 223; Ch. j	. 03 7-64 3, 64 5
	P. 303	400 11		1 Dowl.
}	dumey n I and 1 408.		922; 10 Law J. 79	7.10
	Unthrie v. Fish & D. & Ald. 330 631, 632.	796 II.	angard r. Robinson 7 D e. C. o.	512
	Guthrie v. Fish, 5 D. & R. 24; 3 B. & C. 178 8 Stark. 153		ansard r. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 20; 9	D. & R.
	8 Stark. 153		500; Unit. j. 1340 266,	263, 268 27 0.
	17, 64,	701	359 350	394, 463, 499
	G		000, 009,	···· 400, 499

Hanson n Cardinara & V. Card manson v. Gardiner, 7 Ves. 311
Hardcastle v. Netherwood, 5 B. & Ald. 93; Ch.	Harvey v Kay, 9 B. & C. 356 49, 16, 24, 39
j. 1118	v Martin, 1 Camp. 425; Ch. j. 756 295, 299
Harding, Ex parte, 1 Buck, 23	T O'Meara, 7 Dowl. 725; 8 Jurist, 629 546
v. Hooper, 1 Stark. R. 467; Ch. j. 978 83 v. Marsh, 2 Chan. Ca. 153 Hardy v. Woodroffe 2 Stark R. 210. Chin.	v Richards, 1 H. Bla. 644 599
p. Marsh. 2 Chan Co. 153
Hardy v. Woodroffe, 2 Stark. R. 319; Chit. J.	Hasleton v Jackson, S B. & C. 221; 2 M. & R.
1030 Chit. 1. 319; Chit.].	209
Hardwick v. Blanchard Court D. 1862, 154, 366	Hassell v Smithers, 12 Ves. 119; Ch. j. 725 754
Hardwick v. Blanchard, Gow's R. 113; Ch. j.	Hatchett v Baddeley, 2 Bla. Rep. 1081 200
Hara a Warian O M & WY and 671
Hare v. Waring, 3 M. & W. 362
margreave v. Mitchell, 6 Mad 326	Hauspullier a Unstant, a Campb. 188
Harley v. Greenwood, 5 B. & Ald. 95 178, 733	Hausoullier v Hartsink, 7 T. R. 733; Chit. j.
Harman v. Fisher, Cown, 117. Lott 470
v. Lashbrey, Holt C. N. P. 200	Havilland v Bowerbank, 1 Campb. 50 679
riarnett v Johnson, 9 C. A. P. 206	Haward, Ex parte, Cooke, 120 732
Harrhy v Wall, 2 Stark. 195; 1 B. & Ald. 103;	v Smith, 6 Scott, 438; 4 Bing. N. C.
Harrington v Du Chatel Bro C C 114	Hawes v Armstrong, 1 Bing, N. C. 761: 1 Scott.
U DOGGART, 10 R & C E22	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
v. Kloprogge, 2 B. & B. 678: 2 Chit.	11awes v Birks, 3 B. A. P. 338 Chit i 690 371
	Hawkes v Hawkes, MS. 265
Harris, Ex parte, 1 Madd. 593	v Salter, 4 Bing. 715; 1 M. & P. 750;
v Benson, 2 Stra. 910; Ch. j. 271	Chit. 1. 1387 480, 487 658 334,
v De Bervoir, Cro. Jac. 687	Hawkey Bornich LV of Lord AP
v Ferrand, Hardw. 36 610	Hawkey v Borwich, 1 Y. & J. 346; 4 Bing. 185;
" Hunthrah 1 D	12 Moore, 478; Chit. j. 1333 294, 570,
v Huntbach, 1 Burr. 373; Ch. j. 344 580, 582	Hambina v. Co. 3 T. 4 5
v Manley, 2 B. & P. 526	Hawkins v Cardy, Ld. Raym 360; Carth. 446;
v Richardson, 4 C. & P. 522; Chit. j. 1533	1 Salk. 65 : Chit i 208 235, 224
	r Gardner, 12 Mod. 213 224, 572
	Penfold, 2 Ves. sen. 550; Chit j. 335
Harrison, Ex purte, 2 Cox. 172; 2 Bro. C. C. 614	907 913 745 749
250 505 500	" Rutt Peal: D 100. Ct
	w Whitten, 10 B. & C. 217; Chit. J. v Courtald, 3 B. & Ad. 36 316, 419
v Dickenson, 7 Dowl. P. C. 6; 4 M.	Hawse v Crow, R. & M. 414
& W. 355
n Fitch 545
v Hannell, 1 Marsh. 349; 5 Taunt. 780; Chit. j. 916	Haydock r Lynch Ld D
780; Chit. j. 916	Haydock v Lynch, Ld. Raym. 1563; Ch. j. 268 138
n Hurrison 9 P	Haydon v Williams, 7 Bing. 163; 4 M. & P. 811
v Jackson, 7 T. R. 209 28, 39, 40	Hayling a Mulli D. o. c.
	Hayling v Mullhall, 2 Bla. R. 1235; Chit. j. 400
v Righy, 3 M. & W. 66; 6 Dewl. 93 543
Walker D. & W. 66; 6 Dewl. 93 543	Haynes v Birks, 3 B. & P. 599; Chit. j. 690 488,
v Walker, Peake R. 111; Chit. j. 493	300, 336, 377, 379, 397, 400, 449, 472,
Hart v Bell, 1 Hodges, 6 749	170 101 191
- v King, 12 Mod 310, 17,1	V Coster 2 Cro t. M. nor
; 519 - 110d. 010; 110ft, 118; Chit.	1 "" Juliu E Dush, 9 Dovel 940 831
J. 212 268, 334, 464, 636	Hayward v Bank of England, 1 Stra. 550; Chit.
v Nash, 2 C., M. & R. 337 268, 334, 464, 636	J. 944 369 369 400. 224
- v Newman, 3 Campb. 13; Chit. j. S32 616	v. Chambers, 5 B. & Ald 753 · 1 D.
	Toung 9 (his D 405 88
Hartley v Case, 4 B. & C. 339; 6 D. & R. 505;	Head v. Baldrey 2 N. & P. 217; 6 Ad. & E. 59 76
1 C. & P. 155; Ch. j. 1263 467, 326, 237, 387
397 308 401
• Rice, 10 East, 22 397, 398, 481, 482	Heald v. Johnson, 2 Smith, 46; Chit. j. 704 589
v Spillail, 7 Law 1 co S4	Healy v Jacobs 2 C to D Const. j. 704 589
Wharton 4 Incies see 366	Healy v Jacobs, 2 C. & P. 616; Ch. j. 1334 663, 665
v Wilkinson, 4 M. & Sol of 10	Clarice, 2 ves. & B. 240; 2 Rose, 141;
127; Chit. j. 931
Marranorn et Stodden o D. o 127 141
1161197. E3D. I HAS 571. O 1#	v Sanson, 2 B. & Ad. 291 47, 650, 50, 51
Harvey, Exp. 1 Dea. 571; 2 Mont. & Ay. 593 693
, o D. & R.	CAG Chit. J.
" Cooke 5 R & All 500 87	Hedger : Hoston 2 G
v Cricket, 5 M. & Sel 200 01. 548	Country of Control of 0 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
969 Sel. 836; Chit. j.	Hedger v Horton, 3 C. & P. 179; Ch. j. 1369 663 v Steavenson, 2 M. & W. 799: 5 Dowl.
969 Chit. j.	771 W. W. 799; 5 Dowl.
v Gibbons, 2 Lev. 161 55, 208, 548	771 Hefford m Alana a m 467, 468, 558
v Gibbons, 2 Lev. 161 55, 208, 548	771 Casen, 2 M. & W. 799; 5 Dowl.

44 11.	Helps v Winterbetten & B Pag	7W 1
49, h	ricipe o winterbottom, 2 D. & Ad. 431	Hitchcock Fr parts 1 Many 1- Ol as Page
b .756 ⊁	Helvenr n Humbo & Fen 75	Tritenesek, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ch. 60; 3 Dea.
3 1000 13	Hemmings v. Robinson Powers 400 Ct.	5 507
	Hemmings v. Robinson, Barnes, 436; Chit. j.	r. Coker, 6 Ad. & E. 438; 1 N. & P.
	2/4 696 64	5 796 79 00 00 12. 435; 1 N. & P.
	menuersum C Appleton, MM. REG 440 407 En
L 2 M 2I	Renear & Price 281 Cl	0 v Way, 6 Ad, & F. 943 · 9 N & D 29 01
١.	v Benson, 8 Price, 281; Ch. j. 1085	Hoare v Cazenove, 16 East, 391; Chit. j. 874 347,
1 . 3	8 7 00 0	0
	U DBC. 3 SIMPL R 150	844, 345, 349, 350
el .	2 Wild 9 C 201
	Dendriche v Indah 1 Johns D 010	Uranam, 3 Campb. 57; Chit. 1, 838 149
;	Honfree a Daniel C 7	144 804
99 164	Henfree v Bromley, 6 East, 309; 2 Smith's R.	Hobbonse Evn 3 M & A 000 0 D 144, 594
33 UM:	100 100	Hobbonse, Exp., 3 M. & A. 269; 2 Dea. 291 238
139.22	Henkin v Guerss, 12 East, 247	2 11008011 T KICH, MS. 645 679 674
0	Henman n Diekansen F. D. 84, 86) HOCKIEV P SUMOD Y How DD O BOO
• .	Henman v Dickenson, 5 Bing. 183; 2 M. & P.	Moderney a Vingorhand Mo
	409; UNL 1, 1416 190 CO	Hodge g Fillis 2 Caret 100 Clinical log V	Tienly burridge, 8 Bing, N. (' 501. 4 South	152,
la.	296; 5 Dowl. 484; 3 Hodg. 16 557, 569	250 961
1.185	"Loo 9 Chia 73 45 5 1100g. 16 557, 569	Hodges v Steward, 12 Mod. 36; Skin. 346; 1
	- Lee 2 Chil. N. 124	Salk 125 : Ch i 184 14 100 100 000
i.	Herbert v Wilcox, 6 Bing. 203; 3 M. & P. 515
0.00		1100gkinson, 19 ves. 291 44 701
;	Herne v Rogers, 9 B. & C. 586	Hodgson v Loy, 7 T. R. 440 750
р•:	Heskingson a 137 U. 3 C. 586	v Murray, 2 Sim 515
LP D	Aleaningsuii V VV Oodbridge Donel 166	" Yound & Tours 101
100	Hetherington v Kemp, 4 Campb. 193; Chit. j.	Hedgett v Prompie, 5 Taunt. 181 83, 94
	932 171 190 or	Hounett v Foreman, I Stark 90
ls z. 15	Hewet # Goodrich 9 C t. D 471, 480, 657, 659	Hodsden r Harridge, 2 Saund, 62 b
	Hewet v Goodrich, 2 C. & P. 468; Chit. j. 1315	Hodson v Gunner, 2 Dow. & R. 57; Ch. j. 1156 587
329		1 In The same of t
3 1	MUITIN, A CAMIND 200
: J. 14.	Thompson 1 M v. D 1 7.0	From ham, Ex parte, Cooke, 173
	b Thompson, 1 M. & Rob. 543 480	Hogg v Snaith, 1 Taunt. 347; Chit. j. 751 80, 143
٠ سد	Heydon v Thompson, 1 Ad. & E. 210; 3 N. &	Holbrow v Wilking 1 D & C 10 0 D 0
		Holbrow v Wilkins, 1 B. & C. 10; 2 D. & Ry.
11 37		59; Unit.]. 1652 324, 441 442 448
13.	653 241 204 822 05; Chit. J. 349 520,	Holcombe v Lambkin, 2 M. & Sel. 475 542
	653, 241, 304, 339, 354, 368, 497, 498, 521	Holden, Ex parte, Cooke's B. L. 167
1 25	Javander Light Mild. I'b i one from the	Holding Engage 1 (1) 6 417
: :::	Heywood v Watson, 4 Bing. 496; 1 M. & P.	Holding, Ex parte, 1 Gly. & J. 97; Ch j 1115 699
6,	268; Chit. j. 1374 74, 221	Holdsworth v Hunter, 10 B. & C. 449; Chit. j.
	Hickling a Marky a 77, 221
447.1	Hickling v Hardy, 7 Taunt 312; 1 Moore, 61;	Holford Fr ports 4 Dec 6- Cl. rec
5	Chit. j. 983 177, 178, 274, 316, 339, 342,	726
		Wilson, I Taunt. 12; Ch. j. 638 499, 660
	359, 435, 497, 666 Hicks r. Duke of Beaufort, 5 Scott, 598, 604;	1100 and v Paimer, I B. & P. 95
	Diagnori, 5 Scott, 598, 604;	- Assignment of a
A		Holliday v. Atkinson, K.P. C. Salk. 143 322
B .	Higgens r. Sarjeant, 2 B. & C. 348; 3 D. & R.	Holliday v Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 501; S D. & R.
ži.	616	1 103; Chit.) 1290 74 73 20 60 161
	Higging a Nighall was 180	" Sign 2 C to D 100 . Chie : 1000
, iec	Higgins v Nicholls, 7 Dowl. P. C. 551 566, 569	Hollis v Palmer, 2 Bing. N. C. 713; 3 Scott,
(0 F	Bridge C. I fillifose, 5 M. & Sel 65. 2 Chi.	Ding. N. C. 713; 3 Scott,
En.	Hildred 333; Chit. j 956 161, 565, 589	265: 2 Hodges, 55 617, 681
4.	Hildyard v Smith 1 Ring 451 0 24	110110Way, v Lee, 2 Moore, 211: Chit, i, 1026, 517
:	Hildyard v Smith, 1 Bing. 451; S Moore, 580;
·	Chit. j. 1202	Holmer Green A Stork P 192 Citie : 200 212
		Holme v Green, 1 Stark. R. 483, Chit. j. 980 612
	Hill v Farnell, 9 B. & C. 45 213; Chit. j. 687 135,	110 mer v Viner, 1 Esp. R. 134; Chit. i. 521 520
	195, Chit. J. 637, 135,	Holmes, Ex parte, 3 Jurist, 1023; 3 Dea. 662 719,
Ī	" Heap, Dow, & P. N. D. 188, 144, 520, 521, 527
i	v Heap, Dow. & R. N. P. C. 59 274, 358,	734, 735
		- r Parry, 1 Stra. 415: Ch. j. 249 244, 381
•	v Johnson, 3 C. & P. 456; Chit. j. 1417 415,	- c Binney, 4 Bing N. C. 454; 6 Scott,
N.	415,
		v Blogg, 8 Taunt. 35
		v Higgins, I B. & C. 74
	v Phillips, 5 C. & P. 356	v Kerrison, 2 Taunt. 323; Ch. j. 791 272,
•	- P Rend Dom 5 D
*		365, 610
		v Senior, 4 M. & P. 828; 7 Bing, 162 590
•		Holroyd & Whitehead, 3 Campb. 330; 2 Rose,
	Hilton v Fairclough, 2 Campb. 633; Chit. j. $26	145; 5 Taunt. 444; 1 Marsh. 128;
	2 Campb. 633; Chit. i. 826	Chit i 005 007 000 000
	170 404	Chit. j. 905 207, 223, 893, 514, 537
	v Shepherd, 6 East, 16; Ch. 1. 710 452, 656	Arone Contencieux, 2 Sira, 937
	v Swap 7 Dowl 418; Ch. 1. 710 452, 656	v Miers, 5 Mee, & W. 168
	Scott 200 . 417; 5 Bing. 413: 3
į.	Scott, 398; 3 Jurist, 342 252, 622	9 C. & P. 191 819, 824
		v Squire, R. & M. 282; Chit. j. 1272 636
	Hindle r O'Brien, 1 Taunt. 413 196, 255 Hine r Allely 4 P. 96, 252	**************************************
	Hine v Allely 4 B % A 1 23 96, 252
	420, 4 D. & Ad. 624; I.N. & M.
	Hippins, Ex parte 2 Clar 2 280, 367, 398, 482, 575	1100per r Lusby, 4 Campb. 66 40, 54
	280, 367, 398, 482, 575 280, 367, 398, 482, 575 380, 367, 398, 398, 398, 398, 398, 398, 398, 398	v Stephens, 7 C. & P. 260 616
	753	" Vestris, 5 Dowl. 710 556

Hope v Cust, cited I East, 53	Humphray a Manage D. J. D. ed. Giv.
Hopewell r De Pinns 9 Campb 119
Hopkins v Grev. 7 Mod. 139	Humphreys v Waldegrave, 4 Jurist, 666 823
493; 3 Jurist, 538	Hunt v. Aleyn, 3 C. & P. 284; 1 M. & P. 433;
Hopley v Dufresne, 15 East, 275; Chit. j. 856 503.	Clut. J. 1389.
504, 313, 358, 660 Hordern v Dalton, 1 C. & P. 181; Ch. J. 1204	- v. Massey, 5 B. & Ad. 902; 2 Nev. & M.
969 484	Hunter, Ex parte, 1 Atk 223 20, 563
93,
433 100 1 10 1 10 N. C.	59, 104, 511
Hornblower v Proud, 2 B. & Ald. 327: Chir.	1 957 158 227
1049 74, 244, 246, 750, 756 Horncastle v. Farran, 3 B. & Ald. 497; 2 Stark.
	11usbands, Ex parte, 2 (j. & J. 4 57, 723
v Keppell, 2 P & D 224	Hussey r. Freeman, 10 Mass. R. 84 478 Jacob, Ld. Raym. 88; Chit. j. 189 11,
HURLOU U COOPE 3 Lov 200. Cit.	3.1. 3.45 5.69 690
Chit. 1. 749	Hustler, Ex parte, 3 Mad. 117; Chit. j. 1019 722 1 G. & J. 9; Chit. j. 1019,
Hotham e E. I. Company, Dougl. 277 167, 171 167 297 Blakeman, 4 Ves. 608	1106 250, 709 Hutchinson v Hayworth, 1 Per. & Dav. 266;
Hough v May, 4 Ad. & E 951, 6 No. 201	9 Aq. & El. 375 105. 749
535; 2 Har. & W. 33 Houlditch v Cauty, 4 Bing. N. C. 411; 3 Scott,	Hyde v Johnson, 2 Bing. N. C. 776; 3 Scott,
	Hyleing v Hastings, Ld. Raym. 389 74
Houle v Baxter, 3 East, 177: Chia : co. 52, 48, 251	Ibertson v Phillips, 4 Jurist, 467
	IKIII V Dradley, 2 Moore, 206: 5 Price, 536:
Housego v Cowne 2 Mag K. 11: 3. 8/8 14, 564	Imeson, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 225
How n Hall 14 Feet 27 496	1 may v Elleison, 2 Frat 255
110Ward v Buillia 9 11 Dt. 212	Ingledew v Douglas, 2 Stark. 36 19 Inglis v Grant, 5 T. R. 530 693
v Chappian 1 C to D 757	ingram v Forster, 2 Smith 248 270 280 284 836
	Ireland v Thompson, 6 Scott, 601; 4 Bing. N. C. 716 596
v Croker, 3 Stark P 100 153, 355	Irons v Smallpiece, 2 B. & Ald. 551 3 Irving v Menton, 4 Dowl 638 543
Tiowell v Coleman 9 R & D 400	1 V Ning, 4 Car Sr D 200, Ct : 1400 #6 77
Howis v Wiggins A T P 214 733	v Veitch, 3 M. & W. 90 609, 611, 613, 616 Isaac v Farrar, 1 M. & W. 65; 1 T. & G. 281;
Howper v Godwin, 1 Swanst, 485 Hubbard v Jackson A Bing 1995 74
11: 3 Car & Ding. 390; 1 M. & P.	Isbester, Ex parte 1 Rose 22 24 250 707 715
202: 1 Hodges, 204; 2 Bing. N. C.	Israel v Benjamin, 3 Camp. 40; Chit. j. 837 104,
Huddock v Murray 1 N 11 108, 170, 618, 619	v Douglass, 1 H. Bl. 239 7, 8, 821, 581, 582
Huffan v Ellis 3 Tanna 442 33	* 1218ttl. 1 Unminh 400 #96
	Ireson v. Connington, 2 Dow. & Ry. 307; 1 B. & C. 160
v Kiddall, Rayl 5th 1 2440 543	v Harris, 7 Ves. 257 251
219 C. 187; 6 D. & R.	Jacaud v French, 12 East, 317; Chit. j. 789 41,
v. Wynne, 1 Tor & D co. 85	Jackson, Ex parte, 3 Don 651
Hull v Pickersgill, 1 B. & B. 282 617 — v Pitfield, 1 Wils. 46; Chit. j. 306 247	Clarke, 1 Y. & 1 91g 919
Hulme v Muggleston, 3 Mee. 8, 1392, 418, 425	Cooper, 7 Dowl. 5; 4 M. & W. 355
Dowl. 112	p Davison 4 D c 415
v Tenant, 1 Bro. C. C. 16 Humbert v Ruding. MS. 21	v Fairbank, 2 H. Ric. 240, Cl. 507, 619
Hume v Peploe, S East, 169; Chit i 790 651	2 Camp. 447; Ch. j. 79 92 85,
Humphries v Williams, 2 Marsh. 231; 6 Tau. 341,	" Lomas, 4 T P 166, 324, 340, 340
531 Tau. 548, 544	1801; Ld. Raym 264, 8-11, 107.
* 044	Carth. 450; 12 Mod. 212; Chit. j. 208 286, 570

ege s eg

4.14

۱₀, یا :

14. N

· pt · 200

:

ر 🕃

0.≯ g } ,

Jackson v Warwick, 7 T. R. 121; Ch. j. 581 76, 94 — v Yate, 2 M. & Sel. 149; Chit. j. 896 542 — v Dunlop, 8 T. R. 571 — v Fort, 9 B. & C. 764; 4 M. & R. 547; Chit. j. 1415 210, 251, 359, 365, 365, 365 v Gibbons, 9 Ves 410 — v Hibbert, 2 Stark. 304; Ch. j. 1009 306, 677, 367 — v Jones, 6 Mee. & Wels. 84 — v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 98, 99, 219, 224, 368 — v Lewis, 2 Marsh. 385; 7 Taunt. 55; Chit. j. 965 — v Marsh, 4 T. R. 465 — v Marsh, 4 T.	749 70, 678 82 3 536
Second of Hungate, 1 M. & Rob. 445 G49 Jacobs v Heart, 6 M. & Sel. 142; Chit j. 990 185, 186, 187 186, 187 Second of Villiams, 5 Law J. 136, K. B. 543 Jaggers v Binnings, 1 Stark. 64 54 Second of Villiams, 5 Law J. 136, K. B. 543 Jaggers v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 121 v Child, 2 C. & J. 252 558 v Houlditch, 8 Dow. & Ry. 40; Chit. j. 1290	392 749 70, 678 923 536
Jacobs v Heart, 6 M. & Sel. 142; Chit j. 990 185, 186, 187 Jacomb v Harwood, 2 Ves. 265 56, 66 Jadis v Williams, 5 Law J. 136, K. B. 543 Jaggers v Binnings, 1 Stark. 64 54 James v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 121 — v Child, 2 C. & J. 252 558 — v Houlditch, 8 Dow. & Ry. 40; Chit. j. 1290 384, 383 — v. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 544 Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. — v Fort, 9 B. & C. 764; 4 M. & R. 547; Chit. j. 1415 210, 251, 359, 365, 200; Chit. j. 1415 210, 251, 251, 251, 251, 251, 251, 251, 251	392 749 70, 678 823 536
186, 187	749 70, 678 82 3 536
Jacomb v Harwood, 2 Ves. 265 Jadis v Williams, 5 Law J. 136, K. B. Jaggers v Binnings, 1 Stark. 64 — v Hibbert, 2 Stark. 304; Ch. j. 1009 306, 677, James v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 — v Jones, 6 Mee. & Wels. 84 — v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 — v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 98, 99, 219, 224, v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 98, 99, 219, 224, v Lewis, 2 Marsh. 385; 7 Taunt. 55; Ckit. j. 965 v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 565, Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt.	749 70, 678 82 3 536
Jadis v Williams, 5 Law J. 136, K. B. Jaggers v Binnings, 1 Stark. 64 James v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 v Jones, 6 Mee. & Wels. 84 v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265	70, 678 82 3 536
Jaggers v Binnings, 1 Stark. 64 James v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 v Jones, 6 Mce. & Wels. 94 v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 v Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 v Lewis, 2 Marsh. 385; 7 Taunt. 55; Chit. j. 965 v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 544 Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. v Marsh, 4 T. R. 465	678 923 536
James v Catherwood, 3 Dow. & Ry. 190 — v Child, 2 C. & J. 252 — v Houlditch, 8 Dow. & Ry. 40; Chit. j. 1290 — v. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 — v. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. — v Marsh, 4 T. R. 465	92 3 536
- c Child, 2 C. & J. 252 558 - c Lane, 3 Jurist, 265 98, 99, 219, 224, v Houlditch, 8 Dow. & Ry. 40; Chit. i. 384, 383 Chit. j. 965 547, - r. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 544 Sameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. 558 Chit. j. 965 547, - v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 547, Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. 558 Chit. j. 965 547, - v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 547, Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt.	536
1290 384, 383 Chit. j. 965 547, — r. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 544 — v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 565, Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. v Marsh, 4 T. R. 465 471, — r. Trevanion, 5 Dowl. 275 Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. 544 v Mars, 2 Campb. 307; Ch. j. 779 565, w Marsh, 4 T. R. 465 471, Jameson v Swinton, 2 Camp. 373; 2 Taunt. — v Marsh, 4 T. R. 465 471, 224, Chi. j. 182 493, 381, 388, 484, 0 Morgan, 2 Campo. 474; Ch. j. 307
489, 494 625, 637,	571, 638
P'Anson v Thomas, 3 Doug 421; Ch. j. 426 115, — and others, Ex parte, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 193
116, 377 - v Radford, 1 Campb. 93; Ch. j. 741 202,
Jardine v Payne, 1 B. & Adol. 667; Chit. j v Ripley, 3 Price, 261	548
1521 123, 124, 189, 191 — v. Roe, 1 H. Bla 30; 3 T. R. 88	6
v Williams, 7 Law. J. 31, K. B. 589 v Ryde, 1 Marsh. 157; 5 Taunt. 489; Jarman, Ex parte, 2 Mont. & Ay. 119; 4 Dea. Chit. j. 906 245, 291, 307, & C. 393 703 v Ryder, 4 M. & W. 32 124, 191, Jarold v Rowe, 8 Taunt. 582 683
Jarold v Rowe, 8 Taunt. 582 683 611, Jaulery v Britton, 4 Scott, 380 601 — v Senior, 4 M. & W. 123 621,
Jay r Warren, 1 Car. & P. 532; Ch. j. 1241 414 — v Shiel, 3 M. & W. 433; 6 Dowl. 579	589
Jefferies v Austen, Stra. 647 76 - v Simpson, 2 B. & C. 318; 3 D. & R.
Jeffreys v Walter, 1 Wils. 220 84 545; Chit. j. 1189 105, 113, 117,	118,
Jeffs v Wood, 2 P. Wms. 128 741 133,
Jelf v Oriel, 4 C. & P. 22; Chit. j. 1440 568 — v Smith, 6 Dowl. 557	562
Jenkins v Blizard, 1 Stark, 418 52, 53 — v Thomas, 2 Y. & C. 498 599, 600 — v Turnour, 4 C. & P. 206; Chit. J. 1488	101
Jenkins v Blizard, 1 Stark, 418 v Creech, 5 Dowl. 293 v Reynolds, 3 Brod. & B. 14 52, 53 v Thomas, 2 Y. & C. 498 v Turnour, 4 C. & P. 206; Chit. J. 1488 v Yates, 9 B. & C. 538 61, 70	040
v Tucker, 1 H. Bla. 91 509 Jordaine v. Lashbrooke, 7 T. R. 601; Chit. j.	, , , ,
Jenner v Haydon, 4 B. & C. 1; 6 D. & R. 7 499 603 106, 114,	669
Jenny v Herle, Ld. Raym, 1362; Ch. j. 253 138, Jordan v Lefevre, 1 Esp. R. 66 404, 134, 160, 527 Joseph v Orine, 2 N. R. 180; Ch. j. 728 707,
Jenys v Fowler, 2 Stra. 946 638 Josephs v. Pebrer, 3 B. & C. 639; 5 D. & R. 54	2 94
Jervis v White, 7 Ves. 413 Jeune v Ward, 1 B. & Al. 653; 2 Stark. 326; Jourdain v Johnson, 2 C., M. & R. 564; 4 Dowl. 534; 5 Tyrw. 524; 1 Gale, 312
	507
Table 9
	597 288.
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 300,	288,
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 300, Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92	288,
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54	288,
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P.	288, 3 01 308
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 300, Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 166,	288, 301 303 634
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124	288, 301 308 634 22
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80,	288, 301 303 634 22 198
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs. 2 Ch. R. 123; Chir. j. 932 188 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 581; 8 Ad. & El.	288, 301 308 634 22
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 300, Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 166, v. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 v. Flint, 5 Taunt. 21 80, Kayle v. Bolton, 6 T. R. 134 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 819,	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 185, 180, 180, 180, 180, 180, 180, 180, 180	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 300, 300, 300, 300, 300, 300, 300, 3	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 Skaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 166, w P. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 v Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80, Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 819, Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 1046 V Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 188 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 189 189, 404 W Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 189 300, Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 W Nachielyne, 3 Campb. 124 v. Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80, Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 1046 133, 564, Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565 310
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Speller, Dougl. 167 738 Wellock v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 v. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 v. Flint, 8 Taunt. 21 80, Kayle v. Bolton, 6 T. R. 134 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 S19, Kearrslake v. Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520 176, 172, Keates v. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1379 107, 116, Kellock v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565 310
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Speller, Dougl. 167 738 V Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 627 Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 627 Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 166, w De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 v. Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80, Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 819, Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 520 Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520 Keates v. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1379 107, 116, Kellok v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kelly v. Villebois, 3 Jurist, 1172 590,	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565 310 224 418
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 48 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, Willebois, 3 Jurist, 1172 590, Kenble v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; S Ad. & El. 1046 kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520 176, 172, Keates v. Whieldon, S B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1379 107, 116, Kellok v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kelly v. Villebois, 3 Jurist, 1172 590, Kenble v. Atkins, Holt, 434	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565 310 224 418
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Speller, Dougl. 167 738 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 48 69; Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608	288, 301 308 634 22 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 48 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. T12 330 330 330 355 449 454 496 Kaines v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 — v. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 — v. Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80, Kaple v. Bolton, 6 T. R. 134 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 9 Ad. & El. 555 Stoppers v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 1046 Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520 176, 172, Keates v. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1379 107, 116, Kellok v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kelly v. Villebois, 3 Jurist, 1172 590, Kennber v. Atkins, Holt, 434 Kendrick v. Lomax, 2 Cr. & J. 407; 2 Tyrw. 438; Chit. j. 1592 181, 335. 465, Konners v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 — v. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 — v. Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 Kayle v. Bolton, 6 T. R. 134 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 9 Ad. & El. 555 Kaple v. Bolton, 6 T. R. 134 Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 9 Ad. & El. 555 Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 566 Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 526 Kentler v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 9 Ad. & El. 555 Kearney v. King, 3 D. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 567 Kearney v. King, 4 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1592 Kearney v. Windle, 3 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1592 Kearney v. Windle, 3 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1592 Kearney v. Windle, 3 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1592 Kearney v. Windle, 3 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R	288, 301 308 634 22 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gilbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 158 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 188 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 48 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. 712 330, 339, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Dong. 254 Willebois, 3 Jurist, 1172 590, Kennbler, Atkins, Holt, 434 Kendrick v. Lomax, 2 Cr. & J. 407; 2 Tyrw. 438; Chit. j. 1592 181, 335. 465, Konnersley v. Nash, 1 Stark, R. 452; Chit. j. 77	288, 301 303 634 222 198 85 821 565 310 224 4198 40 479
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 122; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. 712 330, 339, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 35, 673, 583, 389, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 356, 752 753 Went c Bird Cown. 683	288, 301 308 634 222 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40 479 681 92
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. 712 330, 339, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 Jones, Ex parte 1 M. & Ay. 442; 3 Dea. & C.	288, 301 308 634 222 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40 479 681 92
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason., 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Speller, Dougl. 167 738 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. 712 330, 339, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 83 Jomes v. Knightley, Skin. 54 Kay v. Brookman, M. & Mal. 286; 3 Car. & P. 555 166, — v. De Pienne, 3 Campb. 124 — v. Flint, 3 Taunt. 21 80, Keable v. Payne, 3 N. & P. 531; 8 Ad. & El. 555 S19, Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301; Chit. j. 520 Kearslake v Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Chit. j. 520 Keates v. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8; Chit. j. 1379 107, 116, Kellock v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kellock v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 264 Kellock v. Robinson, 2 Stra. 745; Chit. j. 590, Kenble v. Atkins, Holt, 434 Kendrick v. Lomax, 2 Cr. & J. 407; 2 Tyrw. 438; Chit. j. 1592 181, 335. 465, Kennersley v. Nash, 1 Stark, R. 452; Chit. j. 977 Kent v. Bird, Cowp. 583 V. Lewen, 1 Campb. 177; Ch. j. 746 163 Export v. Wakes. 2 M. & W. 764: 6 Dowl.	288, 301 303 634 22 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40 479 681 92 74
Willes, 397; Chit. j. 232 137, 160, 610 Johnson v Bunn. 4 T. R. 1 92 v Collings, 1 East, 105; Chit. j. 633 285, 8, 9, 273, 284, 289, 579, 581, 582 v Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. R. 313; Chit. j. 1020 189, 190, 624 v Durant, 4 C. & P. 327 681 v Garnett, 2 Chit. R. 122; Ch. j. 923 115 v Gibbs, 2 Ch. R. 123; Chit. j. 932 188 v Kennion, 2 Wils. 262; Chit. j. 371 224, 235, 677, 678 v Mason, 1 Esp. R. 90 626 v Machielyne, 3 Camp. 44 168 v Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130 18 v Peck, 3 Stark. 66; Chit. 1112 71 v Ogilby, 3 P. Wms. 279 83 v Ward, 6 Esp. R. 49 627 v Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 3 Scott, 608 261, 396 Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 633; 1 Deac. 712 330, 339, 355, 449, 454, 496 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 Johnstone v Sutton, Doug. 254 Jones, Ex parte 1 M. & Ay. 442; 3 Dea. & C.	288, 301 308 634 222 198 85 821 565 310 224 418 598 40 479 681 92

LIST OF CASES.

Kerrison v. Cooke, 3 Camp. 362; Ch. j. 885 Page 316, Lacon v.	Page
410 01g	iliggins, 2 Stark. 178; Dowl. N. P. C.
Kombania Car OF Davis are	33
150 100 100	r Hooper, 6 T. R. 225; 1 Esp. 249 373
ALCONCULOWEL U. I HIDS, DAVIEV Ath ad 920 FOR	Woolcott, 2 D. & R. 458; Chit. j. 1181
Key v. Flint, 8 Taunt. 21; 1 Moore, 451; Ch. j. 1000 Ladbrok	42, 44, 55, 56, 202, 203 ee, Ex parte, 2 Gly. & J. 81 724
Keyes v. Smith, 10 Bing, 1. 2 M & g 222 1, 122 Laddury	v Richards, 7 Moore, 82 551
Kidson v. Dilworth 5 Price 584. Cu.	Slatter, 6 Bing. 623: 4 Moore & P.
00.00	407; Chit. 1, 1502 429 446
Kilone v. Wilson, Ry. & M. C. N. P. 178	Ex parte, Cooke's Bankr. Law, 251 723
Trigoni C. Fluivson, I M. ISI 155 90 Pt W	Chit. 199 1 M. & B. 363; 2 Dea. & 708, 710, 723
	Barelay, 1 B. & C. 398; 2 D. & R.
Kilsby v. Williams, 5 B. & Al. 215; 1 D. &	530; 3 Stark. 38; Chit. j. 1170 149, 162,
	991 697
Kinder r. Butterworth 6 R & C 49, 9 P 3, 101	Idgeon, 6 Taunt 109 A Campb 169 78
	lackenzie J.C. N.D. 469 – 619
Kinder's case, 2 East, P. C. 856 Kine v. Beaumont, 3 Bro. & B. 288; 7 Moore, 112: Chie i 1142	tone, 2 Man. & Rv. 561; Ch. j. 1404 679 Ruffle, 6 Nev. & M. 684
112: Chit i 1149	23 Watson, 2 Dowl. 633; 4 Tyrw. 839;
ALIUS, LA PRITE, COOKE, 157	2 Ur. (C. N. 685
v. Esdaile, Forbes on Rille 17:	Newcombe, 5 Moore 14 549 544
v. Masters, 3 Car. & P. 317. Ch : 1400	TRU, 1 D. & R 577 R04
255. 1	Ex parte, 13 Ves. 179; Ch. j. 732 510,707 Atkins, 2 Campb 273
v. Smith, 4 Car. & P 109	Oakes, Holt, 117; Chit. j. 211 227, 229,
00. To 0	Pack, 1 Salk. 128; Chit. j. 211 227,
	220 242 616
Kingdom v. Jones, Skin. 6, 26: Sir T. Jones, 150 7 Kingham v. Robins, 5 M. & W. 94	Taylor, 4 B. & C. 139; 6 D. & R.
Kingston v. Long, 4 Dougl. 9; Ch. j. 427 134, 144 Lambeig v. M'Intosh, 1 Camp. 518; 3 Dow. Lampleig Languaghir	188; Chit. j. 1428 ne v Cork, 1 D. & R. 211 h Part 196, 227, 573
v. M'Intosh, 1 Camp. 518: 2 Dam. 144 Lampleig	h v Buthwait, Hob. 105 509
& Ry 613 Lancashin	re v Killingworth, Ld. Raym. 697;
Kinlock v. Craig, 3 T. R. 119; 4 Bro. P. C. 47 750 Kinnaird v. Barrow, 8 T. R. 49 Kirby, Ex parte, Buck, 511.	Salk. 623; 12 Mod. 530 359
Kirby, Ex parte, Buck, 511.	Amicable Society of, 6 Ves. 98 728
v. Duke of Marlborough and 724	700 Ding.
	v Walsh 4 M A- W 16 959
	Lee. b Scott 729 . # D. 1 Am 800
and the state of t
Kirwan P. Kirwan 2 Cr. 5 M. Co. 84 n Tu	nith, 3 Smith R. 113 559
Kitchen v Bartsch, 3 Smith, 58; 7 East, 53;	nelwell, 1 M. & W. 140; 1 Tyrw. & G. 352
1 B. & P. 378 Knight, Ex parte, 2 Mont & Au 500, 203, 211, 396	556 illiams, 2 Vern. 277; Chit. j. 176 42.
Knight, Ex parte, 2 Mont. & Ay. 568; 1 Dea.	39, 41, 669
545 Sea, 400; 2 Mont & Ay.	Ex parte, 18 Ves. 300
v Clements, 8 Ad. & El. 215; 3 N. &	v Parry, 2 D. & Ry. 337 421 v Trimmer, 15 East, 233 : Chit. j. 857
P. 375 v Criddle, 9 East, 48. Ch i 720 624, 532 Lungden r	Stokes C (486, 487, 489, 490
v Criddle, 9 East, 48; Ch. j. 738 c Crockford, 1 Esp. 90 Langdon v	Stokes, Cro. Car. 383 310
v Hughes, M. A. M. 217	Tuns, 5 Esp. R. 156; Chit. j. 697 656,
v Hunt, 5 Bing 422, 2 M	Wilson 7 B 4 G 472, 658
v Legh, 6 Law J. 128, C. P. 18 85 1 589; 1 M. & P. 589.	Wilson, 7 B. & C. 640; 2 M. & Ry.
589; 1 M. & P. 529; C. i. 1383 534, 536 Langston r. 2 Ld. Plymouth, 3 Atk. 480; Chit. 3	Allnutt, 4 Taunt. 519 627
v Ld. Plymouth, 3 Atk. 480; Chit. j.	Corney, 4 Campb. 176; Chit. j. 930
Langton v	Hoghes 1 M. a a doo, our, ori,
108, 159, 182, 188, 189, 189, 189, 189, 189, 189, 189	Hughes, 1 Mau. & Sel. 593 94 Lazarus, 5 M 5 34 500
Knowles v Burward, 2 Per. & Dav. 235 Knowles v Whalley, 1 Esp. R. 159; Ch. j. 528 Koft v Western & Dav. 235 Koft v Western & Dav. 235	ev Lansdowne, 2 Bligh, 95 133
Knox v Whalley, 1 Esp. R. 159; Ch. j. 528 Kufh v Weston, 3 Esp. R. 54; Ch. j. 617	r v Clark, 1 B. & Adol. 899 671
	Willin, 7 Dowl. 11; 4 M. & W. 351 546
	. 2 Mont. & Ay. 609; 1 Dea. 557 175
1 Dates of Torrester, 2 C., M. & R. 59 . 3 Day 1	01 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
Lackington v Combes & Bin 2: 603, 649	Ex parte, 2 Mont & Av. 11. 4 D &
706, 744 Law. Ex pa	ilps, 3 Burr. 1776 200
, ax pa	ne, 3 Dea. 541; 1 M. & C. 111 723

:
. 44.	Lawson v Lawson I D W Page	0 1
	"oon o Liewson, I F. W ms. 441	Levi v Essex, 2 Esp. R. 708	Page
	v Morgan, 1 Price, 303 49, 5	Levy, Ex parte, 7 Vin. Ab. 61, pl. 14	670
10.28	v Sherwood, 1 Stark. 314; Chit. j. 959		694
	491 686 68	Dolbell, 1 Mood. & M. 202; Chit.	j.
D. A.	T Weston, 4 Eap. R. 56. Chit i 640 or		760
	L41400 7 F481 2 Campb 10%, CL:	1	0.572
		, Down o Didnetti, Lutw. Assi (hit , 170	344,
1700 67	Laying v Paine, Willes, 571 315, 419, 719	9.45. 950
45	Leach v Buchanan, 4 Esp. R. 226; Chit. j.	Lewis, Cx parte, 1 Atk. 154
.ta. 2		v Cosgrave, 2 Taunt 2. Chie : 771	701
			10,
20:1	v Hewett, 4 Taunt. 733; Chit. j. 891 438.	78, 79 Dalrymple, 3 Dowl. 433
3	Londbiana 5 437, 327, 339	- v Ford, 7 Dowl. 85; 4 M. & W. 361	587
D . 3	Leadbitter v Farrow, MS., 5 M. & Sel. 349 33, 34,	" Gomports 4 Jania 200	545
1111		v Gompertz, 4 Jurist, 393	821
2	Leaf v Lees, 4 M. & W. 579; 7 Dowl. P. C.	2 Cl. & J. 352: 1 Dowl
17th]#*		319	E 40
	Leale v Glods, 4 C. & P. 468 · Chir i 1500 ro.	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 11 Az R v 576
144		Unit. 1. 1265 85, 86, 412, 421, 422	428
., .	Leaper v Talion 16 Fact 190. Chia tom	Lee, 3 D. & C. 291: 5 1) & P 00	0.
nr. G		Lister, 2 C., M. & R. 704 · 4 Dowl	41
·W, -y·	Lechmera n Fletcher 1 C to 14 con a 571, 612	377; 1 Gale, 320
	Lechmere v Fletcher, 1 C. & M. 623; 3 Tyrw.	w Mason, 4 C. & P. 322; Chit. j. 1519	, 605
.41 -			760
•	Ledger v Ewer, Peake R. 216; Chit. j. 530 73, 79	7 Owen 4 P. 8. All or 4 Chi.	, 302
22 77	Doddier, / C. S. P. 1	- v Owen, 4 B. & Ald. 654; Chit. j. 1110	737
:	LCG LA Darie 12 Vos 62	b Parker, 4 Ad. & E. 838 : 6 N & M
H	1 P. Wms. 782; 1 Mont. 839;	294; 2 Hur. & W. 46 60 991	656
	Chit. j. 249 698, 709, 725	v Sapio, M. & M. 89 : Chit i 1326 620	690
3, A.	Harrison 5 J 7 25	w Wallis, Sir T. Jones, 222
! =	v Harrison, 5 Law J. 30 665	Levkrieff a Ashford 19 Mars and Gu	7, 8
1,202	Lewis, 1 Ld. Raym. 743; Chit. j. 187.	Leykrieff v Ashford, 12 Moore, 281; Chit. j.
a S	100	1324 191, 186,	190
. 2.	v Levy, 4 B. & C. 390; 6 D. & R. 475;	Libbon, Exp. 17 Ves. 334
		Lickbarrow v Mason, 2 T. R. 71 60 956	750
;		Liddiard, Exp. 2 Mont. & Ay. 87; 4 Dea. & C.	100
	- r Munn 9 70 22, 74
Ģ.,	v Munn, 8 Taunt. 45 680	Lightfoot v Creed, 2 Moore, 255	724
?	" Newsam, Dow. & Ry. N. P. C. 50 255,		92
7	016 000	Uindo n I Property 1 B. & P. 554 81, 82, 83	. 98
	v Zagury, 8 Taunt. 114; 1 Moore, 556;	Lindo v Unsworth, 2 Campb. 602; Chit. j. 824	,
3.		ARA 400	990
2.	Leeds v Lancashire, 2 Campb. 205; Chit. j. 775	Lindsay v Wells, 4 Scott, 471; 3 Bing. N. C.	550
	Campo. 205; Chit. j. 775	777; 5 Dowl. 618	***
-		Lingan v Payne, Bridg. 129	562
;	Leers, Ex parte, 6 Ves. 644; Chit. j. 646 678, 727,	Lingham v Briggs, 1 B. & P. 83	39
	Leeson n Hole 1 St. 1 730, 736	Lista a Liddle 9 American	211
	Tropic I Start 198	Lisle v Liddle, 3 Anstr. 649	99
	" Pigott, Bayl. 5th ed, 401; Chit. j. 446	Lithgow v Lyon, Coop. C. C. 29 679,	681
*.	The second secon	Little v Slackford, M. & M. 171; Chit. j. 1895
	Lefebre, Ex parte, 2 P. Wms. 407; Chit. j. 266 722 Le Fevre v Lloyd, 5 Tappe, 7 (9), 1 No. 1 200	180 190	154
-	Le Fevre v Lloyd, 5 Taunt. 749; 1 Marsh. 318;	Littleheld v Shea, 2 B. & Ad. 811
	Chit : 0. Tadut. 145, 1 Marsn. 318;	Littlewood v Caldwell, 11 Price, 98	74
		Lloyd v Ashby 2 Ror & Ad on Chin	50
		Lloyd v Ashby, 2 Bar. & Ad. 23; Chit. j. 1534
	Times, 4 T. R. 170; Chit, i. 473	43, 57, 5	292
	263, 803, 333, 336, 837, 874, 887, 397,	v Davis, 3 Law J. 38	219
*	398, 458, 463, 475, 481	Exp. 17 Veg. 245	320
	Legge v Thorpe, 2 Camph 810: 12 Ford 171	v Gurdon, 2 Swanst. 180; Chit. j. 1027
	Legge v Thorpe, 2 Campb. 810; 12 East, 171; Chit. j. 783 327, 329, 332, 436, 437		OCK
	327, 329, 332, 436, 437,	v Johnson, 1 B. & P. 340
	Leicester v Rose 4 France 200 446, 456, 577, 674	v Lee, 1 Stra. 94	82
,		v Lloyd, MS.	22
		" Sandilanda Carro C N D an	598
		v Sandilands, Gow, C. N. P. 15	100
		vviiian, 1 Esp. R. 178	112
		Loaring, Exp. 2 Kose, 79	75
		Lobb, Exp. 7 Ves. 592; Chit. i. 656	24
	Leonard v Wilson 2 Co. 18 Mass. R. 1 463, 464, 477	LODDOD RYD 17 Von 994
	Leonard v Wilson, 2 Cr. & M. 589; 4 Tyrw.	Lockett's case, 1 Leach Q4. Feet D C Q40	40
	Lepine v Rayley 8 77 P. 2007	Lockett's case, 1 Leach, 94; East, P. C. 940;
		Chit. j. 590	82
		Lockyer v Jones, Peake, C. N. P. 239	22
		Loder v Cheslyn, Sid. 212	7
	1567 S. M. S. Rob. 119; Chit. J.	Lodge v Dicas, 3 B, & Al, 611 54, 4
	Lester v Garland 15 Ve- 054
	- v Jenking 9 P es. 254 870, 873	Long v Bailie, 2 Campb. 214 268, 3	89 05
	Out 103, 5 B. & C. 220 . 9 Man e	Long v Bailie, 2 Campb. 214 268, 39
	Ry. 429; Chit. j. 1395 549	v Colborn, 11 Mass. R. 97	85
	019	Exp. 2 Bro. C. C. 50	80

Long a Moore six Lo.D. D Pag	ge n
Loug v moore, cited 3 Lab. R. 155 199 916 9~
v Scott, 3 B. & Ald. 621
Smyth 7 Ring 984, g M c. p -o	2 " (Me, EXP. 2 Rose, 376; Chit i 951 - 76 90)
Longchamp v Kenny, Dougl. 138 15
Longenamp & Renny, Dougt. 138 52	4 Machell r Kinner 1 Start D 400 Ct.
Longman v renn, 1 H. Bla. 541 · Chit i 476 · co.	, stark. R. 499; Unit. J.
Loomit v Paiver, 9 Johns, R. 214	h11 536
Loogie v Dunkin 7 Johns D 70	Machu v Fraser, 7 Taunt, 171, 794 549 543 541
Lorie v Longster, 3 Law J. 55	1 M'Intosh r Haydon, R. & M. 362; Chit. j. 1287
Longiero a Laubarra 10 14	3
LAUVIELE V LAUDIRY, 10 Mod 37. Chie i ago
LOVER V IIII, O Car. & P. 938	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
v Martin, 4 Taunt. 799; Chit. j. 889	5 M Kumell v Robinson, 3 M. & W. 434 84, 89,
904 OFF	99 100
Low v Chifney 1 Bing 967 1 224, 259, 391, 395	M'Leod v Snee, Stra. 762; Lord Raym. 1481;
2 Ju. of F. 493: 4 Nev A-	_ Dariard, 12; Chit
	200 160
v Copstock, 3 Car. & P. 300; Chit. j.	M' Liesche v Ekins, Sav. 73
1376 Chit. j.	Mill R Fleming, Mout on D 29
n Poor D 2004	M'Neilage e Holton v. P. 32
v Peers, Burr. 2225	M'Neilage e Holloway, 1 B. & Ald. 218; 1
v vvaller, Dongt 738	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
Lowes v Mazzaredo, 1 Stark. 385; Chit. j. 968	Macpherson v Thoytes, Peake's R. 20; Chit. j.
, cm. j. 968	469 632
Lownder v Anderson 10 E	M'Taggart n Filing 4 Dim 144 10 14
20	206 1 mice, 4 Ding. 114; 12 Moore,
	1 020
	rempster, 1 Camp. 12; Unit. 1.
Loyd, Exp. I Rose, 4	1 100 947 919 711 747
Lucas v Dorrien, 7 Tannt 279, 1 M.	Maddocks r Hunkey, 2 Esp. 647; Chit. j.
v Groning, 1 Stark. 391 404	599 - 1 1.5p. 047; Clift. J.
Havnes 8 Sells 120 Gu 37
— v Haynes, 8 Salk. 130; Chit. j. 220 227,	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
	1 234 10
v Winton, 2 Campb 442 Cli	Mahoney r Ashlin 2 D & All and Chin
v Winton, 2 Campb. 443; Chit. j. 798	Mahoney r Ashlin, 2 B. & Adol. 478; Chit. j.
	1 1000 10 10 10 107 988 488
	Mainwaring v Harrison, Stru. 508; Chit. J.
Lumley v Hudson, 4 Bing. N. C. 15; 5 Scott, Manwaring v Newman, 2 B. & P. 123; Chit. j.
v Musgrave, 4 Bing. N. C. 9; 5 Scott,	623 96 144 597 898
230 230 N. C. 9; 5 Scott,	Macolm v Full vet 26, 144, 537, 538
	Macolm v Fullerton, 2 T. R. 645 manett v Thompson, 5 Esp. R. 178 : Chit. i.
	1 174 912 903 418
	Malthy v Carstairs, 7 B. & C. 735; 1 M. &
Chit. j. 724 500, 858, 890, 501, 507	Ry. 549; Ch. J. 1373 316, 419, 420, 428
, 100, 000, 001, 000,	Manderston n Poberts 1 1373 316, 419, 420, 423
Lunnis v Row, 3 Jurist, 604 575, 660	Manderston v Robertson, 4 M. & R. 440; Chit.
Lynal v Longbotham 2 Wil- 20 672
	Manley v Peel, 5 Esp. R. 121; Ch. j. 690 424,679
Lyon v Holt, 5 Mee. & W. 250 410, 364 366	Mann v Lent, 10 B. & C. 877; 1 Mood. & M.
,,,,	240; Chit. j. 1495 94, 650
v Sundius, 1 Campb. 423; Chit. j. 756 362	- v Moore Pu 1 1495 94, 650
v Walls, 2 M. & Sc. 736; 9 Bing. 660	v Moors, Ry. & M. 249; Chit. j. 1269
5c. 736; 9 Bing. 660
Lyons v Cohen, 3 Dowl. 243 574, 562
Lyenght n Weller F Du . 161 con	Additional Page 60 115 105 501
Lysaght v Walker, 5 Bligh, N. S. 1	Mannin r Cary, 1 Lutw. 279; Chit. j. 194
Lytingow v Lyon, I Coop. Ch C. ac. 4051
679, 680	Manning v Livie, MS. 12, 159, 559
Maber v Massias, 2 Rls 1079	March v. Want S.
Maberly, Exp. 2 Mont. & Ay. 23	March v Ward, Peake's R. 130; Chit. j. 497
Macallister o Hoden C C Ay. 23	Marchant v. D. 1
Macallister v Haden, 2 Campb. 438	"" " Undgin 9 Ma- & G 000
Macartney v Graham, 2 Sim. 285; Ch. j. 1394
, Sm. J. 1894	Margareson v Saxton, 1 Y. & C. 525 Margareson v Golde, 2 Ct. 4 C. 525
Macarty v Barrow, 2 Stra. 949 . 3 1171 99, 265
Chit. i. 272
Macbeath v Haldimand, 1 T. R. 172	The state of the s
M'Clure v Dunkin, 1 East, 436 83, 292	Marin r Pulmer Co. 157; Chit. j. 1408 501
Macclure v Pringle, 13 Price, 8; Ch. j. 1202 M'Connell v Hector, S. R. S. P. 1202	Marlar Fr part & P. 466 655, 455
	Atk. 150; Chit. j. 318
	Atk. 150; Chit. j. 318
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861	Marriott v Haupton 2 F. D. 698, 721, 725, 728
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 503
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861 Macdonald v Bovington, 4 T. R. 825; Chit. i	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 503 Marryatt v White, 2 Stark. R. 101 402, 403 Marsh v Chambers. Bull N. B. 100 2 Stark.
McCraw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861 Macdonald v Bovington, 4 T. R. 825; Chit. j. 497	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 Marryatt v White, 2 Stark. R. 101 Marsh v Chambers, Bull. N. P. 180; 2 Stra.
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861 Macdonald v Bovington, 4 T. R. 825; Chit. j. 421, 247, 537, 530	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 Marryatt v White, 2 Stark. R. 101 Marsh v Chambers, Bull. N. P. 180; 2 Stra. 1234; Chit. j. 316 v Houldigh Mass.
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861 Macdonald v Bovington, 4 T. R. 825; Chit. j. 497 M'Dowall v Lyster, 2 M. & W. 52 102, 106, 585.	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 Marryatt v White, 2 Stark. R. 101 Marsh v Chambers, Bull. N. P. 180; 2 Stra. 1234; Chit. j. 316 v Houlditch. Ms.
M'Craw v Gentry, 2 Campb. 232; Chit. j. 861 Macdonald v Bovington, 4 T. R. 825; Chit. j. 421, 247, 537, 530	Marriott v Hampton, 2 Esp. R. 546 Marryatt v White, 2 Stark. R. 101 Marsh v Chambers, Bull. N. P. 180; 2 Stra. 1234; Chit. j. 316 v Houldigh Mass.

2 (* * - 44 (* - 44 (*)

13.12 12.12 1

Cat.

1,

1:

ir U

Marsh a Namell & Process 100 Chi	Page
Marsh v Newell, 1 Taunt. 109; (hit. j. 745	memsii v Rawdon, 2 Moore & 8 570. 0 Ring
v Pedder, 4 Camp. 257; 1 Holt, 72;	276 416 276 v Simeon, 2 H. Bla. 378; Chit. j. 534
Unit, 1. 940 170 4	102 104 205
Marshall, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 262; Chit. j. 333 32 32 1 Atk. 130; Ch. j. 333 709 72	Mendez v. Carreroon, 1 Ld. Raym. 742; Chit. j.
C Offing, RV, N M 41. Ch i 1906 #4	647 (99 500
v Poole, 12 East, 98 : Chit. j 809	Car (D 010
7 Rutton 8 T. D. 545	Mercer v Jones, 3 Camp. 477; Chit, i 900
T Van Omoron 110	v Southwell, 2 Show, 180; Chit 165 655
marson v Petit, I Camp. 82	o Merchants Dank v Birch, 17 Johns R 95
marten v Bridges, 3 C. & P. 83	3 760. Chit i 209
Martin v Boure, Cro. Jac. 6 1 271 234, 52	1 Mertens v Winnington, 1 Esp. R. 112: Chit
v Coles, 1 M. & Sel. 140	7 523 500 994 597
" Morgan, 3 Moore, 635; 1 Gow, 123;	Messing r Massarane A T D 102
Unit. J. 1065 80, 118, 239, 426, 50	Metcalf, Ex parte, 11 Ves. 407; Chit. j. 719
v Smith, 6 Scott, 268; 4 Bing. N. C.	247 818 711 713
Marzetti v Williams, 1 B. & Ad. 415: 1 Terr	Meux v Humphries, 3 C. & P 79
//; UNL 1, 1625	w Humphrey, S T. R. 25 42, 57 Meyer v Sharpe, 5 Taunt. 74 208
mason v Barn, 2 B. & Al. 26; Chit. j 1034	Meymot, Ex parte, 1 Atk, 196
296, 297, 300 v Hunt, Doug. 284; Chit. j. 403 314,	Middleton v Gill, 4 Taunt, 298
90 (90.3	r Sandford, 4 Camp. 34
morgan, 2 Ad. & El. 30; 4 N. & M.	Milhurn & Codd 2 D & C 110
10	Miles v Williams, 10 Mod 245 (60)
v Robertson, MS. 651 Rumsey, 1 Camp. 384 58, 33	Miley v Walls, I Dowl. 648
masey v Danner, 4 Mod. 413	Millord v Mayor, Doug. 54: Chit i 400 194 210
v Johnson, 12 Fast 32	, miner v Simer, 3 P. Wins, 256; Chit i 987
master v Kirton, S Ves. 74	235, 190,
H Bla 141, Chia i 180 and	216, 241, 258, 260, 52.; Mills, Ex parte, 2 Ves. 303; Chit. j. 498 578,
817. 6. 7 8 118 150 205 500 500	1 500 720 500
The state of the s	v Addy, 2 C., M. & R. 103; 3 Dowl.
mainews, Exparte 6 Veg 285 · Ch : 642 710 705	722; 6 Car. & P. 728; 1 Gale, 92 603, 667 v Barber, 1 M. & W. 425; 5 Dowl. 77;
Mavor v Croome, 1 Bing. 261; 8 Moore, 171 208 Maundrell v Kennett, 1 Camp. 408; Chit. j.	Z Uale, 5 60 71 640 650 651
- 100	- v Fowkes, 5 Bing. N. C. 455; 7 Scott.
Maunsel v Lord Massarene, 5 T. R. 87; Ch. j.	403 608 616
- TOO	v Lyne, Bayl. 5th ed. 487; Chit. j. 431 591 v Safford, Peake, 240 522
May v Cooper, Fort. 376; Ch. j. 250 370, 373 70, 873, Cases K. B. 538	Junne v Graham, 1 B. & C. 192; 2 D. & R
- 0 Smith. Fan 983	400 CHILL 1168 519 517 510 500
Maydwell, Ex parte, Cooke, 159; Chit. j. 552	v rest, a Camp. 393; I Hole's N. P.
	Milnes r Duncan, 6 B, & C, 671; 9 D, & R. v Judie 1 M. v. At 2	101; UMC 1. 1830 (95 50)
Meakin Cow's D 199	Minet, Ex parte, 14 Ves. 188
" " Ding. 311: 8 Moore 975.	v Gibson, 1 H. Bl. 569; 3 T. R. 482; Chit. j. 460 157, 156, 158, 162
Maxwell n Inmone on a state 399	Minnit v Whitney, 16 Vin Ab 244
Maxwell v Jameson, 2 B. & Ald. 51 Mayor v Johnson, 3 Camp. 324; Chit. j. 883	Mitchel v Baring, 10 Barn. & Cres. A. M.
	∞ Pt. 951; 4 Car. № P. 25; Cha ;
Dianam, 3 M. & Sel. 91: Chit i	1454 347, 56, 151, 233, 346, 349, 351, 455 v Cockburn, 2 H. Bla. 379
Vyoung, 4 T. R. 28; Chit. j. 467	107 00 60
Neagoe v Simmons, 3 Car. & P. 75; Chit. j.	Sinchen v Degrund, I Mason, 176 393 370
Medcalf r Hall 2 D 668	r Johnson, 1 M. & Mal. 176 600 Mitchell's bail, 1 Ch. R. 287 5 78
Medicott's case Sol C. C.	Mitchinson v Hewson, 7 T R 250
	Millord, Ex parte, I Bro. C. C. 398
Megginson v. Horsey 2 G. 327, 337, 371, 436, 481	v Walcot, 1 Ld. Raym, 575; 12 Med
Megginson v Harper, 2 C. & M. 322; 4 Tyr.	410; Cmt. j. 214 215, 286, 292, 345
Meggott v Mille 1 7 3 7	Mogadara v Holt, 1 Show. 318; 12 Mod. 15;
melan to De Filmin	Chit. j. 182, 183 326, 327, 337, 37;
11 168, 169	436, 481
11

More a Delica Daff to W. sor	Danis
mogg v Daker, 3 M. & W. 195 919	Mnoklow v May 9 Thurs 400
Moggridge v Jones, 3 Camp. 38; 14 Fast, 486 78	Mulman r D'Essina 9 U Di ses Cui
Mogridge, Ex parte, Cooke, 233 703	Muilman r D'Eguino, 2 H. Bla. 565; Chit. j.
Moilliet a Domail & Con to D. 200	549 474, 275, 272, 274, 278, 337,
Moline, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 303: 19 Ves. 216;
Chit i 871 907 100 000 175	Mullet r. 1100k, Mood, & M. 88
Chit. j. 871 397, 496, 339, 475, 481	Mullett v Hutchison, 7 B. & C. 639; 2 C. & P.
Molineux v Dorman, 3 Dowl. 662 542	92 110, 130, 133
Molloy v Delves, 4 C. & P. 492; 5 M. & P.	Manuford Fr ness 15 3/ 222
275; 7 Bing. 428; Chit. j. 1544 286,	Mann v Rokov O CrL. Oze
560 570	Munn v Baker, 2 Stark. 255 52, 53
MODE T Lievion Mollow 909	Murphy v Marlow, 1 Camp. 57 567
Moody v Assett, 1 C., M. & R. 771; 5 Tyr.	Murry v East India Company, 5 B. & Ald.
1000 o Misiett, 1 C., M. & R. 771; b Tyr.	212; Chit. j. 1121 17, 30, 610, 682
492; 3 Dowl. 486 562	v King, 5 B. & Ald. 165; Chit. j.
v King, 2 B & C. 559; 4 D. & R. 30;	1119 20 Aid. 103; Chit. J.
2 Bing. 447; Chit. i. 1200 318 672 716
Moor v Paine, R. T. Hardw. 288; Chit. J.	v Reeves, 8 B. & C. 421; 2 M. & Ry.
202	423 95 92 769
w Whitby, Bull. N. P. 270; Ch. j. 381 295	Myers, Ex parte, Mont. & B. 229; 2 Dea. & C.
	705
	Myrtle r Beaver, 1 East, 135
Ex parte, 2 Bro. C. C. 597 729, 730	7 2231, 100
v Dartrup, 2 D. & R. 28; 1 B. & C.
91 CHR. 1. 1103	Nadin v Battie, 5 East, 147; 1 Smith, 362 418, 589
v Butlin, 7 Ad. & E. 595; 2 N. & P.	Thompson, 2 Last, 555
	Napier v Schneider, 12 East, 420; Ch. j. 790 304,
Warren 1 Stra 415 Chin to a 000	1 520 628 657
	Nash v Brown, MS.
Wright 2 March 200 2 381, 522	Naylor v Christie, 8 Price 534 00 252
v Wright, 2 Marsh. 209; 6 Taunt.	Nauzo e Polinos M. C. M
917 i Cliff. 1. 939	Neal v Frying 4 E D 658
MIDICS V DIFO. II Mines IP 49C
Morgan v Brundrett, 5 B. & Ad. 289; 2 N. &
111. 200	Neale v Reid, 1 B. & C. 657; 3 D. & R. 158
v Davison, 1 Stark. R. 114 388, 485	402 890
v Jones, 1 Tyr. 21; 1 Cr. & M. 162;	v Turton, 4 Bing 149 . 19 Magaza 202 co 98
Chit. j. 1515 9, 135, 162, 580
Pehror 1 Saut 200 9, 135, 162, 580	Nelson v Searle 4 M v. 11/207 0 7
v Pebrer, 4 Scott, 230; 3 Bing. 457 92, 93	Nelson v Searle, 4 M. & W. 795; 3 Jurist, 290 70
Lamb 40 . 7 First	- Cuchan ST P 903
482; 3 Smith, 487 77	r Whittall, 1 B. & Ald. 19; Chit. j.
MOTERN'S CASE I Law I 150
Moriev v Boothhy & Ring 107	Nerot v Wallace 3 T D 17
Morris v Dixon, 4 Ad. & E. 845; 6 N. & M.	Newen v Gill, 8 C. & P 267
438; 2 H. & W. 57	Newman v Franco, 2 Anst. 519; Chit. j. 535 251
	n Milner 2 V
v Lea, Ld. Raym. 1396; 1 Stra. 629;	Newmarch v. Class. 1. 483; Ch. j. 514 251
5 Mod. 302; Chit. J. 382 128, 68, 69
	Tremsome Coles, 2 Camp 610 40 59 89
v Norfolk, 1 Taunt. 217 569	U I norming 6 East 21 100 214 220
v Stacy, Holt's C. N. P. 153; Chit. j.
950	5 7 4 4 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
— v Wall, 1 B. & P. 208 219, 284	311100 / Dowl on . 4 M 1. 111 oco 515
MOTISON & Ruchanes C (1 (rs.	v Nicholson 2 C v. 11 100 W. 359 545
,	v Nicholson, 2 C. & P. 120; Ry. & M. 322; Chit. j. 1274
Morse v Williams, 3 Camp. 418 279, 429
Mortimer v Salkeld, 4 Camp. 42	Nicholl v Williams, 2 M. & W. 758; 6 Dowl.
Moselev v Hanford 10 P 92	Nichella Dan I
10 B. & C. 799. Chi. :	Nicholls v Dowding, 1 Stark, 81 612, 628
	The bold of Dowes, 2 Lanes 100, Cl oca
Moses v Compton, 6 M. & Sel. 381	v Norris, 3 B. & Ad. 41 420, 316,
MIOSS C DIMITA I Camp 160
Mossap v Eadon, 16 Ves. 430. Chi. : 500	Nicholson r Gouthit, 2 H. Bla. 609; Chit j.
	556 441 410 227 229; Cht J.
Mostyn v Fabrigas, Cowp. 163 259, 266, 268	556 441, 449, 327, 330, 328, 355, 436,
Moule v Brown, 5 Scott 604, 4 P. 13, 14, 168
266 , 2000, 004, 4 Bing N. C.	v Paget, 1 Cr. & M. 48; 3 Tyr.
Moult, Ex parte, 1 M. & B. 28: 2 Dec. 379, 387, 513
Moult, Exparte, 1 M. & B. 28; 2 Dea. & C. 419 723 Mountford v Willes, 2 Bos. & P. 227 & C. 419 723	v nevill, 6 N S. M 100 4 4 1 5
Mountford v Willes, 2 Bos. & P. 337 Mountstephen v Brooke 1 B. 650	E. 675; 1 H. & Wol. 753 183, 416, mountatephen v trooke 1 D to All and Oot	410 401 594
	v Smith, 2 Stark, 128 418, 421, 784
moworay, r.x parte, I Jac. & W. 428. Chi.	r Sedowiek 1 1 1 P
1099 W. 428; Chit. j.	r Sedgwick, 1 Ld. Raym. 180; Chit. j. 203
Moveer v. Whiteker 0 P. 51; Ch. j. 914 228, 237	Nickson r Broker 10 14
Moyser v Whitaker, 9 B. & C. 411; Dans. &
L. 216: Chit i 1421 411; Dans. & Noakes, Ex parte, 1 Mont. on P. 93 49, 52 Noble v Adams, 7 Touristics of P. 93
, -, -, -, -, -, -, -, -, -, -, -, -,	Noble v Adams, 7 Taunt. 59 49, 52 73, 174

j: 1 1-20 47

H. is

: 18

. n. r.

24. 44. x - 9 fo - 45. 4 *

J. A. I

2 46 7

, r.¥r.

11

136

p.j.s.

		CRSES.
	Pag	e !
Noel v Boyd, 4 Dowl. 415 69,	70 690 65	5 Paley v Field, 12 Ves.
- v Rich, 2 C. M. & R. 360; 4 Do	wl. 225;	Palfrey v Sill, 2 Scott, 1:
1 Gale, 225 72, 6	620, 62	Palliser v Ord, Bunb. 16
Nolte, Ex parte, 2 G. & J. 295 Norfolk, Ex parte, 19 Ves. 455	40	U Palmer v Jarmain, 2 M.
Dike of, v. Howard, 2 Sho	4.	I - n Jervie 3 Invice
Chit. j. 166		v Lawson 1 Lav
Norman v Cole, 3 Esp. R. 253	368	v Pratt, 2 Bing
Norris v Aylett, 2 Camp. 329: Chit. i. 79	9; 91 1 73 , 594
v Solomonson, 4 Scott. 257	EAG
Northam v Latouche, 4 Car. & P 140	761, 18, 79	Paplief v Codrington, 4 1 Paramore, Ex parte, 1 D
Norton v Ellam, 2 M. & W. 462	610, 611	Paramour v Yardley, Ploy
v Herron, R. & M. 229		Pardo v Fuller, 2 Com. 57
v Pickering, 8 B. & C. 610;	3 Man.	Parke v Eliason, 1 East, 1
& Ry. 23; Dans. & Ll. 210	; Ch. j.	Parker v Ade, 1 Cr. & M
v Turvill, 2 P. Wms. 144	27, 339, 448	1 Dowl. 643
	21	Paylia 2 Pos 8
	7, 309, 390,	1,48
Norwood v Read, Plowd. 182	427, 456 689	0 Esp. 41; Chi
Noves v Price, MS.
Nun v Taylor, 1 Bing. 186; 7 Moore, 59	8 551
Nurse v Craig, 2 New R. 163	21	v Hutchinson, 3 V
Oaklav n Dinku a a		v Norton, 6 T. R.
Oakley v Rigby, 3 Scott, 194; 2 Bing	. N. C.	Riley, 6 Dowl.
Oaste v Taylor, Cro. J. 306	92	Parkin v Carruthers, 3 Esp
Obbard v Beetham, M. & M. 486;	ne. 11	" Moon, 7 C. & P
		Parks v Edge, 1 Cr. & M.
Odams v Duke of Grafton, Bunb. 243;	7, 148, 697	Dowl. 643 363.
	585	Parmeter v Otway, 3 Dow
Odwin v Forbes, Buck, 57	737	Parr, Ex parte, 18 Ves
Offly v Ward, 1 Lev. 235	8, 39	Chit. j 929 v Eliason, 1 East, 9
Ogden v Folliott, 3 T. R. 735	121	Chit. j. 362
Ogilvy, Ex parte, 3 Ves. & B. 133 Ogilvie v Foljambe, 3 Mer. 53	720	Parslow v Dearlove, 4 East
O'Keefe v Donn 1 March 619. 6 m	163	5 Esp. 78
O'Keefe v Dunn, 1 Marsh. 613; 6 Taunt Ch. j. 937 214, 216, 82, 96, 27	1. 305;	Parsons, Ex parte, Amb. 2
Oldershaw v Tregwell, 3 C. & P. 58;	3, 331, 434	v Thompson, 1 I
		Partridge v Coates, Ry. &
Olivierson v Coles, 1 Stark. R. 496	540 92	Part P Strange, Plowd
Camp 489	14	Pascall v. Brown, 3 Stark.
Ord v Portal, 3 Campb. 240; Chit. j. 861	643, 229,	Pasmore v North, 13 East,
	A	Patience v Townley, 2 Sm
Orr v Magennis, 7 East, 359; 3 Smith,	200.	714 278, 331, 359
· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	200 220	Patrick v Harrison, 3 Bro.
333, 334, 336, 435, 455, 458 Osborne v Noad, 8 T. R. 648	3, 463, 464	499
Oughterlony v Easterby, 4 Taunt. 888; (549, 588	Paterson v. Hardacre, 4 7
		836
Oughton v Trotter, 2 Nev. & M. 71	617, 745	r Zachariah, 1 St
	72, 678	Paton, Ex parte, 1 Gly. & .
Luntley, 4 Campb. 179 · C	hit. i.	- v Winter, 1 Taunt. 42
932 188, 182	, 186, 300	Patterson v Becher, 6 M
Ovington v Neale, 2 Stra. 819; Ld. R	laym.	1126
Owen v Barron, 1 New R. 103; Ch. j. 703	530	Patzker, Ex parte, 3 Mont.
v Waters, 2 M. & W. 91; 5 Dowl.	394	469
2 12 6 W. 91; 5 Dowl.	324 652,	Paulett v Nuttall, 4 Jurist,
Owenson v Morse, 7 T. R. 64 244, 174,	563	Pauli, Ex parte, 3 Dea 160
Ourstan 6	522, 722	Payett r Hill, 2 Dowl, 688
Owston v Coates, 2 P. & D. 485		Payne v Bacomb, Dougl. 65
Pace n March 1 D	080	- r Ivers, 3 D. & R. 66
Pace v Marsh, 1 Bing. 216; 8 Moore, 59 Pacton, Ex parte, 15 Vec. 162	250	v Jenkins, 4 C. & P. 3 Peach v Kay, sittings after T
Pacton, Ex parte, 15 Ves. 463 Page, Ex parte, 15 Clarification of the second of the se	695	Peachey, Ex parte, I Atk. 1
E Norman J. 100	698	Peacock v Monk, 2 Ves. ser
Mail, Nr. & M. 79	166, 634	v Murrell, 2 Stark.
305. CL	. n.
	680, 681 .	" Peacock, 16 Ves. 4
Paine v. Pritchard 2 C. & P. 558; Ch.	825 .	r Rhodes, Dong, 633
22.2.2.2.4.11	1020 579	227 229, 230, 241, 1

Paulo viti 10 th a P	Page
Peake v Highfield, 1 Russ, R. 559	Phipps v Tanner, 5 C. & P. 488; Ch. j. 1634 134
Pearce v Chamberlain, 2 Ves. 35	Phipson v Kneller, 4 Camp. 285; 1 Stark.
v Davis, 1 M. & Rob. 365 173, 400, 424, 512
r remberdley, 3 Campb. 261; Chit. i.	Pielend at D
51U 761 too gar	Pickering a Poster Van D. 20; Ch. J. 809 522 rearson v Cranian, 2 Smith, R. 404; Chit. 1.
474, 479 AST RUE	Pickin v Graham, 1 C. & M. 725; 8 Tyrw.
v Garrett, 4 Mod. 242; Comb. 227.	923 504, 506
Unit. 1, 198	Pidrock r Hinton, 3 B. & C. 605; 5 D. & R. 505 86
Pease and others, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 232; 19	Pierce v Fothergill, 2 Bing. N. C. 167; 2 Scott,
V CS. 40 ME 1 ME 1	689
Pease v Hirst, 10 B. & C. 122; 5 M. & Ry.	Pierson v Dunlop, Cowp. 571; Chit. j. 392 138.
88; Ch. j. 1456 405, 204, 227, 306, 536,	139, 284, 297, 302, 581, 678
49.4	r Hutchiason, 2 Camp. 211; 6 Esp.
Peckham v Potter, 1 C. & P. 232 665	1 26; Chit. 1, 776 265, 268, 279, 395
Pedder v M'Master, S T R 600	Pike v Sweet, 1 Dans. & L. 159; Chit. j. 1410 71,
v Watt, Peake, Add. 41; 2 Chit. R.	144 193 235 239 415
619; Chit. j. 547, 555 178, 180, 323, 402	Pillans v Van Mierop, Burr. 1663; Ch. j. 372 284,
Peele, Ex parte, 6 Ves. 604	288, 295, 297, 298, 345, 347
Pell v Brown, I R & P 3gg, a Char B	Pilkington v Green, 2 B. & P. 151 83, 84, 85
Penny v Innes, 1 C., M. & R. 439; 5 Tyrw.	Pinchon's case, 9 Co. 86
107 103 26 156 107 010 239; 5 Tyrw.	Pinckney r. Hall, 1 Salk. 126; 1 Ld. Raym.
107 103, 26, 156, 197, 213, 242, 243, 536, 538 Percival v. Frampton 2 C. M. 242, 243, 536, 538
Percival v Frampton, 2 C., M. & R. 180; 3 Dowl. 748	Diploman . 15 1 1 2 2 2
Perfect, Ex parte, 1 Mont. Rep. 25	Pitt # Smith 2 C
v Musgrave, 6 Price, 111; Chit. j 104 4416,	Pitt v. Smith, 3 Camp. 33
Perham v Raynal 2 Ring 200 0 311, 314, 538	Pittam v Foster, 1 B. & C. 248; 2 D. & R.
Dilly OVD: 9 Moore Buo.	363 : Chit. J. 1169 612
Chit. j. 1226 Perks r Severn 7 Fact 104: 9 G 611, 615	Plimley r Westley, 2 Scott, 423; 2 Bing. N.
	C. 249; 1 Hodges, 324 108, 166, 167,
	168, 196, 242, 248, 434
	Plomer v. Long, 1 Stark, R. 153 402
Visione, 4 Ding, 98, 19 Maria	* FOCKIIngion v Silvester AIS 295 990 383
2 C. & P. 401; Chit. j. 1313 46, 38, 50,	Pocock v Carpenter, 3 M. & Sel. 109; Chit. j.
Peters v Anderson 5 Towns 707 58, 183	512 589
	" Billings, 2 Bing. 269; Ry. & M. 127;
	V II. 1. 1225 463
	Poland r Glyn, 2 D. & R. 310 209
	1010 F Ford, 2 Ch. Rep. 195. Ch. 1 059 411 539
	10 Stass v Wilver, 2 (1 & 1 15, 9 Press, 20 59)
Tatterburgh, 2 Campb. 430. Cl.	Watter, 8 B. & Ad. 114: 10 Law J.
797 Phetheon v Whitmore Posts 42 (19647, 400, 424)	32, N. B. 92 96 164 983
	Pollard v Herries, 3 B. & P. 335; Chit. j. 672 518
	949 900 686
Dat. & Cres. 177. 9 Mt. c.	r Scholey, Cro. Flin. 90
	Foundary John, 9 C. S. D. 202 or a munt. 200: Chut i man	Tole C abanes, S T P 200
	Dicas, I B. N. C. 649: 1 Scott 600:
v Bateman, 16 East, 356	* ************************************
v Cockayne, 3 Campb. 119; Chit. j.	- v Smith, Holt, C. N. P. 144; Chit. j. 950
v Cole, 2 Per. & Day 200 96, 704
v Cole, 2 Per. & Day, 288 96, 704 663, 664	r I unbridge, 2 Mee & W 202, & Dowl
	* 1 M. N 11 9 000 311
v Gould, S C. & P. 355 468, 472	Warren, S Ad A: E sug n N t D con cot
r Phillips, 2 Freem. 247; Ch. j. 209 369.
a Smith G	9 Law. j. 114 266, 697, 704
	Tope r Wrav. 4 W A. W
Philliplial at 18 10 No. 163	The Court of the C
Thinisking a liuckwell, 2 Ni e. 2 1 2 343
Chit. j. 903 9, 10, 22, 69, 535 Philpot r Aslett, 1 C., M. & Ros. 85	Popplewell v Wilson, 1 Stra. 264; Ch. J. 243 73,
Philpot v Aslett, 1 C., M. & Ros. 85 761, 762
	Porter, Ex parte, 4 Dea. & C. 774; 2 Mont. &
9 1711 1000 1. 1387 1
v Jones, 2 Ad. & El. 41, 45, 408, 414	v Palsgrave, 2 Campb. 472; Chit. 806 680.
31 14 1 4 Nev X-	eq1
Philpotts v Reed, 1 B. & B. 294; 3 Moore, 623 737 Philpps, Lx parte, 2 Deacon, R. 487	Porthouse v Parker, 1 Campb. 82; Chit. j. 741 498,
Phipps, Lx parte, 2 Deacon, R. 487	697 90 00 000 000 421
v Lothian, 4 Jurist, 294 693	Potter v Brown, 5 East, 124; 1 Smith, 351; Ch.
v Parker, 1 Campb. 412 596	1694 168, 169, 194, 342, 686, 737, 788
633 ·	Rayworth, 13 East, 417; Ch. J. 826 504
100

1 - 32 25, 19 -3, 2 3, 34

170.3 Tel 170.3 180.33

17. 1. 5.

70

7 R H

D . .

1-1 12.5

13 13

,

.	1
Page Potts v Reed, 6 Esp. R. 57: Chit. j. 731 233, 231
	Guein v Moisson, I Kimpp, 266
Powell, Experte, 1 Dea. 378; 2 Mont. & Ay.	Quin v Keefe, 2 II. Bla. 553 737
" Direct 15 Face 00
- n Duff 2 Co 1 100	Raggett v Axinore, 4 Taunt. 730 : Chit. i. 881
v Duff, 3 Campb. 182 156, 286	918 410
v Ford, 2 Stark. 164; Chit. j. 998 630	Maleigh, Exp. 3 Mont. & Av. 670: 3 Dan 180 70:
v Jones, 1 Esp. Re 17; Chit. j. 509 291, 298	Ralli v Sarel, 1 D. & Ry. N. P. C. 33 132, 140
v Mounies, 1 Atk. 611; Chit. j. 283 299,	200 571
264, 288, 334	Rain v Hughes, 7 T. R. 250; 7 Bro. P. C. 550 9
v Roach, 2 Campb. 76 265, 267	Rainsbotham c. Cator, 1 Stark. 228, Ch. j. 953 55, v Roche, 6 Esp. R. 76 · Ch 731 369 400
The statement of the st	199, 203, 204, 207 Lewis, 1 Campb. 279; Chit. j.
rowle v Gunn, 6 Scott, 286: 4 Ring, N C 445, 69	748 200 55 000
10 min v Perrand, 6 B. & C. 442; 9 D. & R. 603.	Rendell n Rell 1 M & C. C. 1 200
N. W. M. 407; Ch. 1. 1827 225 201 537 800	Kandleson Ex unita 2 Don & C roa
riescott, f.x. parte, 1 M. & A. 316: 3 Dea. &	Kandolph a Rugindor Dana D. ore
C. 218 238, 725, 726	Kanton e Magnalin Ma
I Atk 231	Ransford n Constant 1 N % D cm
v Flynn, 2 Moore & S. 18; 9 Bing. 19 31 v Levi, 1 Scott, 726; 3 Dowl. 403 619	Ransford v Copeland, 1 N. & P. 671; 6 Ad. & El. 482
v Levi, 1 Scott, 726; 3 Dowl. 403 619	Range a Right and 15 From 18 City
Prestwick v Marshall, 4 Car. & P. 594; 4 M.	Raper v Birkbeck, 15 East, 17; Chit. j. 851 808,
0 1 DI 99 99 91 901	Rapp r Alputt 3 Capple 100
residii v Jackson, 2 Stark, 287	Rapp r Alnutt, 3 Campb. 106
Pressuing v Ing, 4 B. & Ald. 204; Ch. j. 1001 104,	Parkleich v Salvan 1 H 70 75 61, 70, 71
107 115	Rashleigh v Salmon, 1 H. Bl. 252; Ch. j. 457 588
Prevot v Abbott, 4 Taunt. 786; Chit. j. 918 132	Rathbone, Ex parte, Buck, 215
- nec v Diackburn, Z Fast, 250	Rawlins v Hall, 1 C. & P. 11 92, 100, 650
v Dardells, MS. 342
v Edmunds, 10 Bar. & Cres. 578; Chit. j.	Rawson, Ex parte, 1 Jac. 278 708, 710
4400 414 415 416 500	r Samuel, 3 Jurist, 947
v Fletcher, Cowp. 727	-v Walker, 1 Stark. 301; Ch. j. 967 148
- 7 Mitchell 4 Commb 200 City con
269 200	Razal r Lampen, 2 Mod. 43
"Neal, 3 Burr. 1345; 1 Bla. R. 330; Ch.	Rea v Polley, 3 B. & P. 311
j. 364, 365 307, 261, 291, 391, 431,	Read v Croft, 6 Scott, 770; 5 Bing, N. C. 587;
EQ. (00)	7 Dowl. 122 758, 760
100 to 10	v Stewart, 4 Russ. 69
Torrington, 1 Sulk. 285; 2 Ld. Raym.	v Wrout, 4 Jurist, 577
	Render, Ex parte, Buck, 381 726
Tichen v Down, 3 Camph 131	Reay and others, Ex parte, 4 Dea. & C. 525; 2
" " " Cowlan, 2 March 40	Mont. & Ay. 33
1 R & C	v Packwood, 7 Ad. & El. 17, 672 674
	- v Richardson, 2 C. M. & R. 422 607
Prideaux v Collier, 2 Stark. R. 57; Chit. j. 989 358	v White, 1 C. & M. 748 313
	Redshaw v Jackson, 1 Campb. 372; Chit. j. 751
Beaseley, 3 Bing, N. C. 391 · 4 Scott	Pand Fr north 2 D. 1 Cl. 100 430, 581
	Reed, Ex parte, 3 Dea. & Chit. 481 722, 729
THURST NO 128 AG GA	v Deere, 7 B. & C. 261
" INCHOISON, I Migreb 79	v Gamble, 5 Nev & M. 433 650, 652, 666
Pring v Clarkson, 1 B. & C. 14; 2 D. & R. 78;	v White, 5 Esp. 122; Ch. j. 690 45, 179
	Rees v Abbott, Cowp. 832; Ch. i. 399 529 520
Froctor v Nicholson 7 C & D co	v perington, 2 ves. 1, 540 · Ch 1 K. 1 · 440
105ser v Allen, Gow 117	- v Marquis Headfort, 2 Camp. 574; Ch. j.
1 Ju Deal, 3 Keb 231 · France 240	72, 955 R19
	v Warwick, 2 B. & Ald. 113; Ch. j. 1039
	291, 298, 299
Puget de Bras v Forbes, 1 Esp. 117, Ch. j.	Reeves v Lambert, 4 B. & C. 214; Ch. j. 1249 757
510 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50	v Scott, MS. 568
Pugh v Duke of Leeds, Cowp. 714	Reg v Beard, 8 Car. & P. 143 31, 780, 793
* * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * * *	v Caspar, 9 Car. & P. 289 804
	- v Cooke, 8 Car. & P. 582 775, 784, 785,
" with a Seymone & Daniel 104	786, 794, 798
	v Hannon, 9 Car. & P. 11 768, 779
Purslow v Bailey, 2 Ld. Raym. 1040 690	v Hill, S Car. & P. 274
Putney v Swam 2 Mar 8 337 690	v Houseman, S Car. & P. 180 778, 790
296 W. 72, 5 DOW).	—— v James, 8 Car. & P. 292 776
989, 601	v Jenkins, 9 C. & P. 38 801
Quantock v England, Burr. 2630; Bla. R. 763 74	- v Jones, 8 Car. & P. 288 • 807
Quarterman v. C	v Kinnear, 2 Mood. & R. 117 130, 131, 775
164, 197 .	v Morris, 9 Car. & P. 347 802

 $[\underline{y},\cdot]$

-16

- 4

-:

- 1/

```
Page
  Reg v Norton, 8 Car. 196
                                                                                                        Page
                                              808, 809
                                                         Rex v Burton v. upon Trent, 3 M. & Sel. 528 158, 788
     – v Parish, 8 Car. & P. 94
                                               31,780
     v Parkes, 2 Leach, 775; 2 East, P. C. 963;
                                                            – v Callahan, 8 Car. & P. 154
                                                            - v Calye, S Co. 33
           Chit. j. 571
                                                                                                         903
                                              780, 783
                                                            - v Carney, 1 Mood. C. C. 351
     - v Pulbrook, 9 Car. & P. 37
                                                                                                     776, 788
                                                   776
                                                            - v Carr, Russ. & Ry. 198
     – v Pulham, 9 Car. & P. 280
                                                                                                         807
    – v Raake, 8 Car. & P. 626
                                                   804
                                                           -- v Carson, Russ. & Ry. 303
                                                                                                     804, 807
                                                   775
                                                            - v Carter, 2 East, P. C. 985; 2 Russ. 361
     - v Reed, S Car. & P. 626
                                                                                                         791
                                                           - v Castle Morton, 3 B. & Ald. 589
                                                  777
    - v Rogers, 8 Car. & P. 629
                                                                                                         779
                                              780, 783
    -- v Rogers, 9 Car. & P. 41
                                                           - r Catapodi, Russ. & Ry. 65
                                   775, 776, 788, 790
                                                                                                     779, 793
    — v Sharpe, 8 Car. & P. 436
                                                          -- v Cator, 4 Esp. 117
                                                                                                         632
                                                  791
                                                           - v Chadwick, 6 Car. & P. 181
- v Chambers, 1 Mood. C. C. 352; 5 C. &
     - v Smith, 2 Mood. & Rob. 109
                                             803, 794
                                                                                                         809
    - v Vaughan, 8 Car. & P. 276
                                        778, 788, 790
    - v White, 9 Car. & P. 282
                                                                  P. 331; Chit. j. 16(6
                                                                                                         794
                                             776, 777
                                                           - v Chard, Russ. & Ry. 488
  Reid v Coates, 3 Bro. P. C.
                                                                                                         802
                                                  434
      - v Dickons, 5 B. & Ad. 499; 2 N. & M.
                                                           - v Chipping Norton, 5 East, 239
                                                                                                         15
           369
                                                                            - 5 B. & Ald. 412
      - v Ellis, 1 Moore, 29; 7 Taunt. 324
- v Furnival, 1 C. & M. 538; 5 Car. & P.
                                                                                                         102
                                             597, 616
                                                          - v Chisholm, Russ. & Ry. 297
                                                                                                         773
                                                           - v Clark, 2 Leach, 1036; Russ. & R. 181
                                                  548
                                                                                                         801
                                                        -- v Clayton, 1 Meriv. 579
-- v Clifford, K B. 1824
           499; Ch. j. 1634
                                                                                                         804
      - v Smart, Ch. Col. Stat. 735, note b
                                               71, 80
  Renew v Axton, Carth. 3; Ch. j. 174
                                                                                                         808
                                             510, 567
                                                           - v Clinch, 2 East, P. C. 938; 1 Leach, 540
                                                                                                        775,
  Revet v. Braham, 4 T. R 497
                                               3, 609
                                                                                                        776
  Retham v Benson, Gow, Rep. 48
                                             631, 632
                                                           - v Cliviger, 2 T. R. 263
  Rex v Abraham, 2 East, P. C. 941
                                                  627
                                                           - v Collicott, 2 Leach, 1048; 4 Taunt. 300;
   -- v Adderley, Dougl. 464
                                                  775
                                                                 Russ. & Ry. 212
    - v Aicles, 2 East, P. C. 968; Ch. j. 504
                                                                                               774, 783, 784
                                                  373
                                                                Craven, 2 East, P. C. 601; Russ. &
     - v -
              - 12 Mod. 554; Ch. j. 504
                                                  782
                                                                 Ry. 14
    - v Alford, 1 Leach, 150
                                               505, 7
                                                                                               802, 803, 804
                                                           - v Crocker, 2 Russ. C. C. 1500; 2 New R.
    - v Arscott, 6 Car. & P. 408
                                                 795
                                                                 87; 2 Leach, 987; 2 East, P. C. 992;
                                            777, 784
              – Bayl. 5th ed. 549, n. 16
    - v -
                                                                 Chit. j. 721
     - v Aslett, 1 New R. 3; 2 Leach, 958; Chit.
                                                                                              779, 787, 795
                                                 783
                                                           - v Crooke, 2 Stra. 901
                                                                                                   790, 798
                                                          - v Crossley, 2 Mood & R. 17
     - v Atkinson, 7 C. & P. 669
                                                 801
                                                            v Cullen, 1 Mood. C. C. 800; Chit. j.
    -v Backler, 5 Car. & P. 118; Ch. j. 1563
                                                 781
                                                                 1562, 1568
                                                                                                   776, 788
                                                           - r Dade 1 Mood. C. C. 307
   - v Badcock, Russ. & Ry. 249
                                            782, 796
                                                           - v Davis and Hall, Russ. & Ry. 113
    - v Bailey, 1 Car. & P. 435; Ch. j. 1228
                                                                                                   784, 787
                                                 786
                                                           - v Dawson, Wightw. 32, Ch. J. 799
    - v Baker, 1 Mood. C. C. 231; Ch. j. 1476
                                                                                                   173, 594
                                                 795
                                                           - t' -
                                                                  - 1 Stra. 19
                                                                                                        791
                                                           – v Despardo, 1 Taunt. 28
    - v Ball, Russ. & Ry. 132; 1 Campb. 324;
                                            772, 775
                                                                                                         14
                                                           - v Dick, 1 Leach C. L. 68; 2 East, 925
                                                                                                       519, v Balls, 7 C. & P. 426
                                            785, 797
                                                                                                       773
                                                           - v Dodd, 1 Leach, 155
   - v Bamfield, 1 Mood. C. C. 416
                                            772, 791
                                                                                                        795
                                                           - v Donelly, 1 M. C. C. 438
   - v Barker, 1 East, 182
                                                 775
                                                           v Downe, 2 East P. C. 997; 2 Russ. Cr.
                                                                                                        777
    – v Barbee, MS.
                                                 464
   - v Barthwick, 4 D. & R. 435
- v Barton, 1 Mood. C. C. 141
                                                                L. 1382
                                                 688
                                                                                                       796
                                                           - v Downs, 1 Leach, 334; Ch. j. 505
                                                 124
                                                           - v Dunn, Russ. & Ry. 278
                                                                                                       795
   -- v Beach, Cowp. 229
                                            783, 788
                                                                                                       782 v Beechey, Russ. & Ry. 819

    v Bencall, 1 Car. & P. 454

                                                                 -2 East P. C. 976; 1 Leach, 58; 790
                                                                Chit. j. 376
                                                 806 v Dunnett, 2 East P. C. 985; 2 Leach, 789, 790
    - v Bigg, 1 Stra. 18; 3 P. Wms. 432 : Ch. j.
                                            806, 807
                                                                                                  789, 790
                                                          v Englechild, Holt C. N. P. 67; Ch. j. 759 581
    - v Bignold, 4 D. & Ry. 70
                                   15, 28, 227, 782
-- v Bingley, Russ. & Ry. 446
                                                          - v Edsall, 2 East P. C. 984
                                                668
                                                                                                       789
   - v Birkett, Russ. & Ry. 86; Ch. j. 894
                                                         - r Eggington, 2 B. & P. 508
                                                786
                                                         - v Ellins, Russ. & Ry. 188
                                                                                                       784
                                                774,
                                                          - v Elliott, I Leach, 175; 2 East P. C. 951;
                                                                                                  804, 807
             - Rus. & Ry. 251; Ch. j. 894
                                      782, 786, 792
   - v Bontien, Russ. & R. C. C. 260
                                                               Chit. j. 501
                                                782 v Ellor, 1 Leach, 323; Ch. j. 565
   - v Boston, 4 East, 581
                                                                                        149, 160, 774, 779
                                            158, 782
   - v Box, Russ. & Ry. 300; 6 Taunt. 325;
                                                         - v Else, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 142
                                                                                                  775, 776
                                                795
                                                          - v Elsworth, 2 East P. C. 986; Ch. j. 406 731, 787
                         1, 140, 156, 159, 520, 774
  -- v Brennan, 6 Car. & P. 326
                                                      --- v Brewer, 6 Car. & P. 363
                                           782, 797
  - v Bunting, 2 East, P. C. 996
                                           791, 797
  - v Buckler, 5 C. & P. 118
                                                795
  - v Bullock, 1 Taunt. 71
                                                795
--- v Burgess, 7 Car. & P. 490
                                                               Ry. 209; Chit. j. 842
                                                700
                                                         - v Franks, Leach, 736
 - v Burke, Russ & Ry. 496
                                      790, 791, 793
                                                                                                       782
                                                      v Freeth, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 127 784, Froud, Russ & Ry. 389; 1 Bro. & B.
-- v Burn, 5 Price, 174; Chit. j. 1005 784
                                           773, 774
                                                                                                 784, 809
                                                223
                                                               300; 3 Moore, 645
                                                                                                 775, 777
```

	T
,	Rex v Fuller, Russ. & Ry. 308 Page 785
	v Furneaux, Russ. & Rv. 335 802 806	The transmitter of the transmitt
	— v Gibbs, 1 East, 180 790 704	P 510
	v Glichrist, 2 Leach, 660 Ch i 543
	v Giles, 1 Mood. C. C. 166; Ch. j. 1336 784	2 King 250.
	—— v Guson, I Taunt, 97	1 00. j. 433
	- v Goldstein, 3 Brod. & B. 201; Russ. &	T Mucarogor Dues & D. Co.
	Ry. 473; 7 Moore, 1; Ch. j. 1139, 564,
	779 701	- T Maggatt 7 C A
	v Goodnail, Kuss. & Rv. 461 900	- v Merton, 2 East, P. C. 995
	v Grout, 1 Ld. Rayın. 787 798	v Metcalf, I Mood C C 422
	- v Hales, 17 State Trials, 161; Ch. j. 500 779,	- v Mildenhall Savings Bank, Trustees of, 2
	700	Nev. & P. 278
	- v Hall, Russ. & Ry. 463 806
		v Milnes, Fast P C 609
	- v Hampton, 1 Mood. C. C. 255; Chit. j.	* Witchall E- + 110
	1499 796	v Mofat, 1 Leach, 431; 2 East P. C. 954;
	- v Hardwick, 11 East, 585 612	' Unit. 1, 505
	- v Harris, 7 Car. & P. 428 784, 786, 791	w Moore, 2 Leach, 575; 2 East, P. C. 581 8
	- v Hart, 1 Leach, 145; East P. C. 977 790
	- v — 6 Car. & P. 106	Manus D and and
	- v - 7 Car. & P. 652 780, 794, 798	v Morton 4 M & Sol 40
	— v Harvey, 2 Bar. & Cres. 261 798	v Moses 7 Cor & P 190 t
	- v Hassell, 1 Leach, 1; 2 East P. C. 598 801	t. Mott. Russ & D., 425
	- v Hawkeswood, 2 East P. C. 955; 1 Leach,	v Murray, 5 C. & P. 145; 1 Mood. C. C.
	257; 1 T. R. 450; Ch. j. 423 124, 504, 779 — v Haywood, Russ. & Ry. 154	2/0
	Theyth Rose v. D. 154	v Oldfield, 2 Russ. 360; Ch. j. 947 566, 79
	v Heath, Russ. & Ry. 184	v Palmer, Russ. & Ry. 72; I New Rep.
	The Hevey, 1 Leach, 229; 2 East P. C. 556; Chit. j. 418, 503
	— F. Hinton 2 Show 925 Ct : 222	—— v Parish, 7 Car & P 799
	T Hinton, 2 Show. 235; Ch. j. 166 196, 255	v Parkes, 2 Leach, 614 · Chit i 871
	v Holden, Russ. & Ry. 154; 2 Leach,	2 Ceach, 787 Chu 1 871
	1033; 2 Taunt. 334; Ch. j. 793 784,	v Parr, 1 Leach, 434: 2 Fast P C 007
	v Hoost, 2 East P. C. 950 793, 798	v Pateman, Russ. & Rv. 455
	7. Horwell & C 9. The second	v Patrick, 1 Leach, 253
		v Peacock, Russ & Ru 270 707
		v Pearce, Peake's Rep. 75, 76
	"Hunter D . D	v Pearson, 5 Car. & P. 121
	161 770 700 700	v Pedley, 1 Leach, 325
	7 Jackson, 3 Chit. Cr. Law, 266 807	— v reel, Kuss. & Rv. 407
	3 Camp 370 : Ch i see 775 007	v rendiction, 15 East, 449
	" """ P 653 796 707 700 700 1	v Pinpoe, Z Leach, 673 : Chit i 546
		v Picton, 30 How, Stat. Tr. 514
	Johnson, 3 Man & Sal 549	Z Fast, 198
	2 Lench, 1103	v Figeon, I Car. & P. 98
	Jones, 1 Leach, 53: 2 Leach 201.	v Finction, 9 Co. 86
	Dougl. 300; 2 Russ. C. L. 363; Ch.	—— v riii, i bia k 380
		v Pooley, 3 B. & P. 316: 2 Leach Qoo.
	7 Car & D 151	114 511 900 00
	Kinder, 2 East P C 458	v Post, Russ. & Ry. 101; Chit. j. 726 133
	1 King, 2 (A D 410	701 705 70
	- 5 C A: D 100	v Powell, 2 Bla. R. 787; Chit. j. 500 785
	Mirkwood, I Mood, C. C. 304 211	789, 790, 79
		v Prince, Mood. & M. 21; 2 Car. & P.
	v Lampton, 5 Price, 130; Chit. j. 1016	911
		v Randall, R. & R. C. C. 196; Chit. j.
		838 140, 156, 77
		v Ransom, Rus. & Ry. 232; 2 Leach, 1090 80
	Decell, 3 Stark 7/1	v Ravenscroft, Russ. & Ry. 161 776, 788
	Lockett, I Leach 94 · Fact D (1 040	v Reading, 2 Leach, 590; Chit. j. 500 789
_		v Reculist, 2 Leach, 703; Chit. j. 555 124
	Leach, 248: 2 Fast 900. Cl.	770 800
_	J. 503 789, 793, 794	v nees, o Car. & P. 606
	2704 4 Leach 507 OF D C cos	v Reeves, 2 Leach, 808
		v Richards, Russ. & R. C. C. 193 140, 156
	Ry. 378 796 796 796	n Roft Ruse & D., 979
_	III III III III III III III III III II	— v Roft, Russ. & Ry. 278 v Rowley, Russ. & Ry. 110 782
-	882. Cl.: Leach.
-	v M'Intosh, 2 East P. C. 942; 2 Leach, 883; Chit. j. 628 v M'Kay, Russ. & Ry. 71	— v Rushworth, Rus. & Ry. 317; 1 Stark.

	,
Rex v Russell, 1 Leach, 8
- v Scriveners' Company, 10 Bar. & Cres.	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
011; U.D.R. 1, 1481 000 454	r 1 ates, Carr. Crim. L. 273 166 118 194
v enephera, 1 Leach, 226; 2 East P. C.
907; CHR. 1, 51.5	801,809
v Sneppard, I Leach, 226: (h i 505 ces pas	717 W. & Sc. 127; 9 Bing.
2 Leach, 853; 2 East P. C. 942	Reynolds v Blackburn, 7 Ad. & E. 161; 2 Nev.
÷ •
" Sheriffe of London 2 P 786, 798	v Chettle, 2 Campb. 596; Ch. j. 823
v Sheriffs of London, 2 B. & Ald. 192; Chit. j. 1040	966 996 63A
v Sheriff of Surrey, 1 Taunt. 161 586, 587	v Davis, 1 B. & P. 625; Ch. j. 571,
v Sherrington, I Leach, 513	237, 360, 559, 573
- v Shukard, Russ & Rv 202	v Hankin A R & Ald Egg. 9 D a.
v Smith, 2 Car. & P 633	[] [[] [] [] [] [] [] [] [] [
v 4 Car & P 111 cer cer
7 Car. & P 1.17	r Shory and 1 line 05
v Soares and others, 2 East P C 074.
1 Luis, C. IIV, 24	1 10 tor, 4 har. & C. 517: 6 D. & R.
v Spencer, Russ. & Ry. 299 806 v 3 Car. & P. 420	496, 330, 339, 449,
v Sponsonby, 2 East P. C. 996	Rhodes, Exp., 3 M. & A. 217; 2 Dea. 364 203, 204
- v Squire, Russ. & Ry. 349; 2 Stark. 348 807	v Gent, 5 l'ar. & Ald. 244; Ch. j. 1124
	363 364 152 215 200 499
To Stevens, 5 Feet 244, 16 11 5	Comethurs 1 M c. W 40
	Totalis v Crickett R & D 964 101
- V CHOCKET I MAIL VID. R M. I 10-	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
v Storey, Kuss. & Rv 81	Thee, 2 Law 1 1 to 2
	500te, 5 Burr. 2611 590
Chir. i. 500 L. 1/2; East P. C. 959;	Rich r Topping, Peake R. 224; 1 Esp. R. 176;
v Taverner, Carr. Sup. 195	Richard v. (1. 523
Taylor I Leach mic 798
v Teague, 2 East P. C. 979; Russ. & Ry.	Frankum, 9 Car. & P. 221 820, 823, 824
83; Chit. j. 665 779, 781, 791, 792
Tistick, 2 Fast D C 204	v Richards, 2 Bar. & Adol. 447; Ch.
Thomas, 2 East D C our
1 (IOD) DSOD 2 Leach 010	Thomas I C M t. D 770
TUDINION Y Longh CO.	Wichardson v Allen, 2 Stark, R. 334 · 2 Chit R
- 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1 - 1	997 1 CDIL 1 1099 646 671
Chit. j. 791 Twine, Cro. J. 180 184, 182, 781	v Bradshaw, 1 Atk. 129; Ch. j. 331 693
Tyers Russ C. D 7	v McHish, 2 Bing. 247; 9 Moore, 435 84 v McDertson, 1 M. & W. 463; 1 Tyrw. & G. 279: 5 Dowl 82
V V86. 1 VIOOd (* (* 31.5 G)
	Richett v Toulmin 7 L v wakelmo. Rnea & D., ro.
	Richmond v Heapy, 1 Stark, 302; Ch. j. 952
v Walsh, 4 Taunt. 258; 2 Leach, 1054;	Rickford a 213 61, 70, 71, 701
- n Ward Com N. D. C S04	Rickford v Ridge, 2 Campb. 537; Chit. j. 819
2 Sira 747. 0 1 1 5 500, 807	Riddrell n 13-1 386, 497, 339, 382, 383
v Warshaner, 1 Mood. C. C. 466 791
v Watts, Russ & Rv 420 0 0 791	" PidChell, Ponta's All co cu : man oco a Read by D 10.
v Wavell 1 Mood C C 124 (83, 790)	Chi. 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
v Webb, Russ. & Ry. 405; 3 Brod. & B. 229; Chit, j. 1069
	Rippiner r Wright, 2 B. & Ald. 748 122
Wellings, 1 Car. & P. 454 • Wendham, Cro. J. 82 806, 807
- v White, Russ. & Ry. 278	C. Ostler, MS. 1 M & Ry 120, Chit i
Whitney, Russ & Ry on a 806	* *  M A* M 10* 10 0 D
- v Wicks, Russ. & Ry. 149 ; Ch. J. 717 782	Roberts, Fr. parts, p. 1486 320, 586, 684
v Wilcox, 2 Russ. Cr. L. 456. Ch. : 202 175 .	Roberts, Ex parte, 2 Cox, 171 246 246 247 248 249 247 248 248 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249
v Wilkinson, 7 T. R. 156	v Eden, 1 B. & P. 398; Chit. j. 615 193,
v Williams, 1 Leach, 114 v Willoughby, 2 East P. C. 944	, - 5, G 1, 395; Chit. J. 615 195, v Willoughby, 2 East P. C. 944 775, 776 775 775 776 775 775 775 775 775 775	v Goff, 4 B. & Ald. 92 80, 216, 221, 222 97, 741
134	v Hardy, 3 Mau. & S. 533 97, 741
	Peake, 1 Bur. 323; Ch. j. 340 134, 132, 527, 529

then then then the transfer that the transfer th

Komen Talian Turkan

15 15

F (4.1) 0 3 (2.5) 3 (3.5) 5 (4.7) 2 (3.4) 3 (4.1)

5 (1.6 ft s.) (2.6 ft s.) (2.6 ft s.) (1.6 ft s.) (2.6 ft s.) (2.6 ft s.) (2.6 ft s.)

sp R. lä

14. 9,12

100 / 100 /

上班上面 一下下面上面一出出

Page	Page
Roberts v Wright, 1 Dowl. 294 550	Rosher v Kieran, 4 Campb. 87; Chit. j. 919 495
Robertson v French, 4 East, 130	Ross, Ex parte, 6 Ves. 804 727, 728
v Kensington, 4 Taunt. 30; Chit. j.	2 Gly. & J. 381 703, 617, 700, 706
934 234, 304 Paking n Cikan 1 M & Sal 988, 2 Cample	Rothschild v Barnes, 2 Jurist, 1084 478
Robins v Gibson, 1 M. & Sel. 288; 3 Campb. 384; Chit. j. 858 464, 334, 336, 446, 463	R. 411; Dans. & L. 325; Chit. j.
v May, 3 Per. & Dav.; 3 Jur. 1198 527	1430 217, 218, 222, 512
Robinson, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & A. 19; 3 D. &	Rouse v Redwood, 1 Esp. R. 155 505
C. 376 56, 208, 207	Rowe v Dawson, 1 Ves. j. 331 749
1 Buck, 113 35	v Hasland, 1 Bla. Rep. 404 22
v Bland, 2 Burr. 1077; 1 Bla. 260;	v Williams, Holt, C. N. P. 366 862
Chit j. 355 25, 89, 168, 678, 682	v Young, 2 B. & B. 165; 2 Bligh, R. 391;
v Gardner, 7 Dowl. 716 547	Chit. j 1084 152, 153, 293, 801, 304,
v Peace, 7 Dowl. 98 592	360, 363, 864
v Read, 9 B. & C. 449; 4 M. & R.	Rowlands v Evans, 4 Jurist, 460 821, 824
349; Chit. j. 1481 45, 178, 179 	Rowlandson, Ex parte, 3 P. Wms. 405 723 Rowley v. Horne, 3 Bing. 3; 10 Moore, 247 53
v Tourays, 1 M. & Sel. 217 184 v Ward, Ry. & M. 274; 2 Car. & P.	Rowlinson v Roantree, 6 C. & P. 551 620
59 36, 201	Rowning v Goodchild, 3 Wils. 448; 2 Bla. R.
— v Wilkinson, 3 Price, 538	906; 5 Burr. 2711 262
v Yarrow, 7 Taunt. 455; 1 Moore,	Rowntree " Jacob, 2 Taunt. 141 314
150; Chit. j. 993 639, 31	Rowth v Howell, 8 Ves. 565 201
Robson v Bennett, 2 Taunt. 388; Chit. 794 385,	Rowton, Ex parte, 17 Ves. 426; 1 Rose, 15;
489, 272, 292, 366, 368, 379, 382, 885, 391,	Chit. j. 808 751, 755
490, 514	Roy v Bristow, 5 Dowl. 452; 2 M. & W. 242 558
v Calze, 1 Doug. 228 93, 788	Rucker v Hiller, 16 East, 43; 3 Camp. 217;
" Fallowes, 4 Scott, 43; 3 Bing. 892; Hodges, 41 92	Chit. j. 861 329, 433, 446, 325, 438, 448 Rudder v Price, 1 H. Bla. 551; Ch. j. 476 678, 691
" Hall, Peake C. N. P. 127 92	Rudge v Birch, cited 1 T. R. 621
Roche v Campbell, 3 Campb. 247; Ch. j. 870	Rue v Stearns, 3 Mass. R. 225
361, 152, 154, 360, 519	Ruff v Webb, 1 Esp. R. 129; Chit. j. 524 124, v Hart, 11 Ves. 60	118, 128, 129, 130, 154
Koderic v Hovel, 3 Campb. 103 102, 119	Rufford, Ex parte, 1 Gly. & J. 41; Ch. j. 1114 725
Roe v Rawlings, 7 East, 202 633	Rumball v. Ball, 10 Mod. 88; Chit. j. 231 853,
Roebuck v Hamerton, Cowp. 737 98	360, 573, 610, 691
Roffey v Greenwell, 2 Per. & Day. 365 682, 136, 681	Rushforth, Exp. 10 Ves. 416 708, 715, 716, 717, 723
Rogers, Ex parte, 2 M. & A. 153; 4 Dea. & C. 623	Rushton v Aspinall, Dougl. 679; Chit. j. 416 576
 Godbolt, 3 Dowl. 106 700, 718, 786 542	Russel v Hankey, 6 T. R. 12; Chit. j. 530 36, 368, 369, 400, 512
• Kelly, 2 Campb. 123 895, 429	v Langstaffe, Doug. 497, 515; Chit. j.
v Kingston, 2 Bing. 441; 10 Moore, 97	415 449, 29, 56, 131, 193, 214, 286, 330,
85, 93, 762	337, 354, 369, 379, 880, 436, 478, 482, 572
" Langford, 1 Cr. & M. 637 857	Russen v Hayward, 4 B. & Al. 752; 1 D. & R.
" Reeves, I T. R. 418 93	444; Chit. j, 1138 599
v Stephens, 2 T. R. 713; Chit. j. 446	Ruston v Owston, 2 Bing. 469; M'Clel. & Y.
332, 455, 500, 327, 334, 336, 433, 436, 451,	202; 10 Moore, 194 549
Rogerson v Ladbroke, 1 Bing. 93; 7 Moore, 412;	Ryall v Rolle, 1 Atk. 181
	Ryan v M'Math, 3 Bro. C. C. 15; Ch. j. 458 49, 52
v Hare, 1 Jurist, 71 496	Ryder v Malbron, 3 C. & P. 594 567
	v Willett, 7 C. & P. 608 666, 748
v wyau, 5 C, & P, 181 419	Ryswicke, Exp. 2 P. Wms. 88; Ch. j. 251 716, 735 replies on v Hibbert, 3 T. R. 411 203, 749
Rolt v Watson, 4 Ring, 273: 12 Moore, 510:	Sadler, Ex parte, 15 Ves. 55
1 Ding. 210, 12 Moute, 010,	Salomons v. Staveley, 3 Doug. 298; Chit. j. 423
5 Law J. 172; Ch. j. 1312, 1346 268, 267 Rooke & Rooke, Cro. Jac. 245	10, 455 Sampson v Burton, 2 B. & B. 89; 4 Moore, 515 741
Atousevell v Woodhull, Ant N P 35 459	Samuel v Evans, 2 T. R. 569 93
10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	Sandbuck v. Thomas, 1 Stark. 306 320
Rordanz v Leach, 1 Stark. R. 446; Chit. j. 977	Sanders v Kentish, 8 T. R. 162 91, 92
649 990 K95	Sanderson v Dowes, 14 East, 500; Chit. j. 839
Roscoe v Hardy, 12 East, 434; 2 Camp. 480;	360, 153, 366, 610, 653
Cuit. J. 801 215, 309, 325, 326, 831, 336,	v Brooksbank, 4 C. & P. 286; Chit.
Rose n Bernet 9 C 1 2843, 391, 426, 434, 507	j. 1489 42
Rose v Bryant, 2 Campb. 323 424 Main, 1 Bing. N. C. 357; 1 Scott, 127	v Lee, 6 Scott, 782; 7 Dowl. 97 v Symonds, 1 Bro. & B. 426
	301
74, 93, 695 v Rowcroft, 4 Campb. 245; Chit. j. 944	Sandiands v Marsh, 2 B. & Al. 673 40, 61, 70, 71
148 697 699	Sands v Graham, 4 Moore, 18; Chit. j. 1076 542 v Sims, 1 B. & Ad. 521; Chit. j. 1510 204, 237, 560, 741, 74
I

Digitized by Google

Page	Deep
Sard v Knodes, I M. & W. 153; I Tyrw. & C
298; 4 Dowl. 743; 1 Gale, 376 174,	Seton r Seton, 2 Bro C. C. 610 75,73
176, 173, 180, 298	Sewell v Stubbs, 1 C. & P. 73 673
	Shalleross v Dysart, 2 Gly. & J. 87
Sargeant Fr parts 1 Dogg 195	Sharington v Strotton, Plowd 308 9
Sarratt v Austin, 4 Taunt. 200; 2 Rose, 112:	Sharman r Stevenson, 3 Dowl. 709; 2 C., M. &
	R. 75; 5 Tyrw, 564; 1 Gale, 74 597, 598
Sarafield v. Witherhy Comb 45 353 509	Sharp, Ex parte, 11 Ves. 203 732
, Sarsfield v Witherby, Comb. 45, 152; 2 Vent.	- v Bailey, 9 B. & C. 44; 4 M. & R. 4;
290; Holt, 112; 1 Show. 126; Carth.	Chit. j. 1416 153, 436, 437, 660
8; Chit. j. 172, 173 11, 12, 14, 326,	Sharpe e Gye, 4 C. & P. 311; Chit. j. 1499 759
000	r Higgare 9 Per & D 205 707 756
aunders v wakeneld, 4 B. & Ald 505 4 out out	v. Higrave, 3 Bos. & P. 395 707, 756
14114018011 6 34CKSOII, 2 DOS. A. P. 978	Shaw r. Batley, 4 B. & Adol. 801; 1 N. & M.
- v Judge, 2 H. Bla. 509; Ch. j 545	752 207
472, 152, 154, 366, 267, 650	v Brown, 4 Dow. & R. 731; Ch. 1220 664
v Piper, 5 Bing. N. C. 425 133, 150,	- v. Croft, MS.; Selwyn, 9th ed. 332 494, 335.
100	338, 466
Savage v Aldren, 2 Stark. 232; Chit. j. 1007	v Harvey, M. & M. 226
	- U Markham Pool R 165 Ch i 109 656
Saville v Robertson, 4 T. R. 720 235, 236, 609	v Picton, 4 B. & C. 715 : 7 D. & R. 202 402
Sayer v Bennett, 1 Cox, 107	Sheldon r Rothschild, S Taunt. 156; Chit.).
	1012 742, 745
	Shepherd v. Class 4 50 50 200 500 500 500
~ "Yelst Da Darre, D Vee 11:0. Citis : osm	Shepherd v Charter, 4 T. R. 275; Chit. j. 480
3 D. & C. 421: 5 D & D.	96, 553, 591
	v Green, 5 Taunt. 576; Ch. j. 910 550
Scales v Jacobs, 3 Bing. 638	1 r Hawkey 1 Con. D 900 403 199
Scarle v Morgan, 4 M N. W 950	C Gosaden, 4 Incist 578 823
Schesingar, Ex Parte, 7 Law J 27 . 2 Cl., c. r	" Product De Darnales 13 Fast 565 16
	1 Theron v Durnard, 2 Per & D 565 666, 667
Schneider v Norris, 2 M & Sal acc. 193	Sherrington v Jermyn, 3 C. & P. 374; Chit.).
Scholey v Daniel, 2 B. & P. 541 163	1409
TRamsbottom 2 Court 6, 7	Shillito v Theed, 4 M. & P. 575; 6 Bing, 753;
• Ramsbottom, 2 Campb. 485; Chit j.	8 Laur I 202. Ct. :  + 20 00 02 676
	8 Law J. 293; Ch. j. 1544 89, 90, 92, 676
v Walsby, Peak R. 24; Chit. j. 469 110,	Shipton v Casson, 5 B. & C. 378; 8 D. & R.
	130 315
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N C 544, 648	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157; 2 Bing, N. C.
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157; 2 Bing, N. C. $8; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214: 7 C. & P. 3 543, 598 v Sankey 2 R & P. 120
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, r Cuthbert, 1 Page 182, 782	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 Fact. 18, 20, 41, 47, 627, 628
Schultz v Astlev, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of Fx provided 737	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Incite 185 819
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 727 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay, 644; 4 Day, v Ch. 20	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Incite 185 819
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of Exp. 19, 19, 19, 19, 19, 19, 19, 19, 19, 19,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214: 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit i 1386 Chit i 1386
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 737 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 755 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 86; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percove, Sir W. Japan, 104 Shutford v Percove, Sir W. Japan, 104 611
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 72 Scotland, Bank of, C Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 737 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 755 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 86; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percove, Sir W. Japan, 104 Shutford v Percove, Sir W. Japan, 104 611
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 644: 4 Dea, & Ch. 32 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, Scott v Franklin, 15 Keep, 462 227, 722, 726	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 86; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368: Ch. j. 583
423, 424, 648 423, 424, 648 815; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 8chwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 72 737 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 755 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 167, 8ctt v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 404 v Gilmore, 3 Teach and control of the control o	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, $15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea, & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 ##27, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 856 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt, 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 Fast, 315; 167 187, 187, 187, 187, 187, 187, 187, 187,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit.
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 72 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 737 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 755 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 94, 81 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 169 169	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit.
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Pea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749, 489, 490, 313, 328, 327	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P.
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl, P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 836 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 836 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Ring, N. C. 683, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl, P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 836 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 836 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Ring, N. C. 683, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres, 72: 4 D. & Rv.
Schultz v Astlev, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614: 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811: 5 Scott, 11 Surpress, Miller, 652	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638
Schultz v Astlev, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 327, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood. & Rob. 263: 1 Cr.
Schultz v Astlev, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 327, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Billington, 5 C. R. B. 227, 752 Secott v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 25, 131, 560, 672 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr.
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; I Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633, 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Down 1967	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Rawcliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Step. 246; Chis. j. 960
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 648, 783 214, 648, 783 214, 648, 783 215, 783 214, 648, 783 215,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 V Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 214, 648, 783 214, 648, 783 214, 648, 783 215, 783 214, 648, 783 215,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 V Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960
Schultz v Astlev, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1632, 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 780 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 273
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scottt, $15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, r Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abithol 4 M. & S. 1, 10, 207 Sebag v Abithol 2 M. S. 1, 10, 207 Sebag v Abi	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 612 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Sigel v Jebb. 3 Stark, 1 Chit. j. 613
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 29, 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 72 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 737 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 755 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726, v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 94, 81 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Bullington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Ch. j. 942 947, 200, 202; Ch. j. 942, 947, 200, 202;	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 612 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Sigel v Jebb. 3 Stark, 1 Chit. j. 613
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 409 Seddon Experience, 1 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 10 1	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Rawelifle, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 642 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 152, 153, 294, 583
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex Strafford, Period.	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Rawelifle, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 642 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 152, 153, 294, 583
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex Strafford, Period.	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Rawelide, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 642 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Brown, 1 M. & Eab, 220 Siggers v Brown, 1 M. & Eab, 220
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 856 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Porcher, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1632; 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & Scl. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 Seddons v Stratford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529, 95 Sedgwick v Jager, 5 C. & P. 199; Ch. j. 1582	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & F. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry 638 Siddall v Rawelifle, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siglav v Stephens, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 645, 612 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 152, 153, 294. 362, 582 Siggars v Brown, 1 M. & Rob. 220 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Rob. 370; 4 Tyrw.
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scottt, $15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl, P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea, & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 816 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Borcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633, 607 Searle v Boertson, 2 Dowl, 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947, 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 Seddons v Stratford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 92, 95 Selby v Eden, 3 Bing, 611; 11 M. 638, 653	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirteff v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark, 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidfkin v. Walker, 2 Camp, 308; Chit. j. 780 Sigel v Jebb, 3 Stark 1; Chit. j. 1078 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 152, 153, 294, Siggars v Brown, 1 M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Rob. 370; 4 Tyrw, 847; 2 Dayl, 662
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing. N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 711, 746 Seddons v Strafford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Seddons v Strafford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Seddons v Strafford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Seddons v Strafford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 1582 Selby v Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511;	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidaway v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Sigel v Jebb, 3 Stark 1; Chit. j. 1078 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Rown, 1 M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Ros. 370; 4 Tyrw. S47; 2 Dowl. 681 Sigourney v Lloyd, 8 R. & C. 622, 5 Ring, 595;
Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; 2 Scott, S15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea. & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 607 Sealey v Robertson, 2 Dowl. 568 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 711, 746 Seddons v Strafford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Sedwick v Jager, 5 C. & P. 199; Ch. j. 1582 Selby v Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511; Chit. j. 1297 Sellers v Tufton, MS.	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Rawelifle, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidaway v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Sigel v Jebb, 3 Stark 1; Chit. j. 1078 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Rown, 1 M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Ros. 370; 4 Tyrw. S47; 2 Dowl. 681 Sigourney v Lloyd, 8 B. & C. 622; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Y. & J. 220; Ch. j. 1412 232, 200.
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, $15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl, P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea, & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 856 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Miller, 3 Bing, N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 844, 648 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 Searle v Borrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Seddon, Ex parte, cited 7 T. R. 570 Seddons v Stratford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Sedgwick v Jager, 5 C. & P. 199; Ch. j. 1582 Selby v Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511; Sellers v Tufton, MS. Semble v Cole, 3 Juriet 260	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 V Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. &
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, $15; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99 193, 214, 629, 638, 780, 783 Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl, P. C. 182 Scotland, Bank of, v Cuthbert, 1 Rose, 462 National Bank of, Exparte, 1 Mont. & Ay. 614; 4 Dea, & Ch. 32 Royal Bank of, Exp. 19 Ves. 311; 2 Rose, 201; Chit. j. 927 157, 167, 227, 722, 726 Scott v Franklin, 15 East, 428; Chit. j. 859 v Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226; Chit. j. 816 v Lifford, 9 East, 347; 1 Campb. 249; Ch. j. 747, 749 489, 490, 313, 328, 337, 379, 438, 473, 478, 479, 488, 484, 658 v Borcher, 3 Beig, N. C. 811; 5 Scott, 11 581 v Porcher, 3 Meriv. 652 v Surman, Willes, 406 Seager v Billington, 5 C. & P. 456; Ch. j. 1633 Searle v Barrington, 2 Stra. 820 v Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl 684 Sebag v Abitbol, 4 M. & Sel. 466; 1 Stark, 79; Ch. j. 942, 947 300, 303, 315, 362, 364, 499 Seddon, Exparte, cited 7 T. R. 570 Seddons v Stratford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 529 Seddons v Stratford, Peake, 215; Ch. j. 182 Selby v Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511; Sellers v Tufton, MS. Semple v Cole, 3 Jurist, 268 Semtance v Poole, 3 C. & P. 1 Chis, 182 Semple v Cole, 3 Jurist, 268 Sentance v Poole, 3 C. & P. 1 Chis, 182 Schaller v Poole, 3 C. & P. 1 Chis, 182 Semple v Cole, 3 Jurist, 268 Sentance v Poole, 3 C. & P. 1 Chis, 182 Schallers v Tuffon, MS.	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing, N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shirvel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 277, 379, 381 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72; 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Rown, 1 M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Ros. 370; 4 Tyrw. S47; 2 Dowl. 681 Sigourney v Lloyd, 8 B. & C. 622; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Y. & J. 220; Ch. j. 1412 232, 200. 233, 231, 232
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shate v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. J. 1386 Chit. J. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. J. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. J. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 190, 660 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72; 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood. & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. J. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. J. 780 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. J. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Rown, 1 M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Ros. 370; 4 Tyrw. 847; 2 Dowl. 681 Sigourney v Lloyd, 8 B. & C. 622; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Y. & J. 220; Ch. J. 1412 Sikes & Co., In re, 4 Law J. 195 Simmonds v Parminter, 1 Wils. 187; Ch. J. 821
#23, 424, 648 Schultz v Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott,	Shirley v Jacobs, 2 Scott, 157: 2 Bing. N. C. SS; 4 Dowl. 136; 1 Hodges, 214; 7 C. & P. 3 v Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130 Shirreff v Wilks, 1 East, 48 Shrivel v Payne, 4 Jurist, 485 Shute v Robins, M. & M. 133; 3 C. & P. 80; Chit. j. 1386 Chit. j. 1386 Shutford v Percowe, Sir W. Jones, 194 Shuttleworth, Ex parte, 3 Ves. 368; Ch. j. 583 246, 228, 722 v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407; Chit. j. 755 Sibley v Fisher, 7 Ad. & E. 444; 2 Nev. & P. 430 Sidaway v. Hay, 3 B. & Cres. 72: 4 D. & Ry. 638 Siddall v Raweliffe, 1 Mood & Rob. 263; 1 Cr. & M. 487; Ch. j. 1646 Sidford v Chambers, 1 Stark. 346; Chit. j. 960 Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Camp. 308; Chit. j. 780 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 Siggars v Nicholls, 3 Jurist, 34 V Lewis, 1 Cr., M. & Rob. 320 v Lewis, 1 Cr., M. &

	Simpson En annual Mage	}	-
н .	Sumpson, Ex parte, 1 Mont. & Av. 541: 3D. &	Smith v Kelby, 4 Esp. 249	Page
.•	Cart. 792 705	v Kendall, 6 T. R. 123; 1 Esp. R. 231;	րե 110
.;	Ch. 47 2 Mont. & Ay. 294; 1 D. &	J. 533 159, 202, 521, 158, 196, 30	DII. D4 595
9.31		529 K	35, 580
		v Knox, 3 Esp. R. 46; Ch. J. 617	80, 69.
	" Dick 3 Dawl 721	72, 304, 305, 411, 4	18, 421
, t; ·		v marconnoy, Peake Add. 81	121
·, ., •	1199 757 761	- v M'Clure, 5 East, 477; 2 Smith R. 44	3;
		Ch. j. 699 172, 158, 227, 236, 26	i5 , 365
·6 ··	nuri. 12	552, 564, 57	1, 578
d., V.	v Vaughan, 2 Atk. 32	v Mercer, 6 Taunt. 76; 1 Marsh. 45 Ch. j. 923 431, 155, 242, 261, 30	3;
	Simison v Ingham, 2 B. & C. 65; 3 D. & R.	Ch. j. 923 431, 155, 242, 261, 30 v Moon, Mood. & M. 458
1 44	449 402 401 407 403	- v Mullett, 2 Camp. 206, 374; Ch. j. 77	694
1 h. 4	ongleton v Dutler, Z B, X P A93	490, 484, 330, 337, 452, 478, 48	10 19 40A
71	Sirdefield v Price, 2 Y. & J. 73	v Nightingale, 2 Stark. 375; Ch. j. 1030	0,439 ()199
	Sisson r Tomlinson, Selw. N. P. 9th ed., 335 Skip, Ex parte, 2 Ves. j. 489 439 703	'	5, 160
U :*	- v Huev. 3 Ark 01. 0 M-1 420. Cl		, 508,
	- v Huey, 3 Atk. 91; 9 Mod. 439; Chit. j. 308, 309	510	0, 580
, n 1	Skinner Fy parts 1 1) - 8. (1) 100	v Oriel, 1 East, 369 20	3, 207
		v Payne, 6 T. R. 152	209
us e	Slark v Highgate Archive 197; Chit. j. 805 680	v Pedley, MS.; Chit. j. 1241	22
		- v Pickering, Peake's C. 50; Ch. j. 479	203,
	Slater v Lawson, 1 B. & Ad. 396; Ch. j. 1508		5, 749
	G10 C1# I	v Prager, 7 T. R. 62	9, 670
ij	Bing. 606: 4 M. & P. 603: 5	v Rummens, 1 Campb. 9	795
	♥ 00 F. 003: Chit. 1 1559 #40	v Sainsbury, 5 C. & P. 126	633
11.	West, 3 C. & P. 325; 1 D. & L. 15	v Shephard, Sel. Ca 243 v Smith, 2 C., M. & R. 231	, 895
of.		v Stokes, 1 East, 364	212
	568 Fillips, 4 Ad. & E. 852 6 New St. M.	v Stranger, Peake Add. 116; Ch. j. 581 32	203
1.4		v Thatcher, 4 B. & Ald. 200; Ch. j. 1100	1, 193
1) 7 -	Sloman v Cox, 1 C., M. & R. 471; 5 Tyr. 174 181 Sly, Ex parte, 1 Gly & 1 183; Chir.		, 499
	Smallwood in Paice St. 1 C. 1705, Chit. J. 1310 733	v Whiting, 9 Mass. R. 334	59
-)	" Vorme, Sel. Ca. 18	r 12 Mass. R. 6	468
	Smart v Dean 3 Keb 615 Chi 1250 241	v Wigley, 3 Moore & S. 174	406
¥	v Rayner 6 C & P 701		177,
		178, 354, 433
1 5	423, 330, 449, 454, 722, 734	v Winter, 2 Mee. & W. 454 5:	3 54
		v 3 Mee. & W. 309; 1 Hor. &
	Thowell, 2 ATE 566	W. 45 53, 54, 415	, 416
	Dattens, I Mood & D 241	v Woodcock, 4 T. R. 691; Ch. j. 494	586
٠,		Smythe c Smythe, 1 Swanst. 245 Snaith v Gale. 7 T. R. 364	100
		v Mingay, 1 M. & Sel. 87; Ch. j. 880	711
£ 1	Deligitive 2 Start 999. Ch. 1 100.	106 114 914	29,
		Succ v Prescott, 1 Atk. 249
a		Snelling v Briggs, Bul. N. P. 274; Ch. j. 291	230 76
	# Bromley, Doug. 696 134, 527	Snow v Peucock, 3 Bing 408; 11 Moore, 286;	10
· .	v Brown, 2 Marsh. 41; 6 Taunt. 440 281, 297 v Buchanan, 1 East, 618 v Charter, 1 Taut.	Chit. j. 1280 253, 254, 256, 258, 25$,	20
	- v Chester 1 T D (518)	- v Sadler, 3 Bing, 610; 11 Moore, 506;	207
1	638, 642,	Chit. j. 1296 257	255
	v Clarke, Peake, 225; Ch. j. 529 228, 230	Snowden r Then 28, 1 Bl. R. 243, Gu. j. 381,	-
	v Cuff. 6 M A: Sal 130 (11 J. 529 228, 230)	352	591
		Scherre, Ex paice, 1 Mont. & Ay. 270: 3 Dea.
	212; Ch. j. 1253 55, 80, 204, 211, 259	& C. 419; Ch. j. 1609 708, 709,	710
	v Elkins, 1 Dowl. 420, Ch. j. 1605 550 =	C. 416; Chit. j. 1352	89
		v Palmer, 7 Bing. 530; 5 M. & P. 475;
	Chit. j. 1338 178, 180 S		467
	FORTY A C C D 10-	olita v Yarrow, 1 M. & Rob. 133 — 633, 795, 5 ollers, Ex parte, 18 Ves. 227 — 751, 5
		11. 121 0.31 0.0 3.13 23
	Tauli Mell And CC O All and Co		416 314
	v Hodson 4 m 251	11: 1 14: 6 11 11: 11: 11: 11: 11: 11: 11: 11: 1	314 71,
	7 - 1. R. 211; Ch. J. 176 - 712, 742,	76, 1
-	745 -		620
-	- 41768. LA Pro- 1404 CO		199
	3, 2d. Ray, 1484; Chit. J. 265 163, Sc		362
	39, 57, 58 180	domons v Nissen, 2 T. R. 671	750

1

Solomone Fun Mont de D. 200 a.m. Page	Page
Solomons Exp. Mont. & B. 308; 8 Dea. & C. 58 755	Stephens' bail, 1 Ch. R. 305; Ch. j. 1058 548, 549
v Bank of England, 13 Enst, 135; 1 Rose, 99; Ch. j. 811 256, 258, 524, 651	v Foster, 1 Cr., M. & R. 894; 5
v Staveley, 3 Dong. 298	Tyrw. 255 199, 240
Turner, 1 Stark, R. 51 · Ch i and 77 co	r Thacker, Peake R. 187; Ch. j. 511 812
Super v Dible, I Ld. Kavm. 175. Ch i 201 ero	v Underwood, 4 Bing. N. C. 655; 6
South Carolina Bank v Case, 8 B. & C. 438. 9	Dowl. 737; 6 Scott, 402 72, 601
Man. & Ry. 459; Ch. j. 1401 43, 58,
900 000	J. 1540 78, 79 Stephenson v Wood, 5 Esp. R. 200 208
Country v Dullel, a D. W. P 937 not not not	Stern v Yglesins, 1 C., M. & R. 565; 8 Dong.
Soutten v Soutten, 5 Bar. & Ald. 832; 1 D. & Ry. 521	252; 1 Gale, 98 572, 604
Soward v Palmer, 2 Moore, 274; 8 Taunt. 277;	Sterndale v Hankinson, 1 Sim. 393 407
CIII. J. 1020 199 041 451	Stevens, Ex parte, 11 Ves. 27 740, 743, 744
Sowerby v Brooks, 4 B. & Ald 528	Stevens v Hill, 5 Esp. R. 247; Chit. j. 716
v Butcher, 2 Cr. & M. 368: 4 Turn	321. 578
	v Jackson, 4 Camp. 164: Ch. j. 930 19
	v Lloyd, M. & M. 292; Ch. j. 1427 187, 891
Chargo o Diomir a B. W. C. Cak	U. Lynch, 12 East, 38; 3 Campb. 332; Chit. j. 782 415, 843, 503, 504 674
Sparkes v Martindale, 8 East, 593 7 Sparkes v Martindale, 8 East, 593 318, 320	Chit. j. 782 415, 843, 503, 504 674 Stevenson r Anderson, 2 Ves. & B. 407 37, 218
v Spur, MS.; Chit. Stamp Laws, 26 182 Sparrow v Chisman, 9 B. & C. 241; 4 M. & R. 206; Chit. 1420	Steward v Eden, 2 Cain, R. 121 473
	Stewart v Fry, 1 Moore, 74; 7 Taunt. 339;
Spender v Dilling, 3 Camph. 310 1 Poss 200	i Cnit. j. 984 322, 390
	v Kennett, 2 Campb. 177; Chit. j. 772
v Newton, 6 Ad. & E. 630 1 Nov. 4.	494, 495, 338
	v Lee, M. & M. 158; Ch. j. 1878 284, 200
	v Lord Kirkwall, 3 Mad. 387 21
	v Marquis of Bute, 11 Ves. 662 3, 523 Stierneld c Holden, 4 B. & C. 5; Ry. & M. 219 199
Spitgerben v Kohn, 1 Stark. 125; Ch. j. 1536 78 Spittle v Lavender, 5 Moore, 270; 2 Brod. & B. 452	Still r Wells, 5 East, 553; 6 Esp. 36 464
B. 452 Brod. &	Comme t rorrester, R Rligh R 575 416
Spooner v Gardiner, Ry. & M. 84; Ch. j. 1211	1 Clock t Mawson, 1 R. & P 986 1 989 901 421
74, 830, 444, 447, 651	1 Stockdale r Unwhyn, 5 R & C 19 85
132 : Chit i 432 201	Stockley v Clement, 4 Bing. 162; 12 Moore, 876
Sproule v Legge, 3 Stark 156, 309, 315, 331, 333	983 97
Sproule v Legge, 3 Stark. 156; 2 D. & Ry. 15; 1 B. & C. 16: Chir. 1123	Stokes r Lewis, 1 T. R. 20 509
, Cana J. 1102, 1154 154,	Stone, Ex parte, 1 Glyn. & J 191; Ch. j. 1133 741 — v Compton, 5 Bing. N. C. 142; 6 Scott, Spurrett v Spiller, 1 Atk. 105
"Puller v riderenn & r - v	v Ireland, I H RI 916
~PJO: V I HOIWEIL, Z Cr., M & D Con. AD .	metcail, 1 Stark, 53: 4 Camp. 217:
509; 1 Gale, 348 Squires v Whiskin, 2 Co
Squires v Whiskin, 3 Campb. 140 Stackpole v Earle, 2 Wils. 133 Stafford v Forces, 183	1 " " " " " " " " " " " " " " " " " " " read, b D. & Ru Kha, K R W.
ramiora Friendly Society 17 17	Stones # Post 0 C
Stainiforth v Fellows, 1 Marsh, 184 Standage v Craiching 1 Marsh, 184 743	Story v Atkins, Ld Raym. 1430: 2 Stra. 719:
Telgaton, 5 C. & P 406. Cut.
1618 Stanley v Jobson, 2 Mood, & P. 100, 501, 506	Stoughton v Earl Kilmorev, 2 C. M R. R 72:
Stanton, Exports 4 L. 108 679
Staples r Okines, 1 Esp. R. 332; Chit. J. 544, 444, 327 338, 436, 450, 481
327 338, 436, 450, 481, 1. 544, 444,	1 1 Nev. & M. 250: Chit. j. 1261
Starey v Barnes, 7 East, 435, 25, 493, 494, 674	Stroker at Carl 304, 538, 586, 034
Chit. j. 729 Starke v Cheeseman, Carth. 509 1 1 2 1 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7 7
Starke v Cheeseman, Carth. 509; 1 Ld Raym.	1 100, 2 1'AT & 1) 950 AN
538; 1 Salk. 28; Chit. j. 209 25, 280, 569,	Sicy, O Ding 677 A M & D 470.
Stead v Salt. 3 Ring 102 575
Stedman v Gooch, 1 Esp. R. 3; Ch. j. 508 40	Cunnger r Searle 1 Con 14 Cu : con
172,	27, 31 Fice, 253: 2 Chit. 126: Ch
v Martinant, 12 Ea. 664; Ch. j. 827 718
	Strong v Hart, 6 B. & C. 160; 2 C. & P. 55;
Steel a Rendfeld 4 m	9 D. & R. 189; Ch. j. 1318 179, 180
Steel v Bradfield, 4 Taunt. 227; Chit. j. 855 142,	Strongitharm v Lukyn, 1 Eap. R. 889; Chit. j. 548
Steele v Sterry 1 Seett 10: 0 - 595, 679	Studies 548
Steers v Lashley, 6 T. R. 61; 1 Esp. 166; Ch.	Street Drewe, 2 Milne & K. 190 212
: zee	Sturdy P Assessed A. 190
	Sturdy ! Arnoult 2 Tr D To
92, 95	Sturdy v Arnoult, 3 T. R. 599 749 Sturdy v Henderson, 4 B. & Ald. 592; Ch. j. 1110 102, 108, 117, 365, 374, 376, 611

Ti:

	•
Pag Pag	в .
Sturge v Duchanan, 2 Per. & Dav. 578 666, 65	9 7
Sturge v Derrick, Wightw. 76; Ch. j. 800 337, 45; 478, 49
Styles, Ex parte, I Atk. 208
Sugars v Drinkworth, 4 Campb. 46; Chit. j. 914	-
" Concanen, 5 M. & W. 20; 7 Dowl. 391 54	- 1
Summer v Coel, I Sid. 386
Sulston v Norton, 3 Burr. 1235 Sumner v Brady, 1 H. Bla. 647
Spiton Experts 9 Com Const. 04
v Gregory, Peake Add. 150; Chit. i.	r
989 39 49 469 6KI	ة °
Toomer, 7 B. & C. 416; 1 M. & R. 125; Chit. j. 1352 191, 117, 123, 151
273 977 596	; -
Wall v Lewis 3 Dowl 700 · 9 C · s M 9c · coc
Swan v Bank of Scotland, 2 M. & A. 656; 1 Dea. 746	T v Cox, 1 Marsh, 176 300 302 209 571 650
v Steele, 7 East, 210; Chit. j. 722 41, 39, Swasey v Vanderheysen, 10 Johns. R. 33
owears v Wells, I Ean, 317. Ch i 542
Sweeting v Fowler, 1 Stark. 106; Chit. j. 946	•
v Halse, 9 B. & C. 365; 4 M. & R.	T
407 ; UR. 1. 1423 122, 198 141 101 911 916	T
ORE DOWNER, D Man. & Sel. 62; Chit. j.	1.
Sukee n Giles # 34 0, 377 1 0024, 441, 442	T
Symonds v Parminter, 1 Wile 185	T
Snyderbottom v Smith, Stra. 649; Chit. j. 263 742	1
Tabram v Freeman, 4 Tyrw. 180; 4 B. & Ad.	T
887 757 Taitt, Exp. 16 Ves. 194 723	1
Talleyrand v Boulanger, 3 Ves 447	T
Tamplin v Diggins, 2 Campb. 313; Ch. j. 780	-
Tanner v Bean, 4 B. & C. 812; 6 D. & R.	_
333 Call. 1, 1261 571 694 695 690
v Smart, 6 B. & C. 603; 9 D & R	-
Tapley v Mariana 8 T. D. 481. Cl.	·
011 100
Tarreton to Albusen 2 Ad & F 20	_
Tassel v Lauris 1 T.d. D. 234; 1 Marsh. 556 237	Th
741 377 307 410 400 400 FOA	TIL
2 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Th
ome. j. 510 2, 3, 75, 76, 282, 287, 394
	_
157 157 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	_
v Smith 6 Ring 220, 2 M & D 322, 578, 785
	_
Exp. 2 Rose, 175
v Briggs, Moo. & P. 286; Ch. j. 1211 565 v Briggs, Moo. & R. 28 178, 179 v Bryden, 8 Johns. R. 138 478 v Buchanan, 4 R. & C. 410
v Bryden, 8 Johns. R. 138
v Buchanan, 4 B. & C. 419 759
7 Croker A.F. 633	The
v Dobbins, 1 Stra. 899; Chit. j. 684; 20, 255	TL
7 Forber 11 W	The
v Forbes, 11 East. 816 541 v Hague, 2 East, 414; Chit. i. 652 120 v Hissing, 8 Fact. 160	The "Higgins, 3 East. 169 320, 580, 647
220, 000, 047

1, 165 je na 18. sa

Ca. . N Cas 1 226 (2

16 1kc R

746.74 htt // 2 h / 32

37. 5

, y ::

11.2°

: **

明命的問題為人民共

£ ... :

; 6

9	Taylor v Jones, 2 Campb. 105; Chit. j. 771	Page
,	660 259 500 700	505,
2	660, 358, 500, 503	, 600
0	140	697
_	v Kymer, 3 B, & Adol, 320	400
3	v Mather, 3 T. R. 83; Chit. j. 439 217.	218
7	Uniosciev. D.C. A.P. 273 Igi goo	205
,	v Plummar, 3 M. & Sel. 362; Chit. j.
3	v Trueman, M. & M. 456	174
•	v Wasteneys, 2 Stra. 1218	197
	Teague v Hubbard, 8 Bar. & C. 345; 2 Man.	172
,	& Ry. 369; Dans. & L. 118; Ch. j. 1896
	60, 28, 198, 218	949
	W. 599	578
_	Teed v Elworth, 14 East, 210: 6 Tenne 119	20
•	Tempest v Ord. I Mad. 89 170 170
	Toutant o Stractian, M. & M. K77 · A P. & D. i	31; Ch. j. 1450 202, 212, 359, 365,	394
	1 end of Mais, 5 D. & C. 638: 4 1) & R 10	544
١	Tercese v Geray, Finch. R. 301; Chit. j. 164
	Terrington v Hargreaves, 5 Bing. 489
ĺ	Terry v Parker, 1 N. & P. 752; 6 Ad. & E. 502	392
1	273, 330, 359, 300, 400	490
1	Inackray v Diackett, 3 Campb. 164: Ch ; 844
1	445, 263, 328, 330, 444, 440	455
١	Thanks I united Company v Sheldon, 6 R. & C	100
1	841; 9 D. & R. 279	39
	Theed v Lovel, 2 Stra. 1103; Ch. j. 209	229
1	Thellusson v Fletcher, Dougl. 315 Thickness v Provider, Dougl. 315	591
l	Thickness v Dromilow, 2 Cr. & J. 425; Chit. j.
1	1594 43, 46, 59, 108, Thimbleby n Barron, 3 M. & W. 310
l	Thistlewood v Cracroft, 1 Marsh, 497; 6 Taunt.	814
1	141	100
ŀ	Thomas, Exp. 1 Atk. 73; Ch. i. 320 697 699	100 707
ļ	Disnop, R. T. Hardw. 2: 2 Stra. QA5.
į	Chit. J. 277 33, 126, 162, 163, 202	202
	Courtney, I B. & Ald. 1; Chit. i.
l	995 814 816 415	420
ŀ	v Heathom, 2 B. & C. 477; 3 D. & R. 647; Chit. j. 1197
•	v Hewes, 2 C. & M. 530	194
i	v Newton, MS; 2 Car. & P. 606; M.	35
İ	& M. 48; Chit. j. 1334 92, 100, 648,	R7G
١.	v 1000g, 15 East, 617	410
1	Thomseon r Frage 10 Fore 210 Ott.	55,
	209 207 *
Ι.	nompson, Exp. 1 Mont. & M. 102	755
١.	v Bradbury, 8 Dowl. 147; 1 Bing.
١.	N. C. 326	601
	a Clublan 1 Af a 117 aca	106
	v Clubley, 1 M. & W. 212 70, v Giles, 2 B. & C. 422; 3 D. & R.	72
	733; Chit. j. 1190 211, 231, 754, 755, 7
-	v Havelock, 1 Campb. 327	37
-	v Morgan, 3 Campb. 101; Chit. i.	٠.
	847 579, 591 6	80
•	v Moseley, 5 C. & P. 501; Chit. j.
	1635	90
-	v Percival, 4 B. & Ad 925; 3 N.
7	& M. 667 Chomson, Exp. 1 Ves. j. 157 6
_		94 09
7		08 08
-	v Illingworth, 2 B. & C. 824	20
7	Thoroughgood v Clark, 2 Stark. 251; Chit. j.
	1008 228, 2	18

Thorne Fra 2 Mars 6 A Tree Con	Page
Thorpe, Exp. 3 Mont. & Ay. 716; 2 Den. 16	Trimmer r Oddy, 6 East, 200 309
47, 202, 724 	Trinder v Smedley, 3 Ad. & E. 522; 5 N. & M.
989 365	138; 1 H. & W. 161 603
r Coombe, Ry. & M. 388; S D. & R.	7
347; Chit. J. 1295	Trowton, Ex parte, Cooke, 124 732 Trueman v Fenton, Cowp. 544; Chit. j. 394 74, 739
1 , 1337	v Hirst, I T. R. 40; Chit, 1, 430 19, 175
Threlfall v Webster, 1 Bing. 161; 7 Moore, 559,	Trust, Exp. 3 Dea. & Ch. 750 705, 731
	Tuck v Tuck, 5 M. & W. 109, 3 Jur. 680 606
Thupp v Fielder, 2 Esp. R. 628	I ucker v Francis, 4 Bing, 142 541
Thurston v M'Kown, 6 Mass. R. 76	Tull v Partlett, 1 M. & M. 472
I nwaites r Kichardson, Peake R. 16	Tunno v Lague, 2 Johns. Ca. 1 452 Turner, Exp. 3 Ves. 243; Chit. j. 570 717
Tibbitts v George, 5 Ad. & E. 107	r Haydon, 4 B. & C 1; 6 D. & R. 5;
Tidmarsh v Grover, 1 M. & Sel. 725; Ch. j. 891	Ry. & M. 215; Chit. j. 1246 294, 153, 315,
Tiley v Countier, 2 C. & J. 16	360, 362, 364
Timmins v Platt. 2 M. & W 720, 5 Domb 7 to 22	r Hoole, D. & Ry. N. P. C. 27 86
I mulai v Diown, 1 1, R. 169; (h.), 431 - 402 - 409	v Hulme, 4 Esp. R. 11; Chit. j. 636 96
278, 335, 336, 337, 338, 369, 379, 466,	r Leach, 4 B. a Ald. 451; Chit. i. 1108
Tinson v Francis, 1 Camp. 19; Chit. j. 739 217.	491, 330, 536, 343, 391, 426, 452, 507 r Mead, 1 Stra. 416 : Chit. 1, 248 381,
217,	1 244, 297, 368, 381, 400, 522
Tippets v Heane, 1 C. & M. 252 216, 218, 270, 404	v Taylor, Tidd, 9th ed. 530 98, 587
Todd, Exp. 2 Rose, 202	r Vaughan, 2 Wils 339 84
Tourkins & Ashby, 6 B. & C. 541; 9 D. & R	Turnor v Darnell, 7 Dowl. 346; 5 M. & W. 28;
545; 1 M. & M. 32	3 Jur. 408 546 Twegood, Ex parte, 11 Ves. 519 743, 744
v Savory, 9 B. & C. 704; 4 Man. & Ry.	18 Ves 519 743, 744 19 Ves 229 ; Chit. j. 871 230
Tomlins v Lawrence, 6 Bing. 376; Chit. j. 1465;	Twopenny v Young, 3 B. & C. 208; 5 D. &
4 01, & 1', 54	KV, 259 : Clast v 1915 - 941 419 416
Toms r Powell, 7 East, 536 . 6 Fep. P. 40	1 Ye v Gwynne, 2 Campb 346 Chir i 782 77
v Mytton, 2 Stra. 71.1. Chie. acce	Tyte r Jones, 1 East, 58 125, 578
Tomas Cruner, a Dong 2 to Plan 1 tax	Unwin v Wolesly, 1 T. R. 674 33
	Upfold v Leit, 5 Esp. R. 100 781
Took v Hollingworth, 5 T R 215, Ch. 141, 753	Upstone & Marchant, 2 B & C. 10; 3 D. & R.
The second of th	198; Ch. t. 1182 104 115 148, 149, 185
Loosey v Williams, Mood & M. 190	Plon C Lord Verrers, 5 Vos. 801, 681, 683, 728, 729
Tootel, Ex parte, 4 Ves. 372; Ch. j. 595 125, 144,	Ushor v Larkin, MS
Tooting v Hubbard, 3 R & P 201	Usher v Dauncy, 4 Campb. 97; Chit. J. 919 27, 56, 156, 214
1 loovey v Milne, 2 B. & Ald 6co	Uther v Rich, 2 Per. & D. 579 604, 429, 524,
Lopham v Braddick, 1 Taunt 572	652, 820
Totteringe v Mackally, Sir W Jones 244	Vaulor a C. L. a. v.
Toulisant & Wartinant, 2 T. R. 100	Vacher v Cocks, 1 B. & Ad. 145; Chit. j. 392
Townend & Downing, 14 Fact, 567, 264, 269	Vallace v Suidell, 6 Ad. & L. 93; 2 N. & P. 78 63, 88
Townsend v Gurney, I C. M. & R 500, 749	Vanderhayden r. De Payba, 3, Wile, 528, 711, 713
	Vandewall r Tyrrell, MS.; M. & M. 87; Ch.
Trapp v Spearman, 3 Esp. R. 57; Ch. j. 618 552 183,	1: 1002 2 G 508 510
	Vandyck e Hewit, 1 East, 37; 1 Campb. 383 83 Vansandar e W
Treacher v Hinton, 4 B. & Ald. 413; Chit. j. 184	Vansandau r Moore, 1 Russ, 411 50 v Nash, 2 Dowl, 767; 3 M. & Sc.
Trecothick v Edwin, 1 Stark. R. 468: Chit. i.	2041 10 Door 200 500
979 Trelawny v Thomas, 1 Hen. Rb. 205 154, 360, 361	van Wart e Woolley, 3 B & C. 439: 5 Dow. &
Trelawny v Thomas, 1 Hen. Bla. 305 Trent Navigation Co. v Harley, 10 P. 680	31. 320 : Clut. 1. 1255
	Vaughan v Fuller, 2 Stra. 1246; Chit. J. 33, 307
Treuttell v Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100; 1 Moore,	Venning v Shuttleworth, Bayl. on Bills, 422;
543; Ch. J. 1002 80, 198, 199, 200, 231, 239 Trickey v Larne, 6 Mec. & W. 278 Addenda, 823 Triebner v Duerr, 1 Scott, 102, 104; 3 Down	Chit. j. 565 670
Trickey v Larne, 6 Mec. & W. 278 Addenda, 823 Triebner v Duerr, 1 Scott, 102 104 Addenda, 823	vere, Ex parte, 2 Mont. & Ay. 123; 4 Dea. & C.
133 134	n Auditor to the v Ashby, 10 B. & C. 288; Ch. j. 1462 39, 46 v Carden, 5 Ping. 413; Chit. j. 1244 594 v Fleming. 1 Young 51 1997
	v Fleming, 1 Young & J. 227
	* "Massorough, 1 Ring N C 252, 1
Timbey o viginer, I bing IV. C. 151; 4 M. &
07. 000, 07. 20 1. 25 170, 225, 168, 229,	r Lewis, 3 T. R. 182; Chit. 1, 455 157, 158,
457, 519	305, 647

13/11

Vore r Moore 2 Pins N C oct o C	7 0
Vere v Moore, 3 Bing. N. C. 261; 3 Scott, 646;	Ward a France O. I. D. Hage ward c r.vans, 2 Ld. Raym. 930: 6 Mod 96.
Vorlay a Sanadana O Clinasa Sur	Chit. j. 216 27, 32, 175, 177, 178, 214,
Verley v Saunders, 2 Chit. 172; Chit. j. 982
Vernon v Boverie, 2 Show. 296; Chit. j. 166 17	246, 380, 382, 399, 400, 522 8, — v Graysock, 4 Dowl. 717
211 300 4	00 v Turner 2 Vos con 240
T Choimondolog Back 110
" Hall 2 T P 618. Ch : 440 007 00
v Hall, 2 T. R. 648; Ch. j. 446 207, 39	79 X J. 404; Chit. i. 928 211 928 750 759
v Hankey, 2 T R. 113; Chit. j. 433 39
7.19 74	5 Warran a Smith 2 David 010
v Hanson, 2 T. R. 287	6 Warrington v. Furber 10 F 10
Vertne v Jowell 4 Campb 91	A 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
Vice # Angon 7 R & C 400	9; Chit. j. 733 442, 5, 177, 324, 330
Vincent a Healer I. C. 1	355 441 450 451
Vincent v Horlock, 1 Campb. 442; Chit. j. 757
920 0	3 a Vooling De l. on vine v Mitchell, 1 Mood, & R. 337	Waters a Product 1 No. 8 36, 237
Vinev ti Karea I Fan 202, Chia : zoz	8" - " - " - " - " - " - " - " - " - " -
Vyse v Clarke 5 Co. 5 D 400 Clim	v Faynter, MS, 637
Vyse v Clarke, 5 Car. & P. 403; Chit. j. 1618 17	3 v Thanet, 7 Dowl, 251 600
Westerd of The con-	"Topyking O C M C To man
Wackerbath, Exp. 5 Ves. 574; Chit. j. 627 344	Watking v Hawlet 1 P : D : 23 613, 615
250 51	211 in the bar is a moore, 211
——————————————————————————————————————	V CHE 1. 1009 194 11A
" Powell Bush 500	/ v Maule, 2 J. W. 243; Chit. i. 1097
	201, 203, 204, 211, 216, 220, 227
The control of the co
wagstatie v Deardman, 9 Dow & P 949 go.	1 Vines O Start ID nos
EXP. 13 Ves. 65: Chit i 739
	7 1 40 755
Wainwright v. Johnson 5 D	r Medex, I B. & Ald. 121 722 with a source of the source of	Douga 9 Carall 200
v Miles, 3 M & So 211	Willia 5 Ad S. F. 205 2 2
wake v linckler, 16 East 36	The of E. 257; ONEY, & M.
Waldo v Martin, 4 B. & C. 319; 6 D. & R. 364 84	102 690
708, 710
Walker v Rosses 11 Mod. 190; Chit. j. 229 303
Walker & Darnes, t Marsh. 36: 5 Tannt 240.	Waynam v Rend 1 Compt 107 (0)
Citt. 1, 959 941 902 con	Waynam v Bend, 1 Campb. 175; Chit. j. 746 637,
- r Catley 5 Dowl 500	197, 931, 579, 570, 541
T Constable 1 Pro 5 D 1 per	(weatherly v Goring, 2 B. & C. 559 550
r Constable, 1 Bos. & Pul. 307 679, 680	Webb v Baker, 7 Ad. & E. 841; 3 N. & P. 87 556
Willoughby 2 March 120	" For 7 T P 201
Wallace v Hardacre, 1 Campb. 45: Chit J 740
(n. 40)	v Geddes, 1 Taunt. 546 689, 690
Small 2 M . 35 442	" I I IIII, M. & M. 253: 3 Car & P 495 567
Weller France 2 M. & M. 446
Wallas, Exp 2 Mont. & Ay. 586; 1 Den. 496	" Weatherly 1 Ring 502, 18 11 12
	v Weatherby, 1 Bing. 502; 1 Scott, 477;
"annesiev & Dibdin, 4 M & D 10	1 Hodges, 39 621
	Webber v Maddocks, 3 Campb. 1; Chit. j. 831 185
263,	v 1 viii, 2 W ms. Saund, 122 559
Walnuta v. D. 1. 264, 268, 517
" " " Polic C Fulleny cited Dong 926	Wedlake v Hurley 1 Cr. % I co. Cl. 1 200 200
Walling & Kennison Fen P 119	Wedlake r Hurley, 1 Cr. & J. 83; Chit. j. 1506 322
	Weedon v Medley, 2 Dowl. 689 543
	Weeks v Gogerly, R. & M. 123
	Wegersloffe v Keene, 1 Stra. 214; Chit. j. 244
r Browley, 2 (r. & M. 151 184, 103, 187	203 252 250
r Brogden, 1 Y. & J. 457; Chit. j. 1348	Welby v Drake, 1 Car. & P. 557
1444 1144	Wolch to Londa W () 1 the
v Haynes, Ry. & M. 149; Chit. j. 1227	Weich v Lendo, 7 Cranch, 159 235
	Wells v Girling, 3 Moore, 79; Gow R. 21; 1
Walthew v Syers, 1 Cr. M. & R. 596; 3 Dowl.	D. & P. 447; Ch. 1, 1051'86 563 578 570
160 160 1 Cr. M. & R. 596; 3 Dowl.	- v Hopkins, 5 M. & W. 7; 3 Jar. 797 76, 77, Walton France 4 4 4 550
anon, Lx parte, I Atk 199	" Masterna 9 F B 505
Trasings, 4 Camp. 223: 1 Stark D	v Masterman, 2 Esp. R. 731; Ch. j. 614
215; Chit i 944 659 169 168 168	41 47
215; Chit. j. 944, 953 188, 182, 187, 189	v Porter, 3 Scott, 141; 2 Bing. N. C. 722;
	2 Hodges, 78
""" Ju Col. Wuinfin 1 R A. D ego. or	Welsh c Crair 2 Stre. 680 . 6 Mar. 180 . CV:
	Welsh v Craig, 2 Stra. 680; 8 Mod. 173; Chit.
329, 330, 338, 411, 413, 417, 436, 446, 452, 463, 174, 400, 787, 417, 436, 446,	J. 259 691
452, 463, 474, 496, 305, 500, 743, 75	v Gibbs, 4 Dowl. 683 547
Ward, Exp. 1 Atk. 158	Welstead v Levy, I M. & Rob. 138; Chit. j.
v Byrne, 5 M. & Wels. 548; 3 Jur. 1175 819	Worker C. L. O.D. L. o.
,	Wensley, Exp. 2 Ves. & B. 254 723, 724

Westerne v Westerne, 2 Vern. 606 Westerne v Westerne, 2 Vern. 606 Westerne v Westerne, 2 Vern. 606 Westerne v Westerne, 2 Vern. 606 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Cooke, 2 Dowl. 519 Westerne v Clement, 3 Mass. R. 1 284, 286 Wilkia v Back, 2 East, 142 v Jacks, Cooke, 168 v Lotal Lakes, 184 v Jacks, Cooke, 168 v Jacks, Cooke, 168 v Lotal Lakes, 184 v Field, 8 Salk, 184 v Field, 8 Salk, 184 v Field, 8 Salk, 194 v Field, 8 Salk, 194 v Field, 8 Sa	Westcott n Hodges & Day & All an	7A
Westerne v Westerne, 2 Vern, 506 Westmacott v Coke, 2 Dowb, 519 Westmacott v Coke, 2 Dowb, 519 Weston v Clement, 3 Mass, R. 1 v Tominiscon, MS. Wetherell v, Jones, 3 B, & Ad. 221 Whater v Paget, 2 B, & P. C. 183; Whater v Paget, 2 B, & P. C. 183; Whater v Wilker, 4 B, & C. 183; 6 D, & R. Whatley v Pircker, 1 Campb, 35; Chit, j. 740 Wheeler, I are, 1 Scho, & Leg. 242 The Marrier, 1 Scho, 1 Sch	TO CONTROL OF LICENSES, D. DRF. OF AIR 19	Page Page 100 Wilkinson v L'Eangier, 2 V & C 266 100
Westmanot tv Cooke, 2 Dowl. 5 19	vv estern v vv itmot, MS.	5 v Lutwidge, Stra. 648: Chit. i 263
Westernell c. Jones, 3 Mass. R. 1 254, 256	Westmacott v Cooke 2 Down 5 10	295, 307 140, 820, 638
whetherell t. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221 Whaley e Paget, 2 B. & P. 51 Whatley v Malker, 4 B. & C. 163; 6 D. & R. 282 Whatley v Tricker, 1 Campb. 35; Chit, j. 740 318 Whatley v Tricker, 1 Campb. 35; Chit, j. 740 318 Wheelwright v Juting, 7 Taunt. 394; 1 Moore, 51 Wheelwright v Juting, 7 Taunt. 394; 1 Moore, 51 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 64; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 64; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 64; 6 C. & P. 700 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 409 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 409 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehologe v Hickman,	Weston et l'Ismant 9 M et .	2 v Small, 3 Dowl, 564: 1 Har & W
Wetherell r. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221 Whaley P. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221 Whaley P. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221 Whaley P. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221 Whaley P. Tricker, 1 Campb, 55; Chit, j. 740 Wheeler, In re, 1 Scho, & Lej. 242 "Wheeler, In re, 1 Scho, & Lej. 242 "Wheeler, In re, 1 Scho, & Lej. 242 "Viscouring to Jutting, 7 Taunt. 304; 1 Moore, 549 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & C. 183; 1 M. & R. Rob. 366 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. Rob. 366 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & R. 48, 2 M. & E. 202 "V. Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 203 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 203 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 203 Whitaker v. Bank & F. England, 1 C. M. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 203 Whitaker v. Bank & F. 203 Whitak	v Tomlingon MS	0 214 601
Whatley v Paget, 2 B. & P. 51 Whatlor v Walker, 4 B. & C. 163; 6 D. & R. 289 Whatlor v Tricker, 1 Campb. 35; Chit, j. 740 381 Wheelwright Jutting, 7 Taunt. 394; 1 Moore, 51 V Jackson, 5 Taunt. 109 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 Whitag, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 409 Whitag, Exparte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 409 White, Exparte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 Sp. v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 "v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 "v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 "v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 "v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 "v Wilsolave v Lord Le Despeneer, Coup. 746; Chit. j. 938 "Savege, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 505 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Larenia, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 167, 724 Whittlefer Deals, R. 188, 8 P. 555; Chit. j. 505 Solvendolt Shaw, Yelv. 23 Wisenbolt Shita, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 580 "V Scale, 1 J. 188, 1 J.	Wetherell r. Jones R & Ad on	Wilks v Back, 2 East, 142
Whatley v Tricker, 1 Campb. 35; Chit, j. 740 Wheeler, In F., 1 Scho, & Lej. 242 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 2 Rose, 1 Rose, 315 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 399 Whilliams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 315 Williams, Ex parte, 1 Rose, 3	W Daley v Paget, 2 R. & P g1	3 v Jacks, Cooke, 168 72
Whatley a Tricker, 1 Campb. 35; Chit, j. 740 Wheelewing the Jutting, 7 Tann. 304; 1 Moore, 51 Wheelewing the Jutting, 7 Tann. 304; 1 Moore, 51 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 515, 821 F Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 80, 866 Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 515, 821 F Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 80, 866 Whiteombo Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 409 Whita, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1499 Whita, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 162 F O Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 F O Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 F O Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 119 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 F O Law J. 50 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitshouse v Hickm	Wharton v Walker, 4 B. & C. 163: 6 D & P	2 Peake's R. 202 437, 327, 339
Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Wheeler, In re, I Scho, & Lej. 242 718, 730 Whitaker v. Bank of England, I C., M. & R. 744; I Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 516, 821 w Fiddmunds, I Ad. & E. 638; I.M. & Rob. 866 deta, 47, 69, 76 w White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59, 7 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 w White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59, 7 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 w Whitelock & Mugrove, I Cro & M. 511 w Underwood, 3 D. & R. 856; 2 B. & C. 108 w Underwood, 3 D. & R. 856; 2 B. & C. 108 w Underwood, 3 D. & R. 856; 2 B. & C. 108 w Underwood, 3 D. & R. 856; 2 B. & C. 108 w Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 w Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 w Francis, S Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing, N. C. 839 w Francis, S Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 whittughan v Bouroyne, 1 Mass. R. 453 w Francis, S Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 whittughan v Bouncy, S. 616; 1, 1866 w Disadale, Peaks, 6, 107, 118, 560, 579 v Do las Ries, 167 w Johnson, 17 Mass. R. 453 w Shide v Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261; Chit. j. 536 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 w Freedman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 890 v Wilder v Keepe, Gar. & P. 235 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 710 sylider v Hankin, MB, 638, 722, 723, 729, 440 wild v Larkson, 6 T. R. 711 w Johnson, 17 Mass. R. 453 w Wilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 w Johnson, 1 S. & Ad. 188; 1 Ms. 386, 71 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 710 sylider v Hankin, MB, 638, 722, 723, 729, 441 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 710 sylider v Hankin, MB, 638, 722, 723, 729, 441 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 710 sylider v Hankin, MB, 638, 722, 723, 729, 441 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 710 sylider v Hankin, MB, 638, 722, 723, 729, 441 wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R.	200	496, 501
Wheelwright v Jutting, 7 Taunt. 304; 1 Moore, 5 1 November 1 November 1 November 1 November 1 November 1 November 1 November 2 November 1 November 2 November 1 November 2 Novem	TO MANDY D ILICKET, I COMPA VE. PL:	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
The color of the		0
whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & R. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 515, 82; — v Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & R. 80b, 866 — v Morris, MS. 1 Esp. 55; Chi. j. 333 500 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59,	Trauni. 304: 1 Moore
Whitaker v Bank of England, 1 C., M. & P. 744; 1 Gale, 54; 6 C. & P. 700 515, 921 v Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & Rob. 366 Whitemb v Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 439 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1616 v Everett, 14 East, 552; Chit. j. 1518 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1619 v Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 v Wilson, 2 Boa. & P. 113 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 8.56; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 193 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 8.56; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 193 v Savage, 2 Boa. & P. 280; Chit. j. 303 326, 330, 339, 435, 449, 450, 494 A). 627 Whitaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whitenbaue v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitenbaue v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 Whitenbaue v Francis, 3 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 Whitenbaue v Francis, 3 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 Whitenbaue v Francis, 3 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittenbaue v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 Whitenbaue v Francis, 3 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbaue v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla.	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·	9 Cutting Id Raym 825 · Salk 24
v Field, 3 Salk. 68; Chit. J. 197 v Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & Rob. 866 648, 47, 69, 76 Whiteomb v Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 409 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 v Valison, 2 Bos. & P. 119 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 119 v Ulderwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 138 107, 116, 160, 151 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 138 107, 116, 160, 151 Chit. j. 938 v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 450, 494 Ay. 627 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359; 3 Whittenbeim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbeim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittenbeim v Dauroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 v De la Rieu, 2 Chit. R. 53 Wickhan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wickhan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wickhan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Alk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 116, 521 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Alk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 116, 521 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Alk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 116, 521 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Alk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 116, 521 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Alk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 530 Vilford v Hankin, MS. Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Clarsbon, 6 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. 71 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R. 711 Vilfins v Casey, 7 Tr. R	Whitaker v Bank of England 1 C 34 209, 21	7 Mod. 154; Chit. i. 220 517
v Edmunds, 1 Ad. & E. 638; 1 M. & Rob. 366 & 648, 47, 69, 76 Whiteomb v Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 338 506 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1616 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 v Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 v Wilson, 2 Boa. & P. 113 v Vilson, 2 Boa. & P. 113 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 836; 2 B. & v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 836; 2 B. & v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 836; 2 B. & v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 836; 2 B. & v Savage, 2 Boa. & P. 280; Chit. j. 330 326, 330, 339, 435, 449, 450, 494 Ah. & 627 Whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 whittenbeim v Carlisle, 1 Ha. Bla. 631 w V Smith, 2 C., M. & R. 45 v Jones, 5 B. & C. 108 v Jones, 5 B. & C. 108 v Vallington, 1 H. Bla. 635 v Reawlinson, 2 Ba. & Ad. 32; 2 N. & M. 49 v Jones, 5 B. & C. 108 v Lucas, 1 P. Wms. 431 v Lucas, 1 P. Wms. 431 v Millington, 1 H. Bla. 635 v Rawlinson, 3 Bing 71; 10 Moore, 362; Ry. & M. 233 v Savage, 2 Boa. & P. 280; Chit. j. 80 v Waring, 10 B. & C. 24 mpb. 485 v Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 180 v Williams, Carch. 269; Chit. j. 180 v Waring, 10 B. & C. 248; 5 bi. j. 78 v Dohason, 1 R. & C. 146; 2 D. & R. 281; Chit. j. 163 v Wallian, 2 Campb. 452; Chit. j. 780 v Walts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 780 v Walts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 780 v Walts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 80 v Nightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 v Whitsher, 2 Marsh. 383; 71, 100 v Walts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 80 v Nillian v Rope, 6 Car. & P. 235 villow v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 villow v	744; 1 Gale, 54: 6 C & P 700 717	v Everett, 14 Fast, 582 : Chit, i. 841 321
Rob. 366	" Edmunds, 1 Ad. & F. 629, 136, 82	1 v Field, 8 Salk, 68 · Chit, i, 197 241
Whiteomb v Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. j. 4398 600 White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59, Vilian, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59, v Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 113 v Vilson, 2 Bos. & P. 115 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 366; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1835 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 155, 560 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 V Underwood, 3 D. & R. 366; 2 B. & C. 167; Chit. j. 1933 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 1536 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 V Smith, 2 B. & Add. 49; Chit. j. 506, 579 Whitersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whitersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittensheim v Carlis	OC 1100, 000 E 40 45 00 -	v Germaine, 7 Bar. & Cres. 477; 1
White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 409 white, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 611, 636 v Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 107, 116, 150, 151 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 161; Chit. j. 1133 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 161, j. 330 v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 Ay. 627 whittersheim v Edmonds, 2 Bing, N. C. 359 whittersheim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittensheim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 631 whittensheim v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 whittensheim v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 whittensheim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 631 wichham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichkan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichkan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichkan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichkan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichkan v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 wichan v Towaroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 33, 401 wightwick v Banks, Fortest, 153 wightwick v Banks, Fortest, 153 v Rennards, 1 Campb, 425 wilden x Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 633 v V Rodik, v Banks, Fortest, 153 v Rodik, v Banks, Fortest, 153 v Rodik, v Banks, Fortest, 153 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 633 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 633 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 633 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 633 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 634 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 634 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 634 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 634 v Vildman, Experte, 1 Atk. 199; 2 Ves. sen. 115, 635 v Dolason, 3 B. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6 D. & C. 428; 6	v Morris, MS 1 Feb 40. Cl. 147, 05, 7	M. & Ry. 894; Chit. j. 1356 350, 846
White, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59 — v Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 — v Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 — v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 — v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 856; 2 B. & C. 108 Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Chilt. J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Whiteholuse v Hickman, 2 L	Whitcomb v Whiting, Dougl. 652; Chit. i 400
Cayler, 6 T. R. 176 ## V Sedgwick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 ## V Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 ## V Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 107; Chit. j. 1133 ## V Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 ## V Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 ## V Locas, 1 P. Wms. 431 ## V Locas, 1 P. Wms. 431 ## V Hintigon, 1 H. Bla. 83 ## V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1009 ## V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1055 ## V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1055 ## V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1055 ## V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1055 ## V Thomas, 6 Esp. R. 18; Chit. j. 722 ## V Thomas, 6 Esp. R. 18; Chit. j. 722 ## V Waring, 10 B. & C. 2; 5 M. & R. 9; Chit. j. 1153 ## Williams v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 536 ## V Dalasdale, Peake's Rep. 167 ## V Johnson, 17 Mas. R. 453 ## Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 977 ## V Loch, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 ## V Loch, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 ## V Loch, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 ## V Loch, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 ## V Holman, E. The Ducen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 ## Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 ## V Rennards, 1 Campb, 425 ## V Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 997 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 992 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 993 ## V Presman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j.		v Griffith, 2 C., M. & R. 45
## Sedswick, 4 Dougl. 427; Chit. j. 428 ## v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 ## v Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 119 ## v Wilson, 2 Law J. 59 ## bitelock v Musgrove, 1 Cro & M. 511 ## v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 167; Chit. j. 183 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 183 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 183 107, 116, 150, 151 ## c Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 459, 494 ## Whittmore, [Ex parte, 3 Das. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 ## Whittsey be Edmoods, 2 Bing, N. C. 359 ## v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 ## Whittenshain v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Whittenshain v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Whittenshain v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Whittenshain v Carlisle, 2 Chit. R. 53 ## w Whittenshain v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Whittenshain v Carlis	winte, Ex parte, 2 D. & C. 334; Chit. j. 1612 59	5 Mee. & W. 300 403
### ### ### ### ### ### ### ### ##		Carte 100, Carte 100, Carte 101,
Vilson, 2 Bos. & P. 115 160, 565 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 125, 560 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 663 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 663 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 663 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 1183 107, 116, 150, 151 ## Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 167; Chit. j. 1183 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 1183 107, 116, 150, 150, 150, 150, 150, 150, 150, 150	V Cuylol, U 1, R, 176	Um. Ca. 17
Wilson, 2 Bos. & P. 118 160, 565 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## Whitehouse v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 668 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 133 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## C. 157; Chit. j. 153 107, 116, 150, 151 ## Whittenehim v Carliale, 1 H. Bla. 83 028, 028, 030, 338, 435, 449, 459, 459, 459, 459, 459, 459, 45	Chit. j. 428	49 108. 104
Whiteloake v Hickman, 2 Law J. 59 Wbitelock v Muggrove, 1 Cro & M. 511 v Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1183 107, 116, 150, 151 GLit. j. 938 v Savege, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 459, 494 Ay. 627 v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 Whittmers, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 Whittesheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 681 699 Whittlingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whittley Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 656 By Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 Wightwal v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wieshold v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 937 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwal v Carkson, 6 T. R. 303 v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 Wilde v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 Wilde v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 257, 727 Wilden v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 257, 277 Vightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wilden v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 257, 272 V Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 257, 272 Vilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 429; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1237 41; Chit. j. 1537 397, 388, 6654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1237 Sono and the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the components of the com		" Jones 5 R & C 108 39
V Underwood, 3 D. & R. 886; 2 B. & C. 157; Chit. j. 1133 107, 116, 150, 151 V Rawlinson, 3 Bing, 71; 10 Moore, 362; Ry. & M. 233 V Rawlinson, 3 Bing, 71; 10 Moore, 362; Ry. & M. 233 V Rawlinson, 3 Bing, 71; 10 Moore, 362; Ry. & M. 233 V Rawlinson, 3 Bing, 71; 10 Moore, 362; Ry. & M. 233 V Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 1055 V Thomas, 6 Esp. R. 18; Chit. j. 722 V Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 T V Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 T V Waring, 10 B. & C. 2; 5 M. & R. 40; 625; Ry. & M. 233 T V Thomas, 6 Esp. R. 18; Chit. j. 724 T V Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220	Whitehouse thickman of any tro	v Keats, 2 Stark, R. 291; Chit. i.
Unitable v Lord Le Despencer, Cowp. 746; — v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. — v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. — 530 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 450, Whittmore, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 — v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittmore v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittmore v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. — 585 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. — v Diasdale, Peake's Rep. 167 — v Diasdale, Peake's Rep. 167 — v Diasdale, Peake's Rep. 167 Wishonow od v Shaw, Yelv. 23 Wichalm v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wishoholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 586 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 158 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 158 Widd v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 — v Remands, 1 Campb. 425 Wildson, Ex. 365; 2 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 664, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1233 187, 389, 671 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 664, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 187, 262 V Balfour, 2 Campb. 418; Chit. j. 586 70 70 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 489; 1 Moore, 383 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Vertice, 133; Chit. j. 983 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V V Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V V Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 393 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 998 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 998 V Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 183; Chit. j. 998 V Wildison v Patte	TY DIRECOCK T MILLEPTOVA 1 C. P. R. R.	1 1009 52
Whitfield v Lord Le Despencer, Cowp. 745; Chit. j. 938 - v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 326, 330, 338, 435, 449, 459, Whitmore, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 - v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittlersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittlersheim v Darlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittlingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 635 - v Diasdale, Peake's Rep. 167 - v Diasdale,	Chuckwood, S I), X, P 95C, O.D.	- CLUCAN, I.P. WY MW. 451 D21
Chit. j. 938 - v Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 - 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 459, 494 Whittmore, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 - v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 Whittingham v Bouroyne, 3 B. & C. 25; 5 M. & R. "v Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 S88 135, 133, 141, 528 "v Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 S88 135, 133, 141, 528 "v V Johnson, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 D. & R. 281; Chit. j. 163 "v V Losh, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 "v V Losh, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 "v V Losh, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 455; Chit. j. "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 455; Chit. j. "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 456; Chit. j. 890 "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 425 "v V Watts, 1 Campb. 439; 1 Moore, "did v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6	White 13 Chit. j. 1198 107, 116, 150, 151	v Millington, 1 H. Bla. 83 509
V Savage, 2 Bos. & P. 280; Chit. j. 630 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 459, 494 Whitmore, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay. 627 v Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 152 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittlersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bia. 631 Whittlingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 635 w v Da la Rieu, 2 Chit. R. 53 Whorewood v Shaw, Yelv. 23 Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wickhain v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wickhain v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 38, 40 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 Vilderan, Ex perte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115. Wilderan, 1 Campb. 425 Vilderan, Ex perte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115. Vilderan, Ex perte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115. Vilderan, Ex perte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115. Vildinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Willisinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 v Padis, 2 B. & Add. 488; 1 M. & Rob. 313, 396, 514, 664 v Palford v Hankin, MS. Vilkinso v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 Sign, 389, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 v Smith, 2 B. & Ald. 496; Chit. j. 724 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 13; Chit. j. 722 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 v Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 728 48; 222 Late v Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 728 w V Losh, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 v V Losh, MS. cited 7 T. R. 351 v V Dahnson, 1 B. & C. 216; Ed. 412 38, 40 Williams v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 160, 521 v V Newham, 3 Y. & J. 523 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 133; Chit. j. 193 v Williams, C		v Rawlinson, 3 Bing. 71; 10 Moore,
Salo 326, 330, 333, 435, 449, 459, 494 ## Whitter variety and the process of		1002, Ny. 00 M. 233
Whitmore, [Ex parte, 3 Dea. 365; 3 Mont. & Ay, 627 Ay,	~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~	Smith, 2 D. & Ald. 496; Chit. I.
Ay. 627 Prancis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim. 182 100 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 359 Waring, 10 B. & C. 2; 5 M. & R. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Solonom, 1 B. & C. C. 146; 2 D. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Whittaker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 197 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 53 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 53 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 53 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 53 Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 53	Whitmore, {Ex parts 3 Dec 365, 435, 449, 450, 494	Thomas & Fan D 10. Chia : 722
Wiltiarker v Edmonds, 2 Bing. N. C. 859 Whittersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 Whittersheim v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whittersheim v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 585 685 ## Williams Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 685 ## Williams Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 ## Waring, 10 B. & C. 2; 5 M. & R. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 775 ## Waring, 10 B. & C. 146; 2 D. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 775 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## Johnson, 17 Mass, 4. ## Walliams, Carth. 269; Chit. j. 757 ## J	Ay. 627	4 909
Whittersheim v Carlisle, 1 H. Bla. 631 609 Whittingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 685 Sh. 107, 118, 560, 579 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 Whorewood v Shaw, Yelv. 23 Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 Wichham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wighnelt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 580 73, 390 Wigan v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 586 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 v Dyson, 1 Stark. 164 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 989 Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wildisson v Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 685, 667 Willison v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 410, 414 Willsinov Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 119, 1427, 243, 297, 119, 1428 Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Atk. 218 118, 69	v Francis & Deice C10 00, 724	v Walsby, 4 Esp. R. 220 734
Whittingham v Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900 98, 99, 252 Whittwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 737 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 737 685 v Dola Rieu, 2 Chit. R. 53 Williamson v Bennett, 2 Campb. 418; Chit. j. 197 Whorewood v Shaw, Yelv. 23 Williamson v Bohnson, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 D. v Dohnson, 17 Mass. R. 453 Wischam v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 338 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 586 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 Wigan v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 977 Wightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 v Thompson, 16 Ves. 443 6, 8, 197, 322 v Watts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 760 Willis v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 166, 521 Willis v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 167 Willis v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 168 v Preeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 v Willisson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. Wilshier v Cox, MS. 18, 19, 561, 524, 225, 5329, 411, 446, 449, 706 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 19, 504 18, 107 18, 19 V Patterson, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 D. v Patterson, 1 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 18, 19 v Villiamson v Patterson, 1 Estark. 164 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Willison v Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 18, 19 V Willison v Patterson, 1 Estark. 164 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 10, 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Willison v Patterson, 1 Es		waring, 10 B. & C. 2: 5 M. & R.
Williams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 599 v De la Rieu, 2 Chit. R. 53 Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. J. 685 Shitts, 138, 141, 528 Shitts, 138, 141, 528 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Illiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Illiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 586 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 197, 589 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit. J. 586 Villiams, Carth. 269; Chit.
Whitwell v Bennett, 3 B. & P. 559; Chit. j. 635 8, 107, 118, 560, 579 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 v Johnson, 17 Mass. R. 453 Wichham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 Wight v Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261; Chit. j. 536 70, 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 Wight v Thompson, 16 Ves. 443 6, 8, 197, 322 v Vatts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 760 Willis v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 Vildov Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 Vildov Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 Chit. j. 330 Say, 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Wildov Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Chit. j. 330 Chit. j. 330 Say, 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Wildison v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 Say, 388, 664, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1537 Say, 387, 388, 664, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, Wilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, Wildow v Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 Viscontine of the property of the pr	Bourovne. 3 Angle 000 00	v Williams, Carth 269 Chit i 197 559
135	Whitwell n Report 2 P. Chit. R. 53 737	Zoniett, 2 Campo. 410; Cint. J.
v Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 779 Whorewood v Shaw, Yelv. 23 690 Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 809 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 76, 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 Wight v Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261; Chit. j. 536 70, 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 Wight man v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 38, 40 Wight v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 84 — v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 154, 361 Wildov Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wildov Kaepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wildov Hankin, MS. 638, 722, 723, 727 Chit. j. 330 538, 722, 723, 727 Wildord v Hankin, MS. 638, 722, 723, 727 V Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. 81, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. W Dinsdale, Peake's Rep. 167 779 779 478 Wildown, Wildow, Wil	685 B. & P. 559; Chit. j.	135, 138, 141, 525
Whorewood v Shash, Yelv. 23 690 Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 809 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 76, Wight v Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261; Chit. j. 536 70, Wigan v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 977 16, Wightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 38, 40 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 84 — v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 154, 361 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wildon, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Wilford v Hankin, MS. 538, 722, 723, 727 Wilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 313, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wildinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 85 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilde v Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalonson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 2231 427, 243, 297, 400 Wilkinson v Dalo	"Dinedala D. 107, 118, 560, 579	& R 281. Chia i 1100 00 40 000
Wickham v The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333 690 Wienholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 76, 73, 390 76, Wight v Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261; Chit. j. 536 70, 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 16, Wight v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 38, 40 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 84 v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 154, 361 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wildenn, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115, Vilford v Hankin, MS. 538, 722, 723, 727 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 389, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, V Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404 706 Wilding v Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404 706 Wilding v Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404 706 V Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404 706		501 579 501 579
Vicinal of The Queen, 2 Per. & Dav. 333	Whorewood v Shaw, Yelv. 23	v Losh, MS, cited 7 T R 851 76
13 15 16 17 16 18 19 18 19 18 19 19 19	Wicklight of the Chase of the company of the compan	v Patterson, 7 Taunt, 489: 1 Moore.
73, 390 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 79, 247, 369, 378, 677 760 Watts, 1 Campb. 552; Chit. j. 989 156, 561, 566, 625 Willis v Barrett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. j. 989 156, 561, 566, 625 Willison, 1 Stark. 164 v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 902 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Willison v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 376 Willison v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 318, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297 V Balfour, 2 Campb. 579	Wiedholt v Spitta, 3 Camp. 376; Chit. j. 890 76	999
Vigan v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 536 70, 760 Wigan v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 977 16, 160, 521 Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 840 Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 84 v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 154, 361 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Wildian, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Vilford v Hankin, MS. 538, 722, 723, 727 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 318, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297, 406 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 201 Ry. 404; Chit. j. 201 Ry. 404; Chit. j. 201 Ry. 404; Chit. j	Wiffen v Roberts 1 Fem D occ 73, 390	v Thompson, 16 Ves. 443 6, 8, 197, 322
Wight v Fowler, 1 Stark. 463; Chit. j. 977 16, 160, 521 16	70, Chit. j. 586 70,	Watts, I Campb. 552; Chit. j.
Vightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412 Vightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153 Vild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vildenan, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Vilford v Hankin, MS. Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & V. Newham, 3 Y. & J. 523 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilkins v Casey, 6 Car. & V. Newham, 3 Y. & J. 523 Vilkins v Case, 6 Car. & V. Newham, 3 Y. & J. 523 Vilkins v Case, 6 Car. & V. Newham, 3 Y. & J.	Wigan v Fowler, 1 Stark 469, Chr. 369, 378, 677
Vild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 — v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Chit. j. 330 Vilde v Hankin, MS. Vi	160 , Cint. J. 977	Dallett, 2 Stark. R. 29; Chit. J. 989 100,
Wild v Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303 — v Rennards, 1 Campb. 425 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Chit. j. 330 Wilde v Hankin, MS. Vilford v Hankin, MS. v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. String v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 String v Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. 41; Chit. j. 1537 String v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. Williams v Freeman, 12 East, 656; Chit. j. 802 204, 207, 247, 318, 711, 749 Williams v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. Willson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 11 Ves. 412; Chit. j. 720 412, 243, 297. Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 613 Willson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 11 Ves. 412; Chit. j. 720 422, 423, 297. Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 613 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 614 615 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 617 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993 13, 82 v Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 383; 7 Taunt. 618 Willson v Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133; Chit. j. 993	Wightman v Townroe, 1 M. & Sel. 412	- v Dyson, 1 Stork 164
v Newham, 3 Y. & J. 523 611, 615 Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Vildman, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Chit. j. 330 538, 722, 723, 727 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, — v Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. Vilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297.	Wightwick v Banks, Forrest, 153	- v Freeman, 12 Fast 656: Chit i 809 205.
Vilde v Keepe, 6 Car. & P. 235 154, 361 Vildman, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Chit. j. 330 538, 722, 723, 727 Vilford v Hankin, MS. 538, 722, 723, 727 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 319, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 319, 396, 711 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 383, 654, 660 Ry, 383, 654, 660 Ry, 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297	And a Cigreson' P. L. B. 305	90.4 907 047 010 711 749
Wildman, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 109; 2 Ves. sen. 115; Chit. j. 330 Chit. j. 330 Vilford v Hankin, MS. Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 71		Newnam V I. I roo
Chit. j. 330 Vilford v Hankin, Ms. Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 218, 247, 287, v Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 218, 247, 287, Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Rob. 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. Vilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297.	Wildman, Ex parte 1 Ath 100 and 638	Villaton v Patteson, 7 Taunt, 439 · 1 Moore.
Vilford v Hankin, MS. Vilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 28	Chit. j. 330
Wilkins v Casey, 7 T. R. 711 207, 213, 247, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 281, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287, 287	Vilford v Hankin, MS 038, 722, 723, 727	Whitaker, 2 Marsh. 398; 7 Taunt.
Wilson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297 Wilson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 1 Rose, 137 720 5, 329, 411, 446, 449, 706 Wilson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 118, 693 1 Rose, 137 7 Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 Wilson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 128, 693 Wilson, Ex parte, 1 Atk. 218 128, 693 Proposition of the complete of	Willeins a Constant of the Con
41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 654, 660 Wilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & 11 Ves. 412; Chit. j. 720 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404	,, 237, 237
Vilkinson v Johnson, 3 B. & C. 428; 5 D. & 5,329, 411, 446, 449, 706 Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 Balfour, 2 Campb. 579	Jadis, 2 B. & Ad. 188; 1 M. & Ball	1 Rose 148
Ry. 403; Chit. j. 1231 427, 243, 297. Balfour, 2 Campb. 579 404	41; Chit. j. 1537 387, 388, 684 660	11 Vas 419. Chia : 700 400
200 217, 243, 297, Ballour, 2 Campb. 579	D. 402. Ot
v Barthrop, 2 M. & W. 863 55, 27 Coupland 5 B. & Ald, 228 581	1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1
v Coupland 5 B. & Ald. 228 581	809, 817, 890, 428, 509	v Barthrop, 2 M. & W. 863 Sh. 27
	,	v Coupland 5 B. & Ald. 228 581

0.386 0.214.26 0.214.27 1.114.12.1

N LV The The

Š

n	1
Wilson v Justice, Peake, Add. 96, Chit. j. 574	Worsley Fy parts 2 H Dis age
100	459 459
v Kennedy, 1 Esp. 245: Ch. j. 535 125, 6	Wren v Kirton, 11 Ves. 382
	Wrexham v Hudleston, 1 Swanst. 514
v Ray, 2 Per. & D 252	Wright, Ex parte, 3 Mont. & Ay. 387; 3 Dea.
n Reddall Com 161, 611, 1900	708
v Swabey, 1 Stark. R. 31; Chit. j. 934	v Hay, 2 Stark, 398; Chit, i 1032
	v Lamg, 3 B. & C. 165; 4 D & P
v Vysar, 4 Taunt. 288; Chit. j. 860	785 Chit i. 1213
103 174 996 4	v Lainson, 2 M. & W. 739; 6 Dowl.
men e Reelev. 1 T. R. KIQ	140 148 528 607
Winchester, Bishop of, v Fournier, 2 Vcs. 445;	v Reed, 3 T. R. 554; Chit. i. 461 824
CIII. 1. 331	v Riley, Peake's R. 173; Chit. j. 498 119
William v. Wilhers, I Stra 515 890 740 5
windle v. Andrews, 2 B. & Ald. 696. 2 Stark	10,407,488
425; Chit. j. 1062 465, 12, 288, 33	v Simpson, 6 Ves. 734 409, 412, 716
577 657 600 00
white v Crowther, I Tyrw, 210. 1 Cro. R. I	51, 52
	Wyatt v Bulmer, 2 Esp R. 538; Ch. j. 575 92, 95
The state of the s	1359
003, 2 Har. N. W. 49
Trowse, 9 Price 303, Chi. : 1111	9 112 mora, 6 mast, 147, Chit. J. 664 179,
Wasterman, 2 Campb. 179 : Chit i	## Hodson, 1 M. & Sc. 442; 8 Bing.
Witham v Gompertz, 2 C., M. & R. 736; 4	Wyburn a Stanton A E- D 120
	Wylde v Porter, 1 Ad. & El. 742; 3 N. & M.
v. Lee, 4 Esp. R. 264; Chit. j. 670 82, 95	585
Witherley v Sarsfield, 1 Show. 127; Ch. j. 173 577 Witter, Ex parte, Cooke, 173	Wynne v Callender, 1 Russ. 293 89, 90, 98, 168
Woeff v Oxholm 6 M t- C 1 00	v Jackson, 2 Russ, R. 351
Wood v. Braddock 1 Town 104 Tt	v Raikes, 5 East, 514 : Chit. j. 700 286,
Wood v. Bruddock, 1 Taunt. 104 54, 627, 628, 646	285, 289, 290, 297, 298, 652
Chit i 052	, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,
- v Dodgeon 2 M 4- C 1 10-	Ximenes v Jacques, 1 Esp. R. 311
2 Rose 47
p Hrnry I d D co.	Yallop v Ebers, 1 Bar. & Ad. 702 304, 320, 712,
- V Grimwood, 10 R & C 670	712 710 700
110ibech, MS	Tarborough & Dank of England, 16 East, 12:
V Marston 7 Down! 965	Value 201 15 00#
" southinger Spooner, 3 B & Ald 225. 1 Chia	Tates v Boen, 2 Stra. II04
75 149 669	- v Frecklington, Doug. 622 393, 394
v Swan, 4 B. & Ad 633. 1 N o.	Vocable at Res. j. 280 138, 430
	Yeomans v Bradshaw, Carth. 373; 3 Salk. 70;
Whiteley, M. & M. 517. Chie :	Comb. 392; Chit. j. 195 2, 10
1508 Woodham a Fall 1 268	Yonge, Ex parte, 3 Ves. & B. 40: 2 Rose, 40
Edwards, 5 Ad. & E. 771 1 New	York v Blott, 5 M. & Sel. 71; Ch. j. 957 627, 670
Woodroffe a H	Young v Bank of Bengal, 1 Dea. 622 748
Hayne, I C. & P. 600 Chit :	- n Forbon Mars 1500
Woodthorne r. Lawren 2 16 306. 402, 425	v Grote, 4 Bing 258; 12 Moore, 284;
Woodthorpe v. Lawes, 2 Mee. & W. 109 Woodward, Ex parte 3 M g. A CO 012 470	Chit j. 1344 429, 192, 261, 262, 282, 514
	v Hochley, Bla. Rep. 839; 3 Wils 346
Wookey n Pole A Parcey, Plowd. 184 538	210 500 510 510 510 510 510 510 510 510 5
Wookey v Pole, 4 B. & Al. 1; Chit. j. 1086 6,	v Moore, 2 Wils. 67
Woolsley v Crawford 10 F	v Timmins, 1 Cr. & J. 331; 1 Tyrw.
Woolsley v Crawford, 12 East, 420; 2 Campb.
Woosman v Price 1 C- 0 37, 688	v Wright, 1 Campb. 139; Chit. j. 744
Wordsworth v Brown, 3 Dowl. 689 619
Worley v Harrison 3 Ad & F Good 7 7 619	570, 573
T THE PART OF A	Zink v Walker, 2 Bla. R. 1154; Chit. j. 396 231,
135, 599	750
J	750

TABLE OF CASES

CITED BY AMERICAN EDITORS.

Abat v Gormley, 159. - v Holmes, 247 a. Adams v Jones, 603. Adis v Johnson, 234. Agan v M'Mauns, 449, 451, 482, 507. Agricultural Bank v Bissell, 89, 89 b. Ainslie v Wilson, 580 a. Aibee v Little, 606. Aldis et al v Johnson, 379. Alderson v Chatham, 76. Aldridge v Turner, 72. Allen v Merchants Bank, 17. - v Suydam, 35, 278 a, 331. Alvord v Baker, 67. Alwood v Haselden, 197, 223, 359. Ames v Washington, 668. Amherst Academy v Cowles, 15. Amory v Gilman, 84. Anderson v Weston, 147 a. v Van Alen, 223. - v Robson, 268, 578 a. – v Drake, 292 a. - v Anderson, 305. Andover v Grafton, 33. Andrews v Beecher, 7. - v Baggs, 299. Angel v Felton, 180 a, 267. Archer v Spencer, 570. Armer v Lewis, 366. Armington v Gas Light & Bank'g Co., 17. Amstrong v Gilchrist, 31. v United States, 33, 687 a. - v Hussey, 201. Arnold v Brown, 69. - v Camp, 180 a. Arfidon v Ladd, 32. Atkinson v Manks 75. - v Scott's Ex'r 89 a. Atwood v Hasseldon, 354. Aubin v Lazarus, 354. Austin v Rodman, 225 a, 451, 578 - v Bostwick, 611. Avery v Stewart, 373.

Aymar v Beers, 278 n, 377.

v Sheldon, 234 a. Bacheller v Priest, 189, 278 a, 354. Bacchus v Richmond, 537. Backus v Shipherd, 358.
Bacon v Page, 150.

v Dyer, 365. Bailey v Freeman, 171 a. Bainbridge v Wilcocks, 169 a. Baird v Cockran, 669 a. Baker v Biggs, 572, 636.

Baker v Arnold, 669. - r Wheaton, 169. Baldwin v Farnsworth, 366. Ball v Allen, 12 Bangor Bank v Hook, 687. Bank of U. S. v Smith, 292 a. 363, 559, 574.
v Carneal, 359, 363, 454, 475 b. - v Norwood, 475 a. - v Corcoran, 475 b. - v Hatch, 247 a, 475 b. - v Russell, 189. - v Weisiger, 6. - v Daniel, 11. - v Dunn, 17 a. Bank of North America v McKnight, 337. – v Baniere, 197. - v Pettit, 374. Bank of South Carolina v Flagg, 365. - v Humphreys, 53, 207 – v Myers, 247 b. Bank of Utica v Phillips, 89. – v Swedes, 17. - v McKinster, 17 a, 331. - v Smith, 230 a, 365, 475 b. – v Wager, 89 a. - v Ives. 217 b – v Davidson, 454 a. – v Phillips, 454 a. - v Bender, 452. Bank of America v Woodworth, 182. — v Varden, 449. Bank of Alexandria v Swann, 372, 374, 433, 436. 483, 484. Bank of Rochester v Gould, 433 Bank of Washington v Triflett, 169 a, 278 a, 325, Bank of Logan v Butler, 475 b. Bank of Geneva r Howlett, 475, a, 475 b. Bank of Columbia v Lawrence, 278 a, 657 a. Bank of Wilmington r Simmons, 247 a. Bank of Kentucky v Brooking, 201. — v Sanders, 132. Bank of Limestone v Perrick, 189 a. Bank of Illinois v Sloo, 303. Bank of Virginia v Ward, 259. Bank of Orange v Kinsdale, 259. Bank of Cape Fear v Stivewetz, 11. Bank of the Metropolis v Jones, 17 a, 673. Bank of St. Albans v Gilliland, 69 a. Bank of Montgomery r Walker, 669 a. Bank of Burlington v Durkee, 89 b, 89 c Bank of Michigan v Ely, 287 Bank v Kent, 143 a. - v McWillie, 29 a, 305. −v Herbert, 29 a.

Έ.

475 b, 657 a.

Bank v Flanders, 35. – v Irvine, 306. Banks v Rander, 230 a. Barbarin v Daniels, 424. Barber v Mintum, 12. Barelli v Brown, 180 a Barkalow v Johnson, 358, 451 a. Barker v Parker, 449. – v Hall, 475 b. - v The Mechanics Fire Ins. Co. 14. - v Prentiss, 230 a, 232, 674 a. Burkhamstead v Case, 10. Baring v Clark, 423. -v Shippen, 669 a. Barnes v Ball, 673. Barnwell v Witchell, 454 Barrett v Wills, 354, 575. — v Hall, 180 b. – v May, 358. Baretto v Snowden 89 a, 674. Barriere v Naivac, 196. Barrows v Lane, 143 a. Barton v Baker, 507 a. Bartram Caddy, 605. Batty v Carswell, 29 a. Baxter v Graves, 451 a. – v Penniman, 646 a. Bayley v Taber, 148. v Hazard, 354. Beard v Van Wickle, 589. Beardsley v Warner, 274 a. Beary v Haines, 189 a. Bearing v Reeder, 669 a. Beckwith v Angel -– 214, 172. Bell v Lent, 89 b. - v Johnson, 250, 354. - v Norwood, 647. Benham v Bishop, 18 Benner v Bank of Columbia, 625. Bennet v Maule, 411. - v Gauphy, 201. Benson v Matthews, 189 a. Benton v Gibson, 223. Berkshire Bank v Jones, 359, 507 a. Bernard v Torrance, 49, 626. Berry v Robinson, 223 b, 354, 475. Biddle v Mandeville, 10. Bill v Porter, 180 a. Binney et al. v Plumley, 569, 570. Bird v Caritat, 169 a. Bishop v. Dexter, 523 b. Bissell v Bozman, 433. Black v Smith, 411. Blagg v Phænix Ins. Co., 669 a. Blake v Sewall, 224. Blakeley v Grant, 232, 354, 475 a, 575. Bloodgood v Hawthorn, 436. Bogart v Nevins, 309. Bondan's adm'r. v Plunkett, 633. Bond v Storrs, 353, 424. - v Farnham, 507, 575. Bonsall v Harrison, 223. Bosanquet v Corser, 652. Boston Bank v Hodges, 475 c. Bostick v McClarin, 82. Bowie v Duval, 359, 363, 365, 521, 534 a. Bowman v Wood, 230 a. Bowles v Newby, 10. Boyce v Edwards, 286, 683. Boyd v Cleveland, 501 a.

- v Brotherson, 185.

Boylton v Greene, 224. Booker v Lastrapes, 68. Brackett v Mountford, 189 a. Bradles v Boston Glass Manufactory, 25. Bradford v Huffard, 247 a. Bradley et ux v Hunt, 3. — v McCellan, 559. - v Anderson, 143 a. Braynard v Fishar, 594 a. Breed v v Cooke, 180 a. - v Hill house, 358 a, 250. Brents Ex'rs v Bank of the Metropolis, 169 a, 475 a, Brewster v McCardle, 148. Briggs v Briscoe, Bristol v Dunn, 664. Brittin v Freeman, 89 b, 89 c. Brittain v Johnson, 475 b. Brock v Thompson 10, 89 c, 69. Brokway v Allen, 32, 34. - v Coff, 89 b. Brounell v Bonney, 659. Brower v Jones, 377, 354. Brown v Lush, 372, 374, 377, 128. – v Ferguson, 488, 11. – v Tower, 578. - v Barry, 589. - v Philadelphia Bank, 655. - v Maffey, 451. - v Colt, 301 – v Taber, 306. - v Williams, 247 a. – v Austin, 33. - v Molt, 69, 220. – v Gilman, 139. Bruen v Maqusand, 411. Brunson v Napier, 358. Brush v Reeves' Adm'r, 197, 241. — v Hayes, 657 a, 454 a. - v Scribner, 197 a. Bryden v Bryden, 337, 475 a. Buck v Kent, 250 a. v Cotton, 449. Buckner v Finley, 335, 11, 655. Buckstone v Jones, 278 a. Buford v Buford, 3 a. Buffum v Chadwick, 32. Bulger v Roche, 619. Bullard v Bell, 158 a. Bullit v Scribner, 518. Bullock v Nally, 230 a. Bunn v Riker, 84. Burdick v Green, 233, 578. Burgh v Legge, 451 a. Burr v Waterman, 589. Burroughs v Nettles, 223 a. Burn v Poaug's Adm'r, 409 a. Burns v Haynes, 424. Burthe v Donaldson, 149. Bussard v Levering, 475 a, 377 a. Buswell v Roby, 646 a. Bush v Livingston, 89, b. v Adm. of Reeves, 158 a.
 v Hayes, 451. – v Crutchfield, 247 a. Butler v Wright, 580, 580 a, 657. - v Hamilton, 409 a. - v Sluddeth, 6. — v Duval, 475 е. - v Denham, 354. Butterfield v Kidder, 89 b. Byington v Geddings, 69.

Cadly r Shepherd, 636, 40. Cain v Colwell, 411. Caldwell v Cassidy, 353, 359, 398. Cambridge v Hobart, 611. Cameron v Chappell, 89 b. Carman r Boggs, 678. Camp v Tompkins, 156. Campbell v Richardson, 84. --- v Pettingill, 301. – v Neister, 691. Cammer v Harrison, 377. Carlee v Vance, 574, 594 a. Carleton v Whicher, 669 a. Carlisle v Stiller, 619. Carmena v Mix, 451 a. Carson v Barnes, 606. Carter v Gregory, 636. Case v Gernish, 85. Catskill Bank v Stall, 475. Central Bank v Willard, 144. - v Allen, 365, 365 a, 367, 374. Chadbourne v Watts, 89, b. Chalaron v Vance, 159. Chalmers v McMur 'o, 33, 488. Chamberlain v Hoffs, 172, 156. Chanoine v Fowler, 336, 657. Chander v Brainard, 179. Chapin v Merritt, 73. Chapman v Durant, 180 a. - v Steinmetz, 180 b. - v Lipscombe, 475. Chantauque Co. Bank v Davis, 228. Childers v Deane, 89 a. Chittenden v Ensign, 137. Church v Clark, 386 a, 372. - v Barlow, 440, 475 e. --- Feterow, 132 a, 559. Churchill v Suter, 89 a, 669. City Bank v Barnard, 81. - of New Orleans v Girard Bank, 515 a, 687 a. Claiburne v Planters Bank, 241. Clair v Barr, 354. Clark v Minton's Adm'x. 354, 449, 507 a. - v Bigelow, 452. - v Young, 180 a. - v Boyd, 6. Clarkson's adm'r v Garland, 89 b. Cobb v Little, 172. Cochran v Wheeler, 224, 399. -- r Scott 561. Cock v Fellows, 171 a. Cockey v Forrest, 89, b. Coco v Latour, 74. Codwise v Hacker, 31. — v Gleason, 158 a. Coit v Tracy, 611. Cole v Cushing, 305. Coleman r Flint, 363. --- r Wise 669. Collins v Lincoln, 132 a. -- v Allen, 223 a. Colton v Dunham, 89 b. - v Union Bank, 424. Colt v Noble, 475. v Barnard, 223. Commissioners of Berks Co. v Ross, 409 a. Commercial Bank v Hughes, 247 b, 272, a. Commonwealth v Mauley, 197. Comstock v Hoag, 306 a. Cone v Baldwin, 80.

Comframp v Burel, 169 a. Cong. Society r Goddard, 137. | Convoy v Warren, 10, 278 a, 354, 377. Cofe r Daniel, 29 a, 230 a, 242 a. Copeland r Jones, 89 b. . Copp c McDugall, 507 a. Corbery c Boyle, 72. Corbett r Swinburne, 605. Corp v Mc omb, 482, 374. Carter v Dilworth, 89 a. Couch v Hooper, 137. | Conn r Gano, 353, 359, 364. - v Penn, 31. Course et al. v Shackford, 354, 449. Cowles r Harts, 335. Cox v Bethany, 10. Cook v. Satterice, 132, 132 a, 171 a. Coolev v Rose, 678. Coolidge v Payson, 286. - v Ruggles, 139. Cooper et al. v Sandford, 683. Craig v Brown, 495. Cram v Colwell, 507 a. Crandal / Bradley, 132 a. Cranmar v Harrison, 150. Crawford r Cully, 129, 137 a. Cre omer v Perry, 358, 451 a. Cranshaw v McKiernan, 372, 374, 575 a. Creed c Stevens, 89 b Crissen v. Williams, 475 b. Cromwell r Wing et al. 399. Crossen v Hutchinson, 449. Crosby v Merton, 272 a. Cruger v Armstrong, 10, 12, 278 a. 354, 377, 578 a. Crump v Trytide, 39 c. Cullium v Carey, 687 a. Cumberland Bank & Hall, 189. Cumming v Hackley, 267, 180 a. Cummings v Williams, 89 b. Cumpston v McNair. 56, 250. Cunningham v Wardwell, 25, 143. Curley c Vance, 398. Curtis e Ingham, 180. - r Smallman, 250. Cutts v Perkins, 121, 286 a, 359. Cuyler v Nellis, 475 a, 475 b. -- v Stevens, 377 a. Da Costa e Guien, 132. Dana v Hall, 242. Davidson v Borough of Bridgeport, 180 b. Davis v Lane, 226 a. - v Herrick, 369. Dayton r Snell, 173 a. Dean v Hall, 197, 231. Deberry v Darnell, 159. Debesse v Napier, 121, 286 a, 359. Decker v Eisenhauer, 80. De Forest e Strong, 89. Degrand v Binks, 365 a. Delarigue v Amet, 452, 455. Dennie v Walker, 354. Dennison v Bacon, 10. Denton v Duplesis, 230 a. Desbrowe v Weatherby, 182. Dev v Mussay, 429. Dibble r Gaston, 129 a. Dick v Leverick, 261, 307. Dickens v Beale, 436, 448, 475. Dickson v Cunningham, 227. Dickenson v Hall, 10. Dixon Ex. v Ramsey's Ex. 169 a.

). I

Dobson v Laval, 655. Dodge v Bank of Kentucky, 837, 475 b, 497 a. Doe v Warren, 680. Dole v Weeks, 570. Downing v Norton, 499 a. Donaldson v Means, 507. Donelson v Clements, 72, 98. Donovan v Finn, 3 a. Douglass v Wilkeson, 235, 129. Dow v Drew, 89 a. Dowd v Aaron, 226 a, 357. Downes v Church, 393, 154. Downing v Backenstoes, 158 a. Drake v Johnson, 6. Dubose v Wheddon, 18. Dugan v United States, 7, 230. Duncan v Mc Cullonge, 454 Dunlap v Thompson, 454. Dinning v Haywood, 76 Dupuy v Gray, 575 a, 143 a, Durham v Rice, 358 a. Durkin v Cranston, 393. Durgee v Dennison, 507. D senberry v Ellis, 29. Davall v Farmers Bank, 359. Early v McCart, 10, 89 c. 132. Eastman v Fifield, 359, 364. East Haddam Bank v Scovil, 17. Eaton v Carey, 72. Eccles v Ballard, 241 572. Edgerton v Edgerton, 10, 525. Edeck v Ranuer, 122. Edwards, Ex parte, 281, 298. Eichelberger v Finley, 434. Elias v Teill, 674. Eldridge v Rogers, 372, 374. Eldred v Howes, 353. Elsworth v Brewer, 424. Elting v Shook, 354. Ellis v Wild, 180 a. Emerson v Prov. Hat Manuf. Co. 32. Ervine v Lamborn, 441, 443, 250. - v Cooke, 247 a, 132 a. - Adams, 364. Evans v St. John, 193. - v Norris, 438. - v Gordon, 455. Exeter Bank v Gordon, 341, 359. Experte Edwards, 291, 298. Fuirfield v Adams, 563. Fallis v Gritfith, 72, 10, 159. Farmer v Sewall, 89 b. - v Rand, 189 a. Farmers Bank v Reynolds, 259. - v Vanmeter, 327. -v Duvall, 354, 369, 372, 393, 657, 657 a. · v Clark, 613.

.34, 577

.

ı

5 L

1, 377 39

Farnam v Fowle, 449, 377 a.
Farnam v Fowle, 449, 377 a.
Farnham v Inghum, 143.
Fay v Goulding, 559.
Fenney v Prince, 72.
Fenton v White, 18.
Fenwick v Ratcliff's Rep's, 143 a.
Fernandez v Lewis, 278 a, 325 a, 377.
Field v Nickerson, 377.
Field v Nickerson, 377.
Field v Pradford, 6.

v Evans, 475 a.
Fitler v Morris, 475 c.
Flack v Green, 475 c.
Flagg v Upham, 250.

Fleming v Mulligan, 89 a, 89 b. v McClure, 455. Flint v Rogers, 386 a. Floyd v Day, 29. Foden v Sharp, 678, 363. Folger v Chase, 201, 227. Foliz v May, 89 b. Forbes v Canfield, 89 a. — v Marsh, 89 b. Ford v Ford, 189 a. Forster v Fuller, 32. Fort v Cortes, 357, 364. –, Meacher, v 158. Fowler v Brantle, 216. Frankford Bank v Markey, 837. Franklin v Vanderpool, 377. - v Smith, 507 a. Frazier v Harris, 575 a. Freeland v Hodge, 424. Freligh v Platt, 69. Freeman v Boynton, 392, 475 a, 578, 268, 354. - v Otis, 33. --- r Haskins, 377. Freeman's Bank v Rollins, 247 b, 673. French v Grindle, 89 b. - v Bank of Columbia, 451. Frothingham v Prices Ex'r. 451. Fry v Baker, 247 a. Fullerton v Bank of U. S. 475 b, 363, Fulton Co v Wright, 372, 374. -- Bank v Benedict, 89 b. - v Phoenix Bank, 256. Furman v Haskins, 223. Furnam v Harman, 377 a. Gage v Kendall, 536. Gale v Kempe's Heirs, 365. Gallagher v Roberts, 354, 393. Galpin v Hand, 147, 292 a, 354, 475 b. Gardner v Stocker, 570. Garland v The Salem Bank, 507. Gasloch v Gerotner, 143. Gaylord v Van Loan, 150. Gazzam v Armstrong's Ex'r 80, 153 a, 345, Geiser v Kershner, 180 b. Gerard v La Coste, 196. Getch v Hearld, 611 Gibson v Stearns, 89 b. Gibbs v Cannon, 443. Gifford v Ford, 632 Gilbert v Nantucket Bank, 570. Gilman v Lewis, 250 a, 455. Gilmore v Bussey, 180 a, 399. Gillesfie v McHannahan, 354. Gilly v Springer, 575. Gist v Lybrand, 354. Glass v Beach, 73. Glenn v Smith, 180 a. Glen et al v. Noble, 575 a. Gloucester Bank v Worcester, 247 a. Goddard v Lyman, 228. Gordon v Preston, 150. - v Nelson, 230 a. Gorgerat r McCarty, 395, 423, Goshen Turnpike Co v Hantin, 136, 159 a. Gould v Armstrong, 82. Gowan v Jackson, 451. Gooderon v Duffield, 3 a. Goodman v Eastman, 189. Goodrich v Gordon, 286. — v Barney, 180 b.

Grandin v Le Roy, 306. Granite Railway Co. v Bacon, 189 a. Grant v Seitsinger, 29 a. - v Ellicott, 79. - v Heeley, 687 a. Graves v Merry, 53, 56, 201. Gregory v Allen, 358 a. Greele v Parker, 286. Greely v Thurston, 534 a. 340. Green v Jackson, 424. --- v Darling, 454 a. - v Sarmiento, 169 a. — v Dodge, 250. Greenleaf v Kellogg, 678. Greenwood v Curtis, 180 a. Griffin v Goff, 354, 377 a, 488, 507. Griffith v Cox, 189. Grifforn v Jucobs, 230. Grimshaw v Bender, 171 a. Groton v Dalhiem, 354. Guild v Eager, 224. Gurley v Gettysburg Bank, 337. Hagan v Caldwell, 76. Hager v Mounts, 46. Haie v Bailey, 230 a. Haig v Newton, 669. Haines' Adm'r. v Tenant, 18. Hall v Constant, 247 a. - v Rand, 250. - v Burr, 368. --- v Huse, 636. — v Phelps, 666. — v Hale, 669 a. - v Gentry, 535. Hallett v Holmes, 411. Halliday v McDougall, 455. Hamilton v Cunningham, 36, 179 – v Canfield, 81. Hamier et al. v Johnson, 353. Hampton v Blakely, 594, 10. Hammond v Hopping, 89 b. - 's Case, 633. Handy v Dobbin, 3 a. Hanna v Pegg, 578. Hanrick v'The Farmers Bank, 12, 687 a. - v Andrews, 89 b, 89 c. Harker v Anderson, 376, 515 a. Harley v Thornton, 399 a. - v Emerick, 673. Harman v Harman, 159. Hart v Wilson, 657. - v Withers, 39. - v Dawey, 83 c. Hartford Bank v Shedman, 338, 365, 454, 475 a, v Parry, 365. Harton v Seales, 228. Hartwell v McBeeth, 234 a, 10, 76. Harrington v Stratton, 606. Harris v Mandeville, 169. – v Johnson, 180 a. — v Clapp, 4. — v Bradley, 245 a. Harrison v Sterry, 169 a. - v Williamson, 2. Harrisburgh Bank v Meyer, 69. Haslett v Ebrick, 481. Hastings v Wiswall, 678. Hatch v Dennis, 664.

Hatcher v McMorine, 327.

Hathaway e Haskell, 614 a. Haven v Hobbs, 29, 72. Havens v Huntington, 224. Hawley v Thornton, 247. – v Farrar, 73. Haxtun r Bishop, 359, 363. Hefford v Morton, 247 b. Hemmenway v Stone, 528. Hendricks v Judah, 223 a. Henry v Jones, 373. v Coleman, 137. v Thompson, 682. Herbert v Huie, 29 a. Hervey v Hervey, 181, 185. Herrick v Bennett, 377. - v Whitney, 260. - v Carman, 69, 214, 223. - r Jones, 89 b. Herring v Sanger, 180 a, 359. Heywood r Perrin, 143 a. Hicks v Brown, 169, 169 a. Higgins v Packard, 180 a. - v Morrison's Ex'r, 325, 373, 466, 497 a, 501 a, 509, 578 a. Hill v Bostick, 173, 409 a. - v Varrell, 454, 575. - v Ely, 594. – v Buckminster, 10. Hills r Bannister, 594, 650. Hinsdale v Miles, 625. Hitchcock v Cloutie, 129 a. Hobart v Dodge, 159. Hodgson v Dexter, 33. Hoffman v Smith, 451. Hodges r Galt, 454 a. Hoe'r Oxley, 29 a. Hogaboom v Herrick, 247 a. Hogan v Cuyler, 374. Holden v Pollard, 89 a. Holiday v Martinett, 657, 657 a. Holme v Karspar, 69. Holmes v Nuncoster, 3 a. - r De Camp, 267, 180 a. Holt v Miers, 89. Holland v Turner, 354, 439, 475. Homes v Smyth, 69, 80, 455. Homer v Wallis, 633. Hopkins e Liswell, 501 a. Hopkirk v Page, 159, 424, 437, 454 b. Hoppins v Miller, 89 c. Horton v Blair, 226 a, 157. Hosford v Nichols, 682. Hosmer v Hollenbeck, 10. Hough v Gray, 250. Howe r Thompson, 189 a. Howell v Wilson, 241. - v Hallett, 690. Hoover v Glascock, 451 a. Hubner v Bank of U. S. 14. Hubby v Brown, 411, 669. Hubbell v Cowdray, 169 a. Hughes v Harrison, 6, 144. - v Wheeler, 180 a, 578 a. Huie v Bailey, 409 a. Hull v Connolly, 24. - v Bank of the State, 515 a. Hume v Long, 410. Humpeys v O'Connell, 619 a. Humphries v Bickell, 512. Humphreys v Blight's Assignees, 223

Secretaria in The Continue

```
Keene v Thompson, 180 a.
   Hunt v Adams, 189, 528.

— v United States, 409 a.
                                                            Kiddell v Ford, 449, 507 a.
                                                            Kilburn v Bradley, 89 b.
      _ v Boyd, 247 a.
                                                            Kilpatrick v Heaton, 242, 247 b.
   Hard v Little, 471.
                                                            Kimball v Huntington, 8, 129.
   Hussey v Freeman, 449, 475, 837.
                                                                   – v Lampson, 189 a.
   Hutchings v Low, 159.
                                                            Kimbro v Lythe, 241.
   Hutchins v Olcott, 180 a.
                                                           Kimmey v Campbell, 197.
   Hutchinson v Heyworth, 129 a.
   Ingraham v Gibbs, 180 b.
                                                           King v Baldwin, 409 a.
   Ingram v Croft, 423.
                                                                v Broddon, 89.
                                                           Kingsbury v Butler, 611.
Kirbrey v Bates, 223 b.
   Ireland v Kip, 337, 475, 475 a.
   Irvine v Lowry, 132 a.
Jackson v Van Dalfsen 29.
                                                           Kirbey v Caswell, 201.
                                                           Kirk v Fenwick, 89 c.
        -v Henry, 89 b.
        _ v Packard, 89 b.
                                                           Knight v Briddle, 3 a.
      --- v Alexander, 139.
                                                                  – v Priest, 72.
       - v Health, 157, 226 a.
                                                           Knowlton v Bartlett, 3 a.
      — v Tilghman, 159.
— v Richards, 354, 449, 373, 374, 377 a.
                                                           Knox v Reeside, 300, 302.
                                                           Ladd v Kenney, 358.
       - v Sackett, 633 a.
                                                           Lalawrie v Cahallen, 247 a.
        - v Packer, 669 a.
                                                           Lamb v Irby, 53.
        -v Newton, 369.
- Adm'x. v Henderson, 575.
                                                           Lambeth v Rivarde, 260.
                                                           Lamorieux v Hewit, 250.
  James v Badger, 411.
                                                          Landos v Robertson, 5.
        - v Allen, 169.
                                                          Landry v Stansbury, 356.
  Jaques v Marquand, 201.
                                                          Lang v Brailsford, 363.
  Jarvis v Baker's adın'rs. 137.
                                                          Lansing v McKillip, 10, 139.
  Jerome v Whitney, 10, 139.
                                                              --- v Gaive, 53, 148.
  Jervey v Wilber, 354, 357.
                                                              -- v Lansing, 84.
  Johnson v Dickson, 82.
                                                          Lapham v Barreit, 72.
    -- v King, 89 b.
                                                          Larason et al. v Lambert, 611, 614 a.
     -- v Baird, 132 a 594 a.
                                                          Lawrence v Stonington Bank, 594, 10.
     -- v Weed, 180 a.
                                                              ---- v Mabry, 234.
     - v Bloodgood, 223.
                                                             v Oakey, 242.
v Doberty, 159.
     - v Harth, 354.
      - v Haight, 377 a.
                                                          Leach v Hewitt, 451.
       - v Hart, 488.
                                                         Leavitt v Simes, 657, 369, 374.
 Johnston v Searey et al. 358 a.
                                                          Leckie v Scott, 327.
 Jolger v Chase, 366. Jolisse v Higgins, 132.
                                                         Leddie v Lockhart, 657 a, 574.
 Jones v Mausker, 475 c.
                                                         Lettingwell v White, 373, 507, 575.
    - r Fales, 507, 158 a, 132 a, 139.
                                                         Leiber v Goodrich, 132 a, 488.
 - v Westcott, 648.
                                                         Lenox v Leverett, 463.
   — v Savage, 173, 358 a.
                                                             - v Cook, 340.
   — v Yeargain, 180 b.
                                                            - r Prout, 197.
   - v Caswell, 84
                                                             – et al. v Roberts, 475 a.
   — v Hake, 89 a.
                                                         Leonard v Gary, 358 a.
   - v Wood, 6.
                                                               - v Vredenburgh, 248, 171 a.
   - v Rice, 83.
                                                            --- v Mason, 171 a, 158 a.
 Jorden v Bell, 193, 434, 687 a.
                                                               - v Leonard, 393.
      – v Neilson, 213.
                                                         Le Roy v Johnson, 56, 201.
Joscelyn v Ames, 171 a.
                                                         Letcher v Bank of the Commonwealth, 180 b
Judah v Harris, 132 a.
                                                        Levy v Hampton, 89 a.
Kane v Scofield, 201, 570.
                                                        v Merrill, 248
Karck v Avinger, 528.
                                                           - v Bank of U. S. 260, 307.
Kechley v Cheer, 669 a.
Keith v Harrington, 609.
                                                            - v Peters, 358.
                                                        Lewis v Reeder, 69.
    -- v Jones, 132 a.
                                                           - v Manly, 180 b.
Kellogg v Curtis, 72.
                                                            - v Burr, 374, 377 a.
      r Hickock, 89 a.
                                                           - v Marshall, 617.
Kelly v Jackson, 632.
                                                           - v Reilly, 603.
Kempton v Cotlin, 72.
                                                           — v Gamperty, 454 a.
Kendell v Galvin, 129 a, 305.
                                                        Lee v Dick, 250.
Kent v Walton, 89 b, 664.
                                                        Lee's Adm'r. v Ware, 95.
Kennedy v Mottle, 411.
                                                        Lightbody v Ontario Bank, 247, 399 a.
       — v Manship, 606.
                                                        Lincoln v Smith, 34.
Kennen v M'Rea, 230 a.
                                                               - v Battelle, 619.
Kenworthy v Hopkins, 247 a, 411, 420, 463.
                                                       Lindenberger v Beall, 482.
Kenny v Collins, 6.
                                                       Lindo v Gardner, 691.
Lindsley et al. v Miller, 619.
Key v Knott, 522.
Keyes v Carpenter, 180 b.
                                                       Little v Blunt, 610.
Keeler v Bartine, 247 a.
                                                           - v O'Brien, 230 a, 84.
```

```
Little v Shackford, 129.
  Littlefield v Storey, 7.
  Livingston v Hastie, 67.
            - v Harris, 89 b.
  Locke v Winning, 204.
  Lobdell v Niphler, 247 a.
  Lodge v Phelps, 169.
  Loffland v Russell, 10, 69, 76.
  Long v Colburn, 29, 92.
      - r Moore, 434.
      - v Bank of Cinthiana, 241.
  Longly v Griggs, 250.
  Lord v Appleton, 424.
Loring v Halling, 373.
        - v Gurney, 180 b.
  Louisiana Bank v Roberts, 393, 234.
      State Bank v Senecal, 247, b.
  Love v Wall, 56.
     - v Nelson, 374.
 Lovell v Martin, 395.
       - v Evertson, 230.
  Lovett v Cornwell, 377.
  Low v Trendwell, 143.
 Loomis v Pulver, 223.
 Loose v Duncan, 223 a. Ludenberger v Beall, 657.
  Lunge v Kohn, 132 a.
 Lynch v Reynolds, 411.
 Lyon v Summers, 8.
      v Lyman, 632.
 Lloyd v Scott, 89, 89 c.
 Mack v Spencer, 633.
 M'Bride v Hagan, 39.
 M'Carty v Rhea, 6.
 M'Clury v Silliman, 619.
 M'Corkle v Binns, 633.
 M'Clair v Waters, 475 c.
 M'Clarin v Neshit, 132 a.
 M'Clanahan v Chambers, 6
 M'Cormick v Trotter, 132 a. M'Creary v Jaggers, 594.
 M'Crillis v Howe, 18.
 M'Cullum v Coxe, 7.
 M'Donald v Bailey, 230 a.
          - v Lee's Adm'r. 374.
 McDonough v Thompson, 657.
 McEvers v Mason, 286, 288.
 McFadden v Parker, 247.
 McFarren v Jones, 3 a.
 McGabee v Childress, 137.
 McGee v Lynch, 7.
McGregor v Cleaveland, 637.
 McGruder v Bank of Washington, 367.
McKenney v Crawford, 223 a.
 McKim v Smith, 285.
McKinster v Bank of Utica, 331, 17.
McLemore v Powell, 247 a, 409 a.
McLuse v Longworth, 150.
McMahon v Crockett, 661.
         - v Grant, 451 a.
McMicken v Beauchamp, 189 a.
McMurtry v Campbell, 638.
McNairy v Bell, 89 b, 359, 364.
McNair v Gilbert, 268.
McNeill v McDonald, 223.
McPherson v Rathbone, 51, 636 a.
McRoe v Kennon, 636.
Maccoun v Atchafulaya Bank, 455.
Magee v Dunbar, 497 a.
Maber v Overton, 34.
Maisonnaire v Keating, 95.

Makepeace v Harward College, 507.
```

Mallory v Kinnon, 449. Man v Swann, 669. Mandeville r Biddle, 578 a, 6. - r Union Bank, 159. Mancely v McGec, 180 a. Manhattan Company v Ledyard, 570. Manning v Wheetland, 669. Marion e McRae, 226 a. Marble e Hatfield, 180 n. Marsh v Barr, 475 c, 452. Marshall r Gougler, 189. -.- v Peck, 76. Martin v Grobridge, 606. -- v Ingersoll, 377 a, 358. - v Winslow, 377. - r Bacon, 286. - r Bank of U. S. 259. - v Butler, 129. — v Hawkes, 8. Maroin v Perot, 357, 365 a. - v Feeter, 89 a. Mason v Franklin, 12, 575, 292 a, 840. Matlack v Hendrickson, 226 a. Matthews v Houghton, 132 a, 159. Mattocks r Owen, 83. Mauran v Lamb, 572, 12. Maurin v Chambers, 132 a. May v Cothin, 449, 507, 854. Mayhew v Prince, 32, 286 Mayor of New Orleans v Ripley, 528. Magurgan v Mead, 89 a. Meacher v Fort, 158. Mead v Small, 224, 507. -v Engs, 496, 475. Mechanics Bank & Griswold, 440. - & Farmers Bank v Schuyler, 149, 218. · v Gibson, 377, a. Meghan v Mills, S, 223 a. Mellen r Croghan, 353 a. Manard v Cox, 515. Merchants Bank v Birch, 497. Merchon v Withers, 132, 139. Merrell v Legrand, 82. Merrimac Bank v Parker, 247. Merritt v Benton, 89 b. Messenger v Southey, 454 a. Meger v Barker, 32. Meeke v Jackson, 268. Middlebury College v Williamson, 180 b. Miles v O'Hara, 10. Miller v Holbrook, 594. - v Hall, 169, - v Hackley, 475 a, 507, 385, 840. - v Delamater, 23. Mills v Bamfield, 569. - v Bank of U. S. 507, 433, 335. - v Kugkendall, 129. Mitchell v Culver, 29 a, 149, 213. v Degrand, 373, 374, 451. -- v Bristol, 394 Moar v Wright, 72, 247 a. Mohawk Bank v Van Horne, 247 a. - Broderick, 278 a, 377, 377 a. Moris v Bird, 171 a. Montpelier Bank v Dixon, 247 a. Morgan v Woodworth, 475 a, 488, 495. - v Van Iven, 488. - v Rientzel, 578 a. Morris v Foreman, 230 a. Morrison's Ex'rs v Taylor, 410. Morse v Bank of Columbia, 618, Mott v Hicks, 14.

```
Molle v Kennedy, 247 a.
    Monchet v Cason, 189 a.
    Mount v Waite, 84.
    Mourain v Devall, 230 a, 424.
    Mowry v Todel, 578 a.
    Mullen v French, 424.
   Mulnerrin v Hannum, 574.
   Munroe v Easton, 354.
   Munn v Baldwin, 475, Commission Co. 14.
Murray v Judah, 247 a, 269, 278 a, 377, 570 a.
          - v Gouverneur, 180 π.
   Myers v James, 226 a.
      - v Palmer, 669.
      - v Irwin, 578 a.
   Nair v Ragland, 619.
   Nash v Harrington, 223 a, 451, 475 b, 475 c.
      - v Tupper, 169 a.
   Nashville Bank v Bennet, 475 c.
   Nelson v Serle, 73.
  Netherville v Stevens, 393, 424.
  Nevins v Townsend, 69, 223 a.
        - v Degrand, 189.
  New York Firemen Ins. Co. v Ely, 89.
           - State Bank v Fletcher, 180 a.
  Nicherson v Reveel, 247 b.
  Nichol v Bate, 173.
  v Hill, 452.
Nicholas v Webb, 655, 657 a.
  Nichols v Goldsmith, 657.
  Nicholson v Patten, 256.
 Nixon v English, 223.
Noble v Bank of Kentucky, 337.
 Northampton Bank v Allen, 89 a.
            – v Pepoon, 228.
 Norton v Lewis, 501 a.
 Norris v Badger, 424, 230.
     - v Solomon, 129 a.
 Nott's Ex'r v Beard, 368.
 Oakley v Boorman, 250.
 Odiorne v Maxey, 29.
       - v Odiorne, 134.
 Offat v Breedlove, 53 a.
 Ogden v Cowley, 354, 475.
      - v Dobbin, 475 c, 493, 359, 363.
Ogle v Graham 189 a.
Ogilby v Wallace, 229.
Okey v Wilcox, 192.
Olcott v Rathbone, 180 b, 579, 247 a
       - v Scales, 613.
Olivier v Andry, 245 a.
Ontario Bank v Petrie, 377 a, 433.
Oriental Bank v Blake, 449.
Osborne v Moncure, 338, 374.
Otis v Hussey, 358.
Owen v Mann, 674 a.
Owings v Piet, 51.
Oxford Bank v Lewis, 247 a.
           - v Haynes, 250.
Packard v Richardson, 248.
Page's Adm'r. v Bank of Alexandria, 580 a.
Paine v French, 6.
Palmer et ux. v Hughes, 574.
Parish v Stone, 2, 73.
Parker v Crane, 72.
     - v The United States, 537.
     - v Kendall, 606.
     - v Harrison, 674 a.
     - v Greele, 286.
Parsons v Parsons, 572.
```

--- v Amer, 286.

K

Pate v McClure, 501 a.

54

đ.

 $[q]_{-}$

Paterson Bank v Butler, 475 c. Patten v Bank of So. Carolina, 259. Patterson r Choate, 611. Patty v Milne, 305. Payne v Trezevant, 89 a, 95. Payson v Coolidge, 285. - v Hallet, 286 a. Peabody v Peters, 399. - v Denton, 268. Peacock v Banks, 683. Pearsall v Dwight, 169. Pearson v Pearson, 10, 68. - v Duckham, 56. Pease v Turner, 241. - v Morgan, 570. Peasely v Boatwright, 129. Peck v Botsford, 614 a, 617. Pents v Stanton, 32. Penn v Flack, et al. 559, 580, a. People v Niagara Com. Pleas, 10, 76. - v Howell, 190 a. - v Janson, 409 a. Percival v Framplin, 10. Perkins v Catlin, 234 a. - v Franklin Bank, 374. -- v Adm'r of Bumford, 77. Perry v Corneal, 247 b. Peyroux v Dubertrand, 495, 497 a. Peyton v Hallett, 359, 121. Peebles v Mason, 613. Phillips v McCurdy, 475 b, 503. Phœnix Bank v Hussey, 11. Picquet v Curtis, 365, 424, 611. Pierce v Crafts, 578 a. Piersan v Hooker, 501 a. Pinkerton v Bailey, 214, 613, 636. Pintard v Tackington, 180 a, 267, 578 a. Pittam v Foster, 611. Planters Bank v Selliman, 247 a. Pleasants v Pemperton, 669 a. Plumer v Smith, 83. Pope v Nance, 180 b. Potter v Ryan, 571, 574, 579. Powell r Waters, 50, 89 a. Powers v Lynch, 169 a. Poydras v Bell, 455. - v Delaware, 2. Poole v Tolleson, 223 a, 354, 454. Pratt v Ends, 8, 374. – v Thomas, 158 a. - v Adams, 424. Prentiss v Danielson, 172, 443. - v Sinclair, 49. Prest v Vanarsdalen, 224. Preston v Dayson, 454 a. Price r Young, 451, 475 b, 575. Proctor v Moore, 169. - v McCall, 197 a, 223. Puckett v Redman, 687 a. Purdy v Austin, 613. Putnam v Lewis, 399, 180 a. - v Sullivan, 475 a, 354, 213. Pyne r Eden, 84. Ramsdell v Soule, 89 b. Randolph v Parish, 24, 25, 687 a. Rathbone v Budlong, 33. - v Warren, 409 á. Raymond v Sellick, 2, 10, 160. Read v Adams, 12. v Wheeler, 129. Redford's Adm'r. v Peggy 632.

Reid v Geoghegan, 673. Remer v Downer, 452. Remick v O'Kyle, 365. Ronker v Hiller, 451. Renner v Bank of Columbia, 559. _ v Marshall, 586. Reynolds v Douglass, 500, 501, 441, 441 a. Reed v Seixas, 433. — v Adams, 325 a. Reedy v Seixas, 335, 337. Recside v Knox, 129. Recres v Toome, 625 Rhodes v Lindley, 132 a. Ribble et al. v Jefferson, 575 a. Rice . Stearnes, 673, 232. — v Goddard, 10, 76. — v Welling, 89 b. — v Hogan, 129 a, 213. _ v Porter, 129 a. v West, 150. Richards v Richards, 129 a. Richmond v Patterson, et al. 5 69. Richter v Selin, 149. Riddle v Mandeville, 6, 571. Riggs v McDonald, 325. Ring v Foster, 129 a. Ripley v Greenleaf, 369 a, 374. Ritchie v Moore, 213, 534 a. Robert v Commercial Bank, 687. Roberts v Mason, 452, 366. Robertson v Breedlove, 223. ___ v Vogle, 411, 337. ___ v Smith, 411. ____ v Sheward, 643. ___ v Williams, 224. ... v Ames, 377. Robinson v Crandall, 200. v Lyman, 223. Rockefeller v Robison, 579. Roffey v Greenwell, 89 c. Rogers v Waters, 73. _ v Hurd, 18. Roget v Merritt, 180 a. Roll v Raguet, 83. Routelle v Cowden, 69. Rosa v Brotherson, 180 b. Rossiter v Rossiter, 29 a. Row v Richardson, 672 Rowland v Hoover, 679, 89 c. Rowles v Newby, 76. Rowley v Ball, 268. Rowl's Adm'x v Kyles' adm'r, 632 Rugely v Davidson, 223 b. Ruggles v Patten, 411, 359. _ v Keeler, 169, 169 a. Russell v Doyle, 636. __ v Ball, 232. _ v Hall, 69. _ 's adm'r v Gass, 613. Rutledge v Greenwood, 409 a Sage v Wilcox, 248. Sale v Branch Bank, 455. Sanders v Bacon, 223 a, 139. Sanderson v Oakey, 366. Sanford v Dilloway, 449. Sanford v Mitckells, 223 a. Sanger v Stimpson, 475 a. Sargeant v Appleton, 411. Southgate, 594 a. Savage v Davis, 606.

Savings Bank v Bates, 89 b, 374. Saxon v Johnson, 571. Scarborough v Geigar, 189. - v. Harris, 4011, 451. Schermerhorn v Lomis, 180 a. Schimmelpennick v Bayard, 286, 286 a. Schoonmaker v Rose, 69. Scofield v Bayard, 354. Scott v Shepard, 51. – v Alexander, 337. Scroggs v Goss, 247. Scurggs v Gass, 179, 399 a. Seaber v Lincoln, 877. Seabright v Galbraith, 169 a. Searight v Craighead, 611. Sears v Brink, 248. Sebring v Rathbun, 223. Secree v Dorr, 559. Segond v Thomas, 29 a, 89 a. Selby v Morgan, 89 b. Sewall v Russell, 475 c. Seymour v Van Hyck, 441. Sexton v Johnson, 139. Seely v Bisbee, 358. Sharpe v Bagwell, 192. - v Sharp, 132. Shaw v Griffith, 411. — v Reed, 363.
Shed v Bret, 335, 338, 475 a, 475 b, 534 b.
Shefield v Watson, 33. Shepherd v Temple, 76 a. Sherwood v Collier, 247. - v Roys, 534 a. Sheehy v Mandeville, 411, 590. Shirley v Fellows, 438. Shriene v Duckham, 454 a. Sicard v Whale, 169 a. Sice v Cunningham, 377. Sims v Lyles, 10, 197 a. Sinclair v Bennett, 250 a. Skelding et al. v Warren, 7, 893. Slacum v Pomeroy, 691, 197. Slade v Halsted, 10. Slaymaker v Guidacker's Ex'rs, 56. Swedes Ex v Hooghtaling et al. 4. Smith v Mayo, 18 - v Lusher, 56 201. - v Hiscock, 69, 80. - v Whiting, 433, 201, 335. --- v Paul, 434. -- v James, 455, 515 a. -- v Clapp, 528. -- v Bank of Washington, 534 a. -- v Smith, 139, 578 a, 610. - r Lockwood, 180 a. -- v Frye, 250 a. --- v Van Loan, 579. -- v McGorgal, 585. -- v Blythewood, 377, 610 - v Ludlow, 611. --- v McManus, 655. - v Sagar, 691. ---- v Robinson, 364. – v Jones, 877. Snelling v Boyd, 228. Snow v Perry, 180 b. Soulden v Van Rensselaer, 613. Southwick v Sax, 247 a. Southerin v Mendum, 6. Spalding v Vandercook, 77.

77.1

Y2 (1)

.

X2 |

Y

Spencer v Blaisdell, 3 a. Spring v Lovett, 143 a, 674. Stackpole v Arnold, 10, 82. Stafford v Bryan, 613, 617. Stahl v Berger, 189. Stanton v Blossom, 336. State Bank v Fearing, 307, 260. _____v Hurd, 366, 578 a, 475 a.
_____v Smith, 475 b.
____v Hunter, 89. _____v Ayres, 475 b. _____v Wilson, 247 a. State v Carr, 632. – v Brunson, 633. - v Wayman, 4. Stearns v Burnham, 228. Stedman v Jillson, 223. Steinmetz v Curie, 337. Stephens v Graham, 189, 562. Sterry v Robinson, 340, 562, 12. Steuben County Bank v Stephens, 578. Stevens v M'Intire, 68. - v Blunt, 136. Stewart v Eden, 354, 575, 39 b. 475, 411. - v Greenleaf, 223. - v Donelly, 132 a. - v Ellis, 683. Steele v Whipple, 89 a. ____ v Franklin, 89 b. - v Oswego Cotton Manu. Co. 534 a. Stockell v Ellicott, 89 c. Stockman v Riley, 223 a. 354, 454. Stockbridge v Damon, 594 a. Stone v Vance, 674, 159. Store v Wadley, 68. Storer v Logan 674 a. Stothart v Lewis, 354. - v Parker, 449. Stout v Ashton, 411 Strafford v Yates, 496. Strange v Price, 454 n. Stribling v Bank of the Valley, 89 a. Strong v Tompkins, 84. Stuckert v Anderson, 475. Sumner v Gay, 214. Sussex Bank v Baldwin, 451 a, 452, 464. Sutton r Irvine, 201. Swansey v Adm'r of Vanderheyden, 18. Talbot v Clark, 338, 674, 475 c. Tappan v Ely, 234 a, 158 a. Taunton Bank v Richordson, 507 a. Taylor v Hillyer, 46. - v Bryden, 387. Tebbetts v Dowd. 358, 657 a, 451 a, 515 a. Ten Eyck v Vanderpool, 10, 68, 69. Tenney v Sanborn, 578. v Prince 214. Terrell v Smith, 668. Terry v Fargo, 29. v Parker, 837. Thatcher v Dinsmore, 32, 180 a. Thayer v Havener, 5. Thomas v Catherall, 89 c. Thompson v Bank of S. Carolina, 17, 452. - v Ketcham, 18, 150, 169, 366, 367. – v Sloan, 132 a. Thomson v Robertson, 230 a. Thorn v Rice, 475 c. Thornton v Bank of Washington, 89. Thurston v McKown, 223 a.

. 261

534

Ticknor v Roberts, 169, 504, 655, 354. Tidd v Campbell, 242. Tilford v Summer's Ex'rs 89 b. Tillier v Whitehead, 29. Tillotson v Graves, 76. Titcomb v Thomas, 156, 570 a. Titford v Knott, 633. Tobey v Barber, 399, 180 a. Toby v Maurian, 367. Towle v Stevenson, 31. Townsend v Bush, 669. ... v Sumrall, 278 a. Townsley et al. v Springer, 475 a, 483. Towsey v Hook, 10. v Shook, 76. Tooke " Bennett, 247. Tracy v Strong, 398. Trask v Vinson, 73. Treadway v Nicks, 575. Treasurer v Weeks, 619. Trimble v Thorne, 507. True v Harding, 250, 441. – v Fuller, 250 a. Trustees of Randall v Van Renselaer, 122. Tucker v Manwell, 180 a. --- v Randall, 678. - v Smith, 223. Tuckerman v Hartwell, 171 a, 292 a, 359. Tunno v Layne, 358, 451, 475. Turnbull v Trout, 228. Tyler v Binney, 171 a, 172, 230, 233. Ulen v Kittredge, 171 a. Ulmer v Reed, 250. Union Turnpike Co. v Jenkins, 132, 137. -- Bank v Hyde, 655. United States v Bank of the Metropolis, 305. -- v Barker, 338. -- v Carneal, 335. - --- Bank v Sill, 259. v Dunn, 669. Upham v Prince, 171 a. Usher's Ex'r v Gurther, 578 a. Utica Insurance Co. v Cadwell, 14. -- - v Pardow, 14. — - v Bloodgood, 89, 578. --- - v Tillman, 89 b. — — v Kip, 94. — - v Badger, 632. - Bank v Ganson, 306. Vallett v Parker, 633, 82. Valk v Simmons, 326, 451. Vance v Ward, 286. Van Hoezen v Van Alstyne, 338, 379. Van Ness v Forrest, 528. Van Reimsdyk v Kane, 31, 32, 169. Van Rougle v Van Arsdaln, 169. Van Schaick v Edwards, 169 Van Staphorst v Pearse, 197. Van Wart v Holly, 325 a. - v Smith, et al. 451. Van Winkle v Ketcham, 18. Varner v Nobleborough, 180 b. Venee et al. v Hughes 682. Violett v Patton, 29 a, 213. Vincent v Groom, 83 Vreeland v Hyde, 377, 379. Wakefield v Limbert, 247 b. Walker v M'Connica, 69. - v Tunstall, 475 c.

Walker v Laverty, 501 a. – v Geisse, 512 a. Walrad r Petrie, 129. Walsh v Baillie, 409 a. Walter v Bank Montgomery Co. 247 a. Wallace v Branch Bank, 892. _ v Agry 466, 180 b, 278 a. _ " M'Cornell, 303, 353. Ward v Ely, 250. ____ v Johnson, 411. Wardell v Eden, 7, 89 b. ----- r Hughes, 159. - v Howell, 238, 244. Warder v Arell, 169. v Tucker, 451, 507. - v Carson's Ex'rs. 449. Ware v Key, 158 a. Waring v Crawford, 424. Warner v Beardsley. 411. Warren v Allnutt, 364. v Briscoe, 364. v Merry, 669, 674 a. v Mains, 3 a. - v Gilman 424. Washburn v Picot, 76 a. Watkins v Hill, 180 a. Watkinson v Root, 89 a. Watson v Loring, 12, 340. - v McLaren, 248. Watts a Willing, 180 b. Webster v Lee, 223. Webb v Danforth, 669. Welch v Lindo, 424, 571, 578 a. _ v Bennett, 657. Welden v Buck, 340. Welsh v Mandeville, 7. Wells v Whitehead, 625, 154. Wendell v George, 669 a, 670. Wentworth v Wentworth, 72. Westcott v Price, 39, 247 b. Wetherby v Mann, 180 a. Weed v Carpenter, 638. - v Mill, 684. Wheatley v Williams, 129 a Wheeler v Guild, 256. Whitaker v Brown, 636. White v Canfield, 169 a. v Howland, 171 a. Whitney v Crosby, 171 a. __ v Abbott, 354. Whitwell v Johnson, 475 a. ____ v Brigham, 314, 317. Whittier v Graffam, 454, 475 a.

v Voze, 636.

Whittemore v Leake, 475 Whittlesey et al. v Dean, 475 c, 247 a. Widgery v Monroe, 354, 482, 507. Wiggin v Damrell, 606. - v Bush, 223 n, 84, 95. Wiggins v Vaught, 132, 138. Wilbur v Selden, 657 a. Wilcox v McNutt, 475 c. Wilde v Fisher, 578 a. Wilkes a Brummer, 89 a. Wilkie v Roosevelt, 669, 89 a. Wilkinson v Phelps, 423. - v Rogers, 568. --- v Nicklin, 230. - v Stoney, 298. Wilmouth r Crawford, 690, 14. Wilson v Codman's Ex'r 571, 204, 232. — v Holmes, 223 a, 232. - v Clements, 286, 288. v Force, 180 a. - v Mullen, 172. - v Munday, 3 a, 6. Williams : Walbridge, 47. – v Granger, 233. - v Matthews, 338, 475 a, 575 - v Allen, 578 a. v Robinson, 434.
v Bank of United States, 434, 475, 575. Willis v Green, 227. Willoughby r Willoughby, 155. Winchell v Latham, 69. Winslow v Martin, 377. Winthrop v Pepoon, 12, 169 a, 340. Wiseman v Lyman, 180 a. Withers v Richardson, 609. Witwell r Johnson, 336. Wolcott v Van Soutwoord, 353. Wolfe v Jewett, 34, 278 a. Wood v Wood, 201. - v Riker's Ex'rs, 619. - v Jefferson County Bank, 409 a. — v McClaurin, 230 a. Woods r Shroeder, 12. Woodbridge v Brigham, 359, 373, 475 a, 482. Woodford'r Darwin, 156, 51. Woodhull r Wagner, 169, – v Holmes 664, 674 a. Woodward r Harlin, 242. Woon v Pugh et al. 509. Wright v McLemore, 535. - r Reed, 3 a. - r Butler, 619. Wylie v Lewis, 230. Wyman v Winslow, 132 a. Yeatman v Erwin, 454 a. Young v Bryan, 655.

Ţ

- 74

١٥

۹.

TREATISE

ON

BILLS OF EXCHANGE, &c.

PART FIRST.

THE RIGHT ACQUIRED BY BILLS, &c.

CHAPTER I.

THE GENERAL NATURE, UTILITY, AND HISTORY OF BILLS OF EXCHANGE, &c.

This subject may be properly considered under the following subdivisions.

I.	ETYMOLOGY, DEFINITION, AN	D	IV. HISTORY OF BILLS AND NOTES	10
	GENERAL NATURE OF BILL	s,	Foreign Bills	10
	&c.	1	Inland Bills	12
II.	GENERAL UTILITY	8	Checks on Bankers	12
Ш.	PECULIAR PROPERTIES	5	Promissory Notes	12
	Numerous Parties	5	Bank Notes	12
	Assignable Quality	6	Bankers' Notes	12
	Presumption of Consideration	9

A bill of exchange derives its name from "billet de change," or "lettre 1. Etymolde change," and, in its origin, was the mode of completing a previous dis- ogy, Defitinct contract of exchange or bargain between A. and B. at one place, that general na-A. would cause money to be paid to B. or his assign at another place by ture of a C., a third person a debtor to A. or complied by him with the place by ture of a C., a third person a debtor to A. C., a third person, a debtor to A., or supplied by him with value to the Bill of Examount (a) It is defined to be an open letter of request from and order by amount(a). It is defined to be an open letter of request from, and order by, &c. one person on another to pay a sum of money therein mentioned to a third

⁽a) See Pardessus, Cours de Droit Commer- trat de Change, 1 Tom. 21, 22, 327 to 344, cial. "Des operations de Change." Du Con- 1st edit.

CEA

1:1

77 7

Sini

 1,

100

姓.

ï.

14

٠,

X

6 ;

· 1

85 g

4.

.

.

. P

24 j

۲, ۱

1. Etymol-person(b)(1). It operates as an assignment to a third person of a debt due ogy, Defi- to the person drawing from the person upon whom it is drawn(c)(2).

nition, &c. There is this personal property and according to the personal property and according to the personal property and according to the personal personal property and according to the personal perso

There is this peculiarity, that in other contracts and securities there are generally only two parties, or at most a third as a guarantee; whereas, on account of the assignable and negotiable quality of a bill *of exchange there may be and usually are many more parties severally liable for the due acceptance or payment of the bill. The person who makes or draws the bill is termed the drawer; he to whom it is addressed is, before acceptance, called the drawee, and afterwards the acceptor; the person in whose favor it is drawn is termed the payce, and when he indorses the bill, the indorser; and the person to whom he transfers it is called the indorsee or holder; and a person accepting, or paying in default of acceptance, or payment by the drawee, is termed acceptor supra protest, or payer supra protest, or for honour; and in foreign countries it is not unusual for persons to become parties "au besoin" or "per aval."

Though this security is entitled to peculiar privileges, yet it is to be considered as a simple contract in the course of administration, which an executor or administrator cannot discharge, until after satisfying debts by bond, and other specialty claims, without being guilty of a devastarit(3); and for the same reason, a bill of exchange is considered as following the person of the debtor, and as bona notabilia where he resides at the time of the creditor's death, whereas a bond or other specialty is bona notabilia wherever it may be at the time of such death(d). And though a bond or bank note may be delivered in prospect of death, and be a good donation mortis causa, bills of exchange, promissory notes, and checks on bankers, seem incapable of being 3 1 the objects of such donation(e)(2). A bill of exchange also being merely

(b) 3 Bla. Com. 266; Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 586; Stock v. Manson, 1 B. & P. 291; Walwyn v. St. Quintin, 1 B. & P. 654; Rex v. Box, 6 Taunt. 325; Russ. & Ry. C. C. 300, S. C.; and see Pardessus, vol. i. 22, 230, 234, 344; vol. iv. 375; Pailliet, Manuel de Droits Français, title de la Lettre de Change. [3 Kenl's Comm. 2d ed. 745.]

(c) In one case it was stated by Hotham, B. that a bill is nothing more than an authority, Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 586. But in other cases the judges have defined it to be an assignment to the payee, per Eyre, C. B. id. 602. Therefore it should seem that a drawee may accept or pay a bill after notice of the death of the drawer, post. And in France the drawing a bill is considered as an assignment or appropriation of the effects in the hands of the drawee, though the will is unaccepted, I Pardess. 343, 429, 442, 448.

(d) Yeomans r. Bradshaw, Carth. 373; 3 Salk. 70, 164; Comb. 392. S. C.; Bac. Abtit. Executors, E. 2; Com. Dig. Administrator, (e) Miller v. Miller, 3 P. W. 356; Wardr. Turner, 2 Vcs. scn. 442; Tate v. Hilbert, 3 Ves. jun. 111; 4 Bro. P. C. 286, S. C.; Lawson v. Lawson, 1 P. W. 411; 1 Reper on Leg. 2d edit. 3; Toller, Executors, 3d edit. 234, 235, where see the exceptions.

Miller v. Miller, 3 P. W, 356. A person, after having made his will, and about an hour

^{(1) {} A bill of exchange imports a debt due from the drawer to the drawer, which is assigned to the payee; and by acceptance the drawer acknowledges that he has funds of the drawer in his hands, to the amount of the bill. When paid and taken up by the drawer, it ceases to bind any of the parties. Griffith r. Reed, 21 Wend. 502. }

⁽²⁾ In the case of Harrison r. Williamson, 2 Edw. Ch. R. 430, it was decided that a general bill of exchange has not the effect of an assignment of the money for which it is drawn, in the hands of the assignee. And it is well settled that where an order is drawn on a general or particular fund, for a part only, it does not amount to an assignment of that part, unless the drawee consents to the appropriation, by an acceptance of the draft. Poydras r. Delaware, 13 Louis. Rep. 99.

⁽³⁾ In New York, recognizances, bonds, and sealed instruments, have no preference, in the course of administration, over notes, bills, and unliquidated demands and accounts. 2 Rev. Stat. 87, sec. 27, 8. In a few of the States, the English order of preference is preserved; but in most of them, it is entirely disturbed; and in several, simple contracts are placed upon a footing as favorable as that which is given to them in New York. The rules of the different States on this subject are presented somewhat in detail, with proper references, in 2 Kent's Com. 2d ed. 416

^{(4) {} Parish v. Stone, 14 Pick. 198. In the case of Raymond v. Sellick, 10 Conn. 430, it

មាន់នេះ គួរៈរូ

11:25

4

1 12

1.3-2

٠. .

... **

.

1.00

 $V_{ij}^{I},V_{ij}^{I},\gamma$ 11120

E 100

٤ ١

166

1

36

3 (1%

100

78 I

18% -

4.0

0.0

÷.3

. 4

- 5

. 6

a simple contract, is affected by the statute of limitations, and must be sued I. Etymol for within six years after it is payable (f). But though it is a chose in accordance of the payable (f). But though it is a chose in accordance of the payable (f).

before his death, delivered to his wife two bank notes for 300l. each, and another note for 100l. (not being a cash note, nor payable to bearer), adding, that he had not sufficiently provided for ber. On a bill filed in the name of the infant son, being the residuary legatee, against the widow and executors, for an account of the testator's personal estate, it was insisted that the 6001. was in payment of the legacy given her by the testator in a codicil to his will, and that with regard to the other note for 1001. which was not payable to bearer, that was merely a chose in action, and consequently could not pass by a delivery thereof. Per Master of the Rolls, the gift of the 6001. contained in the bank notes was a donatio caus? mortis, which operates as such, though made to a wife, for it is in nature of a legacy, though it need not be proved in the spiritual court as part of the testator's will. But as to the note for 100l. which was merely a chose in action, (and not being payable to bearer) must still be sued in the name of the executors, that cannot take effect as a donatio causi mortis, inasmuch as no property could pass therein by the delivery. See also Ward v. Turner, 2 Ves. sen. 442, and Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jun. 120; 4 Bro. P. C. 286, S. C.; in which it was held that a check or a promissory note delivered by J. S. on his death-bed, did not take effect as a donatio caus'i mortis. And per Abbott, C. J. in Halliday v. Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 503; S D. & R. 163, S. C.; post, in notes. Simms v. Cox, 3 Law J. 44, K. B., 11th November, 1824. Executors brought an action of trover to recover possession of a promissory note, which it was said had been given by the deceased to a confidential female servant, who claimed it as donatio causa mortis. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff. The Court would not grant a new trial, observing, that it required a strong case to rebut a suspicion of fraud, when the party had access to keys and drawers. But see Lawson r. Lawson, 1 P. W. 441, and Toller's Law of Executors, 3 ed. 234, 235.

Ranken r. Weguelin, Rolls Court, 14th June, 1832, MS. In this case a husband, in contemplation of death, delivered certain bills of exchange, payable to his order, to his wife for her own use; but did not indorse them. The husband believing that he could not live many days, gave the bills to his wife, saying, "take them for your own use and benefit." The husband died within a fortnight of the delivery of the bills. The executors took the bills from the wife and received the payment of them when at maturity. question was, whether they were subjects of gift by way of a donatio mortis causa; and it was urged that a chose in action could not be so giv-His Honour said the contrary doctrine had been well established since the time of Lord Hardwicke's opposite decision, and he held that the executors were trustees for the wife, and relied on the case of Duffield v. Hicks, 1 Bligh's Rep. New Series, 497; 1 Dow's New Series, And it appears to have been considered that the delivery of a check by a person on the approach of death, as a gift, is good, if the dones receives the amount from the bankers in the donor's life-time, or before the banker has notice of the donor's death; or if the donee negotiate: the check for a valuable consideration, or in payment of a debt. But that such check will not operate as an appointment of so much, if the donee has it still in his possession after the donor's death; Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jon. 111. As to what is a good donatio mortis caus?, see Irons v. Smallpiece, 2 B. & Ald. 551; Bunn v. Markham, 7 Taunt. 230; 2 Marsh. 522, S. C.; Binnington v. Wallace, 4 B. & Ald. 650; Gardiner v. Parker, 3 Madd. 184; 2 Swanst. 92; 2 Bla. Com. by Chitty, 514, n. 55; Chit. Eq. Dig. tit. Donatio mortis caus'.

In a very recent case it appeared that the testator some months before his death, but being sick of the disease which afterwards destroyed him, deposited a box with a party, whom he desired to take care of it, as it contained money for herself and her sister, with directions how she was to obtain possession of the key (the box being locked) after his death, but adding that he would want to have the box every three months whilst he lived; and that prior to the testator's decease, the box was twice delivered up to, and as often re-delivered by, the testator; and it was held, on demurrer to a bill praying relief in respect of a check for 5001. contained in the box, that the plaintiff was not entitled to the box or its contents; Riddell v. Dobrec, 3 Jurist, 722, Vice Chancellor's Court, July 22, 1839. As to the delivery of a bill or note by way of gift, see post, Ch. III.

s. i. Consideration.

(f) Renew r. Axton, Carth. 3.

was decided that to constitute a valid donatio mortis causa of a promissory note, it must be made by the donor in the apprehension of approaching death, to take effect only in that event, and must be delivered to the donee. }

A promissory note, payable to a payee or order, is not the subject of a donation mortis causa, by mere parol. Bradley et ux. v. Hunt, 5 Gill & John. 54.

The mere delivery by a husband, in his last sickness, to his wife, of a promissory note, payable to him or order, is not valid, as a donatio mortis caus?. No property in such a note passes by delivery; being a chose in action, it must notwithstanding the delivery be sued in the name of the executor of the husband. Ibid.

Bank notes and promissory notes, payable to bearer, pass by delivery as money, and constitute valid donations when delivered; for in such cases the property in, and legal dominion over the thing intended to be given, pass with the possession. Ibid.

Whether the distinction prevailing in England, between the case of a bond and a promissory note payable to order, as to donations mortis causa, will be adopted here. qu. Ibid.

Ha?

31

1.11

in ( ď EL:

n:

3 [2]

2.5

TK 5

200

7",

7.

W.

21.7

: :-2:1

23 Š. _

200

Σ.

1...

¥ ...

1,000 3-1

3,- nition of,

&c.

I, Etymo- tion in some respects(g), and a mere security for a debt, it is to be considlogy, Defi- ered as "goods and chattels" for some purposes, though it was formerly held otherwise; and therefore the fraudulent delivery of a bill is an act of bankruptcy under the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 3, which declares that the fraudulent delivery of any "goods and chattels" shall be deemed an act of bankruptcy(h). So if a feme sole, possessed of a bill, marry, her husband may sue, or indorse, or petition for a commission alone, without joining his wife, as he must do in case of other mere choses in action(i). However, a bill or note does not pass by a bequest of all the testator's "property" in a particular house, though bank notes would have passed, the latter being considered quasi cash(k); nor can a bank note or bill of exchange he taken as a distress for rent(l); nor until the late act(m) could they be taken in execution.(1) And the accepting of a bill or note, in satisfaction of a specialty debt or a demand for rent, does not defeat the former, or even suspend the right to distrain (n).

II. GENERAL UTILITY, &c.

mercial transactions within the same kingdom (o). The instance put by

A bill of exchange is a security originally invented amongst merchants in II. General Utility. different countries and kingdoms, for the more easy and safe remittance of money, or rather for the purpose of avoiding the necessity for transmitting money itself, from the one to the other, and has since been extended to com-

> (g) See Richards v. Richards, 2 Bar. & Adol. 447, 452, 453.

> (h) Per Tindal, C J. in Cumming v. Baily, 6 Bing. 871; 4 Moore & P. 36, S. C.; and see Bevan v. Nunn, 2 Moore & S. 132; 9 Bing. 107, S. C., post.

(i) M'Neilage v. Holloway, 1 B. & Ald.

218; 1 G. & J. 1.

(k) Flemming v. Brook, 1 Sch. & Lef. 348; Stewart v. Marquis of Bute, 11 Ves. 762; Popham v. Lady Aylesbury, Ambl. 68. So a bequest of a cabinet, with whatever it contains excepting money, will not pass a promissory note payable to the testatrix, without any words of negotiability, nor indorsed, and which did not appear to have been placed in the cabinet before the will, though of a date anterior to the will, and at her death found in the cabinet; Read v. Stewart, 4 Russ. 69.

(1) Francis v. Nash, Hardw. 58; Knight v.

Criddle, 9 East, 48.
(m) 1 & 2 Vic. c. 110; s. 12; post, Part II.

Ch. III. s. iv. Execution.

(n) Curtis v. Sush, 2 Ves. & B. 416; Drake v. Mitchel, 3 East, 251; Harris v. Shipway. Bul. N. P. 182. It does not even suspend the remedy for rent; Bul. N. P. 182; and see 3 Price, 572; Davis v. Gyde, 2 Ad. & El. 623; 4 Nev. & Man. 462, S. C.; post, Ch. V. s. iv.

Effect of Delivery to Payee. (o) 2 Bla. Com. 466, 467; 1 Pardessus, 21, 22, 327, 328, 362, 363, S. P. This is clearly shown in the latter work. The occasion for the payment of debts or delivery of money in a foreign country, and the desire to avoid the transmittance of money itself, and the coasequent risk of loss in the passage, was the occasion of the invention of these instruments, and of the peculiar privileges attached to them by law; Id. ibid.

Choses in action may be sold under a writ of fieri facias, and for this purpose the seizure of em is not required. Wilson v. Munday, 5 Miller's Louis. Rep. 483. Choses in action are them is not required. Wilson v. Munday, 5 Miller's Louis. Rep. 433. Choses in action are not liable to execution, either at law or in equity. Donovan v. Finn, Hopk. 79; Buford v. Buford, 1 Bibb, 806; M'Farran v. Jones, 2 Little, 222; Goodevon v, Duffield, Wright, 456.

⁽¹⁾ In New York, current coin, and bank notes, are liable to be taken on on execution: the former to be returned as money collected, and the latter sold. 2 Rev. Stat. 366, sec. 18, 19. So in New Hampshire, bank bills may be attached by virtue of a writ and may be seized and sold upon an execution. Spencer v. Blaisdell, 4th ed New Hamp. Rep. 198. And the Court in this case remark, "It has been made a question whether money could be seized upon execution." 9 East, 48, Knight v. Briddle; 4 East, 510, Fieldhouse v. Croft; 1 Pick. 271, Knowlton v. Bartlet. But the better opinion seems to be that money may be seized upon an execution. 1 Cranch, 183; 12 Johns. 220; 5 ditto 167; 12 ditto 395, Holnies v. Nuncoster. And bank bills are treated as money. 12 Johns. 220. Handy v. Dobbin; 12 ditto 395; 1 Burr. 457; 3 D. & E. 554, Wright v. Reed; 7 Johns. 470, Warren v. Mains; 13 East, 20, Pickard v. Banks; 1 Niel Gow. 121, Saunders v. Graham, Ibid.

Sir William Blackstone of the utility of the instrument, is this: "If A. live II. Gene-

bt. it is to be s ozh it ve iz of a bus ar clares that a: med an ac in y, ber besom. iout joeung 3-. Howere. property 21 latter bear a mge be tas be taken 🖽 even vos

ggi Den

ie reminer for trans tended a:

nstance 🕏

. 12; pa fr

& B. 116.)

iris t. 😉 ecep suth

1-2 ax 1

: أ في إليون

1 Parison The 2 s

تعزيم سأ

71 d 250

re le au

nd the s

HEETE

CONTRACTOR ed 10 1351

(PII)

ا د کارون

i ile (ile

DE 18

12 W - 12 - 1828

الجاب 1 1

in Jamaica, and owe B., who lives in England, 10001., now if C. be going ral Utility. from *England to Jamaica, he may advance B. this 10001., and take a bill of exchange, drawn by B. in England upon A. in Jamaica, and receive it when he comes thither: thus B. receives his debt at any distance of place by transferring it to C., who carries over his money in paper credit, without the risk of robbery or loss." In the origin of bills of exchange, their principal utility was the safe transfer of property from one place to another; but since the great increase of commerce, they have become the evidence of valuable property, and in a great measure equivalent to specie, enlarging the capital stock of wealth in circulation, and thereby facilitating and increasing the trade and commerce of the country (p). The trader whose capital may not be sufficient to enable him to pay ready money for the commodity which he purchases, on account of his not having the means of immediately obtaining payment of the debts due to him from others, and who might find a difficulty on his own individual security to purchase goods, or obtain money for the purposes of his trade, by drawing a bill on one of his debtors, payable at a future period, may obtain the goods or money on the credit of such bill; the vendor of the goods, to whom the bill is handed as a security, may also, in his turn, obtain goods or money, in the way of his trade, on the credit of the bill, and the bill may have the same effect in different persons hands, to whom it may be transferred by indorsement or otherwise. This security is in some respects preferable to many others of a more formal nature, for each of the parties to a bill, by merely writing his name upon it, either as drawer, acceptor, or indorser, thereby impliedly guarantees the due payment of it at maturity, and the consideration in respect of which he became a party to it can be rarely inquired into; whereas, in the case of an ordinary guarantee, the statute against frauds (q) requires the consideration to be expressed, and other matters of form, which frequently render an intended guarantee wholly inoperative (r). So with respect to interest, it is a better security than a bond, (except in so far as it may be affected by the statute of limitations), for when the principal and interest in a bond are equal to the amount of the penalty, the interest must thenceforth cease, for the obligor in a bondin not answerable beyond the amount of the penalty (s) (1).

Hen. Bla. 618.

(q) 29 Car. 2, c. 3, s. 4.

(r) Wain v. Warlters, 5 East, 10. In this case it was held that an engagement in writing to pay the debt of a third person at an hour named, in consideration of the creditor suspending proceedings in an action till that time, but which consideration did not appear on the face of the written engagement, was void on that account; and this case has been fully confirmed by that of Saunders v. Wakefield, 4 B. & Ald. 595, & Jenkins v. Reynolds, 3 Brod.

(p) Per Eyre, C. J., Gibson v. Minet, 1 & B. 14; and other subsequent decisions; Maggs r. Ames, 4 Bing. 470; 1 Moore & P. 294, S. C.; and see cases as to guarantees in lieu of indorsement, post, Ch. VI. s. i. Trans-

(s) Hefford v. Alger, 1 Taunt. 220; Wild v. Clarkson, 6 T. R. 303; Ex parte Mills, 2 Ves. jun. 301; Clarke v. Seton, 6 Ves. 411: but observe, that in an action of debt on a judgment recovered on a bond, interest may be recovered in damages beyond the penalty of the bond, M'Clure v. Dunkin, 1 East, 436.

⁽¹⁾ It is a general rule that the recovery on a bond is limited by its penalty, but this rule is not without exceptions. In Harris v. Clap et al., 1 Mass. Rep. 308, interest beyond the penalty was allowed against a surety, though Sedgwick, J., dissented from the opinion of the court. In Smede's Ex. v. Hooghtaling et al., 3 Caines' Rep. 48, Kent, Ch. J., upon a review of all the desired cisions on the subject, held interest to be recoverable beyond the penalty of a bond, but that the recovery must depend upon principles of law, and not upon the discretion of a jury. If judgment has gone by default, the clerk, in taxing costs, may calculate interest beyond the penalty of the bond. Ib. p. 49, note a. In the same note there is a brief review of cases on this subject. See also State v. Wayman, 2 Gill & Johnson's Rep. 254.

Tidd's Prac. 8th ed. 617, 18, and post. 2 N. Y. Rev. Stat. 856—8. And see Dane's Abr. of Am. Law, vol. 1. p. 542, ch. 28, art. 1, sec. 1, 2, 9, et passim.

(81)

. . .

fr

14,7

Μŋ

٠..

47.4

100

21

71.

21

. .

별 :

. :

II. Gene- the circumstance also of the exposure of the contract to the public eye, ral Utility: there is a stronger stimulus on every party to a bill to take care that it be duly honoured; whereas punctual payment of a guarantee or bond is not so frequent, and consequently less to be relied on in commerce, where certainty is so essential to the welfare of the merchant. So there are some legal advantages, for after interlocutory judgment in an action on a bill or note, the plaintiff may refer it to the master or prothonotary of the court to assess what is due for principal and interest, &c. without executing a writ of inqui-

*There are, however, some disadvantages accompanying this security, compared with others, and principally that in case of the dishonour of the bill by the person on whom it is drawn, the holder must strictly, and with the utmost punctuality and precision, observe certain formalities peculiarly incident to this security; thus he must immediately give notice of the non-acceptance or non-payment to all the other parties, or he will lose the benefit of his security against them; whereas in the case of a guaranty, such nice and exact conduct on the part of the creditor is not in general requisite (u). Again, in case of death, a bill of exchange being a simple contract is not entitled to the same priority of payment out of the assets of the deceased as a bond (1); nor is there the same expeditions or extensive mode of obtaining payment as in case of a bond, warrant of attorney, statute staple, or statute merchant (x).

The pernicious effects of a fabricated credit, by the undue use of accommodation bills of exchange, drawn out of the ordinary course of trade, have led to the ruin of many; the use of them, where there is no real demand subsisting between the different parties, nor an actual fund to resort to in case of need, is injurious to the public as well as to the parties concerned in But in cases where from some sudden and unexpected the negotiation (y). event a particular branch of commerce may be temporarily affected, and the trader is possessed of, but not able to bring his commodities to a fair market in time to meet the payments for which he has to provide, the temporary assistance of friends, through the medium of bills of exchange, may save his credit, and enable him to hold his goods till some fair opportunity of sale The use of fictitious names to bills has not been unfrequent, but this practice is not only censurable but in most cases punishable criminally (z), and in certain cases under the insolvent act may prevent the parties having the full benefit of the act (a).

III. PECULIAR PROPERTIES & ADVANTAGES OF BILLS ENUMERATED.

III. Peculiar Properties and Advantages of Bills enumerated.

The various advantages which commerce derives from the use of bills of exchange have induced our courts of justice, and also most foreign courts,

Advantages of Bills

enumerate

(t) Tidd's Prac. 9th ed. 570, 571, and post, part II. Ch. III. s. iii.

(u) Warrington v. Furbor, 8 East, 245; but

(ii) Warrington v. Furbor, 8 Cast, 246; but

(iii) Warrington v. Furbor, 8 Cast, 246; but

(u) Warrington v. Furbor, 8 East, 245; but see Phillips v. Astling, 2 Taunt. 206 See these cases post.

(x) 2 Saund. 70 a, and b, in notes.

(y) Per Lord Eldon, in Ex parte Wilson, 11 Ves. 411.

(2) See post, Part III. Ch. I. Forgery.

(a) See 7 Geo. 4, c. 57, sec. 49, (similar provisions 1 & 2 Vic. c. 110, s. 78). Under the 64th clause the Insolvent Court considered debtors on accommodation bills as not having necessarily incurred the same within the words of the act.

⁽¹⁾ See ante p. 2, note (1).

11775

1.35

.773

ng.

Sec. 2

1. 2.

100

4.2

 $\mu_{\nu} r$

·, · .

1.1

٠. ::

y 35

1. B

75 to allow them certain peculiar privileges, in order to give full effect to their III. Pecautility. These are,-

First, that although a bill of exchange is a chose in action, yet it may be vantages, assigned so as to vest the legal as well as equitable interest therein in the in- &c. dorsee or assignee, and to entitle him to sue thereon in his own name.

Secondly, that although a bill of exchange, &c. is not a specialty, but merely a simple contract, yet a sufficient consideration is implied from the nature of the instrument, and its existence, in fact, is rarely necessary to be proved, and in the hands of a bona fide holder is indisputable (b).

The first of these privileges is of most essential importance in various points of view, and principally that a release by the drawer to the acceptor, or a set-off or cross demand due from the former to the latter, cannot affect the right of action of the payee or indorsee, because the legal and not the mere equitable interest is vested in *such payee or indorsee, and the action is [*6 sustainable in his own name; whereas suits upon bonds, and most other choses in action, must be in the name of the original obligee; and though it be apparent that he sues merely as a trustee for another to whom he has assigned his interest, yet a release from him, or a set-off due from him to the obligor, may be an effectual bar to the action (c)(1). The second of these privileges is also of great importance. In general an action cannot be supported upon a contract not under seal, without the plaintiff's alleging in pleading, and proving on the trial, in the first instance, that the contract was made for a sufficient consideration; but in the case of bills of exchange, promissory notes, &c. a sufficient consideration is presumed, and the validity of the bill, &c. cannot in general be disputed on account of the want of sufficient consideration, when it is in the hands of a bona fide holder, who has given value for it(d).

As it may tend to elucidate the properties of bills of exchange, and other negotiable instruments of that nature, we will shortly examine the doctrine relating to the assignment of choses in action, and the necessity in general for the proof of a sufficient consideration to give effect to a contract.

The first peculiar privilege of a bill of exchange is its assignable quality, bothe asand which is in direct opposition to a very ancient rule of law, the founders signment of of which refused to sanction or give effect to the transfer of any possibility, Choses in right, or any other chose in action (which is defined to be a right not reduced (e)(2).

(b) Bishop v. Young, 2 Bos. & Pul. 79.

(c) Bauerman v. Radenius, 7 T. R. 663. (d) See cases, post, Ch. III. s. i. Considera-

(e) As to the assignment of choses in action in general, see Master v. Miller, 4 T. 340. In Williamson v. Thompson, 16 Ves. 443, it was held that the indorsement of an India certificate did not pass the legal interest. In Glynn r. Baker, 13 East, 509, it was held that an India bond was not assignable, but this has been since altered by 51 Geo. 3, c. 64, which makes them assignable, and enables the assignee to sue in his own name. See also Wookey r. Pole, 4 B. & Ald. 1.

(1) The bona fiele indorsee of a promissory note is not responsible for any equity existing between the maker and payee; but where the consideration of the note was a transaction between the maker and the party to whom it was indorsed; and the note was made payable to a third person to obtain his security, the equity may be gone into, in an action between the indorsee and maker. Lauclos v. Robertson, 3 Miller's Louis. Rep. 259.

⁽²⁾ What amounts to an assignment.—Where the payee of a promissory note lodged it, with other demands, in the office of an attorney for collection, and afterwards drew an order on the attorney, directing him to pay to a third person the amount which might be collected on the de-mands left with him; which the attorney accepted to pay such sums as he should receive after obtaining what might be due to himself; this was held to be no assignment of the note in question; and therefore a subsequent payment to the promisee was held good. Thayer v. Havener, 1 Greenl. 212.

(BAP

280

100

0.3

i-1---

441

i. .

1...

3:1

End

ď.

11

ر نغ

70.

1

ζ. ي کر

·.,

٠٠٠.

17

 $C_{i, j_{i_1}}$

- ..,

ς,

vantages,

III. Pocu- into possession (f) to a stranger; on the ground that such alienations tended to increase maintenance and litigation, and afforded means to powerful men to purchase rights of action, and thereby enable them to oppress indigent debtors, whose original creditors would not perhaps have sued them (g). Our ancestors were so anxious to prevent alienation of choses or rights in action, that we find it enacted by the 32 Hen. VIII. c. 9, (which, it is said, was in affirmance of the common law (h)), that no person should buy or sell, or by any means obtain any right or title to any manors, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, unless the person contracting to sell, or his ancestor, or they by whom he or they claim the same, had been in possession of the same, or of the reversion or remainder thereof, for the space of one year before

> (f) Termes de la Ley, tit. Chose in Action; 2 Bls. Com. 442. In other words, "the interest in a contract, which, in case of non-performance, can only be reduced into beneficial possession by an action or suit."

(g) Co. Lit. 214, 265 a, n. (1); 232 b, n. (1); 2 Rol. Abr. 45, 46; Godb. 81; Termes de la Ley, tit. Chose in Action; Scholey 1. Daniel, 2 Bos. & Pul. 541.

(h) Partridge v. Strange, Plowd. 88.

A note assigned, and the note retained in the hands of the assignor, until his death, vests at interest in the assignee. Clark v. Boyd, Ohio Rep. Cond. 250.

In an action against the drawer of a note he can demand of the plaintiff, if he is not the payer, to show a transfer of the note to him, but this demand is satisfied by evidence which prima face conveys the right and interest of the payee. Ibid. Wilson r. Munday, 3 Miller's Louis. Rep. 483.

If the assignment of the note be voluntary, the transfer in the payee's hand-writing is suffcient, and if forced, it suffices that there is judgment, execution, and sale, according to law. Ibid.

Effect of Assignment.—The interest of a mortgagee in land, is a mere chattel, and when the mortgage is given to secure a note payable to bearer, the interest of the mortgagee in the had will pass by the mere delivery of the note as an incident to the debt. Southerin r. Mendam, 5 New Hamp. Rep. 420. Paine v. French, Ohio Rep. Cond. 807.

Where obligee passes a note without assignment, and the purchaser passes it in like masser to another, who obtains obligee to make an assignment in the common form, the presumption is there is no liability. Butler v. Sluddeth, 6 Monroe's Rep. 542.

It may be proved by parol notwithstanding the written assignment of a note in the usual form, that the transfer was without recourse. Ib.

Assignee may recover of assignor the costs expended by him in prosecuting obligor to insolvercy, but not the costs recovered of him, the assignee, by his assignee, who had pursued the obliger, and then returned on him and recovered a judgment with costs. Ih.

Each assignee recovers of his assignor according to the consideration he paid. Ib.

Per Martin, J. "It is said in the books, promissory notes payable to order, are transferable by indorsement only: we understand by this that without an indorsement, the assignee is not invested with the right of indorsing over the note, or resisting the drawer's claim for compensation of sums due him by the transferrer, on account of payment made before the transfer, and before the note was due. But he certainly can transfer his interest therein without indorsing the note, as is done in the case of a session of goods or an assignment to trustees." Hughes r. Harrison, 2 Miller's Louis. Rep. 89.

The payee of a negotiable promissory note, having indorsed it in blank and delivered it in pledge to another, as collateral security for his own debt, has still the right to negotiate it to a third person; who may maintain an action upon it in his own name as indorsee, the lien of the pledge being discharged before judgment. Fisher v. Bradford, 7 Greenleaf's Rep. 88.

An assignee of a promissory note cannot sue a remote assignor, where the note assigned is and governed by the law of merchants. McCarty v. Rhea, 1 Black. 55.

Mandeville v. Biddle, 1 Cranch, 290. Drake v. Johnson, Hardin, 218. Jones v. Wood, S.A. K. Marsh, 162. The assignee of a promissory note in Virginia, may recover the amount from a remote assigner, in equity, though not at law. The remote assignor has the same defence in equity against the remote assignee, as against his immediate assignee; and he has a right to insist that the other assignors be made parties. Riddle v. Mandeville, 5 Cranch, 322. Ib.

The law in Kentucky is settled, as it is in Virginia, and in this court, upon original contracts the independent of promissory notes, that every resemble offert must be made to recover of the by indorsement of promissory notes, that every reasonable effort must be made to recover of the drawer by suit, before the assignee can have recourse against the assignor or indorser. The Bank of the United States v. Weisiger, 2 Peters' Rep. 247.

An assignment of a note given for the purchase money passes to the assignee the vendor's lien, on the property sold, for the payment of the purchase money. Johnston v. Gwathmey, 4 Litt. 317. So in case of a bond. Kenny v. Collins, Idem, 289. The assignment of a note gives the assignee a lien on the estate conveyed in trust, to secure the payment. M'Clanahan v. Chambaron 44. bers, 1 Monroe, 44. } such about leans to pore: m to oppres 1 have suc z of charge . 9. (wbrc): on should it. rs. landi. 🕿 . or his mes ssession d'3 of one rest

165 1. 2 1 2

16; (mc) 1

is describ ord he done.

fly 1 x 2

yearses 25

Must i D hand a te

- CALLES

Liller, ME

THE LEW LT bena r. 😼 i ii io lie 🗷

the process

e in the 18

$17.00 apple 1

ħ

5. 17 53 .. F ? i'

er of rein is 10013 ثلق أ ومن

appl 229 (P15

12 2

130,000

. 11

1.58

, ₁₉9'

45.1

1

186 A

341. inge. Plovi "

the contract: and this statute was adjudged to extend to the assignment of a III. Pecucopyhold estate(i), and of a chattel interest, as a lease for years of land, liar Properties, Adwhereof the grantor was not in possession(k). At what time this doctrine, vantages, which, it is said, had relation originally only to landed estates (1), was first &c. adjudged to be equally applicable to the assignment of a mere personal chattel not in possession, it is not easy to decide: it seems, however, to have been so settled at a very early period of our history, as the works of our oldest text writers and the reports contain numberless observations and cases on the subject. *Lord Coke says (m), that it is one of the maxims of the common law, that no right of action can be transferred, "because, under colour thereof, pretended titles might be granted to great men, whereby right might be trodden down and the weak oppressed, which the common law for-Accordingly we find that judgment was arrested in an action on a bond conditioned for the performance of articles of agreement, which contained a covenant that the defendant should assign certain bonds to the plaintiff for his own use, on the ground that such condition and covenant amounted to maintenance (n). And although it was decided that the king, in respect of his prerogative, might transfer a right of action(o), yet it was afterwards ruled that his assignee had no such power (p).

This doctrine, however strictly adhered to in our courts of law, was not adopted by our courts of equity (q): for though it is said to have been decided in the 11th James I.(r) that the assignee of a covenant could not sue in a court of equity to enforce performance, because it was against law to assign a covenant, yet that seems to be an insulated case; and no other authority is to be found where a court of equity has refused to give effect to the assignment of a chose in action, provided such assignment were made for a sufficient consideration(s). A court of equity having it in its power to decree according to the justice of every case, there could have been no danger of maintenance being increased by its giving effect to such assignments; we therefore find a great number of cases where decrees have been made in favour of such assignees(1).

In courts of law the equitable interest of the assignee of a chose in action seems to have been recognised as far back as the middle of the last century, when we find it said by one of the judges (u), "that if an assignee of a chose in action have an equity, that equity should be no exile to the courts of common law." In another case also, the court speak(x) of an assignment of an apprentice, or an assignment of a bond, as things valid between the parties, and to which they must give their sanction; and an assignment of a chose in action has always been deemed a sufficient consideration for a promise (y),

(i) Kite and Queinton's case, 4 Co. 26 a.

⁽k) Partridge v. Strange, Plowd. 88. As to a possibility in land, See Jones v. Roe, 1 Hen. Bla. 30; 3 T. R. 89, S. C. in error; Cullea, 178.

⁽l) 2 Wood. 388.

⁽m) Co. Lit. 214 a. See also Scholey r. Daniel, 2 Bos. & Pul. 541.

⁽n) Hodson r. Ingram, Aleyn, 60; et vide 2 Rol. Abr. 45, 1. 40.

⁽⁰⁾ Co. Lit. 232 b, n. (1); Breverton's case, 1 Dyer, 30 b, pl. 28; The King r. Wendham, Cro. Jac. 82.

⁽p) The King v. Twine, Cro. Jac. 180; Kingdom v. Jones, Skin. 6, 26.

⁽q) Per Buller, J. in Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 840.

⁽r) 1 Rol. Abr. 376, 1. b.

⁽s) Vin. Abr. tit. Maintenance, (B.); 2 Rol. Abr. 45, 46; Co. Lit. 232; and see the cases collected in Chitty's Eq. Dig. tit. Chose in Action.

⁽t) Id. ibid; Baldwin r. Rochford, 1 Wils. 229; Wright v. Wright, 1 Ves. 411, 412; Peters v. Soame, 2 Vern. 429; Baldwin v. Billingsley, id. 540; Crouch c. Martin, id. 595; Cole v. Jones, i.l. 692; Carteret (1 ord) v. Paschel, 3 P. W. 199; and it has been decided that an equitable assignment of a debt may be by parol as well as by deed, Heath v. Hall, 4 Taunt. 326.

⁽u) In Kingdom v. Jones, 33 Car. 2; Skin. 6, 7; Sir T. Jones, 150, S. C.

⁽x) The King v. The Parish of Aickless, 12 Mod. 554.

⁽y) 1 Rol. Abr. 29; Loder r. Cheelyn, Sid.

(81)

τij:

35 th

100

M.

m,

Li

(4-1

Ziri.

23

301

5%

۲.

12.

T,

600

217

•

(eq.)

4 ŧΥ

ï.

le in 1

1

 $\mathbf{l}_{\mathcal{A}_{k}}$

vantages, &c.

although the debt assigned was uncertain (z). So judged it was decided, that liar Proper- where the obligee has assigned over a bond, and afterwards become a bankrupt, he might nevertheless bring an action on the bond(a); and that in an action upon a bond given to the plaintiff in trust for another, the defendant may set off a debt due from the person beneficially interested in like manner *8] as if the action had been brought by the cestui que *trust(b). A debt assigned for the benefit of creditors is not liable to be attached for the debt of the assignor(c). But though courts of law have gone the length of taking notice of assignments of choses in action, and of giving effect to them, yet in almost every case they have adhered to the formal objection, that the action should be brought in the name of the assignor, and not in the name of the assignee; the consequence of which rule is, that the defendant may give in evidence a release, declaration, or admission of the plaintiff on the record, to defeat the action, although it be evident such plaintiff is but a mere trustee for a third person (d)(1). It has been observed that the substance of the rule being done away, there can be no use or convenience in preserving the shadow of it: for where a third person is permitted to acquire the interest in a thing, whether he bring the action in his own name or in the name of the assignor, does not seem to affect the question of maintenance(e). However, in a subsequent case (f), Lord Kenyon expressed his determination not to sanction the assignment of a chose in action, so as to allow the assignee to sue in his own name (2). The consequence of this doctrine is, that if an instrument

> 212; Lewis v. Wallis, Sir T. Jones, 222; Meredith r. Short, 1 Salk. 25 ; Banfill v Leigh, 8 T. R. 571; Israel v. Douglass, 1 Hen. Bla.

(z) Mousdale v. Birchall, 2 Bla. Rep. 820. (a) Winch v. Keeley, 1 T. R. 619; Carpenter v. Marnell, 3 Bos. & Pul. 40.

(b) Bottomley v. Brook, and Rudge v. Birch, cited in Winch v. Keeley, 1 T. R. 621, and in Masters v. Miller, 4 T. R. 341; sed vide Bauerman v. Radenius, 7 T. R. 668. But the court refused to allow a defendant to set off a bond debt of the plaintiff assigned to him by a third person, to whom and for whose use it was originally given; Wake v. Tinkler, 16 East, 36.

(c) Lewis v. Wallis, Sir T. Jones, 222. (d) Bauerman v. Radenius, 7 T. R. 663; Banfill v. Leigh, 8 T. R. 571; Jones v. Dualop, id. 596; Offly v. Ward, 1 Lev. 285; Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 104; et vide Medlica's case, Sel. Cas. 161.

(c) Per Buller, J. in Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 340; et vide Winch v. Keeley, 1 T. R. 621; Israel v. Douglass, 1 Hen, Bla. 239; and Ban-fill v. Leigh, 8 T. R. 571.

(f) Johnson r. Collings, 1 East, 104; Whit-well r. Bennett, 8 Bos. & Pul. 559.

(1) { The assignee of an unnegotiable instrument, may sue the obligor in the name of the obligee; and equity would prohibit the obligee from releasing the demand, or receiving satisfaction.

M'Gee v. Lynch, 3 Hayw. 105.

There are many other cases in which the rights of the assignee have been recognized and en-

⁽²⁾ Courts of law now take notice of assignments of choses in action, and afford them every protection not inconsistent with the principles and proceedings of tribunals acting according to the course of the common law. They endeavor in these respects to apply, as far as may properly be done, the rules and doctrines recognized in Courts of Equity. They will not therefore give effect to a release procured by the original debtor under a covinous combination with the assignor in fraud of his assignee; nor permit the assignor injuriously to interfere with the conduct of an muit commenced by the assignee to enforce the rights which passed under the assignment. Welch v. Mandeville, 1 Wheaton, 233. See, as to the right of the United States to sue in their own name upon a bill indorsed to their agent, Dugan v. United States, 3 Wheaton, 172. See also Skelding et al. v. Warren, 15 Johns. 270.

Upon these principles a release procured after a notice of the assignment has been held to be a nullity. Andrews r. Beecher, 1 John. Cas. 411. Littlefield r. Storey, 3 John. Rep. 426. Light 1 Res. (7 Pull 447 Payment 1 Res. (7 Pull 447 Payment 2 Res.) v. Legh, 1 Bos. & Pull. 447. Raymond v Squire, 11 John. Rep. 47. So a satisfaction of a judgment entered up by the assignor after the assignment has been vacated. Wardell v. Edes, 2 John. Cas. 121, 258. S. C. I John. Rep. 531, note. So a dismissal of a suit or a retraxit entered up without the consent of the assignee will be no bar to a subsequent snit. Welsh r. Mandeville, ut supra. And if the fact of the assignment be known to the court, it will not suffer the defendant, whose name is used, to discontinue the suit without the agreement of the assignee. M'Cullum v. Coxe, 1 Dall. Rep. 139.

17 MY

i (Athri

: 200 %

يعز فطق بهم

4351

0. 1:

1822

1201

C 23

د ط [[:

1.00

ILTE.

Thurs.

R US

1002

1. E. E.

81.21

19.50

100

0.25

₹.1 113

130

100 L. Je

171

which is not assignable at law, so as to pass the legal interest, be indorsed III. Pecaby the person to whom it is payable to his agent, to whom he is indebted liar Properties. Adgenerally, without any specific appropriation, the agent, in case of the vantages, death of the principal, will have no legal or equitable interest in the instru- &c. ment towards satisfaction of his debt, but must restore it to the executor(g).

Even at the earliest period of our history, the doctrine relating to the assignment of choses in action was found to be too great a clog on commercial intercourse, an exception was therefore soon allowed in favour of mercantile transactions. It was the observation of the learned and elegant commentator on the English laws, that in the infancy of trade, when the bulk of national wealth consisted of real property, our courts did not often condescend to regulate personalty; but as the advantages arising from commerce were gradually felt, they were anxious to encourage it by removing the restrictions by which the transfer of interests in it was bound. On this ground the custom of merchants, whereby a foreign bill of exchange is assignable by the payer to a third person, so as to vest in him the legal as well as equitable interest therein, was recognised and supported by our courts of justice in the fourteenth century; and the custom of merchants rendering an inland bill transferable, was established in the seventeenth century. In short, our courts, anxiously attending to the interests of the community, have, in favour of commerce, adopted a less technical mode of considering personalty than realty; and in support of commercial transactions have established the law merchant, which is a system peculiarly founded on the rules of equity, and governed in all its parts by plain justice and good faith(h)(3).

Having thus endeavored to point out the peculiar properties of a bill of Distinction exchange, in respect of its being assignable, so as to give *the holder a right Bills and of action in his own name, it will be proper to make a few observations on other Simthe second privilege by which it is distinguished from other simple contracts, ple Contract as to that of its importing a consideration unless the contrary be shown, and fre-Considerquently excluding the inquiry (i).

9

(i) See Per Lord Ellenborough, C. J. in Phil-(g) Williamson v. Thompson, 16 Ves. 448. (h) Per Buller, J. in Master v. Miller, 4 T. liskirk v. Pluckwell, 2 Maule & S. 395. R. 342.

forced in suits at law; but it is foreign to the purposes of this note to give them a minute analysis. The reader will receive further information on the subject by consulting the subjoined cases. Perkins v. Parker, 1 Mass. Rep. 117. Wakefield v. Martin, 3 Mass. Rep. 558. Dix v. Cobb, 4 Mass. Rep. 508. Dawes v. Boylston, 9 Mass. Rep. 337. Crocker v. Whitney, 10 Mass. Rep. 816. Wood v. Partridge, 11 Mass. Rep. 488. Alner v. George, 1 Camp. N. P. 392. Tutle v. Beebee, 8 John. Rep. 152. Meghan v. Mills, 9 John. Rep. 64. Brisban v. Caines, 10 John. Rep. 45. Inglis v. Inglis's Executors, 2 Dall. Rep. 45. Roussett v. The Insurance Company of North America, 1 Binn. 429. Woodbridge v. Perkins, 3 Day's Rep. 564. Da Costa v. Shrewsbury, 1 Bay's Rep. 211. Administrators of Compty v. Alken, 2 Bay's Rep. 481. Raymond v. Squire, 11 John. 'tep. 488. Anderson v. Van Allen, 12 John Rep. 843. Mowry v. Todd, 12 Mass. Rep. 281. Jones v. Witter, 13 Mass. Rep. 304. Bowman v. Wood, 15 Mass. Rep. 534. Martin v. Hawkes, 15 Johns. 405. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 9 Cowen, 84.

An assignee of a chose in action will be protected in a court of law against the acts and declarations of the assignor subsequent to the assignment. Kimball v. Huntington, 10 Wend. Rep.

Though a promissory note, not payable to order, is not assignable so as to vest the legal interest in another person, yet the assignment of such note transfers the equitable title, which will be recognized both in a court of equity, and in a court of law, and fully protected. Lyon v. Summers, 7 Conn. Rep. 399. To give effect to this doctrine is the object of the Conn. statute of May 28d 1822, ch. 12, § 1. Ib.

(3) The lex mercatori which governs foreign and inland bills of exchange, is a part of the common law of England; and is embraced by that clause of the Indiana statute which adopts the common law. Pratt v. Ends, 1 Blackf. 81. | But the assignment of promissory notes, in that state, is not governed by the law of merchants. Bullit c. Scribner, Idem, 14. }

CEAP

23

Yna!

7.

1.1.1

6 %

154

£Ú.∃

2

17

٠٠

ž* ;

R: 1 ·$r.]

 \mathbf{t}^{i_1}

.

F.

12.4

Ġ.

١.

4

.

2. q 18. 1. q 2. q

A Same of Same of Same

III. Pecuties, Advantages; & c.

When a Considera-

Contracts are of three descriptions. 1st. Matter of Record. 2dly. liar Proper- Specialty. 3dly. Parol or Simple Contracts. The first of these, viz. the judgment of, or a recognizance acknowledged before a court of record, on account of its being either actually or supposed to have been sanctioned by such tribunal, cannot be impeached, or the propriety of it questioned, in any action on the judgment. Nor can there be any allegation in pleading against tion not ea- the validity of a record, though there may be against its operations. Secsential to ondly, Specialties rank next in point of estimation. These on account of of a Bill of the deliberate mode in which they are supposed to be made and executed, Exchange, have always been holden to bind the party making them, although they were executed without adequate consideration (k), and consequently it is not incumbent on the plaintiff in an action upon a deed to state or prove upon what cause or for what consideration it was made(l); and though the defendant may be at liberty to avail himself of the illegality in the consideration, it is incumbent on him to state it in pleading, and to establish it by evidence (m). But the third description, namely, parol or simple contracts, (which in legal definition include as well unsealed written contracts as those which are merely verbal,) are not in general entitled to such respect, because the law presumes that such contracts may have been made inadvertently and without sufficient reflection(n); and therefore, in general, they will not be enforced, unless the plaintiff alleges and proves that they were made for a sufficient consideration (o). And if an instrument, in other respects in the form of a bill of exchange or promissory note, be invalid as such, as for instance because it was payable on a contingency, it will afford no prima facie evidence of having been given for adequate consideration, although it in terms profess to have been given for "value received," nor will it be negotiable or even valid between the original parties, unless it be proved that it was founded on adequate consideration (p). It is otherwise however in the case of a valid bill of exchange or promissory note(q), it being scarcely ever necessary for the plaintiff to prove that he gave a consideration for it: and the defendant is not at liberty to prove that he received no consideration, unless in an action brought against him by the person with whom he was immediately concerned in the negotiation of the instrument (r), or by a person who has given no value for it. In this respect, therefore, a a bill of exchange, although it is not a specialty (s), yet it carries with it

(k) See the argument Sharington v. Strotton, Plowd. 308, where, though quaintly, yet correctly, it is said that deeds are received as a lien final to the party making them, although he in truth received no consideration; in respect of the deliberate mode in which they are supposed to be made and executed, for 1st, the deed is prepared and drawn; then the seal is affixed; and lastly, the contracting party delivers it, which is the consummation of his resolution. Voluntary conveyances, and deeds without any consideration, are void as to creditors, but in the absence of froud are valid and binding at law and in equity against the party and his heir and personal representative. See Gully v. Bishop of Exeter, 10 B. & C. 584, 601, and per Lord Tenterden, id. 609; and under the words in a deed, "other good and valuable causes and considerations," it may be shown as matter of fact, that there were other considerations; per Bailey, J. in Gully v. Bishop of Exeter, 10 B. & C. 609; and Tull v. Partlett, I M. & M. 472.

(1) Fellowes v. Taylor, 7 T. R. 477; Bunn

r. Guy, 4 East, 200.

(m) Petrie v. Hanney, 3 T. R. 424.

(n) Fonbl. 329, 333; Sharington r. Strotton, Plowd. 308.

(o) See the case of Rann v. Hughes, 7 T. R. 350, in which it was adjudged that all contracts are by the law of England distinguished into agreements by specialty and agreements by parol, and that there is not any such third class as contracts in writing. If they be merely written, and not specialties, they are parol, and a consideration must be proved. See also same case in 7 Bro. Parl. Cas. 550; Parker v. Baylis, 2 Pos. & Pul. 77; Johnson r. Collings, 1 East, 104; Sharington v. Strotton, Plowd. 308; Petrie v. Hanney, 8 T. R. 421.

(p) Magga v. Ames, 4 Bing, 470, 471; 1 M. & P. 294, S. C.; Morgan v. Jones, 1 Tyr. 21; 1 C. & M. 162, S. C.

(q) Simmonds v. Parminter, I Wils. 189. (r) Guichard v. Roberts, 1 Bla. Rep. 445; Lewis v. Cosgrave, 2 Taunt. 2; post, Ch. III. s. i. Consideration.

(s) Yeomans v. Bradshaw, 3 Salk. 70; ante, 2, note(d).

1

. V

d.....

11.11

7.33

03.2%

N 12

1 33

3 70

:> '

تسال

15 :. , 1

)"

the same presumption of a consideration as a bond or other specialty, par- III. Pecaticularly when it is, in the hands of a third person (t). It is not however liar Preowing to the form of a bill of exchange, nor to the circumstance of its being Advanin writing, that the law gives it this effect, but in order to strengthen and tages, &c. facilitate that commercial intercourse which is carried on through the medium of this species of security; for notwithstanding a contract be in writing, it is essential to the validity of it that it should in all cases be founded on a sufficient consideration, unless the writing, from its being of the highest solemnity, imports a consideration, or unless it be negociable at law, and the interests of third persons are involved in its efficacy (1)

IV. THE HISTORY OF BILLS.

Having thus endeavoured to state two of the most peculiar properties of a IV. The (t) Philliskirk v. Pluckwell, 2 Maule & S. 395.

(1) The doctrines contained in this paragraph have been frequently recognized in the United States. In general, a written promise requires a consideration no less than a parol one. Homer v. Hollenbeck, 2 Day's Rep. 22. And a note made without consideration is nude, pact. and void as between the original parties to it. Pearson v. Pearson, 7 John. Rep. 26. Stackpole v. Arnold, 11 Mass. Rep. 27. { Raymond v. Sellick, 10 Conn. 480; Hartwell v. McBeth, 1 Har. Del. Rep. 363; Bickinson v. Hall, 14 Pick. 217; Barnum v. Barnum, 9 Conn. 242. } So if the consideration have totally failed. Dennison v. Bacon, 10 John. Rep. 198. Tappen v. Van Wagenen, 8 John. Rep. 465. Fowler v. Shearer, 7 Mass. Rep. 14. Livingston v. Hastie, 2 Caines' Rep. 247. Barkhamsted v. Case, 5 Conn. Rep. 528. See Hills v. Banister, 8 Cowen, 81. { Rice v. Goddard, 14 Pick. 293; Loffland v. Russell, Wright, 438; Bowles v. Newby, 2 Blackf. 364; The People v. Niagara, Com. Pleas, 12 Wend. 246; Fallis v. Griffith, Wright, Every note within the statute imports a consideration unless the contrary appear on the face of the note itself. Goshen Turnpike Company, 9 John. Rep. 217. Ten Eyck v. Vanderpool, 8 John Rep. 120. { So of a bill of exchange. Early v. McCart, 2 Dana, 414. } And the words "value received" in a note not within the statute are prima facie evidence of a consideration sufficient to cast on the defendant the burthen of proof of the want of a consideration. { Or of a failure of consideration, or fraud. Towsey v. Hook, 8 Blackf. 267. But a promissory note not expressed to be for value received does not import a consideration. Edgerton v. Edgerton, 8 Conn. 6. Jerome v. Whitney, 7 John. Rep. 321. contra.—Lansing v. M'Killip, 3 Cain. Rep. 286. A promissory note expressed to be for 'value received' may be avoided as between the payee and maker, by showing that there was no consideration for it, originally; and a note given for the renewal of one so voidable is likewise without consideration. Hill v. Buckminster, 5 Pick. 391.

So, as between the original parties, the true consideration of a note may always be inquired into: Thus, where a note was given for the balance due on a settlement of accounts, a mistake as to the amount, may be shown. Hampton v. Blakeley, 3 M'Cord, 469. Slade v. Halsted, 7 Cowen, 322. See Lawrence v. Stonington Bank, 6 Cons. Rep. 521. And in this case, it was held that though a bona fide holder of a bill for valuable consideration, cannot be affected by the want of consideration, as between the original parties; yet, if he received the bill without value, he is in privity with the first holder, and the want of consideration between the original parties, is equally available against him.

Where a promissory is void on account of a total fraud in the consideration, the maker has adequate remedy at law. Barkhamsted v. Case, 5 Conn. Rep. 528. The holder of a bill, check, or note, is prima facie deemed the rightful owner of it, and need not prove a consideration given John Cas. 5. Conroy v. Warren, 3 John. Cas. 259. 3 Wheaton, 182. { Jackson v. Heath, 1 Bai. 355; Dean v. Hewitt, 5 Wend. 257; Cox v. Bethany, 10 Curry's Louis. Rep. 152; Sinse v. Lyles, 1 Hill, 39; Peasely v. Bootwright, 2 Leigh, 185; Dugan v. Campbell, Ohio Rep. Cond. 56. And an indersement of a note is prima facie evidence of being made for full value; and it is in general incumbent on the defendant to show the real consideration if it was an inadequate one. Biddle v. Mandeville, 5 Cranch's Rep. 322. Percival v. Framplin, 3 Dowl. P. C. 748. See also Simpson v. Clarke, 2 Cromp. M. & Rosc. 342. Brook v. Thompson, 1 Bai. 322. The drawer of a bill of exchange may rebut the presumption of his liability, in case of non-payment by the drawee, by proving that between the payee and himself, there was no consideration, Miles v. O'Hara, 1 Serg. & Rawle, 32.

{ See further, as to consideration, Post, Part I. ch. III. sec. I. } (EA?

Do th

œ.

1904

l:

70.0

Æ:

53

'uni

72

C

4 :

L ...

50.1

x...

144

43

16.0

i'- 4

11 y ù.,;

1.30

1

5 3

1.3

 $F_{\bullet}()$

3.1

* :

- 4

:

IV. The History of Bille.

bill of exchange, namely, its assignable quality, and its validity in the bands of a bonû fide holder, though made without consideration, it may be proper to inquire concisely, but more particularly, into the history, general nature, and use of these instruments.

Foreign or Inland.

Bills of exchange are Foreign or Inland. Foreign, when drawn by a person abroad upon another in England, or vice versa; or in one foreign country upon another: and inland, when both the drawer and the drawee reside in England, or in that part of the kingdom where the bill is drawn and payable; or when both drawn and payable in England though accepted abroad. A bill drawn in Ireland upon England is to be considered as a foreign bill and not an inland bill; and therefore where a person in Ireland drew a bill on another in England, who wrote a letter promising to accept, it was decided that such promise amounted to a legal and binding acceptance, although such letter was written after the passing of the act requiring that all inland bills shall be accepted by writing on the same (u). But a bill drawn in Lowdon, payable to the order of the drawer in London, upon a merchant residing at Brussels, and accepted by him payable in London, is an inland bill, and must be stamped as such (x). It seems extremely doubtful at what period or by whom foreign bills of exchange were first invented. The elementary writers differ on the subject. It is said by Pothier (y), that there is no vestage among the Romans of bills of exchange, or of any contract of exchange; for though it appears that Cicero directed one of his friends at Rome, who had money to receive at Athens, to cause it to be paid to his son at that place, and that friend accordingly wrote to one of his debtors at Athens, and ordered him to pay a sum of money to Cicero's son, yet it is observed, that this mode amounted [*11] to nothing more than a mere order or *mandate, and was not that species of pecuniary negociation which is carried on through the medium of a bill of exchange; nor does it appear that the commerce of the Romans was carried on by means of this instrument; for we find by one of their laws (z), that a person lending money to a merchant who navigated the seas, was under the necessity of sending one of his slaves to receive of his debtor the sum lent, when the debtor arrived at his destined port, which would certainly have been unnecessary if commerce, through the medium of bills of exchange, had Most of our modern writers have asserted (probabeen in use with them. bly on the authority of Montesquieu (a)), that these instruments were invented and brought into general use by the Jews and Lombards when banished for their usury, in order, with the secrecy necessary to prevent confiscation, to draw their effects out of France and England to those countries in which they had chosen or had been compelled to reside; but Mr. Justice Blackstone says(b) this opinion is erroneous, because the Jews were banished out of Guienne in the year 1287, and out of England in the year 1290(c), and in the year 1236 the use of paper credit was introduced into the Mogul empire in China(d). Other authors have attributed the invention to the Florentines, when, being driven out of their country by the faction of the Gebelings, they established themselves at Lyons and other towns(e).

Foreign Bills.

(z) De nautico fænere.

(e) Poth. pl. 7.

⁽u) 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, and 9 Geo. 4, c. 24; Mahoney v. Ashlin, 2 Bar. & Adol. 478; and see Chaters v. Bell, 4 Esp. Rep. 48; see also Salomons v. Staveley, 3 Doug. 298.

(x) Amner v. Clark, 2 C., M. & R. 468.

(y) Traités de Droit Civil, tit. Traité du Contrat de Change, pl. 6.

⁽a) Esp. L. 21, c. 16, n. I.

⁽b) 2 Bla. Com. 467. (c) 2 Carte. Hist. Eng. 208, 206.

⁽d) However, the only authority in support of that assertion is the 4 Mod. Univ. Hist. 499; a work not of paramount authority.

Ŝ7 : 2:

mirkt

77728

وترجونا

1000

Jitt 3

INT

1 300%

*25

-411

37.7

11.1

7.

: , ; 1

. . .

 $G_{i}(t)$

On the whole, however, there is no certainty on the subject, though it seems IV. The clear foreign bills were in use in the fourteenth century, as appears from a History of Venetian law of that period; and an inference drawn from the statute 5 Bills, &c. Rich. II. st. 1, c. 2(f), warrants the conclusion that foreign bills were introduced into this country previously to the year 1381.

The mode of avoiding the necessity for transmitting money itself from one country to another by means of these instruments having been once discovered, the advantages derived from it soon induced merchants universally to adopt it, and from thence it very early grew into a custom, which seems to have been judicially sanctioned in this country at a very early period of our history, though no earlier decision relative to the custom can be found than in Jac. 1(g), where it was adjudged that acceptance raised an assumpsit in law, for the breach of which an action on the case would lie. ever, as our courts did not at first conceive it necessary to the encouragement of commerce, that this exception to the rule relative to choses in action should be carried any further than to foreign bills drawn merely for the purposes of trade, we find that formerly they would only give effect to bills made between merchant strangers and English merchants(h); however, it was soon extended to all traders, and finally in this country to all persons, whether traders or not(i). But in foreign countries this is not now universally so; thus in France, though it is not essential that the parties to a bill should be commercantes, or regular traders; there are some exceptions, and no female, whether single or widow, unless a regular merchant, can effectually be a party to a bill(k). Hence the necessity for every person having any transactions relating to foreign bills, *being completely informed of the [*12] law of every country through which they have passed.

Inland Bills of Exchange, (which are so called because they are drawn as Inland well as payable in England,) according to Lord C. J. Holt's opinion, did Bille. not originate at a much earlier period than the reign of Charles the Second.(m) They were at first, like foreign bills, more restricted in their operation than they are at present, for it was deemed essential to their validity, that a special custom for the drawing and accepting them should exist between the towns in which the drawer and acceptor lived; or if they lived in the same town, that such a custom should exist therein (n)(1). At first also effect was only given to the custom when the parties were merchants, though afterwards extended, as in the case of foreign bills, to all persons whether traders or not(o). And even after the general custom had been established, and it had been adjudged that all persons having capacity to contract might ⁽f) Claxton r. Swift, 2 Show. 441, 494. (g) Martin v. Boure, Cro. Jac. 6; Oaste v.

Taylor, Cro. Jac. 306; 1 Rol. Abr. 6; Hussey v. Jacob, Ld. Raym. 88.

⁽h) Oaste v. Taylor, Cro. Jac. 306, 307.
(i) Per Treby, C. J., in Bromwich v. Lloyd, 2 Lutw. 1585; Sarsfield v. Witherly, 2 Vent. 295; Comb. 45, 152, S. C.; Crawlington v. Evans, 2 Vent. 310.

⁽k) 1 Pardess. 329, 329.

⁽¹⁾ See Mahoney v. Ashlin, 2 Bar. & Adol. 878, and Amner v. Clark, 2 C., M. & R. 468; ante, 10, notes (u), (x).

(m) Buller v. Crips, 6 Mod. 29; Anon.
Hardr. 485; Claxton v. Swift, 3 Mod. 86; Marius, 2; and see the argument in Mahoney r. Ashlin, 2 Bar. & Adol. 478.

⁽n) Buller v. Crips, 6 Mod. 29; Pinckney v. Hall, I.d. Raym. 175; Erskine v. Murray, id. 1542, Mannin v. Carey, Lutw. 279; Pearson r. Garrett, 4 Mod. 242.

⁽o) Bromwich v. Loyd, 2 Lutw. 1585; Sarsfield v. Witherly, Carth. 82.

^{(1) {} A bill drawn by a person residing in one of the United States upon a person residing in another is a foreign bill. Phoenix Bank v. Hussey, 12 Pick. 483; Bank of Cape Fear v. Stivewetz, 1 Hill (So. Car.) Rep. 44; Halliday v. McDougall, 20 Wend. 81; Brown v. Ferguson, 4 Leigh, 87; Dickens v. Beal, 10 Peters, 572; Bank of the United States v. Daniel, 12 id. 32; Townsley v. Sumrall, 2 id. 170; Bucker v. Finley, id. 586; Per Nelson, J. Wells v. Whitebeard, 5 Wend. 530; Green v. Leskon, 15 Maine Per, 126; Pice a Hearn, 2 Period 124. 5 Wend. 530; Green v. Jackson, 15 Maine Rep. 136; Rice v. Hogan, 8 Dana, 184. }

7.3

B.O

ŝ

24

IV. The History of Bills, &c.

make them, a distinction was taken with respect to form between bills made payable to order, and bills made payable to bearer; for it was once thought that no action could be maintained on a bill payable to the order of a certain person by that person himself, on the ground that he had only an authority to indorse; and those payable to bearer were at first thought not to These distinctions, however, have long been be negotiable in any case. held to be without foundation; and on the whole, as observed by Mr. Justice Blackstone(p), although formerly foreign bills of exchange were more favourably regarded in the eye of the law than inland, as being thought of more public concern in the advancement of trade and commerce, yet now, by various judicial decisions, and by two statutes, the 9th and 10th Will. 3, c. 17, and the 3rd and 4th Anne, c. 9, inland bills stand nearly on the same footing as foreign; and what was the law and custom of merchants with regard to one, and taken notice of as such, is now by these statutes enacted with regard to the other. The principal difference between foreign and inland bills is, that the former must be protested, the latter need not(q) (1). In Scotland both must be equally protested (r).

Checks, &c. Besides inland and foreign bills of exchange there are some other descriptions of negotiable instruments for the payment of money, viz. checks on bankers, promissory notes, bank notes, and bankers' notes, and which are transferable so as to vest the legal right to receive the money in the holder. Most of the rules applicable to bills of exchange equally affect these instruments. Their peculiar qualities and requisites, and the law affecting them in particular will be separately considered(s)(2).

(p) 2 Bla. Com. 467. (q) Buller v. Crips, 6 Mod. 29; Windle v. No. 18; Glen. 189, 2d edit. Abdrews, 2 B. & A. 696. (r) Ferguson v. Belch, Morr. App. to Bills, 189, 2d edit. (s) See post, Ch. XI. and XII.

(2) Bank checks are considered as inland bills of exchange, and may be declared on as such Cruger v. Armstrong, 3 Johns. Cas. 5. The rules, therefore, that are applicable to the one, are generally applicable to the other. See Murray v. Judah, 6 Cowen, 484. Mauran v. Lamb, 7 Cowen, 174.

A check payable to bearer passes by delivery, and the bearer can sue on it as on an inland bill of exchange. Woods v. Schroeder, 4 Har. & John. 276.

One possessed of a check, or order, for the payment of money to bearer, addressed to no perticular person as drawee, can maintain no action against the person subscribing it, without showing that he came fairly by it, for a valuable consideration. Ball v. Allen, 15 Mass. Rep. 433.

^{(1) &}quot;The English law requiring protest, and notice of non-acceptance of foreign bills has been adopted and followed as the true rule of mercantile law in the States of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New-York, Maryland, and South Carolina. Watson v. Loring, 3 Mass. Rep. 557. Stery v. Robinson, 1 Day's Rep. 11. Mason v. Franklin, 3 Johns. Rep. 202. Weldon v. Buck, 4 b. 144. Winthrop v. Pepoon, 1 Bay's Rep. 468. Philips v. M'Curdy, 1 Harr. & Johns. 187. But the Supreme Court of the United States. in Brown v. Barry, 3 Dall. Rep. 365, and in Clarke v. Russell, cited in 6 Serg. & Rawle, 358, held, that, in an action on a protest for non-payment on a foreign bill, protest for non-acceptance, or a notice of the non-acceptance, need not be shown inasmuch as they were not required by the custom of merchants in this country, and those decisions have been followed in Pennsylvania. Read v. Adams, 6 Serg. & Rawle, 356. It becomes, therefore, a little difficult to know what is the true rule of the law merchant in the United States, on this point, after such contradictory decisions." 3 Kent's Com. 2d ed. 95. \[\] In Alabama, inland bills of exchange are regulated and governed by the same laws, usages, and customs which regulate and govern foreign bills; except in the amount of damages. Hanrick r. The Farmers Bank, 8 Porter, 539. \[\]

*CHAPTER II.

77 e 25. 6"2".

3.5

2.72

· 2 %

: 11 v. 2

3.22

3

N.

OF THE PARTIES TO A BILL OF EXCHANGE, PROMIS-SORY NOTE, &c.

I. WHO MAY BE A PARTY, AND V	VH0	II. NUMBER OF PARTIES	2
NOT OF SUFFICIENT CAPACIT	ry 13	Drawer or Maker	2
Aliens	13	Acceptor	2
Clergy	14	Payee	2
Trader or nol	14	Bearer	20
Corporations and Partnerships	ex-	Indorser	26
ceeding Six Persons	15	Indorsee	26
Incapacily in General	18	Acceptor supra protest	27
Imbecility of Mind	18		27
Infant	18	Payer supra protest, &c. &c. III. Modes of becoming a Party	27
Married Women	20	In Person	27
Consequences as to other Parties	24	By Agent	27
•	- 1	By Partner	86

It is essential to the validity of every contract that there be proper parties to it, and that those parties have capacity to contract. The parties to a contract are generally only two, namely, the person binding himself to perform some act, and the person in whose favour that act is to be performed; but in the case of bills of exchange and promissory notes, on account of the assignable quality of each, there may be and usually are more than two par-The capacity of the contracting parties, or in other words, who may be concerned in the transaction, will be considered in the first part of this chapter; the number of the parties in the second; and in the third the modes by which they may become such.

1. Who may be a Party, and who not of sufficient Capacity.

All persons, if they have capacity to contract, and are not under any legal I. Who disability, may be parties to a bill of exchange. In France, minors and may be women, whether spinsters, widows, or married women (unless regular com- &c. mercantes or traders) are incompetent to be parties to a bill(a).

In general, contracts in favour of alien enemies are void, both at law and Aliens. in equity (b), unless he comes into the country sub salvo conductu or live here by the King's licence(c); therefore a bill drawn in war by an alien enemy abroad, on a British subject here, and indorsed during war to a Britishborn subject voluntarily resident in the hostile country, cannot be enforced by the latter after peace restored(d). But where two British subjects were detained prisoners in France, and one of them drew a bill in favour of the other on a third British subject, resident in England, and such payee indorsed the same in France, to an alien enemy, it was held that the alien's right

(c) Brandon v. Nesbitt, 6 T. R. 23; 2 Ves.

(b) Williamson v. Patterson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 J. B. Moore, 333, S. C.; Brandon v. Nesbitt, 6 T. R. 23; 2 Ves. & B. 332.

Digitized by Google

⁽a) 1 Pardess. 228, 440; Pailliet, Manuel de Droit Français, 842.

[&]amp; B. 332; Mostyn r. Fabrigas, Cowp. 163.
(d) Willison v. Patteson, 7 Taunt. 439; 1
J. B. Moore, 133, S. C.

(E ø.

Œ.

ne >

٤

ŧċ

i.

ţ.

; * `}

•

I. Who may be parties, &c.

of action was not only suspended during the war, and that on the return of peace he might recover the amount from the acceptor (e), for otherwise such persons would sustain *greater privations during their detention; and for the same reason it is no objection to an action on such bill that it is brought as to part in trust for an alien enemy (f). And after the expiration of a temporary act, which prohibited the paying such bills during the subsisting war, under a penalty, a promise to pay such bill will be valid (g). And an action may be sustained here by a neutral on a promissory note given to him by a British subject in an enemy's country for goods sold there (h).

Clergy.

It appears (i) that in France ecclesiastics were prohibited from being parties to a bill of exchange, or from carrying on commerce in any way, on the principle that such transactions were repugnant to the sanctity of their profession; but in this country, until recently, although clergymen were prohibited by statute(k), under penalties, from trading or farming; yet the act of being a party to a bill would not constitute a trading within the statute(1), and if it did, as the act was merely prohibitory, the bill itself would not be void(m). It has, however, been lately determined, that the 57 Geo. 3, c. 99, (repealing the former enactment), which prohibits spiritual persons from being engaged in any trade or dealing for gain or profit, includes banking companies; and therefore that it is a good plea to an action by the indorsees against the indorser of a bill of exchange, that the bill was made and indorsed after the passing of the statute 57 Geo. 3. c. 99, that the plaintiffs were a banking company, of which certain spiritual persons holding benefices were partners and members, and that the trade or business of a banker was carried on by the said co-partnership for gains and profits, as well of those spiritual persons as others, contrary to the form of the statute, whereby the indorsement and the promise in the declaration mentioned were void in law(n).

Merchant or Trader, or not. It was once thought that as the only reason why bills of exchange were suffered to be assigned by one person to another, was because they were the the means of increasing commerce, and facilitating the ends of it, no person who was not a merchant, or engaged in some trade, could be a party to a (e) Antoine v. Morshead, 6 Taunt. 237, 447; 1 Marsh. 558, S. C.; and Danbuz v. Morshead, 6 Taunt. 332.

Where an Englishman permanently resides and carries on trade, and is proved to be roluntarily domiciled in a foreign land, the government of which is at war with this country, he so far loses the right of an Englishman that he cannot sue in our courts; M'Connell r. Hector, 3 Bos. & P. 113; 5 Rob. Adm. R. 90; 3 Id. 22; O'Mealey r. Wilson, 1 Campb. 482; Roberts r. Hardy, 3 Maule & S. 533, 536.

But an Englishman domiciled in a foreign state in amity with this country may lawfully exercise the privileges of a subject of the place where he is resident, to trade with a nation in hostility with this; Bell r. Reid, I Maule & Sel. 726.

So a native of a foreign state in amity with this country, taken in an act of hostility on board an enemy's fleet and brought to England as a prisoner at war, is not disabled from suing, even during his confinement, on a contract entered into by him as such prisoner; Sparenburgh v. Bannatyne, 1 Bos. & P. 163; Rex v. Despardo, 1 Taunt. 28.

(f) Danbuz r. Morshead, 6 Taunt. 332.

(g) Duhammel r. Pickering, 2 Stark, 90.
 (h) Houriet r. Morris, 3 Campb. 803; Mostyn r. Fabrigis, Cowp. 163.

(i) Poth. Traite de Change, pl. 27.

(k) 21 Hen. 8, c. 13; 43 Geo. 3, c. 84, s. 5.
(l) Hankey v. Jones, Cowp 745, Lord Mansfield said, "This case is merely a drawing by a person for the purpose of improving his own estate, and he pays discount on what be draws, and therefore there is no colour for saying he is within the description of the bankrupl laws."

(m) Id ibid.; Ex parte Meymot, 1 Ak. 196; per Lord Chancellor, "The Statue of 21 II. S, is rather in the nature of a prohibition, and a prohibition will not exempt him from being a bankrupt; for if a man, with his eyes open, will break the law, that does not make void the contract."

(n) Hall v. Franklin, 3 Mec. & Wels. 259; 1 Horn & H. 8, S. C. The inconvenience resulting from this decision to associations and copartnerships already formed, is remedied by 1

& 2 Vic. c. 10.

11 00 the we int clarates Petri the as re Or elevant 足器級 lu.

. (g. L THE ENGL. 2011 non ka gor var. c 11 11 30 nevic.2 the Act of

161661.0 C 02 Fe-1 c. 99. 🕾 生的 法工 II LOY OF JOHN ST Inderse: E nere is es tiens 3.160 (190 F the ac

LIST. in the 17 16 , 00 A

1 14 - 1 , a, P

, 15 · 1914 [#* 1315 , x 15

rj. e

ا به کړ

19 34 P N H

bill(o). It has however been long settled, that all persons having capacity I. Who and understanding to contract in general, may be parties to these instrumay be parties, ments(p); and as a person does not make himself a merchant by drawing &c. or accepting a bill of exchange, an attorney does not (independently of 1 & [*15] 2 Vict. c. 110,) by accepting a bill lose his privilege from arrest and to be sued by bill(q).

In general a corporation can only contract by deed under its corporate Corporaseal(r); and it has been doubted, whether a corporation established without Co-partany power expressly given to it to be a party to bills or promissory notes, nerships has power to bind itself by such instruments, at least it is doubtful whether having a corporation can so bind itself for purposes foreign to those for which it more than Six Cowas originally established(s)(1). But upon the question whether a corpo-partners.

(o) Fairley v. Roch, Lutw. 891; Bromwich v. Lloyd, Lutw. 1585.

(p) Sarsfield v. Witherly, 2 Vent. 295; Comb. 152; Carth. 82; 1 Show. 125, S. C.; Hodges v. Steward, 12 Mod. 36; 1 Salk. 125, S. C. The law in France is the same, 1 Pardes, 328, 329.

(q) Comerford v. Price, 1 Dougl. 312. Same point ruled by Dampier, J., 6th May, Easter Term, 1815, MS.

(r) Slark r. Highgate Archway Company, 5 Taunt. 794; Broughton v. The Manchester Waterworks Company, 3 B. & Ald 8; The King v. The Inhabitants of Chipping Norton, 5 East, 239; Bac. Ab. Corporations, E. 3; The King v. Bigg, 3 P. W. 482, 434; Yarborough v. Bank of England, 16 East, 11; 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9 s. 3; 1 Chitty on Pleading, 6th edit. 106,

(s) Per Bayley, J. in Broughton v. Manchester Waterworks Company, 3 B. & Ald. 8; and see Slark v. Highgate Archway Company, 5 Taunt. 792.

(1) An insurance company may make a valid promissory note, which will be held good until the contrary be shown. Barker v. Mochanic's Fire Ins. Co., 3 Wend. Rep. 94.

A note by which J. F. as president of an insurance company, promises to pay a sum cortain, is not the note of the company, but of the maker aloue. Ib.

The Utica Ins. Co. have a right to invest their surplus funds in loans; but having called in a part of their capital for the express purpose of making loans in a particular way, viz. by the issuing of checks in the shape of bank notes, it was hcld, that loans thus made are in violation of the restraining act, and that a note taken upon such loan is void. Utica Ins. Co. v. Cadwell, 3 Wend. Rep. 296.

Per Savage, Ch. J. By the restraining act, no person unauthorized shall become a proprietor of a fund for the purpose of issuing notes, receiving deposits, making discounts, or transacting any other business which incorporated banks may or do transact by virtue of the acts of incor-

The money lent may, however, be recovered under the common count, and checks drawn, received as money, and duly paid, will be considered as money. The recovery, however, in such case, being on the contract as distinguished from the security, an action cannot be sustained against the borrower and his sureties, the sureties not being parties to the contract. Id.

A note given to an incorporated company for stock is valid in the hands of an indorsce without notice, notwithstanding the statutory provision forbidding directors of such companies to receive a note or other evidence of debt in payment of any instalment actually called in and requirel to be paid, where it is not affirmatively shown that the note was given for stock called in and required to be paid. Wilmarth v. Crawford, 10 Wend. Rep. 241.

The plaintiffs loaned to J. I. 500 dollars, upon his check for the same sum, collaterally secured by the deposit of a promissory note, indorsed by the defendant. The sum advanced to L. consisted of small checks, drawn by the plaintiffs on the Tradesmen's Bank, having the general appearance of bank notes, and being intended to circulate as such. They were not redeemed at the bank on which they were drawn, but by the plaintiffs themselves at their own office. L. having failed to repay the loan, the plaintiffs brought an action on the note, to which the indorsers set up the illegality of the transaction, under the restraining act, as a defence. Held, that the giving of the checks under the circumstances of the case, was not a banking transaction, nor against the restraining act, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover. Utica Ins. Co. v. Pardow, 2 Hall's Rep. 515

Banks and other commercial corporations may bind themselves by the acts of their authorized officers and agents without the corporate seal. Hubner v. Bank U.S., 5 Wheat 338.

A corporation may be bound by a note given by an authorized agent on account of a demand against the corporation, though no special clause in the act of incorporation authorizes it to issue notes. Mott v. Ilicks, 1 Cowen, 513. So an incorporated Commission Company may accept a bill of exchange on an agreement of the drawer to deposit Goods. Munn v. Commission Co., 15 Johns. Rep. 44.

The trustees of an academy incorporated to promote morality, piety and religion, and for the

(EI

be

43 re=

1

Œ.

150

Z. 1

à.

gb.

e.

با٠٠,

₹.,

١,

٠, ž

ì

I. Who may be Parlies, &c.

ration can, without express enactment, make a bill or note, it has been observed, that as corporations are mentioned in the statute of Anne (6 Ann. c. 22,) as persons who may make or indorse notes, and to whom notes may be payable; and as it gives the like remedy to and for corporations and others as upon inland bills of exchange, it implies that by the custom of merchants they might in some cases at least draw, indorse, accept, or sue upon bills of exchange; but that if the being parties to bills or notes were inconsistent with the purposes for which they were incorporated, that inconsistency might be a bar to any remedy by or through or against them on a bill or And where a corporation is empowered by statute to raise money by notes for a special purpose, if it issue notes without stating therein that they were given for that purpose, the corporation may resist payment on the ground that they were given for another purpose(u).

The bank of England have express power to issue their notes(x). So the Royal Bank of Scotland(y), and the British Linen Company in Scotland(z), have at least implied power to issue their notes and bills; and notes have been issued by other companies, signed by their agent, without objection(a).

The acts relating to these public bodies in general contain particular powers relating to the mode of making their notes, and to the mode by which they are to sue or be sued, or petition in bankruptcy; thus, as to the Bank of England, a clerk verbally authorised by the company may sign notes for [*16] them (\bar{b}) , and his signature may now be impressed by *machinery(c); and the 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 9, provides how the Bank are to sue and be sued, and petition, &c. (d).

Bank Restriction Acts, and decisions thereon (e).

A restraint was imposed by several acts (6 Anne, c. 22, s. 9; 15 Geo. 2, c. 13. s. 5; 21 Geo. 3, c. 60, s. 12; 39 & 40 Geo. 3, c. 28, s. 15; 7 Geo. 4, c. 46; 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98,) in favour of the Bank of England, with respect to the description of bills and notes which corporations (except

(t) Bayley on bills, 5th edit. 67, 68, and see cases.

(u) Slark v. Highgate Archway Company, 5 Taunt. 792. The company were incorporated by 52 Geo. 3, c. 146, and authorised to borrow money to complete their works. They gave a note under their common seal for 1000l. at two months date, payable to Nash or order. It did not import to be for money borrowed to complete their works. Gibbs, C. J. thought this no defence against an innocent indorsee who had paid the value, and the plaintiff had a verdict. But the Court of Common Pleas granted a new trial.

(x) 5 W. & M. c. 22; 15 Geo. 2, c. 13, s. 5; The King v. Big, 3 P. W. 432; Bac. Ab. Corporations; and see 11 Geo. 4 and 1 Will. 4, c. 66, post, Part III. Ch. I. relating to the forgery of bank notes, &c

(y) Rex v. M'Kay, Easter, 1826. The prisoner was indicted for disposing of a forged 11. note of the Royal Bank of Scotland. A charter was proved, enabling the bank to increase its capital, and a clerk proved that the bank was in the constant habit of issuing such notes, but no charter was proved giving them such power: on referring to 48 Geo. 3, c. 149, s. 14, and 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 28 Hullock, B. who tried the prisoner, thought such power was sufficiently recognised by those statutes, and the other judges agreed with him; Russ & Ry. C. C. 71; Bayl. 68.

(z) Doubted in Rex v, M'Kny, Russ & Ry. C. C. 71; see 55 Geo. 3, c. 184. s. 23, which implies the power.

(a) Edie v. East India Company, 2 Bur. 1216; Ryall v. Rolle, 1 Atk. 181; Watsno on Partnership. 1st edit. 53; Kyd on Bills, 32. (b) 8 & 9 Will. 3, c. 20, s. 36; Rex r. Bigg,

3 P. Wms. 419.

(c) 1 Geo. 4, c. 92, s. 3. (d) See cases Chitty's Equity Dig. tit. Bank of Eugland, 89; and tit. "Practice," Injunetion, 1056; and Hammond v. Maundrell, 6 Ves. 772, note.

(e) See post, Regulations as to Banking Companies.

instruction of youth in the learned languages, &c were held capable of procuring subscriptions and taking promissory notes to constitute a fund for the purpose of founding an institution for the education of indigent young men, with the sole view to the christian ministry, to be incorporated with the academy: and an assignment of such notes to a college incorporated distinct from the academy, but by its charter authorised to receive, and required to appropriate the fund in question academy to the will of the donors, was held to be said a properly to the will of the donors. according to the will of the donors, was held to be valid. Amberst Academy v. Cowls, 6 Pick 427.

and Anne 44
or nice over:
corporate the costenic copy, or set total prose that proses

14

ite. It bas be to to ruse on the to ruse on the to ruse on the one of perfector

199000 2**

as to the a local tensor and tens

9; löl* 28. J of Fact of the control of the me de

Hoese or Releast

h. E

3217-1-5 1-5 1-5

the Bank and East India Company (f), and companies in the nature of I- Who banks, may make, accept, indorse, or negotiate; such as those payable on may be demand, which are circulated as cash. Thus it was enacted(g), "that &c. during the continuance of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England, it shall not be lawful for any body politic or corporate whatsoever, or for any other persons whatsoever, united or to be united in covenants or partnership exceeding the number of six persons, in England, to borrow, owe, or take up, any sum or sums of money, on their bills or notes payable on demand, or at any less time than six months from the borrowing thereof." But this and the subsequent enactments are limited in operation by the late important acts of 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, and 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, which confine the above prohibition to corporations and co-partnerships in London, or within sixtyfive miles thereof, and allow banking establishments, though exceeding six in number, to make and issue their bills or notes at any place in England exceeding sixty-five miles from London, payable on demand(h), or otherwise, at a place specified in such bills or notes exceeding sixty-five miles from London, and not elsewhere; provided such bankers have no bankinghouse in or not exceeding sixty-five miles from London, and provided that

As the first of these prohibitory acts in favour of the Bank of England confines its prohibition to corporations and companies in the nature of a bank, and the subsequent acts are in pari materiâ, it is manifest, and it has been decided, that the protection meant to be given was against corporations and companies of bankers, and that it was not the intention of the legislature to prevent co-partners, who were not bankers, nor intended to act as such, from bonâ fide drawing, indorsing, or accepting bills or notes for the purposes of their trade or commerce, and not as a mere colour for raising money by the issue of their notes (j). *So in another case, all the judges were of opinion [*17] that those acts did not prevent a partnership or association of more than six persons from bona fide paying their debts by their acceptance, but merely prevented more than six persons from carrying on a banking concern (k). And in another case it was considered, that taking all the Bank Acts togeth-every member of the establishment shall be liable (i).

(f) 33 Geo. 3, c. 52, s. 108, 109, 110.

(g) 6 Anne, c. 22, s. 9; and see 15 Geo. 2, c. 13, s. 5, and other subsequent acts referred to in context.

(h) As to how far notes under 5l. can now be made payable on demand, and upon what terms the business of banking may be carried on in London, and within sixty-five miles thereof, see nost.

(i) See sect. 1, 7 Geo. 4, c. 46; 3 & 4 Will. 4, c, 98, s. 2, and see futher provisions, post.

(i) Wigan r. Fowler, 1 Stark. Rep. 459, in which the court afterwards refused a new trial; see observation in Harvey r. Kay, 9 B & C.

Wigan v. Fowler and others, 1 Stark. Rep. 459; 2 Chit. R. 128, S. C. An action against seven co-partners, not bankers, on their promissory note for 1000l. payable three months after date. Defence, note illegal, as contrary to said statute. Verelict for plaintiff; and upon motion to set it aside, Lord Ellenborough said "This objection, if it were available, would affect the holder's right of action in every case where it might be contended that the number of the firm, by which the bill was drawn, exceeded six. Such a decision would virtually incapacitate any number of persons exceeding six from entering into a commercial parnership to draw bills of exchange; and great inconvenience would result, since it would be incumbent on every person before he took a bill to inquire whether the firm by which it was drawn consisted of more than six members. The statute must be construed secundum subjectam materiam, and it was the manifest object of the legislature in framing this act to protect the Bank of England against rival banks. If a commercial partnership be made amere colour for raising money by the issue of notes, I agree that the case would fall within the prohibition of the statute." Bayley, J. " Admitting the case to be within the statute, the note would not be void, and the illegality would affect those only who knew the defect. The intention of the legislature was to protect the Bank of England against other banking companies, and the construction contended for might defeat their remedy in almost every m-stance in which they discounted bills." Mr. Justice Holroyd expressed the same opinion.

(k) Magor v. Hammond. This was a special verdict in C. P. argued before the twelve judges. It is not reported, but it was referred to by Bayley, J. in Harvey v. Kay, 9 B. &

C. 363, 864.

1 W

200

11711

200

3 3

æ

903

Mit.

10.1

327

}a∵

V

h 3

·~

27:

 T_{ij}

b ;

£ 11

٠٠.

: 1

, 61

d:

5.1

I. Who may be Parties, &c.

er, the object of the legislature was to give protection against rival banks only(1). But where the corporation of the company and proprietors of the Manchester and Salford Waterworks accepted a bill payable at three mosts from the date, the case was held to be within the prohibition of the above statutes, and it was distinguished from the case of Wigan r. Fowler, because in the latter case it did not appear on the face of the instrument that the security was made by more than six persons, whereas in the principal case the bill was accepted by a corporation(m).

It is also to be observed, that the acts alluded to, though prohibitory and imposing penalties, do not declare that the bill or note issued in contravention shall be void, and therefore, as observed by Mr. Justice Holroyd, a bill or note upon which the objection does not appear on the face of it, may be valid in the hands of a bona fide holder (n).

In those cases where the particular act has given a corporation power to make bills and notes, it must necessarily be taken to have given the holder the like remedy against the body corporate as the law gives against any ordinary party (o)(1). Sometimes moreover the act contains a particular pro-

(1) Perring v. Dunston, Ryan & M. 426. In an action upon a note for 1000l. payable at a shorter time than six months, it appeared to have been made by more than six persons, and it was insisted that it was therefore void as an infringement of the privilege granted to the Bank by 21 Geo. 3, c. 60, s. 12; but Best, C. J. agreed with the opinion given by Lord Ellenborough in Wigan v. Fowler, and thought that taking all the Bank Acts together, the object of the legislature was to give protection against rival banks only; and that it did not appear that this note had any relation to persons in partnership for the purpose of banking, and that the case of Broughton v. The Manchester Waterworks went on the act of the defendants being a corporation.

(m) Broughton v. The Manchester Waterworks Company, 3 B. & Al. 1; and see observations of Beet, C. J. in Perring v. Dunston, Ry. & M. 426, supra, as to the distinction between a corporation and an ordinary copartneship. Sed quære, the acts make no distinction between corporations and co-partnerships; and the real question should seem to be, whether either the one or the other be established for banking purposes. See cases under the late Bank Act, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, post.

(n) Per Holroyd, J. in Boughton v. The Manchester Waterworks, 3 B. & Al. 1; see also the observation of Bayley, J. in Wigan v.

Fowler, 1 Stark. 459, supra.

(o) Murray v. East India Company, 5 B. & Al. 204.

(1) The indersement and delivery of a promissory note to a bank on its request, is a sufficient consideration for an undertaking on the part of the bank to charge the inderser by notice: and if they neglect to do this, the holder may maintain an action against them and recover damages for the neglect. Bank of Utica v. Smedes, 3 Cowen, 663, in error. And a count for such neglect would be good as a count for misfeasance. Ibid \ M'Kinster v. Bank of Utica, 9 Wend. 46. And see 11 Wend. 473, S. C. affirmed by the Court of Errors.

So a bank receiving for collection a bill of exchange drawn npon a person residing is another state, is liable for any neglect of duty accruing in its collection, whether arising from the default of its officers at home, its correspondents abroad, or of agents employed by such correspondents. Allen v. Merchants Bank of New York, 22 Wend. 215. And for any neglect of the necessary means to secure the liability of the parties to the bill or note, the bank is liable. Armington v. Gas Light & Banking Co. 15 Louis. Rep. 414. Thompson v Bank of S. Carolina, Riley's Law Cases, S1; S. C. 3 Hill's Rep. 77. 'The general custom of banks to use moneys so collected is a sufficient consideration for this undertaking. 3 Hill's Rep. ubi sup. But see contra. The East Haddam Bank v. Scovil, 12 Conn. Rep. 303.

This liability may be varied, however, either by express contract or by implication arising from general usuge in respect to such paper; it is competent, therefore, for the bank to show as express contract, varying the terms of its liability, or in the absence of judicial determination on this point, to show that by the usage and custom of the place, the liability of the bank is diminished.—This inquiry is, however, not as to the opinion of merchants as to the law of the case, but as to the usage and practice in respect to such transactions, or the general understanding of merchants, as to the nature of the contract evidenced by their nets, so as to enable the court to give the contract a correct interpretation. Allen r. Merchants Bank of New York, ubi sup-

Where a debt was lost by omission of the notary to give notice of non-acceptance of a bill presented before maturity, it was held, not to excuse a bank which had received the same for collection, that by the law merchant of the place where the bill was presented, notice of non-acceptance was deemed unnecessary; but, as the lex loci contractus governed in the case, it was the daty of the bank to have given the necessary instructions to its correspondents. Ibid.

the duty of the bank to have given the necessary instructions to its correspondents. Ibid.

The omission to give requisite notice, happening through the default of a commissioned public officer, a notary, does not vary the rights of the parties; pro hac vice, he acted merely as the vision authorising actions and proceedings by and against the public officer of I. Who the banking company nominated as the act directs, and proceedings in bank- may be ruptcy may be instituted by, and the property in personalty may in criminal &c. cases be laid in him(p). The recent act of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 96, also enables the members of a banking co-partnership, not being a corporation, to sue and be sued by the co-partnership in the name of their public officer (q). In Scotland, by the statutes 6 Geo. 4, c. 131, and 7 Geo. 4, c. 67(r), joint stock societies *or partnerships may sue and be sued in the name of the firms [*18] severally used by such societies or partnerships, or in the name of the manager, cashier, or principal officer of such society or partnership. And in Ireland also, societies or partnerships formed under the authority of the statutes 5 Geo. 4, c. 73, and 6 Geo. 4, c. 42, s. 16, and the Saint Patrick's Assurance Company of Ireland(s), may sue and be sued in the name of any one of their public officers.

1.23

- 15

With respect to the capacity of the contracting parties in general, the law Incapacity has wisely taken care of the interests of those who either have not judgment in general. to contract, as in the case of infants; or who, having judgment to contract, camot in law have a fund or property to enable them to perform the contract, as in the case of a feme covert; and therefore it has in general rendered the contracts of infants voidable, and those of married women absolutely void.

If a person imbecile in mind be imposed upon and induced to sign a prom- Imbecility, issory, not drawn in the usual form, and when he was not conscious of what Drunkenhe was doing, such note is bad even in the hands of an indorsee for value(t). So if a note be signed by a person in a complete state of intoxication it will be void in the hands of the party obtaining it(u); but not, it should seem, in the hands of an innocent indorsee for value (w). Mere weakness of intellect, however, where there has been no fraud in the transaction, will not

(p) 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s 9, see the enactments in the concluding part of this chapter. Without an express power such officer could not petition for a commission, Guthrie v. Fisk, 5 D. & R. 24; 3 Stark. 153, S. C.

(q) This act, which was only to be in force until the end of the session of 1839, is continued by 2 & 3 Vict. c. 68; and see the Trading Companies Act, 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 73, post.

(r) The 7 Geo. 4, c. 67, enables joint stock banking companies in Scotland to sue and be sued and to prove by their cashiers. Of course in making proof the provisions of the act must be complied with, and the party attempting to prove as cashier must swear that the company has complied with the regulations of the act; and if he has previously obtained an attachment according to the law of Scotland, he must abandon it, or undertake to abandon it, before he can be allowed to prove. Per Commissioner Fonblanque, in the bankruptcy of Maberley, February, 1832.

(s) 5 Geo. 4, c. cix. and see course of proceedings, Bartlett v. Pentland, 1 B. & Adol.

(t) Sentance v. Poole, 3 Carr. & P. 1. On a plea " that the defendant did not make the promissory note mentioned in the declaration,' he cannot give in evidence that he was of im-becile mind at the time when he made it; Harrison r. Richardson, 1 Mood. & Rob. 504.

(u) Pitt v. Smith, 3 Campb. 33; Fenton v. Holloway, 1 Stark. 126; Gregory r. Frazer, 3 Campb. 454; Yates v. Boen, 2 Stra. 1104, n. 1; Bul. N. P. 172.

(w) See per Tindal, C. J., in Northam r. Latouche, 4 C. & P. 145, and see Johnson r. Medlicott, 3 P. Wms. 130.

agent of his employers, and not in his official capacity. Id. Thompson v. Bank of So. Car. 3 Hill's Rep. 77.

It seems that in such case an action lies at the suit of any person beneficially interested in having the duty performed, which the law under such circumstances casts upon the bank. Bank of Utica v. M'Kinster, 11 Wend. Rep. 473.

An agreement by the president and cashier of the bank of the U.S. that the indorser of a promissory note shall not be liable on his indorsement, does not bind the bank. It is not the duty of the cashier and president to make such contracts; nor have they power to bind the bank, except in the discharge of their ordinary duties. All discounts are made under the authority of the directors, and it is for them to fix any conditions which may be proper in loaning money. Bank of the United States v. Dunn, 6 Peters' Rep. 51.

The officers of the bank have no authority, as agents of the bank, to bind it by assurances which would release the parties to a note from their obligations. Ib. Bank of the Metropolis v.

Jones, 8 Peters' 12.

(8)

12 ſ

18:

٩Ľ

Э.

37

76 ·

ж. у -

4.;. X ·

中田 经 民 阿 梨

ů,

.

3:

ķ.,

13

•

٠,

٠.,

3± 3≤

۲ ۱ ۲

• i

I. Who may be Parties, &c. afford any defence (x); and no person can, in defending an action, be allowed to stultify himself, unless it be also shown that he was defrauded or imposed upon, and a defendant cannot in an action set up his own insanity as a defence, unless he has been imposed upon by the plaintiff in consequence of his mental imbecility (y).

In general, all contracts made by infants, otherwise than for necessaries (which is a relative term depending on their station in life), are voidable by them(a); and a bond in a penalty, or for the payment of interest(b), and bills of exchange, in the course of trade, and not merely for necessaries, are Infants(z). clearly not binding upon them(c)(1); and though it *has been considered, [*19] that a single bill or bond for the exact sum due, and not in a penalty, given for necessaries, is obligatory upon an infant(d), yet an indorsee of a bill or note cannot sue an infant upon either of those instruments, though given for such consideration; and as an infant cannot state an account(e), it seems to be the better opinion that these instruments are not in any case available against infants, even between the original parties(f). However, it is clear (x) Baxter v. Earl Portsmouth, 8 D. & R. 614; S. C. 5 B. & C. 170; 2 Carr. & P. 178; Yates v. Boen, 2 Stra. 1104; Faulder v. Silk, 3 Campb. 126; 2 Bla. Com. 292.

(y) Brown v. Jodrell, 3 Carr. & P. 30;
Baxter v. Portsmouth, 8 D. & R. 614; 5 B.
& C. 170, S. C.; and see Dane v. Kirkwall, 8

C. & P. 679.

- (z) In France, infants cannot be parties to bills, 1 Pardess. 328, 329. Pailliet, Manuel de Droit Français, 842, n. 2. In America he cannot be sued on a bill for necessaries, Swasey v. Vanderheydon, 10 John's R. 33. In this country, an infant is capable by law of entering into a contract not merely for necessaries for ready money, but into any reasonable contract for necessaries upon credit, although he may be allowed an income sufficient to supply him with necessaries for ready money; Burghart v. Hall, 4 M. & W. 727.
 - (a) Hands v. Slaney, 8 T. R. 578.
 (b) Fisher v. Mowbray, 8 East, 330.
- (c) Williams v. Harrison, Carth. 160; 3 Salk. 197; Sel. Cas. 17, S. C.; Williamson v. Watts, 1 Campb. 552; Com. Dig. Enfant, C. 2. Williams v. Harrison and others, Carth. 160;

3 Salk. 197, S. C. Action against the defend-of merchants, upon a bill drawn by the defendants, and protested. R. Harrison, one of the defendants, pleaded infancy, and upon demune therto, the Court held that infancy was a good bar, notwithstanding the custom of merchants; for here the infant is a trader, and the bill of exchange was drawn in course of trade, and so for any necessaries.

(d) Co Lie 172 a. n. 2: 1 Rol. Abr. 728.1.

ants, being merchants, according to the custom

(d) Co. Lit. 172 a, n 2; 1 Rol. Abr. 729.1. 20; 1 Lev. 86; 8 East, 330; Trueman r. Hunt,

1 T. R. 41.

(e) Trueman v. Hurst, 1 T. R. 40; Ingledew v. Douglas, 2 Stark. 36. An infant cannot be liable on an account stated, and the reason given is, that he cannot calculate, and is fore incapable of stating an account. See per Abinger, C. B., in Burghart v. Hall, 4 M. & W. 727, 731, 732.

(f) Williamson v. Watts, 1 Campb, 552.

(f) Williamson v. Watts, 1 Campb, 552.

Sir J. Mansfield appears to have considered that an infant could not be liable as acceptor of a bill, although drawn on account of necessaries; the case was this: "Assumpsit on a bill, plea, infancy. Replication, bill accepted for necessaries, and issue thereupon." Sir J. Mansfield, C. J. said "this action certainly cannot be

(1) The same doctrine is asserted in respect to infants in the United States. They are not liable upon notes given by them, although carrying on trade as adults. Van Winkle v. Ketcham, 3 Caines' Rep. 323. A negotiable note given by an infant even for necessaries is void. Swansey v. Adm. of Vanderhayden, 10 Johns. Rep. 33. Fenton v. White, 1 Southard's Rep. 100. M'Crillis v. Howe, 3 New Hamp. 348. \{ In the cases of Haines' adm. v. Tenant, 2 Hill, 400, and Dubose v. Wheddon, 4 M'Cord, 221, the contrary is decided. \}

And the same evidence has been required of the confirmation of a voidable contract of a in-

And the same evidence has been required of the confirmation of a voidable contract of an infant after full age, as of the execution of a new one. Rogers r. Hurd, 4 Day's Rep. 57. But if infancy be set up against a note executed in a foreign country, the party is bound to show that by the law of such country, such plea is a good defence. Thompson r. Ketcham, 8 John. Rep. 139. A note made by an infant for a valuable consideration, but not for necessaries, is not confirmed by a clause in his will made after coming of age, directing all his just debts to be paid. Smith r. Mayo, 9 Mass. Rep. 62.

Where a promissory note was given by an infant, and after he became of full age, he submitted to arbitrament the question whether he was liable on the note; it was held, that this fact did not prove, nor tend to prove, a rutification of the original contract. Benham r. Bishop, 9 Conn.

Rep. 330.

The bare retention of the consideration for which the note of infant was given, after his coming of full age, is not a ratification; nor is a mere acknowledgment that he made the note, or that it is due, sufficient for this purpose; but there must be a promise to pay. Ib.

F 14.

1.5

123

...

223

71.75

7.IT.

1700

1"3"

137

17 3

213 that a person is liable as acceptor of a bill drawn upon him whilst he was an I. Who infant, but accepted after he came of age(g).

It is an unsettled point, whether an infant first indorsee can by such in- &c. dorsement give currency to a bill of exchange, so as to entitle the holder to sue on it; though indeed in a case where the acceptor knew the payee and indorser was an infant, the Court held him liable (h), and *so in a case where [*20] the infant ratified his indorsement after coming of age(i). And it should seem, that without either of those particular circumstances the indorsee might recover, because the acceptance admits the competence of the drawer (k). So it has been held, that the drawer of a bill cannot set up the infancy of the payee and indorser, as a defence to the action against such drawer(l).

maintained. The defendant is allowed to be an infant; and did any one ever hear of an infant being liable as acceptor of a bill of exchange? The replication is nonsense, and ought to have been demurred to. As the point of law is so clear, I am strongly inclined to nonsuit the plaintiff; however, if I am required to hear the evidence, I will do so, and the defendant will find redress in the court above, should the verdict be against her." It appeared that the defendant was a woman of the town, and that the consideration for the acceptance was the sale of silk stockings, and other expensive articles of dress; whereupon Sir J. Mansfield directed a nonsuit. See also Selwyn's Ni. Pri. 9th ed. 302. And in equity, a note obtained from an infant just after his coming of age, for extravagant supplies previously made, has been set aside; Brook v. Galby, 2 Atk. 34; Parnard. 1, 8. C

But in the case of Trueman v. Hurst, 1 T. R. 40, and MS. the court seemed to have been of opinion, that a note given by an infant for necessaries is valid. From a manuscript note of that case it appears that the declaration was on a note, whereby the defendant acknowledged himself to be justly indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of 101., for board and lodging, and for teaching and instructing the defendant in the business of hair-dressing, and did therefore promise to pay the same to the plaintiff on demand; and after the common counts there was an account stated. The defendant pleaded infancy to the whole declaration; and the plaintiff replied, that the note was given for necessaries, and that the sum mentioned in the other counts were due for necessaries; to which replication the defendant demurred; and it was argued for the defendant, that an infant cannot bind himself by a promissory note, even for necessaries; that there is a great difference between a single bill and a promissory note, because an action on the first must be brought in the name of the person to whom it was given, in which case the consideration may be gone into, whereas a promissory note is negotiable. The court desired the counsel for the plaintiff to confine him-self to the objection to the account stated, from which it might perhaps be inferred, that they considered that the action on the note was sustainable

In Kyd on Bills, 29, it is urged, that if a single bill for necessaries be valid, there seems no reason why a bill or note for the same consideration should not be binding; and it has been observed, that this circumstance of a single bill for necessaries being valid seems to afford an argument from analogy to show that a promissory note given by an infant for necessaries would be binding, if payable only to the person who supplied them, though he cannot be bound by his signature to a negotiable bill or note, as that not only prima facie admits the debt and operates as an account stated but, if valid, would render him liable to an action at the suit of an indorsee, in which the amount of the original debt could not be d'sputed; 1 Campb. 553, notes. . And it has been observed in Holt's Ni. Pri. Cas. 78, 79, that as a promissory note, by the statute of Anne, a ny be indorsed over, it should seem that an infant would not be bound by such security, at least not whilst it is in the hands of an indorsee; and in the hands of the person to whom it was originally made payable, it would probably be deemed to have no other qualities than a promissory note before the statute of Anne, that of being merely evidence of a

(g) Stevens v. Jackson, 4 Campb. 164; 2 Rose, 284.

(h) Jones v. Darch and others, 4 Price, 300. The defendants knew, at the time they received the bill, that the payee was an infant, and that he had indursed it before they accepted it, and the defendants had been in the practice of raising money on similar bills. And see Jenne v. Ward, 2 Stark. 330. In America, in the case of Nightingale v. Withington, 15 Mass. R. 272, it was held, that if an infant indorse a note, an action may be maintained upon it by the indorsee against any of the prior parties. And per Parker, C. J., "That an infant may indorse a negotiable promissory note or bill of exchange, payable to him, seems to be well settled in the Law-Merchant, and is no ways repugnant to the common law. Whether an infant may avoid an indorsement so made, and oblige the promiser to pay him, is a question not arising in this case; for there has been no countermand or revocation of the order to pay, which is implied in his indorsement. If an action should be brought against the infant as indorser, without doubt he may avoid such action on a plea of infancy." As to the French law, see 2 Pardess. De Lettres de Change, 459, post.

(i) Taylor v. Croker, 4 Esp. 187, post, 24. (k) Id. ibid and see principle in Drayton r.

Dale, 2 B. & C. 299.

(1) Grey v. Cowper, E. 22 G. 8. 1 Selw. N. P. 302, 9th ed.; and the law in America is the same, Nightingale v. Withington, 15 Mass. R. 272.

CEL

mar.

ïL.

Ю.

30

277 ri i

K . 2

25

75

D.

ď,

14 *

r.

;

. u. .

ŧ,

Þ.

K \

Q-

M.M

¥;

'n X: | Nipo

€ [4]

¥15,

I. Who may be Parties, &c.

If one of two partners acceptors is an infant, and has set up his infancy as a defence, the holder may declare on it against the adult as accepted by him only, and if he plead in abatement the non-joinder of his partner, the plaintiff may reply his infancy, and it will be no departure (m).

Ratificatract.

As the contract of an infant is only voidable, and not absolutely void, he tion of con- may by a promise to pay the bill, made after he attains twenty-one, and before action(n), render it as operative against him as if he had been of age at the time it was made(o). Such promise, however, must be express; and a bare acknowledgment of the debt is not a sufficient confirmation, nor will a promise to pay a part, or an actual payment of a part, create any further liability (p); and such ratification must now be in writing and signed (q). In the case of a continuing contract, voidable only by an infant on his coming of age, he is presumed to ratify and confirm the contract, if he do not within a reasonable time, after he has attained his full age, give notice of the disaffirmance of, or otherwise reject such contract, unless the other party dispense with such disaffirmance (r).

An infant may certainly sue on a bill in his favour(s). Though where one of several persons, who is an infant, has been suffered to appear as a partner with others, they are not obliged to join him in an action at their suit(!).

Married women (u). [*21

A married woman cannot be a party to a bill of exchange, promissory note, or other contract, so as to subject herself to liability in a *court of law, although she be living apart from her husband, and have a separate maintenance secured to her by deed(x); and though she live apart from her husband, in a state of adultery, and there exist a valid divorce à mensa et the ro(y); and a feme covert sole trader in London is not liable to be sued as such in the courts at Westminster(z).

But sometimes a feme covert is chargeable in equity where a feme covert is treated as a feme sole in respect of her separate property (a); and where a

(m) Burgess v. Merrill, 4 Taunt. 468; see Glossop v. Coleman, 1 Stark. Rep. 25, but see Gibbs v. Merrill, 3 Taunt. 307.

Though an infant is not liable as a partner, ret he will be so if he do not, on attaining his full age, notify to persons, trusting the firm after that time, his disaffirmance of the partnership; Goode v. Harrison, 5 B. & Al. 147, and see Holmes v. Blogg, 8 Taunt. 85.

(n) Thornton v. Illingworth, 2 B. & C. 324; 4 D. & R. 545, S. C.
(ρ) Taylor v. Croker, 4 Esp. Rep. 187. In an action by drawer against acceptor of a bill of exchange for 1011., defendant proved that he was under age when he accepted the bill. Plaintiff then produced in evidence a letter in defendant's handwriting, purporting by its date to have been written after he came of age, addressed to a third person, in these words:--" I request you to pay H. (the plaintiff) 101l. at your earliest convenience after the date of this letter, from the money left me by my late grandfather, for which I have given my bill." This letter was proved to have been delivered to plaintiff's clerk, but it did not appear when; it was held, that the letter must primi facie be taken to have been written and issued at the time when it bore date; and that having been written after defendant came of age, and be-fore the bill became due, it would support a count on a promise to pay according to the te-nor and effect of the bill; Hunt v. Massey, 5 Bar. & Adol. 902; 3 Nev. & M. 109, S. C.

(p) Dilk v. Keighley, 2 Esp. Rep. 481; Thupp v. Fielder, Ib, 628. See Hunt v. Massey, 5 Bar. & Adol. 902, last note.

(q) 9 Geo. 4, c. 14, s. L. (r) Holmes v. Blogg, 8 Taunt. 85; Goode

v. Harrison, 5 B. & Al. 147; supra, n. (m). (s) Warwick v. Bruce, 2 Maule & S. 205; Teed r. Elworth, 14 East, 210; 6 Taunt. 118, S. C. in error; Holliday v. Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 501; Kyd, 80; Bac. Abr. Infants, I. 6. (t) Glossop v. Coleman and others, 1 Stark.

(u) In France a bill made by a woman though unmarried, unless regularly concerned in trade, has no other effect than a simple promise, and is not negotiable; 1 Pardess. 328. 55. Puilldiet, Manuel pe Droit Français, til-Lettres de Change, 842.

(x) Marshull v. Rutton, S T. R. 545. (y) Lewis v. Lee, 3 B. & C. 291; 5 Dow. & Ry. 98, S. C.; Faithorne v. Blaquire, 6 Maule & S. 73, sed vide Cox v. Kitchen, 1 B. & P. 338. After a divorce à vinculo matrimonii the wife may contract as a feme sole, Com. Dig. Bar. & Feme, C. 1 C. 7; Moore Rep. 666; Deerly v. Mazarine, 1 Salk. 116; Cro. Eliz. 908; Chamberlaine v. Hewson, 5 Mod. 71; Gow, C. N. P. 10.

(z) Beard v. Webb, 2 B. & P. 98. The husband must be joined for conformity. See in France, 1 Pardess. 45, 56, 59, 328.

(a) Vin. Ab. Bar. & Feme, N. 8. pl. 4; Peacock v. Monk, 2 Ves. sen. 190; Norton v. Turvill, 2 P. Wms. 144; Nurse v. Craig, 2 New Rep. 163; Bac. Ab. Bar. & Feme, K.; Dal-biac v. Dalbiac, 16 Ves. 116; Headen v. Ros-was a bill filed against Clarke and his wife, and the trustees under the marriage settlement, dated the 2d and 3d May, 1806, previous to the marriage, and vesting several real estates and personal property in the trustees, for the sole and separate use of the wife; and the bill stated, that on the 4th October, 1806, the wife requested the plaintiff to lend her 2501., which she promised should be repaid to him, with interest, out of her separate property; and the plaintiff knowing that she had such a separate for her separate use; and she gave him her promissory note for the sum of 250l. with lawful interests, upon demand, dated the 4th of October, 1806. By a letter from the wife to the plaintiff, in answer to an application for repayment, she acknowledged the debt, and promised to pay it out of her separate estate. The note and the letter were admitted by the answer. Sir Samuel Romilly, for the defendants, contended that the promissory note was not the execution of a power, nor an appointment of any part of this settled property, and had no reference to it; constituting merely a debt for a simple contract, and that there was no authority establishing the right of a court of equity to apply the rents and profits of the separate estate of a married woman to the payment of a debt. But the decree directed the trustees to receive the rents and profits of the several estates in the marriage settlement mentioned; that an account should be taken of what was due to the plaintiff for principal, interest, and costs, upon the note of the wife; and that the trustees should pay to him what should be found due in respect of such principal, interest and costs, out of such rents and profits; that they should account annually for the rents and profits, and pay to the plaintiff the balance which should from time to time be reported due, until the principal, interest and costs, shall roperty, accordingly advanced her that sum

(b) Bullpin v. Clarke. 17 Ves. 866. This her, 1 Mac. & Y. 90.

125 Set up 🛎 🛎 adult as accept der of his pare rture 🛎 . HOL ADSOMBET FOR S (Webly-00), # he had been se oust be expres: contirinatios. II rt. create un E iting and som intant on 1872 if he do no to e nouceul. ine other 🏴 Though nac.

N

appear & 11 tion at their & lange, proce in a "counted" separate at vart from in 3 e à menti () ble 10 be 🗷 a_j ; and \mathbf{n} 2 Eq 14 See Hatt us age Tank 15: SEPTE LIF

re a jew 🗸

Vace & S. (ii) 6 Tare 1 Staines, 5 Li lilianii, [i i olders, 136 , by a 🚾 LILE COMP an a seizes Parties 2 a fraças R 343 201: 110

PARK. hacke 17.00 SE 1. 60 Mars 14 900, j 🎉

p. st p iri y

be fully paid. And see Bingham v. Jones, in-(c) Hulme v. Tenant, 1 Bro. C. C. 16; 9 married woman borrowed money, and gave her promissory note payable on I, Who demand, with interest, on a bill filed against the husband and wife, and trus- may be tees acting under a marriage settlement, it was decreed that the debt should be paid out of the rents and profits of the estates settled to her separate use(b); and so where she gave a note jointly with her husband, as a security for his debt(c); and the same point was determined where a fome covert lived separate from her husband, and had a separate maintenance, and accepted a bill of exchange(d). So a feme covert having a separate estate settled upon her is liable in equity upon a hill accepted by her, though for the benefit of another person(e).

*When her husband is in legal consideration dead, as where he is trans- [*22] ported, banished, &c., a married woman may contract so as to be liable at Where a husband has been abroad and not heard of for seven years, it will be presumed he is dead, and the wife is liable(g). If an alien husband never has been in this country, and his wife reside here and con-

Ves. 189, 486; 11 Ves. 209; 1 Ves. & B.

(d) Stewart v. Lord Kirkwall and others, 3 Madd. 397.

(e) Bingham v. Jones, Chancery, 1882, MS. This was an appeal from the judgment of the Master of the Rolls. The question was as to the effect of an acceptance of a bill of exchange by a feme covert, who had an estate settled upon her for her sole and separate use. The bill was drawn and indorsed by her daughter. When the case was argued, his lordship felt no doubt upon the point; but in consequence of the pressing manner in which some authorities had been argued, he was induced to defer his judgment. He had entertained no doubt upon the subject for years past, and a solemn-decision at law had established the liability of the acceptor. The foundation of the argument against her liability was, that this was an accommodation bill, and therefore it was said she must be regarded as a surety; but the contrary had been decided by three eminent judges in the Court of Common Pleas. It had been also said that there was a difference where the feme corert accepted a bill for her own use, and where it was accepted, as in this case, for the benefit of another. There did not appear to be any decision precisely on that point in this court, though there was a case in 15 Vesey, which came near it, but the acceptance made a good debt at law, on which the acceptor might be sued, and by which he became primarily liable whether the bill was for accommodation or not. This was the view which had been taken of the case in the court below, and therefore the judgment was affirmed with. costs, and see Bowyer v. Peake, Freem. C. R.

(f) Derry v. Duchess Mazzarine, Lord Raym. 147; De Gaillon v. L'Aigle, 1 Bos. & Pul. 858, 859; Carrol v. Blencow, 4 Esp. 27; Belknap's case, Year Book, 2 Hen. 4, 7 a; Bac. Ab. Bar. & Feme, M.; Lean v. Schutz, 2 Bla. Rep. 1197; Corbett v. Poelnitz, 1 T.

(g) Hopewell v. De Pinna, 2 Campb. 118; Lambert v. Atkins, 2 Camp. 273; 1 Jac. 1, c. 11, s. 2; Rowe v. Hasland, 1 Bla. Rep. 404; Doe v. Jesson, 6 East, 80.

Digitized by Google

.EII

ا، يوج

W

ĮΩ

201.1

9.

₩.

۶,

7

27.5

٠:٠

 $N_{\rm eff}$

34.

. . .

ï.

Ŀ.,

٠> ۾

福村 *: 4

`, s.;

;

I. Who may be Parties, &c.

tract debts, she is responsible(h). But in the case of an alien, who has once resided in this country, the animus revertendi is, it seems, to be presumed, unless the contrary appear; and therefore it has been held at Nini Prim that a woman, by birth an alien and the wife of an alien, cannot be sued as a feme sole if her husband has lived in this country, although he has left her here and entered into the service of a foreign state(i).

Though it has been decided, that if a married woman give a promissory note, and after the death of her husband promise to pay it in consideration of forbearance, such promise is void; yet if the wife had separate estate secured to her at the time she gave the note, the promise may be enforced at law(k).

If it be proved that a wife has antecedently usually drawn, accepted, or indorsed bills or notes for her husband with his authority, the proof of her hand-writing to a bill or note has generally been held to bind him. But in a late case it seems to have been considered, that though it be proved that a tradesman cannot write, and that his wife usually had written for him whatever was requisite in his trade, yet he will not be liable upon a bill or note signed by her, unless there be also some evidence that it was signed by her in respect of his trade, and this although she signed in his name, and though he afterwards recognised it (l). If a husband indorse a promissory note made by his wife and payable to him, the indorsee may sue him as such indorser(m).

If a bill or promissory note be made to a feme sole, and she afterwards marry, being possessed of the note, the property vests in the husband, and he alone can indorse the same (n); and if such instrument be made payable to a feme covert, the legal interest vests in the husband, and he alone can in gen-[*23] eral indorse the same (o); and though the *wife might join with him in an action, yet it is not necessary that she should do so, because by the act of marriage itself the husband is virtually an indorsee(p); and in such case when the husband sues alone on a promissory note given to his wife, a debt due to the maker from the feme dum sola cannot be set of f(q). But where a married woman, being executrix, received a sum of money in that character, and

(h) Kay v. De Pienne, 3 Camp. 124.

(i) Kny r. De Pienne, 3 Camp. 123, 125; sed wide 2 Esp. 554, 587; 2 N. R. 380, S. C. (k) Lloyd v. Lee, 1 Stra. 94; Lee v. Mug-geridge, 5 Taunt. 36.

(1) Smith r. Pedley, MS. 1824, Bayl. 5th ed. In an action by the indorsee of note against maker, it appeared that defendant could not write, and that his wife wrote for him whatever was requisite, and that this note was signed by the wife in his name; but there was no evidence that the note was given on account of any concerns of the husband: it was however left to the jury to presume it was given for the husband's concerns, and the jury found for the plaintiff. But on a rule nisi for a new trial, the court thought there was nothing to warrant such presumption by the jury, and a new trial was granted. See post, 819, (2).

(m) Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182.

(n) Conner v. Martin, 1 Str. 516, cited in 3 Wils. Rep. 5. In an action against husband and wife on a note made by the wife dum sola, a statement by a witness that he knew A. B. (the wife) formerly, and had heard that she afterwards married E. F. (the husband), was held sufficient prim's facie evidence of marriage in the absence of any cross-examination of the witness on the part of the plaintiff; Evans r. Morgan, 2 Crom. & J. 458.

(o) Philliskirk et Ux. v. Pluckwell, 2 Maule & S. 393; Mason 4. Morgan, 2 Ad. & El. 30; 4 N. & M. 46, S. C.; but see Cotes v. Davis, 1 Camp. 485; and Prestwich v. Marshall, 4 Car. & P. 594; 4 M. & P. 513, S. C. infra. To a plea of coverture in the plaintiff, she cannot reply that at the time of the promise declared on, her husband had been absent seven years, and that during that period he was not known nor is he now known by the plaintiff to be alive, but should reply that her husband is dead; Lake v. Ruffle, 6 Nev. & Man. 684.

(p) M'Neilage v. Hollaway, 1 B. & Ald. 218; Arnold r. Revoult, 1 Brod. & Bing. 445; 4 J. B. Moore, 70, S. C. The husband may declare alone on a note made to his wife during coverture, alleging it was payable to him; Arnold r. Revolt, 4 J. B. Moore, 70, 71; 1 Brod. & B. 445, S. C.; Ankerstein r. Clarke, 4 T. R. 616; or she may join in the action, 2 Maule & S. 393.

(q) Burrough v. Moss, 10 B. & C. 558; 8 Law J. 237, S. C.

Digitized by Google

ी या क्षील, श्रीवर seems, to be any o beid at No Fa an grei 🕰 11 II II (089E ्रात स्थापक हार use mar be 🖽 draun, mens riv, the profit o braditim. 🖟 i it be prosect aritten for XX K gpag a 🛍 🖽 nas sami name, an "

Н

he husbadd. A mode lates alone carsi io nich izi se by their

Ji. a utilit or where 1 a ni characes

Parket ! o. 2 1d x E 1 Up ('ola mich (400 513. S. C. P. pulpof, or s en abeed ed " LING IN REA i ibe plasti her asces! S Mao in u

S Rest # no. To S he was H^{ME} S

ne. ie. J - II - (123/ en, cannt bese ith i shibe be 6 a programi suc him is al and she altern

in such case

in terminative et plaulist, in

m (MOTHER SEE

(188.)

lent the same to her husband, and took in return for it the joint and several I. Who promissory note of her husband and two other persons, payable to her with may be interest; it was held, that although she could not have maintained any action &c. upon the note during the lifetime of her husband, yet that he having died, and it having been given for a good consideration, it was a chose in action surviving to the wife, and that she might maintain an action upon it against either of the other makers at any time within six years after the death of her husband, and recover interest from the date of the note(r).

Where a note was given by the defendant to a married woman, knowing her to be such, with intent that she should indorse it to the plaintiff in payment of a debt which she owed him, in the course of carrying on a trade in her own name, by the consent of her husband; yet it was held that the property in the note vested in the husband, and that no interest passed by an indorsement in her name to the plaintiff(s). But in another case, where on the note being presented for payment the defendant promised to pay the indorsee of the wife who passed and indorsed by a name different from her husband and with his knowledge, the jury were directed to infer an authority to make such indorsement (t). And in a recent case it was held that the indorsement by a married woman in her own name, with her husband's assent, of a bill drawn by her, is binding upon him, and will pass the interest in the bill to the indorsee, so as to enable him to sue the acceptor who *had previously paid similar bills so indorsed(u)(1). The power and ca-[*24] pacity of a bankrupt to become a party to a bill will be hereafter noticed (x).

(r) Richards v. Richards, 2 Bar. & Adol. 447. Post, 819, (3).

(s) Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 432; 3 Esp. Rep. 266, S. C. Ann Parry was a married woman, carrying on trade in her own name with the consent of her husband. She became in the course of such trade indebted to the plaintiff, and to enable her to pay him, defendant, who knew that she was married, gave her a note payable to her or order for the amount of the debt; she indorsed it in her own name to plaintiff, and he brought this action. Lord Kenyon at the trial thought it not maintainable, and saved the point, and after a rule for a nonsuit and cause shown, said it was clear that the delivery of the note to the wife vested the property in the husband; that as he permitted her to trade on her own account, and this was a transaction in the course of that trade, he was not prepared to say that if she had indorsed the note in his name, that that would not have availed, and the jury might have presum-ed an authority from her husband for that purpose. But the indorsements being in her own name, it was quite impossible that it could pass away the interest of her husband by it. Rule absolute. But see Prestwich v. Marshall, 4 Car. & P. 594; 4 Moore & P. 513, S. C.; post, 24, n. (u).

(t) Cotes v. Davis, 1 Camp. 485. Action by indorsee against maker of promissory note, payable to Mrs. Carter or order, and indorsed by her in her own name. The note when due, with the indorsement thereon, was presented by a notary to defendant, who said it should be paid in a few days; defendant now offered to prove that Mrs. Carter was the wife of one Cole, who was still living. Lord Ellenborough said, the jury might presume that her husband authorised her to indorse notes by the name in which she herself passed in the world, and that the defendant was estopped from contesting her authority for this indorsement. Verdict for plaintiff. See also Doe ex dem. Leicester and another v. Biggs, 1 Taunt. 367; Prince Brunatte, 1 Bing. N. C. 435, post, 24, n.(a).

(u) Prestwich v. Marshall, 4 Car. & P. 594; 4 M. & P. 513, S. C.; ante, 23, n.(s). To a dealerst in agging the acceptance of the left.

declaration against the acceptor of a bill of exchange alleged to have been drawn and indorsed by Sarah Ellwood, defendant pleaded that she was the wife of Thomas Ellwood, who was still alive; replication, that she drew and indorsed the bill by the authority of her husband, held no departure; Prince r. Brunatte, 1 Bing. N. C. 435; 1 Scott, 342, S. C.; 3

Dowl. 382, S. C. (x) Post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer; Drayton v. Dale, 2 B. & C. 299.

(1) A feme covert may make a valid indorsement of a note given to her before marriage, by a name different from that of her husband, if the circumstances of the case be such as to warrant the presumption that the indorsement was made with the assent of the husband. Miller v. Delamater, 12 Wend. 433.

Such indorsement will be valid, notwithstanding that by an ante-nuptial contract she had assigned the note to a trustee for her benefit: if the indorsement be made with the knowledge and assent of the trustee. Ibid.

(84)

100

5.3

2.1

) P

Mr.

ac i

Se. ..

Aid.

ď,

ŀ

¥

ær.

¥.

E.

70,

Bic

ĸ

Ŀ; 1.

`...,

سويعؤ

'n. 24

> ٠, $\mathcal{L}_{\mathcal{L}}$ Ϋ-

14 ابته ۲.

14 ;

 $\mathbf{x}_{i,j}^{t}$

۲,

4, 1₁

i h

¥

i i

à

I. Who may be Parties. &c.

Effect of Incapacity as to other Parties.

Except in the instance of an indorsement by a feme covert, it seems that although a bill, &c. be drawn, indorsed, or accepted by a person incapable of binding himself, it will nevertheless be valid against all other competent Therefore, if a husband indorse a note by which his wife promised to pay him a sum of money, as between him and the indorsee, it is certainly good(z); and as infancy is a personal privilege, of which the infant alone can avail himself, the drawer or acceptor of a bill cannot set up the infancy of the indorser as a defence to the action(a); and it is reported to have been decided, that where a bill drawn and indorsed by an infant to a third person, who indorsed the same to the plaintiff, had been misappropriated by the first indorsee, in fraud of such drawer, and he had therefore demanded the bill from the plaintiff, that circumstance afforded no defence in an action against the acceptor, because it would materially injure the circulation of bills, if such facts were to be inquired into (b)(2); and this decision seems sustainable on the ground that the drawee, by accepting such negotiable bill, admits the ability of the party to draw it, or at least is estopped from disputing such ability in an action by a bona fide holder, though perhaps he may be liable to pay the amount over again to the infant or the husband of a feme covert indorser(c). And where the acceptor knew the payee and first indorser was an infant at the time he accepted the bill, he was held liable(d); but the point whether an infant, first indorser, can by such indorsement give currency to a bill, so as to entitle the holder to sue on it, still remains unsettled(e).

It should seem, however, that the holder may at all events, sue a subsequent indorser(f).

II. OF THE NUMBER OF PARTIES.

II. We have observed that bills of exchange differ from most other con-II. Of the Number of tracts in the circumstance of there being frequently more than two parties to them(g): a bill has indeed, previously to its being transferred, generally Parties. three parties, namely, the person making it, who is called the drawer, the person to whom it is directed, who before acceptance is called the drawe, and afterwards the acceptor, and the person in whose favour it is made, who, when named in the body of the bill or note, is called the payee. It is not however necessary that there should be three parties to a bill; there are sometimes only two; as where a person draws a bill on another payable to his own order; and indeed a bill will be valid where there is only one party to it, for a man may draw on himself payable to his own order(h)(3). In [*25] such case, however, *the instrument may be treated as in legal operation > (y) Poth. pl. 29; Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182; ante, 22, n.(m).

(z) Huly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 181. (a) Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182; and see the general principle, Holt v. Clarencieux, 2 Stra. 987; Warwick v. Bruce, 2 Maule & S. 205; 6 Taunt. 118. But in Jeune v. Ward, 2 Stark. 380, such a defence was permitted, and see Jones v. Darch, 4 Price, 800; ante, 19, n. (h). (b) Taylor v. Croker, 4 Esp. Rep. 187, post.

(c) Ante, 20, 23; and see Drayton r. Dale, 2 B. & C. 299, which proceeded on the same principle.

(d) Jones v. Darch, 4 Price, 300; ante, 19, n.(h).

(e) See id.; 2 Stark. 330.

(f) Supra, note(d), and ante, 19, note(h).

(g) Ante, p. 1. (h) 1 Pardessus, Cours de Droit Commercial, 351.

[¿] Knox v. Reeside, 1 Miles, 294. ⟩ (2) Though a note given by an infant be void as against him, yet the indorser is liable. Ensign v. Woodhouse, Ms. cited in 4 Esp. Rep. 188. note(1). See Hull v. Connolly, 3 M'Cord, 6.

(3) { Randolph v. Parish, 9 Porter, 76. And such a paper, when negotiated, will be a bill. in the hands of an indorsee. Ibid. >

Per Bayley, J. in Harvey v. Kay, 9 B. & C.

364. "In Magor v. Hammond, which was a special verdict in C. P. argued before the twelve judges, all the judges were of opinion that an instrument might be a bill of exchange, though the drawer and drawee were the same per-

But such an instrument may be treated as a promissory note, and so declared upon, and then the defendant is not entitled to notice of dishonour; Roach v. Ostler, 1 Man. & Ry. 120;

Ex parte Parr, 18 Ves. 69. Per Lord Eldon, "It is said by the counsel that the house at Liverpool was partner with the other house at Demerara; but it has been established above thirty years that the same person may be both drawers and acceptors, as constituting different

Starke v. Cheesman, Trin. 11 Will. 3;

Carth. 509. Christopher Cheesman, being in Virginia, drew a bill on Christopher Cheesman as in Ratcliffe, London, which in truth was upon himself, and the plaintiff declared that defendant drew a bill payable after sight, and directed the same to Christopher Cheesman in Ratcliffe, and then averred that the drawee was not found; and thereupon the bill was protested, and the defendant, as drawer, became chargeable. The defendant suffered judgment by default, and moved in arrest of judgment;

but made no objection, on the ground that the bill was drawn by the drawer upon himself, though other objections were taken, and the plaintiff had judgment.

Dehers v. Harriott, Trin. 2 JW. & M., 1

Show. 168. A drew a bill payable by himself in Dublin; an action was afterwards brought thereon, and no objection being taken on this Robinson v. Bland, Burr, 1077. The defendant being at Paris, drew a bill on himself in London; the consideration was partly for money lost at play in Paris, and partly money lent at the time and place of pluy, and upon that ground a case was reserved for the opinion of the court; but no objection was made that the defendant drew the bill upon himself.

19506 TO 77.79 W. 16. 18 THE DEP

71, 1 99

11

: el 200 は小理 rat 🍱

14.77

100

9:21 (7.5 . . . 7 ق ۾

1.15 12.5

firms."

:::

7

· .

See these cases observed upon in Harvey v. Kay, 9 B. & C. 363, 364.

But an authority to an agent to draw bills on the principal will not make the principal a account, plaintiff recovered.

a promissory note, and declared on accordingly (i)(1). But in practice it is II. Of the usual to declare upon the instrument as if it were a bill, not admitting the Number of identity of the drawer and drawer (k). And an instrument in the common Parties. identity of the drawer and drawee(k). And an instrument in the common form of a bill of exchange, except that the word at is substituted for to, before the name of the drawees, should be declared on as a bill of exchange, and if refused acceptance, the drawer may immediately be sued(l), or if such word "at" is written so small, or in a manner so indistinct, as to be capable of deceiving, it might be declared on either as a bill or as a promissory note after it is due(m). So though husband and wife are in legal > drawer; Ex parte Bolton, 3 Mont. & Ayr. 367; 2 Dea. 537; Ducarry v. Gill, 4 C. & P. 121; post, 29, n. (r).

> (i) Roach v. Ostler, 1 Man. & Ry. 120; su-pra, n. (h); and see Dickinson v. Valpy, 10 B. & C. 128; 5 M. & R. 126, S. C.

(k) See cases in note (h), supra.

(1) Shuttleworth v. Stevens, 1 Camp. 407. Declaration in common form, as upon a bill of exchange drawn by defendant on Messrs. John Morson and Co., payable to John Jenkins, and indorsed to him by the plaintiff. In support of the artion, a paper writing, of which the fol-lowing is a copy, was given in evidence:— 21st October, 1804.

Two months after date, pay to the Order of John Jenkins 781. 11s. value received.

Tho. Stevens. At Messrs. John Morson and Co.

Lord Ellenborough held that this was properly declared on as a bill of exchange, and that Mesers. Morson & Co. might be considered as the drawees, although perhaps it might have been treated as a promissory note, at the option of the holder. In a late case, in an indictment for forgery, describing the instrument as a promissory note, and the instrument being in the following form:--

Newport, Nov. 20, 1821.

£28 15 0,

Two months after date, pay Mr. B. Hobda or order, the sum of 281. 15s. Value received.

John Jones.

At Messrs. Spooner & Co.

Bankers, London.

It was held a variance, as the instrument was in law a bill of exchange; Rex v. Hunter, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 511; but see cases, post, as to form of bill.

(m) Allen v. Mawson, 4 Campb. 115. The plaintiff declared, as indorsee, against the defendant, as drawer of a bill of exchange, alleged to have been dishonoured for non-accept-The instrument given in evidence was in the following form:

Bradford, August 2nd, 1814. Two months after date, pay to Mr. Lewis Alexander or Order, Forty Pounds, value received.

George Mawson.

^{(1) {} Randolph v. Parish, 9 Porter 76. In the case of Cunningham v. Wardwell, 3 Fairf. 466, it was decided that a bill of exchange drawn by one upon himself was to be regarded as an accepted bill. }

CEA

ŀ

570

4574

24.

1

9

200

允认

改. 3.

74

W.

ž.

35

ź.

'n ż

'nċ

.

`.

. برج)

Parties.

II. Of the consideration *one person, and though a note given by a married woman Number of to her husband is void, yet if he indorse it over to a third person, as between the husband and the indorsee, the note is certainly good(n). conveniences however may arise from the same person becoming a party to a bill or note in different capacities, viz. as drawer, and also as second indorser(o); and if the drawer of a bill indorse it, and afterwards it be indorsed back to him, he cannot sue such indorser in any case on the bill, or even in a special action of assumpsit, without averring and proving an adequate consideration and legal promise corresponding with the averments(p); and a person cannot effectually become even a surety by writing his name as a second drawer or second acceptor of a bill addressed only to one person(q).

> at Sir John Perring, Shaw, Barber, and Co. Bankers, London.

The word at was in very small letters, inclosed in the hook of the following S. This instrument was drawn in Yorkshire, and being remitted to the plaintiff, who was an attorney in London, he presented it for acceptance to Perring & Co., and as they refused to accept it, he immediately gave notice of its dishonor to the defendant, and commenced an action against him. The question was whether the plaintiff had a right to treat this instrument as a bill of exchange. Gibbs, C. J., "Upon the authority of the above case I should not have hesitated to decide that in point of law this instrument is a bill of exchange, had the word 'at' been distinctly written before the names of the drawees; but I shall leave it to the jury whether the word 'at,' from the manner in which it was written, was not inserted for the purpose of deception, and then the instrument is a bill of exchange in point of fact. The 'at' being struck out, it is in the common form in which bills of exchange are drawn. The defendant says, 'Two months after date pay to;' this is not a promise to pay, but a request to third persons to pay. I cannot receive evidence of the manner in which such instruments are considered in Yorkshire. The defendant, in contemplation of law, issued it in London, where the plaintiff received it; he took it to be a bill of exchange, as almost any other person in London would have done. I can see no motive for drawing an instrument in this form, except to deceive the public. If such instruments have been common in the country they ought not to be continued or endured. plaintiff did well in immediately commencing the action when Perring and Co. refused to accept the bill." The jury found the insertion of the "at" to be fraudulent, and the plaintiff recovered. Edis v. Bury, 6 B. & C. 433; post, Ch. V. s. i.

(n) Per Lord Hardwicke, in Haly v. Lane,

2 Atk. 181. (o) Mainwaring v. Newman, 2 Bos. & Pul. 120; Bishop v. Hayward, 4 T. R. 470; Porthouse v. Parker and others, 1 Campb. 82; Ex parte Parr, 18 Ves. 65; Davison v. Robertson, 3 Dow, 229, 230.

As to fictitious bills see post, Ch. V. s. ii. Effect of giving time to a party who is both the first and last indorser of a bill, Hall v. Cole, 4 Ad. & El. 577; post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Bishop v. Hayward, 4 T. R. 470, declaration on a promissory note, stated to have been made by Collins, payable to plaintiff, or order, and afterwards indorsed by him to defendant, who reindorsed it to plaintiff. The court, upon motion, arrested the judgment; and per Buller, J.," the consequence of supporting this judgment would be, that the plaintiff, without having any real demand on defendant, might recover against him by the judgment of the court, without allowing the defendant a possibility of defending bimself.'

Britten v. Webb, 2 Bar. & Cres. 483; 8 Dow. & Ry. 650, S. C. Plaintiffs stated that they drew their bill upon Webb, payable to their own order, that Webb accepted, that plaintiffs, by their certain indorsement, appointed the contents to be paid to defendant, and that defendant afterwards, by his indorsement, appointed the contents to be paid to plaintiffs, and plaintiffs averred that at the time of the drawing of the bill and of defendant's indoorsement, it was agreed between plaintiffs and defendant, that defendant's name should be upon the bill, as a security to plaintiffs for the due payment to plaintiffs of the sum in the bill by Webb, being a debt due from Webb to plaintiffs; that the bill was indorsed by defendant under that agreement, and for that purpose only; that plaintiffs took it in satisfaction of the debt from Webb, upon the faith that defendant would so indorse it; and that the indorsement by plaintiffs to defendant was without consideration from defendant to plaintiffs, and for the purpose only of procuring defendant's indorse-ment, and making the bill negotiable. On demurrer, the court held these averments did not entitle plaintiff to sue; they were at variance with the allegation that plaintiffs appointed the sum of money mentioned in the bill to be paid to defendant, and gave plaintiffs no right to sue upon the usage and custom of merchants; and to give plaintiffs a right to sue exclusively of such usage, they were bound to state a consideration for defendant's promise, which they had not done. But see Penny F. Innes, 1 C., M. & R., 439; post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer—Right of Indorsee.

(p) Id. ibid. (q) Jackson v. Hudson, 2 Campb. 447. But in America it has been decided that if a person, not the payee, indorse his name upon it at the time it is made, intending to make himself responsible to the payee, he is liable as an original promiser; Mores v. Bird, 11 Mas. R. 436; Bayl. 88, American edit.

2.78

1. 17

. . .

. 5.5

11 1

, ,

53

It is by transfer of a bill of exchange from one person to another, when it II. Of the is negotiable, that the parties may become still more numerous; in which Number of case, if the transfer be by indorsement, the person making it is called the indorser; the person in whose favour the transer is made, the indorsee; and in all cases the person in possession of the bill is called the holder, or where transferable by delivery to the *bearer, the bearer, and the number of in- [*27] dorsers is unlimited; and if there be not room on the bill others may be added on an annexed paper called un allonge.

The acceptor of a bill and the maker of a note are respectively considered as the original and principal debtors, and primarily liable, and the drawer and indorsers are considered as sureties, liable as sureties or parties guaranteeing the performance of the principal's contract. It will be found exceedingly important, in various respects, to keep in view this distinction between their respective situations and liabilities (r).

The drawer, acceptor, indorser, and holder, are the principal and immediate parties to the instrument; but besides them a person may become a party to it in a collateral way (s); as where the drawee refuses to accept, any third party, after protest for non-acceptance, may accept for the honour of the bill generally, or of the drawer, or of any particular indorser, in which case the acceptance is called an acceptance supra protest, and the person making it is styled the acceptor for the honour of the person on whose account he comes forward; and he acquires certain rights, and subjects himself to nearly the same obligations as if the bill had been directed to him(t). person may also become party to the instrument by paying it supra protest, either for the honour of the drawer or indorsers (u); or by a bill being addressed "au besoin chez Messers."—or, "in case of need, to G. H."—or, "per aval." The rights and obligations attached to these collateral modes of becoming party to a bill will be spoken of hereafter (x).

III. Modes of Becoming a party.

With respect to the mode of becoming party to any one of these instru-III. Modes ments, it is a general rule that no person can be considered as a party to a of becombill unless his name, or the name of the firm of which he is a partner, appear ing a on some part of it(y); however, a person may become drawer, indorser, or Party. acceptor, not only by his own immediate act, but also by that of his agent or partner. Where a party insists that his name has been forged, he may resist the payment at law, or file a bill in equity. If he intend to resist the payment, he should, immediately he hears that his hand-writing has been imitated, Party himgive public notice, cautioning persons from taking bills or notes with his name solf. thereon, without first applying to him. A court of equity has jurisdiction to declare an instrument forged, and to order it to be delivered up, without sending the fact of forgery to be tried by a jury, but not if a doubt be raised, by even one witness swearing to the authenticity of the instrument, in which case an issue must be directed (z).

(r) See post, as to the liability of an accept-or, and the cases there collected.

(s) Poth. pl. 25, 26. See Britten v. Webb, 2 Bar. & Cres. 483, ante, 26. n.(o), where it was held the indorser could not become collaterally liable on the bill to the drawer.

(t) See post, Ch. VIII. s. iii.

(u) See post, Ch. X. s. ii.

(x) See post, Ch. V. s. ii.

(y) Per Buller, J., in Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 760; Siffkin v. Walker and another, 2 Campb. 308; Emly v. Lye and another, 15 East, 7; and see Ducarry v. Gill, 4 Car. & P. 121; post, 29, note(r); Wilson v. Barthrop, 2 M. & W. 863, post.

(z) Peake v Highfield, 1 Russ. R. 559.

CH1

Gi.

(L

2.

ĺч

X. 1

1

 $f_{i,j}$

)...

11)

17.0

Ť. 2

ă. |

2.

EY:1

tie n

.

12 ۲.

÷.

• ۶., αŗ,

.

1 :

۴,

III. Modes ing a Party.

27

By Act of Agent. *28

Mode of appointment.

It is general rule of law, that when a person has power, as owner, to perof becom- form an act, he may, as incident to his right, perform it by attorney or agent Hence it is clear that a person may draw, accept, or indorse a bill by his agent as well as by himself(b). In these cases *he is said to draw, accept, and indorse by procuration(c). As this agency is a mere ministerial office, infants, feme coverts, persons attainted, outlawed, excommunicated, aliens, and others, though incapable of contracting on their own account, so as to bind themselves, may be agents for these purposes (d). And a partner may act for the whole firm by procuration, and indorse a bill for it in this manner(e); but by so doing such partner cannot ever be sued by the firm, or one or more members of it, on the bill(f).

With respect to the manner of their appointment, it is said(g), that there ought to be a formal power of attorney, but this is by no means necessary, unless when the agent is to execute a deed for his principal; for the authority which an agent has to draw, indorse, and accept bills (being simple contracts) for his principal, may be, and indeed most usually is by parol(h). And though in general an agent to a corporation must be appointed by deed, yet it has been held that the Bank of England or any similar corporation may, without deed, empower its servants to make bills of exchange or promissory notes in its name, as is the usual practice, for this is not matter in itself connected with its title or interest, but merely the ordinary course of its business(i); and now in the case of the Bank of England, by 1 Geo. 4, c. 92, s. 3, the name of the bank clerk may be impressed by machinery. The secretary of a company has not in general any authority as such to accept or negotiate bills for the same (k); and if by the resolution of a mining company, four directors are essential for the doing an act to bind the company, and three only execute a power of attorney, authorising an agent to draw bills, a member of the company will not be bound by bills drawn by such agent(l).

Extent of Authority.

If a bill or note appear to be drawn, accepted, or indorsed in the name of another, or by procuration for him, it will not hind the principal, unless the act were within the scope of the agent's authority; and consequently whenever an instrument of this nature is not signed by the party himself, the party taking it must first satisfy himself that the agent had power so to act for the supposed principal(m); for otherwise he and any subsequent indorsee

(a) Combe's case, 9 Co. 75 b.; Kyd, 32. (b) Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 27; Com. Dig. Attorney, C.; Ward v. Evans, Ld. Raym. 930; 6 Mod. 36, S. C.; -- v. Harrison, 12 Mod. 346; Anonymous, id. 564; Usher v. Dauncey and another, 4 Campb. 97, et vide 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9, s. 1.

(c) Beawes. pl. 83; Kyd, 33; see post.

(d) Co. Lit. 52 a. (e) Williamson v. Johnson, 1 Bur. & Cres. 146; 2 Dow. & Ry. 282, S. C.

(f) Teague v. Hubbard, 8 flar. & C. 345; post.

(g) 1 Beawes, pl. 86; Marius, 2nd ed. 104.
(h) Per Lord Eldon, in Davison v. Robertson, 3 Dow, Rep. 229; Porthouse v. Parker, 1 Campb. 82, and per Holt, C. J., in Anonymous, 12 Mod. 564; Harrison v. Jackson, 7 T. R. 209; The King v. Bigg, 3 P. Wms. 432; Bac. Abr. Corporations, E. 3; Payley, Prin. & Agent, 117; and see 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9.

(i) Co. Lit. 94 b; 1 Salk. 191, pl. 3; Rex.

r. Biggs, 3 P. Wms. 423.

(k) Neale v. Turton, 4 Bing. 149; post, Partnership.

(1) Ducarry v. Gill, 4 Car. & P. 121; Mood. & M. 450, S. C.; rost, 29, n. (r).

(m) Atwood c. Munnings, 7 B. & C. 278; post, 30, n.(b). East India Company v. Traton, 3 Bar. & Cres. 280. Three bills apon the East India Company were payable to Hope or order, they got into possession of Card, who indused them, "by procuration for Hope." Card had a power of attorney from Hope, bat it was not sufficient to warrant these indorsements. From Card the bills passed to Davis and Card, and they indorsed them to defendants, their bankers; the con-pany required to see Hope's power to Card, and it was shown them, and they registered it in their books. The bills were afterwards presented for payment by defendants, the company paid them, and Davis and Card drew the money from defendants. Hope's representatives afterwards enforced payment over again from the company, on the ground that Card's indorsement was un-authorised; and the company then sued defendants, on the ground that they were to be taken may be unable to recover on the bill, *and he may be obliged to refund in III. Modes case payment should be obtained; though a defect in the authority of the of becomageut would not, it seems, subject an innocent indorsee to refund, especially By Agent. if the person paying inspected the power before he paid, and the holder did not(n).

4

As to the extent of the agent's authority, if a person be appointed a general agent, as in the case of a factor for a merchant residing abroad, the principal is bound by all his acts; but an agent constituted so for a particular purpose, and under a limited and circumscribed power, cannot bind the principal by any act exceeding his authority (o). Therefore, where A. desired B. to get a bill discounted for him, but declared that he would not indorse, it was decided(p) that no representation of B. could bind A. as an indorser, though it was insisted that what B. had done was within the scope of his employment, which was to raise money on the bill, and that a subsequent promise to pay was inoperative. It appearing, however, on a second trial, that A. did not declare that he would not indorse it, it was adjudged, that as he had authorised B. to get the bill discounted, without restraining his authority as to the mode of doing it, he was bound by his acts(q)(1).

to have vouched for the validity of Card's indersement. But on special verdict, the court held that defendants could not be taken to have given any such voucher, that they were at least equally innocent with plaintiffs, and then, it not being against conscience in them to retain the money, they were not liable to refund it, and in truth blame was rather imputable to plaintiffs, for plaintiffs saw the power, and had the opportunity of judging what it authorised, and defendants did not appear ever to have seen it. Judgment for defendants. As to liability of agent acting without authority, see post.

(n) See preceding note.

(o) Per Buller, J., in Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 757; East India Company v. Hensley, 1 Esp. Rep. 111, 819,(4).

(p) Dissentiente. Kenyon, C. J.

(q) Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 757; 4 T. R. 177, S. C.; defendants employed F. H. to get a bill discounted, but said they would not indorse it; F. H employed his brother, J. H. and said he would indemnify him if he would indorse k. J. H. indorsed it, and the plaintills discounted it. The bill being dishonoured, plaintiffs applied to defendants, who promised to take it up, but did not, and this action for money had and received, and money paid, was brought agninst them. Lord Kenyon told the jury, that if they thought J. H. had made himself answerable as the agent of the defendants, that was sufficient consideration for their promise. A verdict was found for the plaintiffs, and on a rule nisi for a new trial, and cause shown, Lord Kenyon inclined to think the verdict right, because, though the agent had exceeded his authority, he thought the principal bound by what he did, but the other judges differed, because F. H. was a particular agent only and the rule was made absolute. On the next trial, it did not appear that the defendants had told F. II. that they would not indorse the bill, and a verdict was found for plaintiffs; and on a rule ·nisi for a new trial, and cause shown, the whole court thought the verdict right; because as F. H. was not restrained as to the mode of getting the bill discounted, the defendants were bound by his acts; but Butler and Grose, Justices, said, that if the facts had been the same, they should have continued of their former opinion. Rule discharged. See observations on this case, in Payley, Prin & Agent, 124, 125, 138, 146. See also Helvear r. Hawke, 5 Esp. 75; Alexander v. Gibson, 2 Campb. 555.

(1) A person's acting as clerk to a merchant does not authorize him to sign notes in the name of his master. Terry v. Fargo, 18 John Rep. 114. But the clerk of a firm may sign notes, aceept bills, &c., in consequence of an authority given by one partner, for each has full power to this effect. Tillier v. Whitehead, 1 Dall. Rep. 269.

An authority to sign a note may be by parol, or by letter, or by verbal directions, or may be implied from certain relations proved to exist between the actual maker of the note, and him for whom he undertakes to act Long r. Colburn, 11 Mass. Rep. 97. See Odiorne r. Maxey, 15 Mass. Rep. 39. Haven r. Hobbs, 1 Vermont R. 238.

If an agent act beyond his authority, he will be responsible personally to third persons. Dusenberry v. Ellis, 3 John. Cas. 70. Therefore if he sign a note for his principal without authority, he will be personally bound, and the name of his principal will be rejected as surplusage, lbid. Or a special action on the case would at all events lie against him. Long r. Colburn.— But a mere stranger cannot disaffirm the contract of an agent upon the ground that he has exceeded his authority. Jackson v. Van Dalfsen, 5 John. Rep. 43. If an agent compromise a demand of his principal, and take therefor a negotiable note indorsed specially to himself, the note becomes the property of the agent, and not of the principal; and the agent is responsible to the principal for the amount, whether secured by him or not. Floyd v. Day, 3 Mass. Rep. 403.

(E1)

366

6.7

1.5 3.1

اني

X. 3

EE 7

141

. Y

y-

3.3

 $L_{\mathcal{A}}$

P. 14

101

2 -

17.

114

Ţ.

ÿΑ.

. .

á,

; .

- - 1

₹.

ìή

٠.,

1 5

۶٠, ir.

1

77

۲,

٠.٠٦

Party.

III. Modes If A. authorise B. to draw bills on him, and B. do, this will not constitute of become A. the drawer, nor subject him to liability to be such as such (r).

Upon the question what is a general authority, it has been decided, that a person signing his name on a blank stamped piece of paper, and delivering it to I. S. authorises I. S. to insert any sum which the amount of the stamp will warrant(s)(1).

Express powers of attorney containing general words of authority, are,

Formal [] Powers of Attorney to be construed and limited to their expressed particular Objects.

(r) Ducarry v. Gill, 4 C. & P. 121; Mood. & M. 450, S. C.; Ex parte Bolton, 3 Mont. & Ayr. 367, ante, 25, n.(h).

(a) Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313; Russell v. Langstaffe, Dougl. 496, 514; see Snaith v. Mingay, 1 Maule & S. 87; Crutchley v. Mann, 5 Taunt. 529; 1 Marsh. 29, S. C.;

Crutchley v. Clarence, 2 Maule & S. 90; Pasmore v. North, 15 East, 517. And it is no objection to the validity of a bill that the acceptance or indorsement is written before the bill is drawn; Schultz r. Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 541, post, Ch. VI. s. i. Time of Transfer.

A bill drawn by a general agent is binding upon the principal, although the former misapply the money. Hoe v. Oxley, 1 Wash. Rep. 23.

A special authority must be strictly pursued. Therefore if an agent be authorized to sign a note payable at six months, and he sign a note payable at a shorter time, the principal is not bound Batty v. Carswell, 2 John. Rep. 48. See also Munn v. The Commission Company, 15 John.

Rep. 44.

Where the drawer of a note affixes his signature as the agent of another, if in an action against him rersonally, he claims to have had authority to sign as he did, he is bound to show such anthority existing at the time of the making of the note, and is not permitted to show a subsequent ratification of his principal. Rossiter r. Rossiter, 8 Wend. Rep. 494.

Pynchon empowered Rossiter " to accomplish at his discretion, a complete adjustment of all the concerns of Pynchon in the state of New York, and to do any and every act in his name which he could do in person." Held, that Rossiter was not authorized by this power to give a note as the agent of Pynchon. Ib.

Where several gave a joint power of attorney to their agent to renew a note they had in bank, as indorsers, the renewed note must be made in conformity with the original note, as to the order of indorsements, or the agent will be considered as having exceeded his power. Bank r. M'Willie, 4 McCord's Rep. 438.

O. and T. as drawers, and defendant as indorser, gave G. a power of attorney to make the renewals of a note they had discounted at bank. On a suit by the bank against the defendant, as the indorser on a renewal made by G., the bank must show that the note sued on is the renewal of some original note drawn by these parties. Bank v. Herbert, 4 McCord's Rep. 89.

A power to renew a note at 60 or 90 days, will authorize the renewal of the note at 88 days, that being no violation of the object and intention of the parties. Ib.

If he who puts the note into the hands of an agent for collection, is but an agent himself; he who collects the money cannot retain it at all if he is aware of the circumstances. He who is ultimately entitled to the money, may revoke the power of him who was appointed to receive the money at any time, although the evidence of the debt to be collected, was a note to his agent. Grant v. Seitsinger, 2 Penn. Rep. 525.

(1) A blank indorsement on a blank piece of paper, with intent to give a person a credit, is in effect, a letter of credit; and if a promissory note be afterwards written on the paper, it binds Mechanics' & Farmers' Bank r. Scuyler, Id. 337, in note. Where the defendants left their names indorsed in blank on papers, with their clerk, for the purpose of having notes of a certain description written thereon, and third person obtained those papers by fulse pretences, and wrote notes thereon, signed by himself as promissor to the indorser, and passed them to a third person, who had no notice of the facts, the defendants were held as indorsers. Putnam v. Sullivan, 4 Mass. Rep. 45.

So where a person entrusts another with his blank signature, to be filled up for a particular sum, and to be used in a particular manner, though the confidence is abused and the paper is filed up for a larger amount, and used in a different manner, he will be responsible to a bona fide holder, for the amount for which it is filled up. In such a case an implied authority is given to the holder, to fill up the paper for any sum which he may have advanced upon it in good faith, and in ignorance of any fact which should have put him on inquiry. Herbert v. Huie, I Als. Rep. (New Series) 18. The authority which a blank endorsement confers is irrerocable, and may be exercised after the death of the indorser, as well as before. Cope v. Daniel, 9 Dana, 415.

A letter of credit written by the defendant to the plaintiff, introducing a person as concerned with him in the planting business, and going to the city where the latter resides, to make purchases for the plantation, with directions to draw on him, and requesting him (plaintiff) to pay his drafts, establishes an authority in such person, to draw for an amount unlimited. Segond v. Thomas, 10 Curry's Louis. Rep. 295. }

⇒ #13 act acc

i book provin

信告 數字

Or about !

declarer.

A Varietie

et. 517 Julio

r of a tu 💥 🕽 : g rizh

+ lentià

L Tues la

The Part of

allered H 7 7 X 128

100 207.12

10211 ₫20.000 €

STOR 1 FOR Car seet?

38796 is possible

ther but 12

હ, કાર⊃⁴ Ben F

the Can't

منطابل بوا 61.00

p 10

Media

· Hin

110 -02413

+ 10 M of 51~

gr. 13

600 g); 3.7

id. 4

€13€ La

.....

1,750

v, ٠,,>

-1"5"

 $m^{(j)}$ 111

لكاعثا 174

: **"

c d

1.15(1)

nevertheless, to be construed with reference to their expressed particular III. Modes Therefore, though in one case it was holden(u), that a letter of of becomattorney, given by an executor to A. B. authorising him to transact the af- ing a Party. fairs of the testator in the name of the executor, as executor, and to pay, discharge, and satisfy all debts due from the testator, conveys to A. B. a sufficient authority to accept a bill of exchange in the name of the executor, drawn by a creditor for the *amount of a debt due from the testator, and thereby to make the executor personally liable, on the ground that an authority of this nature necessarily includes all intermediate powers, that is to say, all the means necessary to be used in order to effect the accomplishment of the object of the principal, namely, the paying, satisfying, and discharging the testator's debts; yet, in a subsequent case (x), which was upon the same letter of attorney, the court, after consulting with the Judges of C. P., determined that the executor was not personally liable, and that a power of attorney, given by an executrix to act for her as an executrix, does not authorise the attorney to accept bills to charge her in her own right, though for debts due from her testator. So in another case it was decided, that where one gives a power of attorney to another, to demand and receive all monies due to him on any account whatsoever, and to use all means for the recovery thereof, and to appoint attorneys for the purpose of bringing actions, and to revoke the same, "and to do all other business;" the latter words must be understood with reference to the former, as meaning all business appertaining thereto; and that although the attorney might receive monies due to the principal in auter droit, yet he could not under this power indorse a bill for him which came to his hands(y). It has also been held that a power of attorney to receive all salaries and money, with all the principal's authority to recover, compound, and discharge, and to give releases and appoint substitutes, does not authorise the attorney to negotiate bills received in payment, nor indorse them in his own name; nor can evidence of an usage at the navy office to pay bills indorsed by the attorney in his own name and negotiated by him under such a power, be received to enlarge the operation of the power(z). And in a later case, it was held that a power of attorney, authorising an agent to demand, sue for, recover, and receive, by all lawful ways and means whatsoever, all monies, debts, and dues whatsoever, and to give sufficient discharges, does not authorise him to indorse bills for his principal(a). So in a still later case(b); the facts were these: A. B. who carried on business on his own account, and also in partnership, went abroad, and gave to certain persons in this country two powers of attorney, by the first of which, authority was given for him, and in his name, and to his use, to do certain specific acts, (and, amongst others, to indorse bills, &c.) and generally to act for him, as he might do if he were present; and by the second, authority was given "for him, and on his behalf, to accept bills drawn on him by his agent or correspondents." C. D. one of A. B.'s partners, (and who acted as his agent) in order to raise money for payment of the creditors of the joint concern, drew a bill, which the attorney accepted, in A. B.'s name, by procuration. In an action against A. B. by the indorsee of the bill, it was held, first, that the right of the indorsee depended upon the authority given to the attorney; secondly, that the powers ⁽t) See Attwood v. Munnings, 7 B. & C. 278; ante, 28, note(m).

⁽u) Howard v. Baillie, 2 Hen. Bla. 618. (z) Gardner v. Baillie, 6 T. R. 591; and see Kilgour v. Finlyson, 1 Hen. Bla. 155.

⁽y) Hay v. Goldsmidt, 2 Smith's Rep. 79, 80; 1 Taunt 347.

⁽z) Hogg v. Snaith and others, 1 Taunt. 347; see 1 Man. & R. 77.

⁽a) Murray v. East India Company, 5 B. & Al. 204.

⁽b) Attwood v. Munnings, 7 B. & C. 278; 1 Man. & R. 66, S. C.

305

:114

91

14

المعتوا

gfil

800

1

.

III. Modes applied only to A. B's individual and not to his partnership affairs; thirdly, of become that the special power to accept extended only to bills drawn by an agent in ing a Parthat capacity, and that C. D. did not draw the bill in question as agent, but as partner; and lastly, that the general words in the powers of attorney were not to be construed at large, but as giving general powers for the carrying [*31] into effect the special purposes for which they were given. *Therefore a power of attorney giving the agent full powers as to the management of certain specified real property, with general words extending those powers to all the property of the principal and of every description, and, in conclusion, authorising the agent to do all lawful acts concerning all the principal's business and affairs of what nature or kind soever, does not authorise the agent to indorse bills of exchange in the name of his principal(c).

The power of an agent to indorse a bill will be more fully considered hereafter (d).

Implied authority.

An authority may also be implied and inferred from prior conduct of the principal, for a special authority is not necessary to constitute a power to draw, indorse, or accept by procuration, but the law may infer an authority from the general nature of certain acts permitted to be done, and usual employ is evidence of a general authority (e); and therefore, if a person has, upon a former occasion, in the principal's absence, usually accepted bills for him, and the latter on his return approved thereof, he would be bound in a similar situation on a second absence from home (f); and if a drawee of a bill has previously paid several bills accepted in his name by a third person, with whom he had connections in trade, he would be liable to an indorsee, though such bill has been accepted without his authority (g); and it has been held, that if a person usually subscribes an instrument with the name of another, proof of his having done so in many instances is sufficient to charge him whose name is subscribed, without producing any power of attorney(h). And although an authority to draw does not impart in itself an authority to indorse bills(i), yet where a confidential clerk of the defendants was accustomed to draw bills and checks on their account, and it was proved that of one occasion he had indersed a bill specially in the name of the firm to one of the defendants, which was by him subsequently indorsed over, and that on two other occasions he had also indorsed bills, which had been discounted by the defendant's bill-broker, and the proceeds received by them, such evidence was held sufficient to warrant the jury (a special jury of merchants), in finding a general authority in the clerk to indorse(k). But it

(d) Post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer.

(f) Beawes, pl. 86; Mar. 2d cdit. 125;

Comb. 450.

thereby made himself liable to pay the biff-Verdict for plaintiff. See Reg. v. Parish, 8 C. & P. 94; Reg. v. Beard. id. 143; post, Part III. Ch. I. Forgery.

What not sufficient recognition of authority of chairman of joint stock company to bind directors; Bramah r. Roberts, 8 Bing, N. C. 963; post, Partnership.

(i) See Robinson v. Yarrow, 7 Taunt. 455; 1 Moore, 150, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. V. s.

(k) Prescott v. Flynn, 2 Moore & S. 18; 9 Bing. 19, S. C. In such case letters forged by

⁽c) Esdaile v. La Nauze 1 Younge & Col. 394.

⁽g) Barber r. Gingell, 3 Esp. N. P. C. 60; Action against the defendant as acceptor, he proved that the acceptance was forged by Taylor, the drawer; in answer to which it was proved that the defendant had been connected in business with Taylor and that he had paid several bills, drawn as the present, by Taylor, and to which Taylor (as it was supposed) had written the acceptances in the defendant's name. And Lord Kenyon held, that this was an answer to the case of forgery set up by the defendant, for though he might not have accepted the bill, he had adopted the acceptance, and ⁽h) Neal v. Erving, 1 Esp. Rep. 61; Haughton v. Ewbank, 4 Campb. 188; so where the defendant's son had, in three or four instances, signed bills of exchange, by the direction of his father, it was held sufficient evidence for presuming an authority from the father to the son to sign a guarantee; Watkins v. Vince, 2 Stark. R. 368.

"Hip afan a ាធារាធានភ た。遊る芒 का ले कारत er in tex a. Ta CHECK 10000 F-0, 100. 1 . 20 21 O 00 20

Light. 100 (JE I (W.T. 368 1 P

adi esi But is 1 365 n: 11 2 4 6 11 12 l pesci 341. 1

181212

J. Har 6 23 (10.0 100 113

101

15 (-(.1 Ď

7 ,•>

4

, 4

4

must appear that the bill or note is taken upon the faith of prior similar III. Modes transactions; and, therefore, the holder of a bill purporting to be, but not of becomin fact accepted by the person to whom it is addressed, cannot recover ty. against the apparent acceptor by proving a fact subsequently discovered, that on a former occasion the *defendant had given a general authority to the person who accepted in his name to accept bills for him: to make such authority available, the holder must show either that the authority remained unrevoked at the time of the acceptance, or that he took the bill on the faith of such authority (l). We have seen that where a married woman is permitted by her husband to carry on trade on her own account, and in her own name indorses a bill or note, received in the course of such trade, an authority may be presumed from the husband (m).

It has also been decided that a subsequent assent or expression of approba- Subsetion will make the act of an agent binding on the principal (n)(1); and though quent Asa promise alone to pay a bill indorsed by an agent would not support an action if the indorsement were contrary to authority, yet if the authority is doubtful, such a promise is decisive(o).

A general authority to an agent is supposed to continue until its determi- Notice of nation is generally known, and therefore, after the discharge of a clerk or agent of Agent usually employed to draw, accept, or indorse bills or notes, the employer having will be bound by his signature, made after the determination of his authority, ceased to until the discharge be generally known(p). And if A. permit B. to draw be given. bills in his name, he will be liable as drawer to ignorant indorsees, although he had no interest, nor knew of the particular bills drawn in fraud of him by B., though he will not be liable to a payee, who had knowledge of the impropriety of the transaction (q). When, therefore, the authority of such an agent has been determined, or he has been discharged from his employ, and there is reason to apprehend that he will attempt to circulate bills in the name of his employer, it is advisable for the latter to give notice of the deter-the clerk, purporting to contain an authority to indorse upon another occasion, are not admissible in evidence to show he had no authority to make the indorsement on which the plaintiff sued, id. ib.

(1) Cash v. Taylor, 8 Law J. 262, K. B. E. T. 1830.

(m) Ante, 23 n. (t), Cotes v. Davis, 1 Campb. 485; but see Barlow r. Bishop, 1 East, 434. And see Anderson v. Sanderson, 2 Stark. 204; Holt, C. N. P. 591, S. C.; Clifford v. Burton, I Bingh. 199, as to when admissions of wife bind the husband.

(n) Ward v. Evans, Ld. Raym. 930; 2 Salk. 442, S. C.; Boulton v. Hillerden, Comb. 450; Anonymous, 12 Mod. 564; Paley, 124, 126, 127, 211, accord; Fenn r. Harrison, 3 T. R, 757; Howard v. Enillie, 2 Hen. Bla. 618, semb. contra; and see post.

(o) Fenn v. Harrison, 4 T. R. 177, ante, 29, note (q).

(p) Beawes, pl. 231; Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 27, page 107; Paley, 123, 124, 136; Anonymous v. Harrison, 12 Mod. 346. A servant had power to draw bills of exchange in his master's name, and afterwards was turned out of his sereice. Holt, C. J. "If he draw a bill in so little time after, that the would cannot take notice of his being out of service, or if he were a long time out of his service, but that kept so secret that the world cannot take notice of it, the bill in these cases, shall bind the master."

Monk r. Clayton, Molloy, 282, cited in Nickson v. Breham, 15 Mod. 110. A servant of Sir Robert Clayton, who had been used to receive and pay money, took up two hundred guineas after he had quitted the service, and the lender recovered against Sir R. Clayton, by the direction of Keeling, C. J. which was approved by the whole court on a motion for a new trial

(q) Smith v. Stanger, Peake, Add. 116.

⁽¹⁾ If an agent act without proper authority, or exceed his authority, and the principal ratify his acts, or acquiesce in them, or adopt them, he is bound in the same way as if the agent had an original authority. Towle v. Stevenson, I John. Cas. 110. Cushman v. Loker, 2 Mass. Rep. 106. Armstrong v. Gilchrist, 2 John. Cas. 424. Codwise v. Hacker, 1 Caines' Rep. 526. Banorgee v. Hovey, 5 Mass. Rep. 11. Van Reimsdyk v. Kane, 1 Gas. Rep. 630.—Affirmed in Supreme Court of the United States, and reported in 9 Cranch, 155. Long v. Colburn. Cons et al. v. Pean. et al., 1 Peters' Rep. 496. See Schimmelpennich v. Bayard, 1 Peters, 264, 290.

(81)

973

 P_{ij}

Y. (

1311

17.1 r: i lite:

201

0

E.

b" t

134

ا ر می

3: ;

ăr |

ori Kil

à ., ty.

III. Modes mination of the authority in the Gazette, and also to all his correspondents of become individually, notice in the Gazette not being in general sufficient to affect a former customer, unless he has had express notice thereof(r).

Sub-Agents.

Mode in which an Agent should draw, accept or indorse. [*33]

As the authority of an agent is not coupled with an interest, he cannot dekgate it so as to enable another person to act for his principal(s)(2); if, however, an express authority be given for that purpose, he may exercise it(t).

When a person has authority, as agent, to draw, accept, or indorse a bill for his principal, he should either write the name of his principal, or state in writing, that he draws, indorses, or accepts as agent, or per procuration, as, "by procuration of A. B. (the principal) E. F. (the *agent)(1); for oth-

(r) See post, Cases of Notice of Dissolu-(t) Pulliser r. Ord, Bunb. 166; Coles v. Trecothick, 9 Ves. 234; but see Ex parts Saltion of Partnerships. (s) Combe's case, 9 Co. 75; 1 Rol. Abr. ton, 2 Cox's Cases, 84, contra. 880.

Emerson v. Providence Hat Manufacturing Co., 12 Mass. Rep. 237.

(2) Where a person intends to make a contract as agent, it should appear on the face of the contract that he acts as agent, and he should sign in the name of his principal. Stackpole v Arnold, 11 Mass. Rep. 27. Arpidson v. Ladd, 12 Mass. Rep. 173. For where an agent drew a bill of exchange in his own name on a commercial house, in which his principal was a partner, and in a bill ordered the contents, when paid, to be charged to his principal, and the bill was protested for non-acceptance, he was held personally liable to the payees, as drawer, notwithstanding they were privy to his instructions, and knew that he acted solely as an agent. Mayhew, &c. v. Prince, 11 Mass. Rep. 54. See Meyer v. Barker, 6 Binn. 228.

And it is not sufficient to protect a party, to describe himself as agent, in the contract, if the language of the contract import a personal responsibility. Therefore if a person sign a note "as guardiau" he will be held personally liable to payment. Thatcher v. Dismore, 5 Mass. Rep. 299. Forster v. Fuller, 6 Mass. Rep. 58. And although it may be said that as an administrator cannot by his promise bind the estate of the intestate, so neither can the guardian bind the person or estate of his ward, and therefore, unless the guardian were personally liable, the payee would be without remedy; yet the principle of these cases is, that the description of the trust was not meant to exclude that personal liability, which the language otherwise imported. And a similar construction has been adopted where the party has been described as attorney or agent in the instrament

A note subscribed "Pro. A. B .- C. D." is the note of A. B. and not of C. D. if the latter had authority to make it. Long v. Colburn, 11 Mass. Rep. 97. A note promising to pay A. B. "agent of the P. H. manufacturing company," for value received of the company, is a good note to A. personally. Buffum v. Chadwick, 8 Mass. Rep. 103.

An agent and partner in a joint concern was authorized to take up money on the credit of the whole concern, and draw bills on a house in Amsterdam for payment, and he took up money and drew a bill directing the amount to be charged to the account of all the parties, but signed the bill in his own name only; it was held that at least, in equity, the payee was entitled to recover on non-payment from all the partners. Van Reimsdyk v. Kane, I Gall. Rep. 630. S. C. 9 Cranch, 155.

A person may draw, accept, or indorse a bill by his agent, and it will be as obligatory upon him as though it was done by his own hand; but the agent in such case must either sign the name of the principal to the bill, or it must appear on the face of the bill itself, in some way or another, that it was in fact done for him, or the principal will not be bound; the particular form of the execution is not material, if it be substantially done in the name of the principal. Pents r. Stanton, 10 Wend. Rep. 271.

Where the agent of a manufacturing establishment bought a quantity of dye-stuffs for the use of the factory, without disclosing the name of his principal, and the bill of goods brought, was made out, "Mr. A. B., Agent, bought of," &c., and he drew a bill of exchange on a third person, signing it A. B., Agent, and the bill was subsequently protested, and an action to recover the price of the goods was brought against the principal; it was held that the principal could not be charged as drawer of the bill by his agent, the name of the principal not appearing on it, but that the plaintiff was entitled to recover under a count for goods sold, the jury being warranted under the facts of the case in saying that the goods were not sold on the exclusive credit of the agent. Ib.

Whether, in such case the goods are sold on the credit of the agent or on the responsibility of the principal, whoever he may be, is a question for the jury; but where that question was not submitted in a suit against the principal, and a vedict was found for the plaintiff, and the court were satisfied of the ultimate liability of the principal to the agent, they refused to set aside the verdict. Ib. Brockway v. Allen, 17 Wend. 40. S. P. Selectmen of a town have power to bind their town by a note given for the support of a pauper. But a note signed by one only of the select-

Digitized by Google

... JE (07:52

STEWED 2

(C) 🛦 🕮

(2) 1 1.1

ar elem

15. Of 2005

100 ជូង ជីទី

er prixiva

2081 1.3

Bens Ini bat we li #

1.171

7.3 11 x 72

i ion rie 13 (#5)

DE THIE

100 DE 148

Bet. Erif

M K.

5- NETE ह एक १%

كأبهزا∤ز

Charles

17 78

DIT FE

p me p

1211

10000 122

1 27

الدوريان

امهم بن

1.00

بر د اور

· # .

3.73 ,·..

oci f eres ? i fs

4.9

militaria.

1230

71.8

1.2

: 3

 $\Delta^{\mathcal{G}^{\sharp}}$

53 F

2,≸ 43 į y

11.

erwise the act will not in general be binding on the principal, so as to sub- III. Modes ject him to be sued on the bill or note(u); though in some cases an informal of becom-The drawing, accept- me mode of executing an authority will not vitiate (x). ing, or indorsing as agent for another person may be effected by merely writing the name of the principal, as if he himself were actually the party signing; but the most explicit and regular course is to sign the name of the principal, and then immediately under it to add, "per procuration, A. B." the agent writing his own name (y). If an agent sign only his own name, whether as drawer, indorser, or acceptor, he will (unless in the case of a government agent contracting on its behalf (z)(1), be considered as the principal, and be personally liable as such, unless he add some restrictive or qualifying words, as "sans recours," or "without recourse to me," or "drawn and indorsed to transfer the interest only, and not to incur any personal liability;" " for it is an universal rule, that a man who puts his name to a bill of exchange, thereby makes himself personally liable, unless he states upon the face of the bill that he subscribes it for another, or by procuration of another, which are words of exclusion: unless he says plainly, 'I am the mere scribe,' he becomes liable (a) (2). *On this ground, it has been decided, that if a bro- [*34]

(u) See Thomas v. Bishop, 2 Stra. 955, infra; Sowerby v. Butcher, 2 C. & M. 368; 4 Tyr. 320, S. C.

In Leadbitter v. Farrow, Mich. Term, A. D. 1816, B. R., plaintiff wanted a bill upon London for 501., and sent to defendant, whom he knew to be agent to the Durham Bank at Hexham; defendant drew a bill accordingly: " Pay to the order of Mr. Leadbitter 501., value received, which place to the account of the Durham Bank as advised. C. Farrow. To Messrs. A and B. London." In an action thereon the defendant urged that he was not personally liable, or at least that the plaintiff, who knew him to be only agent, could not sue him; but on a case reserved the court held his signature pledged his own credit, and that only, and that he was therefore liable. See also 5 Maule & S. 349, S. C.; so in Ducarry v. Gill, Mood. & M. 450; 4 C. & P. 121, S. C., it was held, that an agent for an association, even if authorised by them to draw bills, does not bind them by drawing bills in his own name, and not as agent.

But if the produce of the bill come to the principal's hands, he may be sued for the amount in certain cases. See observation of Lord Tenterden, C. J. in Ducarry v. Gil, Mood. & M. 450.

See further Com. Dig. Attorney, (C. 14); Beawes, pl. 83, n.; Wilks v. Back, 2 East, 142; Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 434; 3 Esp. Rep. 266, S, C.; White v. Cayler, 6 T. R. 176; Combe's case, 9 Co. 75; Frontin r. Small, 2 Stra. 705. As to the mode in which an attorney should execute a deed, &c. for his principal, as thus, "for I. B. (the principal) M. W. (the attorney) (L. S.)" Wilks v. Back, 2 East, 142.

(x) Cotes v. Davis, 1 Campb. 485; Mason r. Rumsey, id. 384.

(y) And see Wilks r. Back, 2 East, 142.
(z) Macbeath r. Haldimand, 1 T. R. 172; Unwin v. Wolseley, id. 674; Myrtle v. Beaver, 1 East, 135; Rice v. Chute, id. 579; Prosser r. Allen, Gow, 117; Allen r. Waldegrave, 2 Moore, 627; Gidley r Palmerstone, 7 id. 91; 3 Brod. & B. 275, S. C.

(a) Per Ld. Ellenborough, in Leadbitter v. Farrow, 5 Maule & S. 349, supra, note (u); and see Thomas v. Bishop, 2 Stra. 955; Rep. T. Hardw. 3, S. C.; Le Fevre v. Lloyd, 5 Taunt. 749; 1 Marsh 318, S. C.; Goupy v. Harden, 7 Taunt. 159; 2 Marsh, 454, and Holt, C. N. P. 342, S. C.; Appleton v. Binks, 5 East, 148; men, with his own name, " for the selectmen" is not the promissory note of the town. Andover v. Grafton, 7 N. Hamp. 298.

(1) A like exception in favor of public agents has been repeatedly recognized in the United States. Hodgson v Dexter, 1 Cranch, 363. Jones v. Le Tombe, 3 Dal. 384. Brown v. Austin, 1 Mass. Rep. 208. Sheffield v. Watson, 3 Caines' Rep. 69. Freeman v. Otis, 9 Mass. Rep. 272.

An agent who makes a contract on behalf of his principal, whose name he discloses at the time to the person with whom he contracts, is not personally liable, and there is no difference in this respect between an agent for government and an individual. Rathbon v. Budlong, 15 Johns. Rep. 1. See as to agent indorsing a note for the benefit of his principal, Chalmers, Jones & Co. v. M'Murdo, 5 Munf. Rep. 252.

Where a bill of Exchange properly drawn by an authorized agent on the head of a department is permitted by him to be protested for non-acceptance and non-payment, under a mistake of fact concerning it, the agent is entitled to a credit for the damages paid by him in consequence of the protest. Armstrong v. United States, Gilpin, 399. }

(2) { Where individuals subscribe their proper names to a promissory note prima facie they are personally liable, although they they add a description of the character in which the note is giv-

(84)

300

MT I

27

$100

F. .:

7-0.1

251

7.14

300 č:

3

3. 1

à. '.

1.1

7.1

2

ď.

٠,

¥ . .

74

i;

III. Modes ker sell goods and draw on the buyer in favour of his principal, he will be liaof becom- ble as drawer upon the bill if it be dishonoured, unless he use special words ing a Party. to prevent it, and may be sued even by his employer, although he received no guarantee, commission, or other remuneration for incurring such personal responsibility (b). Again, if the known agent of A. at the request of the plaintiff, draw a bill upon B. payable to the plaintiff although he direct B. to place the amount to the credit of A., such agent will be personally liable to the plaintiff (c). So if a person employed by the plaintiff to purchase bills for him, obtains them payable to himself, and indorses them generally, he will be liable upon that indorsement, even to his own employer, although be had no guarantee commission, and the court observed that the defendant might have specially indorsed the bill sans recours, and not having thought fit to do so, he was personally liable (d). If a factor under a commission del credere sells goods and takes accepted bills from the purchasers, which bills he indorses to a banker at the place of sale, and receives the banker's bill, (payable to the factor's order) on a house in London, the factor indorses and transmits the latter bill to his principal, who gets the same accepted, and the acceptors and the drawer fail, the factor is answerable to the amount of the bill, being personally liable under his commission del credere to satisfy his principal the price of the goods sold(e).

It has also been decided that commissioners under an inclosure act, drawing drafts upon their bankers, requiring them to pay the sums therein men-

De Gaillon v. L'Aigle, 1 Bos. & Pul. 369; Macbeath v. Haldimand, 1 T. R. 181; Poth. pl. 119; Burrell v. Jones, 3 B. & Al. 47.

Thomas v. Bishop, 2 Stra. 955; Ca. temp. Hardw. 1, S. C. The plaintiff was indorsee of a bill of exchange, drawn from Scotland upon the defendant, in these words: " At thirty days sight pay to J. S. or order, 2001., value received him, and place the same to account of the York Buildings Company, as per advice from Charles Mildmay; to Mr. Humphrey Bishop, Cashier of the York Buildings Company, at their house in Winchester Street, London. Accepted per H. Bishop." The bill not having been paid, an action was brought against defendant upon his acceptance; at the trial he proved that the letter of advice was addressed to the Company; and that the bill having been brought to their house, defendant was ordered to accept it, which he did in the same manner as he had accepted other bills. Page, J. directed the jury to find for the plaintiff, which they did accordingly. On motion for a new trial, the court held the direction right; " for the bill on the face of it imported to be drawn on the defendant, and it was accepted by him generally. and not as servant to the Company, to whose account he had no right to charge it until actual payment by himself. And this being an action by the indorsee, it would be of dangerous consequence to trade to admit evidence arising from extrinsic circumstances, as the letter of advice. And this differed widely from the case of a bill addressed to the master, and underwritten by the servant; where, undoubtedly, the servant would not be liable, but his acceptance would be considered as the act of the master. A bill of exchange is a contract by the custom of merchants, and the whole of that contract must appear in writing. In this case there was nothing in writing to bind the Company, nor could any action be maintained against them upon the bill; for the addition of cashier to defendant's name was only to denote the person with certainty; the direction to whose account to place it was for the use of the drawee only. Judgment for the plaintiff.

(b) Lefevre v. Lloyd, 5 Taunt. 749; 1 Marsh. 818, S. C.; see last note; Sowerby v. Butcher, 2 C. & M. 368; 4 Tyr. 320, S. C.

(c) Leadbitter r. Farrow, ante, 33, note (u) (d) Goupy v. Harden, 2 Marsh. 454; 7 Taunt. 159; Holt, C. N. P. 342, S. C.; as to qualified indorsement, see post, Ch. VI. s. Transfer.

(e) Mackenzie v. Scott, 6 Bro. P. C. 280.

en; but such presumption of liability may be rebutted by proof that the note was in fact given by the makers as the agents of a corporation for a debt due from it to the payee, and that they were authorized to make such note as the agents of the corporation. Brockway v. Allen, 17 Wend. 40.

Where the drawer of a bill directed it to be charged to the account of the steamer U. S.: Held. that the agency of the drawer is apparent on the face of the bill, which negatives the idea that he was to be personally bound. Maher v. Overton, 9 Louis. 115. Master of a ship not liable on a bill drawn by him in favor of the agents and consignees for supplies and disbursements they have made, with their knowledge that he drew as master. Lincoln v. Smith, 11 Curry's Louis

A person may draw as agent, upon his principal, for a debt not personal to himself, but due by the principal to the payees, without expressing the agency on the face of the bill. Wolfe r.

Jewett, 10 Id. 888. }

ormoipai, he are es he use species 。 all.du的 复数 DE LOTTING SECTION OF at the most ing. e 🖭 on personatia and to purchase

Then teen . Hover, Mile 1131 100 123 of harry in o ter a cocas PLICESES # enes in in ion, the un cels the 🗷 answerale: ussioo 🛍 🛪 Louis MLD ines idente p 120 30 3 محققة إسوالي Die Plaine 4. 19 lbs 128

jeir fint 33 H. 13. 25 286 had hi be a med કલ છે 🗷 💆 get by 🖫 🗷 山水生型

Sig 150 31 5 27 C=15" ai ar ^{gri} 01-25-22 is the state of o uhre ex e arrest at

300L ie , 33, DE si, Ca Ti p (🎜 of Part

, , , , _M # PE BIE معلوب

1

tioned on account of the public drainage, and to place the same to their III. Modes account as commissioners, are personally liable to the bankers, though it of becommight be otherwise, if they were directed to place the same to the account ing a Party. of the inclosure (f). So if A. and B. sign a formal promissory note by which they promise, "as churchwardens and overseers," to pay to C. or order, a sum of money with interest, which sum is in fact the amount of a loan made by C. for the use of the parish, A. and B. are personally liable upon such note(g).

These decisions, subjecting an agent to personal liability, as regards third When an persons, ignorant of the circumstances under which the agent became a parential entitled to ty, are consistent with the other principles of law applicable to these instru- Relief. But it seems questionable whether even at law it is correct to allow an employer to recover from his agent under such circumstances, because in general, between original parties, it may be shown as a good defence at law, that the bill was drawn, accepted, or indorsed for the plaintiff's accommodation, or for a purpose or consideration which has failed or been satisfied(h); and to allow such a principal to recover at law against his agent, is only to compel the *latter to resort to a court of equity for relief, which [*35] might just as well be afforded at law, and a court of equity will certainly afford relief; for where an agent, in the course of his employment as such, procured a banker's bill, which was accidentally drawn in his favour, and indorsed by him to his employer, who deposited it with a banker, who gave credit for the amount, but was cognizant of the manner in which the bill had been indorsed, the Court of Exchequer restrained an action brought by the banker on the bill against the agent as indorser (i). And where a person employed to get a bill discounted, being unable to effect it without indorsing it, therefore indorsed in his own name, it was held that he was entitled to be indemnified by his employer, although the name of the latter was not on the bill, and a claim and proof under a commission of bankruptcy were allowed accordingly (k).

If a person sign a bill or note as agent, when in fact he had no authority, Conseand his act did not bind his pretended principal, it is clear that he will be li- quences of ble to a special action on the case for pretending to have authority when he without had not. And, therefore, where a bill was presented for acceptance at the Authority. office of the drawee when he was absent, and A., who lived in the same house with the drawee, being assured by one of the payees that the bill was perfectly regular, was induced to write on the bill an acceptance as by the procuration of the drawee, believing that the acceptance would be sanctioned, and the bill paid by the latter; and the bill was dishonoured when due, and the indorsee brought an action against the drawee, and on proof of the above facts was nonsuited; and the indorsee then sued A. for falsely, fraudulently, and deceitfully representing that he was authorised to accept by procuration, and on the trial the jury negatived all fraud in fact; it was held, notwithstanding, that A. was liable, because the making of a representation which a party knows to be untrue, and which is intended, or is calculated, from the mode in which it is made, to induce another to act on the faith of it, so that he may incur damage, is a fraud in law, and A. must be considered

(f) Eaton v. Bell and others, 5 B. & Al. Herron, Ry. & Mo. C. N. P. 229. 87; 1 Bro. C. C. 101; Amb. 787; Burrell v. (g) Crew v. Petit, 3 Nev. & M Jones, 8 B. & Al. 47; Spittle v. Lavender, 5
Moore, 270; 2 B. & B. 452, S. C.; Iveson v.
Conington, 2 Dow. & Ry. 307; 1 B. & C. 160,
S. C.; Prosser v. Allen, Gow, 117; Norton v.

(g) Crew v. Petit, 3 Nev. & M. 456; 1 Ad. & Ellis, 196, S. C.

(h) Post, next chapter.
(i) Kidson v. Dilworth, 5 Price, 564.

(k) Ex parte Robinson, 1 Buck. 118.

Œ.

300

£3

7 s.ed

3:

X :1

021

1

35.1

₫′;

0

20 4

2.1

Ŧ.;

121

٠.,

ξ]

III. Modes as having intended to make such representation to all who received the bill in of become the course of its circulation(1). In America it has even been held that he ing a Party. may be sued on the bill or note as a principal (m)(1); and Bayley, B. is said to have laid it down as a general rule, that where an agent makes a contract in the name of his principal, and it turns out that the principal is not liable for the want of authority in the agent to make such contract, the agent is personally liable on the contract(n). It seems, however, doubtful, whether in this country an agent, whose name does not appear on the bill, but who merely draws the bill in name of his principal, without authority, can be made liable an to action upon the bill; at all events, in order to make him so liable, it is incumbent on the plaintiff to prove the want of authority, and that the defendent did not act bon'i fide(o).

*36] of Agents as to bills, &c.

*With respect to the duty of agents in relation to bills and notes, it has The Duties been well observed that an agent employed in negotiating bills of exchange is bound, first, to endeavour to procure acceptance(2); secondly, on refusal, to protest for non-acceptance; thirdly, to advise the remitter of the receipt, *36] acceptance, or protesting; and fourthly, to advise any third person that is concerned; and all this without any delay (q). Losses occasioned by fraud

> (1) Polhill v. Walter, 3 Bar. & Adol. 114; 10 Law J. 92. K. B. S. C. It was also held that A. could not be charged as acceptor of the bill, because no one can be liable as acceptor but the person to whom the bill is ad-dressed, unless he be an acceptor for honour. Quære, if A. would have been liable had he appended a memorandum to the bill, to the effect that he accepted by procuration without authority, trusting that his act would be recognised by the drawee.

> (m) Long v. Colborn, 11 Mass. R. 97; Bayl, 51, Amer. edit.; Durenbury v. Ellis, 3 John's Ca. 70; Bayl. 52, Amer. Edit.; and see the Judgment in Polhill v. Walter, 3 B. & Ad. 122.

(n) See note to Thomas v Hewes, 2 C. &

M. 530.

(o) Wilson v. Barthrop, 2 M. & W. 863. There three persons carried on business as partners, under the firm of J. B. & Son. Two of the partners died, and the surviving partner employed the defendant, who had previously acted as a clerk to the firm, to wind up the affairs. In this character the defendant attended the warehouse, and transacted business with different parties on account of the firm. Under these circumstances the defendant, using and signing the name of the firm, drew upon J. H., a debtor to the firm, a bill of exchange, which J. M. accepted: Held, that the defendant was not liable, as the drawer, in an action upon the bill, his name not being affixed to it, without some proof that he had no authority to to draw bills in the name of the firm, or that he had not acted bona fide; and the court doubted whether if it had been proved that he had no such authority, he would have been liable in an action upon the bill.

But, semble, if it had been shown that the defendant had applied the money to his own use, and had no authority to draw bills, an action for money had and received might have been maintained. See per Abinger, C. B. ib. 865. And inasmuch as no one can be liable as acceptor but the person to whom the bill is addressed, unless he be an acceptor for honour, it follows that a party who, without authority, accepts a bill as by the procuration of the person to whom the bill is addressed, cannot be sued in that character; Polhill r. Walter, 3 B. & Ad. 114, ante, 35, note(1).

(q) Beawes, 431; Pal. P. & A. 6.

the signers and did not bind the corporation. \
(2) \{ An agent receiving for collection, before maturity, a bill payable on a particular day after date, is held to attrict vigilance in making presentment for acceptance; and if guilty of negative to the payment of all demonstration in the state of the payment of all demonstrations. ligence, is subject to the payment of all damages sustained by the owner. Allen v. Suydam, 20 Wend. 321. Where the debt is lost through the negligence of the agent, the measure of dama-

⁽¹⁾ Where A. put the name of B. to a promissory note without any authority from B., and the note was delivered to the payee for a valuable consideration, it was held that under these circumstances the law would presume that A. intended to bind himself, that he might so bind himself, and that he was liable in an action against him in his true name on the note, upon a count alleging that he made the note by the name of B. Bank v. Finnders, 4 New-Hampshire Rep. 239.

Bradlee v. Boston Glass Manufactory, 16 Pick. 347. The B. G. M. gave the plaintiffs a note for borrowed money, signed by K. as !treasurer of the corporation and indorsed by H. and G. as sureties. This note was subsequently taken up and the following note was substituted: "We the subscribers promise to pay the plaintiffs or order, for the B. G. M. $3500 on demand. &c." This note was signed by II. G. & K. without annexing to their names any words designating a connexion with the cerporation; but was entered in the note-book of the corporation as a note due from it, and the interest was annually paid by them. Held, that it was the note of 11

.स्टरास्ट्र

14:2 HCZ

i bereret.

1 ant :

C C + 25 2

1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 3

The state of

h. 1102

:70.3134

...akt .IIXI

305. 1MT.

100 BSB. . .

. de12

mily, or 😘

er of Der

N PEHSA

ranged Mil.

10012 1

gen 🎉 8 11 28

تلايعتان عوا

g 18 138 f

1.12 264 . Dr .25

10001

6 18 31 31 3

NO OF INTE gradian)

, .5******

ART C 31

-- # I.- -7, 15

Mr.

or all 120 135 in the 13:1)

No March

b :24

4. 13

3,30

mili

.

لإيوس

_{PE} 1 6

, 1

1 الإعرا

4.5

283

(12)

; # **$"

12

1.0.

or failure of third persons, to whom an agent has given credit, pursuant to the III. Modes regular and accustomed practice of trade, are not chargeable upon him(r)(1). of becom-And therefore where the receiver of Lord Plymouth's estate took bills in the country of persons who at the time were reputed to be of credit and substance, in order to return the rents in London, and the bills were dishonoured, and the money lost, yet the steward was held to be excused(s); and if a trustee appoint rents to be paid to a banker at that time in credit, and the banker afterwards breaks, the trustee is not answerable; and it has been observed, that none of these cases are on account of necessity, but because the person acted in the usual method of business (t). So in an action for money had and received, the facts were that the plaintiff had engaged the defendant, as his agent, to receive money due to him from his customers, directing him to remit by the post a bill for these and other sums due to him; a bill was accordingly remitted to him by the post, but the letter was suppressed, and the money upon the bill received at the banker's by some unknown person, and was not recovered. Lord Kenyon said, "had no direction been given about the mode of remittance, still this being done in the usual way of transacting business of this nature, I should have held the defendant clearly discharged from the money received as agent. It was so determined in Chancery forty years ago(u)."

However, if an agent place his principal's money to his own account with his general banker, without any mark by which it may be specified as belonging to the trust, and the banker fail, the agent will not be excused, because he cannot so deal with his principal's money, as that if the banker's solvency continue, he may be in a condition to treat it as his own, and if insolvency happen he may escape by considering it as belonging to his principal(x); the agent should therefore keep the money he received as such in a separate account at his banker's. And a loss occasioned by an unauthorised disposal or adventure of the principal's money, and not prescribed by the usage of business, though *intended for his benefit, is chargeable to the agent(y); [*37]and therefore where A. in London, consigned goods to the firm of B. and C. at Hamburgh, for sale upon a del credere commission, and B. in London made advances to A. to be repaid out of the proceeds, and B. and C. with (r) Russell v. Hankey, 6 T. R. 12; Payley, 37, 38.

(s) Knight v. Lord Plymouth, 2 Atk. 480. (t) Ex parte Parsons, Amb. 219; and see 1 Bro. Ch. R. 452; 3 Ves. 566; 6 Ves. 226, 266; 5 Ves. 331, 839; and see Warwick v. Noakes, Peake Rep. 68, next note.

(u) Warwick v. Noakes, Peake Ni. Pri.

(x) Wren v. Kirton, 11 Ves. 382; Robinson v. Ward, Ry. & Mo. C., N. P. 274; 2 Carr. & Pa. C. N. P. 59, S. C.; and see Rocke v. Hart, 11 Ves. 60; Massey v. Banner, 4 Madd. 413; affirmed on appeal, I Jac. & Walk. 241.

(y) Paley, P. & A. 89; 3 Chit. Com. Law.

ges, prima facie is the amount of the bill. The defendant is at liberty, however, to show circamstances, if any exist, tending to mitigate damages or reduce the recovery to a nominal amount. Ibid. }

An agent does not bear the same relation to his principal that the holder of a bill does to the drawer or endorser. The same negligence or omission which will deprive the holder of all recourse against the drawer or endorser will not subject the agent to his principal, to the extent of the bill placed in his bands for collection. Ibid.

The factor to whom commercial paper is sent for collection, but who does not make himself a party by putting his name upon the paper, is an ordinary agent, and is not subject to the law merchant. Ibid. }

⁽¹⁾ Where bills are remitted by a merchant to his factor, to be converted into available funds, and the factor mingles the property with that of others, by selling the bills on a credit and taking a joint note, covering other sums, this is in accordance with the general usage, and if the parties to the note become insolvent before it is due, the factor will not be held responsible, in consequence of the mere act of taking such joint note, for the loss sustained. Hamilton v. Cunningham, 2 Brock. 350.

6311

•

1 2

n: ::

5)* (

Üβ

£ .:

Ľ.

50

i.

٠,٠

واص

20

TM.

-22

6.3

2. :

im;

)*:

21

۱,

3.

(ħ.)

III. Mode the proceeds purchased bills for A. which they transmitted to B. in London, of becom- specially indorsed to him, and these bills whilst they were in B.'s hands were dishonoured; it was held that B. and C. must bear the loss(z). On the other hand, in general whatever profit an agent may derive from dealing with bills the property of his principal belong to his principal, and therefore where the master of a ship in a foreign port, from the state of the exchange, received a premium for a bill drawn upon England on account of the ship, it was held that this belonged to his owner, although there might have been an usage for masters of ships to appropriate such premiums to their own use (a).

Bill of In-

Where a person holds bills as agent for another, and a third person sues terpleader him for the same, he may, by resorting to a court of equity, compel the two claimants to litigate the claim, without involving him in the expense of resisting two suits; and a bill of interpleader has been sustained upon bills of exchange received by the plaintiff as agent, to procure payment for his principal in Scotland, to whom they had been remitted, against an order for goods pursued in an action of trover by such principal, and also by attachment in Scotland by a creditor of the principal (b). Or the like relief may now be obtained on motion to the common law courts, under 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58, s. 1(c).

By Act of Partner.

With respect to a person's becoming a party to a bill or note, or liable to pay the same by the act of a partner, it is expedient to consider this important subject under the following divisions:-

I. PRIVATE PARTNERSHSIP 1. What constitues a Partnership, and who a Partner Being in fact a Partner ih. Of mere prospective Partnerships By representing himself as such 39 2. Liability of a Partner in general, in case of Bills, &c. In case of an open General Partnership Where Name not disclosed, and Secret Partner, optional to sue secret Partner In case of Particular Partnership 44 But not a mere Joint Ownership or a Single Transaction Must be a Partnership at Date of ib. Transactions Must be a Partnership in a Trade or Transaction requiring Use of Bills 46 Of Admissions of Liability ib. Not liable in case of Fraud on part of Holder as well as Co-partner Notice not to use Name 48 Injunction against Partner 49 Dissolution of Partnership ib. First, By Effluxion of Time

Secondly, By Act of Parties, &c. Dissolution must be according to Terms of Partnership ib. 50 Notice thereof ib. When necessary Necessary in case of an oslenih. sible Partnership Not necessary in case of cret Partnership 52 What Notice required Consequences of retiring Pariner still appearing as a Partner 53 Acts of Partner after Dissolution, how far binding All Partners continue liable for prior Debts 55 Thirdly, By Bankruptcy 56 Fourthly, By Death ib. 4. How Partners should sign How Persons not Partners to sign 59 5. When one Partner cannot sue Copartner 6. When Partners affected by the Promise of a Partner II. Public Regulations Affecting CORPORATIONS AND CO-PARTNER-SHIPS

(z) Lucas and others v. Groning and others, 1 Stark. Rep. 891.

(a) Diplock v. Blackburn, 3 Campb. 43; Thompson v. Havelock, 1 Campb. 327; Payley on Prin. & Agent, 41; 1 Ves. 88; Chitty's Law of Apprentices, 67, 68, 69; 8 Chit. Com. Law,

(b) Stevenson v. Anderson, 2 Ves. & Bes. 407.

(c) See this act with notes, Chit. & Hulme's Stat. 564, title Interpleader, and post, Part II. Ch. III.

ı,

1999

*1. Who a Partner or not.—To subject a person to liability as a partner III. Modes in general, he must have been either actually a partner at the time of mak- of becoming the supposed contract, or have represented or held himself out to the By Partworld or to some party to the bill to be such, though in truth he was not so. ners. If he actually was a partner at that time, though induced to become so by 1. Private Partnerthe fraud of others, all the consequences as to bona fide holders will follow, shipe. although he has never signed the formal agreement or deed of co-partnership executed by others(c); and if an agreement of partnership be general on the face of it, parol evidence to shew that the partnership was really not to commence till a subsequent time will not be admissible (d). So where the defendants became directors, bought shares, and attended meetings of a projected Water Company, for which an act was to be obtained, it was held that though no act had been obtained, and the project had failed, yet they were responsible for works, although such works were ordered at subsequent meetings of the projectors, which the defendants did not attend; the defendants not having previously declared off, or done any act to divest themselves of their interest in the concern, or apprised the plaintiff or others of their having ceased to be partners(e). And it is immaterial whether the party were a partner for his own benefit or as an executor or trustee for the benefit of others; and therefore an executor who, after the death of one of several partners, continues to receive a share for the benefit of infants, is liable on a bill issued by one of the firm, although his name does not appear in the firm(f). And if a person during his infancy carry on trade as partner with another, he must, on coming of age, notify that he disaffirms the partnership, or he will be liable as partner on all subsequent transactions (g), though as to prior bargains he will be free from responsibility, unless he ratify them by writing signed by him(h).

But a mere offer or proposal to become a partner in a projected concern, A mere which proves abortive, or an application by a party to have shares, and his Proposal paying a first deposit in anticipation of the formation of a projected compa-does not Constitute ny, but which was never completed, will not constitute him a partner in a Partnerfact(i); nor will the insertion of his name by the secretary of such projected ship. company in a book containing a list of subscribers, be considered as a permission by him to hold him out as a partner (k). Where, however, a person's name was entered in a book with those of several other subscribers to a projected joint-stock company, and he received certain script receipts, but sold them before the deed for the formation of the company was executed, and he never was a party to that deed; it was nevertheless holden that he was a partner in the concern, and continued such, especially as the deed contained a stipulation that notice should be given to the directors of the persons to whom it was proposed by any of the members to make a transfer, and no such notice had been given (l).

(h) 9 Geo. 4, c. 14, s. 5.

⁽c) Ellis v. Schmæck, 5 Bing. 521; 8 M. &

⁽d) Williams v. Jones, 5 B. & C. 108. (e) Doubleday v. Muskett, 7 Bing. 110; 4 M. & P. 750, S. C.; and see Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing. 28; 12 Moore, 135, S. C.; infra, note ⁽f) Wightman v. Townroe and another, 1 Maule & S. 412.

⁽g) Goode v. Harrison, 5 B. & Ald. 147.

⁽i) Fox v. Clifton and others, 6 Bing. 776; 4 M. & P. 676, S. C. In this case the jury, on a new trial granted having again found for the plaintiffs, the court directed a third trial, 9 Bing. 115; 2 Moore & S. 146, S. C.

⁽¹⁾ Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing, 28; 12 Moore, 135, S. C.; and see Doubleday v. Muskett, 7 Bing. 110; 4 M. & P. 750, S. C.; supra, note (815

11 2

73

?t :

101

3.11

3 20 ð-i à". 1

٠.:

to-9,

v : 19.

** (

A . .

ic n

S.,

(*) ί.₁

III. Modes ing a Party. By Part-

*So in general a mere prospective partnership or company will not subject of become a party who merely proposes to become a partner, to any liability (m)(1).

pective Partnership.

But if a Party repis liable.

If a person represent himself to be a partner, though in fact he was not so, Nor a Pros- and thereby induce a person to give credit to a concern, he will be liable as a partner(n); but the representation must be by himself or by some third person by his authority(o); and it must be general and public, or to the particular creditor, for a representation only to one or more persons which the creditor never heard of, could not mislead him, and he has no right to avail resent him- himself of it in order to fix a party who in fact was not a partner (p); and self to be a therefore where a person, not in fact a partner in working a mine, nor hav-Partner, be ing represented herself as such to the plaintiff, although she had erroneously acknowledged herself to others to be a shareholder, but had not had any shares of any interest in the mine assigned to her, was holden not to be liable to an action for goods supplied for the use of the mine(q).

2. Liability in case of a genership.

- 2. General Liability of Partner.—In general one joint-tenant, tenant in common, or person jointly interested with another in real or personal proal Partner- perty, is not capable by himself of doing any act to bind or prejudice his co-But by the custom of merchants, long established as law, if one partner in trade draw, accept, or indorse a bill, check, or note, in the name, and seemingly on the behalf of the firm, such act will render all the partners liable to a BONA FIDE HOLDER, although the instrument had no relation to the joint trade, and the other partners were wholly ignorant of the transaction, and were even intentionally defrauded by their partner (s)(2). The
 - (m) Bourne v. Freeth, 9 B. & C. 632. It being in contemplation to form a company for distilling whiskey, the following prospectus was issued in May, 1825: "The conditions upon which this establishment is formed are, the concern will be divided into twenty shares of 100l. each, five of which to belong to A. B. the founder of the works, the other fifteen subscribers to pay in their subscriptions to M. & Co. bankers, Liverpool, in such proportions as may be called for. The concern to be under the management of a committee of three of the subscribers, to be chosen annually on the 10th of October, ten per cent to be paid into the bank on or before the 1st of June next." Held, that this prospectus imported only that a company was to be formed, not that it was actually formed; and that a person who subscribed his name to this prospectus, and who was present at a meeting of subscribers, when it was proposed to take certain premises for the purpose of carrying on the distillery, which were after-wards taken, and solicited others to become shareholders, but never paid his subscription, was not chargeable as a partner for goods supplied to the company.

As to prospective partnerships incomplete see Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 786; 4 Moo. & P. 676; Thames Tunnel Company v. Sheldon, 6 B. & C. 341; 9 Dowl. & R. 278.

(n) See observations in Harvey v. Kay, Bart. 9 Bar. & Cres. 356; Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 791; 4 Moo. & P. 676; Doubleday v. Muskett, 7 Bing 117; 4 Moo. & P. 750; Ex parte Langdale, 18 Ves. 300.

(o) Ante, 38, note (i); Fox v. Cliston, 6 Bing. 786, 794; 4 Moo. & P. 676; and see cases there put by Tindal, C. J., as to what constitutes a representation of this nature.

(p) Vice v. Ludy Anson, 7 B. & C. 409; and see cases supra; and Vere v. Ashby, 10 Bar. & Cres. 288; Carter v. Whalley, 1 Bar. & Adol. 13.

(q) Id. ibid.

(r) Offly r. Ward, 1 Lev. 234; Tooker's Case, 2 Co. Rep. 67; Lingan v. Payne, Bridgman, 129.

(8) See the older cases, Pinckney v. Hall, 1 Salk. 126; 1 Lord Raym. 175, S. C.; Anon. Styles, 870; Smith v. Jarves, 2 Ld. Raym. - v. Layfield, 1 Salk. 292; Anon. 13 Mod. 345; Lane r. Williams, 2 Vern. 227; id. 292, S. C.; Harrison r. Jackson, 7 T. R. 207; Bac. Abr. Merchant, C.; Vin. Abr. Partners, A. And the more modern cases, Sutton v. Gregory, Peake Adden. 150; Shirreff r. Wilks, 1 East, 48; Swan v. Steele, 7 East, 210; Ridley r. Taylor, 13 East, 175; Ex parte Bonbonus, 8 Ves. 542; Ex parte Gardom, 15 Ves. 286; Wintle v. Crowther and another,1 Tyrw. 210; 1 Cromp. & J. 310, S. C.

The general rule is, that the act or agreement of one partner, seemingly with reference to and in the course of the partnership business and

^{(1) \} Drafts may be drawn on a firm by name, in anticipation of a partnership, and if accepted after one is formed, the acceptance binds the partnership. Westcott v. Price, Wright, 220. \ (2) Hart v. Withers, 1 Penn. R. 285, except it be to release a debt. M'Bride v. Hagan, 1 p (7 7c?

เหม่นธ

F4. X2

(f 37.92)

J. W. 2.

35 2 C

00 MIG

过温度

ng: 25

1974.2

à n

, E 3.3

) ... | 30

10:1

) I

Just 41

x 2.5

, (js

316 3

,97"

151.

. 10

15

1

هرين

. 9

. 1

. 1

4:5

1

1,97 38

3 ı î

1,4

Ī

şδ

law as to liability of partners is thus laid down by *Tindal, C. J. (t), " By III: Modes the general rule of law relating to partnerships in trade, each member of it of becomis liable to the debts and engagements of the whole company contracted in ing a Par-This is a consequence not confined to the law of By Partthe course of the trade. this country, but extending generally throughout Europe; and it is founded nerpartly on the desire to favour commerce, that merchants in partnership may obtain more credit in the world, and more especially on the principle that the members of trading partnerships are constituted agents, the one for the other, for entering into contracts connected with the business and concerns of the partnership, so that by the contracts of the agent all his principals are bound. But to subject a person to responsibility as a partner, for the acts of another, done without his express concurrence, he must stand in one or other of these two situations; first, he must at the time of making the contract, whether bill, note, or other instrument, have been actually a partner in the joint concern; or, secondly, admitting that he was not, he must have represented or permitted himself to be represented as such, before or at the affairs, and material to the carrying on the same, is, in point of law, the act or contract of the whole firm and binding on them, although it violate any private agreement between the partners; Anonymous, 12 Mod. 446; 11 Mod. 40; see per Abbott, C. J. Sandilands v. Marsh, 2 B. & Al. 678, 679. Thus he may sell, Godb. 224; or insure the partnership effects, Hooper v. Lusby, 4 Camp. 66; receive money for the firm, Kemble v. Atkins, Holt, 434; Cowp. 481; release the debts due to it, Tooker's Case, 2 Co. 68; Bac. Abr. Release, D.; Stead v. Salt, 3 Bing 103; and see Cases and Law collected in Chit. jun. on Contracts. 74, &c. But a receipt given by one partner in the name and in fraud of the firm will not bind the latter, Farrar and others v. Hutchinson, t Perry & Da. 437; and the implied authority of a partner does not enable him to execute deeds in the name of the firm, Ball v. Dunsterville, 4 T. R. 313; Harrison v. Jackson, 7 T. R. 207; Holt, C. N. P. 143; 1 Sch. & Lef. 22; and the decisions are contradictory upon the question whether one partner can give a guarantee for the debt of a third person, so as to bind the other without his authority; Ex parte Gardom, 15 Ves. 280; Duncan v. Lowndes and another, 3 Camp. 478; Payne v. Ives, 3 D. & R. 664; Hope v. Cust, cited by Lawrence, J., in Shirreff v. Wilks, 1 East, 53. It seems clear, however, that it would be sufficient to prove a parol acknowledgment from the other partner subsequent to the giving of the guarantee. see 8 Ves. 540; or to show a previous course of dealing in which similar guarantees had been given in the partnership with the privity of all the partners, Sandilands v. Marsh, 2 B. & Al. 678, 678, 679; see Peake, 79; Shirreff v. Wilks, 1 East, 4S; or that the guarantee was given in the course of and as incidental to a transaction falling within the ordinary course of the business of the firm, 2 B. & Al. 673, 678, 679; Ex parte Nolte, 2 G. & J. 295. A partner cannot without his co-partner's consent bind his co-partner by a submission to arbitration even of a matter relating to the partnership; Stead and others v. Salt, 3 Bing. 101; Adams v. Bankart, 1 C., M. & R. 681; S. C. 5 Tyr. 425; 1 Gale, 48; and see Boyd v. Emnerson, 2 Ad. & El. 184; 4 N. & M. 99, S. C.; sed ride Burnell v. Minot, 4 J. B. Moore, 340. But the subsequent approval and recognition by the firm of the act or contract of one of the partners, or their privity and silence, afford powerful evidence that he was invested with a sufficient prior authority to bind all the partners, S Ves. 540; Duncan v. Lowndes, 8 Campb. 478. But if it clearly appear no partnership existed at the time of the contract, no subsequent act by any person who may afterwards become a partner (not even an acknowledgment that he is liable, nor his accepting a bill of exchange drawn on them as partners for goods sold to his other partner before the partnership,) will make him liable in an action for goods sold and delivered, although he will be liable to an action on the bill of exchange, Saville r. Robertson, 4 T. R. 720: see Chitty, jun. on Contracts, 76; Dolman v. Orchard, 2 Car. & Pa. C. N. P. 104. An executor who, after the death of one of several partners, continues to receive his share for the benefit of infants, is liable on a bill issued by the firm, although his name does not appear in the firm, Wightman v. Townroe and another, 1 Maul. &

(1) Per Tindal, C. J., in Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 795, citing Pothier, Traité du Contrat de Société, ch. 6, s. 1. See as to partnerships and partners in general, Chitty's Commercial Law, vol. iii.

Wend. Rep 326. But a partner may bind his co-partner by contract under seal, made in the name and for the use of the firm in the course of the partnership business, provided the co-partner assents to the contract previous to its execution, or afterwards ratifies and adopts it; and this assent or adoption may be by parol. Cady r. Shephard, 11 Pick. Rep. 400.

And the decisions are contradictory upon the question whether one partner can give a guar-

31

(21)

510

131

0::

3.1

124

'n.

К.

2.1

4:: 156.1

171

* = 1

~

ر جد

Pr.

÷, 1

ą;

i...

ing a By Part-[*41]

III. Modes time of making the contract, either generally to all the world or to several of becom- individuals, or to the plaintiff in particular, or to some person through whom he claims(u)."

Again, it has been observed and decided, that by entering into the partnership, each party reposes confidence in the other, and constitutes *him his general agent as to all the partnership concerns, and it would be a great impediment to commerce, if in the ordinary transactions of their trade, it were necessary that the actual consent of each partner should be obtained, or that it should be ascertained that the transaction was really for the benefit of the firm; hence the act of one, when it has the appearance of being on behalf of the firm, is considered as the act of the rest, and whenever a bill is drawn, accepted or indorsed, by one of several partners, as on behalf of the firm, during the existence of the partnership, and it gets into the hands of a bond fide holder, the partners are liable to him, though in truth one partner only negotiated the bill for his own peculiar benefit, without the consent of his copartners (x).

(u) Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 791; Doubleday r. Muskett, 7 Bing. 117; ante, 38

(x) Admitted in Shirreff v. Wilks, 1 East. Decided in Swan v. Steele, 7 East, 210; 3 Smith's Rep. 199, S. C.; Ridley v. Taylor, 13 East, 175; Baker v. Charlton, Peake, 80; Lane v. Williams, 2 Vern. 277; Arden v. Sharpe, 2 Esp. Rep. 524; Wells v. Masterman, 2 Esp. Rep. 731; Jacaud v. French, 12 East,

In Swan and others v. Steele, 7 East, 210, A. B. and C. traded under the firm of A. and B. in the cotton business, C. not being known to the world as a partner, and A. and B. traded as partners alone, under the same firm, in the bus ness of grocers; in which latter business they became indebted to D. and gave him their acceptance, which not being able to take up when due, they, in order to provide for it, in-dersed in the common firm of A. and B. a bill of exchange to D. which they had received in the cotton business, in which C. was interested; but such indorsement was unknown to C., of whom D., the indorsee, had no knowledge at the time; and it was decided that such indorsement in the firm common to both partnerships of a bill received by A. and B. in the cotton businese, bound C. their secret partner in that business, and that consequently C. was liable to be sued by D on such indorsement, the latter not knowing of the misapplication of the partnership fund at the time. Lord Ellenborough, C. J., said, " It would be a strange and novel doctrine to hold it necessary for a person receiving a bill of exchange indorsed by one of several partners, to apply to each of the other partners, to know whether he assented to such indorsement, or otherwise that it should be roid; there is no doubt, that in the absence of all fraud on the part of the indorsec, such indorsement would bind all the partners. There may be partnerships where none of the existing partners have their names in the firm; third persons may not know who they are; and yet they are all bound by the acts of any of the partners in the name or firm of the partnership. The distinction. is well settled, that if a creditor of one of the partners collude with him to take payment or security for his individual debt out of the partnership funds, knowing at the time that it is without the consent of the other partner, it is fraudulent and void; but if it be taken bond fide without such knowledge at the time, no subsequently acquired knowledge of the misconduct of the partner in giving such security can disaf-firm the act; if the interests of the plaintiffs in the bill were once well vested, no subsequest knowledge that such indorsement was made without the consent of the partners, will divest; and it would be highly inconvenient that it should; because, if the plaintiffs had been apprised at the time that the partner who indoned the bill had no authority to do so, they might have obtained some other security for their demand."

In Ex parte Bonbonus, 8 Ves. 542, Lord Chancellor Eldon said, "This petition is presented upon a principle which it is very difficult to maintain; that if a partner for his own ac-commodation pledges the partnership, as the money comes to the account of the single partner only the partnership is not bound. I cannot accede to that; I agree, if it is manifest to the persons advancing money that it is upon the sepurate account, and so that it is against good faith that he should pledge the partnership, then they should show that he had authority to bind the partnership. But if it is in the ordinary course of commercial transactions, as upon discount, it would be monstrous to hold that a man borrowing money upon a bill of exchange, pledging the partnership without any knowledge in the bankers that it is a separate transaction, merely because that money is all carried into the books of the individual, therefore the partnership should not be bound. No case has gone that length. It was doubted whether Hope r. Cust was not carried too fur, yet that does not reach this transaction, nor Shirrest v. Wilks, as to which I agree with Lord Kenyon, that as partners, whether they expressly provide against it in their articles (as they generally do, though unnecessarily), or not, do not act with good faith, when pledging the partnership property for the debt of the individual, so it is a fraud in the person taking that pledge for his separate debt. The question of fact, whether this was fair matter of discount, or, being an antecedent * y)@

1. C. L.

1 2331

2 0

Nach f.

r Jestilio

2.10

1- 11-5

· 1/2 12 2

W 22

p (2000 st

A 126.38

12:50 لاق ۲٦٫۰۰

THE ! 31 460 dini es.1.5

ويوين

, 18 H

15520

, y'

WE

(it.

₹131°

Top it

45,7

 $e^{\pm it}$

2.7

្នាំផ្

14.1

17.7° 10 m

1. ·

3

5.0°

į,

*And where a partnership firm is pledged by the acceptance of a bill of ex- III. Modes change by one partner in the name of the firm, the partnership, of whomso- of becomever it may consist, whether they are named or not, and whether the partners By partare known or secret partners, will be bound, unless the title of the person ner. who seeks to charge them can be impeached (y). And if a bill, accepted in a partnership firm, is applied, with the knowledge of the party who takes the bill, in part only to the separate use of the partner who actually accepts it, a secret partner, not known to the party who takes the bill, is liable in respect of so much of the amount as is not to the knowledge of the taker applied to the separate use of the partner who accepts the bill(z).

So it has been held that one partner has an implied anthority to sign, on behalf of the firm, a promissory note for the weekly payments under the Lords' Act(a); and one partner may act for the whole firm as by procura-tion, and indorse a bill in that manner (b).

And this rule prevails, although by the terms of the partnership deed, the bound, partners were prohibited from circulating any bills or notes, if the holder potwithwere ignorant of that circumstance at the time he received the same; though standing on proof of such restrictive clause, and that the bill was issued by one part- of Partnerner without the concurrence and in fraud of the others, the holder must prove ship prothat he gave value for it(c). And though at law the executor of a deceased hibited partner could not be sued, yet in equity the amount of a bill or note issued separate debt of Rogers, the discount was obtained merely for the purpose of paying that debt, by the application of the partnership funds, which question is brought forward by the affidavits, though not by the petition, must lead to farther examination. If the partners are privy and silent, permitting him to go on dealing in this way, without giving notice, the question will be, whether subsequent approbation is not for this purpose equivalent to previous consent. In Fordyce's case, Lord Thurlow and the Judges had a great deal of conversation upon the law; and they doubted upon the danger of placing every man with whom the paper of a partnership is pledged, at the mercy of one of the partners, with reference to the account he may afterwards give of the transaction. There is no doubt, now the law has taken this course, that if under the circumstances the party taking the paper can be considered as being advertised in the nature of the transaction, that it was not intended to be a partnership proceeding. as if it was for an antecedent debt, prima facie it will not bind them; but it will, if you can show previous authority, or subsequent appro-bation; a strong case of subsequent approbation raising an inference of previous positive authority. In many cases of partnership, and different private concerns, it is frequently necesmary for the salvation of the partnership that the private demand of one partner should be satisfied at the moment, for the rain of one partner would spread to the others, who would rather let him liberate himself by dealing with the firm. The nature of the subsequent transactions therefore must be looked to as well as that at the time." And see Sanderson v. Brooksbank and another, 4 C. & P. 286; Sutton v. Gregory, Peake's Add. Cases, 150; Lacy v. Woolcott,

2 D. & R. 460; M'Nair v. Fleming, Mont. on Part. 32,(n). Davison v. Robertson, 3 Dow, 229; sed vide Ex parte Goulding and Davy, 2 Glyn & J. 118: 8 Law J. 19, S. C.; Stoveld v. Shepperton, 1 Law J. 6, K. B. Holder of partnership bill putting same into hands of one member of firm to obtain payment from another, not affected by a representation of the former that the bill has been paid, unless at the time of such representation the bill was produced in proof thereof; Featherstone v. Hunt, 1 B. & C. 118, S. C.; 2 D. & R. 238; 1 Law J. 49, K. B.

(y) Wintle v. Crowther, 1 Cro. & J. 316; 1 Tyrw. 214, S. C.; Lloyd v. Ashby, 2 B. & Ad. 23. See further as to secret partners, post, (z) Wintle r. Crowther, 1 C. & J. 316.

(a) Meux v. Humphrey, 8 T. R. 25; Burton v. Issitt, 5 B. & Al. 267.

(b) Williamson v. Johnson, 1 B. & C. 146; 2 Dow. & Ry. 292, S. C.

(c) Grant r. Hawkes and another, K. B. Guildhall, 4th June, 1817. Action against the several defendants as partners in the Butterly Company and as acceptors of a bill, at the suit of the plaintiff as indorsee. The defendants having proved that by the articles of the company, the members were prohibited from circulating any bills or notes, Lord Ellenborough said, "An indorsee may recover on a bill against partners in a concern, though the drawing or accepting were contrary to agreement between them, and by one of the partners in fraud of the rest; but then the indorsee must show that he gave value." Scarlett and Reader for plaintiff. Topping, Jervis, Marryatt, Garney, Gazelee, Peake, &c. for defendants. Bellamy, attorney for plaintiff. Anstice for one of defendants. And see Puller v. Roe, Peake, 197; Mont. Bank, Law 8d ed. 248.

(BI)

阳门

12. A1

26.21

ST ::

1.3

Ŧ

2.7

FZ

5

¥,41

Kec 1

Ji 1

1 or y

٧.٦ خون

m :

3.4

ŧ.: .

r_Y

2 (

٠,

×: 1

* 1 * 1

2.4

·~ ;

1,

۷--

8 .

. .

ž.

े. • ,

ą÷

III. Modes in the name of the firm, though in fraud of the deceased partner, might be of becom-recovered from such executor by a bona fide holder(d).

ner.
Liability, whether Name be used in Form or not.

[#43]

By part-

*It is immaterial whether or not each partner be particularly named in the firm or on the face of the bill, or whether he be included under the comprehensive description "Company," or "Co." or whether or not he be known to the holder; for per Bayley, B. "We are of opinion, that where a partnership name is pledged, the partnership, of whomsoever it may consist, whether the partners are named in the firm or not, and whether they are known or secret partners, will be bound, unless the conduct or title of the person who seeks to charge them can be impeached(e)." And upon this principle it has been held that a secret partner in a partnership of three persons is bound by an acceptance in the name of the two ostensible partners, and for a debt due from an old firm before such secret partner became But if a particular partnership is carried on in the name of one individual only, without the words "and Co." then if he issue a bill in his own name only, for his own separate use, his partner will not be liable in such case of misapplication, because in that case no partnership firm is pledged(g), though if the bill had been really issued for the benefit of the firm he would be liable (h).

But it is not compulsory to sue a Secret Partner. When it is apparent on the face of a bill or note, or distinctly known to the holder, that a person was a co-partner, and jointly liable, he must sue him jointly accordingly, or the action may be defeated by a plea in abatement(i). But where a person was a sleeping or secret partner unknown at the time, the circumstance of a holder afterwards discovering that he was a

(d) Lane v. Williams and others, 2 Vern. 277, 292. Newberry and Williams (the latter the defendant's late husband), were partners. Newberry issued the note in the name of the firm in their shop, and received the money from the plaintiff, but which money was not brought into the trade. Williams died, and afterwards Newberry. The plaintiff first filed a bill against the executors of Newberry, but there being a deficiency of assets, he fled the present bill to have satisfaction out of the estate of Williams; and per cur. the money being paid at the shop, the note of one partner binds both; and though at law the note stands good only against the executor of the surviving partner, who was Newberry, who received the money, and signed the note, yet it is proper in equity to follow the estate of Williams for satisfaction; and decreed it accordingly.

See also Devaynes v. Noble, I Meriv. 568; and Anderson v. Maltby, Ero. C. C. 423; 2

Ves. jun. 244, 265.

(e) Wintle v. Crowther and Coombs, 1 Tyrw. R. 215; 1 Cromp. & Jerv. 310, S. C.;

ante, 42.

(f) Lloyd r. Ashby, Rowland and Shaw, 2 Bar. & Adol. 23, 29. A., R., and O., carried on businoss as partners under the firm of Ashby and Co. from February, 1820, to May, 1824, when O. retired, and the other two partners, A. and R. agreed to liquidate all the debts due from the partnership; and they continued the business as partners under the firm, of Ashby and Rowland. In June, 1824, Shaw agreed to become a member of this last-mentioned partnership, as from the 18th May preceding, but his name was not to be introduced, and the business was still carried on under the names of Ashby and Rowland only. In July, 1824, II. being indebted to L. drew a bill of exchange in his favour upon "Ashby and Co.," which bill was accepted by the partner Rowland in the names of "Ashby and Rowland." II. the drawer of the bill had hed dealings with the firm of A., R., and O.; but whether that firm was indebted to him when the bill was drawn did not appear; nor did it appear that there had been any dealings between the drawer and A., R. and Shaw, after the entrance of Shaw into the partnership. The name of Shaw was never used or made known to any person dealing with the firm-Held, that L., the plaintiff, being a bond fide holder for adequate value, and there having been no fraud, all the defendants were liable. Et per curiam, "Notwithstanding the variance between the names to which the bill is addressed, and those in which it is accepted, we are of opinion that the three defendants must be taken to be the persons designated by the acceptance in the name of Ashby and Rowland, and that the acceptance binds them all."

(g) Ex parte Boletho, 1 Buck, 100, as explained by Bayley, B. in Wintle v. Crowther and another, 1 Tyrw. R. 214.

(h) South Carolina Bank v. Case, 8 Bar. & C. 433; 2 M. & R. 459, S. C. And see Thicknesse v. Bromilow, 2 C. & J. 425.
(i) See cases, 1 Chitty on Pleading, 6th edit. 42, 48, 46.

'n

77 X Z

* 11. 12

2013

110 6

Mary 1

,,(*1 ." 12

251 133

A. 2 --

116 -

•••

1111

 \sim 3

,"2

..

41

 \mathfrak{z}'

, A

.

partner does not deprive him of his option to sue or proceed against him III. Modes jointly, or omit him as a defendant; and, in the latter case, the non-joinder of becoming a Par-cannot be pleaded in abatement (k). And where a bill of exchange has been drawn, accepted, or indorsed in By Partthe name of a firm, (as "Saunders, Brothers, & Co. London,") without ner. stating particularly the names of each of the partners, a person who becomes holder may, if he think fit, sue only those known to *him to be partners at [*44] the time he received the bill, and though he is at liberty to sue all who he afterwards discovers to be partners, he is not compellable to do so(l), and the same rule prevails in equity and in bankruptcy, where a holder has, in the case of a secret partner, the option of proving against the joint estate or separate estate(m).

There is no difference, as to liability, between a general partnership and Liability in ticular

(k) Per Lord Tenterden, in Mullet v. Hook, Mood. & M. 98, overruling Dubois v. Ludert, 5 Taunt 609; and see next note.

(1) De Mantort v. Saunders, 1 Bar. & Adol. The declaration was upon a bill of exchange, drawn upon two persons, by the names of Saunders, Brothers, and Co .- Plea, that the promises in the declaration were made by two other persons named in the plea jointly with the defendants. Issue thereon. The defendants proved, that although they carried on business in London, under the firm of Saunders, Brothers, and Co., two other persons named in the plea, who resided at the Mauritius, where the bill was drawn, were in fact in partnership with them, and that the plaintiff resided at the Mauritius. It was nevertheless holden, that upon this evidence the jury were properly desired to find for the plaintiff, if they thought the holder of the bill had reason to consider that the defendants alone constituted the house of 8. B. and Co., the question being with whom the plaintiff contracted. And per Parke, J. It seems to me that the case was properly left to the jury, to say whether the plaintiff, at the time when he took the bill, had any reason to know that Wiche and W. S. Saunders were partners in the house in London upon which the bill was drawn. It is true, that in Dubois r. Ludert, 5 Taunt. 609; 1 Marsh. 246, S. C. it was decided that a defendant might plead in abstement a secret partnership, although the plaintiff had no means of knowing of that partnership; but the decision in that case is at variance with the decision of Lord Kenyon, in Doe v. Chippenden. (cited in Abbott on Shipping, 76); of Lord Ellenborough, in Baldney v. Kitchen, 1 Stark. R. 338; and of Lord Tenterden, in Mullett v. Hook, (M. & M. 88, ante, 48, note(k)). Those cases establish that upon such a plea as that pleaded in this case, the only question is, with whom the contract was made? When the plaintiff took a bill of exchange, drawn upon Saunders and Co. in London, he must have understood that that bill would be paid by the persons who were the ostensible partners in that house, and therefore, when it appeared that the defendants were the two partners who transacted the business in London, it was incumbent on them to show that the plaintiff had trusted the other two persons; for if a person contract with two persons, he may Partnersue them only; if, after the contract be made, ship. he discover that they had a secret partner, who had an interest in the contract, he is at liberty to sue that secret partner jointly with them, but he is not bound so to do. I think, therefore, that the case of Dubois v. Ludert cannot be supported. The two persons who carried on the business at the Mauritius must be considered as dormant partners in the house in London, the jury having found that the plaintiff had no reason to consider that they were such partners, the issue joined on the allegation in the plea, that the promises mentioned in the declaration were made by the defendant jointly with the other two persons named in the plea, was properly found in favour of the plaintiff. Taunton and Patteson, Justices, concurred. Rule refused.

So in Ex parte Hamper, 17 Ves. 403, Lord Eldon, (citing Benfield's case, decided by Lord Loughborough, 5 Ves. 424,) mentions it as clear law, that a dormant partner, not being an ostensible contracting party, the creditor, though he may if he chooses, is not bound to go against him. And subsequently, in Ex parte Norfolk, 19 Ves. 455, after noticing the decision of the Court of Common Pleas in Dubois v. Ludert, that a visible partner may plead that there is a dormant partner, he says, "That is new to me, and contrary to the course in bankruptcy for thirty years. Here it has been taken as unquestionable, that if I deal with A. he cannot, with reference to that transaction, say there is a contract between him and B. of whom I know nothing; thus compelling me to be a joint creditor of those two, whose joint property may be scarcely anything, and not the sole creditor of the only man I knew. I have said in this place, following a series of precedents, that the joint creditors may elect; that a man purchasing from or selling to A., not knowing of any partner, may consider A. as the sole vendor or vendee. He may, finding that B. has taken a share of the profits, elect to go against him also, but cannot be compelled certainly. See also Ex parte Hodgkinson, 19 Ves. 291, (m) Ex parte Hodgkinson, 19 Ves. 291; Ex parte Norfolk, id. 457, S. P. See last note.

(81)

y 11

7001

2:1

20

Υ,

٠,

13.1

ner.

III. Modes a particular partnership, all the partners in each will be equally liable to a of becom- bonû side holder for the acts of co-partners, when the partnership name has been pledged; for whether persons carrying on trade together as general By Part- merchants on an extensive scale, or in a very particular and limited concern, third persons may equally be led to suppose that a bill, bearing the partnership name, was lawfully issued for the purposes of the joint trade, and are therefore equally entitled to insist on the liability of all the partners(n); and *45] if two trades are *carried on at the same place, under the same firm, a bill indorsed in the name of the firm by the partners in one trade will bind the partners in the other trade, as between them and an innocent holder; and therefore, where three persons, A. B. and C traded under the firm of A. and B. in the cotton business, (C. being a secret partner,) and A. and B. traded also separately as grocers, and indorsed a bill, the property of A. B. and C., to D., in satisfaction of a debt due from A. and B. only, C. may be sued as indorser (o).

Joint Ownership in a articular Transaction not a Partnership.

But if there be neither a general nor a particular partnership in trade, but merely a joint ownership of property, as in the case of a ship, or only a particular agreement to share in a single transaction, then one of the parties so concerned cannot bind the other by any bill or note not issued pursuant to, or consistent with, the situation of each, or without express authority(p). Therefore, where a person addressed a bill to two owners of a ship, as for necessaries furnished for the same, and one of them accepted the bill in the name of both, it was decided that the other was not liable to a bona fide holder, the bill having been drawn for the separate use of the acceptor(q).

So where there is no subsisting general partnership in trade, and two persons connected only in a particular transaction as farmers agreed to pay for certain articles connected with the concern by bills at three months, and one of them, without the concurrence of the other, accepted bills, in the name of both, at six and twelve months, the other party was holden not to be liable to be sued upon them (r).

Partnership must exist at Date of Bill or Contract(*).

In order to subject a person to liability as a partner, he must have been or appeared so at the date or issuing of the bill or making the contract(t). And if a partnership be only about to be formed, one of the intended partners cannot, in order to raise his share of the capital, issue a bill in the name (n) Swan r. Steele and another, 7 East 210; ante, 41, note(x). Wintle v. Crowther and Coombes, 1 Tyrw. R. 214; 1 Cromp. & J. 310, S. C.; ante, 42; and per Tindal, C in Anderson v. Brooksbank and another, 4 Car. & P. 286; Baker v. Charlton, Peake, 80; Lacy r. Woolcott, 2 Dow. & R. 460. When no authority to draw, &c. a bill as a partner, post, 46.

(o) Swan v. Steele, ante, 11, note (x). (p) Per Lord Eldon in Ex parte Peele, 6 Ves. 604.

(q) Williams v. Thomas, Hunter, and Latham, 6 Esp. Rep. 18. If a person who supplies stores to a ship, of which there are several owners, takes in payment the bill of the ship's husband (a part owner) only, and settles with him alone, and the other owners, in ignorance of this, allow him to receive large sums of money, which they otherwise would not have done, the latter are discharged, particularly if the bill be ronewed; Reed v. White, 5 Esp. 122; sed vide Robinson v. Read, 9 B. & C. 449, 455, 456; 4 Man. & Ry. 349, S. C.; post, Ch. V. s. iv. Delivery to Paye.

(r) Greenslade c. Dower and another, 7 Bar. & C. 635; 1 Man. & Ry. 640, S. C.; et per Bayley, J. "If several persons are in trade together, a bill accepted by one in the names of the partnership, and in the course of their trading, binds them all. But there is a great difference between such a bill and one drawn for the purpose of founding the partnership. Originally each partner would have to bring in his proportion of the capital, and it would be very unjust to let the acceptance of one for the capital bind all the others; no authority of that nature can be implied, nor does it arise by operation of law, the debt not being a partnership

(s) See as to dissolution of partnership, post. (t) Ante, 38; Dolman v. Orchard and another, 2 Car. & P. 104; Saville v. Robertson, 4 T. R. 720.

1213

1213

2000

200

. حمد 11.20 14:00

(41.5)

3 - 4

412 differ

10.3

. : .

13

7

of the firm so to bind them (u). So where the plaintiff had, previously to III. Modes the formation of a partnership, advanced a sum of money to one of the in- of Becomtended partners, to enable him to bocome one of the firm; it was held, that ing a Parthe plaintiff could not recover on a bill afterwards drawn by such party, in the By Partname of the firm, in payment of such advance; and that the other partners ner. might defend the action without giving any notice of the intention to dispute the consideration (x). So, although by a private agreement between partners, they stipulated that their partnership should be considered as commencing from an antecedent period, it was decided that one of the *part-[*46] ners was not liable on a bill issued before the partuership was actually form-

The partnership must also be in a trade or concern to which the issuing Partneror transfer of bills is necessary or usual, for otherwise a copartner, will be in a not be liable for the act of his partner, unless he gave express authority. Trade or Therefore a director or shareholder in a mining(z) or gas-light(a) com- Concern to pany, or a partner in a farm(b), is not liable, like a partner in trade, for which the every bill issued without his authority.

Bills is essential or

In some cases, although it may have been doubtful whether or not a per- assal.

Admission son were liable as a partner, a subsequent approbation, acknowledgment, or of Liability admission, and still more a promise, will preclude him from insisting on his as Partner, non-liability (c), for a strong case of subsequent approbation raises an inference of previous authority. But such acknowledgment must be made by himself or some authorised agent(d), in general, or to the plaintiff, or to some prior holder of the bill, and not in a single instance to an uninterested person(e), or it must be explicit and express(f); and a mere promise to (u) See per Bayley, J. in Greenslade, v. Dower and another, 7 Bar. & C. 635; 1 Man. & Ry. 640, S. C.; supra, note (r); and Saville v. Robertson, 4 T. R. 720.

(x) Green v. Denkin and others, 2 Stark. R.

(y) In Vere and others v. Ashby and others, 10 B. & C. 288.

(z) Dickinson v. Valpy, 1 0Bar. & C. 128; 5 M. & R. 126, S. C. In an action on a bill of exchange, purporting to be drawn and accepted by a mining company, wherein the plaintiff, an indorsee for value, sought to charge the defendant as a member of that company, it was proved that the bill had been drawn and accepted by order of the directors of the company. It was proved further, that the company had entered into a contract for the purchase of mines, taken a counting-house in London, engaged clerks, and also an agent to reside in the country, and had worked some of the mines; that the defendant having applied to the secretary of the company for shares, some were ap-propriated to him; that he paid an instalment of 151 per share; that he attended at the counting-house of the company, and there signed some deed, and afterwards attended a general meeting of the shareholders; it was held, that assuming this to be sufficient evidence of the defendant's being a partner in the company, it was incumbent on the plaintiff to prove that the directors of that company had authority to bind the other members, by drawing and accepting bills of exchange, and that the plaintiff not having produced the deed of copartnership, nor given any evidence to show that it was necessary for the purpose of carrying on the business of that mining company, or usual for other mining companies, to draw or accept bills of exchange, there was no evidence to go to the jury of such an authority to draw or accept any bills, and still less to draw or accept bills in this form, which, in effect, were promissory notes.

Semble also, that there was not sufficient evidence to show that the defendant had ever become a complete partner in the company, or that he had held himself out to the world as such partner, id. ib.; and see Vice v. Lady Anson, 7 Bar. & C. 409; ante, 39, note (p).

(a) Bramsh v. Roberts, 3 Bing. N. C. 963;

5 Scott, 172, S. C. Payment by a member of such compeny of bills purporting to be accepted for the directors before the party paying became a member, having been found by a jury as holding out no liability on similar bills bearing date subsequently to such party becoming a member, the court refused to grant a new trial.

(b) Greenslade v. Dower and another, 7 Bar. & C. 635; ante, 45, note (r).

(c) Ante, 39, 41, 42; see Fox v. Clifton, 6 Bing. 776, 786, 794; and Lord Eldon's observations in Ex parte Bonbonus, S Ves. 542; ante, 41, 42; Thicknesse v. Bromilow, 2 C. & J. 425.

 (d) Ante, 39, note(o).
 (e) Ante, 89, and Vice v. Lady Anson, 7 Bar. & C. 409; 1 Man. & Ry. 113, S. C. (f) Ante, 39.

Digitized by Google

üil

300

7

₫

¢i i

0

~

ing a Party. By Partners. der has Notice of Fraud of cannot recover.

III. Modes pay attention to an application for payment will not subject him to a liability of become with which he could not otherwise be fixed(g).

But this presumed liability of one partner for the act of his co-partner may But if Hol- be rebutted by proof of fraud or covin between the co-partner and holder, and proof that the latter, at the time he received the *instrument, knew that the partner had no right to pledge the credit of the firm in that transaction, Partner, he and that he was attempting to negotiate the same for his own individual benefit, or for the accommodation of a third person, without the concurrence of his partners, would preclude such holder from enforcing payment from *47] the latter (h). In this and other cases of fraud, where the plaintiff is really a holder for value, the question for the jury now is whether the plaintiff at the time of taking the bill knew of the fraud, and, therefore, took the bill malâ fide(i),(1), and the question is not, as formerly, whether the plaintiff took the bill under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man(k), or even whether the plaintiff has been guilty of grown negligence(l); for gross negligence, though it may be evidence of mala fides, is not the same thing.

It has been considered that the mere circumstance of a bill being given for an antecedent debt due from one only of the partners, raises a presumption that the creditor knew that the bill was given without the concurrence of the other partners(m); and in Ex parte Goulding(n), the Vice-Chancel-

(g) Greenslade v. Dower, 7 Bar. & C. 635; 1 Man. & Ry. 640, S. C.; ante, 45, note(r); Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing. 32; 12 Moore, 135. S. C. One of several partners who has himself signed a joint promissory note cannot be made liable by the act of another partner afterwards altering the note, and making it joint and several; and a letter by the first, in answer to an application for payment, that the circumstances should have his earliest attention, is not sufficient to establish his assent to the alteration; for giving attention to a matter is very different from giving assent; and the assent of the other partners would only bind the first with respect to acts necessary to carry on the partnership, and they have no authority to make a joint and several note binding on a partner who does not sign, where the note isnot subscribed in the name of the firm, but by the individuals severally composing it.

(h) See Wintle v. Crowther and another, 1 Tyrw. R. 210; ante, 42; Shireff v. Wilks, 1 East, 48; Arden v. Sharp, 2 Esp. Rep. 524; Wells v. Masterman, 2 Esp. Rep. 731, admitted by Lord Ellenborough, in Swan v. Steele, 7 East, 213; Ex parte Bonbonus, 8 Ves. 542, 544; Ridley v. Taylor, 13 East, 175; Henderson v. Wild, 2 Campb. 561; Hope v. Cust, 1 East, 53; 1 Tyr. R. 216; Watson, 197; Green v. Deakin, 2 Stark. 847. In Heath v. Sanson, 2 Bar. & Adol. 291. It appeared that S. being indebted to a firm in which he was partner, gave a note in the name of another firm to which he also belonged, in discharge of his individual debt. The payees indorsed it over, and the indorsee sued the parties who appeared to be makers:-Held, that this note was made in fraud of S.'s partner in the second firm, and could not be enforced against him by the payees, and that at least under these circumstances of suspicion the indorsee could not recover without proving that he took the note for value, though no notice had been given him to prove the consideration. It was also held, Parke, J., dissentiente, that in all cases where from defect of consideration the original payee cannot recover on the note or bill, the indorsee, to maintain an action against the maker or acceptor, must prove consideration given by himself or a prior indorsee, though he may have had no notice that such proof will be called for. But the latter doctrine has since been denied. See per Patteson, J., in Whittaker v. Edmunds, 1 Mood. & Rob. 366; 1 Ad. & E. 638, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. V. s. i. Evidence, Consideration.

(i) Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 870; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C.

(k) Down v. Hallington, 4 B. & C. 830, and see the cases supra, note (h).

(1) Crook v. Jadis, 5 B. & Ad. 909, S. C.; 3 N. & M. 257; 6 C. & P. 191; Backhouse v. Harrison, 5 B. & Ad. 1098; 3 N. & M. 188,

(m) Ex parte Bonbonus, 8 Ves. 544; ante, 41, note (x); Hope v. Cust, cited in 1 East, 58; Shirreff r. Wilks, 1 East, 48; ante, 39, note(s); Barber v. Backhorn, Peake, 61; Ex parte Agace, 2 Cox's Ca. 312; Wells v. Masterman, 2 Esp. Rep. 731; Green v. Deakin, 2 Stark. 347.

(n) Ex parte Goulding, 2 G. & J. 118; 8

^{(1) {} If a promissory note executed by a partner in the name of the firm be for his individual debt, which is known to the payee, it is a fraud upon the other partners, and does not bind them; nor is it binding upon a person who executes it as surety for the partnership, supposing it to have been authorized by them. Taylor v. Hillyer, 3 Blackf. 433; Hagar v. Mounts, Idem, 57, 261.

12

-- , ...

. . .

100.3

11/3

1,

1723

177

170 1.82

2. بير.

; ... X <!!

; ;

Ì,

21

..."

7.52

,

5.

(5

4

3

lor said, "after an attentive consideration of the several authorities, I am III. Modea of opinion, that when one partner gives the acceptance of the firm, in pay- of becomment of his separate debt, without authority from his co-partner, such ac- by Partceptance does not bind the firm;" and it has also been considered, that the ner. taking the instrument from one of the partners in his own handwriting, without consulting the others, raises a presumption that there is not any concurrence of the firm(o). And in an action on a bill against three acceptors, by the indorsee, where it appeared that the defendants were partners in a tea speculation, and the drawer, a wine-merchant, drew in payment for wine delivered to one of the three, the judge directed the jury, that if they found that the bill was so drawn without the knowledge and consent of the other two desendants, they were not liable; and the jury sound for the desendant(p). 'And from the cases of Shirrest v. Willks, and *Green v. Dea-[*48] kin(q), a conclusion has been drawn in an excellent work, that if one partner accept in the partnership name a bill drawn on the firm by his own separate creditor for his separate debt, or if for such separate debt he give a promissory note in the name of the firm, it lies upon the creditor to show that his debtor had authority so to give him the joint security of the firm, and that prim? facie the transaction is fraudulent on the part of both debtor and creditor(r). But as a partner may in his individual capacity have a claim upon the firm, in respect of which he might draw, accept, or indorse a bill in the name of the firm, it has in other cases been considered, that the mere circumstance of the party to whom he delivers it knowing that he was using it for his private benefit, does not of itself necessarily afford sufficient presumptive evidence of collusion to invalidate the transaction, and that the partner objecting to liability must prove all the facts sufficient to induce a jury to find that the partner really acted fraudulently, and that the holder had notice of the fraud(s)(1).

Law J. 19, S. C. And see Ex parte Thorpe, 3 Mont. & Ayr. 716; 2 Dea. 16, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. VIII. s. iv. Bankruptcy.

(0) Hope v. Cust, cited 1 East, 53, and antc, 40, in notes.

(p) Wood v. Holbeck and others, May 28, 1826, cor. Abbott, C. J., at Guildhall.

(q) Ante, 45, note (x).

(r) See Bayley on Bills, 5th edit. 59. (s) Ex parte Bonbonus, S Ves. 542, 544; and see Houlditch v. Nias, 5 Price, 689, post, 62, n. (f); Henderson v. Wild, 2 Campb. 561. See the cases in note, ante, 41.

Ridley and another v. Taylor, 13 East, 175. The plaintiff sold coals to Ewbank separately, and he in payment drew and indorsed the bill sued on, in the name of his firm, of Ord and Ewbank, on the defendant, which he accepted. It was drawn, indorsed, and accepted some days before it was produced to the plaintiffs. The Court held, that if one partner draw or indorse a bill in the partnership firm, it will primi facie bind the firm, although passed by the one partner to a separate creditor, in discharge of his own debt, unless there be evidence of covin between such separate debtor and creditor, or at least of the want of authority, either express or to be implied, in the debtor partner, to give the joint security of the firm for his separate debt. And it was held that no sufficient circumstance appeared in that case to raise any presumption adverse to the separate creditor, for taking such joint security, in a case where the bill appeared to have been drawn in the name of the firm, to their own order, eighteen days before the delivery of it to the separate creditor, and to have been accepted and indorsed before such delirery, and to have been drawn for a larger amount than the particular debt; and where, though the indorsement was in fact made by the hand of the debtor partner, yet it did not appear that that fact was known to the separate creditor at the time; and this too in a case where direct evidence might have been given of covin, or want of authority, if it existed; for the action being brought by the separate creditor against the acceptor, either of the partners might have been called as a witness by the defendant, to disprove the authority of the debtor partner to give the joint security; for though, if the separate creditor recovered against the acceptor, he would have his remedy over against the firm; yet the innocent partner would have his remedy over against the other; and the bankruptcy of the debtor partner in the mean time does not

⁽¹⁾ Indorsers of a note made in the name of a firm by a member thereof, without the assent of his co-partner, and passed by him for his individual debt, are not liable for its payment. Williams v. Walbridge, 3 Wend. Rep. 415.

(11)

2

T

Fπ

W

7.70

Ï:

20

12:

20-1

7

TJ.

30.1

27.1

€:

1, [3]

神经

25.25 ٠...

23 T

 T_{r}

2019

31.

47.3

+ 2.1

C.1.

 a_{Y_1} : :_η

.

٠. ř.,

وحقر ĸ,

, F

(-

III. Modes ing a Party. mer.

Particular Prohibition

*49] Of Bill for Injunction to prevent Partners from fraud ulently Partnership name.

Even in transactions in which all the parties are interested, the authority of becom- of one partner to bind the other, by signing bills of exchange, or promissory notes, in their joint names, is only implied, and may be rebutted by express previous notice to the party taking the *security from one of them, that the other would not be liable for it(t). And this even where the partnership was for a specified period (u).

When a partner has discovered that his co-partner is in the practice of improperly drawing, accepting or indorsing bills or notes, in the name of the firm, but to accommodate third persons, or for his separate purposes, be should immediately file a bill in equity, and obtain an injunction to prevent a repetition of such fraudulent and hazardous practices (x). So an injunction abusing the was granted exparte to restrain the negociation of a bill of exchange by a holder, who had given valuable consideration for it, but who had notice that it had been improperly accepted by a partner of the plaintiff in the partnership name(y). But a court of equity will not, it seems, decree that the name of a partner shall be erased (z), nor will an injunction be granted to restrain surviving partners from using the name of a deceased partner in the firm of the trade (a).

3. Dissolution of Parinership.

3. Dissolution of Partnership.—A partnership may be determined or dissolved,-

First. By effluction of time, as where the term agreed upon has run out. Secondly. By act of parties, &c. as either by consent, or, in case of part-vary the question of competency. And Lord Ellenborough, C. J., said " Prima facie one partner is bound by the indorsement of another in the partnership firm; but that presumption may be cut down by showing collusion; but the difficulty of the case is, that we have not the facts sufficiently before us to show that collusion. If this were distinctly the case of a pledging by one partner of a partnership security for his own separate debt without the authority of the other partners; or if there existed in this case evident covin between one partner and the holder of the partnership security, upon which the action is brought, in order to charge the other partner without his knowledge or consent, either express or implied, for the private advantage of the parties to such covinous agreement, we should have no hesitation to pronounce a bill, drawn and indorsed under such circumstances, void in the hands of the covinous holders, upon the principle laid down in the case of Shirrest and another v. Wilks and others, 1 East, 48; but upon the facts stated, such does not distinctly appear to us to be the case; nor does it appear that there was any such crassa negligentia on the part of the plaintiffs, in not inquiring whether Ewbank, the one partner with whom they dealt, was authorised to dispose of this security (which had originally been partnership property) as his own, as to render this transaction on that account fraudulent, and therefore void."

See observations of Eayley, B., on this and the other cases in Wintle v. Crowther, 1 Tyrw. R. 216; 1 Cromp. & J. 316; ante, 42. And see also the cases ante, 41, 42. (t) Lord Galway v. Matthew and another, 10 East, 264;-----v. Layfield, 1 Salk. 291; Minnit v. Whitney, 16 Vin. Abr. Partners, A.

244; Bayl. 57, 225; Willis v. Dyson, 1 Stark.

164; Vere v. Fleming, 1 Younge & J. 227. Lord Galway v. Matthew and Smithson, 10 East, 264. The defendants and Whitehouse (since deceased) were in partnership as brewers. Matthew applied to the plaintiff to lead his acceptance for 2007, to enable him to pay excise duties due from the house, and promis in return to give the note of the firm, payable four days before the acceptance, and Matthew drew the note, and signed it for himself and partners. He then got the acceptance discounted, and applied 180l. in payment of partnership debts, reserving enough to himself. The plaintiff, after Whitehouse's death, was obliged to take up his acceptance, and now sued the defendants on the note. Matthew suffered judgment by default, and Smithson proved that the plaintiff, before he took the note, had received notice of an advertisement by him, warning persons not to trust Matthew on his account, and that he would be no longer liable for drafts drawn by the other partners on the partnership account. And Lord Ellenborough held that the plaintiff having taken the note after such warning could not recover, and therefore nonsuited him, and on motion to set aside the nonsuit, the court refused the rule.

(w) Rooth r. Quin, 7 Price, 198.

(x) Master v. Kirton, 8 Ves. 74; Ryan v. Mackmath, 3 Bro. C. C. 15; Ex parte Noakes, 1 Mont. on Part. 93; Newsome r. Coles, 2 Campb. 619; Lawson v. Morgan, 1 Price, 308; post, 52.

(y) Hood v. Aston, 1 Russ. 412. See further Chitty's Eq. Dig. tit. " Practice,-Injunction," 1056.

(z) Ryan v. Mackmath, 3 Bro. C. C. 15. (a) Webster v. Webster, 3 Swanst. 490.

~번. ##

TO THE 25 5.73

- Data

2.3

3. T

. .: : (2

71,51

1 10 10 TE

807.2

277

4 22 2

11.15

RED IN

1.16

30 34

(28)

HC.

:.1.:

. . 1 15 \mathcal{L}^{*}

10

115

38.73

1587

,,,,,

-M

1.

зг

7

....

, z

ايس. انزا

15.00 15.11 15.00

.,3 ,0

e2

743

النا 7

nership unlimited in time, by notice, or by the decision of a court of equi- III. Modes ty(b), or an arbitration.

Thirdly. By bankruptcy.

Fourthly. By death.

Where an agreed term of partnership has elapsed, it is expedient to give notice thereof.

If a person be once shown to have been a known partner, or that he had First. By represented himself to be one of several partners, it is incumbent on him in effluxion of general to prove that he had regularly ceased to be such partner before the transaction, in respect of which he is sued, and also by consent of all the Secondly. partners, or according to the terms of such partnership (c). Where a part- By act of nership has been constituted for a term of *years, it cannot be determined &c. without the interference of a court of equity, on adequate ground, such as [*50] gross misconduct of one of the partners. But where a trading partnership is for an indefinite time, it is determinable at any time after reasonable notice(d), or even at any instant(e). Where an order for goods was given by two partners, and afterwards the partnership was dissolved, and the goods were subsequently delivered to one or them, who carried on a separate trade, and a bill for the price was afterwards drawn on the two partners, and was accepted only by the separate trader, it was held that no claim could be made with effect on the other partner (f).

When a person has been ostensibly a partner and retires, he must give Notice of notice of that fact in order to exempt himself from future liability; for other- Reuring or wise those who have previously dealt with the firm, or heard of its existence, tion. may suppose the retiring partner to continue, and give credit to the firm on the faith of his continuing liability (g)(1). So upon a general dissolution of of becoming a Party. By Part

(b) Lunacy does not, ipso facto, cause a dissolution of partnership, Wrexham v. Hudleston, 1 Swanst 514; and a temporary disorder does not affect the right to a proportion of profits; Pearce v. Chamberlain, 2 Ves. 85. But continuing disorder of mind is ground for a court dissolving partnership; Sayer v. Bennett, 1

(c) Harvey and others v. Sir W. Kay, 9 B. & C. 356. By a deed whereby a joint stock company was established, any shareholder desirous of transferring his shares was to give no-tice at the office of the company that he had agreed to sell the shares, and no person who purchased shares was to be deemed a proprietor until he executed the deed, and the directors, on notice of the transfer of any shares (made in conformity to the rules of the company) were to cause the transfer to be registered in the books of the company, and every person by whom such shares were transferred was immediately after such transfer was registered in the books of the company, to cease to be a proprietor. In an action, in which the plaintiff sought to charge the defendant as a member of the company for goods sold, &c. the letters of the plaintiff, in which he admitted himself to be a shareholder on the 30th March, 1826, were held to be proof of that fact, although it was not proved that he had ever executed the deed; secondly, there being no proof of any actual transfer of the shares to a purchaser, or of the execution of the deed by him, an entry in the books of the comcany of a transfer to a purchaser on the 28th March, was held not to be evidence that the plaintiff had then censed to be a partner, or if it was prima fucie evidence of that fact, it was rebutted by the letters of the plaintiff of a subsequent date, admitting himself to be a partner. When dissolved by reference to arbitration; Heath v. Sansom, 4, B. & Ad. 172; 1 N, & M. 104, S. C.; post, 51.

(d) Littlewood r. Caldwell, 11 Price, 98, but not so in case of a joint stock company, Van Sandau v. Moore, 1 Russ. 441.

(e) Crawshay v. Fenwick, 1 Swans. 508; Featherstonhaugh v. Fenwick, 17 Ves. 298; Peacock v. Peacock, 16 Ves. 49; Heath v. Sansom, 1 N. & M. 104; 4 B. & Ad. 172, S. C.;

(f) Ex parte Harris, 1 Madd. 583.

(g) Parkin v. Carruthers, 3 Esp. R. 248. In

⁽¹⁾ Where a retiring partner does not give notice of his withdrawal, he remains responsible to those who knew he had been a partner, who are ignorant of his withdrawal, and give credit to those who afterwards carry on business in the partnership name. Bernard r. Torrance, 5 Gill &

Where one of the partners retires from a firm, to discharge him from subsequent transactions, actual knowledge of the dissolution must be carried home to the creditor with whom there was a previous deal. Prentiss v. Sinclair, 5 Vermont, 49.

¥.

18

Ś

ner.

III. Modes a partnership, each partner, to rid himself of future liability and risk, should of become give public notice in the Gazette and other papers; and it is prudent also to ing a Party. By Part- give particular and individual notice to every person who had transactions with the firm. A notice of dissolution cannot in general be inserted in the Gazette or other public newspapers, unless all the partners have signed a consent to the publication; and when that cannot be obtained, each retiring partner should give such particular and individual notice, and may also circulate printed hand-bills.

Notice not necessary of a Secret Partner.

But in the case of a secret dormant partner, whose name has never been announced, he may withdraw from a co-partnership without giving any on Returing public or private notice(h). Therefore, where Saunders and others carried on business under the firm of the "Plas Madoc Colliery Company," and Saunders withdrew from the firm, which afterwards became indebted to the plaintiff as indorsee of a bill, accepted in the name of the firm, and no notice was given to the plaintiff or the public of Saunders having withdrawn; it was decided that Saunders was not liable as a partner on the bill, there being no sufficient evidence that he had ever while a partner represented himself as such to the plaintiff, or that he had appeared so publicly in that character that the plaintiff must have been presumed to know it; on the contrary, the plaintiff had stated that he did not know the defendant at the time the bill was drawn(i). So where S. and E. were partners in alum works for an indefinite period, and E. was a dormant partner, and in January, 1829, it was agreed that the settlement of the partnership accounts, and all questions concerning the respective liabilities, and the mode of winding up the affairs, and the manner and time of dissolving the partnership, should be referred to an arbitrator; and it was afterwards agreed that S. and E. should respectively bid for the plant, utensils, and fixtures, and the referee was to declare the highest bidder to be the purchaser, and in April, 1829, S. having been declared the highest bidder became the purchaser, and the works were entirely given up to him; it was held, that the partnership was then dissolved, although the referee had made no order as to the dissolution, and that S. had no authority after that time to bind E. by a promissory note(k). But if an acting partner has stated the existence of the partnership, including the secret part-> that case it was not proved that the plaintiff had had any dealings with the firm as at first constituted. But Le Blanc, J. laid it down as a clear rule of law, that where there has been a partnership, and any change is made in the parties to it, and no notice is given thereof, any person dealing with the partnership, either be-fore or after such change, has a right to call upon all the partners who first composed the firm.

> See also the observations in Carter r. Whalley, 1 Bar. & Adolp. 13, infra; Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing. 28; 12 Moore, 135, S. C.; ante, 46, n. (g); Doubleday r. Muskett, 7 Bing. 110; Baker v. Charlton, Peak. R. 80; 2 Carr. & P.

> (h) Evans v. Drummond, 4 Esp. Rep. 89; Newmarch v. Clay, 14 East, 239; Heath r. Sansom, 1 N. & M. 104; 4 B. & Ad 172, S.

> C.; post, 51, n. (k).
> Carter v. Whalley and others, 1 Bar. & > Adolp. 11. Per Littledale, J. "It was incumbent on the plaintiff in this action to prove a contract between the parties whom he named as acceptors and himself as indorsee. If they were all partners when the acceptance was given by Veysey, that contract is established. But it appears that they had ceased to be so, Saunders having withdrawn. Then it is said that the defendant ought to have proved some notice re-ceived by the plaintiff of this separation, and it is true that if the plaintiff at any previous time knew Saunders to be one of the partners, such notice ought to have been shown. Now, where all the names in the firm appear, it may be presumed that every one knows who the partners are; but where there is only a nominal firm, as in the present case, the fact of such knowledge must be ascertained by express proof. No proof of that kind appears here; and Itherefore think that no contract was established between the plaintiff and Saunders." Parke, J. expressed a similar opinion; and Lord Tenterden, C. J. had so ruled at Nisi Prius.

See also the judgment of Tindal, C. J. in Fox r. Clifton, 6 Bing. 792, S. P.

(i) Carter v. Whalley and others, 1 Bar. & Adolp. 11, ante, n. (h)

(k) Heath v. Sansom, 4 Bar. & Adol. 172; 1 N. & M. 104, S. C.

17. Ot.

1.00

· [4] · 🔰

100

0.0

34 547 5

街 nuis 🕰

11.75 130 4

1, 2

りま

'n..

ġ.

13,

ner, either to the holder or to some number of persons who might have III. Modes communicated the fact, in that case notice would have been requisite(1), of becom-Where a secret partner has retired from the firm, and goods have been sup- ing a Party.

By Partplied previous to the dissolution, and payments have been made by the parner. ties who continue the business subsequent to the dissolution, it is a question of evidence whether such payments are to be applied to the previous or to a subsequent debt(n).

After the dissolution of a partnership by agreement duly notified in the After No-Gazette, one of the persons who composed the firm cannot put the partner-tice of Disship name on any negotiable security even though it existed, or was dated no Bill in prior to the dissolution, or was for the purpose of liquidating the partnership Name of debts, notwithstanding such partner may have had authority to settle the old Firm partnership affairs (n)(1). After the dissolution an indorsement cannot be it. made in the partnership name, but each party must separately sign the indorsement, drawing, or acceptance(o). And after notice of the dissolution of a partnership published in the Gazette, and also sent round to all the customers of the firm, if one of the partners who carries on the business under the old firm draws, accepts, or indorses bills in the name of that firm, the other partners *need not apply for an injunction against his so doing, for they [*52] are not liable upon such bills, although given to a person ignorant of the dissolution of the partnership (p).

Where one of several partners refuses to concur in signing notice of dis- Injunction solution to be inserted in the Gazette, or pending the partnership has improperly issued bills in the name of the firm, it is advisable to file a bill in equity Newmarch v. Clay, 14 East, 239; and see Carter v. Whalley, 1 Bar & Adol. 11; ante, 50, n. (h); Thompson v. Percival, 3 N. & M. 667; 5 B. & Ad. 925, S. C.; post, 54, n. (u).

(m) Newmarch v. Clay, 14 East, 239; Bodenham v. Purchase, 2 Bar. & Adol. 39.

(n) Kilgour v. Finlyson, 1 Hen. Bla. 155; Abel v. Sutton, 3 Esp. Rep. 108; Watson, 209; Henderson and another v. Wild, 2 Camp.

(1) Evans v. Drummond, 4 Esp. Rep. 89; 561; Wrightson and another v. Pullan and another, 1 Stark. 375, S. C.; 2 Chit. Rep. 121, S. C.; ante, 29, 30, 81.

(o) Per Lord Kenyon, in Abel r. Sutton, 3 Esp. Rep. 110; Dolman v. Orchard, 2 Carr. & P. 104.

(p) Newsome v. Coles, 2 Campb. 617, and Wrightson and another v. Pullan and another, 1 Stark. 375; Ex parte Liddiard, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 87; 4 Dea. & Chit. 603, S. C.

(1) Where a partnership note was made after the dissolution of a firm, by one of the late partners, accepted by the payee with a knowledge of the fact, and transferred by him in payment of an antecedent debt, under an agreement that if the note could not be collected, he would be liable for a part of the original debt, it was held that an action on the note could not be maintained by the assignee against the partners. Bristol v. Sprague, 8 Wend. Rep. 423.

The fact that sufficient time to give public notice had not elapsed between the dissolution of a firm and the subsequent making of a note by one of the late partners, in the name of the firm, will not excuse the partners from their liability to pay such note in the hands of a bont fide hold-

It seems, that though a partner cannot, after dissolution, bind his co-partner to the payment of a debt by a note, yet he may liquidate a previous account, as by so doing he does not create a debt; that was previously in existence. M'Pherson v. Rathbone, 11 Wend. Rep. 96.

Where one of several partners, during the existence of the partnership, executed a note in the name of the firm for a partnership debt, but did not deliver it to the payee till after the dissolution of the partnership, it was held that such subsequent delivery did not bind the partnership. Woodford et ux. v. Darwin, 3 Vermont Rep. 82.

One partner, after the dissolution of the partnership, cannot charge the firm with any debt which they did not owe before the dissolution. Scott et al. v. Shepard et al., 3 Vermont Rep.

Where O. and P. were partners in trade, and upon the dissolution, P. assigned for value, all his interest in the partnership to O., a court of law will not permit P. by his mere declaration made after such assignment to defeat an action brought in their joint names. Owings & Piet v. Low, 5 Gill & John. 134.

(84

 \mathcal{D}^{*}

% (

1.4

ŗ,

á.

ő., i

W

€.

31

 $i \downarrow$

::-

ر-۲

9.1

ku;

r

٤:

III. Modes to prevent him from signing or negotiating securities in the name of the firm, of becom- and praying a dissolution (q).

By Part-

ner.
What a sufficient Notice.

With respect to what is a sufficient notice, the usual and most prudent course is to send circular letters or notices to all with whom the parties had dealings(r); for it has been held, that notice in the Gazette is not sufficient against persons who were customers of the firm during the existence of the partnership, and that a particular notice should be given to each. Notice in the Gazette is not conclusive; and in one case Lord Kenyon left it to the jury whether it was probable that the plaintiff had seen the Gazette, itappearing that he lived in London, and took in two daily papers, but not the Gazette, and the jury found for the defendent(s). Notice in the Gazette is a medium of knowledge, but not equivalent to actual knowledge (t). In another case Lord Ellenborough observed, that a man might be supposed to look into a Gazette for notices of dissolution, though he might not look there for carriers' restrictive notices(u). But it appears to be clearly established, that notice in the Gazette is, at all events, sufficient against all persons who have not previously had transactions with the firm (x). And where after the actual dissolution of a partnership, duly notified in the Gazette, one of the parties accepted a bill in the name of the partnership firm, drawn after the dissolution, but dated before it, it was held that an indorsee, who took the bill without notice of the dissolution, could not enforce the bill against the other members of the firm, and a distinction was taken by the court between such case and the case of goods supplied after the dissolution of the partnership, but without notice, by a person who had been in the habit of supplying goods to the firm(y).

Notice of the dissolution may be proved by means of an advertisement in [*53] the public newspapers; but it seems a newspaper, containing *such a notice cannot be read in evidence without previous proof either that the plaintiff read an impression of the same paper, or, at least, that he was in the general habit of reading the paper(z). And even proof of a party's having taken in and read a newspaper for three years will not always suffice, since few people read all the advertisements(a). Evidence of the general notori-

(q) Master v. Kirton, 3 Ves. 74; Ex parte Noakes, 1 Mont. on Partn. 93; Ryan v. Mackmath, 3 Bro. C. C. 15; Newsome r. Coles, 2 Campb. 619; Lawson v. Morgan, 1 Price, 803; and ante, 49.

In Houlditch v. Nias, 8 Price, 689, where on a bill filed to obtain a discovery from a defendant proceeding at law to recover against the plaintiff the amount of a bill of exchange, whether the defendant did not know that it was accepted by one of the partners in the name of the firm for his own private debt, and for an injunction to restrain further proceedings, and that the bill of exchange might be declared to be fraudulently accepted, and ordered to be delivered up to be cancelled; to which the defendant, the plaintiff at law bringing the action, answered, that he had such knowledge-the court refused to grant an injunction to stay proceedings, because there was a defence at law, but as there was a prayer for relief, requiring the bill of exchange to be delivered up to be cancelled, and as one of the defendants had not answered, and there was a direct charge of fraudulent collusion in the bill, which was not sufficiently denied, they ordered the injunction to stay execution.

(r) See Jenkins v. Blizard, 1 Stark. 418. (s) Godfrey v. Macauley, Peake, 155, n.; 1 Esp. R. 371, S. C.

(t) Per Lord Ellenborough, Williams v. Keats, 2 Stark. R. 291.

(u) Munn v. Baker, 2 Stark. R. 255.
(x) Newsome r. Coles, 2 Campb. 617; Gorham r. Thonpson, Peake, 42; Graham r. Honpe, id. 154; Fox v. Hanbury, Cowp. 449; 1 Siderf. 127; Lesson v. Holt and others, 1 Stark. 186; Jenkins and another v. Blizard and another, 1 Stark. 418; 1 Mont. on Partn. 105, 106; Wright v. Pulham, 2 Chit. Rep. 121; 1 Stark 375, S. C.; But see Williams v. Keats, 2 Stark. R. 291; and in Godfrey v. Macauley, Peake, 155, n.; 1 Esp. 371, it seems to have been considered that notice in the Gazette is very weak evidence, if it be not supported by proof that plaintiff saw the Gazette. See Stark. on Evid. part iv. 1078, 1079.

(y) Wrightson and another v. Pullan and another, 1 Stark. Rep. 375, 376; 2 Chit. Rep.

121, S. C.

(z) Jenkins r. Blizard, 1 Stark. 418.
(α) Rowley v. Horne, 3 Bing. 3; 10 Moore,

27: 12:

2000

100

3 Ja

تهرا م

1 2.

rii.

27.7

100-33

100

1 7.15 12

2 - 2

3

1,3

ety of the fact of dissolution is not sufficient where no express notice has been III. Modes given, and no advertisement published in the Gazette (b)(1). But an alte- of becomration in the printed checks is sufficient notice of a change in the firm of a inga Party. banking-house to customers who have used the new checks (c). able notice must in all cases be given (d). Where a minute of an agreement between partners to dissolve the partnership, made in order to be advertised in the Gazette, and signed by the parties, and attested, is produced in evidence to prove the dissolution, an agreement stamp is necessary (e); but a mere notice of dissolution, reciting the agreement, need not be stamped(f).

Where the plaintiff knew that the defendants intended to dissolve their partnership, and that they were actually carrying that intention into execution, it was held to be incumbent on the plaintiff, who relied upon a subsequent contract, to show that their intention had been abandoned (g)(2).

The effect of a notice of dissolution may be done away with, if the party Conseby any subsequent conduct induce the world or a particular person to sup-quences of pose that the partnership still subsisted; as by interfering in the management Partner afof the business, allowing his name to be used, or in any way authorizing the terwards parties acting in the concern to make use of his name and credit(h). Where appearing after the dissolution of a partnership between A. and B. and the advertisement of it in the Gazette, A. accepted a bill bearing date previous to the dissolution, for the accommodation of a third person, who indorsed it for value, it was held that B. who permitted his name to remain over the shop in the Poultry, as a member of the firm, after the dissolution of the partnership, and notice of it, and indorsement of the bill, was liable as a partner to a bona fide holder(i). And if a party thus allow his name to be used he is liable, though the holder of the bill knew of the dissolution (j), as where after the dissolution of a partnership, one of the partners informed the plaintiff of the fact, but added that his own name was to continue for a certain time, and afterwards the plaintiff took from the other partner a note drawn in the partnership name, it was held that the plaintiff might sue both the partners on the note (k).

247, S. C; but that was the case of a carrier's notice limiting his responsibility. See Munn v. Baker, 2 Stark. 255.

(b) Graham v. Thompson, Peake Ca. 42.

(c) Barfoot and another v. Goodall and another, 3 Campb. 147.

(d) 16 Ves. 53.

(e) May v. Smith, 1 Esp. Rep. 283.

(f) Jenkins v. Blizard, 1 Stark. 418.

(g) Paterson v. Zachariah, 1 Stark. Rep. 71. (h) See Newsome v. Coles, 2 Campb. 617; Stark. on Evid. part iv. 1081.

(i) Williams v. Keats, 2 Stark. 291.

(j) Brown v. Leonard, 2 Chit. Rep. 120.

^{(1) {} The plaintiff such on a promissory note given by one of two partners, in the copartners ships name or firm, after the dissolution of the partnership, but for a debt due by the copartnership, contracted during its existence. Here circumstances were held sufficient to support an action against both partners, as a partnership contract; there being no evidence that the plaintiff had special notice of the dissolution of the partnership, nor that notice thereof had been generally givenin any Gazette, though it appeared to be afact well known in the neighborhood of the parties. Lamb v. Irby, 2 Brev. Rep. 490. }

⁽²⁾ Notice in the Gazette of the dissolution of a partnership, is sufficient to all persons who had no previous dealings with the firm. Lansing v. Gaine, 2 Johns. Rep. 300. Post, 52, note. Graves v. Merry, 6 Cowen, 701. But as to those with whom the firm has been in the habit of dealing, general notice of the dissolution is not sufficient. Actual notice must be shown; otherwise, as to the latter, the act of one of the former firm, in the partnership name, will bind all the former partners. Id. See Martin r. Walton, 1 M'Cord, 16, S. P. But the publication of notice in a Gazette taken by a bank, the holders of a promissory note, of the dissolution of a partnership, was held to be sufficient, though the defendant had had dealings with the bank. Bank of South Carolina v. Humphreys, 1 M'Cord, 388.

(21)

3

ž « j

III. Modes ing a Party By Part-

Acts and [*54]

A retired partner may give authority by parol to a continuing partner to of become indorse hills in the partnership name, after the dissolution of the partnership. And where the retired partner stated, that he left the assets and securities of the firm in the hands of the continuing partner, for the purpose of winding up the concern, and that he had no objection to his using the partnership name; it Admissions was held, that the jury were justified in finding that the continuing partner of Partner had authority to indorse promissory notes, so left in his hands, in the partafter Dissonership name (l). So *where by a deed of dissolution of partnership a powlution, how far binding, er was reserved to the remaining partners to use the name of the retiring partner in the prosecution of all suits, in an action in which judgment had been obtained by all the partners before the dissolution, it was held, that the remaining partners had authority under that power to give to the defendant a note for the payment of sixpences under the Lords' Act, on behalf of themselves and the retiring partner (m). But an express authority given to one partner after the dissolution of the partnership to receive all debts, owing to, and to pay those due, from the partnership, on its dissolution, does not authorise him to indorse a bill in the name of the partnership, though drawn by him in that name, and accepted by a debtor of the partnership after the dissolution (n).

If A. and B. being partners, dissolve their partnership, and in the deed of dissolution it be stipulated that A. shall receive all debts due to the firm, and afterwards C., a debtor of the firm, accept a bill of exchange drawn by B. for the amount of the debt due to the firm, such stipulation will afford no defence to an action by B. against C. on this bill of exchange, for either partner after a dissolution of partnership may receive debts due to the firm, notwithstanding such a stipulation in the deed of dissolution, and after a dissolution of partnership either partner may give a release to a debtor of the firm(o)(1).

An admission made by one partner, after the dissolution, relative to a previous partnership transaction, will affect the firm (p). But an admission of one partner in an answer to a bill in equity is not admissible evidence against the rest(q).

All Partners continue liable after Dis-Debts contracted during .Partnership.

After the expiration or determination of partnership, all the partners continue liable upon all bills and contracts, which existed at the time of the expiration of the partnership, and no stipulation in a deed of dissolution or othsolution for erwise between the partners themselves can alter or affect such liability (r). And a creditor of a firm does not discharge a retiring partner, by agreeing to carry the debt to the account of the remaining partners, and by taking their bill, and afterwards repeatedly renewing it(s). But by a new express agreement for adequate consideration, there may be such a change of credit as completely to discharge a retiring partner (t). And if A. and B. being

> (1) Smith v. Winter, 4 Mee. & Wels. 454. (m) Burton v. Issitt, 5 B. & Al. 267.

(n) Kilgour v. Finlyson, 1 Hen. Bla. 155; (n) Riguit 7: Impsol, 1 Inc. Dia. 103, Abel b. Sutton, 3 Esp. 109; ante, 29, 30. And see per Abinger, C. B., and Parke, B., in Smith v. Winter, 4 M. & W. 454, 461, 462, post, 819(5)

(o) King v. Smith, 4 Car. & P. 108. (p) Wood v. Braddock, 1 Taunt. 104; Halliday v. Ward, 3 Campb. 32; aliter in the case of part-owners of a ship, Jaggers v. Binnings, 1 Stark. 64; Hooper v. Lusby, 4 Campb. 66.

(q) Rooth v. Quin, 7 Price, 198. (r) 5 B & C. 196; 2 B. & Al. 210; 3 lb.

611. See further, 1 Chit. Pl. 6th ed. 47, 48. (s) David v. Ellice, 5 Bar. & C. 196; and see Kirwan v. Kirwan, 2 C. & M. 617; 4 Tyrw. 491, S. C.

(1) See cases Chitty on Pleading, 6th edit. 47, 48.

⁽¹⁾ After the dissolution of a partnership, no one of the partners is at liberty to use the social name so as to bind the others. Offat v. Breedlove, 4 Miller's Louisiana Rep. 31.

. .

2000 III

: 3:

150

13.

ોક

j.:

7

10

34

partners, A. retires, and B. continues the business having the partnership III. Modes effects, and C., a creditor, being told by B. that he must look for payment of becomto him alone, draws a bill of exchange on B. for his debt, and on the bill By Partbeing dishonoured gives B. time to pay; these facts raise a question for the ner. jury whether there was not an agreement between B. and C. that C. should accept B. as his sole debtor, and should take the bill of exchange from him alone, by way of satisfaction for the debt due from both; and if the jury. find that there was such an agreement, it will, coupled with the receipt of the bill from B., be a good defence by way of accord and satisfaction, in an action by C. against A. and B. jointly (u).

*So if upon the formation of a partnership it is proposed that a separate [*55] debt of one partner shall become a joint debt from the firm, to which the creditor assents, by drawing bills which are afterwards dishonoured, and by transferring the accounts, the debt is not separate but joint(x).

Bankruptcy in general operates as an immediate dissolution of a part- Thirdly, nership from the time of the act of bankruptcy, from which the assignees of Dissolution the bankrupt and the solvent partners become tenants in common of the rupley, partnership property (y); and after such act the bankrupt cannot, even before and what the issuing of the commission and the consequent notice to the world, in-Acts of the issuing of the commission and the consequent notice to the word, independence a bill so as to transfer any interest therein(z), unless under the proviational Partner afterwards sions of the recent Bankrupt Act(a). And even the solvent partner cannot, bind.

(u) Thompson v. Percival, 3 Nev. & M. 167; 5 Bar. & Ad. 925, S. C.; et per curium, "The cases of Lodge v. Dicas, (3 Bar. & Ald. 611,) and David v. Ellice, (7 Dowl. & Ry. 690; 5 Bar. & Cres. 196, S. C.) are said to be authorities against this view of the law. In the former, however, no new negotiable security was given, nor does the difference between the joint liability of two, and the separate liability of one, appear to have been brought under the consideration of the court. In the latter no bill of exchange was given; and that decision on consideration is not altogether satisfac tory to us. We cannot but think that there was abundant evidence in that case to go to a jury (and upon which the court might have decided) of the payment of the old debts by Inglis, Ellice & Co. to the plaintiff, and a new loan to the new firm; which might have been as well effected by a transfer of account, by mutual consent, as by actual payment of money."

(2) Ex parte Whitmore, 3 Mont. & Ay. 627.

(y) Fox v. Hanbury, Cowp. 449 (z) Thomason r. Frere, 10 East, 4:8. Thomason, Underhill and Guest, were partners in trade at Birmingham, and being indebted to the defendants to the amount of 1800/ and creditors upon Gamble and Co. for 1450l. Under the control of the control derhill and Guest, on the 11th of October, 1807, without the knowledge of Thomason, who was then abroad, indorsed to the defendants a bill drawn by Thomason, Underhill and Guest, upon and accepted by the agents of Gamble and Co. for this 1450/. Underhill and Guest had, on the 7th of October, 1807, committed acts of bankruptcy, upon which separate commissions issued on the 19th. The bill for 14501. became due on the 6th December, and was then paid. And to recover this money, the present action was brought by Thomason and the assignces of Underhill and Guest. The house of Thomason, Underhill and Guest, was still indebted to the defendants beyoud the amount of the sum now sought to be recovered. The plaintiffs were nonsuited by Grose, J. But on a rule nisi for a new trial, the court (Lord Ellenborough absente) held that the indersement having been made after an act of bankruptcy, though before the issuing of the commission, and though for the purpose of paying a partnership debt, was invalid, and they inclined to think that this action being brought to recover the money received on the bill, which had been thus wrongfully indorsed, the defendants had no right to set off their demand upon the firm against this claim by Thomason and the assignees Rule absolute And see Burt r. Moult, 1 C. & M. 525. There, one of the partners, after committing an act of bankruptcy, handed over a bank post bill and some silver to the agent of the drawer of a bill of exchange, accepted by the partners, and which was just about to become due, for the purpose of protecting such bill. Such handing over was found to be a fraudulent preference, and to have been in contemplation of bankruptcy. On the same day, but a few hours later than the time of handing over the note and money, the other partner committed an act of bankruptcy. It was held, that the act of the partner who had committed the act of bankruptcy before he had handed over the property was not binding, and that the assignees of the two partners might recover the value of the property. See also Ramsbottom v. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279, and more fully, post, Ch. VI. But see Lacy r. Woolcot, 2 Dowl. & R. 458; Smith r. De Witts, 2 Dowl. & R. 126; and 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82 post, Ch. VI. s. i. " Transfer-By whom."

(a) 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82; and see 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29; Harvey v. Cricket, 5 Maule & Sel. 336; post, Ch. VI. s. i. "Transfer—By 4.

Digitized by Google

et il

1.1

100 T

111

X1

S.

201

٠٠٠.

J 99]

10.13

X.13

4.50

: :

2.54

٠, ٠

ij.

3.1

4.7

ing a Party By Part-MAT.

III. Modes after such act of bankruptcy, in the name of the former partnership, transfer of become a bill belonging to the same (b), unless where the partners held the bill as trustees, and had no beneficial interest, in which case both, or one of them, might, perhaps, notwithstanding the act of bankruptcy, legally indorse(c). But although an act of bankruptancy committed by one of several partners so far determines the partnership as to prevent either the bankrupt or solvent partner from disposing of the partnership property by the indorsement of a bill or note, yet if the bankrupt accept a bill in favour of a bona fide holder, in the name of the firm, though not for a previous partnership debt, his partner will be liable as acceptor; for though in law the partnership is dissolved, 1 *56] yet in fact they both continue to *appear ostensibly to the public as partners; and, therefore, an innocent holder may sue the solvent partner(d). So, a fortiori, the solvent partner may, after a secret act of bankruptcy, committed by his co-partner, render the firm liable by accepting a bill for a previous partnership debt; and if the solvent partner should afterwards also become bankrupt, the innocent holder will be entitled to prove against the joint estate(e). In the case of a solvent partner, therefore, as soon as he is aware of the act of bankruptcy of his partner, or of his insolvency, and apprehends that he will issue or negotiate bills, he should file a bill for an injunction, and give as general and particular notices of the facts as the nature of the case will admit.

Fourthly, of Partnership by Death.

The death of a party is in general a revocation of all express and implied Dissolution authorities given by him, and dissolves the partnership, though it were for a term of years, unless there be an express stipulation to the contrary (f); but in equity the assets of the deceased partner are chargeable, and even a judgment against the survivors does not extinguish the liability of such as-Where A. being a member of a partnership consisting of several individuals drew a bill of exchange in blank in the partnership firm, payable to their order, and having likewise indorsed it in the partnership firm, delivered it to a clerk to be filled up for the use of the partnership, as the exigencies of business might require, according to a course of dealing in other instances; and after A.'s death, and the surviving partners had assumed a new firm, the clerk filled up the bill, inserting a date prior to A's death, and sent it into circulation; it was held that the surviving partners were liable as drawers of the bill to a bona fide indorsee for value, although no part of the value came to their hands(h). And if one of four partners die, and the surviving partners compromise, and obtain bills or notes as a security for a debt due to the original firm, and become bankrupt, such bills or notes are, by reputed ownership, distributable amongst the creditors of the three(i).

> (b) Ramsbottom v. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279; Abel v. Sutton, 3 Esp. R. 110.

> (c) Ramsbottom v. Cator, 1 Stark. Rep. 228; post, Ch. VI. s. i. "Transfer-By whom."

(d) Lacy v. Woolcott, 2 Dowl. & R. 458; Ex parte Robinson, 1 Mont. & Ayr. 18, infra. And see 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82; post, Ch. VI. s. i. "Transfer—By whom."

(e) Ex parte Robinson, 1 Mont. & Ay. 18; 3 Dea. & Chitty, 376, S. C. See the elaborate judgment of Brougham, C., overruling the decision of the Court of Review, Ex parte Ellis, in the same matter, Mont. & B. 249; 2 Dea. & Chit. 555, S. C. And quære soundness of the distinction between the indorsement and acceptance of a bill by the solvent partner. (f) Crawford v. Hamilton, 8 Madd. 251; Crawshay v. Maule, 1 Swanst. 509.

(g) Jacomb r. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265; Daniel v. Cross, 3 Ves. 277; Devaynes v. Noble, 1 Mer. 616; ante, 42, note (d)

(h) Usher and another r. William Dauncey and another, 4 Campb. 97. Lord Ellenborough said, that this case came within the principle of Russell v. Langstaff, Dougl. 531, that the power must be considered to emanate from the partnership, not from the individual partner; and that therefore after his death, the bill might still be filled up so as to bind the survivors to pay the bill in the hands of a bona fide holder.

(i) Ex parte Taylor, Mont. R. 240. But if a firm is possessed, as mortgagees, of real estate, which, after the death of one member, remains in the possession of the survivors, it is not in their reputed ownership, id. ib.

12.27

3 37

. b37

26.3

170

, NJ

. * .

, 1. "

15

1...

سومور د غامان

10

7 í

. سي

. **,

4. How Partners should Sign.—Wherever the law is silent as to the ex- III. Modes tent of the above custom, it should seem that evidence of the usage of mer- of becomchants is admissible, but not otherwise (k); and therefore where two persons By Parts. who were not partners drew a bill on A. B. payable to their order, and ner. separately signed it, not in the name of any supposed firm, and only one of 4. When them indorsed it with his own name; in an action at the suit of an indorsee Evidence against A. B. the acceptor, Lord Mansfield, on a new trial, admitted evi- as to Cusdence to prove, that by the universal usage and understanding of *all the mer- Merchants chants and bankers in London the indorsement was bad, because not signed as to Partby both the payees; and accordingly the defendant had a verdict, notwith- ners is adstanding it was insisted that the validity of the indorsement was a question of and how law, and although the Court of King's Bench, on the motion for a new trial, Partners had previously declared their opinion in the same cause, that when a bill goes are to sign out into the world, the persons to whom it is negotiated are to collect the Bills and state and relation of the parties from the bill itself; and that if they appear [*57] on the bill as partners, it would be of less public detriment to subject them to the inconvenience of being treated as such, than to permit them to deny that they are so; and that persons by making a bill payable to their order, render themselves partners as to that transaction (l)(1).

With respect to the mode in which a bill should be drawn, accepted or How indorsed, by or on behalf of several persons, it has been laid down that abould in whenever a person draws, accepts, or indorses a bill for himself and partner, general he should always express that he does so "for himself and partner," or sign to bind the subscribe "both the names" or "the name of the firm," and that other- Firm. wise it will not bind the partner (m)(2).

But in general when the name of one partner only appears on the bill or note, and not a co-partnership name or firm, his co-partners will not be chargeable upon the instrument, though in fact made or accepted for partnership purposes; and therefore where the plaintiff declared on a note made by T. W. in his own name as on a note made by T. W. and R., and of-

(k) Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr. 1216, 1221; 1 Bla. Rep. 295, S. C. See Phillips on Evid. 2d edit. 434, 435, 436; Holt, C. N. P. 98, 99, in notes; Mitchell v. Baring, 10 B. & C. 4; 4 Car. & P. 35; M. & M. 381;

Chit. jan. 1454, S. C.

quære. (m) Pinckney r. Hall, 1 Salk. 126; Lord Rnym. 175, S. C.; Carwick r. Vickery, Dougl. 653; Smith r. Jarves, Lord Raym. 1484; The King v. Wilkinson, 7 T. R. 156; Meux v. Humphrey, 8 T. R. 25; Lepine v. (1) Carwick n. Vickery, Doug. 653, sed Bayley, id. 325; Watson, 214.

If two persons indorse a note in virtue of a mutual understanding with each other, to lend their names for the accommodation of the maker, evidence may be left to the jury of such mutual nnderstanding or agreement. Love r. Wall, 1 Hawks, 313.

One joint indorser who has paid the whole amount of a note negotiated at bank, cannot recover from another joint indorser his contribution, without proving the insolvency of the drawer. Pearson v. Duckham, 3 Litt. 386.

(2) An authority to one partner to sign notes in the partnership name, for debts of the firm, may be inferred from such circumstances as will raise a reasonable presumption of the assent of the other partners. Graves v. Merry, 6 Cowen, 701. See Manufacturers' & Mechanics' Bank v. Winship, 5 Pick. 11. It is a well settled rule, that if a bill be drawn by one partner in the name of the firm, or if a bill be drawn on the firm, by their partnership name, and be accepted by one of the partners, all the partnership are bound; although the consent of the other partners should not be obtained, or should be withheld. Le Roy v. Johnson, 2 Peters, 197. See Smith v. Lusher, 6 Cowen, 688. Cumston v. M'Nair, 1 Wend. 457.

⁽¹⁾ If the directors of a turnpike company become the drawer and indorsers of a note, on which money is borrowed for the use of the company, and applied to the payment of its debts, they are, in the absence of any especial agreement, mutually responsible for contribution in case of loss, if payment be made by one, whether by compulsion or voluntarily. Slaymaker v. Gundacker's executors, 10 Serg. & Rawle, 75.

ıž1f

31.

1..1

1201

£.1

2-1

į,

By part-

III. Modes fered to prove that they were jointly indebted, and that they gave the note of becom- for that debt, he was nonsuited, on the ground that this was a separate security, though for a joint debt(n). And it was held in Ex parte Emly(o), and in Emly v. Lye(p), that the indersement of one partner alone does not make the firm liable on the bill, although the money thereby raised may have been applied to partnership purposes, if the indorsement cannot be treated as the indorsement of the firm, and though the latter might be liable to be sued as for money lent(q). So where A. and B. were in partnership, B. being a secret partner, and A. on the partnership account drew bills in his own name only (and not in any partnership firm) on B., who accepted them; it was held on the bankruptcy of A. and B. that the holder of these bills, who was ignorant of the partnership, was not entitled to prove them against the joint estate of A. and B. and the separate estate of B. but that he was entitled to prove them against the separate estates of A. and B.(r). But on the other hand, it is clear that a firm consisting of several persons may carry on business in the name of an individual partner, (just as much as they may adopt a fancy name, or the comprehensive word "company"), and then the whole firm will be bound by an indorsement made by him in his own name only (8); and therefore in a recent case, where Crowder, Clough and Perfect, carried on business in partnership, under the name and firm of "Crowder, Clough and Co." as factors and commission merchants in England, and in America in the name of Clough only; and Clough in America, on a trans-[*58] action connected with the partnership in America, indorsed *bills in his own name only, it was holden that such indorsements must be considered as an indorsement by the firm, and that they were liable as indorsers on those bills(t).

On the other hand it seems that a partner has no power to give a joint and several promissory note, so as to bind his co-partner to be sued separately. At least when a joint note has been given and signed, he cannot atterwards without express consent insert the words, "or severally," so as to alter the liability of his partner (u).

If a factor of an incorporated company draw a bill on such company, and one member accept it, the acceptance will not bind the company, because it is a private act of the party, and not a public act of the company; and on the same principle, if several persons, each in his individual capacity, employ one factor, and he draw a bill on all of them, and one accept it, the acceptance will not bind the rest(x).

If a bill be directed unto two or more persons, not partners, in these terms, "To Mr. R. A. and Mr. J. B. Merchants, in London;" in this case, it is said, that A. and B., not being partners, ought both to accept the bill, and that if one refuse, the bill must be protested for want of acceptance(y). But it has been recently determined, that where a bill is drawn upon a firm, and one partner writes "accepted" and adds only his own name, it will bind (p) Emly v. Lye, 15 East, 7; Kilgour v. Finlyson, 1 Hen. Bla. 156.

⁽n) Siffkin v. Walker, 2 Campb. 307.

⁽o) Ex parte Emly, 1 Rose, 61.

⁽q) Id. Ibid.; Denton v. Rodie, 3 Camph. 498; post, 59, note (f); Ex parte Boletho, 1 Bing. 100.

⁽r) Ex parte Husbands, 2 G. & J. 4.

⁽s) Ex parte Boletho, Buck, 100. As explained by Bayley, B. in Wintle v. Crowther and another, 1 Tyrw. R. 214; and see Lloyd r. Ashby, 2 B. & Ad. 29; ante, 43, n. (f).

⁽¹⁾ South Carolina Bank v. Case, 8 Bar. & Cres. 427; ante, 43.

⁽u) Perring r. Hone, 4 Bing. 32, ante, 46, note (g).

⁽x) Bul. N. P. 270; Mar. 2d edit. 16; Beawes, pl. 228; Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 18.

⁽y) Marius, 16; and see Carwick r. Vickery, Dougl. 653; Bayl. 55.

·· {

the firm(z) if they were in partnership at the time of the acceptance (a). And III. Modes where A., B., and C., being in partnership, A. drew a promissory note, and of becomsigned the same with his own name only, but prefixing to his signature "for A., By Part-B. and Co.," thus-" Sixty days after sight I promise to pay Lord G. or ner. order 2001. value received, for I. M., T. W., and I. S. -J. M." Lord Ellenborough held this sufficient to bind the firm, and made it a joint or several note(b). And where a promissory note, beginning "I promise to pay," was signed by one member of a firm for himself and his partners, it was held that the party signing might be sued separately upon the note, or they might be sued jointly (c). But if a promissory note appear on the face of it to he the separate note of A. only, it cannot be declared on as the joint note of A. and B. though given to secure a debt for which both were liable(d). And where one of two partners drew *bills of exchange in his own name on- [*59] ly, and got them discounted, and applied the proceeds to the partnership account, it was held, that the party advancing the money had no remedy against the partnership, either upon the bills so drawn by the single partner, or for money had and received through the medium of such bills(e), though, in a subsequent case, it appearing that all the partners had caused such bills to be issued for the purpose of raising money for the firm, they were held liable to be sued by the persons who discounted the hills for the money as lent, and for interest (f).

We have seen that unless there is a partnership in trade, there is no im- How several Per-Trade, are to sign.

(2) Mason v. Rumsey, 1 Campb. 384. A bill was drawn on "Messrs. Rumsey and Co." and T. R. Rumsey, jun. wrote upon it, "Accepted, T. Rumsey, sen." The present action was defended by T. Rumsey, jun. who contended, that even if he were a partner (which he denied) this acceptance would not bind him. It was contended, that if a bill be drawn upon a firm, it must be accepted in the name of the firm, or by one partner for himself and his co-partners, otherwise the holder might protest the bill as the mere signature of a single partner was binding only upon himself. Lord Ellenborough-There is no foundation for the doctrine contended for; this acceptance does not prove the partnership; but if the defendants were partners, they are both bound by it. For this purpose, it would have been enough if the word "accepted" had been written on the bill, and the effect cannot be altered by adding "T. Rumsey, sen." If a bill of exchange is drawn upon a firm, and accepted by one of the partners, he must be understood to exercise his power to bind his co-partners and to accept the bill according to the terms in which it is drawn. The plaintiff had a verdict.

(a) Dolman v. Orchard and others, 2 Carr. & Pa. 105.

(b) Lord Galway v. Matthews and another,

1 Campb. 403; 10 East, 264, S. C. but not the same point. And see Smi h v. Jarves, 2 Lord Raym. 1484.

(c) Hall v. Smith, 1 Barn. & Cres. 407. The form of the note was, "I promise to pay the bearer, on demand, 1l. value received For W. S., W. P. S., and W. R. T.—W. S.' 2 Dowl. & R. 584, S. C. And see March v. Ward, Peake, R. 130. Clark v. Blackstock, Holt, C. N. P. 474. S. P. and other cases, post, Ch. XII. s. iv. "Promissory Notes," &c.

(d) Siffkin r. Walker and another, 2 Camp. Sons, not Partners in 308; Emly v. Lye and another, 15 East, 7.

(e) Emly v. Lye and another, 15 East, 7. (f) Denton r. Rodie and another, 3 Campb. 493. Per Lord Ellenborough, "I think this case is distinguishable from Emly v. Lye. Here I conceive the partner in America had authority from the two others to raise money for the use of the firm, and money was accordingly raised from the plaintiffs upon these bills in pursuance of such authority. The transaction is a loan rather than a discount. I. B. Clough was sent out to America to manage the business of the house there, and to procure homeward investments; the shipments from this country did not form an adequate fund for that purpose. He says himself that he had a carte blanche as to the means he should adopt; he accordingly raises money, for which he gives, as security, bills of exchange, drawn in his own name, upon the house. They know and recognize this mode of dealing; they regularly accept and pay the bills so drawn, till the time of their failure; therefore, although I cannot say they are jointly liable upon the unaccepted bills, I think they are jointly indebted to the same amount, as for mo-ney lent, or money had and received." It was then suggested, that the plaintiffs, upon this supposition, could not claim interest; but Lord Ellenborough thought, that from the course of dealing, the plaintiffs were entitled to interest, although they did not recover upon the written securities. Verdict accordingly. Sed quære as to the liability for money lent. A discounter of a bill cannot treat it as a loan, so far as to call on one whose name is not on the bill, but is confined to those whose names are on it. Per Bayley, B. in Thicknesse v. Bromilow, 2 C. & J. 425, 432.

T. 3

ŭ.,

25

1.1

B.

::1

¥.,

41.1

150 ė i

. . .

311

`.

ŀ

!

ŧ.

ner.

III. Modes plied authority for one owner or party to sign a bill or other negotiable inof become strument for his co-owner, and yet there may be many cases in which pering a Party. sons may, for a particular purpose, or in the execution of a trust, or otherwise be jointly interested in such securities; in these cases, unless an express authority be given, all must separately sign their names whether as drawers (g), acceptors (h), or indorsers (i). Thus, if three assignees of a bankrupt deposit money in the Bank of England, they not being partners in trade must all draw checks to draw it out, though where one of them has absconded, a court of equity will order the Bank to pay checks drawn by the other two So if a bill be drawn upon several persons not in partnership, each of them should accept, and an acceptance by one will bind himself only (l); so if a note be payable to A. B. and C. or order, they not being partners, all of them must indorse (m). If a note begin "I promise to pay," and be signed by two persons, it may be treated as joint or several (n), and requires only one stamp if it were the original contract that all should join(0). So if a note is payable to two joint executors, it was held, in America, that one of them cannot transfer it by his separate indorsement (p).

The giving time to, or taking security from, one of several acceptors of a bill or makers of a note, whether or not general partners, will not discharge the other's liability. The law on that subject, however, will be more properly considered hereafter.

5. One Partner cannot sue another on a Bill in the Partnership firm (p).

*5. When one Partner cannot sue Co-partner.—It is a general rule that one partner cannot sue his co-partner at law for any debt or demand towards which he himself must ultimately contribute (q); and, therefore, if one of several co-partners obtain possession of a bill drawn, accepted, or indorsed by drawn, &c. another partner, for the purposes of the firm, he cannot sue the firm or any member thereof upon the same (r). Therefore, where a member of a company, for the purposes thereof, drew a bill in his separate name on a debtor to the firm, and indorsed it to an agent of the company, and the latter in-*60] dorsed it to another member of the company who had a claim on the company to a larger amount, it was decided that the latter could not sue the drawer, because he being a partner with such drawer would be liable over for contribution(8). So where the plaintiff, a holder of shares in a washing compa-

(g) Ex parte Hunter, 2 Rose, 363.

(h) Bul. N. P. 270.

(i) Carwick v. Vickery, Dougl. 653; ante, 57, 58.

(k) Ex parte Hunter, 2 Rose, 363.

(1) Bul. N. P. 270. In the case of two joint traders, an acceptance by one will bind both, but if ten merchants employ one factor, and he draws a bill upon all of them, and one of them accepts it, this shall bind him and not the rest; Mar. 2d edit. 16; Beawes, pl. 228; Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 18.

(m) Carwick v. Vickery, Dougl. 653; ante,

58, note (y).

n) March v. Ward, Peake R. 130; Clerk

v. Blackstock, Holt, C. N. P. 474.
(o) Clerk r. Blackstock, Holt, C. N. P. 474; and see Ex parte White, 2 D. & C. 334, rost, Ch. V. s. v.

(p) Smith v. Whiting, 9 Mass. R. 334.

(p) But see as to members of banking copartnerships, 1 & 2 Vict. c. 96, continued by 2 & 8 Vict. c. 68, post, Regulations affecting Banking Companies; see also 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vic. c. 73, s. 3, as to Trading and other Companies having Letters Patent under that act. (q) See in general Holmes v. Higgins, 1 Bar. & C. 74; Tengue v. Hubbard, 8 Bar. & C. 345; 2 Man. & Ry. 369, S. C.; 1 Chit. on Pl. 6th ed. 39 to 41.

This general doctrine, that one partner cannot sue his co-partner for any debt towards which he himself must ultimately contribute, was carried still further in another case, where the plaintiff, an attorney, and B. and C. the defendants, had been niembers of a trading company; and after the dissolution of it, B. and C. were sued by the creditors of the company, and they retained the plaintiff as their attorney to defend the action; and in the course of making that defence a bill of costs was incurred, and it was held that as the plaintiff, as a member of that company, would be jointly liable to contrihute to the expense of defending those actions, he could not maintain any action against B. and C. for his bill of costs; Milburn v. Codd and another, 7 B. & C. 419.

(r) Teague v. Hubbard, 8 Bar. & C. 345; Neale v. Sir T. Turton, 4 Bing. 149.

(s) Teague r. Hubbard, S Bar. & Cres. 345;

H

3374

32.20

TEI.

2.62

112

77.5

1. 2.

27,

ر تري

-27.

210

 $\mathbb{J}^{p^{\prime}}$

r ...

3

, ..

5.

;!

ď.

, ,

ny, draw bills on the directors of the company for goods furnished by him III. Modes and his brother, and the bills were accepted "for the directors" by the secre- of becomtary of the company, who had authority to accept bills drawn by the plain- ing a Party.

By Parttiff's brother, it was held that the plaintiff could not recover on these bills ner. against the company (t).

But if one partner draw on the other partners by name, or on one or more When one of them, and the drawees were individually to accept, as a mode of paying Partner him a sum of money as his share, or otherwise due to him, such drawer another. might recover against them, because by such an acceptance a separate right is acknowledged to exist (u). Such or a similar transaction would be equivalent to an account stated and a specific sum found due, in which case one partner may sue his co-partner at law for the amount(w). If a member of a joint stock company advance money to *the directors of the company, [*61] knowing that it is to be applied in taking up a bill of exchange to which such directors have become a party for the purposes of the company, it is a question for the jury whether the member advanced the money on the credit of the company at large, or on that of the directors individually (x).

6. When Partners affected by the Promise of a Partner.—It has been 6. How laid down as a general position that there is not any instance in which a person has been allowed as plaintiff in a court of law to rescind his own act, one parton the ground that such act was a fraud on some other person, whether the ner will party seeking to do this has sued in his own name only, or jointly with such prejudice Therefore where A., B. and C. carried on trade in partner-the firm ship, and A. was also in partnership with D.; and A. being indebted to the interse. firm of A., B. and C., before the dissolution of that partnership, unknown to D., indorsed a bill and paid over money (belonging to A. and D.), in discharge of the private debt due from A. to A., B. and C.; and immediately afterwards indorsed the same bill to a creditor of the firm of A., B. and C.; it was held, the partnership between A., B. and C. having been dissolved, that A. and D. could not maintain trover against B. and C. for the bill, nor assumpsit for the money paid by A. out of the funds of A. and D. to A., B. and C., in discharge of his private debt: and A. and D. having afterwards become bankrupt, it was also held that their assignees could not maintain such action (y). And if one of several partners has promised

2 Man. & Ry. 369, S. C. It was also held, the acceptor having become insolvent before the bill became due and the drawer having received from him ten shillings in the pound upon the amount of the bill by way of composition, that the plaintiff could not recover the sum so received by the drawer, because that money must be taken to have been received by him in his character of a member of the company, and not on

(t) Neule v. Sir T. Turton and others, 4 Bing. 149; 12 Moore, 365, S. C. Per Best, C. J. "It may be admitted, that if a partner were to draw on other partners by name, and they were individually to accept, he might recover against them, because by such an acceptance a separate right is acknowledged to exist. But that is not the case here, for the bills are drawn on the directors of the company, and accepted for the directors. They are the agents of the company, and accept as agents of the company. The case, therefore, is that of one partner drawing on the whole firm, including himself. There is no principle by which a man can be at the same time plaintiff and defendant. We are clearly of opinion, that these bills being drawn on the directors, are in effect drawn on the company, of which the plaintiff is himself a mem-ber. He cannot be at the same time drawer and acceptor, and the rule therefore which has been obtained for entering a nonsuit must be made

(u) Per Best, C. J. in Nealo v. Sir T. Turton and others, 4 Bing. 149, last note.

(w) Foster v. Allanson, 2 T. R. 478; Fromont v Coupland, 9 Moore, 819; S. C. 2 Bing. 170; Coffee v. Brian, 10 Moore, 841; S. C. 3 Bing. 55; Boville v. Hammond, 9 D. & R. 186; S. C. 6 Bar. & Cres. 149; Rackstraw v. Imber, Holt, C. N. P. 368; 1 Chitty on Pleading, 6th edit. 39, &c.

(x) Colley v. Smith, 2 Mood. & R, 96. The plaintiff had a verdict. (y) Jones v. Yates, 9 Bar. & Cres. 538.

Digitized by Google

(34)

20

III. Modes to provide for a bill, or any one of the firm has no title to recover, the firm of becom- cannot sue in breach of such promise; and therefore if A. draw or cause a bill to be drawn, accepted, or indorsed for his accommodation, and indorse By Part- or cause it to be transferred to himself and partners, they cannot sue the party who so signed for accommodation(z); and where A. and B. requested ner. C. to accept bills for their accommodation, and A. being with two others, executors, and trustees for infants, discounted the bills out of funds in his hands as such executor, it was held that the executors, in conjunction with A., could not sue C., and a perpetual injunction was granted.

II. Public Regulations affecting Corporations and Co-part-NERSHIPS.

II. Public Regulations affecting Corporations and Co-partnerships. Banking Companies (b). 7 Geo. 4, с. 46.

Companies.

98.

During privilege England no Banking Company of more

We have already partially considered how far corporations and companies are, in favour of the Bank of England, prohibited from being parties to certain bills of exchange and notes (a). It may now be expedient to notice more fully the recent acts for the protection of the Bank of England, and to point out how far the members of corporations and co-partnerships may be liable for each other's acts, and how they are regulated.

The 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, intituled, "An act for the better regulating copartnerships of more than six persons as bankers in England, and for amending the Act 39 & 40 Geo. 3, c. 28," legalizes corporations and copartnerships of more than six persons for the purposes of banking, and *authorises them *62] to make and issue their bills and notes at any place exceeding sixty-five miles from London, payable on demand, or otherwise, at any place also exceeding II. Public that distance; and to borrow, owe, or take up, any money on any such bills or notes; but provides that such co-partnerships shall have no place of business as bankers(d) within that distance; and that every member shall be liable for the due payment of all bills and notes issued, and for all monies which shall be borrowed, owed, or taken up by the co-partnership, such person being a member at the date of the bill or note, or becoming or being a member before or at the time of the bill or note being payable, or being such member at the time of the borrowing, owing, or taking up any money on such bill or note by the co-partnership, or while any sum on any bill or note is owing or unpaid; or at the time the same became due from the co-partnership, any agreement, covenant, or contract, to the contrary notwithstanding(e). The 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, intituled, "An Act for giving to the Will. 4, c. Governor and Company of the Bank of England certain Privileges, for a limited period, under certain conditions," after continuing to the Bank of England the exclusive privilege of banking upon the conditions therein mentioned, enacts (s. 2.) that during the continuance of the said privilege, no corporation or co-partnership exceeding six persons, shall make or issue in of Bank of London, or within sixty-five miles thereof, any bill of exchange or promissory note, or engagement for the payment of money on demand, or upon which any person holding the same may obtain payment on demand: but provides

(a) See ante, 15 to 18.

(d) That the prohibition is confined to banking co-partnerships, see the cases, ante, 16, 17.
(e) See section 1.

Digitized by Google

⁻ v. Adams and another, 1 Younge Ex. Eq. Rep. 117; Richmond v. Heapy and another, 1 Stark. 202; Sandilands v. Marsh, 2 Bar. & Al. 673; Rapp v. Latham and Parry, id. 795; Sparrow v. Chisman, 9 Bar. & C. 241; Jones v. Yates, 9 Bar. & C. 539.

⁽b) See the law relating to, fully discussed in The Bank of England v. Anderson, 4 Scott, 50, S. C. 8 Bing. N. C. 589; 2 Keen, 328.

that nothing in this act or in the 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, shall prevent any corpora- III. Modes tion or co-partnership, carrying on and transacting banking business at any of becomgreater distance than sixty-five miles from London, and not having any house inga Party. of business or establishment as bankers in London, or within sixty-five miles ner. thereof, (except as hereinafter mentioned,) from making and issuing their bills. II. Public and notes, payable on demand or otherwise, at the place at which the same Compashall be issued, being more than sixty-five miles from London, and also in London, and to have an agent or agents in London, or at any other place at than six which such bills or notes shall be made payable for the purpose of payment issue notes only, but that no such bill or note shall be for any sum less than 51. or be payable on re-issued in London, or within sixty-five miles thereof.

Section 3, after reciting that doubts had arisen as to the construction of sixty-five the 39 & 40 Geo. 3, c. 28, and 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, and as to the extent of the miles exclusive privilege of banking thereby given to the Bank of England, declares of (f). and enacts, that any corporation or co-partnership, although consisting of Any Commore than six persons, may carry on the trade or business of banking in pany or London, or within sixty-five miles thereof, provided that such corporation or Partnerco-partnership do not borrow, once, or take up(f) in England any sum or sums ship may carry on of money on their bills for notes payable on demand, or at any less time than Business of six months from the borrowing thereof, during the continuance of the privi- Panking in leges granted by this act to the Bank of England.

Section 4 provides that all notes of the Bank of England payable on de-ty-five mand which shall be issued out of London shall be payable at the place Miles where issued, &c.

Section 6 declares bank-notes to be a legal tender, except at the bank and tain terms. branch banks.

And by the seventh section it is enacted, that no bill of exchange or pro- Usury (h). missory note made payable at or within three months(h) after the date thereof,

(f) Under this act a London Joint Stock Banking Company, consisting of more than six persons, cannot accept a bill of exchange at less than six months date; The Rank of England v. Anderson, 3 Bing. N. C. 589; S. C. 4 Scott, 50; 2 Keen, 328

And where a bank at Kingston, in Upper Canada, drew a bill payable at sixty days after sight, directed to G. P., manager, joint stock bank, London, which was accepted by G. P., who was the manager of the London Joint Stock Bank, but not a shareholder or partner in that concern, in these words, "Accepted at the London Joint Stock Bank, George Pollard;" and by an arrangement between the London Joint Stock Bank and the Canada Bank, the London Joint Stock Bank guaranteed the payment at maturity of all bills of exchange so drawn by the Canada Bank to the extent of 40,000%; it was held, that this transaction was a violation of the exclusive privileges of the Bank of England within the above act and the other acts relating to the Bank; and an injunction was granted accordingly against the London Joint Stock Bank and G. P. and their agents; The Bank of England r. Booth, 2 Keen, 466.

An allegation in a plea to a count on a bill of exchange, that the plaintiffs were a banking company, consisting of more than six persons, and that they were illegally associated together under 3 & 4 Will. 4. c. 98, is compounded of law and fact, and therefore traversable; and if traversed, makes it incumbent on the defendant to prove that the plaintiffs carried on business as bankers within sixty-five miles of Londox: Ransford r. Copeland, 1 Nev. & P. 671;6 Ad. & Ellis, 482, S. C.

(h) See jost, Ch. Hl. s. ii. Illegality of Consideration.

The period is now extended to treeline months by 7 Will, 4, and 1 Vict. c. 80, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37. The latter act also exempts all contracts for the loan or forbearance of money alove the sum of 101, from the operation of the usory laws, see jost, Ch. III. s. i. Illegality of Consideration.

A note payable or demand is within the protection of the above statute, Vallance v. Siddell, 6 Ad. 3. El. 932; 2 N. & P. 78, S. C. And a party discovating a bill or note is not deprived of the breeft of this act by taking a collateral security; Ex parte Knight, 2 Mont & Ayr. 508; 1 Den. 459, S. C. Aliter, if the money be advanced on other securities and the bill or note merely given to avoid usury; Berrington v. Collis, 5 Bing N. C. 332.

A. agreed with B. to lend him 2001, at the rate of one shilling in the pound per month (60%. per cent. per annum), to be secured as follows, within London or

London, or thereof, upon cer-*63]

(E) ε:: ; Τ.,

; ;

 e^{zi}

I [>

12 γ.

×.

11

15

4 11

2119

11

1,

1

۶.

ing a Party.

Companies.

7 Geo. 4,

c. 46.

III. Modes or not having more than three months to run, shall, by reason of any interest of becom- taken thereon or secured thereby, or any agreement to pay or receive or al-By Part- low interest in discounting, negotiating, or transferring the same, be void, nor shall the liability of any party to any(i) bill of exchange or promissory II. Public note be affected (k) by reason of any statute or law in force for the prevention of usury, nor shall any person or persons drawing, accepting, indorsing, or signing any such bill or note, or lending or advancing any money, or taking more than the present rate of legal interest in Great Britain and Ireland respectively for the loan of money on any such bill or note, be subject to any penalties under any statute or law relating to usury, or any other penalty or forseiture; any thing in any law or statute relating to usury in any part of the United Kingdom to the contrary notwithstanding.

The 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 83, intituled "An Act to compel Banks issuing Will. 4, c. Promissory Notes payable to Bearer on demand to make Returns of their Notes in circulation, and to authorise Banks to issue Notes payable in Lon-83. don for less than Fifty pounds," after requiring corporations and co-partnerships, carrying on banking-business, and issuing promissory notes payable to bearer on demand, to keep accounts of the amount in circulation, and make

*64] periodical returns to the Stamp *Office, under a penalty of 500l. for default, enacts, (s. 2) that any corporation or co-partnership, exceeding the number of six persons, carrying on business as bankers, may make any bill of exchange or promissory note of such corporation or co-partnership payable in London, by any agent of such corporation or co-partnership in London, or draw any bill of exchange or promissory note upon any such agent in London, payable on demand or otherwise in London, and for any less amount than 50l. notwithstanding the 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 2. See post, 819,(6).

The 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 3, repeats the prohibitions in favour of the Bank of England, but authorizes any corporation or co-partnership to discount, in London or elsewhere, any bill of exchange not drawn by or upon any such corporation or co-partnership, or by or upon any person on their behalf.

The 4th section requires that such co-partnership shall, before issuing any bill or note, deliver at the Stamp Office in London an account, containing the name of the firm and members, and places where the business of banking is to be carried on, and the names of one or more members who shall have been appointed public officers, and which account is to be verified by the secretary or other public officer, and to be renewed from time to time.

The 9th section enacts, that all actions and suits and petitions to found any commission of bankruptcy(g) against any persons indebted to such corporation or partnership, and all proceedings at law and in equity, shall be in the name of any one(h) of such public officers of the company, and that indictments may lay the property in one of such officers.

viz.; whenever any portion of the money should be advanced, the borrower was to give a promissory note, payable one month after date, to be renewed as often as it should fall due, and for each renewal one shilling in the pound was to be paid by way of discount; it was held that the promissory notes so given were within the protection of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, s. 7, and 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vic. c. 80; Holt v. Miers, 5 Mee. & W. 169.

(i) Should be any such bill, &c. See Vallance v. Siddell, 6 Ad. & El. 932; 2 N. & P. 70. S. C. There is the same omission in the 7 Will. 4, and 1 Vict. c. 80, but the mistake is rectified in the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37.

(k) Therefore a warrant of attorney given to secure the payment of a bill or note within the act is also protected; Connop r. Meaks, 2 Ad. & El 326; 4 N & M 302, S. C.

(g) See Guthrie v. Fish, 5 Dowl. & R. 24;

3 Stark. 153, S. C.

(h) Two plaintiffs on the part of a banking company having sued as public officers, the court allowed the proceedings to be amended, by striking out the name of one of the plaintiffs on payment of costs, even after issue delivered. Holmes r. Binney, 4 Bing. N. C. 454; 6 Scott, 346, S. C. As to affidavit of debt by public officer, see Spencer r. Newton, 6 Ad. & El. 680; 1 N. & P. 828, S. C.

'n.

123

137

.

100

2.18

. U.

, W 5

370

216 100

. Ki

.... خەبي

1

34

 \mathcal{A}^{0}

1.5

ja Arr

191

1575

. ::-

4

The 10th section provides that only one action shall be brought against III. Modea such public officer.

The 11th section enacts, that decrees of a court of equity against the pub- ing a Party.

By Partlic officer may, by leave of the court, be enforced against every or any mem-ner. ber of such co-partnership as if such members were actually parties to the II. Public suit.

Compa-

The 12th section enacts, that judgments and decrees shall be effectual against the property of the corporation or company, and of every member

The 13th section enacts, that where execution may issue upon any judgment against the public officer, it may be issued against any member for the time being; or if that should be ineffectual, then against any person who was a member at the time when the contract on which the judgment was obtained was entered into, or who became a member at any time before such contract was executed, or any person who was a member at the time the judgment was But then it is provided, that no such execution shall issue as last mentioned without leave of the court(i), nor after three years next after any such person shall have ceased to be a member.

The 14th section provides, that the public officer shall be reimbursed and fully indemnified out of the funds of the co-partnership, or, on failure thereof, by contribution from the other members of such co-partnership, as in the ordinary cases of co-partnership.

*The act then provides for such co-partnership issuing unstamped notes on [*65] giving bond, and for licences, and subjects the corporations to penalties for omitting returns, or making false returns, and for issuing prohibited bills or notes within the prescribed distance (k).

It having been decided by the court of Exchequer(1) that spiritual per-Spiritual sons, being members of a banking company, are within the prohibition of the persons. 57 Geo. 3, c. 99, s. 3, against such persons being engaged in any trade or dealing for gain or profit, the act of 1 & 2 Vict. c. 110, was passed for the protection of existing co-partnerships, whereby it is enacted that no associa- 1 & 2 Vict. tion or co-partnership already formed for the purpose of carrying on the business of banking or other trade, or dealing for gain and profit, nor any contract entered into by any of them, shall be deemed illegal or void by reason only of spiritual persons being or having been members of such association or co-partnership.

The 1 & 2 Vict. c. 96, enables banking co-partnerships and their mem- Power to bers respectively to sue and be sued in the name of their public officer, in sue and be sued, 1 & sued, 1 & the same manner as if the parties forming the co-partnership, had not been 2 Vict. c. members thereof. The 2d section enacts, that one action may be pleaded 96. in bar of another for the same demand. The 3d section extends the provisions of 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, and 6 Geo. 4, c. 42, (Ireland) to the present act. And the 4th section enacts, that no claim which any member may have in respect of his share, &c. of the joint stock, shall be set off against a demand of the co-partnership (m).

In Scotland(n) and Ireland(o) also, there are acts containing regulations

(i) See Bartlett v. Pentland, 1 Bar. & Ad.

(k) See the enactments, Chit. Stat. 93, 94. See also 9 Geo. 4, c. 23, ib. 1023 to 1026, and post, Ch. IV. Stamps.

(1) Hall v. Franklin, 3 M. & W. 259, ante,

(m) This act, which was only to remain in force till the end of the session of 1839, is continued by the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 68, until 31st

Aug. 1840. See post, 819, (7).
(n) 7 Geo. 4, c. 67, anle, 17, note (r).
(o) 5 Geo. 4, c. 73, and 6 Geo. 4, c. 42; see 5 Geo. 4, c. cix, ante, 18, note (s).

Lif

٦.

 \mathbf{t}^{-1}

ing a Party. By Part-

II. Public Companies.

Individual liability as members.

III. Modes of societies or partnerships, and the modes of suing or being sued in their of become name, or in the name of their public officers (o).

It will be observed that the 7th Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 1, increases the common law liability, which in general only subjects partners to the payment of bills and notes made or re-issued by themselves, and whilst they were all partners, whereas that act subjects them to liability to pay all bills and notes issued even before they became partners, but which still remain unsatisfied. And under the 13th section a person who ceases to be a member of a banking concern continues for three years liable to an execution in respect of every engagement, bill or note, which had existence, and was an outstanding security against the firm, at any time, whether before or whilst he was a partner, and which was not paid or satisfied when he retired, or which, having been paid, was re-issued before he ceased to be a partner. At common law, in the case of a banking concern, a retiring partner remains for six years afterwards liable upon all outstanding bills and notes, and he must take care when he retires, to stipulate and secure himself against them, so as to compel his partners to provide for them, and indemnify him; but such stipulation is in effect a mere private bargain with his partners, and if not fulfilled by them, he still remains liable to third persons as before (p). [*66]

With respect to re-issuable notes, unless on re-issuing the same *after a partner had retired, the name of the firm was altered on the face of them, he might incur a fresh liability to any holder not having had notice of his retiring; but if such alteration in the firm was apparent on the face of the notes, or duly communicated to the public, that would sufficiently protect him against all fresh issued notes; the principle of the case of Barfoot v. Goodall(r) would in this respect be applicable.

Upon the whole, although under the statute and at common law there are liabilities which may attach on banking parties which it requires due precaution to guard against, yet, exercising ordinary prudence, a person incurs but liule more risk than is incident to most co-partnerships, who could not be made liable to any execution against their persons. It cannot have been intended to take away the ordinary remedies against partners; and in equity a creditor of a firm may proceed against the estate of the deceased, when the survivors There is no difference in principle between the case are unable to pay (s). of a banking-house and any other partnership, as to the equity of the creditor against the deceased partner's estate; and money paid into a banker's constitutes a debt, not a deposit; and a creditor's leaving money in the hands of the surviving partners in a bank does not constitute a new contract, nor operate as a relinquishment of the old security(t). And where bankers upon a deposit of money with them gave deposit notes bearing interest, and the partnership was dissolved, and one of the partners soon afterwards died, and his creditors were called by advertisement, and a new partnership was formed by the survivors and others, who re-issued notes of the former partnership, and paid the interest of the deposit notes for near two years, and then failed, it was held that the assets of the deceased partner were not discharg-And even a judgment at law against a surviving partner is no extin-

56è. (n) Daniel v. Cross, 3 Ves. 277.

⁽p) Ante, 54, 55. (r) Barfoot v. Goodall, 3 Campb. 147.

⁽s) Lane v. Williams, 2 Vern 277, 292, (Chit. jun. 186); Daniel v. Cross, 3 Ves. 277; Anderson v. Malthy, Bro. C. C. 423; 2 Ves.

jun. 144, S. C.; Jacomb v. Harwood, ante, 42, note (d); 2 Ves. 265. (1) Id. ibid.; Devaynes v. Noble, 1 Mer.

ď

. . . .

guishment in equity of a claim against the effects of a deceased or retired III. Modes Original shareholders incur no greater liability than subsequent purchasers $_{By}^{\text{ing a Party.}}$ of shares; each of them is liable to see to the complete payment of every ner. contract entered into whilst he was actually a partner; and the statute seems II. Public further to make him liable also on contracts entered into before he was a Compapartner, but which remain unsatisfied in his time, and which the legislature nies. considers him in effect to have adopted, as if he had personally made them.

By the 7 Will. 4 & 1 Vict. c. 73, intituled "An Act for better enabling Trading Her Majesty to confer certain Powers and Immunities on trading and other Compa-Companies," after reciting and repealing the 6 Geo. 4, c. 91, s. 2, and 4 7 W. 4 & & 5 Will. 4, c. 94, it is enacted (s. 2,) "That it shall be lawful for the 1 Vict. c. crown, by letters patent under the great seal, to grant to any company or 78. body of persons associated together for any trading or other purposes whatsoever, although not incorporated by such letters patent, any privilege or privileges which, according to the rules of the common law, it would be competent to the crown to grant to any such company or body of persons in and by any charter of incorporation."

Section 3 enacts, "That in such letters patent it may be declared that Power to all suits and proceedings on behalf of such company or body *against any sue and be person or persons, whether members or not of such company or body, shall be prosecuted in the name of one of the two officers for the time being to be appointed to sue and be sued on behalf of such company or body according to the directions of the act, and that all suits and proceedings on behalf of any person or persons, whether or not members of such company or body, against such company or body, shall be prosecuted against one of such officers."

Section 4 enacts, "That such letters patent may declare that the mem- Individual bers of such company or body so associated shall be individually liable in liability of their persons and property for the debts, contracts, engagements and liabilities of such company or hody to such extent only nor charge on the line (x). ties of such company or body to such extent only per share as shall be declared and limited by such letters patent."

Section 21 continues the liability of persons ceasing to be members, until the transfer of shares shall be registered.

Section 24 points out the mode in which the individual liability of members shall be enforced.

And by section 29 it is enacted, "That it shall be lawful for the crown, Charters of in any charter of incorporation to be thereafter granted, to limit the duration incorporathereof for any term or number of years, or for any other period whatsoever; and also in any charter of incorporation (whether in perpetuity or for any term or period), either by reference to that act or otherwise, to make the corporation thereby formed, and the officers and members thereof, subject to all of the provisions, liabilities, and directions thereinbefore authorised to be imposed on or required from any unincorporated company or body, or its officers or members, and also to confer on such corporation or its members pect to members of corporations. In general the members of a corporation are not personally liable at law for the debts of the corporation, but only the corporate funds.

⁽v) Jacomb v. Harwood, 2 Ves. 265. (x) The repealed statute 6 Geo. 4, c. 91. s. 2, (s. 1 of which act repealed the 18th, 19th and 20th sections of the Bubble act, 6 Geo. 1, c. 18) contained a similar provision with res-

By Partner.

III. Modes and officers all the powers or privileges thereinbefore authorised to be conof becom-ing a Party ferred on any unincorporated company or body, or its officers or members; and that all the powers, provisions, clauses, matters and things thereinbefore contained in reference to unincorporated companies or bodies shall accordingly in such case, and so far as the same may be applicable, be considered to belong and apply to such corporation(y)."

II. Public Comp anies.

(y) See the other provisions of this act, Chit. & H. Stat. 1167, et seq.

Digitized by Google

F1

*CHAPTER III.

OF THE CONTRACT OR CONSIDERATION ON WHICH A BILL OR NOTE MAY BE FOUNDED.

I. OF THE ADEQUACY OF CONSID	ERA
TION. WHEN ESSENTIAL. CO	NEE
QUENCES OF TOTAL ABSENCE O OR SUBSEQUENT FAILURE TO
LY OR PARTIALLY; OR IN NEG
ATION, AND WHEN OR NOT A
FENCE	69
First. Want of Consideration when a 1	Defence	id.
Presumption of Adequacy	id.
Contrary may be shown as a Defen between Original Parties and the Agents, and Trustees and Assignee
Plaintiff's, or one of several, expre
Promise to provide	70
Cases of Duress, Fraud, &c.	72
Mere Semblance of Consideration	73
Only gratuitous, or as a gift, &c.	id.
What constitutes a sufficient Consider
tion	id.
Debt of Third Person	id.
Debt barred by Statute of Limitations	74
Debt barred by Certificate	id.
Moral Obligation	id.
Exchange of Securities	id.
Liability for a Debt, &c.	id.
Subsequent Failure of Consideration	76
Entire Failure	id.
Partial Failure	77
Must be certain or readily ascertaine

ble, &c.	17
Unless Defendant has paid more	than justly payable	id.
Secondly. Want of Consideration wnen 19
not a Defence
II. ILLEGALITY OF CONSIDERAT	18
OR CONTRACT
When or not a Defence	id.
1. Illegality at Common Law	82
Several instances enumerated
2. Illegality by Statute	86
Instances	id.
Usury, alteration in the .	Law
with respect to	87
Gaming	89
Stock-jobbing	91
Horse-racing, Wagering	Policies, &c.	92
Other prohibited Transaction	ns 93
When illegality affects bond
Holder	95
Illegality in subsequent indo
ment	96
Prior legal Debt not extingu
ed by subsequent illegality	id.
III. RELIEF AT LAW AND IN EQ
TY IN CASES OF FRAUD.	OR.
	OR OR
LLEGALITY. &c.	97

In a proper bill transaction, it was formerly drawn in execution or per-General formance of a previous distinct contract of exchange or bargain, made at one observaplace, to cause another person at a different place to pay or deliver at the the Conlatter, to a third person or his order, a sum of money, and thereby prevent tract or the trouble and risk of actually transmitting the money itself from the first Consideraplace to the latter. But bills soon became the ordinary modes of engaging which a to pay a prior debt at a future day, and at any place, and of completing eve- Bill or Note ry contract to be satisfied by the payment or delivery of money. And now may be founded. a bill or note may, in general, at least in this country, be made in pursuance of any legal contract, and for any adequate and legal consideration. they have these peculiar qualities and privileges, that whether or not a sufficient consideration be expressed on the face of them, the adequacy of the consideration is always presumed; and although the contrary may be proved, yet the claim of a bona fide holder, who has given value for it before it became due, will not, in general, be thereby prejudiced(a). It will be important to keep these peculiar privileges constantly in view.

'(a) See several instances in the following brought was thirteen years old, and that the pages. In Morris v. Lee, K. B. 26 G. 3, it defendant had been swindled out of it. But appeared that the note on which the action was the court held, that however improperly it might

(31)

1 (

20

A i

221

31.1

11

₹. 1

40

E-1

20

27. 1

2 N ۴.,

111

304

1.0 17.2

4: ìκ

۶,

¥.

X: 1

٦ ,

£-۲. د د

I. Adequacy of consideration. First Want of Consideration when a Defence (b).

Presumption of Adequacy. We will consider the law upon these points under the above heads.

*I. Adequacy of Consideration.

The general rule seems to be, that when the holder, or the person for whom he is agent or trustee, promised the defendant, either expressly or impliedly, to pay the bill or note drawn, indorsed, accepted, or made by him 69 I for accommodation, or where the defendant received no consideration, and the plaintiff, or the person for whose use he sucs, gave none, then there is a sufficient defence. But in general, it is a presumption of law, that every bill or note, whether expressed or not on the face of it to have been given for value received, was given for adequate value, and consequently it is not, as in the case of other contracts, necessary for the plaintiff, in the first instance, to allege or prove a consideration (c). And although that presumption may, between the original parties(d), or when a holder has not himself given any value, or only a part(e), in general be rebutted (f)(1), yet the onus probandi lies on the defendant, and the holder is not bound to prove that he gave value, until the defendant has first made out a case of fraud, or suspicion of fraud, upon establishing which, the holder must then prove that he received the bill or note before \dot{u} was due(g), and that he, or some other person for whose use he sues, gave value for it (h)(2); but it is not sufficient, in order have been obtained, a third person, who took it fairly, and gave a consideration for it, was entitled to recover; Bayley on Bills, 5th ed. 500, note 16; and see Smith v. Knox, 3 Esp. Rep. 46, (Chit. jun. 617), post. ;

(b) How pleaded, rost, Part II. Ch. IV. Defence and Pleas.

(c) Philliskirk v. Pluckwell, 2 M. & Sel. 395, (Chit. jun. 903); Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyr. Rep. 84; 1 Cro. & J. 231, (Chit jun. 1518); and Guichard v. Roberts, 1 Bla. Rep. 445, (Chit. jun. 371); Crawley v. Crowther, 2 Freem. 257, (Chit. jun. 231). Per Lord Chancellor, "It is now held, and the practice is so, that if a man holds a note for money payable on demand, he need not prove any consideration;" and see Trials per Pais, 501; Meredith c. Short, 1 Salk. 25; 2 Ld. Raym. 760, (Chit. jun. 202); 2 Bla. Com. 446; Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 320.

(d) See Whitaker v. Edinunds, 1 Ad. & El. 638; Heydon r. Thompson, id. 210; 3 N. & M. 319, 324, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. V. s. i. Evidence .- Consideration.

(e) See Simpson v. Clarke, 2 C. M. & Ros. 342, post, 70.

(f) Per Abbott, C. J., in Holliday v. Atkinson, 5 Bar. & C. 503; S D. & R. 163; (Chit. jun. 1290), S. C., post, 74, note (x).
(g) When defendant bound to prove that bill was indorsed after due; Lewis r. Parker, 4 Ad. & El. 838, S. C.; 6 N. & M. 294; 2 Hurl. & Woll. 46; post, Part II. Ch. V. s. l. Evidence .- Consideration.

(h) See per Eyre, C. J., in Collins v. Martin, 1 Bos & Pul. 651, (Chit jun. 576; Morris v. Lee, K. B., Hil. 26 Geo. 3; cited in Anonymous, 1 Com. Rep. 43, (Chit. jun. 205). and Bayl. 233, 5th edit. note 16; Hayly r. Lane, 2 Atk. 182, (Chit. jun. 294); see also per Buller, J., in Lickbarrow r. Mason, 2 T. R. 71; Poth. pl. 118, 121; Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 320. Per Eldon, C. J. Bank of Ireland v. Beresford, 6 Dow, 237, (Chit. jun. 1032); Charles v. Marsden, 1 Taunt. 224, (Chit. jun. 750); Noel r. Boyd, 4 Dowl. 415

(1) Russell & al. v. Hall, 20 Martin's Louis. Rep. 553. Booker v. Lastrapes, 2 Miller's Louis. Rep. 52. | Stevens v. McIntire, 14 Maine Rep. 14. }

⁽²⁾ The general principles upon this subject seem fully admitted in the United States. It seems, indeed, at one time to have been doubted, whether the want of consideration could be set up even in an action between the original parties to a note; and it was then said, that all the cases cited were cases in which there was, not a want, but a failure of consideration. Livingston r. Hastie, 2 Caines' Rep. 246, and see also the opinion of Livingston, J. in Baker r. Arnold, 3 Caines' Rep. 279. But it is now held that there is no difference in this respect between a want and a failure of consideration; and that each may be set up as a defence not only between the original parties, but also against a holder, claiming by indorsement after the note has become due, or taking it with a knowledge of fraud or other equitable circumstances, entitling the maker to avail himself of the defence. Pearson v. Pearson, 7 John. Rep. 26. Store v. Wadley, 3 John. Rep. Ten Eyck v. Vanderpool, 8 John. Rep. 120. Denniston v. Bacon, 10 John. Rep. 198. Woodhull v. Holmes, 10 John. Rep. 231. Frisbee v. Hoffnagle, 11 John. Rep. 50. Thatcher v. Dinsmore, 5 Mass. Rep. 299. Warner v. Lynch, 5 John. Rep. 239. Baker v. Arnold, 3 Caines' Rep. 279. Tappan v. Von Wagenen, 3 John. Rep. 465. Bayley v. Faber, 6 Mass.

to cast the onus of proving consideration upon the holder, for the defendant I. Adequamerely to show that he received no consideration, as in the case of an ac-cy of Con-

Rep. 451. Slade v. Halsted, 7 Cowen, 322. Hills v. Bunnister, 8 Cowen, 31. Lawrence v. Want of The Stonington Bank, 6 Conn. Rep. 521. Hill v. Buckminster, 5 Pick. 391. Hampton v. Blake- Consideraley, 3 M'Cord, 469. M'Creary v. Jaggers, Ib. 473, note (a). Nixon v. English, Ib. 549. tion when Thompson v. Hale, 6 Pick. 259. A promissory note made on the 3d September, 1817, payable a Defence. on demand, and indorsed on the 25th of May, 1818, is to be deemed over-due, and subject, in the hands of the indorsee, to all infirmities. Nevins r. Townsend, 6 Conn. Rep. 5. But a promissory note given in consideration of the sale of pews, followed with possession by the vendee, cannot be avoided on the ground that the vendor refuses to convey;—I he remedy is by compelling a performance. Freligh v. Platt, 5 Cowen, 494. And the want of consideration may in like manner be set up in an action by a second indorsee against his immediate indorser. Herrick v. Carman, 10 John. Rep. 224. But that a note was made for the accommodation of the maker, and without consideration, is no defence in an action by a bona fide holder for a valuable consideration against an indorser, although he had knowledge of the fact at the time he took the bill. Brown v. Mott, 7 John. Rep. 361. Nor if the action were against an acceptor for the accommodation of the drawer, would the like defence avail, Ibid; nor, as it should seem, even if the holder took the bill after it was due. Ibid. But if the indorser of a promissory note prove that it was put into circulation fraudulently, he may call upon the holder to show what he gave for it, and how it came into his hands. And the indorser is entitled to give such proof, in order to require such explanation from the holder. Holme v. Kursper, 5 Bin. Rep. 469. See also Ball v. Allen, 15 Mass. 438. See also Braman v. Hess, 13 John. Rep. 52, and Olinstead v. Stewart, 13 John. Rep. 238. See Stockbridge v. Damon, 5 Pick. 223.

A promissory note whereby A. "as administrator of P. B. deceased, promised to pay" the plaintiff a certain sum, " for value received by J. B. and heirs, on demand, with lawful interest until paid," has, on demurrer to the declaration, been held void for want of a sufficient consideration. Ten Eyck v. Vanderpool, 8 John. Rep. 120. And a note made in aid of a fund for the support of a minister of a parish has also been adjudged void for want of consideration. Rontelle v. Cowden, 9 Mass. Rep. 254. A note given by a devisor, in his lifetime, to secure a devisoe in the will against the alteration or revocation of the will, is without consideration and void. Winchell v. Lutham, 6 Cowen, 682.

The consideration of a promissory note, may be inquired into as between the original parties, and if there is no consideration for the promise, it is nudum pactum and cannot be enforced by an action. Schoonmaker v. Rose, 17 Johns. 301. Loffland r. Russell, Wright's Rep. 438.

When a promissory note is assigned for a valuable consideration, and in the course of business, the assignee cannot be affected by any transactions between the assignor and the parties to such note, to which the assignee is not privy, and evidence to that effect is not relevant. But such evidence is relevant if it shows that the assignee was a trustee or had notice of the transactions, or did not receive the note in the usual course of business. Harrisburgh Bank v. Meyer, 6 Serge & Rawle, 537.

It has been lately decided in Pennsylvania, that although by an act of assembly passed in the'\ year 1715, the indorsee of a promissory note is to recover "the money mentioned in such note, or so much thereof as shall appear to be due at the time of assignment;" yet if the note be expressly made payable, "without defalcation" and be transferred to an indersee for a valuable consideration and in the course of business, the maker cannot set up failure of consideration, in a suit by the indorsee. Lewis v. Reeder, 9 Serg. & Rawle, 193.

The holder of a note payable to A. B. or bearer, in order to maintain an action upon it, a ust aver and prove that the note was delivered to him for a good consideration. Byington v. Ged dings, Ohio Rep. Cond. 333.

In an action between the indorser and indorsee the consideration may always be inquired into; and the indorsee cannot recover beyond the extent of the consideration actually paid. Brock v.

In Indiana a note for the payment of a certain sum annually until certain deeds should be executed is, under the statute of that State, like a promissory note under the statute of Anne, a debt Fer se, and may be declared on without the averment of any consideration. Arnold v. I'rown, 3 Blackf. 273.

In an action on a promissory note against the maker by an indersee, to whom it was endorsed before it became payable, and without any notice of a defence, in payment of a pre-existing debt, want of consideration or the failure of it, cannot be given in evidence in defence. Homes v. Smyth, 16 Maine Rep. 177. Nor in an action by subsequent holder to whom it has passed by the indorsee, though the note was thus indorsed on a collateral security for a demand short of its nominal value. Smith r. Hiscock, 14 Maine Rep. 449.

But where a negotiable note has been assigned, but not indorsed, proof by the maker, that there was no consideration, or that the note was fraudulently obtained by the payee, is admissible. Calder r. Billington, 15 Maine Rep. 398.

A promissory note executed without consideration, and with a view to protect the maker's property from his creditors cannot be enforced against the maker by the proces. Walker v. Mc-Connica 10 Yerg. 228.

Where a partner procured a note to be made to his firm as accommodation paper, and trans-

ŒĽ

TOTAL !

2000

33

30.

7.

20

131

ú. .

371

3, 7]

7279.1

63.1

L j

Fit

23. $r_{1/2},$

3.4

جو ا

۳. ۽

٠.,.

"T.

F m Project 1

ť.

571

•E 4

11 mideration.

First. Want of Consideration when

I. Adequa- commodation acceptance (i). And it should seem that although the defendcy of Con- ant is at liberty to prove the want, or failure, or illegality of the consideration, yet when the bill or note on the face of it states an adequate consideration, the defendant is estopped from showing a different consideration, in contradiction to his written admission, as that a note, given by an adminitratrix, and expressed to be "for value received by my late husband," was • Defence, given only as an indemnity, and that the payee had not been damnified(k).

*However, in general, between the original parties, or a holder who has not given full value, the defendant is at liberty to show that he drew, accepted, indorsed, or made the bill or note, for the accommodation of the plaintiff, or of one of them, or of a person for whom he is trustee, who either expressly or impliedly engaged to provide for the bill(l); or the defendant may show that he received no consideration, or none that was in point of law adequate, and thus may entirely defeat the action or reduce the claim. Therefore, where the defendant accepted a bill for the accommodation of the plaintiff, except as to a part(m); and where the plaintiff, as indorsee, had only advanced a part of the money payable by the bill, accepted for the indorser's

(i) Mills v. Barber, 1 M. & W. 425, S. C.; 5 Dowl. 77; 2 Gale, 5; and see Percival v. Frampton, 2 C., M. & R. 180; 3 Dowl. 748, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. V. s. i. Evidence .-Consideration.

(k) Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. Rep. 84; 1 Cromp. & J. 231, (Chit. jun. 1518); and see per Purke, B., in Edwards v. Jones, 2 M. & W. 414, 418, 419, and the cases post, Ch. V. s. i., as to parol evidence of a contingent bargain or agreement to renew. It is a sufficient consideration for a promissory note that it be given by a widow out of respect to the memory of her late husband. Ridout v. Bristow, supra. But in such case it must appear on the face of the record that the maker of the note was the wife of the deceased; Nelson et ux. (late Waterworth) v. Serle (in error), 4 M. & W. 795; 3 Jurist, 290, S. C.; and upon this ground the judgment of the Court of Exchequer in Serle v. Waterworth, 4 M. & W. 9; 6 Dowl. 684, S. C., was reversed. If the wife be also administratrix of her deceased husband there may be a good consideration in the nature of forbearance; id. ib.

(1) Darnell v. Williams, 2 Stark. Rep. 166, (Chit. jun. 998); Wiffen v. Roberts, I Esp. Rep. 261, (Chit. jun. 536); Jones v. Hibbert, 2 Stark. Rep. 304, (Chit. jun. 1009); -Adams and others, Youngo's Ex. Rep. 117; Sparrow v. Chisman, 9 Barn. & C. 304; 4 M. & R. 206, (Chit. jun. 1422); Richmond v. Heapy, 1 Stark. Rep. 202; 4 Campb. 207, (Chit. jun. 952); Jacaud v. French, 12 East, 823, (Chit. jun. 789); Sandilands v. Marsh, 2 B. & Al. 673; Rapp v. Latham, id. 795; Puller v. Roe, Peake's Rep. 197, (Chit. jun. 511); and per Lord Tenterden in Jones v. Yates, 9 Barn. & C. 539, (Chit. jun. 1433); Thompson v. Clubley, 1 M. & W. 212; post, 71, 72; and see Baylis v. Ringer, 7 C. & P.

691, as to agreement not to sue suddenly on note payable on demand.

(m) Darnell v. Williams, 2 Stark. Rep. 166, (Chit. jun. 998); Payee against accepter of a bill for 191. 12s. Defendant proved that he had value only for 101., and that he accepted for the rest to accommodate the plaintiffs. And per Lord Ellenborough, "though this, as to third persons, is a bill for 191. 12s., as between these parties the acceptance is for 10t. only," and that sum having been paid before the action, he nonsuited the plaintiff; see Barber r. Backhouse, Peake's R. 61; post, 78, note (i). In Homan r. Thompson, 6 C. & P. 717, it was agreed between the plaintiff and defendant and H. that the defendant should make his note for 20/, and that the plaintiff should draw on his banker for 201. and pay in this note, and the plaintiff was to have 71. 12s. and the two others 61. 4s. each. The meney was thus procured, and the defendant not wanting his 61. 4s. let H. have it. It was at first agreed, that when the note became due they should contribute their respective shares to meet it; but H. told the plaintiff afterwards that he would provide 121. Ss. towards it; held (per Parke, B.) that if the defendant gave this note for the accommodation of the pluistiff and II., the plaintiff would not be entitled to recover on it; but that if the plaintiff was to advance 20%. and receive 71. 12s. as a gift, the plaintiff would be entitled to recover the whole of the 201. on the note; held also, that if the defendant was to be only security for 121. 8s. he would be liable only to that amount; and that if each was to repay his own share, the plaintiff could only recover 61. 4s. from the defendant; and that H. saying afterwards that he would pay 121. 9s. would make no difference, unless the plaintiff then made a new bargain to release the defendant from liability altogether.

ferred it for his sole benefit in the partnership name, the holder was, on proof of the manner in which the note was created and put in circulation, required to show that he received it bona fide and for a valuable consideration. Bank of St. Albans v. Gilliland, 28 Wend. 811. }

2.32

L. . . .

10 N

. . . 432

4: 4:

12.

827

MY.

11

7875

(A) 7

1.1

3. 2

i~ 7

1(1 12)

110

ان راز

19 . 12

į į

y f

- t

47

, 5

43

e.

,5

Ç

.

12

accommodation(n), neither was allowed to recover more than he had ad- I. Adequavanced. So in an action on a bill for 981. 5s. 3d. by a second indorsee cy, of Conagainst the acceptor, where the pleadings admitted that the acceptance and first indorsement were without consideration, and the issue was whether the First. plaintiff gave value for the indorsement to him; and the plaintiff, instead of Want of Considerarelying on the mere production of the bills, gave evidence of a debt to tion when the amount of 571. due to him from the first indorser, and of another debt a Defence. to the amount of 201. 18s. due to him from his immediate indorser for goods sold, it was held that he was entitled to a *verdict only for the latter amount [*71] (o). And in an action on a note payable on demand, and expressed to be for value received, brought by the executors of A. against the executors of B., where the defendants adduce evidence to show that B. being very ill made his will, and stated that he had left A. 100l. for his trouble in acting as his executor; that three days after A. said to B. that as he was to have 100l. for acting as his executor, it would save the legacy duty if B. would then sign a promissory note for the amount, which B. accordingly did; and that B. recovered and A. died in the lifetime of B.; it was held, that the evidence was admissible, as showing a total failure of consideration, and that the executors of A. were not entitled to recover on the note (p). where an action is brought by several plaintiffs, whether or not general partners, as indorsees, against an acceptor, it is a good defence to show that the acceptance was given to accommodate one of them, or on his promise to provide for the bill, and the innocent co-plaintiffs, however defrauded by this partner, cannot recover at law or in equity (q); and where the defendant accepted bills, at the request of C. and D. for their accommodation, and C., being with E. and F., co-executors of G., and co-trustees of his estate, for the benefit of infants, discounted the bills out of the trust-money in C.'s hands, and indorsed the bills in C. and D.'s names, and deposited such bills in a strong chest with the other trust securities, and C. and D.

(n) Wiffen v. Roberts, 1 Esp. Rep. 261 (Chit. jun. 586), per Lord Kenyon, "Where a bill of exchange is given for money really due from the drawes to the drawer, or is drawn in the regular course of business, in such case the indorsee, though he has not given the in-dorser the full amount of the bill, yet may recover the whole, and be holder of the overplus above the sum really paid to the use of the indorser; but where the bill is an accommodation one, and that known to the indorses, and he pays but part of the amount, in such case he can only recover the sum he has actually paid on the bill." See Jones v. Hibbert, 2 Stark. C. N. P. 304, (Chit. jun. 1009); there defendant accepted a bill for 4151., to accommodate Phillips & Co, who indorsed to their bankers, the plaintiffs, for value, and became bankrupts. The bankers knew it to be an accommodation acceptance, and their demand against Phillips & Co. was only 2651. In an action by them upon this acceptance it was held, that they could recover only that sum, and they had a verdict accordingly; and see Nash v. Brown, MS. post, 74, n. (x); but see Reid v. Furnival, 1 C. & M. 538; post, 79, 80; as to the right of a party who has guaranteed part only of a bill to sue for the whole amount; and Edwards v. Jones, 2 M & W. 414, post, 79, as to the right of a holder for part value to recover full amount, notwithstanding agreement between parties not to sue except on certain terms.

(o) Simpson v. Clarke, 2 C., M. & R. 342; 1 Gale, 237, S. C. That the plaintiff was not bound to prove consideration until the defendant had first made out a case of fraud or suspicion, see Mills v. Barber, 1 M. & W. 425; ante, 69, note (i).

(p) Solly v. Hinde, 2 C. & M. 516; 6 C. & P. 316, S. C.; see further as to the delivery of a bill or note by way of gift, past 74 a bill or note by way of gift, post, 74.

(q) Sparrow and others v. Chisman, 9 B. & C. 241; 4 M. & R. 206, (Chit. jun. 1422). Action by plaintiffs as indorsees of two bills for 1500l. each, drawn by Peckover, one of the plaintiffs, indorsed by him to himself and coplaintiffs, against the defendant as acceptor. The defendant accepted for accommodation of Peckover, who engaged to pay them, and a verdict having been found for the plaintiffs, a new trial was granted, on the ground that as Peckover was to have provided for the bills, he and his co-partners were precluded from joining in an attempt to enforce payment from the defendant; and see Richmond v. Heapy, 1 Stark. Rep. 262; 4 Campb. 207, (Chit. jun. 952); Jacaud v. French, 12 East, 323, (Chit. jun. 789); Sandilands v. Marsh, 2 Barn. & Ald. 673; Rapp v. Latham, id. 795; Puller v. Roe, Peake's Rep. 117; and Lord Tenterden's observations in Jones v. Yatos, 9 B. & C. 539, S. P.; 4 M. & R. 613, (Chit. jun. 1432).

M.

3 31

a:

E.J

#FI

20.2

¥ (45.)

總 2

7:14

11.

72

4.

4

18.1

34

sideration.

First. Want of Consideration when

I. Adequa- became bankrupts, a court of equity granted a perpetual injunction, to stay cy of Con- proceedings in an action by C. E. and F. as indorsees, against the defendant as acceptor, because C., one of the plaintiffs, was bound to provide for the payment of the bills; and that the circumstance of C. being a trustee made no difference even in equity (r); and the assignees of such parties, in case they have become bankrupt, are equally subject to the same defence(s). So it a Defence, is a good defence to an action against the drawer, that at the time when the plaintiff discounted the bill he verbally agreed, in case it was dishonoured, not to proceed against the drawer, although the act of drawing prima face amounts to an absolute contract to pay in default of the acceptor(t). And in an action by the indorsee against the acceptor of a bill, it is competent to *72] the defendant to show that the *acceptance was for the accommodation of the plaintiff, and that he has received no consideration from the drawer, and that it was agreed that the bill when due should be taken up by the planuiff(u).

Delivery of Bill for special purpose.

So where a bill has been delivered to a person for a special purpose, be and all persons taking the same with knowledge of the facts must fulfil it; as where a bill has been received by the plaintiff to get discounted, he cannot apply it to his own use in satisfaction of a debt(x); and if he pays it away in discharge of a debt of his own, he will be liable to the party from whom he received it, the same as if he had discounted the bill(y). So where a bill was drawn by A. and accepted by B. for the purpose of being discounted, and having the proceeds applied to the payment of other bills accepted by B., but the other bills, before they became due, were paid by B., who directed A. to hold the first-mentioned bill for his B.'s use, and not to part with it without authority, but A. for his own purposes indorsed it to C. for a valuable consideration, having first informed the latter that it belonged to B., and that he A. had no authority to part with it; it was held that the property in the bill was in B., and that he (although the acceptor of it) might, under these circumstances, maintain an action of trover for the bill against C., and obtain a verdict for damages to the full amount of the bill, subject to be reduced to nominal damages on delivering up the bill(z). And if A., the payee of a bill of exchange, delivers it to H. to get it discounted, and H. takes it to B., who refuses to discount it unless H. will indorse it, which he does, and B. then discounts the bill, but pays over only a portion of the proceeds, and procures it to be discounted; A., after being compelled to take up the bill at maturity, may sue B. for the balance left unpaid, and the question for the jury is, whether A. was in fact the owner of the bill, and not whether H. had so represented him to be in discounting the bill with And where an attorney received a promissory note from the father of a clerk articled to him as his fee for taking him, on an undertaking that the note should not be negotiated until the expiration of a certain period, ⁻ v. Adams and others, 1 Younge's (r) — v. Ad Eq. Ex. Rep. 117.

⁽s) Johnson v. Peck, 3 Stark. Rep. 66, ⁽Chit. jun. 1112).

(t) Per Lord Tenterden, C. J. in Pike r. Sweet, 1 Dans. & Lloyd, 159, (Chit. jun. 1410).

⁽u) Thompson v. Clubley, 1 Mee. & Wels.

⁽x) Delauncy v. Mitchel, 1 Stark. Rep. 489. (Chit. jun. 976); post, 76; Puget v. Forbee, 1 Esp. Rep. 117, (Chit. jun. 510); post, 76; and the observations of Lord Eldon in Smith v.

Knox, 3 Esp. R. 46, (Chit. jun. 617); post, 80, note (d). In an action by indorsee defendant must show distinctly by his plea that he never received any value; Noel v. Rich, 2 Cr. M. & Ros. 360; post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas; as to relief in Equity, &c. see post, s. 3 and Ch. VI. s. ii.

⁽y) Oughton r. West, 2 Stark. Rep. 321. (z) Evans v. Kymer and another, 1 Bar. &

Adol. 528, (Chit. jan. 1512) (a) Bastable v. Poole, 1 Cro., M. & Ros. 410; 5 Tyrw. 111, S. C.

and he did negotiate it contrary to his undertaking, the court compelled him 1. Adeto take it up(b). Considera-

In general there will be a sufficient defence between the original parties when the bill or note was obtained by duress(c), or by fraud(d)(1), or *by First. Want of circumvention, and whilst the defendant was in a state of intoxication(e); or Want or Consideraby false pretence that the party would do something which he immediately tion. afterwards declared he would not perform (f), or where there has been Durens, no consideration(g), or only the semblance of it; as where there had &c. been an agreement all on one side, as in partial restraint of trade without [*73] any adequate consideration, and the note was given in satisfaction of breaches of such agreement for which in law the defendant was not liable to be sued(h), or where there has been a consideration only for a part(i).

So an engagement to pay, whether implied from the mere act of drawing, accepting, or indorsing, or express, may, it seems, be resisted between the original parties if it was gratuitous and not founded on adequate consideration(2). Neither affection nor gratitude, nor an intention to avoid the leg-where bills have been deposited with an attorney, and he has advanced money on them, and he refuses to account, the court will not compel him summarily to pay over the alleged balance; Ex parte Schwalbanker, 1 Dowl. P. C. 182. (c) Duncan v. Scott, 1 Campb. 100, (Chit.

14

23.8

- 17

lr:

26%

۲.

116

اليقر

į,

14

٠.

J

jun. 742). Indorsee against drawer of bill. The defendant gave the bill while under duress abroad, and under a threat of personal violence and confiscation of his property, and without consideration. Lord Ellenborough held, that the defendant not having been a free agent when he drew the bill, it was incumbent on the plaintiff to give some evidence of consideration, and no such evidence being given, the plaintiff was nonsuited. See also Thom. on Bills, 123. plea of duress, and no consideration, is bad for duplicity, although the latter defence be badly pleaded; Stevens v. Underwood, 6 Scott, 402, post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

(d) Rees v. Marquis Headford, 2 Campb. 574, (Chit. jun. 823). Indorsee against acceptor. The drawer had received no consideration for the bill, and had been tricked out of it by a gross fraud. Lord Ellenborough held that this made it incumbent on the plaintiff to show what consideration he gave for the bill, and not doing so was nonsuited; and see Grew v. Bevan,

8 Stark. 134, (Chit. jun. 1147). Ledger v. Ewer, Peake, R. 216, (Chit. jun. 530); post, 79, note (t). So if a trader get a bill by fraud, and become a bankrupt, it will not belong to the assignees, but to the party de-frauded, especially if there was a promise to return it before the bankruptcy; Gladstone v. Hadwen, 1 M. & Sel. 517, (Chit. jun. 886);

(b) Ex parte Gardner, 2 Dowl. 520. But and even without such promise, Noble v. here bills have been deposited with an attor- Adams, 7 Taunt. 59. But mere imbecility of mind affords no defence, unless there was fraud; ante, 19, note (x). As to pleading fraud, see Connop v. Holmes, 2 C., M. & R. 719, post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

(e) Pitt v. Smith, 3 Campb. 33; Gregory v. Frazer, 3 Campb. 454, (Chit. jun. 899); Intoxication is no defence unless fraud also; Northam v. Latouche, 4 C. & P. 140, ante, 18, note (u).

(f) Wienholt v. Spitter, 3 Campb. 376. (Chit. jun. 890). See the case, post, 76.

note (g).
(g) Duncan v. Scott, 1 Campb. 100, (Chit. jun. 742). Ante, 72, note (c).

(h) Young v. Timmins, 1 Cromp. & Jerv. 831; 1 Tyrw. 226, (Chit. jun. 1533). But see the meaning of "adequate consideration," as explained in Hitchcock v. Coker, 6 Ad. & El. 438; 1 N. & P. 796, S. C.; post, 94, note.

(i) Barber v. Backhouse, Peake, Rep. 6., (Chit. jun. 482). In an action on a bill of exchange by the payee, the defendant paid part of the money into court, and it appeared upon the trial that there was no consideration for the other part; Law, however, arged that the payment of the money into court admitted the bill was good for part, and if it was good for part it was good in toto; but Lord Kenyon declared himself clearly of a contrary opinion, upon which the jury found for the defendant, and this case being afterwards mentioned by Lord Kenyon in the course of argument, Law said he was perfectly satisfied with the decision. See Darnell v. Williams, 2 Stark. R. 166, ante, 70, note (m).

(1) { Fallis v. Griffith, Wright, 303. Loffland v. Russell, Idem, 439. Donelson v. Clements, 1 Meigs, 156, 7. }

^{(2) \} As to what is, or is not, an adequate consideration, see the following cases. Kellogg v. Curtis, 9 Pick. 584; Knight v. Priest, 2 Verm. 507; Lapham v. Barret, 1 Idem, 247; Moar v. Wright, Idem, 57; Haven v. Hobbs, Idem, 288; Wentworth v. Wentworth, 5 N. Hamp. 410; Corbery v. Boyle, 20 Louis. Rep. 180; Fenney v. Prince, 7 Pick. 248; Kempton v. Coffin, 12 Idem, 129; Eaton v. Carey, 10 Idem, 211; Vadakin v. Soper, 1 Aikin, 287; Bates v. Starr, 2 Verm. 586; Hall v. Conetant, 2 Hall, 185; White v. Dewilt, Idem, 405; O'Keson v. Barclay, 2 Penn. 581; Aldridge v. Turner, 1 Gill & John. 427; Parker v. Crane, 6 Wend. 647; Seaman v.

76.

10

100

2:1

36 1

X. :

Lif.

419.

.

X

2.

Ŀ

1: 1

- 1

sideration.

I. Adequa- acy duty, constitute sufficient considerations, and if they alone were the cy of Con- considerations, the bill or note cannot be enforced against the maker or his personal representative, unless when in the hands of a bond fide holder for value(k).

First. Want of Consideration when a Defence. What a sufficient tion.

But the debt of a third person(l)(1), or forbearance to his *representative (m), or a debt barred by the statute of limitations(n), or by bankruptcy and certificate(o), or even a mere moral or honorary obligation(p)(2), or respect to the memory of a deceased husband (q), is an adequate consideration. Considera- So an exchange of securities, as of acceptances, where each cross acceptor engages to pay his own acceptances, although there was no other debt or consideration between the parties, constitutes an adequate consideration, and neither party can, in that case, resist the performance of his engagement to > (k) Holliday v. Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 501, post, 74, note (x). See also Seton v. Seton, 2 Bro. C. C. 610, post, 75, in notes.

(1) Popplewell v. Wilson, in error, 1 Stra. 264, (Chit. jun. 243); cited in Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. 84, ante, 69, note (k), and see Coomb v. Ingram, 4 D. & R. 210, (Chit. jun. 1206). The statute against frauds, 29 Car. 2, c. 8, enacts, that " no action shall be brought whereby to charge the defendant upon any special promise to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of another person, unless the agreement shall be in writing, and signed by the party to be charged;" and the decisions on that act require that the writing shall state the consideration of the promise; Wain v. Walters, 5 East, 10. But although a bill or note does not express the consideration of the engagement it is valid, because this was a mercantile instrument in force before the statute of frauds; and secondly, because the engagement of each party to a bill or note is an original undertaking for himself, and not a promise for the debt of another, although it may have the effect of discharging the debt of a third person. See also Roscoe on Bills, 386. Lord Holt, who, it will be remembered, was a strenuous opposer of promissory notes, and occasioned the 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9, in A. D. 1710, shortly after passing that act contended that a note to pay so much upon account of the maker's mother was invalid, and that notes could be only given for the debt of the maker. But the plaintiff re-covered. The report concluding, "In this case, Holt, C J. directed a verdict for the plaintiff, but under control, and ordered the postea to be stayed;" Garnet r. Clarke, 11 Mod. 226, (Chit. jun. 229).

(m) Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. Rep. 84; 1 Cromp. & J. 231, S. C., ante, 69, note (k).

(n) Hyleing v. Hastings, Ld. Raym. 339; Dean v. Crane, 6 Mod. 309; Quantock v. England, Burr. 2630; Bla. Rep. 703, S. C.; Cowp.

(o) Trueman v. Fenton, Cowp. 544, (Chit. jun. 895); Birch v. Sharland, 1 T. R. 715; Cowp. 290; Brix v. Braham, 1 Bing. 281; 8 Moore, 261, (Chit. jun. 1184); 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 131; 1 Mont. 173; when not, Rose v. Main, 1 Bing. N. C. 357, post, sec. ii. Illegality of Consideration. And see as to discharge under Insolvent Act, 7 Geo. 4, s. 1, post, Part II. Ch. VIII.

(p) Hawkes v. Saunders, Cowp. 290; Lee v. Muggeridge, 5 Taunt. 36; Gibb v. Merrill, 3 Taunt. 311. But semble, that a moral obligation is not in every case a sufficient consideration for a promise; Littlefield v. Shee, 2 B. & Ad. 811.

(q) Ante, 69, note (k).

and void. Rogers v. Waters, 2 Gill & John. Rep. 64.

The fact that a note was payable at a future day, where it appeared that it was made for the purpose of closing an account, for which the maker was not responsible independent of the note. does not furnish the slightest presumption that forbearance was purchased by it; for nothing is more common than the closing of accounts by passing notes payable at future days, without the consideration of forbearance being thought of Ib.

(2) A moral obligation is a sufficient consideration for an express promise. Glass v. Beach, 5 Verm. Rep. 172.

But to make one liable on a promise founded on a moral obligation, it must appear that the obligation is strictly and undoubtedly of such a character. Hawley v. Farrar, 1 Verm. 420.

Seaman, 12 Idem, 391; Sowerwein v. Jones, 7 Gill & John. 335; Dickinson v. Hall, 14 Pick. 217; Parish v. Stone, Idem, 198; Nelson v. Serle, 4 Mee. & Wels. 795; Trask v. Vinson, 20

A promise by one person to indemnify another for becoming a guarantor for a third, is not within the statute of frauds; such promise need not be in writing, and the assumption of the responsibility, is a sufficient consideration for the promise. Chapin v. Merritt, 4 Wend. Rep. 657.

A promissory note given by a member of the vestry of a church, for a debt due, not by him in his individual character, but by the vestry, a corporate body of which he was a member, without any consideration moving to himself, is a promise to pay the debt of another, without consideration honour his own acceptances (r)(1), and the incurring a liability for the debt I. Adequaor default of another, either as a surety or otherwise, is an adequate considery of Coneration, and entitles the party subject to such liability to sue upon any bills sideration. or notes in his possession, however numerous and extensive, until his liabili- First. ty has been completely discharged; and, therefore, where a banker's accept- Want of ances for his customer exceeded the cash balance in his hands, and accommodation acceptances were deposited with the banker by the customer as a Defence. collateral security, it was held at Nisi Prius, that whenever the banker's acceptances exceeded the cash balance the bankers held the collateral bills for value(s).

So if a bill or note be indorsed as a collateral security, that is an adequate consideration to enable the party to sue thereon, though he advanced no new credit on the bill or note(t).

It appears to have been doubted whether a bill, note or check, delivered As a gift by the maker to the payee as a gift, and without any adequate consideration, (*). but intended by him to be paid, can be enforced as against the donor or his personal representative; but it seems now to be settled that it cannot (x).

(r) Rolfe v. Casion, 2 H. Bla. 571, (Chit. jun. 551); Kent v. Lowen, 1 Campb. 179, note, (Chit. jun. 746); Hornblower v. Proud, 2 B. & Ald. 327, (Chit. jun. 1049); Spooner v. Gardiner, R. & M. 84, (Chit. jun. 1211).

. * P

40477

100

23

900-1

5 V 6

11.22

, te-

181

1914

3# 1

: 5

, . ,

(s) Posanquet v. Dudman, I Stark. R. 1, (Chit. jun. 904); and Bolland r. Bygrave, Ry. & M. 271, (Chit. jun. 1272); Heywood v. Watson, 4 Bing. 496.

(t) Heywood r. Watson, 4 Bing. 496; 1 Moore & P. 268, (Chit. jun. 1374).

(u) As to the delivery of a bill, &c., as donatio mortis caus' see ante, 2, note (e); and see cases in equity as to imperfect gifts, Cotteen v. Missing, 1 Madd. Rep. 176; Adams v. Claxton, 6 Ves. 226; Howper v. Goodwin, 1 Swanst. 495.

(x) In Nush v. Brown, sittings at Westminster, Trin. 1317, a bill of exchange was accepted by the defendant as a present to the payee, who indorsed it to the plaintiff for a small sum advanced to him. And Lord Ellenborough held that the plaintiff was only entitled to recover so much as he had actually advanced on the bill.

Holliday r. Atkinson, 5 B. & C. 501; 8 Dowl. & Ryl. 163, (Chit. jun. 1290). A promissory note was given by a testator to the plaintiff, an infant aged only nine years, for 1001., payable six months after dute, and expressed to be for value received; and in an action by such payee against the executors of the maker, no evidence of consideration being given, the judge told the jury that the note being for value received, imported that a good consideration existed, and that gratitude to the infant's father, or affection to the child, or an intention to evade the legacy duty, would suffice; the court granted a new trial, on the ground that this was a misdirection, because though the jury might have presumed that a good consideration was given, yet that those pointed out were insufficient, and it seems to have considered that an intention to evade the legacy duty would not have been a good consideration. And per Abbott, C. J., "I agree that where a note is expressed to be for value received, that raises a presumption of a legal consideration sufficient to austain the promise, but that is a presumption only, and may be rebutted. Now we find that this note was given to a boy only nine years old, whose father was living, and that the donor was in a state of imbecility, and not far from his death. It then became a question for the jury, whether the note was given upon any legal consideration, and I think that the direction given to them as to the sufficiency of gratitude to the father or affection to the son was improper. As at present advised, I should also think that the intention to avoid the legacy duty would not be sufficient, for then the note would not be payable until after the donor's death, and a promissory note is not good as a donatio mortis causa. But if a second verdict should be founded on the latter consideration, the question may be put upon the record." Rule absolute. The cause was not tried again, a compromise having taken place between the parties.

In Woodbridge v. Spooner, 3 B. & Ald.
285; 2 Chit. Rep. 661, (Chit. jnn. 1073), it seems to have been considered that a note given "for value received, and his kindness to me," was valid; but there it will be observed the first part of the sentence denoted an adequate consideration.

In Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jun. 111, (Chit.

⁽¹⁾ If the maker of a note gives the holder a new note, with another surety, and takes up the old one, he cannot when called on for payment, enter into the original consideration, because he has by his act, induced the holder to surrender the right which he had against the indorser, who was responsible on the original instrument. The surrender of that security is a good consideration for the new obligation. Coco v. Latour, 4 Miller's Louisiana Rep. 507.

Œij

12.3

50

H.

Till

:. >

. 👬

- 🗘

4 (

I. Ade-Considera-

First. Want of Consideration when a Defence.

And therefore a bill indorsed by way of *gift does not subject the indorser to an action at the suit of the indorsee (y). And in a case in equity, it was held, that no absolute gift to take effect immediately cannot be considered as donatio mortis causa, and therefore that such gift of a common check on a banker payable to bearer, and of the party's own promissory note, was not donatio mortis causa, or an appointment or disposition in nature of it, *and was not capable of any greater effect in equity than at law; and it was accordingly ordered, that the bill, as to the check, should be dismissed without prejudice to any action; and as to the note, it being doubted whether an action would lie against the executor for want of consideration, the court of fered to retain the bill, if an account was necessary (z)(1). But although jun. 510); 4 Bro. C. C. 236, ed. by Belt, Lord Loughborough would not decide that a note was invalid which was delivered as a gift.

Formerly such a bill or note seems to have been considered to be available, Williamson and Ux. v. Losh, Executor, MS. Ashurst, J., Paper Books, 19th vol. 54, Mich. Term, 16 Geo. 8, cited 7 T. R. 851. This was an action of assumpsit against the defendant, as executor of John Losh, deceased, upon the following promissory note:--" I, John Losh, for the love and affection that I have for Jane Tiffin, my wife's sister's daughter, do promise that my executors, administrators, or assigns, shall pay to her the sum of 100%. of money, one year after my decease, and a caldron and a clock, a wainscoat chest, and a bed and bed-clothes, seven pudden dishes: as witness my hand, this 16th day of February, 1763. Witnessed by us, A. B., C. D." Jane Tiffin afterwards intermarried with the plaintiff. Upon the trial a verdict was found for the plaintiff, and a case The defendant admitted he had reserved. proved the will, and had assets sufficient to cover the damages, but contended that there was no consideration in point of law, and that the note could not be recovered upon, and that as the testator was not bound, the executor was not. The court held that the instrument being in writing, and attested by witnesses, the objection of nudum pactum did not lie, and ordered the posten to the plaintiff. This case was afterwards observed upon by Lord Chief Baron Skynner, in delivering the opinion of the judges in Rann v. Hughes, 7 T. R. 351, when he intimated, that so far as this case went on the doctrine of nudum pactum, it was erroneous. It is further observable, that in Williamson v. Mosh the note was void as a promissory note, because it was for the delivery of goods besides the payment of money, and consequently, unless it was founded on a sufficient consideration, it was invalid; and see observations on Rann v. Hughes in Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyr. R. 84; 1 Cro. & J. 231, (Chit. jun. 1518).

Seton r. Seton, 2 Bro. C. C. 610. The mother of the plaintiff made a promissory note for 95001., and delivered it to a trustee, as a provision for a child of which she was then pregnant; she afterwards filed her bill to have the note delivered up; the child, who was then born, together with the trustee, filed their cross bill to have the agreement entered into by the note carried into execution. Upon general demurrer to the bill for want of equity, the court held it was not sufficiently nudum pactum to allow the demurrer.

In Disher v. Disher, 1 P. Wms. 204, (Chit. jun. 230), where the testator, though in no respect indebted to his brother, had signed a note by which he had acknowledged himself indebted to his brother in 50001. and always kept it in his own custody, and the brother knew nothing of it at the time it was signed, and at the testator's death it was found among his papers, it was held to be a matter merely initiate or intended and never perfected, and consequently as no debt at all.

(y) Easton v. Pratchett, 1 C., M. & R. 798; S. C. 3 Dowl. 472; 1 Gale, 33; et per Lord Abinger, C. B. in delivering the judgment of the court; In C., M. & R. 808, 809. "If a man give money as a gratuity, it cannot be recovered back, because the act is complete; yet a man who promises to give money cannot be sued on such promise; and if so, I do not see how a promise in writing, not under seal, can have any binding effect. The law makes no difference between such a promise and a verbal one. There is she same distinction as to a bill of exchange. If a party gives to another a ne-gotiable instrument on which other parties are liable, the man who makes the gift cannot recover the bill back, and the man to whom the bill is given may recover against the other parties on the bill; but it is a very different question whether the giver kinds himself by the indorsement so as to make himself liable thereupon to the Terson to uhom he gives it. There is no decision that he does, and there is a strong authority the other way, and the prevailing opinion in the profession is, that a parol promise of a gift, whether verbal or in writing, will not And see the same case in error, be binding." 2 C., M. & R. S-42; 4 Dowl. 5.19; 1 Gale, 250; 6 C. & P. 736. See also Solly r. Hinde, 2 C. & M. 516; ante, 71, note (p).

(2) Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jun. 111, (Chit. jun. 510); 4 Bro. C. C. 286, ed. by Belt, S. C.; but see Chaworth v. Peech, 4 Ves. 585.

the maker, it is competent for the defendant to give in evidence that the assignment was made

⁽¹⁾ If an order not amounting to a bill of exchange is accepted by the drawee, without consideration, he is not bound, it being nudum pactum. Atkinson v. Manks, 1 Cowen. 602. In an action brought by the assignee in the name of the payee of a note not negotiable against as between the donor and donee the delivery of a bill or note by way of gift I. Adequawill not operate so as to subject the former to an action at the suit of the cy of Conlatter, yet such delivery will afford no answer to the other parties to the bill or note in an action by the donee or his indorser; nor will it be a defence Want of to the donor after it has passed into the hands of a bon'i fide holder for val- Considera-ue(a). A subsequent failure of the consideration for which a bill or note has a Defence. been given, either in the whole (b)(1) or in part, when of definite amount (c), Subsesuch as the non-performance of a condition precedent(d), will frequently, be- quent tween the original parties, and if bankrupts, their assignees(e), and others of Conholding for them, or who have only advanced a part of the consideration, af-sideration.

ford a defence entirely or partially (f): and if a hill or check has been given tion when even on a verbal condition, which the drawer finds is to be broken or eluded, he has a right to stop the payment, and may defend an action thereon(g). (a) See Easton v. Pratchett, 1 C., M. & R.

798; ante, 75, note (y); Heydon v. Thompson, 3 Nev. & Man. 319, 324; 1 Ad. & El. 210, S. C.; Whitaker v. Edmunds, 1 Ad. & El. 688; post, Part II. Ch. V. s. i. Evidence.

-Consideration.

4

41.18

17:47

6 Y 16

2.1.2

. 72

45, 32

. . .

R

3.38.2 ya ->

445 . .

(-1,+2)

100

14 5

1. 2.

. 67

. ; . • *

100

150 28

54 4

134 (20⁶

v si

11.00

- .75

.

.

13.

, · ¥

g 1*

41

- 1 30

5*

y

्ट

٤, ,,

. ~

- 4

. 1

(b) See Jefferies r. Austen, Stra. 647; Puget de Bras v. F(rbes, 1 Esp. 117, ((hit. jun. 510); Jackson r. Warwick, 7 T. R. 121, (Chit. jun. 591); Grant v. Welchman, 16 N. P. 274. (Chit. jun. 291); Delauney v. Mitchel, 1 Stark. Rep. 439, (Chit. jun. 976). See also Solly v. Hinde, 2 C. & M. 516; 6 C. & P. 316, S. C.; ante, 71, note (p); Wells v. Hopkins, post, 77, note (m).

(c) See Day v. Nix, 9 Moore, 159, (Chit.

jan. 1210).

(d) Irving v. King, 4 Car. & P. 309, (Chit. jun. 1498); Evans v. Morgan, 2 C. & J. 453;

2 Tyr. 396, S. C.; post, 77, note (h).
(e) Ex parte M'Gae, 2 Rose, 376, (Chit. jun. 954); 19 Ves. 607; ante, 71, and post, 77, note (h).

(f) When partial failure of consideration affords a complete desence to an action for not accepting a bill for the price of goods sold, Head v. Baldrey, 2 Nev. & P. 217; 6 Ad. & El. 59, S. C.

(g) Wienholt r. Spitter, 3 Camp. 376, Action on a banker's check (Chit. jun. 890). drawn by the defendants for the sam of 5321. A house in Westphalia having received a sum of money on account of the plaintiff, directed the defendants, who were their correspondents in London, to pay it to him, but said they could not allow him interest upon it as they had made none themselves. This being communicated to the plaintiff, he at first insisted on interest, but finally agreed on having a check for the principal to give a receipt in full. He accordingly wrote such receipt, and received the check in question in exchange. Having got it into his hands, he said he should prosecute the house abroad for interest before the Chamber of Commerce at Paris. The defendants thereupon ordered payment of the check to be stopped.

Lord Ellenborough.—" If I give a draft upon a condition, and I find the condition is to be eluded, I may stop the payment. This was a conditional delivery of the draft. When it was delivered all still remained in fieri. The without consideration, and that he had paid the amount to the payer, although he had notice of the assignment previous to the payment. Dunning v. Hayward, 1 Green, 266.

(1) If a note be sold, the consideration stipulated to be paid for it may, in general be recovered, though the note prove to be of no value—but there is an implied warranty that it is genuine, and if it is forged, there is a failure of consideration, and there could be no recovery of that agreed to be paid for it. Marshall v. Peck, &c., 1 Dana Ken. Rep. 612.

Partial failure of the consideration of a note cannot be taken advantage of at law. Harlange.

Read, Ohio Rep. Cond. 578.

A total failure of the consideration of a note may be given in evidence under the general issue without notice; not so as to a partial failure. The People v. Ningara, C. P. 12 Wendell's Rep.

Where the only consideration of a promissory note was a promise by the payee to convey to the maker, on payment of the note, a tract of land if the payee should own it, and if not to buy it of the owner as cheap as he could and let the maker have it for what it should cost; and the payce died insolvent before the note became due, without any title to the land; it was held that the consideration of the note might be considered as having totally failed, and that the maker had a right to treat it as a nullity. Tillotson v. Graves, 4 N. Hamp. Rep. 444.

So, where a note is given for the purchase money of land, the title to which fails. Rice v. Goddard, 14 Pick. 293. See also Hartwell v. M'Beth, Har. Del. Rep. 368; Bowles v. Newby, 2 Blackf. 364; Loffand v. Russell, Wright, 438. But where the defendant relies on a plea of fail-are of consideration the onus probandi lies on him. Towsey v. Shook, 3 Blackf. 267. The holder of a negotiable note indorsed in blank, who possesses it in good faith and gave for it a valuable consideration, cannot be affected by any failure of consideration, between the parties to it and the original indorsee or holder, Hagan v. Caldwell, 15 Louis. Rep. 280; Alderson v. Chatham, 10 Yorg. 304. }

(Eu)

...

900

....

75 (12)

ક છો

377

211

* D£ ;

1:

140

40.00

144

*

131

. 4 4 70-4

Z--- (

2 pt 3

الرائعة

- · •

449

4 • 9

, i ·

11

`..._a

۱ - 4

I. Adequasideration.

First. Want of

But in these cases the matter which the holder has failed to perform must cy of Con- constitute the basis or principal condition precedent in respect of which the bill was given, or it will afford no defence; and therefore, where A. and B.

were litigant parties in several actions, and C. was the attorney of B. and at a meeting to settle the actions it was agreed, (inter alia,) between A. Considera and B. in the presence of C., that C. should give his promissory note at Defence, two months, as a collateral security for the payment by B. to A. of a sum of 4501.; and it was added, that all the effects which A. had of B.'s should be delivered up to C. as B.'s attorney, and C. signed the note at the meet-*77] ing immediately after the *signing of the agreement; it was held, in an action on the note by A. against C., that the delivery up of the effects was not a condition precedent to the right of A. to claim the money (h). In a late case, where a sum of 400l. belonging to A. was put by him into the hands of B., his solicitor, who laid it out on mortgage, and the deeds were deposited with A.; and interest being in arrear, and A. pressing for payment, B. gave a promissory note payable three months after date to A. for the amount of principal and interest, and it was agreed at the time of giving the note, that A. should deliver up the deeds to B., and should hold the note till the sale of the mortgaged premises should be completed; and when the note became due A. sued B. upon it, though the deeds had not been delivered up, or the sale of the mortgaged premises been completed. The judge having left it to the jury to say whether the note was given on a condition precedent, that the deeds should be delivered up, it was held, that it ought to have been left to them to say what the consideration of the note was, and whether it had wholly failed or not (i).

And there are many cases where it has been decided, that although there was not adequate consideration for the whole amount of the instrument, yet as it could not be readily shown to the jury to what precise extent the consideration had failed, the plaintiff was entitled to recover the whole, leaving the defendant to his cross-action to recover the difference as damages (k) (1). And it seems to be an established doctrine, that the partial failure of consideration will constitute no defence, if the quantum to be deducted on that account be unliquidated, and not in the nature of a certain debt or deduction. Thus, if a bill has been given for the price of goods, it has been held to be no ground of defence to a part, that the price of the goods was exorbitant(1), or that they (having been retained and not returned) have turned out un-So in an action by the drawer against the acceptor of bills sound(m)(2).

defendants, on discovering the plaintiff 's intentions, were fully justified in resisting the demand. The draft in his hands had become a piece of waste papor." Plaintiff nonsuited.

(h) Irving v. King, 4 Car. & P. 309, (Chit.
jun. 1498); cor. Lord Tenterden, C. J. Scc as to effect of agreement by plaintiff, the drawer, to consign goods to a third party in order to take up defendant's acceptance, and how to be pleaded, Byas v. Wyllie, 1 C., M. & R. 696; S. C. 5 Tyr. 377; 3 Dowl. 524; and see Evans v. Morgan, 2 C. & Y. 458; 2 Tyr. 396, S. C.; as to note given on consideration of plaintiff's delivering up farm. See post, 819, (8).

(i) Richards v. Thomas, 1 C., M. & R.

(k) Per Hullock, B. in Gascoyne v Smith, M'Clel. & Y. Rep. 849, (Chit. jun. 1256); and see Day v. Nix, 9 Moore, 159, (Chit. jun.

(1) Solomons v. Turner, 1 Stark. Rep. 51, (Chit. jun. 942). Aliter, if by inadequacy of value and other circumstances you can prove fraud, so as to show that there was no contract at all; per Lord Ellenborough, C. J., ib., and see post, 78.

(m) Morgan v. Richardson, 1 Camp. 40, n.; 7 East, 482; 3 Smith, 487, S. C.; Fleming r.

(2) In an action on a promissory note given for the price of goods sold with a warranty, it is a good defence that the goods turned out to be of no value. Shepherd v. Temple, 8 New Hamp. Rep. 455.

And in such a case, it is not necessary to show that the goods were returned. Ibid.

⁽¹⁾ In an action upon a promissory note, a total failure of consideration may be given in evi dence to defeat it; but it is otherwise where there is only a partial failure; that can be remedied by a distinct suit. Washburn v. Picot, 3 Devereux's Rep. 390.

of exchange given for goods supplied, which were to be "of good quality I. Adequaand moderate price," and were estimated at about 4001. and the bills given cy of Confor that amount, it is no defence that the goods turned out to be worth much less than the estimated price, and that the acceptor has paid more than the First. real value of the goods on the bills (n)(1). So if a note *be given in consideration of the plaintiff's disclosing to the defendant an improvement in the tion when certain machinery, which turns out to be less beneficial than was anticipated a Defence. by the parties, it is no answer to an action on the note(o).

And where under an agreement between A. and B. for the sale of a lease, B. accepts a bill for the purchase-money and is let into possession of the premises, it is no defence to an action by A. against B. upon the bill, that A. refused to execute an assignment of the lease according to the agree-

See also Gray v. Cox, 4 Barn. & Ald. 108; Laing v. Fidgeon, 6 Taunt. 108; 4 Campb. 169, S. C.; Jones v. Bright, 5 Bing. 533; 8

M. & P. 155, S. C. It is submitted, that it would be more consistent with justice, in practice, to extend rather than narrow the just and equitable right to deduct or reduce a part of the claim on a bill or note, at least when arising in the same transaction, rather than to compel a defendant to pay the whole amount, and then in a cross action, as for unliquidated damages, to endeavour to recover back a part of the money he has thus parted with, perhaps to a person who in the meantime may have become insolvent. The trouble and inconveniences resulting from the investigation of the amount of damages would not be greater in action upon the bill than in a cross-action, which only tends to an increase of costs and frequent loss.

Independently of any bill or note having been given, if any article be sold by warranty, and such warranty be false, and the purchaser has derived no benefit, the vendor can recover nothing, though the article be not returned; and therefore where A. sold to B. saintfoin seed, warranted to be "good new growing seed;" and soon after delivery B. was told that the seed was not good new growing seed, but he nevertheless sowed part, and sold the rest, without giving any notice of the defect to A.; it was held that A. could not recover the price, if the seed did not correspond with the warran-But it should be observed, that it did not appear, nor was it made a point, that the seed was of any value to the Parties who sowed it: Poulton v. Lathinore, 4 Man. & R. 208. See Basten v. Rutter, 7 East, 479; 3 Smith, 496; and cases there cited; Farnsworth v. Garrard, 1 Camp. 88; Fisher v. Samuda, id. 190.

(o) Day v. Nix, 9 Moore, 159.

Simpson, 1 Camp. 40. See Tye v. Gwynne, 2 Camp. 346. From this last case it appears that Morgan v. Richardson was afterwards brought before the King's Bench, and the court approved of the direction of the Chief Justice; and see next note. But if a bill or note be given as the price of goods of a particular growth (as hops) and answering certain samples, it will be a good defence to an action on the bill or note, as showing a total failure of consideration, that the goods delivered did not answer the samples; Wells v. Hopkins, 5 M. & W. 7; 3 Jurist, 797, S. C.; post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

hľ

Oxfit:

~: (TL

-": 1 L

fie 23.

. ∄ ∄.

10.0

1. 110

5 70.

:22

····

M.

7.3

177

....

1.38

.......

. EX T

نزي.

ام: سرامند

٠, ۵

مُ الر

şί

....

المرازا

1

- 11

9 rj' î, î ø

:

(n) Obbard v. Betham, Mood. & M. 483; (Chit. jun. 1490,) per Lord Tenterden, C. J. "The assignees certainly cannot recover in this action, unless the bankrupt would have been entitled to receive payment on the bills. But the cases cited for the plaintiffs have completely established the distinction between an action for the price of the goods, and an action on the security given for them. In the former the value can only be recovered; in the latter I take it to have been settled by those cases, and acted upon ever since as law, that the party holding bills given for the price of goods supplied, can recover upon them, unless there has been a total failure of consideration. If the consideration fails partially, as by the inferiority of the article furnished to that ordered, the buyer must seek his remedy by a cross action. The warranty relied on in this case makes no difference. In Morgan v. Richardson, ante, 77, n. (m), the hams bought turned out unmarketable; that was just as much a breach of warranty as there is in the present case; for every man selling a commodity warrants it to be of merchantable quality, no purchaser buys except upon that understanding;" and the plaintiff obtained a verdict for the whole

And although the note be in its terms absolute, it is competent for the maker to prove, in order to show a warranty, that it was agreed at the time of making the note, that a deduction should be made, in case the goods should not turn out to be as good as represented. Ibid.

(1) The partial failure of the consideration of a note may be given in evidence to reduce the amount of the plaintiff's recovery. Spalding v. Vandercook, 2 Wend. Rep. 431. In an action on a promissory note, which had been made in consideration of a deed of the promissor, conveying to the maker all the promissor's right in a tract of land, it is no defence, that the promissor had no interest in the land, unless some fraud is made to appear. Perkin's Admr. v. Bumford, 8 New Hamp. Rep. 522.

Ed.

438

. 12

25.13

124

133

1

24

...

Lis.

E.E.

351

(ic)

4.1

1111

: ش

, E]

17

1*1*(-)

...

•

41.1

۲٠.

417

Z,

4

7.

٧., ij

sideration.

Want of Consideration when

1. Adequa- ment(p). So it is no defence to an action by the payee against the maker cy of Con- of a promissory note, that the payee had agreed to convey an estate to the maker in consideration of a sum of money then paid or secured to be paid to the maker (being the sum mentioned in the note) and of a further sum to be paid at a future day, and that such estate had never been conveyed, the plaintiff not having been able to make out his title before the note became a Defence, due, but the contract still remaining open, and plaintiff never having refused to convey (q). Nor in an action by the payee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange drawn for the balance of purchase-money of articles bought at a sale, is it any defence that two months after delivery of the goods to the vendee, the vendor forcibly retook possession of them, for the vendee cannot treat that act as a rescinding of the contract, but must bring trespass(r).

But where a bill has been given for the price of goods fraudulently sold under an express warranty, the breach of such warranty is a bar to an action on the bill, if the defendant, immediately on discovering the fraud, and be-. fore he has derived and substantial benefit from the possession of the goods, repudiate the contract by returning or tendering them back(s).

*And if the defendant has already paid money, or other bills, exceeding the value of the property sold and delivered to him upon a false and fraudulent warranty or concealment, then it seems that the defendant may entirely resist the payment of any further bills(s). And where the plaintiff having got possession of a shop, but having no business and little money, prevailed on the defendant to enter into partnership and accept a bill for 1001. as the consideration-money for being admitted, and the defendant's friends disapproving of the arrangement, broke it off; Lord Kenyon left it to the jury, whether this was not a fraud on the part of the plaintiff; but told them, that if they thought not, they should take into consideration the damages the plaintiff had really sustained by the non-performance of the contract, and were not obliged to find the whole amount of the bill; and the jury found for the defendant(t).

So where a contract of sale has been rescinded, then the payment of a bill given on the faith of its completion may be resisted, although the damages were uncertain, provided the bill is in the hands of the vendor or his agent (u). But it is no answer to an action on a bill or note, that it was for an apprentice-fee, which ought to have been paid in the first instance, and that the apprenticeship had been put an end to on account of the subsequent misconduct of the master(x); though if the apprentice had been discharged, and the fee was originally agreed to be returned on that event, it might be otherwise (y).

Secondly. tion when not a Defence. Bill or note East, 486, S. C. in Hands of Third Person for Value.

In general, the circumstance of a bill or note having been obtained without adequate consideration, or even by duress or fraud, or misapplied by an Considera- agent to his own use, affords no defence where the instrument comes into

(p) Moggridge v. Jones, 3 Campb. 39; 14

(q) Spiller v. Weslake, 2 B. & Ad. 155, Chit. jun. 1536). But semble, per Parke, J. that it would be a good defence if the circumstances were such that the defendant, having paid the amount as a deposit, might recover it back.

(r) Stephens v. Wilkinson, 2 B. & Ad. 820,

(Chit. jun. 1540)

(s) Lewis v. Coagrave, 2 Taunt. 2, (Chit. jun. 771); and see per Lord Ellenborough, in Solomons v. Turner, 1 Stark R. 51; ante, 77, note (l).

(*) Archer v. Bamford, S Stark. Rep. 175, (Chit. jun. 1162).

(t) Ledger v. Ewer, Peake Rep. 216, (Chit. jun. 530).

(u) Lewis v. Coagrave, 2 Taunt. 2, (Chitjun. 771); Ledger v. Ewer, Peake R. 216, (Chit. jun. 530); ante, 73, note (d); Bayl. 5th edit. 493; Hallett v. Lewis, 1 M. & P. 79; (Chit. jun. 1364). What not a rescinding of contract, Stephens v. Wilkinson, 2 B. & Ad. 320, (Chit. jun. 1540); ante, 77, note (n).

(x) Grant v. Welchman, 16 East, 207.

(y) Id. ibid.

the possession of a bond fide holder for value, without notice, and before it I. Adequais due. It is but just, that if one of two innocent persons must sustain a cy of Conloss, he who has suffered a negotiable security with his name attached to it to get into circulation, ought to bear the loss, and seek his remedy against Secondly.

the person who improperly passed the instrument (z).

h

CHIC

43.1

17.

7.3

30

1,5 ٠ŗ.

And, therefore, although it be agreed between the original parties to the tion when bill or note that payment shall not be enforced except upon certain terms, not a Desuch agreement will not affect a subsequent bon's fide holder for value, fence. though not to its full amount(a). And it should seem, that although the holder has given value for part only of the bill or note, yet he may sue the acceptor or maker for the whole amount, and be holder of the overplus above the sum really paid to the use of the indorser (b). And where A. procured a banking company to advance 100l. on a bill of exchange for 300l. sent to him to get discounted, A. giving the company his guarantee for the amount so advanced, but having no other interest in the bill; it was held, that A. might recover the whole *amount of the bill in an action against the accept- [*80] or, and not merely the amount for which he gave his guarantee(c).

Want of

A fortiori where a person has voluntarily and deliberately signed his name, Accommowhether as drawer, indorser, or acceptor, generally, and without qualification, for the accommodation of another, he ought, if the instrument gets into the hands of a bon? fide holder for value before it is due, to be compelled to pay him to the extent of the consideration advanced upon it, although the latter, at the time he received it, knew that the bill was founded on an accommodation transaction; for it would be inconsistent to permit a person purposely to allow his name to be put in circulation, in order to accommodate another at the expense of a third person, and after having effected that object, and enabled the party so accommodated to obtain goods, money, credit or forbearance, on the faith of the bill, to turn round and complain of his having been placed in a situation of liability, which he voluntarily incurred; and therefore it is settled, that such an accommodation party to a bill must pay such holder, though he received no consideration (d)(1).

(z) See Morris v. Lee, ante, 68, note (a); Noel v. Boyd, 4 Dowl. 415.

(a) Edwards v. Jones, 2 M. & W. 414; S. C. 5 Dowl. 585; 7 C. & P. 663, and see ante,

(b) Id. ib.; Wiffen v. Roberts, 1 Esp. Rep.

261, (Chit. jun. 536); ante, 70, note (n).
(c) Reid v. Furnival, 1 C. & M. 538; 5 Car.

& P. 499, (Chit. jun. 1634)

(d) Per Eyre, C. J. in Collins v. Martin, 1 Bos. & Pul. 651, (Chit. jun. 576). And per Lord Eldon, in Bank of England v. Beresford, 6 Dow, 237; Fentum v. Pocock, 5 Taunt. 193, (Chit. jun. 896); Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182, (Chit. jun. 294); ante, 24, note (a).

Smith v. Knox, 3 Esp. Rep. 46, (Chit. jun. 617). In an action by indorsee against acceptor it was urged that the defendant had accepted for accommodation of the drawer. But Lord Eldon said " If a person give a bill for a particular purpose, and that is known to the party taking the bill, as for example, to answer a particular demand, then the party taking the bill cannot apply it to a different purpose; but where a bill is given under no such restriction, but given merely for the accommodation of the drawer or payee, and is sent into the world, it is no answer to an action brought on that bill, that the defendant accepted it for the accommodation of the drawer, and that that fact was known to the holder." And see Morris r. Lee, ante, 68, note (a)

1 Pardessus, 466, pl. 442. La simple acceptation est en faveur du porteur ou des endosseurs un titre suffisant, parce, qu'il n'est par juste qu'on ait un moyen indirect de les surprendre et qu'on puisse, lorsqu'ils ont acheté la lettre de change sur la foi de l'acceptation dont elle est revêtue, venir, avec des comptes ou des preuvres qui detruiroient cette acceptation pure et simple annoncer qu'elle n'avoit rien de réel ou d'obligatoire.

In an action by the holder against the maker of a negotiable note, founded on a consideration which failed, the defendant is not obliged to prove that the plaintiff purchased with full and cer-

⁽¹⁾ It is no defence in an action on a bill of exchange by the payee against the acceptor, that the bill was accepted without consideration, or in other words was an accommodation acceptance, and that fact known to the payee. Grant et al. v. Ellicott, 7 Wend. Rep. 227.

HI!

- 1

iel i

Ek.

راغي

Se. 1

....

72 es g

¥.1

. 5

I. Adequasideration.

Consideration when not a Defence.

But if bills or notes were accepted or made for a special or particular cy of Con- purpose, then no third person aware of that object can, by obtaining the instruments, or their proceeds, apply the same to a different purpose(e); and Secondly, if a bill has been accepted for the accommodation of the drawer, and any circumstance has since arisen which would render it unjust, still, to use it for that purpose, no person aware of the fact can, by obtaining the bill, render it available against the acceptor; and therefore where an accommodation drawer absconded, and his creditor pursued and obtained the bill from him, it was held that he could not recover from the acceptor (f); and even a payment obtained by a party who knew that it was unjust to obtain it, was considered invalid(g). So if the bon's fide holder of such a bill, afternotice of all the circumstances, should return it as useless, it has been held that he cannot afterwards, by again obtaining possession, acquire a right of action [*81] against the *accommodation acceptor, unless it should appear that he still intended to continue his accommodation (h)(1). And where the plaintiff accepted a bill for the accommodation of one H., who deposited it with the defendant as a security for goods bought of him, and H. afterwards paid for the goods, but he being further indebted to the defendant, the latter refused to restore the bill, and subsequently indorsed it for value to a third person, who sued the plaintiff thereon, and recovered from him the amount with costs; it was held, that the plaintiff might sue the defendant for the amount > (e) Evans v. Kymer, 1 Bar. & Adol. 529; (Chit. jun. 1512); Delauney v. Mitchel, 1 Stark. Rep. 439, (Chit. jun. 976); Roberts v. Eden, 1 B. & P. 398, (Chit. jun. 615); Treutel r. Baradon, 8 Taunton, 100; 1 Moore, 543, S. C. (Chit. jun. 1002); Buchannan v Findlay, 9 Bar. & Cres. 738; 4 M. & R. 593, S. C. (Chit. jun. 1441); Kay r. Flint, S Taunt. 21; Ex parte Flint, 1 Swanst. 30; Ex parte Frere, 1 Mont. & Quere as to the validity of an agreement substituting a different mode of payment from that provided by the bill or note itself, see per Parke, B. in Edwards v. Jones, 2 M. & W. 414, 418, 419, and ante, 69. (f) Smith v. De Witts, 6 Dowl. & Ry. 120;

Ry. & M. 212, (Chit. jun. 1253). (g) Martin v. Morgan, 3 Moore, 635; 1 Gow, 123, (Chit. jun. 1065).

(h) Cartwright v. Williams, 2 Stark. 340, (Chit. jun. 1023.) A. accepted a bill for the accommodation of B, who delivered it to C. his creditor, to provide for a bill about to become due, and C., before A.'s acceptance became due, returned it to B. as useless; it was ruled by Lord Ellenborough, that C. could not, by subsequently obtaining possession of the bill, acquire a right of action against A., for that he had abandoned the bill which B. held as trustee for A.; sed quære. See the cases, post, Ch. VI. s. i. "Time of Transfer."

tain knowledge of the want or failure of consideration. If the circumstances attending the transfer were such as to put him upon his guard, and he made no inquiry into the consideration, he purchased at his peril. Cone v. Baldwin, 12 Pick. 545.

Where a promissory note payable to the payee or bearer, in nine months, was within three or four days of the date, and for a full and adequate consideration, transferred by the payee to the plaintiffs by delivery merely, the payee saying that the plaintiffs must take it at their own risk, and that he would not be responsible for it, it was held, that these circumstances would not justify the jury in finding that the plaintiffs knew that the note had been obtained by the payee without a valid consideration, or by fraud. Ibid.

If the payor of a note stands by and sees it assigned to a third person, without giving the assignee notice of an existing defence, he shall afterwards pay the amount of the note to the assignee, although the consideration thereof should have entirely failed; and whether his conduct pro-⟨ Gazzam r. Armceeded from ignorance or design. Decker v. Eisenhauer, 1 Penn. Rep. 476. strong's Ex'r, 3 Dana, 556.

Want of consideration is no defence by the maker of a note in an action against him by bonn fide indorsee or subsequent holder, where the note is endorsed before maturity and received without notice of the defence. Homes v. Smith, 16 Maine Rep. 177; Smith v. Hiscock, 14 id.

(1) Where Λ. made a note payable to the defendant or order, which was indersed by the defendant for the purpose of being discounted at bank, for the accommodation of A., who, on its being refused at the bank, negotiated it to a third person at a discount with a knowledge of the circumstances, it was held that this did not amount to a fraud, which could affect the rights of the holder against the parties to it. Powell r. Waters, 7 Johns. 176.

of the bill, as for money paid to his use(i). A distinction is also made be- I. Adequatween a third person, who receives a bill from another, and has actually ad-cy of Convanced to him further money or goods on the credit of a bill, and where he sideration. has not done so, but is merely a creditor on a former account; in the latter Secondly. case, he is frequently to be considered merely as an agent, and not a holder Want of for value, and must therefore prove his debtor's right to the security, where toon when it was unduly obtained, or lost or stolen(k). We shall hereafter consider not a Dethe consequences of receiving an accommodation or other bill after it is fence.

II. Illegality of Consideration or Contract, either as to THE WHOLE OR IN PART, AND WHETHER IN THE CONCOCTION OR TRANSFER, AND HOW IT AFFECTS THE ORIGINAL PARTIES AND BONA FIDE HOLDERS.

Illegality in the consideration or centract upon which a bill or note was II. Illegalfounded or transferred, will, between the parties to the transaction, and all ity of Conpersons aware of the illegality at the time he first received the instrument, or gave value for it, afford a defence to any action at the suit of such party to enforce payment; for however discreditable it may be for a person to repudiate his own engagement, the law cannot permit effect to be given to any security given to secure the performance of such a bargain(m); and in this case, although the instrument may, on the face of it, purport to have been given for an adequate legal consideration, the party will be at liberty to shew that in truth the real transaction was illegal; for if it were otherwise, the law would be eluded by parties purposely mis-stating the facts (n). general, whenever the defendant would be at liberty to insist on the want of consideration as a defence, he may also equally insist that the contract or consideration, or part of it, was illegal(o)(1).] But in the absence of positive

(i) Bleaden v. Charles, 5 Moore & P. 14; S. C. 7 Bing. 246, (Chit. jun. 1524); 9 Law Journ 82; 5 C. & P. 14; and semble, that he might also have recovered the costs of the action brought against him by the holder, had they been mentioned in the particulars of de-mand; see 5 M. & P. 14.

(k) De la Chaumette v. Bank of England,

9 B. & C. 208, (Chit. jun. 1419).
(l) Post, Ch. VI. s. Time of Transfer.
See also post, Part. II. Ch. V. s. i. Eridence—

Consideration.

(m) Lightfoot v. Tenant, 1 B. & P. 554, 555; 1 Fonbl. 345; and the note Holt's C. N. P. 107, where the principles on which illegality of contract vitiates are pointed out.

(n) See observations in Ridout v. Bristow.

1 Tyr. 84; 1 Cro. & J. 231.

(o) Guichard v. Roberts, Bls. Rep. 445. (Chit. jun. 371); Scott v. Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226, (Chit. jun. 816); Burnyeat v. Hutchinson, 5 B. & Ald. 241; 2 Burr. 1002.

Illegality of consideration, (except in particular cases arising under certain statutes,) does not avoid a note in the hands of a bona fide holder without notice. City Bank v. Barnard, &c. 1 Hall's Rep 70.

Certain directors of the City Bank of New York, for the purpose of controlling the election of its officers, entered into an arrangement for the purchase, upon the account of the bank, of a large amount of its stock, (then held by a certain individual) at a premium of seven per cent. shove its par walue. To effect this object they paid for the stock with the funds of the bank, to the ⁽¹⁾ The defendant sold a ticket to the intestate, in a lottery unauthorized by the laws of this state, which drew a prize of $50,000. The defendant caused the prize to be discounted for the intestate, who, upon the close of the transaction, permitted him to retain $10,000 by way of loan, for which the defendant gave his own promissory notes to the intestate. An action for money had and received, being brought to recover the amount thus retained, the defendant set up the illegality of the transaction, under the lottery act as a defence. Held, that the loan of the money formed a good consideration for the assumpsit, and that the illegality of the original acts of the intestate and the defendant, in the purchase and sale of the ticket, could not be introduced as a defence to the action. Hamilton Admr. r. Canfield, 2 Hall's Rep. 526.

O)r

તું છ

(14)

Į.

3:

10

2]

5 60

I

7)

ů,

sideration.

Want of Consideration when not a Defence.

11. Illegali- enactment, a bona fide holder of a bill or note may recover *thereon, if he ty of Con- had not notice of the illegality at the time he became the holder, and we shall presently see that under the recent act of 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, bills and notes secondly, given for an usurious or gaming consideration, or for signing a bankrupt's certificate, or for the ransom of a ship, are not to be void, but to be deemed to have been given for an illegal consideration(p); and, by the second section of that act, the acceptor or maker of a bill or note founded upon a gaming consideration, who pays the amount to a bon? fide holder, may recover the same from the party to whom the bill or note was originally given, as money paid to his use. And even in those cases in which a bill or note is declared void, the bon's fide holder, we shall find, may in general sue his immediate indorser on the bill or note, or for the legal debt or consideration which passed between them, though he could not sue the acceptor of the bill or maker of the note; and he, as well as the original creditor, may always sue the party transferring such void bill or note to him for the original valid debt or consideration in respect of which it was delivered to him(q) (1).

Another consequence may also ensue from illegality in the contract or consideration upon which a bill or note was founded, namely, that if the accept-

(p) Post, 86. Illegality by Statute. (q) Edwards r. Dick, 4 B. & Ald. 212, (Chit. jun. 1079); French v. Birt, sittings at Westminster after E. T. 1930, May 25th, MS.

S. P.; Bowyer r. Brampton, 2 Str. 1155, (Chit. jun. 296); O'Keefe v Dunn, 6 Taunt. 515, (Chit. jun. 937.)

amount of its par value, and transferred the same in trust for the bank. For the purpose of paying the amount of the premium, each director borrowed $3500 of the bank, by causing his own promissory note regularly indorsed, to be discounted at the bank. In an action brought by the bank upon one of these notes against the indorsers thereof, they were not allowed to set up the illegality of the original transaction as a defence against the note. Ibid.

The want or illegality of consideration of a note transferred before due, cannot be shown in an action by bona fide holder without notice, except where the note is declared roid by statute, as when given upon a usurious consideration, or for money lost by gaming; and it was accordingly held, in an action by such holder, that the defence could not be set up that the note was delivered as an escrow. Vallett et al. v. Parker, 6 Wend. Rep. 615.

Evidence that a note was delivered as an escrow, and that it was fraudulently put in circulation, is admissible; and when the fact is shown, the holder will be bound to prove that he came fairly by the note, and paid value for it. Ib.

A note given on the purchase of real estate held adversely is not void by statute, not being embraced in the provision, "That all gifts and conveyances made for maintenance shall be void."

Where a note is adjudged void by a court, for the want, or failure, or illegality of the considerable with or ration, it is void only in the hands of the original holder of those who are chargeable with, or have had notice of the consideration. 1b.

Although a promise to pay a sum of money, founded upon the forbearing to prosecute a suit, which could not be maintained, is void, for want of consideration; yet the defendant, in order to avail himself of such a defence, must show conclusively, that the suit, which was the foundation of the promise, could not have been prosecuted to effect. Gould v. Armstrong, Hall's Rep. 266.

The plaintiffs, as the holders of certain notes or memorandums, payable to bearer, brought an action of assumpsit to recover their amount. At the trial, the defendant offered to show that the notes were given for a consideration made unlawful by an act of Congress; but he offered no evidence to prove that the plaintiffs were acquainted with the consideration for which the notes were given. Held, that as the act of congress did not make the notes roid, the evidence offered by the defendant, to defeat the recovery, was inadmissible.

A promissory note given in consideration of the purchase of an improvement upon vacant government land, the possession of such land being a trespass is for an illegal consideration, and cannot be recovered. Merrell v. Legrand, 1 How. 150. See Alderson v. Cheatham, 10 Yerg.

Where a note under seal was given for an illegal consideration, it was declared that neither party was entitled to the countenance of a court of justice. Bostick v. M'Claren, 2 Brev. 275. (1) In an action by the bona fide assignee of a promissory note against the assignor, it is no defence that the note was originally given by the maker to the defendant for an illegal considera-tion. Johnson et al. v. Dickson et al., 1 Blackford's Rep. 256. The assignment of a note is itself a contract, which prima facie, imports a good consideration or or maker should refuse to pay on that account, then, perhaps, the omis- II. Illegalision to give regular notice of non-payment to the drawer of the bill, or payee ty of Conof the note, would not preclude the holder from recovering from him, because the illegality and refusal to pay on that account may be considered as equivalent to the want of effects (r).

Digitized by Google

A contract or consideration is in general legal, if it be not repugnant to the revealed Law of God, to the general policy of the Common Law, or to some Legislative Provision. Illegal considerations have been considered as distinguishable into three heads;—1st. The doing an act malum in se, or malum prohibitum.—2dly. The omission of the performance of some legal duty.—And, 3dly. A stipulation encouraging such crime or omission(s). But any legal distinction between malum in se and malum prohibitum has been properly denied (t). Illegal considerations may be either those void at common law, or those void by statute.

First. Consideration illegal at common law are those which are prejudi- 1. Illegality cial to the community at large, or those which affect the person or interests at Common Law of an individual.

(u). First. Because pre-

Those of the former description arc,

4

1st. Any contract made with an alien enemy; and if a bill be drawn upon the comany such transaction, excepting for necessaries when under imprisonment (x), munity. it will not be available after the restoration of peace.

2dly. Stipulations in general restraint of trade; as if a party engage *not [*83] to carry on trade in any part of England; but if the restraint be limited, so as only to preclude the party from trading in a particular place, or within a certain distance, as, for instance, ten miles, and the breach of the stipulation tend apparently to the detriment of the party in whose favour it was made, and a consideration was given by such party, the contract will not be impeached either at law or in equity (y).

(r) See post, Ch. X. s. i. When notice is necessary. It was so held in America, Copp v. M'Dugall, 9 Mass. R. l. Bayl. American (s) 1 Bla. Com. 57, 58; Co. Lit. 306 b, n. 1; Mitchell v. Reynolds, 1 P. W. 189; Lloyd v. Johnson, 1 Bos. & Pul. 340, 341; Lightfoot v. Tenant, id. 556.

(1) Aubert v. Maze, 2 Bos. & Pul. 375; Sedgwick on Bla. Com. 54; Bensley r. Bignold, 5 B. & Al. 335. Sed Lide Witham r. Lee, 4 Esp. Rep. 264, (Chit. jun. 670)

(u) Illegality of consideration whether by statute or by the common law must be specially pleaded. Rule H. T. 4, Will. 4, title Assumpail, s. 3, post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas. See Martin v. Smith, 6 Scott, 268. (x) Willison v. Pattison and others, 7 Taunt. 439; 1 Moore, 133, (Chit. jun. 993); and see Bendelack v. Morier, 2 H. Bla. 338. But see the exception as to British prisoners in a foreign country in Antoine v. Morshead, 1 Marsh. 559; 6 Taunt. 237, (Chit. jun. 937); ante, 18; and as to the effect of a subsequent promise to pay, Duhammel v. Pickering, 2 Stark. 90, (Chit. jun. 994); ante, 14, note (g). (y) Hunlock v. Blacklowe, 2 Saund. 156, note 1; Mitchell v. Reynolds, 1 P. W. 190; 10 Mod. 130, S. C.; Co. Lit. 206 b. note 1;

Davis r. Mason, 5 T. R. 118; 1 Powell on Contracts, 167; Chitty, jun. on Contr. 218. A contract entered into by a practising attorney that he would relinquish and make over to B. and G., two other attorneys, his business as an attorney, as far as respected his professional practice in London and one hundred and fifty miles from thence, and all his business as agent for any attorney, and that he would recommend his clients, and permit B. and G. to use his name in the business, was holden valid; Bunn v. Guy, 4 East, 190. An agreement not to set up as surgeon or man-midwife in a certain town, or within twenty miles thereof, is good; Haywood v. Young, 2. Chit. Rep. 407. So is an agreement between two coach-mas-ters, not to oppose each other and charge the same prices; ibid. But where the restraint of a party from carrying on a trade is larger and wider than the protection of the party with whom the contract is made can possibly require, such restraint is unreasonable in law, and the contract to enforce it void; Horner v. Graves, 7 Bing. 735, recognised in Hitchcock v. Coker, 6 Ad. & El. 438, 454; 1 N. & P. 796, S. C. In the latter case a restraint was held not to be unreasonable because not limited to the life of the plaintiff, or to the time during which he should carry on the business.

iEif

1

41.

21

7.

10

231

1.3 3.1

¥ 35

1 .: 1

4.1

٠,

21

. . .

: |

II. Illegali- 3dly. A stipulation repugnant to the Custom and Excise laws of this county of Con-try; as smuggling, &c.(z).

aderation. 4thly. Dropping a criminal prosecution, or suppressing evidence, or so-1. At Com-liciting a pardon, or compounding a felony, misdemeanor (a), or other public mon Law. crime (b)(1), unless it be with leave of the court (c).

*84] *5thly. The recommendation to or purchase of an office under government may be often void at common law(d)(2).

With respect to the consideration for a contract in partial restraint of trade, it is now fully settled that the extent or adequicy of the consideration cannot be inquired into, and that the term adequate consideration, as used in Young v. Timmins, 1 C. & J. 331, 1 Tyr. 226, S. C. and most of the other cases on this subject, is to be understood as denoting a legal consideration of some value, and not merely colourable, but not that the consideration must be equal in value to that which the party gives up or loses by the restraint; Hitchcock r. Coker, 6 Ad. & El. 438, supra. The entering into partnership is sufficient to support a contract of this nature; Leighton r. Wules, 3 M. & W. 545. See post, $19(9).

(z) Biggs v. Lawrence, 3 T. R. 454; Banks v. Colwell, id. 81; Vandyck v. Hewitt, 1 East, 37; 1 Campb. 383; Lightfoot v. Tenant, 1 B. & P. 551; Guichard v. Roberts, 1 Bla. Rep. 445, (Chit. jun. 371); Johnstone v. Sutton, Dougl. 254; 1 Marsh. on Ins. c. 5; Holt's Rep. 107, note. See Hodgson v. Temple, 5 Taunt. 181; Meux v. Humphries, 3 Carr. & P. 79.

But note that there is a distinction between a smuggling transaction obviously in fraud of the revenue, and a breach of mere revenue regulation. See arguments and decision, Brown v. Duncan, 10 B. & C. 93; and Wetherell v. Jones, 3 B. & Ad. 221. Sed quære us to distinction between breaches of laws passed for revenue purposes and others. See per Parke, B., in Cope v. Rowland, 2 M. & W. 149, 163.

(a) In Elworthy v. Bird, 2 Sim. & Stu. 872, it was considered that an indictment for a misdemeanour might be compromised, but not for a felony. But semble there is no such distinction, Edgecombe v. Rodd, 5 Fast, 294; Galton v. Taylor, 7 T. R. 475.

(b) Johnson r. Ogilby, 8 P. W. 279; Collins r. Blantein, 2 Wils. 349.

But where a party who had paid away a forged acceptance to the plaintiff applied to him for it, and indorsed to him in lieu a bill accepted by the defendant, the plaintiff was allowed to recover; Lord Elleuborough holding, that to bar the right of the indorsee it was necessary to show that the bill had been indorsed as a consideration for compounding a prosecution for forgery, to which the indorser was linele; Wallace v. Hardacre, 1 Camp. 45, (Chit. jun. 740); and see Harding v. Cooper, 1 Stark. R. 467, S. P., (Chit. jun. 978).

An agreement to use interest to procure a convict a pardon is an illegal consideration; Norman r. Cole, 3 Esp. Rep. 253. Sed ride 1 Roll. Ab. 11, pl. 5, 2; Hob. 106; 1 Leon. 180.

(c) By leave of court, or subsequent assent, the arrangement may, it seems, be legalized; Peeley v. Wingfield, 11 East, 46; Brett v. Tomlinson, 16 East, 293; Harding v. Cooper, 1 Stark. R. 467; Pilkington v. Green, 2 B. & P. 151; Sugars v. Brinkworth, 4 Camp. 46; post, 85, note (y). A defendant prosecuted by parish officers for disobeying an order of maintenance was convicted and sentence deferred by the court with a view to an arrangement; in the meantime he was committed to prison, and the officers demanded of him a sum considerably exceeding the amount of maintenance due, but part of which was to cover costs. A. paid part, and gave a note for the remainder: he was then brought before the court, fined ls. and discharged. It did not appear whether or not the particulars of the arrangement were communicated to the court, but A. made on complaint when brought up. In an action afterwards brought upon the note, it was held that no irregularity appeared in the compromise, and that the note was legal; Kirk v. Strichwood, 4 B. & Ad. 421; S. C. 1 N. & M. 275, (Chit. jun. 1622); see Baker r. Townsend, 1 Moore, 120, where an assault with various other matters in dispute, and costs, were referred to arbitration by the sessions after conriction, and the court of Common Pleas held it right. Secus, where a misdemeanor wholly of a public nature was compromised by consent of the committing magistrates without trial; Edgecombe c. Rodd, 5 East, 294. See 4 Bla. Com 363, 364.

(d) Harrington v. Du Chatel, Bro. C. C. 114. See 1 Hen. Bla. 322; 8 T. R. 89; Wador v. Martin, 4 B. & C. 319; 6 Dow. & Ry. 364, S. C. An action cannot be supported upon an agreement for the sale by the owner, of the command of a ship in the East India Company's service, made without the sanction and in violation of the bye laws of the Company; 8 T. R. 89. But a contract for the exchange of the command of East India ships, entered into with the knowledge of the company, is good; Richardson v. Mellish, 2 Bing. 247; 9 Moore, 435, S. C. See Chitty's Statutes, tit. "Offices, sale of;" Aston r. Gwinnell, 8 Younge & J. 136.

So of a note given for compounding a misdemeanor. Jones v. Rice, 18 Pick. 440. }
(2) A note given to a sheriff on an arrest in lieu of a bail bond is void, as contrary to the stat-

⁽¹⁾ Any promise, founded upon the consideration of compounding a felony is void, Mattocks v. Owen, 5 Vermont Rep. 42. Vincent v. Groom, 1 Yerg. 430. Plumer v. Smith, 5 New Hamp. 553. Roll v. Raguet, Ohio Rep. Cond. 342.

6thly. Every illegal wager repugnant to the principles of general pol- II. Illegaliicy(e); as a wager between voters on the event of an election (f), upon the ty of Conevent of a war(g), or concerning the produce of any particular branch of the sideration. revenue, &c. as of the hop duties(h); and cricket, a horse-race, or a foot-race 1. At Comagainst time, is a game within the statue 9 Ann. c. 14, s. 1(i). So a wa-mon Law. ger as to the mode of playing an illegal game (k), or on a dog(l), or a cock (m), or prize (n) fight, is illegal; so is a wager on an abstract question of law, in which the parties have no interest(o); and the court has power to refuse to try any question on a wager(p).

In general restraint of marriage (q).

Procuration of marriage(r). 8thly.

Future illicit cohabitation, but past cohabitation is a legal consid-9thly. eration(s).

10thly. An agreement, the natural effect of which is to induce a public officer to neglect his duty, is invalid; thus, a promissory note given for a sum in gross, though in effect to indemnify a parish against a bastard child, is illegal, as being contrary to the general policy of the law, as well as the letter of the 6 Geo. 2, c. 31(t).

11thly. It seems that an agreement between the defendant, being the town clerk and clerk of the peace of a borough, and the plaintiff, to recommend the latter to parties who might want an attorney to *conduct prosecu- [*85] tions arising in the town-clerk's office for reward to the former, is illegal(u).

(e) See Gilbert v. Sykes, 16 East, 150. (f) Allen v. Hearne, 1 T. R. 56; Beeley v. Wingfield, 11 East, 46; Pilkington v. Green, 2 B. & P. 151.

(g) Lacaussade v. White, 7 T. R. 535; Allen v. Bearne, 1 T. R. 57.

11

मर्जञ्जन,

1079 1

1727

200

7 35 15 X

. > %

10

.....`•

544. × ,1.5

7.0

4 74.0 ~#3 W

7-42 ×. :

....

· 175

12

150

1. >1.

-73 11:

.7 11

19 TV

~, ·.'

46

?!!

40

11

70°

.5

27

*;*3

££

17

ŧ.

(h) Atherford v. Beard, 2 T. R. 610; Shirley v. Sankey, 2 B. & P. 130.

(i) Jetireys v. Walter, 1 Wils. 220; Lynal

v. Longbotham, 2 Wils. 36.

- (k) Brown v. Leeson, 2 Hen. Bla. 43. Money lent to play at an illegal game cannot be recovered back; M'Kinnell v. Robinson, 3 M. & W. 484.
 - (l) Egerton v. Furzman, Ry. & Mo 213.
- (m) Squires v. Whis'ten, 3 Campb. 140.
 (n) Semb Hunt v. Bell, 7 J. B. Moore, 212. (0) Henkin v. Guerss, 12 East, 247. Sed
- vide Cowp. 37. (p) Chitty's Stat. tit. "Gaming," note
- (a); Hastelow v. Jackson, 8 B. & C. 221; 2 M. & Ry. 209, S. C.

(q) Hartley v. Rice, 10 East, 22, qualified

Gibson v. Dickie, 3 M. & Sel. 463; Lowe v. Peers; Burr. 2225; Wilmot, 364; 2 Vern. 215; 2 Atk. 540; 10 Ves. 429.

(r) Co. Litt. 206 b, and see ante, 94, note (f).

(s) Ex parte Mumford, 15 Ves. 289; Gibson r. Dickie, 3 M. & Sel. 463; Walker v. Perkins, Burr. 1568; Marchioness of Annan-dale v. Harris, 2 P. W. 432; Turner v. Vaughan, 2 Wils. 339; Hill v. Spencer, Amb. 641. Ex parte Cottrell, Cowp. R. 742; Wightwick v. Banks, and Gray v. Rooke, Forrest, 153. Past cohabitation is a legal consideration to sustain a bond, but it is not a sufficient consideration to sustain a mere promise, unless defendant seduced the plaintiff; Binnington v. Wallis, 4 Barn. & Ald. 650.

(t) Cole v. Gower, 6 East, 110, (Chit. jun. 712); and see Watkins r. Hewlett, I B. & D. 1; 3 Moore, 211, S. C.; Clarke v. Johnson, 3 Bing. 424; 11 Moore, 319, S. C.

(u) Hughes r. Statham, 4 B. & C. 187; 6

Dow. & Ry. 219, S. C.

ute respecting sheriff's bonds. Strong v. Tompkins, S John. Rep. 93. A note given by an insolvent to his creditor to induce him to sign his petition under the insolvent law, with a blank in it for the date to be filled up after his discharge, is void, against the general policy of the law. Nor can such note be revived by a subsequent promise to pay it. Pyne r. Eden, 3 Caines' Rep. 213. So a note given to a creditor to induce him to withdraw his opposition to the debtor's discharge under an insolvent law is void. Wiggin r. Bush, 12 John. Rep. 306. See also on the point of illegal consideration, Little v. Obrien, 9 Mass. Rep. 423. Jones v. Caswell, 3 John. Cas. 29.

There seems to be some difference of opinion in the United States in respect to wagers. In Massachusetts the Courts have held wagers policies void at common law, upon the general ground that all wagers are injurious to public morals. Amory v. Gilman, 2 Mass. Rep. 1. In New York, however, actions on wagers are held to be maintainable at common law, Bunn v. Riker, 4 John. Rep. 426. Campbell v. Richardson, 10 John. Rep. 406 But wagers against principles of public policy are universally held void; as wagers upon the event of a public election. bid. Mount v. Waite, 7 John. Rep. 434. Lansing v. Lansing, 8 John. Rep. 454. M'Cullum v. Gourlay, 8 John. Rep. 147.

ŒĽ.

M

12:

EL Í

Er:

2.

47.

20

781 113

41

Ļ.

¥., 20

g',

¥...

 \widetilde{k}_{-n}

ل 4

41

à.,

7. L. 2

Ŋ

٠.

Ľ

Ċ.

II. Illegali-ty of Consideration.

But the release by an Excise officer of a person apprehended for 12thly. penalties under the Excise laws, will be a sufficient consideration for a note, provided the commissioners approved of his taking it(x), and this although 1. At com- he had no previous authority (y).

mon Law.

An engagement to indemnify a sheriff in the execution of a law-13thly. ful or apparently legal act, is good(z); but where the act to be done by him would be a violation of his duty, the agreement to protect him from the consequence is invalid (a).

Secondly. Because affecting interests of individu-

Of the second description of illegal contracts and considerations at common law, are those affecting individuals only; thus,

1st. Any stipulation prejudicial to the feelings or interests of a third person, and made without his concurrence; as a wager upon the sex of a third person(b), or whether an unmarried woman had had or would have a child(c), or to libel another (d), or 2dly. Contrary to the benevolent intent of others(e); as a secret stipulation, before a composition-deed is signed, that one of the creditors shall have a larger dividend or a better security than the rest, is void (f)(1); or a stipulation to receive money in consideration of not opposing the discharge of an insolvent debtor(g). A bill or note given for such purpose cannot be such

(x) Pilkington v. Green, 2 B. & P. 151; Becley v. Wingfield, 11 East, 46.

(y) Sugars v. Brinkworth, 4 Campb. 46. (Chit. jun. 914). This was an action against the maker of a promissory note. The note was given by the defendant for the amount of penalties, of which he had been convicted before magistrates, under the excise laws, to prevent an execution issuing against his goods. On the part of the defendant, it was contended, that there was no legal consideration for the note, as it was the plaintiff's duty to have levied the amount of the penaltics, and not to have taken any security. Lord Ellenborough. "The defendant gave the promissory note at two months, in redemption of his goods, which were liable to be instantly sold for what they could fetch. This surely was sufficient consideration. I do not think any previous consent by the commissioners of excise, or the magistrates, was necessary for the arrangement." Verdict for plaintiff. Vide Pilkington v. Green 2 R & P 151, S. P.

(z) Cro. Jac. 652; 1 Lord Raym. 279; 1 Sid. 132

(a) 10 Co. 102; Cro. Eliz. 199; Yelv. 197; Tidd's Prac. 9th edit. Index, tit. Sheriff; Chit. jun. on Contracts, 221, 222.

(b) Da Costa v. Jones, Cowp. 729; Harvey v. Gibbons, 2 Lev. 161; Eastbrook r. Scott, 3 Ves. 456; Gilbert v. Sykes, 16 East, 150. A wager between two coach-owners, whether or not a particular person would go by one of their coaches, is illegal, as exposing that person to inconvenience; Eltham v. Kingsham, 1 B. & Ald. 683.

(c) Ditchburn v. Goldsmith, 4 Camp. 152. (d) Stockdale v. Onwhyn, 5 B & C. 13, 173.

(e) Jackson v. Duchaire, 3 T. R. 551. (f) Cockshott v. Bennet, 2 T. R. 763; Leicester r. Rose, 4 East, 372; Spurrett v. Spiller, 1 Atk. 105; Jackson v. Lomas, 4T. R. 166; Cooling v. Noyes, 6 T. R. 263; Bryant v. Christie, 1 Stark 329; Jackson v. Davison, 4 B. & Al. 695, 697; Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 511, 515; Ex parte Sadler, 15 Ves. 55; Knight v. Hunt, 5 Bing. 432, 3 M. & P. 18, S. C.; Britten v. Hughes, 5 Bing 460; 3 M. & P. 77, S. C. See the cases fully collected in Chitty, jun. on Contracts, 225; 3 Chit. Com. Law, 713. And see further, post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

(g) Murray v. Reeves, 8 B. & C. 421; Rogers v. Kingston, 2 Bing. 441; 10 Moore, 97.

So an agreement between an insolvent and one of his creditors, to secure to the latter a claim on the future effects of the debtor, in consideration of the creditor withdrawing his opposition to the discharge or otherwise, is void as a fraud on the other claimants; Jackson v. Davison, 4 B. & Al. 691. So an agreement between a bankrupt and the petitioning creditor to abandon the fint, is illegal; Davis r. Holding, 1 M. & W. 159, post, 93, note (p). But an agreement by a friend of the bankrupt to pay all his creditors in full if a commission of bankruptcy is stopped, is good; Kayle r. Bolton, 6 T. R.

^{(1) {} In the case of a general assignment of a debtor's property, to be rateably divided among such of his creditors as shall execute the assignment and thereby discharge their demands, a promissory note given by the debtor to a creditor, in order to induce him to become a party to the sasignment, is fraudulent and void. Case v. Gerrish, 15 Pick. 49. } upon, though the composition with the creditors *be not effected(h). And II. Illegaliif the debtor has been obliged to pay the amount of such bill or note to a ty of Conbona fide holder, he may recover back the same from his original creditor in an action for money had and received (i), although the instalments due upon 1. At Comthe composition have not all been paid (j). But where the bill has not been mon law. negotiated, and the debtor pays the amount thereof to his original creditor, this will be deemed a voluntary payment by the debtor, and cannot be recovered back(k). After a composition-deed has actually been signed by all the creditors, a bill or note, affording a better security to one of them, not before stipulated for, has been deemed valid(l). It has, however, been held in bankruptcy, that if the bankrupt enter into a composition-deed, by which the creditors release him from his debts, a promissory note subsequently given to a creditor for the remainder of his debt is nudum pactum, and consequently a bad petitioning creditor's debt(m).

3dly. So an agreement in fraud of a surety, or party collaterally interested, is illegal(n). It has been considered that an agreement to allow poundage to a third person for recommending customers is void as a fraud on third persons(o).

J.

1. 79

1.

1)

4thly. At common law, a wager is legal, if it be not an incitement to a breach of the peace, or to immorality, or if it do not affect the feelings or interest of a third person, or expose him to ridicule, or libel him, or if it be not against sound policy, or merely to try a point of law(p). But a judge may refuse to try a mere wagering question, except to recover back the money from a stakeholder (q).

Some considerations, as well as contracts, are declared to be ty by invalid by statute; as usury(s), gaming, certain horse-racing wagering po-

It seems an agreement that a surety should continue liable, and that he should not afterwards have recourse to the principal debtor, notwithstanding the creditor signed an agreement to accept from the principal five shillings in the pound in full satisfaction of the debt, would be invalid; Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 514; 6 D. & R. 557, S. C. When surety not discharged by composition with principal; Cowper v. Smith, 4 M. & W. 519, infra, note (n).

(h) Wells v. Girling, 1 Brod. & Bing. 447; 4 J. B. Moore, 78, (Chit. jun. 1051)

(i) Smith v. Cuff, 6 Maule & S. 160, (Chit. jan. 991); Turner v. Hoole, D. & R., N. P. C. 27. But see note (k), infra.

(j) Alsager v. Spalding, 6 Scott, 204; 4

Bing. N. C. 407, S. C.
(k) Wilson v. Ray, 2 Perry & Dav. 253, overraling Turner v. Hoole, 1 D. & R. N. P. C. 27.

(1) Feise v. Randal, 6 T. R. 146, (Chit. jun. 450).

(m) Ex parte Hall, 1 Dea. 171, post, Part II. Ch. VIII. s. iv. Bankruptcy.

(n) Pidcock and others v. Hinton and another, 3 B. & C. 605; 5 D. & R. 505, S. C.; 3 Chit. Com. Law, index, tit. Guarantee; 3 D. & R. 664; 3 Bing. 71; Jackson v. Duchaire, 3 T. R. 551; and see Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 514, ante, 85, note (f).

Where the plaintiffs advanced 2600l. to C. upon the security of an indenture of mortgage executed by C., and a promissory note for 2600l. in which the defendant joined as a surety, and at the time of the advance C. owed the plaintiffs 800l. which was deducted from the 2600l, but the recital of the mortgage deed, which was read by the plaintiff's agent in the presence of the defendant, stated untruly, that the 8001. had been paid; it was held, that this was a fraud in law which released the defendant from his liability on the promissory note; Stone v. Compton, 5 Bing. N. C. 142; 6 Scott, 816, S. C.

But where a guarantee provided that the plaintiffs were to have full liberty to extend the period of credit to G., and to hold over or renew bills, notes, or other securities, given by him, and to grant to G. and the persons liable upon such bills, notes or securities, any indulgence, and to compound with him or them respectively, as the plaintiff's might think fit, without the same discharging or in any manner affecting the liability of the defendant by virtue of the guarantee:" it was held, that under the express terms of the guarantee the security was not discharged by the compounding with and the release of the principal debtor; Cowper v. Smith, 4 Mee. & Wels. 519.

(o) Wyburn v. Stanton, 4 Esp. Rep. 179;

see 4 East, 190; 1 Sim. & Stu. 74.

(p) Bull. N. P. 16; Good v. Elliot, 8 T. R. 693; Henkin v. Guerss, 12 East, 247; Gilbert v. Sykes, 16 East, 150. (q) Chitty's Col. Stat. tit. Gaming, in notes; 7 Price, 540; and Hasleton v. Jackson, 8 Bar.

& C. 221; 2 M. & Ry. 209, S. C. (r) Must be specially pleaded; see note (s), anie, 82.

(s) But see 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, post, 88.

(Bif

ĝ.

4.1

W.

ζ-

x==}

a.}

Usury.

II. Illegali- licies, stock-jobbing, trading against the laws of the East India or Russia ty of Concompany, sale of public offices, signing bankrupt's certificates, and others of less general importance. Some of these wholly avoid the security founded
2. By Stat- on such contract or consideration, *even in a bonâ fide holder's hands, others only affect it in the hands of a party to the illegality. We will consider [*87] the enactments in detail.

With respect to the usury laws as affecting bills of exchange and promissory notes, considerable alteration has been made by recent statutes in favour of these instruments, and indeed since the last act upon this subject(t), the laws against usury, except as to securities upon real property, may be said to be altogether abolished. It will, therefore, be sufficient to notice the several enactments(1).

(t) 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, post, 88.

(1) The following notice of State enactments concerning this subject, will perhaps be somewhat advantageous. After the name of each State, the rate of interest allowed there, and the provisions against usury, are given. Vermont.-Interest six per cent. Usurious securities are not void, but no more than six per cent. can be recovered, and those who receive more, forfeit the whole usurious interest, and twenty-five per cent interest on the whole sum of the contract in which is reserved more than six per cent. Whether the twenty-five per cent is intended to be. an accruing sum, and if so, when the computation is to commence, and when or whether it is to be merely a forfeiture of the twenty-five per cent. on the contract, without relation to time, has never been satisfactorily decided: the better opinion is supposed to be, that the latter doctrine will prevail. N. Hampshire.—Interest six per cent. Usurious security void to three times the amount of the usury. In certain cases, when the usury is sued, the oath of the defendant to the truth of his plea of usury, is sufficient evidence to authorize the court to make the deduction, unless the plaintiff will make oath that there is no usury. Connecticut.—Interest six per cent. If a person takes more, it is usury, and he forfeits the value of the money loaned. In the construction of this statute, the courts hold themselves to be governed by the English decisions. Rhode Island .- Interest six per cent If usury be taken, the whole interest is forfeited When usury is pleaded, both parties are admitted as witnesses, and, if usury be made out, the plaintiff has judgment for his principal only, and the defendant for costs. | New York.-Interest seven per cent. If usury be taken, securities are absolutely void, and the court of chancery will en-join their prosecution, and order them to be cancelled. The former exception in favour of boat fide purchasers or holders, is omitted, and the person taking usury is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Laws N. Y. 1837, p. 486. North Carolina.—Interest six per cent. Usurious securities void. and double the value lent forfeited. Pennsylvania.—Interest six per cent. If one be convicted of usury, he forfeits the money, &c. lent, one half to Governor, rest to party suing. Virginia—Interest six per cent. Usurious contracts void. Ohio.—Interest six per cent. If any one demands or receives more than six per cent. on any demand, he forfeils the whole debt, one half to county treasurer, rest to informer. Illinois.—Interest six per cent., but any rate can be agreed for. Georgia.-Interest eight per cent. Usurious contracts void, and three times the amount of usury forfeited. Indiana.—Interest six per cent. When usurious contract is sued, defendant must plead usury specially, and if his plea is substantiated, the whole amount of the interest charged is deducted from the principal, and the plaintiff recovers the balance. If the interest exceeds the principal, the excess constitutes a debt of record against the plaintiff, and judgment is rendered for defendant. Rev. Code 1818, 236, 7. Massachusetts.—Interest six per cent. Userious contracts void; and where usurious interest has been received, the value of the loan is forfeited, and may be recovered by indictment or action on the case, one half to the state, and the other to informer. If there be a suit between the original parties to contract, and the defendant swear to usury, the plaintiff must fail, unless he deny the usury on oath. Alabama.—Interest eight per cent. Provisions against usury severe: a forf-citure of the sum loaned with interest; one half to the state, the other to informer, unless he is the borrower, and then the whole to the state. Usurious contracts are void, and if sued the borrower is a competent witness to prove the usury, unless the lender deny on oath what the borrower offers to swear to. Missouri -Interest six per cent, and ten may be contracted for. If usury has been received, it is deducted from principal, and plaintiff recovers balance only; and in such case the plaintiff can recover no interest, and if the money paid and costs amount to more than the principal, the excess is a debt of record against the plaintiff. Mississippi.—Interest eight per cent. where there is no agreement, and parties may contract for as much as they please, provided it is for a bona fide loan of money. Louisians.—Interest five per cent., which, when no stipulation is made for the rate, begins to run from commencement of suit only, and is called judicial interest; but promissory notes and bills of exchange draw interest from the day of protest. By convention ten per cent. may be taken: and the banks may take six per cent., some of them nine, when money is lent for four months

By the statute against Usury, 12 Ann. stat. 2, c. 16, it was enacted II. Illegali-"that no person or persons whatever, upon any contract, should take, direct-ty of Conly or indirectly, for loan of any monies, wares, merchandize, or other commodities whatsoever, above the value of 5l. for the forbearance of 100l. for 2. By Stata year, and so after that rate for a greater or lesser sum, or for a longer or ute. shorter time; and that all bonds, contracts and assurances whatsoever, made 12 Anne. for payment of any principal or money to be lent, or covenanted to be per- c. 16. formed upon or for any usury, whereupon or whereby there should be reserved or taken above the rate of 51. in the hundred as aforesaid, should be utterly void; and that all and every person or persons whatsoever, who should upon any contract, take, accept, and receive, by way or means of any corrupt bargain, loan, exchange, chevizance, shift, or interest, of any wares, merchandizes, or other thing or things whatsoever, or by any deceitful way or means, or by any covin, engine, or deceitful conveyance, for the forbearing or giving day of payment, for one whole year, of and for their money, or other thing, above the sum of 5l. for the forbearing of 100l. for a year, and so after that rate for a greater or lesser sum, or for a longer or shorter term, should forfeit and lose, for every such offence, the treble value of the monies, wares, merchandizes, and other things so lent, bargained, exchanged, or shifted(u).

Lypon this statute it was holden that a bill or note founded upon an usuri- 53 Geo. 8. ous consideration was void even in the hands of a bonû fide holder (x). by the 58 Geo. 3, c. 93, reciting that to be the law, and that in the course of mercantile transactions negotiable securities often passed into the hands of persons who had discounted the same, without any knowledge of the original consideration for which the same was given, and that the avoidance of such securities, in the hands of such bonû fide indorsees, without notice, was attended with great hardship and injustice, it was enacted "that no bill of exchange or promissory note, that should be drawn or made after the passing of that act, should, though it might have been given for an usurious consideration, or upon an usurious contract, be void in the hands of an indorsee for valuable consideration, unless such indorsee had, at the time of discounting or paying such consideration for the same, actual notice that such bill or note had been originally given for an usurious consideration or upon an usurious contract." The operation of this statute was that if in an action on a bill or note the defendent succeeded in establishing that it was founded on an usurious contract or consideration, the plaintiff was bound to prove that (u) For the law as it stood under this act see Chit. Stat. 1091 to 1095, in notes. The act did not affect contracts made abroad; Harvey r. Archbold, 3 Bar. & Cres. 626; 5 Dowl.

Mazzaredo, 1 Stark. 385; Chapman v. Black, 2 Bar. & Ald. 590, and in Henderson v. Benson, 8 Price, 288. & Ryl. 500, S. C.

(x) Lowe v. Waller, Dougl. 786; Lowes v.

and upwards. There is no special provision against usury: of course, nothing can be recovered which is disallowed by law. Tennessec.—Interest six per cent. Borrower may avoid usury by plea, and the pleadings are to be on oath, and the question tried and decided by a jury. Party taking usury is liable to indictment, and fine to be assessed by the jury. South Carolina.—Interest seven per cent. Usurious contracts are void, and lender forfeits treble the amount of loan: the borrower is a witness to prove usury, unless the lender will swear against him. Maryland. -Interest six per cent. on money, and eight per cent. on tobacco and other commodities. Usurious contracts are void, and the usurer forfeits treble the value of the loan. Maine.-Interest six per cent. Usurer forfeits the value of the loan; the debtor may avoid usurious security by oath, unless the lender will swear against him. Delaware.—Interest six per cent. Usurer forfeits loan, one half to informer, and the other to the state. Kentucky.—Interest six per cent. Usurious contracts void only so far as respects usurious interest. New Jersey.—Interest seven per cent. Usurious contracts void, and lender forfeits loan, one balf to state, and the other to the prosecutor, with costs. Griffith's Law Register, under the head, "Usurious Interest," passim.

(Ell

* 8

30

4.

:

30

£8

7

ŝ.

٠; ا

ï.

174

50

Ž,

3.

21

¥1.0

:::

1

Di |

ti: 3

Þ,

٠, ٦

ŧ

à

¥

3

¥

II. Illegali- he gave value for *it and then the defendant must have shown that the plainty of Con-tiff nevertheless had notice of the usury at the time he took the security(z). The act, however, though evidently intended to repeal so much of the 12 2. By State Anne, c. 16, as rendered bills and notes given for an usurious consideration void in the hands of a bonû fide indorsee for valuable consideration, who had no notice of the usury, but not having in fact repealed any of the provisions of that statute, was held to be confined to parties who had discounted or paid a valuable consideration for the bill or note, and not to extend to a party who had taken it in payment of an antecedent debt(a). But by the 5 & 6 5 & 6 Will. Will. 4, c. 41(b), bills and notes given for an usurious consideration are not to be void, but to be deemed to have been given for an illegal considera-3 & 4 Will. tion(c). And by the 7th section of the late Bank Act, 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, bills and notes at or within three months, or not having more than three months to run, are exempted from the operations of the usury laws(d). This exemption was afterwards extended to bills and notes at or within 7 W. 4 & twelve months or not having more than twelve months to run, by 7 Will. 4 and 1 Vict. c. 80. And now by the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, see post 819,(10)

4, c. 98, s.

4, c. 41.

1 Vict. e.

c. 37.

Bills of Ex-Contracts for Loans or Forbearance of Money above 10%. not to be Usury Laws.

intituled, "An Act to amend and extend until the First Day of January One 2 & 3 Vict. thousand eight hundred and forty-two, the Provisions of an Act of the First Year of Her present Majesty for exempting certain Bills of Exchange and Promissory Notes from the Operation of the Laws relating to Usury," it is change and enacted, "that from and after the passing of this act no bill of exchange or promissory note made payable at or within twelve months after the date thereof, or not having more than twelve months to run, nor any contract for the loan or forbearance of money above the sum of ten pounds(e) sterling, shall, by reason of any interest taken thereon or secured thereby, or any agreement to pay or receive or allow interest in discounting, negotiating or affected by transferring any such bill of exchange or promissory note, be void, nor shall the liability of any party to any such bill of exchange or promissory note, nor the liability of any person borrowing any sum of money as aforesaid, be affected by reason of any statute or law in force for the prevention of usury; nor shall any person or persons or body corporate drawing, accepting, indorsing or signing any such bill or note, or lending or advancing or forbearing any money as aforesaid, or taking more than the present rate of legal interest in Great Britain and Ireland respectively for the loan or forbearance of money as aforesaid, be subject to any penalties under any statute or law relating to usury, or any other penalty or forfeiture; anything in any law or statute relating to usury, or any other law whatsoever in force in any part of the United Kingdom to the contrary notwithstanding; provided always, that nothing herein contained shall extend to the loan or forbearance of any money upon security of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, or any estate or interest therein." Section 2 provides and enacts, "that nothing in that act contained shall Five per cent. to be considered the legal Rate of Interest, ex-cept, &c.

be construed to enable any person or persons to claim in any *court of law or equity more than five per cent. interest on any account or on any contract

(z) Wyatt r. Campbell, 13th July, 1827, MS. Chitty's Col. Stat. 121 a, and Mood. & *89] M. 80, S. C.

(a) Vallance v. Siddel, 6 Ad. & El. 932; 2

N. & P. 78, S. C. (b) See this act more fully, post, 90, 91,

Gaming. (c) It seems to have been doubted whether this statute really has the effect of rendering such securities available in the hands of a bond fide holder for value, see per Lord Abinger in Edmunds v. Groves, 2 M. & W. 642, 644; Dowl. 775, 777, S. C.

(d) See this enactment with notes, ante, 68.
(e) The original object in introducing this sum was to guard against a repeal of the Pawnbrokers' Act, but since this is expressly provided against by the third section of the act, quære if not left in by mistake.

or engagement, notwithstanding they may be relieved from the penalties II. Illegalagainst usury, unless it shall appear to the court that any different rate of ity of Coninterest was agreed to between the parties (1)."

It may be observed, that before the late acts, although a substituted secu-2. By statrity or a renewed bill or note for the same amount in the case of usury would ute be equally void as the original usurious contract(f), yet when the usurious bargain had been rescinded, a renewed bill for the principal and interest justly due would be valid(g). It was necessary, however, that the illegal stipulation should be completely reformed and purged of its objectionable parts, and there must have been an express agreement carried into effect to expunge the original bad part of the debt or claim, and the excess of interest must have been returned or allowed for, otherwise a new settlement of the amount would be unavailing(h); and a party could not recover on a new instrument which operated as a security for any usurious interest, although the old securities had been cancelled(i); and a new security or promise to pay the principal was not valid, unless all payments beyond legal interest had been repaid or deducted(j).

A subsequent usurious contract would not invalidate the right to enforce a previous local one(k). So the subsequently taking illegal interest on a valid debt would not invalidate the same(l). But the taking excessive interest was $prim \hat{i}$ facie evidence of an original illegal contract(m)(2).

- (f) Chapman r. Black, 2 Barn. & Akl. 588; Wynne v. Callande, 1 Russ. 293; Preston r. Jackson, 2 Stark. 237; Davies r. Franklin, 1 Barn. & Adol. 142; and see Marchant r. Dodgin, 2 Moore & S. 682.
- (g) Barnes v. Hedley, 2 Taunt. 184; 1 Campb. 165; 2 Stark. 238; and see Marchant v. Dodgin, 2 Moore & S. 632.
 - (h) Id. ibid.

- (i) Preston r. Jackson, 2 Stark. 287.
- (j) Weeks v. Gogerly, Ry. & Moo. 123.
 (k) Pollard v. Scholey, Cro. Eliz. 20; 1
 Saund. 294, 295.
 - (1) Ferrall r. Shean, 1 Saund. 291.
- (m) See observations in Solarte v. Melville, 1 Man. & Ryl. 204; 7 B. & C. 416, (Chit. jun. 1352); but see Fussell v. Brooks, 2 Car. & P. 318.

(2) When a contract is usurious. The requisites to form an usurious contract are, 1. A loan either express or implied. 2. An understanding that the money lent shall or may be returned. 3. That a greater rate of interest than is allowed by the statute shall be paid. The intent with which the act is done is an important ingredient to constitute the offence. Lloyd r. Scott, 4 Peters' Rep. 205

To constitute usury there must be a corrupt agreement. Payment and receipt of usurious interest is, prima facie, evidence of a corrupt agreement. N. Y. Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cowen, 678.

Where it was agreed between A., a commission merchant in New York, and B., a country trader, that on being furnished with a letter of indemnity, A. would become responsible to a limited amount, and charge for lending his name, if put in funds in time to meet the payment, a half per cent., and two and a half per cent. in all cases of advance; and it appeared that the latter charge was intended, by the parties, as a fair compensation to A. for his trouble in providing for acceptances, which it was the duty of B. to pay, and not as cover for a usurious loan; it was held that the commissions charged under such agreement were not usurious. De Forest et al. s. Strong, 8 Conn. Rep. 513.

Interest taken in advance by a banking institution on discounting a note is not usury. Bank of Utica v. Phillips, 3 Wend. Rep. 408. { State Bank v. Hunter, 1 Dev. 100. Thornton v. The Bank of Washington, 3 Peters, 40. Agricultural Bank v. Bissell, 12 Pick. 586.}

The taking of interest in advance, on discounting a note, by a company not possessing banking powers, does not render the loan usurious. Utica Ins. Co. v. Bloodgood, 4 Wend. Rep. 652.

And this right to take interest in advance, on discounting a note is not confined to banks, bankers and merchants discounting bills in the fair course of commercial business, but extends to in

^{(1) {} Promissory notes payable one month after date, to be renewed as often as they fall due at a discount of one shilling in the pound, (or sixty per cent. per annum) was held to be within the protection of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, s. 7, and 7 Will. 4. & 1 Vict. c. 80. Holt r. Miers, 5 Mee. & Wels. 168. So an agreement with a debtor that he should pay part of the debt, and should have three months forbearance and accept at that date a bill in payment of the residue and pay for such forbearance a sum exceeding five per cent. was held to be exempted from the usury laws by 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 98, § 7. King v. Braddon, 2 Per. & Dav. 546. }

(2) When a contract is usurious. The requisites to form an usurious contract are, 1. A loan ad

No.

12.3

1.3

Υu

C 2 i,

æ

27 1

y 1

2 ù

1

Ж,

į, 7 ن د

.

۲,

41

M

٠.

411

Ŀ

₹: ¥ tr

ą.

11

ŧ

ţ

5

1

e. 7.

II. Illegal- 'A gaming consideration is declared illegal by the statute 16 Car. 2, c. 7, ity of Con- and 9 Anne, c. 14(0). The first statute avoids all securities whether writsideration.

(n) See the statutes with notes, Chitty's Wilmot's notes, 194; Edwards v. Dick, 4 B. Col. Stat. tit. "Gaming." & Al. 212, (Chit. iun. 1079). 2. By Statute. (o) 1 Pow. 207; Bac. Ab. tit. "Gaming;"

Gaming (n). 16 Car. 2, dividuals and others having a general right to discount. N. Y. Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cow-

A note reserving interest negotiated by a broker or agent, who obtains the money on the same for the maker, from a third person, is not usurious in the hands of the holder, although the agent be the payee of the note, and receives 124 per cent. for the negotiation, no part of such sum being paid or agreed to be paid to the person advancing the money. Barretto v. Snowden, 5 Wend. Rep. 181.

An agreement to pay interest upon interest, after the interest has accrued, is not usurious: iven on the settlement of an account, in which compound interest is charged, is not usurious.

Kellogg v. Hickok, 1 Wend. Rep. 521.

It is not illegal to receive compound interest for the giving day of payment of money. Dow v.

Drew, 8 New Hamp. 40.

A promissory note for the payment of a particular sum, with interest from a day anterior to the date of the note, in itself affords no evidence of usury. Marving: Feeter, 8 Wend. Rep.

Nor is it usurious, on selling a note payable at a future day, to take a note for the principal and interest of the note sold computed to the day of sale, without making a rebate. Ib. See also, Holden v. Pollard, 4 Pick. 178; Levy r. Hampton, 1 M'Cord, 145.

It is not within the scope of these notes to state the general doctrine as to what constitutes neary. But the learned reader will find valuable information as to the doctrine of usery upon discount of notes in the following cases: Atkinson v. Scott's Ex., 1 Bay's Rep. 307. Churchill v. Suter, 4 Mass. Rep. 156. Portland Bank v. Storer, 7 Mass. Rep. 438. Jones v. Hake, 2 John. Cas. 60. Wilkie v. Roosevelt, Payne v. Trezevant, Musgrove r. Gibbs, 1 Dall. Rep. 216. Wycoff v. Longhead, 2 Dall. Rep. 92. Northampton Bank v. Allen, 10 Mass. Rep. 84. Thompson v. Thompson, 8 Mass. Rep. 135. Munn v. The Commission Company, 15 John. Rep. 44. Bennet v. Smith & Phelps, 15 John. Rep. 355. Powell v. Waters, 8 Cowen, 669. Stribbling v. Bank of the Valley, 5 Rand. 182. Whitworth v. Adams, Id. 883. Johnson v. King, 3 M'Cord, 365. Fleming v. Mulligan, 2 M'Cord, 173. To take interest in advance, upon discounting a ninety day note, made to be discounted, the interest being calculated at one fourth of a year, for the ninety days, is usury, and the note, therefore, void. Bank of Utica v. Wagar, 8 Cowen, 398. If a mode of calculating interest, which gives to the creditor more than legal interest, is adopted, and he knows that it will have that effect, it constitutes usury, although the creditor may not suppose that he thereby violates the statute. Childers v. Deane, 4 Rand. 406.

Where in consequence of an usurious agreement, a person is procured to indorse a note given in the usurious transaction, though at the time, he knew nothing of the usurious contract, yet his indorsement is void. Wilks v. Brummer, 2 M'Cord, 178.

It seems, if a security be given for a debt, a part of which is valid, and part for an usurious consideration, the whole will be infected, though separate notes be given. Fleming v. Mulligan, ut supra. See Motte v. Dorrell, 1 M'Cord, 350.

Courts will not sanction any kind of artifice or contrivance by which the lenders of money may bope to evade the statutes against usury, and receive more than the levelul rate of interest. Thus, where a proposition is made for a loan of money, and the lender will only consent to lend a part of the money wanted, on condition that the borrower shall receive bank stock, (or any other collateral articles) at a price much above the market value, to make up the deficiency, and the bargain is made on such terms, the contract is usurious and void. Stribbling r. Bank of the Valley, 5 Rand. 132. Where M. requested J. to procure a loan of money for him, stipulating to pay J. 3 per cent. per month. J. accordingly borrowed the money of W. at legal interest, and gave him his note with an indorser. M. paid J. the 8 rer cent. for his own benefit. Held, that the note was not usurious. Coster v. Dilworth, 8 Cowen, 299.

Commission is a fair compensation for the use of the name and credit of the acceptor, but interest is not allowable on advances to take up an acceptance, where there is no agreement to pay any. Segond v. Thomas, 10 Curry's Louis. Rep. 295. So where the holder of a note payable to himself, requested another person to procure it to be discounted, who did so by placing his own name on as indorser and out of the avails retained thirty dollars for his indorsement and trouble, it was held that the transaction was usurious. Steele r. Whipple, 21 Wend. 103. The transfer and guaranty of a note for an expressed consideration less than the face of the note, is not per se usurious; the guarantor when called on for payment being only liable to refund the amount received by him with interest. Magurgan v. Mead, Id. 285.

Effect of usury. A contract usurious in its inception cannot afterwards be rendered valid, even in the hands of a bont fide indorsee without notice of the usury. Wilkie v. Roosevelt, 3 John. Ca. 206. Payne v. Trezevant, 1 Bay's Rep. 28. See Warren c. Crabtree, 1 Greenl. 167. ten or verbal, given to secure any sum of money exceeding 100l. lost at play: II. Illegalbut the 9 Anne only avoids written contracts(p), and an action of assumpsit ity of Con-

(p) Robinson v, Bland, 2 Burr. 1077; 1 Wills. 67; M'Kenell v. Robinson, 3 M. & W. 2. By Stat-Bla. 260, S. C.; sed vide Young v. Moore, 2 484, 441.

Though a usurious note be void in the hands of a bon1 fide holder, yet a new security given to such holder for the usurious note is good. Stewart v. Eden, 2 Caines' Rep. 150. Chadbourne v. Watts, 10 Mass. Rep. 121. Kilburn v. Bradley, 3 Days' Rep. 268. Jackson v. Heary, 10 Jackson v. Heary, 10 John. Rep. 185. Floming v. Mulligan, 2 M'Cord, 173. Steele v. Franklin, 5 N. Hamp. Rep. 876. And a judgment in the hands of a bon't fide assignee, it seems, is not affected by usury in the original transaction. Wardwell v. Eden, 2 John. Cas. 263. S. C. 1 John. Rep. 581, note. A security originally valid cannot be invalidated by a subsequent usurious transaction between the original parties or privies. Bush v. Livingston, 2 Caines' Cas. in Err., 66; see Whitworth v. Adams, 5 Rand. 333. And no usurious transactions between intermediate parties can affect the title to a note in the hands of a bon2 fide holder. Foltz v. May, 1 Bay's Rep. 496. Johnson v. King, 3 M'Cord, 365. See Whitworth v. Adams, ut supra.

If the payee or indorsee of a valid promissory note gives it up to the maker as part of the consideration for a new note, which is afterwards avoided on the ground of usury, he may recover of the maker the amount of the original note. Ramsdell v. Soule, 12 Pick. Rep. 126.

Where money was lent before the statute of usury, 1783, c. 55, was repealed, and a promissory note was given for its re-payment with lawful interest, and the borrower promised verbally to pay a usurious rate of interest for the loan; it was held, that the note was not rendered void by the verbal agreement. Butterfield c. Kidder, S Pickering's Rep. 512.

Where a usurious note has been transferred for valuable consideration, and without notice, and a new note is taken by the holder, the usury of the first note cannot be set up in bar of a recovery on the second note. Kent v. Walton, 7 Wend. Rep. 256.

A mortgage taken on a loan of money, including a former usurious loan, is void; the taint of usury destroys the whole security. Jackson v. Packard, 6 Wend. 415.

Where an acceptance is given in consideration that the party obtaining it will, in a specified period, deliver to the acceptor a quantity of wheat, the acceptor cannot set up usury though the acceptance was afterwards and before maturity, usuriously negotiated. Cameron v. Chappell, 24 Wend. 94. Promissory notes pledged as security for an usurious loan cannot be recovered on in a suit by the lender against the borrower, nor by a third person, who has received them to collect and apply the proceeds to the credit of the lender. Bell v. Lent, Id. 230.

An usurious security given in part for a pre-existing valid debt, does not affect that debt, which may be recovered on the original consideration, or upon a subsequent promise, after the recision of the usurious security. But no promise express or implied based on such usurious security is binding. Hammond v. Hopping, 13 Wend. 505. And the security is equally void whether the unlawful excess be actually paid or only promised to be paid, Id.

The bon't fide holder of a usurious note, buying without knowledge of the illegal transaction, held not effected by it. Creed v. Stevens, 4 Whart. 223.

The sale of a valid note at a greater discount than the legal interest, is not usurious, though indorsed by the seller, but the indorsee can recover from the indorser only the sum paid by him with interest. French v. Grindle, 15 Maine, 163. Farmer v. Sewall, 16 Maine, 456. Brittin r. Freeman, 2 Harr. 191.

It is incumbont on an indorser to show himself a boni fide holder, if he would prevent usury from being set up against him. Hanrick v. Andrews, 9 Porter, 10.

Computation of interest. Taking interest for a portion of a year, computed on the principle that a year consists of 360 days, or 12 months of 30 days each, is not usurious, provided this principle is resorted to in good faith, as furnishing an easy and practicable mode of computation, and not as a cover for usury. Agricultural Bank v. Bissell, 12 Pick. Rep. 586. { See also The Bank of Burlington v. Durkee, 1 Vern. 309. But in the case of the N. Y. Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely it is decided that casting interest upon the principle that 30 days are the 12th of a year, 60 days the 6th, 90 days the 4th of a year and the three days of grace the 10th of a month, and discounting a note upon such a calculation is usurious. Such a usage among banks, although it were universal, would not prevent its being usurious (2 Cowen, 678.) See also Utica Ins. Co. r. Tillman. 1 Wend. 555.

It is now settled however, by the revised statutes of New York, that, for the purpose of calcalating interest, a month is to be considered as the twelfth part of a year, and as consisting of thirty days. (See 1 Rev. St. 773, § 3.) }

(Sec also Powell r. Waters, 8 Cowen Rep. 663. Stock c. Parkor, 2 M'Cord's Chan. Rep. 898. Knights v. Putnam, 3 Pick. Rep. 184. | Gibson v. Steurns, 3 N. Hamp. 186; Copeland s. Jenes, Idem, 116; Forbes v. Marsh, Idem, 119; Tilford v. Sumner's Exrs., 2 Yerg. 255; Savings Bank v. Bates, 8 Con. 505; Livingston v. Harris, 11 Wend. 329; Selby v. Morgan, 8 Leigh, 577; Clarkson's adm'r v. Garland, 1 Idem, 147; Cockey v. Forrest, 3 Gill & John. 482; Colton v. Dunbam, 2 Paige, 267; Brockway v. Copp., 3 Idem, 539; Cummings v. Williams 4 World 270. Birch W. Climber 5 Idem, 585; Henrick and M. Sarin Barrish and A. Welling S. Idem, 585; Carbon by Carbon 1 and Williams, 4 Wend. 679; Rice v. Welling, 5 Idem, 595; Herrick v. Jones, 4 M'Cord, 402; Merritt v. Benton, 10 Wend. 116; M'Nairy v. Bell, 1 Yerg. 502; Fulton Bank v. Benedict, 1

111

20

1 ij.:

ŧΧ

ľ

11

1 đ,

ξ.

ž.

ï.

13

1:

26

د په

¥

•

sideration,

9 Anne, c.

14.

II. Illegal- will lie to recover money won at play not amounting to 10l. (q). By the 9 ity of Con- Anne, c. 14, s. 1, it is enacted, "that all notes, bills, bonds, judgments, mortgages, or other securities or conveyances whatsoever, given, granted, 2. By Stat- drawn or entered into (r), or executed by any person or persons whatsoever, where the whole or any part of the consideration of such conveyances or securities shall be for any money or other valuable thing whatsoever won by gaming or playing at cards, dice-tables, tennis, bowls, or other game or games whatsoever(s), *or by betting on the sides or hands of such as do game at any of the games aforesaid, or for the reimbursing or repaying any money knowingly lent or advanced for such gaming or betting as aforesaid, or lent or advanced at the time and place of such play to any person or persons so gaming or betting as aforesaid, or that shall during such play so play or bet, shall be utterly roid, frustrate and of none effect to all intents and purposes whatsoever, any statute, law or usage to the contrary thereof in anywise notwithstanding."

Under these statutes a bill of exchange or promissory note given for a gambling debt was void, even in the hands of a bona fide holder(t); and a bill, though not drawn for a gaming consideration, yet if it were accepted by the drawer, and delivered by him for such consideration, was void in the hands of a bona fide holder, and could not be enforced against the acceptor(u); and fresh bills given in France on French stamps in lieu of English bills given for money lost at play in England, will still be equally invalid in the hands of the original parties; and on a bill filed, a court of equity will compel them to deliver up such renewed bills(x). But as in the case of usury before the 58 Geo. 3, c. 93(y), a renewed or substituted security given for a gambling debt was held to be valid in the hands of a bona fide hol-

(q) Bulling v. Frost, 1 Esp. Rep. 235.

(r) As to these words, see Henderson v. Benson, 8 Price, 281, (Chit. jun. 1085.)

(s) Any game is within the act; Sigel r. Jebb, 3 Stark. C. N. P. 1, (Chit. jun. 1078). A horse race is, 2 Stra. 1159, though for a legal plate, 2 Bla. Rep. 706; 2 Wils. 309; Shillito r. Theed, 5 M. & P. 303, post, 90, n.(1); a trotting match, Martin v. Smith, 6 Scott, 268; 4 Bingh. N. C. 434, S. C.; so a foot race, 2 Wils. 36; so also semble a game of cricket, I Wils. 220. As to backgammon, see 13 Geo. 2, c. 19, s. 9; 2 H. Blp. 46. It was formerly considered that money lent for the purpose of illegal gaming might be recovered back, see Robinson v. Bland, 2 Burr. 1077; 1 Bla. Rep. 256, S. C.; but a contrary doctrine has since been established, M'Kinwell v. Robinson, 3 M. & W. 434; and see Carman r. Bryce, 3 B. & Al. 179.

(t) Bowyer r. Brampton, 2 Stra. 1153, (Chit. jun. 296). Several notes given by Brampton to Church for money lent to game with, were indorsed by Church to the plaintiff for a full and valuable consideration, and the plaintiff had no knowledge that any part of the consideration from Church to Brampton was money lent for gaming; and after two arguments upon a case reserved the court held, that the plaintiff could not maintain the action, for it would be making the notes of use to the lender if he could pay his debts with them, and it would tend to evade the act on account of the difficulty of proving notice on an indorsee, and the plaintiff would not be without remedy, for he might sue Church upon his indorsement; and see Bayl. 237; Wilmot's notes, 194; Aliken r. Howell, 1 Nev. & M. 191. In Shillito v. Theed, 5 M. & P. 308; S. C. 7 Bing. 405; 9 Law J. 135, C. P.; 5 C. & P. 303, it was held, that the plaintiff, though an indorsee for valuable consideration, could not recover on a bill given in payment of a bet above 101. lost on a legal horse race.

(u) Henderson r. Benson, 8 Price, 281,

(Chit. jun. 1085).
(x) Wynne v. Callandar, 1 Russ. R. 293. (y) See Cuthbert r. Haley, S T. R. 390.

Hall, 480; Early r. M'Cart, 2 Dana, 415; Crump v. Trytille, 5 Leigh, 251; Brock v. Thompson, 1 Bai. 322; Rowland v. Hoover, 2 How. 769; Roffey v. Greenwell, 2 Per. & Day. 865.

A note without a place of payment designated draws interest according to the law of the place where dated, Hoppins r. Miller, 2 Harr. 185. But where the place of payment is designated, and no interest contemplated till default in payment, interest accrues after default according to the law of the place of payment. Hanrick v. Andrews, 9 Porter, 10. And see Kirk and Lakens r. Fenwicke, 2 Brev. 241. }

As to running accounts between merchants, see Hart v. Dewy, 2 Paige Ch. Rep. 207. That the question of usurious interest is to be left to the jury, see Thomas r. Cutherall, 5 Gill. & John. 23; Bank of Burlington r. Durkee, 1 Verm. 399; Lloyd r. Scott, 4 Peters, 205; Stockett r. Ellicott, 3 Gill. & John. 123; Brittin r. Freeman. 2 Harr. 191. }

140

1

...

111

der, if he took it when he was ignorant of the illegality (z). And an action II. Illegaliagainst the indorser of such a bill or note at the suit of a bond fide holder ty of Conmight be sustained(a); for to allow this defence to the drawer or indorser sideration. would be to protect the party who had violated the provisions of the act. 2 By And now by the 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, intituled, "An Act to amend the Statute. Law relating to Securities given for Considerations arising out of Gaming, Usurious and certain other Illegal Transactions," after reciting the 16 Car. 5 & 6 Will. 2, c. 7, 10 Will. 3, (Ireland), 9 Anne, c. 14, 11 Anne, (Ireland), 12 4, c. 41. Anne, st. 2, c. 16, 5 Geo. 2, (Ireland), 58 Geo. 3, c. 98, 45 Geo. 3, c. 72, s. 17, (which makes void all contracts, bills and notes for ransom of any ship, &c.) 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 125, 11 & 12 Geo. 3, (Ireland,—making void all contracts and securities for signing a bankrupt's certificate), and that securities and instruments made void by the recited acts, other than bills and notes made valid by the 58 Geo. 3, c. 93, are sometimes indorsed, transferred, assigned or conveyed *to purchasers or other persons for a valu- [*91] able consideration without notice of the original consideration for which such securities or instruments were given; and the avoidance of such securities or instruments in the hands of such purchasers or other persons is often attended with great hardship and injustice, it is enacted, "that so much of the Securities recited acts as enacts that any note, bill or mortgage shall be absolutely given for void, shall be and the same is hereby repealed; but nevertheless every note, tions arising bill or mortgage which if this act had not been passed would by virtue of out of Illethe said recited acts or any of them have been absolutely void, shall be deem- gal Transed and taken(b) to have been made, drawn, accepted, given or executed for actions not to be void, an illegal consideration, and the said several acts shall have the same force but to be and effect which they would respectively have had if instead of enacting that deemed to any such note, bill or mortgage should be absolutely void, such acts had re- have been spectively provided that every such note, bill or mortgage should be deemed an Illegal and taken to have been made, drawn, accepted, given or executed for an il- Considerlegal consideration: provided always, that nothing herein contained shall pre- ation(c). judice or affect any note, bill or mortgage which would have been good and valid if that act had not been passed."

Sec. 2 enacts, "that in case any person shall after the passing of this act Money make, draw, give or execute any note, bill, or mortgage for any conside-paid to the ration on account of which the same is by the recited acts of 16 Car. 2, c. Holder of such Se-

(z) George r. Stanley, 4 Taunt. 683, (Chit. jun. 876). The defendant gave the bills in question for the amount of a gaming debt, which, when due, he renewed with the plaintiff the holder, and when the last-mentioned bills became dae, executed a warrant of attorney, and confessed judgment for the amount, whereon execution being levied, a rule nisi was obtained to have the money restored and the warrant of attorney cancelled, but upon cause being shown, the court held that the defendant ought to have availed himself of this ground of defence when he was applied to for the payment of the first bills, and discharged the rule, but permitted him to try an issue whether the plaintiff were implicated. See Davison v. Franklin, 1 B. & Ad. 142, post, 96, and see Day v. Stuart, 6 Bing. 109; 3 M. & P. 334, (Chit. jun. 1448). As to pleading illegality of substituted bill, see Boulton r. Coglan, 1 Bing. N. C. 640; 1 Scott, 588, S. C. post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and

(a) Edwards v. Dick, 4 B. & Al. 212, (Chit. jun 1079); per curiam, Bowyer r Brampton. 2 Stra. 1155, (Chit. jun. 296).

(b) In Hitchcock v. Way, 6 Adol. & Ellis, to be paid 943; 2 Nev. & P. 72, S. C., this, as well as on account the following section, was held to be prospec- of the Pertire; and, therefore, in an action against the son to acceptor of a bill of exchange by a bon't fide whom the holder, brought to issue before the passing of same was this statute, but tried after, the defendant originally might avail himself of the 9 Anne, c. 14, and was given. entitled to nousuit if he proved the bill to have been given for a gaming consideration. was said, that where the law is altered by statute pending an action, the law as is existed when the action was commenced must decide the rights of the parties, unless the legislature by the language used show a clear intention to vary the mutual relation of such parties.

(c) A doubt seems to have been entertained whether this act, which professes to render securities given for gaming debts available in the hands of a bona fide holder for value, really has that effect. See per Abinger, C. B. in Edmunds v. Groves, 2 M. & W. 662, 664; 5

Dowl. 775, 777.

curity shall be deemed (Bil.

136

5783

I"

1.

WAY.

1

2.0

1:

٤.4

3

2. By Statute.

II. Illegali- 7, 10 Will. S, (Ireland), 9 Anne, c. 14, and 11 Anne, (Ireland), or by ty of Con- any one or more of such acts declared to be void, and such person shall actually pay to any indorsee, holder or assignee of such note, bill or mortgage the amount of the money thereby secured or any part thereof, such money so paid shall be deemed and taken to have been paid for and on account of the person to whom such note, bill or mortgage was originally given upon such illegal consideration as aforesaid, and shall be deemed and taken to be a debt due and owing from such last-named person to the person who shall so have paid such money, and shall accordingly be recoverable by action at law in any of his Majesty's courts of record."

In an action on a bill of exchange after a verdict for the defendant, on the ground that the bill was drawn originally for a gambling debt, the court will not grant a new trial upon affidavits negativing such defence where there has been no surprise (d).

Stock-jobbing(e). •92

The statute 7 Geo. 2, c. 8, enacts, "that all wagers and contracts in the nature of wagers, and all contracts in the nature of puts and *refusals relating to the price or value of any stock or securities as therein mentioned, shall be null and void to all intents and purposes whatsoever." A bill of exchange, given in respect of such a transaction, is invalid in the hands of the original parties, and of a person who received it after it was due, or with notice of the circumstances(e). But as this act does not, like the statute against gaming, avoid bills, notes and securities, but only the contracts, it follows, that a bill or note, though founded on a stock-jobbing transaction, is valid in the hands of a bona fide holder, who received it without knowledge

(d) Aliken r. Howell, 1 Nev. & M. 191. (e) See the act with full notes thereon, Chit. Col. Stat. tit. "Stock-jobbing;" and Faikney v. Reynous, 4 Burr. 2069; Sunders v. Kentish, 8 T. Ř. 162; Tate r. Wellings, 3 T. R. 531. The act was made perpetual by 10 Geo. 2, c. 8. A stock-jobbing transaction seems to be thus-"neither buyer nor seller have any stock, but the buyer agrees nominally to buy of the seller stock (sny) 1000l. on a certain day. When that day arrives, if the stock is at a lower price than when the bargain was made, the buyer pays the seller as much per cent. on the 1000l. as the stock hus fallen; but if the stock has risen, the seller pays the buyer in a similar way. The sums so paid are called differences. In fact, a time bargain is a mere wager, the seller betting that the stock will fall, the buyer that it will rise." See 1 C. & P. Rep. 13, n. (a). The stock-broker cannot be compelled to prove the stock-jobbing; but if he refuse to state the consideration, it will be taken that there was no consideration, and the plaintiff must prove himself a bon's fi.le holder for value. See Rawlings v. Hall, 1 C. & P. 11; Thomas v. Newton, 2 C. & P. 606, 607, post, 100, note (u)

Time bargains in foreign funds are not within the act, or illegal at common law, Henderson n the act, of negarial common law, Henderson r. Bise, 3 Stark. Rep. 158; Wells v. Porter, 8 Scott, 141; S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 722; 2 Hodges, 78; Oakley v. Rigby, 3 Scott, 194; S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 782; 2 Hodges, 42; Ebsworth v. Cole, 2 M. & W. 31; Robson v. Fallowes, 43; S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M. d. S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 292; 2 M Scott, 43; S. C. 3 Bing. N. C. 392; 3 Hodges, 41; Morgan v. Pebrer, 4 Scott, 230; 3 Bing. N. C. 457, S. C.; nor was dealing in lottery produces, at a time when lotteries were permitted; Mortimer v. Salkeld, 4 Camp. 42. But jobbing in omnium is within the act; Brown r. Turner, 2 Esp. 631; 7 T. R. 630, (Chit jan. 611). The act does not apply when the seller is really possessed of the stock intended to be transferred, Sanders r. Kentish, 8 T. R. 162; and it suffices if at the time of the sale, through the medium of a broker, the principal be possessed of the stock, although his name be not disclosed by the broker; Child r. Morley, 8 T. R. 610. And a person who has omnium is potentially in possession of stock, and may legally contract to sell out omnium to be replaced in stock; Olivierson v. Coles, 1 Stark. Rep. 496. Stock-brokers are brokers within the 6 Anne, c. 16, and 57 Geo. 3, c. 60, Clarke r. Powell, 4 B. & A. 846; 1 N. & M. 492, S. C.; and unless duly admitted cannot sue for commission; Cope v Rowlands, 2 M. & W. 149. As to right of stock-broker to recover differences paid by him on behalf of his principal, see (hild r. Morley, 8 T. R. 610; Lightfoot v. Creed, 2 Moore, 255; Powle r. Gunn, 6 Scott, 286; 4 Bing. N. C. 445, S. C. It was doubted in the last case whether Spanish and Portuguese bonds were "goods, wares and merchandizes" within the statute of frauds, 29 Car. 2, c. 8, s. 17, so as to require a written contract.

(e) Brown v. Turner, 7 T. R. 630; 2 Esp. 631; post, 95, (Chit. j 611); Aubert v. Maze, 2 Bos. & Pul. 374; Steers v. Lashley, 6 T. R. 61, (Chit. j. 533); Amory v. Merewether, 2 B. & C. 578; 4 D. & R. S6, (Chit. j. 120); where the plaintiffs took the bill after it was due, and had knowledge of the stock-jobbing.

of the circumstance before it was due(f). Where promissory notes were II. Illegaligiven by a stockbroker for the balance of an account of money advanced by ty of Con-him to be employed in stock-jobbing transactions, against the statute 7 Geo. sideration. him to be employed in stock-jobbing transactions, against the statute 7 Geo. 2, c. 8, part of the consideration consisting of the profits on these transac- 2. By tions, proof under his bankruptcy was restrained to the residue, viz. the mo- Statute. ney received, which he had applied to his own use(g).

A horse-race for a plate under 50l. is illegal(h), but a deposit of 25l. Horse-racaside is sufficient(i). So gaming in the lottery, when lotteries were permitted, was illegal(j); gaming policy on ships and lives, or other events, without being interested therein, is invalid (k).

*Trading against the laws of the East India Company(j) or the Russia Other Con-

Company(k) is also illegal.

h

.1

K2

.....

201

-13

....

مياز نع مياز نع

; 3

And the sale of an office (1) or of a vote, or bribery at an election, is in- Void by valid(m).

So a Simoniacal contract(n).

A stipulation to a sheriff, in consideration of ease and favour(o).

A contract in consideration of signing a bankrupt's certificate(p).

[*93]

(f) Day v. Stuart, 6 Bing. 109; 3 M. & P. 884, (Chit. j. 1448); and Greenland v. Dyer, (12th June, 1828,) cor. Lord Tenterden, and confirmed on motion for new trial, Chit. Col. Stat. 1033, note (d); 2 Man. & Ryl. 422, (Chit. jun. 1404.)

(g) Ex parte Bulmer, 18 Ves. 313. Money lent and applied by the borrower for the express purpose of settling losses on illegal stock jobbing transactions, to which the lender was no party, cannot be recovered back by him; Cannan r. Bryce, 3 B. & Ald. 179; and see M'Kinnell v.

Robinson, 3 M. & W. 434; ante, 89, note (s).
(h) 13 Geo. 2, c. 19; 18 Geo. 2, c. 34; Whaley r. Pajot, 2 B. & P. 51; Robson r. Hall, Peake's Ca. Ni. Pri. 127; Johnson r. Bunn, 4 T. R. I. A wager of above 101. on a horse race is illegal, though the race be legal; Clayton r. Jennings, 2 Bla. Rep. 708; Goodburn v. Marley, 2 Stra. 1159; Blaxton r. Pye, 2 Wils. 309; Macallister v. Haden, 2 Campb. 438, 439; Shilitto v. Theed, 5 M. & P. 303; 7 Bing. 405, S. C.; ante, 90, note (1).

(i) Bidmead v. Gale, 4 Burr. 2432.
(j) Deey v. Shee, 2 T. R. 617; Seddons v. Stratford, Peake's Rep. 215; Wyatt v. Bulmer, 2 Esp. Rep. 538, (Chit. j. 575); Respecting the abolition of latence at Go. 4. 60 the abolition of lotteries, see 4 Geo. 4, c. 60. 2 Will. 4, c. 2, and 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 66.

(k) 19 Geo. 2, c. 37; Kent v. Bird, Cowp. 583. Does not extend to foreign ships; Nantes t. Thompson, 2 East, 385; 14 Geo. 3, c. 48. The insurer must have a pecuniary interest in the life insured; Halford v. Kymer, 10 B. & C. 724. A policy upon the sex of a person is wagering within the 14 Geo. 3, c. 48; Roebuck v. Hamerton, Cowp. 737; but a wager to be within that act must assume the shape of a policy of insurance; Good v. Elliott, 3 T. R. 690; Morgan v. Pebrer, 4 Scott, 230; S. C. 8 Bing. 457; 8 Hodges, 3. See the acts with notes, Chit. Stat. 619, 622.

(f) Lightfoot v. Tenant, 1 B. & P. 552.

(k) Grose v. La Page, Holt, C. N. P. 105. (l) 5 & 6 Ed. 6, c. 16; 49 Geo. 3, c. 126;

Chit. Col. Stat. "Offices, Sale of," 740; 3 Y. & J. 136; Blackford v. Preston, S T. R. 93; Parsons r. Thompson, 1 H. Bla. 322; Layng c. Paine, Willes, 571; Com. Dig. "Officer," K. 1; Bac. Ab. "Officer," F.; Stackpole r. Earle, 2 Wils. 133; Balmer v. Bate, 2 B. & B. 673; 6 Moore, 28, S. C.; Harrington v. Kloprogge, 2 B. & B. 678; 2 Chit. Rep. 475, S. C. As to offence at common law, ante, 84, note (d).

(m) 2 Geo. 2, c. 24; Anonymous, Lofft, 552; Sulston r. Norton, 3 Burr. 1235; The King r. Pitt, 1 Bla Rep. 390; Allen v. Hearn, 1 T. R. 56; Webb v. Smith, 4 Bingh. N. C.

373; 6 Scott, 147, S. C

(n) 31 Eliz. c. 6; Totteridge v. Mackelly, Sir W. Jones, 341; Co. Litt. 206 b; Layng v. Paine, Willes, 575, n. (a); Bac. Abr. "Simony;" Doe d. Watson v. Fletcher, 8 B. & C. 25. See the act with notes, Chit. Stat. 150 to 152. See also 7 & S Geo. 4, c. 25, and 9 Geo. 4, c. 94, ib. 1134, 1135; Alston v. Atlay. 6 Nev. & Man. 686.

(o) 23 Hen. 6, c. 9; Rogers r. Reeves, 1 T. R. 418; Samuel v. Evans, 2 T. R. 569; Sell.

Prac. 129 to 137; 1 Pow. 173.

 (p) 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 125; Smith v. Bromley, Doug. 696; Cockshott v. Bennett, 2 T. R. 673; Nerot v. Wallace, 3 T. R. 17; Sumner r. Brady, 1 Hen. Bla. 647.

Before the late act 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, (unte, 90, 91,) a bill given to a creditor to induce him to sign a bankrupt's certificate, was void in whosesoever hands it might be, and whatever the consideration given by the holder; although a bill given to a creditor merely to keep him from taking sleps to oppose the certificate would be good in the hands of a holder for value without notice; Birch v. Jervis, 8 Car. & P. 879, (Chit. jun. 1409); but by the operation of that statute such bill will now be valid in the hands of a bona fide holder for value.

So a bill or note in consideration of not opposing the discharge of an insolvent debter would be void; Murray v. Reeves, 8 B. & C.

917. 1

. : 15

771 di I

12 0

4.1

....

....

J77 |

7

sideration.

2. By Statute.

11. Illegalia And a contract to ransom any British ship or goods captured by an enemy ty of Conic declared unlawful (q). So there are some prohibitory statutes, as the act And a contract to ransom any British ship or goods captured by an enemy 55 Geo. 3, c. 194, s. 21, which prohibits persons from recovering for medicines, unless they prove that they have been regularly certificated apothecaries; and if a note be given for medicines, the apothecary cannot recover without adducing the like evidence (r).

Other Prohibited Transactions.

Besides these and many other cases of contracts and securities, expressly declared by statute to be void, there are other cases in which *the legislature have prohibited a transaction, and a bill or note having been given to [*94] carry into effect such prohibited contract, the instrument has been held void Thus a bill of exchange, part of the consideration for which consists of spirituous liquor, sold in quantities of less than twenty shillings value, is wholly void, though the other part of the consideration was money lent, because such sale of spirits is contrary to the statute 24 Geo. 2, c. 40(t). So a bill for a share of the profits of an unlicensed theatre, or for money paid in procuring performers and dresses for such theatre, is invalid(u). And it has been held that no action can be supported by the plaintiff on a note given to him by the defendant as an apprentice fee, if it appear that the indenture executed was void by the statute 8 Anne, c. 9, for want of insertion of such premium therein, and a proper stamp in respect to the same, although the plaintiff did, in fact, maintain the apprentice for some time, and until he absconded (x). But it was held no objection to an action on a promissory note, that it was given as part of the consideration of an indenture of apprenticeship for less than seven years, by being antedated, such indenture being, by the statute of Elizabeth, only voidable and not void(y).

By the 6 Geo. 4, c. 91, the 18th, 19th, and 20th sections of the 6 Geo.

421; 2 Man. & R. 423, S. C.; Rogers v. Kingston, 10 Moore, 97; 2 Bingh. 441, S. C. So a note to a commissioner under a commission of bankruptcy, for his whole debt, pending the commission, is void; Hayward v. Chambers, 5 B. & Ald. 753; 1 D. & R. 411, S. C., (Chit. jun. 1187); and the certificate itself will likewise be void; Horn r. Jones, 4 B. & Ad. 78; 1 N. & M. 627, S. C.; and see Robson v Calze, 1 Doug. 228; Holland v. Palmer, 1 B. & P. 95, there cited.

An agreement between a petitioning creditor, who has sued out a fiat in bankruptcy, and the bankrupt, that the former shall abandon the prosecution of the fiat, and that the bankrupt shall accept a bill of exchange for a certain amount, is illegal even as between the bankrupt and the petitioning creditor, and the bill of exchange accepted by the bankrupt in pursuance of such an agreement is void, and no action can be maintained upon it; Davis v. Holding, 1 Mee. & Wels. 159; 1 Gale, 380, S. C. And a bill of exchange for part of a debt given by a bank-rupt, after commission, and before certificate, to his assignee, who was also petitioning creditor, and had proved for the residue of his debt, was held void in the hands of the assignee, both as being contrary to the general policy of the bankrupt law, and as being contrary to the spirit of the 5th section of 6 Geo. 4, c. 16; Rose v. Main, 1 Bing. N. C. 857; 1 Scott, 127, S. C. (q) Statute 45 Geo. 3, c. 72; Webb v.

Brooke, 3 Taunt. 6, (Chit. jun. 804). But a bill or note for the ransom of a ship is now valid in the hands of a bon't fide holder for value; 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, ante, 90, 91.

(r) Blogg r. Pinkers, Ry. & Moo. 125, (Chit. jun. 1227).

(s) See principle in Bensly v. Bignold, 5 B. & Ald. 335; Hodgson v. Temple, 5 Taunt. 181; Langton v. Hughes, 1 Maule & S. 593.

(t) Scott v. Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226, (Chitjun. 816), infra, note,(c); and see Cruikshanks v. Rose, 5 C. & P. 19; 7 Moo. & R. 100, 101, S. C.; but see Spencer v. Smith, 3 Camp. 9, (Chit. jun. 831). A sale of spirits to a guest is within the act; Burnyeat v. Hutchinson, 5 B. & Ald. 241; unless he also recide in the house; Proctor v. Nicholson, 7 C. & P. 67. And see Cruikshanks v. Rose, supra, and Philpott v. Jones, 2 Ad. & El. 41; 4 N. & M. 14, S. C.; as to the right to apply a general payment to the demand for spirits.

(u) De Begnis v. Armistead, 10 Bing. 107; 3 M. & P. 511, S. C. citing Mitchell v. Cockburne, 5 H. Bia. 379; Bartlett v. Vinorbarth, 252; and Langton v. Hughes, 1 Maule & S. 596.

(x) Jackson v. Warwick, 7 T. R. 121, (Chit. jun. 581); but see Mann v. Lent, 10 Bar. & C. 877, (Chit. jun. 1495).
(y) Grant v. Welchman, 16 East, 207. See now 54 Geo. 8, c. 94.

1. c. 18, called the Bubble act, are repealed, and the acts prohibited in that II. Illegalistatute are to be dealt with as at common law(z).

By the 29 Car. 2, c. 7, s. 1, sales on a Sunday, in the course of a man's sideration. trade and business, are illegal(a); but there is no objection to a bill being 2. By Status and Survive tute.

dated on a Sunday (b).

1.5

F2.

ï

ر. زر

1 ø

1 ġ.

•

lllegality in part of the contract or consideration in respect of which a bill Illegality or note is made, drawn, or accepted, will preclude the original parties from Transacrecovering the residue on the bill or note, though a lawful debt, and the se-tion. curity must be abandoned, and the original lawful debt alone is recoverable(c)(1).

In considering the effect of usury and of gaming, we have in a *great Effect of measure anticipated and shown the consequences of illegality in general.

Consideration on

Where a third person, having given value for a bill, knew, at the time he Third perbecame the holder, that it was originally founded on an illegal transaction(e), some(d). or where a person became holder of such a bill after it became due, he can-[*95] not recover on it(f). However, a person who, at the request of the holder of a bill, indorses it, and is obliged to pay the contents to a bonû fide holder, may recover the money paid, from the person at whose instance he indorsed

Another consequence of illegality in the transaction between the drawer and drawee has occured in America, where it was decided, that such illegality makes the case the same as if the drawer had no effects in the hands of the drawee; and therefore, in case of illegality, the drawer is not discharged by the omission to give him notice of non-payment (h).

In those cases in which the legislature has declared that the illegality of the contract or consideration shall make the security, whether bill or note, void, the defendant may insist on such illegality, though the plaintiff, or some other party between him and the defendant, took the bill bona fide, and gave a valuable consideration for it. And the innocent holder can, in such case, (z) See Josephs v. Pebrer, 3 B. & C. 689; 5 D. & R. 542, S. C.

(a) See Drury v. De Fontaine, 1 Taunt. 131; Josephs v. Pebrer, S B. & C. 238; 5 E. & R. 84, S. C. Scarfe v. Morgan, 4 M. & W. 270. As to contract arising out of subsequent detainer of goods sold on a Sunday, see Simpson v. Nicholls, 3 M. & W. 240, 243, 1 Horn & Hurl. 12, S. C.

(b) Post, Ch. V. s. ii. Time of date.

(c) Scott v. Gilmore, 3 Taunt. 226, (Chit. jun. 816); and see Cruikshanks v. Rose, 5 C. & P. 19, supra, note (t). Action against acceptor. The bill was given to the keeper of a coffee-house, by the drawer, partly for money lent and partly for spirits in small quantities under 20s. worth at each time: nonsuit, on the ground of 24 Geo. 2, c. 40, s. 12. On motion for new trial, Mansfield, C. J. said, "the statute makes the consideration illegal, not merely toid; and the security is entire, and cannot be apportioned; and since it is partly given for an illegal consideration, the whole bill is void." Sed quære. The case does not state whether plaintiff was indorsee; if plaintiff were the coffee-house keeper, still, as defendant was a stranger to the original transaction, he could not be liable otherwise than on the bill.

(d) See 5 & 6 Will. 4, c 41, ante, 90, 91.
(e) Steers v. Lashley, 6 T. R. 61; 1 Esp. 166, S. C., (Chitty, jun. 533); Wyat v. Bul-mer, 2 Esp. 538, (Chit. jun. 575); Brown v. Turner, 2 Esp. 631; 7 T. R. 630, (Chit. jun. 611); Feise v. Randall, 6 T. R. 146, (Chit. jun. 540).

(f) Brown v. Terner, 7 T. R. 630; Amory v. Merewether, 2 B. & C. 573; 4 D. & R. 86, (Chit. jun. 1200).

(g) Seddons r. Stratford, Peake's N. P. Rep. 215, (Chit. jun. 529); Petrie r. Hanney, 3 T. R. 424; Aubert v. Maze, 2 B. & P. 371.

(h) Copp v. M'Dougall, 9 Mass. Rep. 1; Bayl. American edit. 204.

15

⁽¹⁾ Though a note, discounted as security for money lent by the members of an unlawful association, be void; yet the contract of loan remains good; on which an action will lie by the leaders to recover it of the borrower. Utica Ins. Co. v. Kip, 8 Cowen, 20.

illi

D. 50

1011

*

B

127

.17.

75-

2,59

Ö.

*

2

T:

21

Ľ

(1) 21

33

...

 Γ

$6

3

'n

sideration.

II. Illegali- only resort to the party from whom he received the bill, &c. (2) whom he ty of Conmay sue as indorser on the bill(i), or for the debt or consideration(k).

Otherwise not void in hands of bont fide Holder.

But unless it has been so expressly declared by the legislature, illegality of consideration will be no desence in an action at the suit of a bona fide holder for value, without notice of the illegality (l), unless he obtained the bill after it became due(m). Thus in an action by the indorsee against the maker of a promissory note, the defence insisted on was, that the note bad been given for hits against the defendant in a lottery insurance: Lord Kenyon, C. J. thought the plaintiff was entitled to recover, observing, that the innocent indorsee of a gaming note, or note given on an usurious contract, could not recover, but that in no other case could the innocent indorsee be deprived of his remedy on the note; and that a contrary determination would shake paper credit to the foundation (n). And we have seen (o) that now by the 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 41, a bill or note given for an usurious or gaming consideration, or for signing a bankrupt's certificate, or for the ransom of a ship, will be valid in the hands of a bona fide holder for value. And even before this act a broker receiving an exorbitant brokerage on the *discount of a bill [*96] would not affect its validity in the hands of a bona fide holder(p). bona fide holder of a bill, given for an usurious or gaming consideration, might recover against the indorser of the bill(q) or note(r).

[llegality m general in a Second Indorsement in Blank.

In general, a subsequent illegal contract or consideration of any description, taking place in a second indorsement or transfer of a bill, and not in its inception, nor in a transfer, through which the holder must make title, will not invalidate the same in the hands of a bonû fide holder who took it before it became due(s)(1). And although where a new security is taken in lieu of another, void in respect of illegality, &c. it will be equally invalid in the hands of the party to the first illegal transaction, yet it is otherwise if in the hands of a bona fide holder, ignorant of the illegality (t). And though it has been held otherwise at Nisi Prius, it has since been decided, that after ille-

(i) Bowyer v. Brampton, Stra. 1155, (Chit. jun. 296); Edwards v. Dick, 4 B. & Al. 212, (Chit. jun. 1079); ante, 90, 91.

(k) Bendelack v. Morier, 2 H. Bla. 838, (Chit. jun. 527); Bowyer v. Brampton, Stra. 1155, (Chit. jun. 296); Wyat v. Bulmer, 2 Esp. Rep. 538, 539, (Chit. jun. 575); Witham v. Lee, 4 Esp. 264, (Chit. jun. 670); ante, 90,

(1) Wyat v. Bulmer, 2 Esp. Rep. 538, (Chitjun. 575); Brown v. Turner, 7 T. R. 630, (Chit. jun. 611); Le France v. Dalbiac, Sel. Ca. 71.

(m) Brown v. Turner, 7 T. R. 630, (Chit. jun. 611); Amory v. Merewether, 2 B. & C. 573; 4 D. & R. 86, (Chit. jun. 1200).

(n) Winstanley v. Bowden, Middlesex Sittings after M. T. 41 Geo. 3, B. R. 1 Selw. 2d ed. 402; id. 4th ed. 870; id. 9th ed. 889; and see ante, 89, note (r).

(p) Dignal v. Wigley, 11 East's Rep. 43; 2 Camp. 88, S. C.; Jones v. Davison, Holt's C. N. P. 256. (o) Ante, 90, 91.

(q) Edwards v. Dick, 4 B. & Ald. 212, (Chit. jun. 1079); ante, 95, note (i).

(r) Per cur. Bowyer v. Brampton, 2 Stra. 1155, (Chit. jun. 296); and per Gibbs, C. J. in O'Keefe r. Dunn, 6 Taunt 315.

(s) Ante, 90; Lowes r. Mazzaredo, 1 Stark. 885, (Chit. jun. 968); Parr v. Eliason, 1 East, 92; 3 Esp. Rep. 210, (Chit. jun. 362); Cuthbert v. Haley, 8 T. R. 391; 3 Esp. Rep. 22, Chit. jun. 617); Daniel v. Cartony, 1 Esp. Rep. 274, (Chit. jun. 537); Turner v. Hulme, 4 Esp. Rep. 11, (Chit. jun. 636); Ferrall v. Shaen, 1 Saund. 294, 295, note 1. The endorsee must be unacquainted with the illegal consideration; Chapman v. Black, 2 B. & Ald.

588, (Chit jun. 1057). (t) Ante, 90; Cuthbert v. Haley, 8 T. R. 390, (Chit. jun. 617); Pickering v. Banks, Forr. Rep. 72; Harrison v. Hannell, 1 Marsh. 349; 5 Taunt. 780, (Chit. jun. 916); Parr v. Eliason, 3 Esp. Rep. 210; 1 East, 92, (Chit. 262). jun. 362); Witham v. Lee, 4 Esp. Rep. 264; (Chit. jun. 670); see Barnes v. Headley, 1

(1) { The holder of a note payable to bearer, who won it at cards from the payee is entitled to recover from the maker. Lee's adm'r. v. Ware, 1 Hills 50. Car. Rep. 318.

⁽²⁾ On this point see Payne v. Trezevant, 2 Bay's Rep. 23. Wiggin v. Bush, 12 John. Rep. 306. A bill of exchange expressed to be collateral to a ransom bill, is a contract upon which an action may be sustained at Common Law, the plaintiff and payee being an alien friend. Maisonnaire v. Keating, 2 Gallison, 325.

gal securities have been destroyed by mutual consent, and there is a fresh II. Illegalicontract by the borrower to perform the lawful part of the bargain only, such ty of Con-fresh contract is valid(u).

By suffering judgment by default; the defendant loses the opportunity of When a Defendant objecting to the insufficiency or illegality of the consideration(x). And the precluded court would not set aside a warrant of attorney given to the holder of a re- from Obnewed bill, unless it were shown that he was privy to the usurious transac-jecting. tion, though the person resisting the payment might be permitted to try in an issue whether the party were so implicated (y). Nor will the court set aside a judgment on the ground that the warrant of attorney was given to secure a gaming debt, if it appear that the party making the application represented to the plaintiff before he purchased the debt that it was a valid debt(z).

The receiving of a bill or note upon an illegal subsequent bargain, but Prior Legal given for a previous legal subsisting debt, will not extinguish such debt, al- Debt not though the security itself will be void(a); but where there was illegality in destroyed by subsethe making the bill, or where the holder has himself been a party to it, he quent Illecannot sue at law, or prove under a commission of bankruptcy, even for the gality. amount of principal and lawful interest(b); and though it was once decided in a case of usury (c), that if deeds or property *had been deposited as a [*97] collateral security, the party guilty of the usury might retain the same, and defend an action of trover or detinue, until he had been paid such principal and interest(d); that doctrine was afterwards overruled, and neither at law(e) nor in equity (f) could the party retain the security. And a court of law would set aside a judgment founded on a warrant of attorney given on an usurious contract, without imposing on the defendant the terms of repaying the principal money and legal interest(g). But if deeds have deen deposited on a legal contract, subsequent illegality will not prejudice the lien(h).

III. Relief at law and in Equity in Cases of Fraud, or Want of Consideration, or Illegality, &c.

When a bill or note has been obtained from a person by fraud or without III. Relief consideration, or on an illegal transaction, and he resolves to resist the pay- in Cases of ment, he should immediately, as in the case of a lost or stolen bill(i), give a Fraud,&c. public caution and notice in the public newspapers or otherwise, of the cir-

C. N. P. 270.

(u) Barnes v. Headley, 1 Campb. 187; 2 Taunt 184

(x) Shepherd v. Chester, 4 T R. 275, (Chit. jun. 480); George r. Stanley, 4 Taunt. 683, (Chit. jun. 876); ante, 90, note (2) (y) George v. Stanley, 4 Taunt. 683, (Chit. jun 876); ante, 90, note (2).

(2) Davison v. Franklin, 1 B. & Ad 142.

(a) Phillips v. Cockayne, 3 Camp. 119; (Chit. jun. 848); 1 Saund 295, note(1); ante,

(b) Banfield v. Solomons, 19 Ves 84; Fitz-royv Gwillim, 1 T. R 153; Hindle v. O'Brieu, 1 Taunt. 413.

(c) But see now as to usury 2 & 3 Vict. c. 37, ante, 88.

(d) Fitzroy v. Gwillim, 1 T. R. 153. (e) Cowie v. Harris, MS. Chit. Col. Stat.

Camp. 187; overruled in 2 Taunt. 184; Holt's 751, n. (b); Mood. & M. 141; 7 Bing. 97; 4 M. & P. 722, S. C; Parsons v. Heathorn, C. P. 21st December, 1829, per Tindal, C. J. who held, that as the statute of usury avoided the contract of deposit on an usurious bargain, the assignee might support trover without any tender; and see observations in Wood v. Grimwood, 10 B. & C. 679.

(f) Burnard v. Young, 17 Ves. 44. (g) Roberts v. Goff, 4 B. & Ald. 92. But when the affidavit on showing cause completely denied the usury, the court would not interfere, Cole v. Gill, 7 Moore, 353; sed vide 1 B. & P. 270; 1 Taunt. 413. Sometimes however the court would refer the question to the master, or direct an issue.

(h) Wood v. Grimwood, 10 B. & C. 679.

(i) As to which, see post, Ch. VI. s. iii. Transfer—Loss of Bills, &c.

Digitized by Google

M.

33.

村牌。

MI 1

321 100

50

...

...

X:

y j

272

De.

1

43 χ,

7.

12

X i

20

'?:"

313 ď. •

14

Ľ

'n

III. Relief cumstances, fully describing the bill, and stating that it has been obtained by in Cases of fraud and illegality, and that payment will be resisted, taking care to avoid any imputation of such fraud or misconduct to any individual in particular, so as to afford him ground for an action of slander (k). And moreover, when the bills or notes so obtained are for a considerable amount, it may be expedient also to file a bill in equity to restrain the negotiation.

> When fraud, or want of consideration, or illegality, can be established by evidence at law, it is in general just as available a defence at law as in a court of equity, and there is no occasion to resort to the latter tribunal(l); and an action of trover or detinue may be supported to recover back the instrument(m). But it frequently occurs that the defendant has not sufficient evidence of the facts to constitute a defence at law, without the aid of a bill for discovery; and a court of law cannot, as a court of equity, restrain the negotiation; and in such cases it is expedient to resort to the latter.

*We have just seen that a court of law will, in general, on motion, inter-[*98] fere to set aside a judgment founded on a warrant of attorney given upon an illegal contract(n); but this summary interference is, in general, confined to that particular case, and proceeds on the ground that the defendant bas no opportunity of pleading, or otherwise availing himself of the illegality. In other cases, the defendant must, at law, defend himself in the usual It is said, however, to have been decided, that if in an action on a bill, the defendant will swear that he received no consideration, and this be not contradicted, the court will, on motion, stay the proceedings, although the general rule is not to try the merits by a summary application(o).

Bill in Equity to restrain Negotiation, &c. (p).

A court of equity, when a bill has been obtained or is about to be negotiated fraudulently or without consideration, will, in general, by injunction, restrain the circulation, and either detain, or sometimes compel the holder to deliver it up to be cancelled (q); and they will stay all proceedings in an action on a bill accepted by a defendant for the accommodation of one of the plaintiffs (r); and courts of equity have a concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of law in relieving against bills and notes taken when over due(s), or accepted by one partner in fraud of the others(t); and relief was granted (k) Stockley v. Clement, 4 Bing. 162; 12 nett, 2 T. R. 673, (Chit. jun. 449).

oore, 376, S. C. The following form may (m) Evans v. Kymer, 1 B. & Adol. 528, Moore, 376, S. C. The following form may be safely adopted:-

" Caution to the public .- Whereas three several bills of exchange, bearing date respectively the 18th July last, drawn by one James Atkinson upon and accepted by me the undersigned Jonathan Tomkins, namely, one for 1001, at three months after date; another for 2001. at six months after date; and the other for 2001. at nine months after date, were severally obtained from me under false pretences, and without any consideration whatever for the same! Now I hereby caution all persons from receiving or negotiating the same or any of them. Every information respecting the above bills will be given on application to Mr. ---, at No. Street, London.

Jonathan Tomkins.

" High-street, Reading, Berkshire. Dated, -

(1) Per Ashhurst, J. in Cockshott r. Ben-

(Chit. jun. 1512.) and see cases, post, interaction, Ch. VI. s. ii. But money had and received will not lie against the bailee of a bill not due at the time of action brought which he has wrongfully deposited at his own bankers, although he has obtained money upon the joint credit of that and other bills; Atkins v. Owen, 4 Ad. & El. 819, S. C. 6 N. & M. 309; 2 Har. & Woll. 59.

(n) Ante, 97, when not, ante, 96. (o) Turner v. Taylor, Easter T. 23 G. 8, K. B. Tidd's Prac. 9th edit. 530; sed quære.

 (p) See post, title Transfer, Ch. VI. s. ii.
 (q) The Bishop of Winchester r. Fournier, 2 Ves. jun. 445, (Chit. jun. 331); and post, 99, note (m)

(r) Hodgson v. Murray, 2 Sim. 515. v. Adams and others, Younge, Exch. (8) -Eq. Rep. 117; ante, 71, note (r). (t) Hood v. Ashton, 1 Russ. 412, (Chit. jun.

1287).

H

17.

TEXTOR.

Cara.

N. DOME

.rudosrii

. .

17 E.

1.1732

301.2

or sign

1.5

: "北王

1.23

a. 💯

33.3

ا ماموران في

1 100 34

NMI

at 🗷

, 104

7 9

112 -

100

1 6

us.

:23

訓 . 23

19 4 11

177

P ı M

j.

ાર્ડ

. (1

13

θ.

against a bill stated to have been given for value received, but in fact obtain- III. Relief ed by fraud, and for a fictitious consideration(u) (1); and a note obtained in Cases of Fraud, &c. from an infant just after coming of age for extravagant supplies previously made has been set aside (x). So equity will interfere in case of the forgery Bill in So where a bill or note has been given for money Fquity to of the payee's name(y). lost by gaming or other illegality, a court of equity will grant an injunction to Negotiaprevent the winner from parting with it, and this even before service of sub-tion, &cpcena(z); and will decree that it shall be delivered up(a). So if given for procuring a commission in the army (b), or for procuring a marriage (c). although the bill or note was valid in its origin, yet the consideration has failed, equity will interfere; as where an acceptance has been given for goods to be delivered, and the vendor has afterwards refused to deliver But where an action was brought on a bill of exchange which had been given for goods sold and delivered, and the party to whom the goods were sold alleged that he had been fraudulently deceived in his contract, the goods delivered being inferior both in quality and quantity to what he had ordered; it was held, that he could not maintain a bill for an account, and for an injunction to restrain the action, inasmuch as his object was to reduce the amount of the bill of exchange by the damages which he claimed for the alleged *breach of contract; and that as this was not the subject of [*99] set-off at law it could not be the subject of account in equity (e). tiation of a bill has under particular circumstances, been restrained by a court of equity, in order to prevent the holder from depriving the defendant of the advantage of a set-off; as where a person who had been a bankrupt, gave a note to his solicitor in payment of his bill of costs for obtaining his certificate, and the solicitor was indebted to the estate, and the bankrupt had purchased so many debts due from his estate, that the share thereof coming to the bankrupt on account of such purchased debts exceeded the amount of what the solicitor owed, and also the amount of the note (f). So where an agent has indorsed his own name on a bill, which by accident had been drawn payable to him, but for his principal's use, and the latter or his trustee sue such agent as indorser, a court of equity restrained such proceed-And relief has even been afforded after execution levied on a judgment founded on a warrant of attorney given for an illegal consideration(h), but where a defendant has had an opportunity of defending and trying at law, a court of equity will not always relieve if he omit to do so(i). If the defendant, in his answer, admit himself to be holder of the instrument

- (u) Dyer v. Tywrewell, 2 Vern. 122; 2 Freem. 112, S. C., (Chit. jun. 180). But the cases of fraud where a bill has been ordered to be given up, are confined to those where the possession but for the fraud would be that of the plaintiff in equity, Jones v. Lane, 1839, 8 Jurist, 265.
- (x) Brook v. Galby, 2 Atk. 34; Burnard, 1,
- (y) Esdaile v. La Nauze, 1 Younge & Col. 394, post, Ch. VI. s. ii.
- (z) Lloyd v. Gurdon, 2 Swanst. 180, (Chit. jun. 1027).
- (a) Wynne v. Callander, 1 Russ. 293; v. Blackwood, 3 Anstr. 851, (Chit. j. 575).

- (b) Whittingham v. Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900. (c) Smith v. Aykewell, 2 Atk. 566; Cotton
- v. Cutlyn, 2 Eq. Abr. 525. (d) Patrick v. Harrison, 3 Bro. C. C. 476,
- (Chit. j. 499). (e) Glennie v. Imri, 3 Jurist, 432, Eq. Ex.
 - (f) Ex parte Harding, 1 Buck, 23.
 (g) Kidson v. Dilworth. 5 Price, 564, (Chit,)
- jun. 1026); ante, 35. (h) Whittingham v. Bouroyne, 3 Anstr. 900; ante, 98, note (d); but see Naylor v. Christie,
- 8 Price, 534. (i) Dunbar v. Wilson, 6 Bro. P. C. 231; and Naylor v. Christie, 8 Price, 584.

^{(1) \} Where a machinist sold a worthless machine for a good one, equity interfered to enjoin the collection of the security given on the purchase, and compelled the seller to account for every part of the purchase money paid to him or his bona fide assignee, but such assignee would not be enjoined from collecting such security. Donelson v. Clements, 1 Meigs, 155.

Est. 1

-gran

اء الأخي

£1

170

£ 3

£3: 3

:::.

4

0.11

T. .:

ŵ.

3. [

1

15.3

III. Relief and the facts as charged, the court will decree the instrument to be delivered in Cases of up; but in other cases he will only be restrained from negotiating it, and left Fraud, &c. at liberty to try at law(k). Where the bill has been already negotiated, the holder, as well as the original party, should be made parties in the suit(l). Where a promissory note had been given under suspicious circumstances, it was decreed that it should be deposited with the registrar of the court, leaving the holder to proceed at law, and if he did not within a reasonable time, then that the note should be delivered up(m). However, if a party has wrongfully obtained possession of a bill of exchange, although under circumstances which would give a complete defence at law, a court of equity will order the delivery up of the instrument, if from the lapse of time or death of witnesses such defence is likely to fail; but the court will refuse such relief in all cases where the possession of the party is not shewn to be inequitable. Therefore, where A. had possession of a bill of exchange accepted by B., which for reasons dehors the instrument he could not enforce against B. in an action; it was held, nevertheless, that B. had no equity to have the bill delivered up to be cancelled, unless he could show that A. had the wrongful possession of it(n). However, if after a bill filed for delivering up bills, the plaintiff has failed at law in an action of trover for them, yet he is still entitled to proceed in equity to have them delivered up(o). It is said that affi-

Bill of Discovery. [*100]

of bills, after an answer denying the grounds for injunction (p). In general, a court of equity will not compel a party, by his answer, *to criminate himself, and consequently no bill can be filed with effect for discovery, if it charge the defendant with acts which would subject him to a criminal prosecution; and the defendant need not plead the statute subjecting him to such prosecution, but may demur to the bill(q). But some acts contain a particular provision, compelling a party to admit the particulars of an illegal transaction. Thus the statute against gaming, 9 Anne, c. 14, s. 3, enacts "that for the better discovery of the monies or other things so won, and to be sued for and recovered back as therein provided (r), every person liable to be so sued shall be obliged and compellable to answer, upon oath, such bill as shall be preferred against him for discovering the sum or thing won at play." And, upon an action brought to recover a sum of money lent upon the security of an I. O. U., and upon a bill filed to discover whether the money had not been lent for the purpose of gaming, it has been held, that the defendant is bound to state by his answer whether it was so lent(s). the act against stock-jobbing, 7 Geo. 2, c. 8, s. 2, contains a similar provision, enacting, "that for the better discovery of the monies or premiums which shall be given, paid, or delivered, and to be sued for and recovered as therein davits cannot be read in support of an injunction to restrain the negotiation

(k) See the cases above referred to.

(m) Bishop of Winchester v. Fournier, 2 Ves. jun. 445, (Chit. jun. 331).

(n) Jones v. Lane, Ex Eq. 1839, 8 Jurist, 265.

(o) Lisle v. Liddle, 3 Anstr. 649.

(p) Berkly v. Brymer, 9 Ves. 335, (Chit. jun. 692); and see Hanson v. Gardiner, 7 Ves. 311; Smythe v. Smythe, 1 Swanst. 254; 2 Madd. Ch. Pr. 366, note (p).

Madd. Ch. Pr. 366, note (p).
(q) See Fleming v. St. John, 2 Sim. 181;
Whitmore v. Francis, 8 Price, 616; 2 Sim.

192, note (d), S. C.

(r) A bill can only be filed by the loser, and not by an informer; M'Clel. 185; But an answer to a bill filed by the loser may be given in evidence in actions for penalties; Thiatlewood v. Cracroft, 1 Marsh. 497; 6 Taunt. 141, S. C.; Billing v Pulley, 2 Marsh. 125.

(s) Wilkinson v. L'Eaugier, 2 Younge & Contact of the state of

(a) Wilkinson v. L'Eaugier, 2 Younge & Col. 366. It was doubted in this case whether money lent for the purposes of gaming was recoverable in an action at law, and also whether an I. O. U. was a security within the statute 9 Anne, c. 14; ib. 366, 367. With respect to the former it has lately been decided that money so lent cannot be recovered at law; M'Kinnell v. Robinson 3 M. & W. 434.

⁽¹⁾ Lloyd c. Gurdon, 2 Swanst. 180, (Chit jun. 1027). See Folley v. Carlon, 1 Younge, 373, tamen inde; Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176; Macartney v. Graham, 2 Sim. 285, post, Ch. VI. s. iii.

mentioned(t), every person liable to be sued shall be obliged and compella- III. Relief ble to answer, upon oath, such bill as shall be preferred against him in any in Cases of court of equity for discovering any such contract or wager, and the sum of Fraud, &cmoney or premium so given, paid, or delivered." Upon this latter act it has been decided, that it does not compel a party in a court of law to give evidence criminating himself; and therefore in an action on a bill at the suit of an indorsee against the acceptor, it was held, that a stock-broker, the drawer, might refuse to give evidence that the consideration for it was stock-jobbing differences, thoughs uch broker is bound to produce his books(u). But when in an action on a bill or note, the defendant calls the drawer of the first, or payee of the last, to prove the consideration, and he declines to state the consideration, it is then to be taken that there was none, and the plaintiff will fail unless he prove that he gave value for it(x).

Upon a bill of discovery in aid of a defence to an action on a bill of exchange, if the defendant in equity is interrogated as to the consideration given for the bill, he must answer not only as to the consideration which he gave for the bill himself, but as to that which he knows another party to have given (y). And where the bill charged that the defendants had given no consideration for a certain bill of exchange of which they were the holders, but that they were mere trustees of it for the plaintiffs, and that so it would appear if the defendants would discover and set forth the circumstances [ 101] under which, and the consideration for which, the bill was indorsed to them; and the defendants answered the particular charges, as to circumstances, consideration, &c. but omitted to answer the general charge as to their being trustees, it was held, that the answer was insufficient, the charge that the defendants were trustees being a distinct and substantive allegation (z).

Where an account is decreed to be taken of the dealings and transactions Account. between an attorney and his client, in the course of which the attorney has taken securities from the client, the attorney must not only prove the securities, but likewise the consideration for which they were given. Therefore, where a promissory note was given by the client to his attorney under circumstances of great suspicion, but the client was unable for want of witnesses to prove fraud in the attorney, the court, upon decreeing an account between the parties, directed an inquiry as to whether the attorney could by any and what affirmative evidence prove the consideration for the note(a).

The course of proceedings and evidence to be adduced at law, either to prove or disprove the adequacy of the consideration, will be properly considered in the Chapter on Evidence (b).

(t) This only applies to discoveries as to monies recoverable back, and not to the recovery of penalties under the 5th and 8th sections;

Bullock v. Richardson, 14 Ves. 378.
(u) Rawlins v. Hall, 1 Car. & P. 11, 385; and Thomas v. Newton, cor. Lord Tenterden, 9th June, 1827, at Westminster, MS. and id.

2 Car. & P. 606, (Chit. jun. 1834).

(x) Thomas v. Newton, supra, note (u).

(y) Glengall v. Edwards, 2 You. & Col. 125 (z) Culverhouse v. Alexander, 2 You. & Col. 218.

(a) Jones v. Thomas, 2 You. & Col. 498. (b) Post, Part II. Ch. V.

Eal

*CHAPTER IV.

OF THE STAMPS ON BILLS AND NOTES.

1. OF THE SEVERAL STAMP ACTS RE LATING TO BILLS AND NOTE IN GENERAL 2. THE STATUTE 55 GEO. 3, c. 18-	102	3. Time of impressing the Stamps and Power of Restamping 4. Consequences of Instrument not being Stamped	118 122
IN PARTICULAR	103	Bills, &c. wholly unavailable	id.
Ils enaciments	id.	Otherwise to prove Fraud and
Schedule of Duties, with Notes	id.	Crime	124
Observations and Decisions on the	he	Holder not bound to present or
Act	111	gire Notice, &c.	id.
On Foreign Bills	114	When Relief may be obtained in
Inland	115	Equity, &c.	125
Promissory Notes	id.	5. Consequences of Alterations
Checks	118	IN A BILL, &c. As TO STAMPS.	id.

As the stamp acts require the stamps on bills and notes to be impressed before they are written(a), and there is no power afterwards to impose the proper stamp (unless in the excepted case of a stamp of equal or higher value but of wrong denomination) after the instrument has been completed (b), it will be proper here to consider this important branch of the law applicable to bills and notes.

I. OF THE STAMP ACTS IN GENERAL.

1. Of the several Stamp Acts relatand Note in general.

Before the statute of the 22 Geo. 3, c. 33, there was no stamp duty imposed on bills of exchange or notes, and they were in all cases made on plain unstamped paper, and indeed were expressly exempted from any stamp duty ing to Bills by the 5 W. & M. c. 21, s. 5; but by the first mentioned statute certain duties were imposed in almost all cases upon these instruments. This and two subsequent statutes (23 Geo. 3, c. 49, and 24 Geo. 3, s. 1, c. 7), as regards the amount of duties, were repealed by the 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, whereby certain larger duties were imposed; and by the 19th section, the stamp must be impressed before a bill or note be printed or written(c). The duties were increased by the 37 Geo 3, c. 90, and which continued in force until the 10th October, 1804, from which day until the 11th October, 1808, the 44 Geo. 3, c. 98, regulated the amount of the duty on bills, notes, &c.; from that day until the 28th September, 1815, the duties on bills and notes were regulated by the 48 Geo. 3, c. 149; and from the last mentioned period to the present time (1840) the amount of the duty is fixed by the 55 Geo. 3, c. 184(d). See post, 819, (11).

> (a) 1 Anne, stat 2, c. 22, s 2 and 8, which is still in force, relates to all instruments, and see 23 Geo. 3, c 49. s 14. (b) 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 19

(c) 23 Geo. 8, c. 49, s. 14; 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, ss. 10, 19; 55 Geo. 8, c. 184, s. 8; Butts v. Swan, 2 Brod. & Bing 84, 88, (Chit. jun. 1084); Green v. Davies, 4 B. & C. 242; 6 Dowl. & Ry. 306, (Chit. jun. 1251); Roderick v. Hovel, 3 Camp. 103; Rex v Chipping Nor-ton, 5 B. & Ald. 412. The only exception is, where the bill or note has been on a stamp of wrong denomination, when on paying a penalty a proper stamp may be afterwards impressed, see post, 120. (d) The 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 97, s. 16, authorises the commissioners of stamps to provide new dies for stamping instruments, and the 7th section enacts that instruments not stamped with the new dies shall be deemed not duly stamped. See the act, Chit. & H. Stat. 1005. A defence under this statute to an action on a bill of exchange is admissible under the plea of non-acceptance; Dawson v. M'Donald, 2 M. & W. 26; and see M'Dowall v. Lyster, ib. 52; Field v. Woods, 7 Ad. & Al. 114; S. C. 2 N & P. 117; 6 Dowl. 23; post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

Digitized by Google

ii hir ¥1($)

I. XIII

in . 111 15

1417

2526.3

£47339

(M25 *

print t

(): :::'53

212.

i. --

غيرا معرب لكرز

171 F

ž : (N :54

pi 🏋

71. 13

*1

3 10

 (\mathbb{N}^{2})

 \mathcal{C}^{k}

12

大 一 一 一

*II. OF THE 55 GEO. III. C. 184, IN PARTICULAR.

Stamps on Bills and Notes.

By the above act, 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, the prior duties as to amount were 2. Provisrepealed, and new duties as to amount are imposed and enumerated in a jone of the schedule, but all prior regulations not expressly repealed are continued(e); Stamp Act and it is enacted, that all instruments impressed with a stamp of adequate or 55 G. 8, c. greater amount, though of an improper denomination, shall be valid, unless particular. where the stamp used shall have been specially appropriated to any other instrument by having its name on the face of it(f). The act then imposes a penalty of 501. on persons, making, signing, or issuing, or accepting or paying any bill or note not duly stamped (g); and 100l. penalty for making or issuing a post-dated bill or note, so that the time of payment shall exceed two months from the time of issuing the same, without having the higher duty stamped thereon(h); and 100l. penalty for making and issuing(i) a check on a banker post-dated, or not truly dated as to the place of drawing the same, or not in every respect falling truly within the exceptions in favour of checks, unless the same be stamped as a bill, and 201. for receiving or taking such check; and 100l. on the banker or any person paying or permitting payment of the same; nor can be debit his customer with the amount so paid(k). The act then contains regulations as to re-issuable promissory notes, exempts bank notes, and authorises the Bank and Royal Bank of Scotland, and British Linen Company, to issue certain small notes, and prohibits the negotiation of promissory notes made out of Great Britain, unless the same have been previously stamped.

The Schedule, title "Bills of Exchange," and title "Promissory Notes," then prescribes the amount of duties and exemptions as follows:—

Inhand Bill of Exchange (l), draft, or order (m), to the bearer or to Stamps on order, either on demand or otherwise, not exceeding two months after Inland date(n), or sixty days after sight(o), of any sum of money,

(e) Sect 3 and 8. See Field v. Woods, 7 Adol. & El. 114; 2 Nev. & P. 117; 6 Dowl. 23, S. C., where the enactment of 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 19, that no bill, draft, or order, &c. shall be given in evidence or available in law, unless the paper be lawfully stamped, was held to be incorporated in 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, by

(f) Sect. 10. This is the law with respect to receipt stamps, and therefore if a bill is on a receipt stamp it cannot be read.

(g) Sect. 11.

(h) Sect. 12. But bill not void; see Williams v. Jarrett, 5 B & Ad 32; 2 N. & M. 49, S. C.; infra, note (n).

(i) A check is not issued until it is in the hands of a third party entitled to demand cash for it. See Ex parte Bignold, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 633; 1 Den. 712, S. C.; post, 118.

(k) Sect. 13. To subject a banker to this penalty it must be shown that he knew of the check having been so issued; Ex parte Pig-nold, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 638: 1 Dea. 712, S. C. Striking balances does not prevent the operation of the act, id ib. A bond to pay all sums a trader may owe a banker, does not cover bal-ances, part of the items of which consists of sums paid by the banker's agent on drafts illegal under this act; Swan v. Bank of Scotland, 2 Mont & Ayr 656; 1 Dea. 746, S. C.

16

(1) What is, ante, 10.

(m) Semble, that the words "for the payment" should have been here inserted. As to the stamps on bills and notes in general, see post, Stark on Ev. tit Stamp, " Promissory Note." An unstamped bill is a nullity, and therefore imposes no obligation to present it; Wilson e. Vysar, 4 Taunt. 288. (Chit. jun. 860). But although an indorsement operates against the indorser as a new drawing of the bill by him, yet the instrument remaining the same, no fresh stamp is necessary; Penny v. Innes, 1 C., M. & R. 409; 5 Tyr. 107, S. C.; and see Thicknesse v. Bromilow, 2 C. & J. 425, 431.

(n) The value or amount of the stamp upon a bill of exchange under the stat. 55 Geo. 8, c. 184, sched 1, tit "Pill of Exchange," depends upon the date upon the face of the bill, not on the time it was actually drawn or issued, and therefore the circumstance of its being postdated, and thereby made due more than two months after it was in fact drawn, is immaterial, and does not render a larger stamp necessary; Peacock r. Murrell, 2 Stark. 558, (Chit. j. 1077); Duck v. Braddyll, McClel. 235, S. P. A bill was in fact drawn on the 21st day

842 1

133

10

5.1

181

0

55 G. 8, c. 184.

Stamps on

Bills and Notes.

> Exceeding 2000l. and not exceeding 3000l. 0 15 0 Exceeding 30001. 1 5 0 Inland bill of exchange, draft, or order, for the payment to the bearer, or to order, at any time exceeding two months after date, or sixty days af-

	£	S.	а.
Amounting to 40s. and not exceeding 5l. 5s.	0	1	6
Exceeding 51. 5s. and not exceeding 201.	0	2	0
Exceeding 201. and not exceeding 301.	0	2	6
Exceeding 301. and not exceeding 501.	0	3	6
Exceeding 50l. and not exceeding 100l.	0	4	6
Exceeding 1001. and not exceeding 2001.	0	5	0
Exceeding 2001. and not exceeding 3001.	0	6	0
Exceeding 300l and not exceeding 500l.	0	8	6
Exceeding 500l. and not exceeding 1000l.	0	12	6
Exceeding 1000l. and not exceeding 2000l.	0	15	0
Exceeding 20001. and not exceeding 30001.	1	15	0
Exceeding 3000l.	1	10	0

Inland bill, draft, or order, for the payment of any \ The same duty as on sum of money, though not made payable to the bearer, or to order, if the same shall be deliver- \} the like sum payable ed to the payee, or some person on his or her be- to the bearer or orhalf.

Exceeding 300l. and not exceeding 500l.

Exceeding 500l. and not exceeding 1000l.

ter sight, of any sum of money,

Exceeding 1000l. and not exceeding 2000l.

a bill of exchange for der.

0 6 0

0 8 6

0 12 6

Inland bill, draft, or order, for the payment of any sum of money weekly, monthly, or at any other stated periods, if made payable to the a bill payable to bearbearer, or to order, or if delivered to the payee, \ er, or order, on deor some person on his or her behalf, where the I mand, for a sum equal total amount of the money thereby made paya- | to such total amount. ble shall be specified therein, or can be ascertained therefrom.

The same duty as on of December for 211., payable two months after date; but on the face of it purported to bear date on the 31st : it was held to require only a stamp of 2s. which is imposed by 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, on bills for that sum not exceeding two months after date. The word "date" as there used, means the period of payment expressed on the face of the bill; Upstone r. M. rehant, 2 B. & C. 10; 3 D. & R. 198, (Chit. jun. 1182); Williams v. Jarrett, 5 Bar. & Adol. 82; 2 Nev. & Man. 49, S. C. And although by section 12, if a bill purporting to be payable at two months from a certain time, be issued before the commencement of that period, without payment of a proportionate duty, the maker is liable to the penalty; yet the bill so postdated, and bearing the inferior stamp, corresponding with the purport of the bill, is admis-sible in evidence, being on the face of it conformable to the schedule, id. ib.

A bill for 501. with all legal interest, is to be considered, as far as respects the amount of the stamp, as a bill for 50% only; Pruessing r. Ing, 4 B. & Ald. 204, (Chit. jun. 1101); Israel c. Benjamin, 3 Camp. 40, (Chit. jun. 837.)

(o) If payable two months (instead of sixty days) after sight, the bill must be stamped with the higher duty in the next head; Sturdy-r. Henderson, 4 B. & Ald. 592, (Chit. jun. 1110.)

H.

·1 1. 0 1

0 !

0 :

0 :

0 ;

0 1

de beza

sizty file

11.

0 1

1 1 11

1000 364

114 /4

un u grant of the 4000

 $C^{-\frac{M}{2}}$

, yill 1, 18

64**

17. 18. 18. 18.

111

i. F. P

*And where the total amount of the money thereby | bill on demand for the Bills and made payable shall be indefinite.

The same duty as on a Stamps on sum therein expressed Notes. only.

55 G. 8, c.

And the following instruments shall be deemed and taken to be inland hills, drafts, or orders, for the payment of money within the intent and meaning of this Schedule ;(p) viz.

All drafts or orders for the payment of any sum of money by a bill or promissory note, or for the delivery of any such bill or note in payment or though satisfaction of any sum of money; where such drafts or orders shall re-conting quire the payment or delivery to be made to the bearer, or to order, or require Bill stall be delivered to the payer or save person on his or her belief. shall be delivered to the payee, or some person on his or her behalf.

All receipts given by any banker or bankers or other person or persons, for money received, which shall entitle, or be intended to entitle, the person or persons paying the money, or the bearer of such receipts, to receive the like sum from any third person or persons.

And all bills, drafts, or orders, for the payment of any sum of money out of any particular fund which may or may not be available, or upon any condition or contingency which may or may not be performed or happen, if the same shall be made payable to the bearer, or to order, or if the same shall be delivered to the payee or some person on his or her behalf(p).

Foreign Bill of Exchange (or bill of ex- 1 The same duty as on an Stamps on change drawn in but payable out of (q) Great inland bill of the same Bills. Britain) if drawn singly and not in a set. (amount and tenor.

(p) It was the object of the legislature in framing this provision, to treat as promissory notes and bills of exchange, and to subject to a stamp duty, such instruments as being payable on a contingency, or out of a particular fund, could not in strictness fall under that denomination; per Lord Ellenborough in Firbank v. Bell, 1 B. & Ald. 39. A letter from F. & Co. to their correspondents, S. & Co. requesting them to pay to Messrs. II. C. & Co. or their order, out of the first proceeds that should become due of their stock of gunpowder, then in their hands, six hundred pounds, and charge the same to their account, is an order for the payment of money, and liable to be stamped as a bill of exchange, and not with an agreement stamp, although the letter form part of a subsequent correspondence between the three houses; Butts r. Swan and others, 2 B. & B. 78, (Chit. jun. 1084). See also Firbank v. Bell, 1 B. & Ald. 96; and see Emly r. Collins, 6 Mun. & S. 144, (Chit. jun. 990).

But in a case where A. having consigned goods to B., sent him the following order, "Pay to A. B. the proceeds of a shipment of goods, value about 2000l. consigned by me to you," and C. by writing consented to pay over the full amount of the net proceeds of the goods; it was held that neither of these instruments required such a stamp as is imposed by this act on drafts, bills, or orders for the payment of money, because no particular sum was named; Jones v. Simpson, 2 B. & C. 318; 3 D. & R. 545, (Chit. jun. 1189); and see Barlow v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471, (Chit. jun. 1088); Crowfoot v. Gurney, 9 Bing. 372. So it is necessary that the instrument should make the money payable to the bearer, or to order, or be delivered to the payee or some person on his behalf; and, therefore, the following letter, sent to the holders of the fund out of which payment is to be made does not require a bill stamp: "We now anthorize you to pay to Mesers. R. & Co. (having revoked the former order in their favour), after you have paid yourselves the balance we owe you from the net proceeds of our shipments to your foreign establishments to the present date, one-half of the remainder of the proceeds of said shipments, provided the same shall not exceed the sum of 5000l. H. & J."; for after delivery to the payee, or some person on his behalf, means a delivery either personally to the payee, or to the home agent or representative of his, and does not mean the person to whom the order is addressed; Hutchinson v. Heyworth, 1 Perry & Dav. 266, 282, 283.

(q) See Amner r. Clark, 2 C., M. & R. 468, ante, 10, note (x).

다.) (%.) (%.)

č.

116

Bills and	*Foreign bills of exchange (r), drawn in sets, according to the custom of merchants, for every bill of each set, where the sum			d.
Notes.	made payable thereby shall not exceed 1001.	0	1	6
55 G. 3, c.	And where it shall exceed 100l. and not exceed 200l.	0	3	0
184.	And where it shall exceed 200l. and not exceed 500l.	0	4	0
•	And where it shall exceed 500l. and not exceed 1000l.	0	5	0
	And where it shall exceed 1000l. and not exceed 2000l.	0	7	6
	And where it shall exceed 2000l. and not exceed 3000l.	0	10	0
	And where it shall exceed 3000l.	0	15	0

Exemptions from the preceding and all other Stamp Duties.

Exemptions from Stamps on Inland and Foreign
Bills.

All bills of exchange, or bank post bills, issued by the Govenor and Company of the Bank of England.

Inland and Foreign Bills.

All bills, orders, remittance bills, and remittance certificates drawn by commissioned officers, masters, and surgeons in the navy, or by any commissioner or commissioners of the navy, under the authority of the act passed in the 35th year of his majesty's reign, for the more expeditious payment of the wages and pay of certain officers belonging to the navy.

All bills drawn, pursuant to any former act or acts of parliament, by the commissioners of the navy, or by the commissioners for victualling the navy, or by the commissioners for managing the transport service, and for taking care of sick and wounded seamen, upon and payable by the treasurer of the navy, Exemptions as to Checks on Bankers.

All drafts or orders for the payment of any sum of money to the bearer(s) on demand, and drawn upon any banker or bankers, or any person or persons acting as a banker(t), who shall reside or transact the business of a banker, within ten miles(u) of the place where such drafts or orders shall be issued(w), provided such place shall be specified in such drafts or orders(x), and provided the same shall bear date on or before(y) the day on

(r) See ants, 10. Where a bill was drawn in Ireland, and blanks left for the date, sum, time when payable, and the name of the drawee, and transmitted to England, where it was completed and negotiated, it was held that this was to be considered a bill of exchange from the time of signing and indorsing it in Ireland, and that an English stamp was not necessary; Snaith and others c. Mingay and others, 1 Maule & S. S7, (Chit. jun. SS0).

So where a bill of exchange was drawn in Jamaica upon a stamp of that island, with a blank for the payee's name, and transmitted to England, where a bon's fide holder filled in his own name as payee, it was considered that no English stamp was necessary; Crutchley v. Mann, 1 Marsh 29, (Chit. jun. 908).

If a bill be drawn in England, though dated in some foreign place, such bill cannot be enforced here without an English stamp; Jordaine v. Lashbrooke and another, 7 T. R. 601, (Chit.

jun. 606).

(s) In Rex r. Yates, Carrington's Crim. Law, 3d edit. 273, coram the twelve judges, it was decided, that a check payable to I. F. J. and not to bearer, was not within the exception in the Stamp Act in favour of checks, and ought to have been stamped as a bill, and not being so was not "a valuable security," within 7 &

8 Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 5, and that an indictment for larceny was not sustainable.

(1) It has been holden that the person on whom the check is drawn must be bond fide a banker; the words "acting as a banker" are to be taken in their popular sense; Castleman v. Ray, 2 B. & P. 383.

r. Ray, 2 B. & P. 383.

(u) Now fifteen miles, see 9 Geo. 4, c. 49, s. 15, post, 112, note (s). Where in an action upon a check the defence is that the check was drawn more than fifteen miles from the place where it was made payable, the defendant should plend that he did not make the check declared on; M. Dowall r. Lyster, 2 M. & W. 52, post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas; and see cases infra note (y).

(w) What not an issuing, Ex parte Bignold, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 633, post, 118.

(x) This must be strictly observed, and therefore, where a person residing in a private country house four miles from Llanelly untruly dated it as if drawn at Llanelly, it was held that the check was unavailable for want of a stamp; Walters c. Brogden, 1 Younge & Jerv. 457, (Chit. jun. 1348). See Rea v. Polley, 3 B. & P. 311

(y) A draft on a banker post-dated, and delivered before the day of the date, thought not which the same shall be issued; *and provided the same do not direct the Stamps on payment to be made by bills or promissory notes.

All bills for the pay and allowances of his majesty's land forces, or for other Notes. expenditures liable to be charged in the public regimental or district ac- 55 G. 3, c. counts, which shall be drawn according to the forms now prescribed, or 184. hereafter to be prescribed, by his majesty's orders, by the paymasters of regiments or corps, or by the chief paymaster, or deputy paymaster, and accountant of the army depôt, or by the paymasters of recruiting districts, or by the paymasters of detachments, or by the officer or officers authorized to perform the duties of the paymastership during a vacancy, or the absence, suspension, or incapacity of any such paymaster as aforesaid; save and except such bills as shall be drawn in favour of contractors or others, who furnish bread or forage to his majesty's troops, and who by their contracts or agreements shall be liable to pay the stamp duties on the bills given in payment for the articles supplied by them.

PROMISSORY NOTE for the payment to the bearer, on demand(z), of any sum of money (a),

Stamps on Promissory Notes Re-issuable.

Not exceeding one pound one shilling	0	0	5
Exceeding 11. 1s. and not exceeding 21. 2s.	0	0	10
Exceeding 21. 2s. and not exceeding 51. 5s.	0	1	3
Exceeding 51. 5s. and not exceeding 101.	0	1	9
Exceeding 10l. and not exceeding 20l.	0	2	0
Exceeding 201. and not exceeding 301.	0.	3	0
Exceeding 301. and not exceeding 501.	0	5	0
Exceeding 501. and not exceeding 1001.	0	8	6

Which said notes may be re-issued after payment thereof, as often as shall be thought fit.

PROMISSORY NOTE(b) for the payment in any other manner *than

On other Notes not intended to be used till that day, must be stamped, otherwise it will be void; Allen v. Keeyes, 1 East, 425; 3 Esp. Rep. 281, S. C., (Chit. jan. 638); Whitwell v. Bennett, 3 B. & P. 359, (Chit. jun. 685). And in the case of a post dated check it is not necessary that the objection to its admissibility in evidence for want of a stamp should be taken in the first instance; and where it has been read in evidence and the fact of its being post-dated is afterwards proved as part of the defendant's case, it will be struck out; Field v. Woods, 2 Nev. & P. 117; 7 Ad. & El. 114, S. C. Nor need such fact be specially pleaded, id. ib; and see Dawson v. M. Donald, 2 M. & W. 26, post, Part II. Ch.

IV. Defences and Pleas. See also supra, n.(u). (z) A promissory note for 40l, payable to W. or bearer, without the words " on demand," being in law payable on demand, requires a five ahilling stamp; Whitelock v. Underwood, 3 D. & R. 356; 2 B. & C. 157, (Chit. jun. 1193). But a note payable to A. B. on demand, or to A. B. generally, is not a note payable to bearer on demand within this class, but falls within the second class as a note payable otherwise than to bearer on demand; Dixon v. Chambers, 1 C., M. & R. 845; S. C. 5 Tyr. 502; 1 Gale, 14; Chectham v. Butler, 5 B. & Ad. 837; 2 N. & M. 453, S. C. overruling Keates Re-issuv. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; S. C. 2 M. & R. 8, able. (Chit. jun. 1379); and see Armitage v. Berry, [*108] 5 Bing. 501; S. C. 3 Moore & P. 211, (Chit. jun. 1439). See post, 116.

(a) Abbott, C. J. commenting upon these words, "I am quite satisfied that the words 'sum of money' mean the principal sum mentioned in the note, and not a sum compounded of principal and interest. A contrary decision would be most mischievous, and have the effect of avoiding many securities; for it has been the constant practice under similar provisions, applicable to bonds in this and former Stamp Acts, to measure the stamp duty by the principal sum secured, although interest is always payable from the date of the bond;" Pruessing r. Ing, 4 B. & Ald. 204, (Chit. jun. 1101); Pencock v. Mornell, 2 Stark. 558, (Chit. jun. 1077); Dearden v. Binns, 1 M. & R. 130.

(b) A promissory note payable to the plaintiff or order, and originally expressed to be for value received generally, being altered the next day upon the suggestion of one of the partners, by the addition of the words "for the goodwill of the lease and trade," requires a new stamp, such words being material, and not having been originally intended to be inserted, nor omitted

ا جر

إغروا  ž.::i

24

Stamps on Bills and Notes.
TAOCCA.

55 G. 3, c. 184.

to the bearer(c) on demand, but not exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, of any sum of money (d) ,
Amounting to 40s. and not exceeding 5l. 5s.	0	1	0
Exceeding 51. 58. and not exceeding 201.	0	1	6
Exceeding 201. and not exceeding 301.	0	2	0
Exceeding 301. and not exceeding 501.	0	2	6
Exceeding 50l. and not exceeding 100l.	0	3	6

These notes are not to be re-issued after being once paid(e).

PROMISSOY NOTE for the payment, either to the bearer on demand, or in any other manner than to the bearer on demand, but not exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, of any sum of money (d),

Exceeding 100l. and not exceeding 200l.	0	4	6
Exceeding 2001. and not exceeding 3001.	0	5	0
Exceeding 3001. and not exceeding 5001.	0	6	0
Exceeding 500l. and not exceeding 1000l.	0	8	6
Exceeding 1000l. and not exceeding 2000l.	0	12	0
Exceeding 2000l. and not exceeding 3000l.	0	15	0
Exceeding 3000l.	1	5	0

These notes are not to be re-issued after being once paid.

PROMISSORY NOTE for the payment to the bearer or otherwise, at any time exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, of any sum of money (f).

itor organi, or any owns or money () /
Amounting to 40s. and not exceeding 51. 5s.	0	1	6
Exceeding 51. 5s. and not exceeding 201.	0	2	0
Exceeding 201. and not exceeding 301.	0	2	6
Exceeding 30l. and not exceeding 50l.	0	3	6
Exceeding 50l. and not exceeding 100l.	0	4	6
Exceeding 1001. and not exceeding 2001.	0	5	0
Exceeding 2001. and not exceeding 3001.	0	6	O
Exceeding 300l. and not exceeding 500l.	0	\mathbf{s}	6
Exceeding 500l. and not exceeding 1000l.	0	12	6
Exceeding 1000l. and not exceeding 2000l.	0	15	0

by mistake; Knill r. Williams, 10 East, 34, (Chit. jun. 761). See also Cardwell r. Martin, 6 Enst, 312; 9 East, 190, 357; 1 Camp. 79, (Chit. jun. 744). As to material alterations, see Chitty's Stamp Act, 25 to 34; and post, next Chapter.

So a promissory note signed by A. and subsequently by B. whilst in the hands of the payce as surety for A., unless such signature by B is in virtue of an agreement subsisting at the time of making the note, will be void without an additional stamp; Clark r. Blackstock, 1 Holt, C. N. P. 474. As to an I. O. U. see post, Ch. XII. s. iv. Form, &c., of Promissory Notes.

(c) See ante, 107, note (2). (d) See Chitty's Stamp Act, 208, note (v). And as to the date, see ibid. 138.

(c) See section 19. Where, therefore a note payable on demand has been indersed for the accommodation of the maker, in order to be deposited with his creditor to secure the debt due, if the maker of the note pays the debt, and the bill is redelivered to him, it is no longer negotiable; nor can a bona fide holder, to whom such note is afterwards indorsed, recover thereon; Bartrum v. Caddy, 1 Perry & Dav 207. So if a promissory note not made negotiable be nevertheless negotiated, the holder cannot sue his immediate indorser as a new maker unless there be a second stamp; Plimley r. Westley, 2 Scott, 423; S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 249; 1 Hodges, 324.

(f) A note payable two months after sight requires a stamp appropriated to a note payable more than sixty days after sight, or two months after date, as the two months begin to run, not from the day of the date, but on the presentment for sight; Sturdy r. Henderson, 4 B. & Ald. 592, (Chit. jun. 1110), post.

202

Exceeding 2000l. and not exceeding 3000l. Exceeding 30001.

0 Stamps on 5 O Bills and 1 10 Notes.

These notes are not to be re-isued after being once paid.

55 G. 3, c.

*Promissory Note for the payment of any sum of money by instalments, or for the payment of several sums of money at different days or times, so that the whole of the money to be paid shall be definite and certain.

The same duty as on a promissory note, payable in less than two months after date, for a sum equal to the whole amount of the money to be paid.

And the following instruments shall be deemed and taken to be pro- What to missory notes, within the true intent and meaning of this schedule; be deemed

All notes promising the payment of any sum or sums of money out of any particular fund, which may or may not be available; or upon any condition or contingency, which may or may not be performed or happen; if the same shall be made payable to the bearer, or to order, and if the same shall be definite and certain, and not amount in the whole to twenty pound. And all receipts for money deposited in any bank, or in the hands of any banker or bankers, which shall contain an agreement or memorandum, importing that interest shall be paid for the money so deposited (g).

Exemptions from the duties on Promissory Notes.

All notes promising the payment of any sum or sums of money out of any Exempparticular fund, which may or may not be available; or upon any conditions. tion or contingency, which may or may not be performed or happen; where the same shall not be made payable to the bearer or to order, and also where the same shall be made payable to the bearer or to order, if the same shall amount to twenty pounds or be indefinite.

And all other instruments, bearing in any degree the form or style of promissory notes, but which in law shall be deemed special agreements, except those hereby expressly directed to be deemed promissory notes.

But such of the notes and instruments here exempted from the duty on promissory notes shall nevertheless be liable to the duty which may attach thereon as agreements or otherwise (h).

Exemptions from the preceding and all other Stamp Duties.

All promissory notes for the payment of money issued by the Governor and Company of the Bank of England.

RECEIPT or Discharge given for or upon the Payment of Money (i). Receipts. £ 8. d. Amounting to 2l. and not amounting to 5l.(k). 0 0 Amounting to 51. and not amounting to 101. 0

(g) Such a receipt when given by a private individual does not amount to a promissory note but to a special agreement within the second of the following exemptions, and is therefore admissible in evidence under a common agreement stamp; Horn v. Redfearn, 6 Scott, 260; 4 Bing. N. C. 483, post, next Chapter.

- (h) See Horn r. Redfearn, 6 Scott, 260; supra note (g).
- (i) See the notes to this part of the act, Chit. Stat. 1008, 1009.
- (k) This is repealed by the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 23, s. 1, and no receipt stamp is now necessary where the sum is under 51.

Es: 11

2503

1

L'Ber.

иж: 11 %: 1

L VIII Viide (

Mary 1

5.

3-2 201

31

re.

80

7

J.

 \mathcal{L}_i

L

1

Stamps on Bills and Notes. 55 G. 3, c. 184.

[*110]

Amounting to 10l. and not amounting to 20l. 0 Amounting to 201. and not amounting to 501. 0 1 0 *Amounting to 50l. and not amounting to 100l. 1 6 0 2 6 Amounting to 100l. and not amounting to 200l. 0 4 0 Amounting to 2001. and not amounting to 3001. Amounting to 300l. and not amounting to 500l. 0 7 6 Amounting to 500l. and not amounting to 1000l. Amounting to 1000l. or upwards. 10 0

And where any sum of money whatever shall be therein expressed or acknowledged to be received in full of all demands

And any note, memorandum, or writing whatsoever, given to any person for or upon the payment of money, whereby any sum of money, debt or demand, or any part of any debt or demand therein specified, and amounting to two pounds(l) or upwards, shall be expressed or acknowledged to have been paid, settled, balanced, or otherwise discharged, or satisfied(m), or which shall import or signify any such acknowledgment, and whether the same shall or shall not be signed with the name of any person, shall be deemed and taken to be a receipt for a sum of money of equal amount with the same debt or demand so expressed or acknowledged to have been paid, settled, balanced, or otherwise discharged or satisfied, within the intent and meaning of this schedule, and shall be charged with a duty accordingly.

And any receipt or discharge, note, memorandum, or writing whatever, given to any person for or upon the payment of money, which shall contain, import, or signify any general acknowledgment of any debt, account, claim, or demand, debts, accounts, claims, or demands, whereof the amount shall not be therein specified, having been paid, settled, balanced, or otherwise discharged or satisfied, or whereby any sum of money therein mentioned shall be acknowledged to be received in full or in discharge or satisfaction of any such debt, account, claim, or demand, debts, accounts, claims, or demands, and whether the same shall or shall not be signed with the name of any person, shall be deemed and taken to be a receipt for the sum of 1000l. or upwards, within the intent and meaning of this schedule, and shall be charged with the duty of ten shillings accordingly.

And all recipts, discharges, and acknowledgments of the descriptions aforesaid, which shall be given for or upon payment made by or with any bills of exchange, drafts, promissory notes, or other securities for money, shall be deemed and taken to be receipts given upon the payment of money, within the intent and meaning of this schedule(n).

(1) Now 51.; see note (k), ante, 109.

(m) These words apply to the discharge of an anlecedent debt, and not to an acknowledgment that money has been deposited to be uccounted for; and therefore, where the plaintiff having deposited money in the hands of the defendant, took from him the following memorandum,—' Mr. T. has left in my hands 2001.:' it was held in an action to recover that money, that such memorandum was admissible in evidence without a receipt stamp; Tompkins v. Ashby 6 B. & C. 541; 9 D. & R. 543, S. C.; and see Mullett v. Huchison, 7 B. & C. 639; and Langdon v. Wilson, ib. 640, infra, note (n).

(n) See the regulations in 35 Geo. 3, c. 55, Chit. Col. Stat. 941. A bill of parcels, on which is written "settled by one bill at three and another at nine months," is not admissible in evidence unless it is stamped; Smith v. Kelby, 4 Fsp. 249. And an acknowledgment of having received the acceptance of a bill of exchange in payment, requires a receipt stamp; Scholey r. Walsby, Peake R. 24; Watkins v. Hewlett, 3 Moo. 211; 1 Bro. & B. 1, S. C. But a mere acknowledgment that a party holds bills for a particular purpose, as "I have in my hands three bills, which amount to 1201. 10s. 6d., which I have to get discounted, or return on demand," does not require a stamp; Mullett

*Exemptions from the preceding Duties on Receipts. (Inter alia.)

Stamps on Bills and Notes.

55 G. 8, c.

Receipts given for money deposited in the Bank of England, or in the Bank 184. of Scotland, or Royal Bank of Scotland, or in the Bank of the British Linen Company in Scotland, or in the hands of any banker or bankers, to be accounted for on demand(o): provided the same be not expressed to be received of or by the hands of any other than the person or persons to whom the same is to be accounted for. But if with interest, see Promissory Note.

Receipts or discharges written upon promissory notes, bills of exchange, drafts, or orders, for the payment of money, duly stamped according to the laws in force at the date thereof, or upon bills of exchange drawn out of but payable in Great Britain.

Receipts or discharges given upon bills or notes of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England.

Letters by the general post acknowledging the safe arrival of any bills of exchange, promissory notes, or other securities for money.

Receipts or acknowledgments of payment indorsed upon any bills, orders, remittance bills or remittance certificates drawn by commissioned officers, masters and surgeons in the navy, or by any commissioner or commissioners of the navy, under the authority of the act passed in the thirty-fifth year of his Majesty's reign, for the more expeditious payment of the wages and pay of certain officers belonging to the navy.

Receipts or acknowledgments of payment indorsed upon any bills drawn pursuant to any former act or acts of parliament, by the commissioners of the navy, or by the commissioners for victualling the navy, or by the commissioners for managing the transport service, and taking care of sick and wounded seamen, upon and payable by the treasurer of the navy.

By this act, it will be observed, that with respect to Inland bills of ex-Observachange, whether negotiable or not, a distinction is made in the amount of the tions on stamp between bills and notes payable at a time not exceeding two months or the Act. sixty days after date, and those exceeding that time, and a penalty of 100l. is imposed on any person post-dating or issuing any bill or note so post-dated. so as to avoid the higher duty(p). It is also provided, that all drafts or orders for the payment of money by a bill or promissory note, or for the delivery of any such bill or note in payment or satisfaction of any money, shall be liable to the like stamp duty as a bill or note.

A Foreign bill drawn in but payable out of Great Britain, if drawn singly and not in a set, is liable to the same duty as an inland bill of the same amount and tenor. But if a foreign bill be drawn in Great Britain in sets. each part of the set is subject to a stamp duty, progressively increasing ac-

v. Huchison, 7 B. & C. 639; 1 Man. & Ry. 522, (Chit. j. 1372.) So the following letter signed by the defendant, and addressed by him to the plaintiff, " I have this day received a bill of exchange for 300l, drawn by one Patteson upon Thomas Harrison, bearing my indorse-ment and the indorsement of Sir Paul Bagshot, which I hold as your attorney, to recover the value of from the respective parties, or to make such other arrangement for your benefit as may appear to me, in my professional capacity, rensonable and proper.-15th November, 1825," was held not to require a stamp; Longdon r. Wilson, 7 B. & C. 640, note (b); and see Tornkins r. Ashby, 6 B. & C. 541; supra, note (m). See also Tornkins r. Savory, 9 B. & C. 704; 4 Man. & Ry. 538, S. C.

(o) Semble, that independently of this exemption, such a receipt would not require a stamp. See per Tenterden, C. J. in Tompkins r. Ashby, 6 B. & C. 541, 542; supra, n. m.

(p) 55 (iec. 8, c. 184, s. 12.

(217, 17,

THE S

2000.0

0033500

1.7.2

972 XI

इ.स.स

ارجواجه لا

Just 146

7. (0.

191. Tet

施 進

175 Y.J

ÉP THE

أولك مقلكا

Cyr i

J.  5

7

3.00

21.01

200

20 10

1-:

r= -..

1

ه ما کم

S. 74

200

١.

34.

ł.,

g.

.

۲°2;

34

1

47 .

I

Są

30

₹

Èi,

3

Notes.

Observations on 55 G. 8, c. 184.

Stamps on cording to the amount of the snm payable (q). It is also provided, that promissory notes made out of Great Britain *shall not be negotiated or paid in Great Britain, unless the same shall have paid the duty on promissory notes of the like tenor and value in Great Britain, with an exception of notes made and payable only in Ireland(r).

> Exemptions from these stamp duties are made in favor of bills or bank post bills issued by the Bank of England, and of all bills, orders, remittance bills, and remittance certificates, drawn by commissioned officers, masters, and surgeons in the navy, or by any commissioner of the navy, and other bills drawn by or upon persons in certain public employments, and also in favor of drafts or orders for the payment of money to the bearer on demand, and drawn upon any banker or person acting as a banker, residing or transacting the business of a banker within ten (now fifteen(s)) miles of the place where such draft or order shall be issued, provided such place shall be truly specified in such draft or order, and the same shall bear date on or before the day on which the same shall be issued, and provided the same do not direct the payment to be made by bills or promissory notes(t).

9 G. 4, c. 23.

By 9 Geo. 4, c. 23, s. 1, persons carrying on the business of bankers in England, (except in London, or within three miles thereof) having first obtained a licence and given security, may issue, on unstamped paper, notes for any sum amounting to 51. or upwards, expressed to be payable to the bearer on demand, or to order, at any period not exceeding seven days after sight, and bills of exchange, expressed to be payable to order on demand, or at any period not exceeding seven days after sight, or twenty-one days after date, provided such bills are drawn on a person carrying on the busipess of a banker in London, Westminster, or Southwark, or provided they be drawn by a banker, at a town or place where he is duly licenced to issue unstamped notes and bills under that act, upon himself or partner, payable at any other town or place where he be duly licenced to issue such bills or notes.

Section 2 authorizes the commissioners of stamps to grant licences to all persons carrying on the business of bankers (except as aforesaid) to draw and issue such bills and notes on unstamped paper, and charges such licences with a stamp duty of 30l. each (u).

Section 3 requires a separate licence for each place, but makes it unnecessary to take out more than four licences for any number of places in England, the fourth licence specifying all the places not mentioned in the other three(w).

Section 12 inflicts a penalty of 100l. on persons so licenced for post-dating bills and notes (x). And section 13 provides that nothing in that act shall exempt from the penalties of former acts persons who under any colour or thing in any such act or acts to the contrary notwithstanding; provided the place where such drufts or orders shall be issued shall be specified therein; and provided the same shall bear date on or before the day on which the same shall be issued; and provided the same do not direct the payment to be made by bills or promissory notes." See ante, 106, n. (u).

(q) Id. Schedule 1.

(r) Sect. 29, penalty 201. See poet, 319 (12).

(1) The terms of exemption must be strictly observed; see Waters v. Brogden, 1 Y. & J. 457, (Chit. j. 1348); ante, 106, note (x).

(u) See 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 16.

(w) Sec 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, s. 17.

(x) See 55 Geo. 8, c. 184, s. 12, ante, 108.

⁽s) By 9 Geo. 4, c. 49, s. 15, it is enacted, " that from and after the passing of this act, all drafts or orders for the payment of any sum of money to the bearer on demand, and drawn in any part of Great Britain, upon any banker or bankers, or any person or persons acting as a banker, who shall reside or transact the business of a banker within fifteen miles of the place where such drafts or orders shall be issued, shall be and the same are hereby exempted from any stamp duty imposed by any act or acts in force immediately before the passing of this act, any pretence whatsoever shall issue unstamped bills or notes "without being duly Stampe on licenced, or where such bills and notes shall not be drawn and issued in Bills and strict accordance with the regulations and restrictions of the act.

With respect to promissory notes, the stamp duties are arranged under five Observaseveral heads. 1st. Notes for payment to the bearer on demand, for any tions on 55 sum exceeding 1l. 1s. and not exceeding 100l. and which it is provided may 184. be re-issued after payment thereof as often as shall be thought fit. 2dly. Notes for any sum not exceeding 1001. payable in any other manner than to bearer on demand, but payable not exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, and which it is provided shall not be re-issued after pay-3dly. Notes exceeding 100l. payable either to bearer on demand, or in any other manner than to bearer on demand, but not exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, and which also are not to be re-issued after payment. 4thly. Notes payable to bearer or otherwise, of any sum of money at any time exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight, and which notes also are not to be re-issued after payment.

5thly. Notes for payment of money by instalments, or for the payment of several sums of money at different days, so that the whole of the money payable shall be definite and certain, and these latter notes are subject to the same duty as on a promissory note payable in less than two months after date for a sum equal the whole amount of the money to be paid.

And it is enacted, that the following instruments shall be deemed promissory notes within the meaning of the schedule, viz. notes payable out of a particular fund, which may or may not be available (y); or upon any condition or contingency which may or not be performed or happen, if the same shall be made payable to the bearer or to order, and if the same shall be definite and certain, and not amount in the whole to 20l.(z).

And all receipts for money deposited in any bank, or in the hands of the banker or bankers, which shall contain any agreement or memorandum importing that interest shall be paid for the money so deposited(a).

The exemptions from the duties on promissory notes are notes payable out of a particular fund, or on a condition or contingency, when not payable to bearer or order, or when for a larger sum than 201. (b), or indefinite; and all other instruments, bearing in any degree the form or style of promissory notes, but which in law shall be deemed special agreements, except those hereinbefore expressly directed to be deemed promissory notes. But it is provided, that such notes and instruments thereby exempted from the duty on promissory notes shall nevertheless be liable to the duty which may attach thereon as agreements or otherwise(c).

Lastly, all promissory notes for the payment of money, issued by the Governor and Company of the Bank of England, are exempted from all stamps duties (d).

The penalty of 50l. is imposed upon any person who shall make, sign, or issue, or cause to be made, signed, or issued, or shall accept or pay, or cause or permit to be accepted or paid, any bill of exchange, draft, or or- [ 114] der, or promissory note, for the payment of money liable to any of the du-

(y) Ante, 109. (z) Ante, 109. See observations of Lord Ellenborough in Firbank r. Bell, 1 Bar. & Ald. 36, and Jones v. Simpson, 2 Bar. & C. 321; 3 D. & R. 545, (Chit. j. 1189).

(a) Ante, 109, Horne v. Redfearn, 6 Scott, 260; 4 Bing. N. C. 488, S. C.

(b) The sum was limited to 20/. because, as they would operate as agreements, they, when for more than 201., must have been stamped as such under the previous Stamp Acts, and which satisfied the revenue objects.

(c) Ante, 109, Horne v. Redfearn, 6 Scott,

(d) 55 Geo, 3, c. 184, schedule 1, tit. Promissory Notes.

EU IV.

We 221

are al

E MIGH W2 18

TED: 2

Z XI... 1

£ 161

E Sall

0.003

ابرا يوا

- a.r. 21

le ()

 $\mathcal{U}^{(i)}$

J. 21

Tryy

1201

2 £

三起机

26. i.,

1

200

ž. 🚓

2 ----

150

41 - 42

150

12.1

 $\Re_{i,\xi}$

i,

1:4:

7

4.

÷.

Ť.

43

. 4

S

Stamps on ties imposed by the act, without the same being duly stamped(e). Penalties are also imposed upon persons drawing, receiving, or paying any post-Notes. dated bill, so as to avoid the higher duty, or a draft on a banker, not made conformable to the act(f). Regulations are then made relative to re-issua-Observations on 55 ble notes, and for the licences to bankers drawing and issuing such notes(g); Geo. 8, c. and it is provided, that all the powers, regulations, and penalties contained 184. in and imposed by the several acts of parliament relating to the duties thereby repealed, and the several acts of parliament relating to any prior duties of the same kind or description, shall be of full force and effect relative to the duties thereby granted (h). Hence therefore most of the decisions on the former acts are applicable to the existing stamp duties on bills and notes.

Decisions on the Statutes relative to Stamps.

With respect to Foreign bills, it is clear that the legislature did not mean to extend the stamp duties imposed by these acts to such foreign bills as are really made abroad or at sea(i), where no English stamp can be obtained, and where the use of them could not be enforced; and it may be collected from the language of the acts, that the duty is only imposed on bills drawn in Great Britain(k), or in England on Ireland, which we have seen is to be considered a foreign bill, at least as to some purposes(1). And where a bill was drawn in Ireland, for which part of the kingdom there is a distinct stamp act, and blanks left for the date, sum, time when payable, and the name of the drawee, and transmitted to England, where it was completed and negotiated, it was held, that this was to be considered as a bill of exchange from the time of signing and indorsing it in Ireland, and that an English stamp was not necessary (m). So where a bill, of which a person residing abroad, as at Antwerp, was intended to be drawer, was sketched out and accepted here, and then transmitted to such person abroad, that he might there sign his name as drawer, and he there signed the same accordingly, such bill was considered foreign and drawn abroad, where it was signed by the drawer, and that it did not require an English stamp(n). Again, where a bill of exchange was drawn in Jamaica upon a stamp of that island, with a blank for the payee's name, and transmitted to England, where a bond fide holder filled in his own name as payee, it was considered that no English stamp was necessary(0). But if a bill be drawn in England, though dated at some foreign place, such bill cannot be enforced here without an English stamp(p): however, such a defence must be made out by very strong proof, and not by mere suspicious circumstances and conjecture, and therefore if a bill be dated at Paris, 1st March, proof that the drawer was in London on the 3d March will not suf-[*115] fice, for it might have been *ante-dated or post-dated (q). If, however, the fact be proved, even a bon \hat{i} fide holder cannot sue or prove(r).

(e) 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, sect. 11.

(f) Id. ib. sect. 13. (g) Id. sect. 14 to sect. 28.(h) Id. sect. 8.

(i) Ximenes v. Jaques, 1 Esp Rep. 311.

(k) 55 Geo. 3, c. 184; Crutchley c. Mann, 1 Marsh 29, (Chit. j. 908); 5 Taunt. 529. (1) Ante, 10, note (u); Chaters v. Bell, 4

Esp. R. 48, (Chit. j. 636).
(m) Snaith v. Mingay, 1 Maule & S. 87,

(Chit. j. 880).

(a) Boehni v. Campbell, Gow, 56; 8 Taunt. 679; 3 Moore, 15, (Chit. j. 1045).
(c) Crutchley v. Mann, 5 Taunt. 529; 1

Marsh. 29, (Chit. j. 908).
(p) Jordaine v. Lashbrooke, 7 T. R. 601, (Chit. jun. 606); Abraham v. Dubois, 4 Campb.

269; (Chit. jun. 946). If an action is brought on a bill of exchange not having any English stamp, and purporting to be drawn in Paris, the defendant will be entitled to a verdict, if it appear from the evidence that the plaintiff must have been in England on the day on which it purports to have been drawn; Bire v. Moreau, 2 Car. & P. 376, (Chit. jun. 1306). But mere proof that the drawer was in England at or about the time of the date, will not suffice; Abraham v. Dubois, supra.

(q) Abraham v. Dubois, 4 Camp. 269, (Chit. j. 946); and see Bire v. Moreau, 2 Car. & P. 376, (Chit. j. 1306).

(r) Ex parte Manners in re Voss, 1 Rose,

We have seen that a bill drawn in London payable to the order of the Stamps on drawer in London, upon a merchant residing in Brussels, and accepted by Bills and him accepted by Rolls and Notes. him payable in London, is an inland bill, and must be stamped as such(s).

With respect to the amount of the sum payable it was made a question Decisions whether a stamp for the exact amount of 50l. was sufficient for a bill of that on the Statutes sum with all legal interest. It was contended that the stamp was insuffi-relative to cient, because the bill was to carry interest from the date, and therefore a Stamps. larger sum was payable upon it than 501.; but it is reported, that Lord Ellenborough inclined to think the stamp sufficient, as there was no interest due when the bill was drawn, and it was then a security for the sum of £50 and no more, and there is always interest to be recovered, if the bill be not paid the day it becomes due; the case afterwards came before the court, when it was decided upon another point, and no opinion was given as to the sufficiency of the stamp(t). In a subsequent case, where a promissory note for £30 and interest from the date was payable three months after date, and was impressed only with a 2s. 6d. stamp; on the trial before Holroyd, J. at the Sittings at Westminster after Michaelmas Term, 1820, it was objected, that as the £30 with the interest for three months, secured by the note, exceeded £30, and the note was payable at a time exceeding two months, or sixty days, a 3s. 6d. stamp was necessary; but the learned judge over-ruled the objection, and afterwards, on motion for a new trial, the whole court discharged the rule, saying, that the addition of interest ought not to be taken into calculation, for otherwise a bond for £1000 and interest would require a stamp for a larger sum than £1000, which would be contrary to practice and principle(u).

The word "date" in the Stamp Act is intended to denote the period of payment expressed on the face of the bill itself; where, therefore, it was postdated, so as in fact to be payable upwards of two months after the time it was actually issued, it was held that the 2s. stamp under the act was sufficient, and a bond fide holder might recover, though the party so post-dating was liable to a penalty of £100(x).

It has been holden that a bill payable at sight is not to be considered as a bill payable on demand, so as to be exempt from duty, under the Stamp Act, 23 Geo. 3, c. 49, s. 4, in favour of bills payable on demand, three days of grace being allowed (y).

As to promissory notes, a note for £11 10s. made payable to bearer *on [*116] demand, with interest, for value received, requires a 2s. stamp, under the first class of the last Stamp Act(z); and a promissory note, whereby the maker promised to pay W. or bearer the sum of 401. value received, with interest, (without saying on demand, or at sight, or after date), is in law a

C. 673; 13 Price, 455, S. P. (y) J'Anson v. Thomas, B. R. Trin. Term, 24 Geo. 3, 3 Dong. 421; Bayl. 5th edit. 98,

(2) Keates v. Whieldon, 8 Bar. & Cress. 7; 2 Man. & Ry. 8; ante, 107, note (2).

⁽s) Amner v. Clark, 2 C., M. & R. 468, ante, 10, note (x).

(t) Israel v. Benjamin, 8 Campb. 40, (Chit. j. 887).

⁽u) Pruessing v. Ing, B. & Ald. 204, (Chit. jun. 1101); ante, 107, note (a).

⁽x) Upstone v. Marchant, 2 Barn. & Cres. 10; 3 Dow. & Ry. 198, S. C., (Chit. jun. 1182). Peacock v. Murrell, 2 Stark. C. N. P. 558, (Chit. jun. 1077.) See also Johnson v. Garnett; 2 Chit. Rep. 122, (Chit. jun. 928), &c.; and see Doe d. Kettle v. Lewis, 10 B. &t ⁽Chit. jun. 426). In an action on an inland bill, the question was, whether it was included under an exception in the Stamp Act of 28 Geo. 3, c. 49, s. 4, in favour of bills payable on demand, and the court held it was not; and Buller, J. mentioned a case before Willes, C. J. in London, in which a jury of merchants was of opinion that the usual days of grace were to be allowed, on bills payable at sight. See also Dehers v. Harriott, 1 Show. 164, (Chit. jun. 485); Dixon v. Nuttall, 1 C. M. & R. 307; 6 C. & P. 320, S. C.; post, Ch. IX. s. i. Time of Presentment.

Est 1

1000

. 16 1

J. 1

4.1

20 ζ.

1:1

1.1

$ 2

111

41

1

Notes.

Decisions on the Statutes relative to Stampe.

Stamps on note payable on demand, and requires a 5s. stamp, as falling under the first division of the above provisions; and the court held, that upon all notes payable to bearer on demand for sums not exceeding 100l. the stamps specified in the first class of the schedule must be used without any distinction between notes intended to be re-issued and notes not so intended(a). It has been held that a bill or note payable at sight is not to be considered as payable on demand, because the party is entitled to days of grace(b).

As to the second class, in one case it was decided that a promissory note, by which the maker "promised to pay to J. Keates, the sum of £11 11s. on demand, with lawful interest for the same," and on which was affixed a stamp of 1s. 6d. only, was improperly stamped, because, although it contained no words of negotiability, yet it was to be deemed as a promissory note, under the first division, viz. payable to bearer on demand, within the meaning of the first part of the division of the schedule, 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, and ought to have had a 2s. stamp, and that it did not fall within the second division, which, the court said, applied only to notes not exceeding two months after date, or sixty days after sight; and though it was contended that as this note was payable only to the payee, it could not be deemed payable to bearer, or re-issuable; yet Bayley, J. observed, "we cannot say that this was not a note which might be re-issued, for by the Stamp Act other persons than bankers may take out a licence and re-issue notes (c). But the Court of Common Pleas determined otherwise (d). And in a subsequent case in the King's Bench(e), Mr. Justice J. Parke said, "As to Keates v. Whieldon, I am not by any means sure that if it were re-considered the court would come to the same conclusion; and that case has since been over-ruled in Cheetham v. Butler(f), where a promissory note payable to A. B. generally was held not to be a note payable to bearer on demand, and re-issuable, within the first class of notes described in 55 Geo. 3, s. 184, schedule, part 1, but a note payable otherwise than to bearer on demand (not re-issuable) within class 2, and that therefore such a note for 100l. required a stamp of 3s. 6d. only. So a promissory note whereby A. promised to pay B. on demand 201. with lawful interest until payment, for value received, has been held not to be a note payable to bearer on demand, but a note payable otherwise than to bearer within two months after date(g). In Moyser v. Whitaker(h) all the Judges held that a promissory note payable to A. B. or order on demand was within the second class or division of notes mentioned in the schedule, [*117] being in the language of that class a *note payable in another manner than to bearer on demand, and also not exceeding two months after date, though it was argued that it might or might not be payable more than two months after date: and Mr. Justice Bayley said, as it is payable on demand, how can it be said to be payable at exceeding two months? The fair construction of the second class is, to hold that it includes all notes not necessarily exceeding

(a) Anie, 107, note (z), Whitlock r. Underwood, 2 Bar. & C. 157; 3 Dowl. & R. 356, S. C., (Chit. jun. 1188).

(b) J'Anson v. Thomas, B. R. Trin. Term. 24 Geo. 3, 3 Dougl, 421, ante, 115, note (y); Bayl. 5th edit 98, (Chit jun. 426).

(c) Keates v. Whieldon, 8 Bur. & Cres. 7; 2 M. & Ry. 8, (Chit. jun. 1879); but see Armitage v. Berry, 5 Bing. 561; 3 M. & P. 211, S. C., and over-ruled in Cheetham v. Butler, 5 B. & Ad. 837.

(d) Armitage v. Berry, 5 Bing. 501; 3 M. & P. 211, S. C., (Chit. j. 1489).

(e) Moyser v. Whitaker, 9 Bar. & Cres. 411; Dans. & Lloyd, 216, (Chit. jun. 1431); and see Armitage v. Berry, 5 Bing. 501; 3 Moore & P. 211, (Chit. jun. 1439.)

(f) 5 Bar. & Adol. 837; 2 Nev. & M. 453, S. C.; and see Dixon v. Chambers, 1 C., M. & R. 845, infra.

(g) Dixon v. Chambers, 1 Cro., M. & R. 845; 5 Tyrw. 502; 1 Gale, 14; see Cheetham r. Butler, 5 B. & Ad. 887, supra, overruling Keates r. Whieldon, 8 B. & C. 7; 2 M. & R. 8, S. C.

(h) 9 B. & C. 411, supra, note (e).

two months(i). So a banker's deposit note, " £--- payable with interest Stamps on at the rate of three per cent. to the day of acceptance," is a note payable Bills and inmediately upon demand, and need not be left with the maker for acceptance (k). So an instrument in these words, "On demand, we jointly and Decisions severally promise to pay J. G. or order, 100l. with lawful interest for the Statutes same from the date hereof," was holden to require only a promissory note relative to stamp of 3s. 6d., as it is distinguishable from a note payable to bearer on de-Stamps. mand, which may be re-issued after payment (l).

A note, dated 7th July, 1818, payable two months after sight, requires a stamp appropriated to a note under the fourth division, i. e. on a note payable at a time exceeding two months after date, and also more than sixty days after sight, as the two months begin to run, not from the day of the date, but from the day of presentment for sight, and there being more than thirty days (viz. thirty-one days) in July and August, it follows, that even if the bill had been presented for sight on the 28th July, the two months would, even without the days of grace, exceed sixty days(m)

With respect to the clause requiring a stamp on bills, drafts, or orders, for the payment of money out of a particular fund, which may or may not be available, the object of the legislature in framing this provision was to subject such instruments to a stamp, because although they did not, in strictness, fall under the legal denomination of a bill or note, (which must be payable at all events, and not contingent); yet such instruments, in fraud of the revenue, passed current, and were commonly paid without objection (n). In a case under this clause, where C. was requested by a letter from B. to pay out of the proceeds of his goods then unsold in his C.'s hands a certain named sum of money to D., which C. consented to do by letter to D. (which letter was stamped with an agreement stamp), and these letters being given in evidence, to prove that the money was paid by order of B., it was holden, that the order itself for payment from B. to C. should have been stamped, as being an order for the payment of money out of a fund which might or might not be available(o). And in another case, the following letter from F. and Co. to their correspondents, S. and Co., "Gentlemen,-We request you will pay to Messrs. H. C. and Son, or their order, out of the first proceeds that become due of our stock of gunpowder now in your hands, 6001. and charge the same to our account," was held an order for the payment of money within this clause, and liable to be stamped as such, and not with an agreement stamp, although the letter formed part of a correspondence between the three houses, being followed by a letter to H. C. and Son from S. and Co. promising to pay as directed, provided they should be in funds for the purpose, and by other letters between the houses of *F. and Co. and S. and Co. relating to and confirmatory of the same [*118] order(p). But in a case where A. having consigned goods to B. sent him the following order:-" Pay to G. H. the proceeds of a shipment of goods, value about 20001., consigned by me to you," and C. B., by writing, consented to pay over the full amount of the net proceeds of the goods, it was held that neither of these instruments required such a stamp as the Stamp hurst, 4 Moore, 471, (Chit. jun. 1082).

(o) Firbank v. Bell, 1 Bar. & Ald. 36.

(p) Butts v. Swann, 2 Brod. & Bing. 78;
4 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1084).

Digitized by Google

⁽i) And see Dixon v. Chambers, 1 C., M. & R. S45; ante, 116, note (g).
(k) Sutton v. Toomer, 7 Bar. & C. 416; 1 M. & R. 125, (Chit. jun. 1352).

⁽¹⁾ Armitage v. Berry, 3 Moore & P. 211;

⁵ Bing. 501, (Chit. jun. 1439.)
(m) Sturdy v. Henderson, coram Abbott, C. J. Sittings at Guildhall after Easter Term, 1821, and 4 B. & Al. 592, (Chit. jun. 1110).

⁽n) See Lord Ellenborough's observations in Firbank v Bell, 1 Bar. & Ald. 39; and see Jones v Simpson, 2 Barn. & C. 318; 8 D. & R. 545, (Chit. jun. 1189); Barlow v. Broad-.

Notes.

(EAP

*::

72.

٠,٠

e. :

21

÷.

'B (21

Stamps on Act imposed on drafts, bills, or orders for the payment of money, because no particular sum of money was named (q).

Decisions on the `Statutes relative to Stamps.

As to checks on bankers, it has been held upon the exempting clause in favour thereof, that the person on whom the check is drawn must be bona fide a banker(r); but a person acting as a banker is considered as such, though he do not keep open shop(s). So it must be payable to bearer(t). A draft on a banker post-dated, and delivered before the day of the date, though not intended to be used till that day, must be stamped, or will be void(u); and the place where the check was actually drawn must be truly stated, and therefore where a person residing in a private country-house, called Trimsaran, four miles from Llanelly, untruly dated his check as if drawn at Llanelly, it was held that the check was unavailing for want of a stamp, although the banker resided at Llanelly (x). And where the holder of a check, which he knew was post-dated, and who also knew the drawer was insolvent, obtained payment from the banker, he was compelled to re-A check, however, is not issued until it is in the hands of a third party entitled to demand cash for it; and, therefore, where a person having credit with a bank received money from the agent of the bank, and every week gave him an unstamped check on the bank for the amount advanced during the week, which the agent sent to the bank as a voucher for himself, and this check was drawn more than the limited distance from the bank and post-dated, it was held not to be within the 13th section of 55 Geo. 3, c. And in order to subject a banker to the penalty imposed by this section for paying a check issued more than the limited distance from the bank where payable, it must be proved that the banker paid the check with a full knowledge of the fact of its having been so issued(a). ances does not prevent the operation of the act(b).

3. Time of Impressing Stamp, and Power of Re-Stamping.

3. Time of

Upon the statute 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, it has been held, that if the commis-Impressing sioners exceed their authority, and do stamp the bill or note after it has the Stamp sioners exceed their authority, and do stamp the bin of note after it has [*119] been made, and the time of stamping does not appear on the *face of it, no defence can be established on that ground to an action by an indorsee founded on the bill or note, because it would be injurious to paper credit if it were necessary for an indorsee to ascertain before he takes a bill whether > (q) Jones v. Simpson, 2 B. & C. 318; 3 D. & R. 545, (Chit. j. 1082, 1189); and see Barlow v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471.

> (r) Castleman r. Ray, 2 Bos. & Pul. 383. Action for money had and received; defendant pleaded a set-off as to part, and produced the following paper unstamped in evidence to support his plea:-

> Mr. Castleman, Please to pay the bearer £---, his receipt will be your discharge from

T. M. Standgate, 8 Sept. 1790. Mr. Castleman, Bricklayer Camberwell.

Paid by R. Ray, for C. Castleman. The plaintiff objected to this paper being received in evidence as not falling within section 4 of 28 Geo. 8, c. 49, Castleman not being a banker; and Chambre, J. before whom the cause was tried, being of that opinion, a verdict was found for the plaintiff, and the court upon motion refused a rule for a new trial; see also Ruff v. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep 129, (Chit. j. 524).

(s) Ex parte Wilson, 1 Atk. 218.

(t) Rex v. Yates, Carrington's Crim. Law, 8d ed. 273; ante, 106.

(u) Allen v. Keeves, 1 East, 435; 3 Esp. R. 281, (Chit. j. 638); Whitwell v. Burnet, 3 B. & Pul. 559, (Chit. j. 635); Martin v. Morgan,

3 Moore, 635, (Chit. j. 1065).
(x) Waters v. Brogden, 1 Younge & J. 457, (Chit. j. 1348); and see ante, 106.

(y) Martin v. Morgan, Gow, 123; 3 Moore, 635, (Chit. j. 1065)

(2) Ex parte Bignold, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 633; 1 Dea. 712, S. C.

(a) Id. ib. (b) Id. ib.

Digitized by Google

or not it was stamped previously to its having been made(c). But accord-Stamps on ing to subsequent decisions, it should seem that at least if the instrument be Bills and in the hands of the party in whose favour it was originally made, a subsequent stamping, apparent on the face of it, would not render it available 3. Time of against such positive enactment (d). And in a more recent case it was con-impressing sidered that an inquiry as to the time when the stamp was put on is admissible; and where upon the face of the bill or note it appears that it was restamped improperly after it was issued, an indorsee receiving it cannot recover thereon(e).

It being found that the above statute frequently defeated the claims of the holders of bills, the legislature passed a temporary act(f), whereby the commissioners of his Majesty's stamp duties on proof by the holder that no fraud on the revenue was intended were authorised to stamp bills, &c. after they were drawn on payment of a certain penalty; but as the power of the commissioners under this act has long since expired(g), and as bills and notes are excepted in the 43 Geo. 3, c. 127, s. 5, and 44 Geo. 3, c. 98, No existing s. 24, the holder of a bill has no civil remedy thereon if it be either unstamp-impressed or beara stamp of an inferior value to that required by the acts, or be of proper a different denomination(h). And the commissioners cannot on payment Stamp if of a penalty impose the proper stamp, and if they should do so, the time of inferior stamping may be proved to prevent the instrument from being available(i). Value, &c. But as an instrument which in itself amounts to a promissory note is not the less a promissory note from its containing a memorandum importing that certain title-deeds have been deposited as a collateral security, it is sufficient if the instrument be declared upon as a promissory note, that it be stamped as such at the time of the making, and a mortgage stamp may afterwards be affixed; for, as observed by Littledale, J. (k) " the restriction which prohibits stamping a promissory note after it is made applies only to the promissory note stamp; the fact that an instrument which, in the character of a mortgage, may be stamped after it is made, contains also a promissory note, amounts to nothing. The meaning of the legislature was merely that parties should not take their chance on a promissory note by delaying the stamping till they wanted to produce it in evidence as a promissory note; but that does not prevent a mortgage, *which happens also to be a promissory [*120] note, from having a mortgage stamp put on it after it is made."

An authority however was given to the commissioners by the 37 G. 3, c.

(c) Wright r. Riley, Peake's Rep. 173, (Chit. j. 498).

(d) Roderick v. Hovil, 3 Camp. 103; Rapp v. Allnut, id. 106, in notis.

(e) Green v. Davies, 4 Barn. & Cres. 235, 241; 6 D. & R. 306, S. C., (Chit. j. 1251); and see Butts r. Swann, 2 Brod. & Bing. 78; 4 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1084). (f) 34 Geo. 3, c. 32.

(3) Bayl. 26, in notes; Phil. Evid. 3d ed.

(h) In criminal prosecutions the want of a proper stamp is not in general an available objection; see the cases, I Chit. Crim. Law, 2d ed. 582, &c.; Chitty's Stamp Acts; Phillips on Evid. 3d ed. 454 to 459; Stark. on Evid. part iv. 1381, 1382. And as to the instances in which an unstamped bill or note may be given. in evidence, see Rex v. Poolley, 3 Bos. & P. 316; Peake's Rep. 75; 15 East, 449, 455; Phillips' Law of Evid. 3d ed. 403, 454. In Gregory v. Frazer, 3 Camp. 454, it was held, be imthat although a promissory note without a stamp pressed. cannot be received in evidence as a security, or to prove the loan of money, it may be looked at with a view to ascertain a collateral fact; and therefore in this case, the action being for money lent, and the defence being that the defendant had been made drunk by the plaintiff, and induced to sign the note without any consideration, Lord Ellenborough held that the note might be looked at by the jury as a cotemporary writing to prove or disprove the fraud imputed to the plaintiff, (Chit. j. 899); see Coppock v. Bower, 4 M. & W. 361, and cases there cited.

(i) Green r. Daviez, 4 Barn. & Cres. 335, (Chit. j. 1251); 6 D. & R. 306, S. C.; Butta r. Swann, 2 Brod. & Ping. 84, 88; 4 Moore, 494, (Chit. j. 1084).

(k) Per Littledale, J. in Wise r. Charlton, 4 Adol. & El. 786, 790; 6 Nev. & M. 464, 366; 2 Har. & W. 49, S. C.

When a

Y. .

13.7

.7.1

12

11:1

32 1

313

£ jî

100

: 1

٧;

Notes.

the Stamp.

Stamps on 136, s. 4, to stamp bills, checks and notes with the additional stamp duty imposed by 37 Geo. 3, c. 90, at any time before the 1st November, 1797, without any penalty, and the following section (which appears to be still in 3. Time of force (l)) provides, that any bill, &c. made after the passing of the 37 Geo. impressing 3, c. 136, and liable to any stamp duty under 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, and which shall be stamped with a stamp of a different denomination from that required by that act, may, if the stamp be of equal value or superior value to the stamp required, be stamped with the proper stamp on payment of the proper duty, and 40s. if the bill be not due, or 10l. if due; and the commissioners are thereupon to give a receipt for the duty and penalty so paid on the back of the bill, and such bill will be valid in any court. Previously to this act a bill stamped with an improper stamp was valid, provided it was a stamp required under 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, and it was of the same or greater value than the proper one (m); but where in an action on a note by an indorsee the stamp appeared to be a 7s. deed stamp, Lord Kenyon said the note could not be received in evidence, and the plaintiff was accordingly non-suited (n).

Previously to the enactment in the 43 Geo. 3, c. 127, it was held that a promissory note for 251. 5s. written upon a 9d. stamp (being the stamp imposed by 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, on notes not exceeding 501., but which at the time of the making of the note had ceased to be the proper stamp on any note whatever) instead of an 8d. stamp (being that required by 37 Geo. 3, c. 90, on notes not exceeding 301.) was void(o); but it was afterwards held that a promissory note for 451. which by law required a stamp of 1s. 6d. composed of three different sums applicable to three different funds under three acts of parliament being written on a 2s. stamp, composed of three different sums applicable to the same funds, though in larger proportions to each that was required, such note is good(p). To obviate the objection on account of a larger stamp being imposed than was necessary, it was enacted by the 43 Geo. 3, c. 127, s. 6, that every instrument, matter or thing stamped with a stamp of greater value than required by law shall be valid, provided such stamp shall be of the denomination required by law for such instrument, &c.; and by the recent act 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 10, it is provided, that all instruments upon which any stamp shall have been used of an improper denomination or rate of duty, but of equal or greater value in the whole with the proper stamp shall be valid, except where the stamp used on such instrument shall have been specially appropriated to any other instrument by having its name on the face (q). And it has *been observed, that where a bill or note is upon a stamp so specially appropriated, it may perhaps be stamped under 37 Geo. 3, c. 136, s. 5, on payment of the duty and 40s. penalty before it has become payable, or on payment of the duty and 10l. afterwards, and it should seem this is clearly so(r).

Under the former acts, qualifying the right to re-issue bills after pay-

(m) 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 19; Chamberlain v.

(r) Ante, 120.

Digitized by Google

⁽¹⁾ Chamberlain v. Porter, 1 New Rep. 30, (Chit. j. 692).

Porter, 1 New Rep. 84, (Chit. j. 692).
(n) Manning v. Livie, cor. Lord Kenyon, Sittings after Mich. Term, 1796, Chitty's Stamp Acts.

⁽o) Farr v. Price, 1 East, 55, (Chit. j. 631). (p) Taylor v. Hague, 2 Enst, 414, (Chit. j.

⁽q) Quere if this clause has a retrospetive operation; see Green v. Davies, 4 Bar. & C. 236, 240; 6 D. & R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251). In Haward v. Smith, 6 Scott, 438; 4 Bing. N. C.

^{684,} S. C. a plea to an action on a bill of exchange that the bill was not duly stamped, was held bad on special demurrer, as not showing whether the bill was altogether unstamped, or stamped with a stamp of a higher or lower value than required by law. Note, this plea was stated to have been pleaded before the case of Dawson v. M'Donald, 2 M. & W. 26, which decided that the want of a proper stamp was admissible as a defence under the plea of nonacceptance; see ante, 106, note (y), and post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

ment(s), it has been determined, that after a bill has been returned to and Stamps on paid by the drawer, he may without a fresh stamp indorse the bill over to a Bills and new party, who may in his own name sue the acceptor, because the prohibition against re-issuing after payment means only a payment by the acceptor, 3. Time of and where the instrument has been satisfied (t) (1).

impressing the Stamp.

If a bill or note be made in any part of our King's dominions, as in Jamaica, where by the local revenue law of such place a stamp is required, such instrument cannot be recovered upon in any court here, unless properly stamped according to the law of the place where the same was made(u); but the party objecting to the want of a stamp, in such case must prove that by the law of that part of our dominions a stamp was necessary, and for this purpose should produce an authenticated copy of the law(x). Our courts do not regard the Revenue Laws of a foreign independent state (y)(2).

- (s) The power to re-issue promissory notes by bankers will be considered in the chapter relating to promissory notes, post, Ch. XII. 53 Geo. 8, c. 184; 7 Geo. 4, c. 48; 9 Geo. 4,
- (1) Callow v. Lawrence, 3 Mau. & S. 95,
- (Chit. j. 11).
 (u) Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 241; 1 Esp. Rep. 528, S. C., (Chit. jan. 584); Clegg v. Levy, 3 Camp. 166.
- (x) See cases Chitty's Stamp Acts, 11. (y) Roach v. Edie, 6 T. R. 425; Boucher v. Lawrence, Rep. Temp. Hardw. 198; Hol man v. Johnson, Cowp. 343; Clugas v. Penaluna, 4 T. R. 467; Rex v. Picton, 30 How. St. Tr. 514; Park on Ins. 7th edit. 390; Marsh. on Ins. 1st ed. 51, 55. Per Grose, J. in Ogden v. Folliott, 3 T. R. 733; and 1 Hen. Bla. 135, in which this point was discussed. In Holman v. Johnson, Lord Mansfield said, "no country ever takes notice of the revenue laws of another.'

James v. Catherwood, 3 Dow & Ry. 190, assumpsit for money lent in France, and unstamped receipts were produced in proof of the loan; evidence to show that by the law of France such receipts required stamps to render them valid was rejected Chitty, for defendant, on motion for a new trial, contended that such evidence should have been received to show that in France such receipts were not legal without a stamp, and further, that as every contract must be entered into in conformity with the lex loci, it was competent to defendant to show that this contract had not been so entered into. Abbott, C. J. said, " In the time of Lord Mansfield it became a maxim that the courts of this country will not take notice of the revenue laws of a foreign state. There is no reciprocity between nations in this respect. Foreign states do not take any notice of our stamp laws, and why should we be so courteous to them when they do not give affect to ours? It would be productive of prodigious inconvenience, if in every case in which an instrument was executed in a foreign country, we were to receive in evidence what the law of that country was, in order to ascertain whether the instrument was or was not valid.'

In Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 241, 2 Esp. Rep. 529, (Chit. jun, 584); upon its being objected that a note was not stamped according to the law of Jamaica, Lord Kenyon said, "I think we must resort to the laws of the country in which the note was made, and unless it be good there, it is not obligatory in a court of law here." So in Clegg v. Levy, 8 Camp. 167, Lord Ellenborough said, without qualification, "I should clearly hold, that if a stamp was necessary to render the agreement valid in Surinam, it cannot be received in evidence without that stamp here. A contract must be available by the law of the place where it is entered into, or it is void all the world over." But it will be observed, that in Alves v. Hodgson, Jamaica was then part of our king's dominions.

It has been observed, that in matters of penalty, it is certainly true that our courts will not recognize foreign revenue laws, as appears from Folliott r. Ogden, 1 Hen Bla. 135; Woeff v. Oxholm, 6 Mau. & S. 99; but that it does not seem tofollow from thence that where the validity of a contract is to depend upon a revenue law, the courts of this country are not bound to recognise it; Roscoe on Bills, 383. The stamp however, is not any part of the contract itself even in this country, and which is one reason for the distinction. Upon a broad and liberal policy one state ought not to give effect to the frauds upon the revenue laws of another, any more than one neighbour ought to sanction the frauds of the servants of another neighbour; Montesq. de l'Esprit de Lois, liv. 1, c. 3; Mackintosh's Lect. and Chitty's Com. Law, vol. i. 28, 74, &c. But as other nations do not re-

⁽¹⁾ An order drawn by a debtor on a person having funds in his hands, is, after presentment to the drawee, an assignment of such funds to the extent of the order, and the drawee cannot afterwards legally part with such funds to the drawer or any other person. Peyton v. Hallet, 1 Caines' Rep. 379. And where a bill is drawn upon special funds, the authority in the drawee to pay it, is not revoked by the death of the drawer before presentment of the bill. And it seems that such a bill is to be deemed an assignment of such funds. Cutts c. Perkins, 12 Mass. Rep. 206. See Debesse v. Napier & Co, I M'Cord, 106.

⁽²⁾ It seems that the courts of one country do not take notice of the stamp acts of unother

:11

e li

 ${\mathbb G}$

31

1.

T.

21

21

Stamps on Bills and Notes.

*4. Consequences of Instrument not being Stamped.

Not admissible in Evidence for any Purpose as an availament(y).

It was provided by the statute 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 19, (to which 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 8, refers), that unless the paper on which a bill or note be written be stamped with the proper duty, or a higher duty, it shall not be pleaded or given in evidence in any court(z) or admitted to be good, useful or available in law or in equity; and that it shall not be lawful for the commisble Instru- sioners, or their officers, to stamp any bill or note after it is made.

Under this positive enactment that a bill or other instrument not duly stamped shall not be given in evidence or admitted to be available, it has been holden, that a judge cannot even submit the unstamped instrument to a jury with a view to consider whether it was thereby intended to cancel another bill(a). And where there was a perfect and absolute note on the face of it duly stamped as a note, and the defendant offered to read an unstamped indorsement upon the note, which he contended qualified the absolute contract, and it was objected that such indorsement made part of the note, and that neither of them could be read, because taken together they required an agreement stamp, Lord Ellenborough said, "I have on one side a perfect note, and on the other that which, if stamped, might have operated as a defeazance, but at which for want of a stamp I cannot look, therefore the plaintiff is entitled to a verdict(b)." And where a promissory note for 1001, with interest on demand was not properly stamped, it was proved that the defendant on being applied to by the plaintiff for payment of interest, spect our revenue laws, so, for want of reciprocity, we do not regard theirs.

Strong cases have occurred upon this point, Smith r. Marconnoy, Peake Rep. Addenda, 81, where it was held, that the maker of paper knowingly made for the purpose of forging assignats upon the same, to be exported to France in order to commit frauds there on other persons, might recover damages for not accepting such paper pursuant to the contract. And see Strongitharm v. Lukyn, 1 Esp. 389, S. P. But see Vattel, L. N. Rook I. Ch. X. p. 108.

See further Wynne v. Jackson, 2 Russ. Rep. 351, and post, Ch. V. s. iii. Construction of Bills.

(y) Not necessary to plead specially the want of proper stamp; see the cases, ante,

106, note(y).

(z) It cannot be looked at by a jury but may by the court or judge, Sweeting v. Halse, 9 B. & C. 365; 4 M. & R. 287, (Chit. j. 1423); and even by a jury to defeat a claim on the ground of fraud, &c.

(a) Sweeting v. Halse, 9 Bar. & Cres. 365; 4 Man. & R. 287, (Chit. j. 1423). When a bill of exchange became due it was agreed between the drawer and acceptor that it should be renewed, and on the back of the bill another instrument for the same value was drawn and accepted by the same parties, but it was not stamped. At the same time the name of the acceptor was erased from the first bill. In an action on that bill the judge left it to the jury to find whether it had been cancelled with the consent of the drawer, and the unstamped instrument was submitted to the view of the jury; they having found that the bill was cancelled with the consent of the drawer, the court made a rule for a new trial absolute, on the ground that the jury ought not to have been permitted to draw a conclusion of fact from the unstamped instrument.

(b) Stone v. Metcalfe, 1 Stark. Rep. 53; 4 Camp. 217; (Chit. j. 943); and see Brill r.

Crick, 1 M. & W. 232.

country, so far as to enforce a violation of them by denying effect to written contracts made in a country, and not stamped according to its laws. Therefore where a note was executed in France by a person resident there, payable at New York to another person resident there, as agent of a third person resident in France, and by the laws of France existing at the time all notes for the payment of money were required to be stamped, without which no note could be recovered in that country, it was held that a suit could be maintained thereon in the courts of New York, not-withstanding the note was not stamped. The Court said, that they did not sit to enforce the revenue laws of other countries; nor to take notice of a violation of them; and if it were otherwise, it might be said that the parties in that case never contemplated exacting payment of that note in France. Trustees of Randall v. Van Renssellaer, 6 John. Rep. 94.

A note not duly stamped according to the act of Congress of 6th July, 1797, cannot be read in evidence in an action brought upon it since the repeal of that act, unless the holder has complied with the provisions of the repealing act of the 5th of April, 1802, by paying a stamp duty of ten dollars. Edeck v. Ranuer, 2 Johns. Rep. 423.

.:

. .

11.

(4)

15

: سي

ىك ر

17

735 2 e^{iL^2}

ي. بر

. . . .

stated that he would bring her some on the following Sunday, it was held, Stamps on that although this was an admission that something was due, still as it did not Bills and appear what the nature of the principal debt was, or that it was due to the Notes. plaintiff as executrix (as she had declared) or in her own right, or that it 4. Consewas one for which assumpsit would lie, the plaintiff was not entitled to re- quences of cover even nominal damages, and therefore a nonsuit was entered (c). this doctrine under the stamp laws is so strictly adhered to, that even where Stamped. a party objecting to the want of a proper stamp on an agreement which might be stamped on payment of a penalty at any time before the trial purposely destroyed such agreement, the other party was without remedy (d). bowever supposed that a bill or note originally properly stamped, but which in consequence of a material alteration was not admissible in evidence as a billor note, might nevertheless under circumstances *be looked at and referred to by the jury so as to enable the plaintiff to recover upon an account [*123] stated; as where in an action by the payee against the maker of a promissory note, it was proved at the trial that the note had been altered, but an admission was given in evidence in which the defendant said, "is that my handwriting? I write a different hand now, but I know I owe the money;" and the note was shown to the jury to enable them to ascertain the sum to which the admission referred; and upon that admission and evidence the court decided that the plaintiff was entitled to a verdict on the account stated for the whole amount of the note(e); and there have been other decisions to the like effect (f), as where a note had been given by bankers payable with interest at 31. per cent., and it was afterwards altered at the maker's request to 2 1-2 per cent. interest, the jury were allowed to look at the note to see what was the amount of the money lent, and thereby enable the plaintiffs to recover the principal money under the count for money lent (g). But as the stamp acts declare that the instrument either unstamped or insufficiently stamped shall not be pleaded or given in evidence in any court, or admitted to be good, useful or available in law or equity, it should seem that such instrument ought not to be read by the jury for any purpose whatever, even as a single link in the chain of evidence towards establishing a demand in favour of the party producing it; and accordingly the case alluded to of Bishop v. Chambre has been recently overruled(h); and where in an action by the indorsee of a bill for 571. 10s. and upon an account stated against the acceptor, the bill being upon an insufficient stamp, the plaintiff, in order to recover upon the account stated, produced two letters written by the defendant after the dishonour of the bill, in the first of which, dated the day the bill became due, and addressed "to the gentleman who calls with the bill," the defendant expressed his regret that it was not in his power to take up the bill for 571. 10s., and in the second letter, which was in answer to one from the plaintiff's attorney, requiring payment of the defendant's acceptance in favour of Tilbury for 571. 10s., the defendant said, "if he had had the money he should not let his acceptance be dishonoured; and he proposed that Tilbury should draw upon him at a month; it was decided that these letters did not amount to an acknowledgment that the sum of 571. 10s. was due to the plaintiff, but merely that it was due to the person

And Instrument not being

(c) Green, executrix, r. Davies, 4 B. & C.

235; 6 D. & R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251).
(d) Rippiner v. Wright, 2 B. & Ald. 478. (e) Bishop v. Chambre, 1 Danson & Lloyd, 83; Moo. & M. 166; 3 Car. & P. 53, S. C.; and see statement in Jardine v. Payne, 1 B. & Adol. 667, (Chit. j. 1521); and see Sutton r. Toomor, 7 B. & C. 416, (Chit. j. 1852).

(f) Sutton v. Toomer, 7 B. & C. 416; 1 M. & R. 129, (Chit. j. 1352); and other cases, Chitty's Stamp Laws, 46 to 56.

(g) Id. ibid. But there the original note looked at had been duly stamped.

(h) Jardine v. Payne, 1 Barn. & Adol, 668, (Chit. j. 1521); and see Sweeting v. Halse, 9 Bar. & C. 865; 4 M. & R. 287, (Chit. j. 1428).

131

Bills and Notes.

4. Consequences of Instrument not being Stamped.

Stamps on legally entitled to the bill, who was not named by the defendant; that it was therefore necessary for the plaintiff to prove an indorsement of the bill; and that the bill not being on a sufficient stamp could not be looked at by the jury for the purpose of ascertaining that fact(i). And Lord Tenterden, C. J. said, "we are of opinion that an unstamped bill, or one improperly stamped, cannot be read to the jury as evidence of the contract, or any part of it, in respect of which the plaintiff sues; such an instrument may be looked at by the court(k) for the purpose of seeing whether it requires a stamp or is properly stamped, that being a part of the duty of the judge, with which the jury have nothing to do, and of which they are supposed to take *no cognizance; it may be looked at by the jury also for a collateral object, as was done in the case of Gregory v. Frazer(1), where the defence was, that the maker of a note was drunk at the time the money was advanced, and was imposed upon by the plaintiff, and the hand-writing of the note was vouched as proof of that fact. But that such an instrument cannot be read in evidence as a security is clear from the words of the statute 31 Geo. 3, c. 25, s. 19, (incorporated into the subsequent stamp acts), and which expressly provides, "that no bill liable to the duties by that act imposed shall be pleaded or given in evidence in any court, or admitted in any court to be good, useful or available in law or equity unless duly stamped(m)." And it has recently been determined that a promissory note improperly stamped cannot be given in evidence to take a case out of the statute of limitations(n). Nor can a bill of exchange expressing the terms of an agreement between a landlord and in-coming tenant be received in evidence without an agreement stamp(o).

In an action for usury the circumstance of a discounted bill or note being improperly stamped was held not to render it inadmissible (p); and in indictments for forgery, or uttering as forged, the same rule prevails (q). though some exceptions with respect to indictments for larceny, &c. have been made, they stand on very questionable ground (r).

When a bill of exchange or promissory note is not properly stamped, it has been held, that a neglect to present it for acceptance or for payment, or to give notice of dishonour, will not discharge the drawer or indorser from liability to pay the original debt, in respect of which it was indorsed or delivered to the holder, although it be proved that but for such laches the bill [*125] would have been paid(s). One reason might be *assigned, that it is illegal,

> (i) Jardine v. Payne, 1 Bar. & Adol. 663, (Chit. j. 1521).

(k) See other instances, Chitty's Stamp Acts, 52.

(1) Gregory v. Frazer, 3 Camp. 454, (Chit. j. 899); see also Rex v. Pendleton, 15 East, 449; Rex r. Bathwick, 4 Dowl. & R. 435; Reed v. Deere, 7 Bar. & C. 261. An unstamped bill or note seems in general admissible as evidence to defeat fraud, see cases, Chitty's Stamp Acts, 50, &c. As to criminal cases, id. 53 to 56, see post, 819 (13.)

(m) Jardine v. Pnyne, 1 Barn. & Adol. 670, (Chit. j. 1521).

(n) Jones v. Ryder, 4 M. & W. 32. (o) Nicholson v. Smith, 2 Stark. Rep. 128; and see other cases, post, next chapter as to the form and requisites of bills and notes

(p) So ruled by Abbott, C. J. Guildhall Sittings after Michaelmas Term, 1922, 3 Stark. Evid. 1382; and see Chitty's Stamp Acts, 53; Coppock v. Bower, 4 M. & W. 361.

(q) Rex r. Hawkeswood, 1 Leach, 257, &c. (Chit. j. 423, 504); Chitty's Stamp Acts, 53.

(r) See the cases and observations Chitty's Stamp Acts, 53 to 56, and the reasons assigned by the majority of the judges in Reculist's case, 2 Leach, 706, 707, (Chit. j. 555); and see Rex v. Yates, 3 Car. C. 1.. 273; ante, 106.

(a) Cundy and another v. Marriott, I Bar. & Adol. 696, (Chit. jun. 1522). The vendee of goods indorsed to the vendor in payment a bill on an insufficient stamp. It was not paid by the acceptor, and the vendor did not give any notice of dishonour to the vendee, and it was held, that the instrument being of no value for want of a sufficient stamp notice of dishonour was unnecessary.

Wilson v. Vysar, 4 Taunt. 288, (Chit. jun. 860). Action for goods sold; defence, payment. A bill drawn by H. on B. and accepted by the latter, and indorsed by defendant to plaintiff, for such goods. It was not presented for payment when due, and in consequence of and subjects the party to 501. penalty for causing an unstamped bill to he Stamps on paid(r). And if there be any such original debt between the holder and Bills and such drawer or indorser, the holder, though he cannot recover upon such instrument, may nevertheless sustain his action for such original debt(s); and 4. Conseif any banker pay any bill, draft, or order, insufficiently stamped, he is not quences of to be allowed the payment in account(t). But where there is no privity be-not being tween the plaintiff and the defendant, as in the case of a remote indorsee and Stamped. the acceptor, the former will have no remedy against the latter, if the stamp be defective and not remediable by the above provisions, and can neither sue nor prove under a commission, and a court of equity will not in general afford him relief(u). But where a party had entered into an express agreement to give a valid note, and had given one upon an improper stamp, a court of equity enforced the delivery of a valid note(x); and where a creditor holds two bill, one duly stamped, and the other not, and receives money generally on account, he may apply it in satisfaction of the unstamped bill(y), and if a defendant in an action at law pay money into court upon the whole declaration, he is precluded from objecting to the sufficiency of the stamp on which the bill was drawn(z). And if two or more persons have concurred in the fraud, they may be indicted for a conspiracy, and if goods or money has been obtained by wilfully false proof of the validity of an unstamped bill, they might be indicted.

5. ALTERATIONS.

The consequences of alterations in bills as to the stamp will be considered in the next Chapter.

the laches, payment was refused by the drawer and the defendant. To rebut this defence, the plaintiff proved that the bill was drawn on a stamp of inferior value to that required by the statute, and therefore could not be given in evidence for the defendant; it was then proved, that if it had been presented at maturity, it would have been paid; but the court held, that as the bill was not properly stamped, they could not consider it as payment.

Ruff v. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep. 129, (Chit. jun. 524). Assumpsit for work and labour; and it was decided, that a draft in these words, "Mr. R. will much oblige Mr. W. by paying to I. R. or order, 201. on his account," was a bill of exchange, and could not be given in evidence without a stamp, and also that such draft, although taken without objection by the party at the time, was not any discharge of the subsist-

But in Swears v. Wells, 1 Esp. Rep. 317, (Chit. jun. 543), where a creditor had agreed to take part of his debt in hand, and a note for the remainder at a future day, but which note was, by mistake, given upon a wrong stamp, it was beld, that having taken the money to be paid in hand, he was compellable to wait till the time when such security would become due, unless in the mean time the party had refused to give a note properly stamped, and see Chamberlain v. Delarive, 2 Wils. 353, (Chit. jun. 877).

(r) Ante, 103.

(s) See the cases in note (s), ante, 124, and Brown v. Watts, 1 Taunt. 358, (Chit. jun. 173); Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 243, (Chit. jun. 584); and Tyte v. Jones, cited 1 East, 58, note (u); Puckford v. Maxwell, 6 T. R. 52, (Chit. jun. 531); White v. Wilson, 2 Bos. & Pul. 118; Wilson v. Kennedy, 1 Esp. Rep. 245, (Chit. jun. 535); Wade v. Beazley, 4 Esp. 7, (Chit. jun. 635).

(t) 55 Geo. 8. c. 184, s. 13.

(u) Cannot proce, see Ex parts Manners in re Voss, 1 Rose, 68, nor can have relief in equity, Toulmin v. Price, 5 Ves. 240.

(x) Aylett v. Bennett, 1 Anst. 45; 2 Bridgm.

588, (Chit. jun. 494).

(y) Biggs v. Dwight, Man. & R. 808, (Chit. jun. 1860). See post, Ch. IX. s. xi. as to the application of payments.
(2) Israel v. Benjamin, 3 Campb. 40, (Chit.

jun. 887).

*CHAPTER V.

FORMS AND REQUISITES OF BILLS OF EXCHANGE, NOTES, &c.—CONSTRUCTION.—DELIVERY TO PAYEE, AND EFFECT THEREOF.—ALTERATIONS.—AND LIABILITY OF DRAWER.

I. FORM AND PRINCIPAL REQUISITE	: 6
Or BILLS AND NOTES	126
Must be in Writing	127
Very concise in Form	id.
Essential to know Requisites of
Foreign Bills	id.
In general no precise Words e	8-
sential	128
Excepted Instances by Statute	id.
What amounts to a Bill or No	te 129
Must contain an order or Pron
ise	130
If ambiguous, whether it be a Bi or Note, may be sued on a Must be for Payment of Mone	131
only	y 132
Must be absolute, not contingen or uncertain, either as to Amount, Event, Fund, or Person	134
Contingency by Written Agree	-
meni	140
Parol Agreement inadmissibl
Consequences of Informality in
Bill or Note	144
II. PARTS AND PARTICULAR REQUIsites. 1. Stamp	145 147
1. Stamp • Date of Place	id.
2. Date of Place 3. Date of Time	148
4. Sum to be paid superscribed	149
5. Time of Payment	150
6. Place of Payment	151
7. Request or Order on Drawee to pây	154
8. Second and Third, &c. not paid	id.
9. Payee	156
10. The Words "or Order" or other Negotiable Words	159
11. Sum to be paid	id.
12. Value received	160
18. Place it to account, &c. 14. As advised	162 id.
15. Drawer's Name	163
16. Address to Drawes	164
17. Place of Payment	165
18. Au besoin chez. Messrs.	id.
19. Retour sans protêt on "sans
frais''	id.
20. Limit of Re-exchange, &c.	id.

21. Witness	166
Of Letters of Advice	id.
Of Letters of Advice Of Mistakes in Bills or Notes	id.
Of Relief in Equity	id.
III. CONSTRUCTION OF BILLS AND)
NOTES, AND HOW GIVEN EFFECT	•
то	167
To be construed according to the	t
Intention of the Parties	id.
Construction to be according to the law of the Country where made	id.
But Remedy to be according to) Law of Country where pursued	169
Foreign Law on this Subject
IV. DELIVERY TO PAYEE AND EF- FECT THEREOF	172
When Delivery essential	id.
Taking of, when it suspends
Remedy for prior Debis	id.
When it waires Lien	174
When it precludes Inquiry as to Amount of prior Debt	175
Compels Holder to use Diligence	e id.
When must be produced on Trial, &c.	176
On Dishonour, when prior
Claim revives	178
Of renewed Bills	180
V. Consequences of alterations
IN BILLS AND NOTES	181 id.
1. At Common Law When without Consent vitiates	182
Immaterial Alterations do not	102
viliale	184
Alterations to correct Mistakes
allowed	id.
2. Under Stamp Acts	185
Material Ateration after Bill has become an available Security, destroys it, though with Consent	id.
At what Time Alterations may be made	196
Evidence in case of Alteration	189
Altered Bill, when inadmissible,	191
and Consequence	192
Consequences of Erasures I. LIABILITY OF DRAWER	id.
. PIRBILITE OF DRAWER

I. Form and principal Requisites of Bills,
Notes, &c.

I. FORM AND PRINCIPAL REQUISITES OF BILLS, NOTES, &c.

A BILL OF EXCHANGE being "an open letter of request by one person to another to pay money," and a promissory note being "a written promise 1. Form to pay money," it follows that each must be in writing(a), or *whilst legible and principal requiit may be in pencil(b), and the whole of the contract must be so expressed; sites of and according to the law of Great Britain and of other countries, no part of Bills, such contract can be established or supplied by oral testimony(c). It should Notes, &c. seem, however, that the whole of the contract need not be in the body of the Must be in same instrument, and that a contemporaneous memorandum or indorsement writing on on the bill, or even on a separate detached paper, may be resorted to, ei- $\frac{\text{Bill or}}{\text{Note, or a}}$ ther by the holder, to supply or explain(d), or by the defendant, to show contempothat the instrument was qualified or payable on a contingency or renewa-raneous ble(e), though evidence of a parol similar stipulation would be clearly inad-Paper. missible (f); and where the bill with the indorsements cannot all be written on the same paper, effect is given to indorsements on an annexed paper called "un alonge(g)."

A bill of exchange and promissory note, whether considered with refer- A Bill and ence to their original utility, their negotiability, or the number of persons who most conmay in separate rights or liabilities be parties thereto, are contracts formed cise Form. in the fewest possible words to effect the objects of commerce; the simple and mere acts of drawing, indorsing, or accepting the former, or making or indorsing the latter, importing the most certain and precise contract for presumed adequate consideration, that the bill shall be accepted on presentment, and the named sum be paid at the appointed time (h).

The authentic form and requisites of a bill of exchange, however, vary Necessity in some respects in different countries by express local laws; and it is a gen- of being eral maxim, that as far as respects such contract, it must, in every country with Forwhere it is sued upon, be given effect to according to the law of the place eiga Laws where it was made, and of which every person taking a foreign bill is pre- as to Forsumed to be cognizant before he receives it(i). And therefore it is essen-&c. tial for every one, before he takes a foreign bill, to be informed of the foreign law applicable to the bill where it was made or indorsed, for otherwise he may be without remedy against all parties resident out of this kingdom, on account of defects in the bill, or the negotiation of it. Thus in France there is an express law that a bill shall be drawn at one place upon another; and it is essential that it be truly dated at the time when it was made, that it state the name of the drawee, the time and place of payment, the nature of the value received by the drawee, and be payable to order, and if there be several parts that each mentions that fact(k), and an indersement must there be dated and signed, and if either of these requisites be omitted, the bill of exchange will be void, or will at least lose many of the advantages incident

(a) Thomas r. Bishop, R. T. Hardw. 2; 2 Stra. 955, (Chit. j. 277, 278, 279); ante, 1; 1 Pardess. 844, 345.

(b) Geary v. Physic, 5 Bar. & Cres. 284; 7 D. & R. 653, (Chit. j. 1279), where it was decided that an indorsement may be in pencil. See post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer-Modes of.

(c) Supra, note (a). (d) Beele r. Bidgood, 1 Man. & Ry. 143; 7 Bar. & Cres. 453, Chit. j. 1355). In this case the note was to pay 3968l. for value received, in several instalments, with interest included, as expressed and specified in agreement for the sale of his moiety, &c. Proof of the agreement, showing what the instalments were, was admitted, but it should be observed, that the only question reserved and argued related to (e) See cases, rost, 140, 141; Hartley r. Wilkinson, 4 Maule & S 25; 4 Campb. 127, S. C., (Chit. j. 931).

(f) See post, 142, et seq.

(g) I Pardess. 865.

(h) 1 Pardess 363, post, 128, 129. (i) Pailliet Manuel de Droits Français, 3d edit. A. D 1818, page $40; and see rost, section iii. Construction.

(k) 1 Pardess. 21, 22, 327, 328, 346, 479, 430; Pailliet de Droits Français, 840, 841; and where see reasons for those regulations.

1

3. 4

1

े ें।

40

v

f.j

٦

.

J

I. Form and princi-pal Requisites of Bille, to a perfect bill(1). And even the *parties who have drawn, indorsed, or accepted such defective bills, will not be precluded from taking advantage of the omissions or of defects apparent on the face of it, and the holder who took the bill will lose the ordinary legal remedies (m), though where the de-Notes, &c. fect is not self-apparent, as where a false date or place is stated, the parties who have made or negotiated the bill will be precluded from raising the obiection when the bill is in the hands of a bona fide holder(n); and it seems that small variations from the prescribed forms, but not substantially contrary to the regulations, however improper, will not vitiate(o). So a person suing as an indorsee or bearer of a Bank of England note, on a supposed transfer in France, must, in order to recover in this country, prove that the law of France allows of and gives effect to such a transfer (p). It has, therefore, been deemed expedient throughout this work to notice the principal circumstances in which the foreign law differs from or accords with that of this country.

In general, no precise sential.

But, subject to such particular and local regulations, neither the law-merchant in general, nor the law of England in particular, requires any particu-Words es lar form or set of words in a bill or note. It is, however, advisable, in the absence of express enactment or usage applicable to the case, to frame bills of exchange and notes in the forms presently given, and the parts of which will be then considered separately and in detail.

But there are prescribed Forms of Bills and Notes in England, when under a certain Amount, or re-issuable.

In England the forms of bills and notes of small amount, or circulated by bankers and re-issuable, are in some cases prescribed and must be ob-Thus all negotiable bills or notes made in England for less than served. twenty shillings shall be void(q), and it was enacted(r), that all negotiable bills and notes made in England, (except Bank of England notes payable on demand, made and dated before the 10th of October, A. D. 1826, and notes payable to bearer on demand), stamped before the 5th of February, 1826, for the payment of twenty shillings and less than 51. should be void, unless they specify the name and place of abode of the person to whom or to whose order they are made payable, and be attested by one subscribing witness, and bear date at or before the time when they are issued, and be made payable within twenty-one days after the date, and be in the form prescribed by the act(s); and there are certain forms prescribed with respect to checks and bills, and notes issued and reissuable by bankers at certain distances, which will be more properly considered in that part of the work relating to such instruments(t).

But in other cases no pre-Form. [*129]

But in general in Great Britain and Ireland no particular form or set of words is necessary to be adopted, any more than is generally the case with respect to the language of a bond or other deed (u) (1). And *although a

(1) Pailliet de Droits, Français, 480, 841; 1 Pardess. 346.

(m) 1 Pardess. 21, 22, 478, 487.

(n) Id. ibid. (o) 1 Pardess. 21, 22.

(p) Per Lord Tenterden, in De la Chaumette v. The Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 215, (Chit. j. 1419, 1542); ante, 81, note (k), and post, tit. Transfer. (q) 48 Geo. 3, c. 88; see stat. in Appendix.

(r) 17 Geo. 3, c. 80, s. 1, made perpetual by 27 Geo. 8, c. 16, and 7 Geo. 4, c. 6.

(s) Id. ibid.

(t) Post, Ch. XII. 7 Geo. 4, c. 6; and c. 46; 9 Geo. 4, c. 23; and see the preceding Chapter relating to Stamps,

(u) Com. Dig. tit. Obligation, (B. 1, 2); Bac. Ab. tit. Obligation, (B);—r. Ormston, 10 Mod. 287; Dawkes r. Lord de Loraine, 8 Wils. 213, (Chit. j. 382, 884); Morris v. Lea, ⁽¹⁾ An instrument of writing was drawn as follows: "No --- Nashville, Dec. 13, 1827.

bill of exchange or promissory note is frequently drawn or negotiated as a 1. Form security for the payment of the debt of another person, and the statute against and principal Requi-

Lord Raym. 1397; 1 Stra. 629; 8 Mod. 864, (Chit. j 250); Chadwick v. Allen, 2 Stra. 706; Rast. Ent. 338; Ruff r. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep. 129; Colehan v. Cooke, Wills. 396; Bayl. 4.

Morris v. Lea, Lord Raym. 1396; 1 Stra. 629; 8 Mod. 862, (Chit. j. 382, 894). Plaintiff saed as indorsee of a note in these words, "I promise to account with T. S. or order for fifty pounds, value received by me;" and after verdict for plaintiff, it was insisted, in arrest of judgment, that this was not a negotiable note: sed per cur. "There are no precise words necessary to be used in a note or bill. Deliver such a sum of money makes a good hill; by receiving the value the defendant became a debtor, and when he promises to be accountable to A or order, it is the same thing as a promise to pay A., and it would be an odd construction to expound the word accountable to give on account, when there may be several indorsees." Judgment for plaintiff.

Chadwick r. Allen, 2 Strs. 706, (Chit. j. 263). A note was in these words: "I do acknowledge that Sir Andrew Chadwick has delivered me all the bonds and notes, for which 4001. were paid him on account of Colonel Bills, Synge, and that Sir Andrew delivered me Ma- Notes, &c. jor Graham's receipt and bill on me for 101. which 101. and 151. 5s. balance, due to Sir Andrew, I am still indebted, and do promise to pay;" and upon demurrer to the declaration, the court held it a note within the statute.

Casborne v. Dutton, Scace. Mich. Term, 1 Geo. 2, MS. and Sel. N. P. 381, 9th ed. S. C. where the note set forth in the declaration was, "I do acknowledge myself to be indebted to A. in £—, to be paid on demand, for value received." On demurrer to the declaration, the court, after solenin argument, held that this was a good note within the statute, the words "to be paid" amounting to a promise to pay, observing that the same words in a lease would amount to a covenant to pay rent.

Ashby v. Ashby, 8 Moore & P. 196, (Chit. j. 1438). "Received of A. B. 1501. which I promise to pay on demand with interest," is good, as a note payable to A. B. by intend-ment. And see Green v. Davies, 4 Bar. & C. 235; 6 Dow. & R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251).

Cashier of the office of discount and deposite, United States Bank at Nashville, pay N. Patteson, or bearer, One Hundred Dollars and - cents, on the 14th of January, 1828.

Held, that this was an inland bill of exchange, and as such was entitled to three days' graco. Brown v. Lusk, 4 Yerger's Rep. 210.

Debt on an instrument, which is in its form a promissory note for money, concluding "witness the hands" of the parties; but scrolls by way of seals are set to their signatures: this instrument is rightly described in the declaration as a promissory note. Pensely v. Boatwright, 2 Leigh's Rep. 195.

A acknowledged by writing, not under seal, that there was due by him to B. -- dollars value received: held, that this was merely evidence of a debt, and could not be declared on as a promissory note. Read v. Wheeler, 2 Yerger's Rep. 50.

A note payable to A or B. cannot be declared on as a promissory note within the statute. Walrad et al. v. Petrie et al., 4 Wend. Rep. 575.

If, however, it purports on its face to be for value received, the setting forth of the note, according to its terms, is a sufficient statement of consideration to entitle the plaintiff to recover as on a contract. Ib.

Such note may be given in evitlence under the money counts. Ib.

A due bill, i. e. a note in this form: " Due A. B. $325, payable on demand," is a promissory note within the statute; the acknowledgment of indebtedness, on its face implies a promise to pay, and the payment being in money absolutely. Kimball v. Huntington, 10 Wend. Rep. 675.

An order drawn by a contractor on the Post Muster General in the words: "Sir-On the first day of January, 1836, pay to my order $5000 for value received, and charge the same to my account, for transporting the U.S. mail," was held not to be a negotiable bill of exchange, so as to entitle the holder to sue in his own name. Reeside r Knox, 2 Whart. 233. So a bill drawn on an administrator in these words, " Please to settle eighty dollars out of my part of the estate, with N. H. and this my order shall be your receipt for the same," is not a valid bill of exchange; being payable only out of a particular fund. Mills r. Kuykendall, 2 Blackf. 47. Neither is an order by a client upon his attorney to pay money out of any collected by him. Crawford v. Cully, Wright, 453. And a receipt for wool payable in six months at a Bank, is not a promissory note nor bill of exchange. Martin v. Butler, Wright, 553. Neither is a paper in these words, "Mr. L. please let the bearer have £7 and place it to my account, and you will oblige your humble servant R. S.," a bill of exchange. Little v. Slackford, 1 Moo. & Mal. 171; S. C. 22 Eng. Com. L. 280.

Where an accommodation note is drawn for $2500 and the payee writes a direction upon it to the cashier of the bank where it is payable, to pay $750 upon it, such note is, in legal effect, a note for $750, and may be declared on as a note for that sum. Douglass r. Wilkinson, 17 Wend.

A paper directed to certain persons, requesting them to pay a specified sum to a person nameed, and charge the same to the account of the drawer, and dated and signed is a hill of exchange; I. Form frauds in general requires that such an engagement shall, on the face of it, and principal Requisites of not extend to bills or notes, and the simple act of-drawing, accepting, or indoorsing, will be binding, although in reality there was no consideration(x).

Notes, &c. And indeed our courts, considering the general utility of these instruments, and how much they tend to the extension of credit, and consequent advancement of trade and commerce, have gone further in giving effect to them as instruments, than they have where a question has arisen on the language of a doed

What amounts to a Bill or Note.

Thus an order or promise "to deliver money(y)," or a promise "that I. S. shall receive money(z)," or a promise "to be accountable(a)" or "responsible(b)" for it, will be a sufficient bill or note. So "I do acknowledge myself to be indebted in 50l., to be paid on demand for value received," was holden to be a good promissory note, because the words "to be paid" amounted to a promise to pay accordingly(c). So "Received of Mr. D. Boaz 100l., which I promise to pay on demand with interest," is a valid note, although no payee was named after the word "promise," because it sufficiently appeared that Boaz was intended to be the payee(d). So where an instrument was in these words, "Mr. Nelson will much oblige Mr. Webb by paying to T. Ruff, or order, twenty guineas on his account," Lord Kenyon was of opinion, that it was a bill of exchange, being an order by one person to another to pay money to the plaintiff or his order, and that it ought to have been stamped(e). So an instrument in the following form is a promis-

[*130] sory *note, and requires a stamp:—" 14 Feb. 1836. John Mason. Borrowed of Mary Ann Mason, his sister, the sum of Fourteen Pounds in cash as per loan in promise of payment, of which I am truly thankful for, and shall never be forgotten by me. £14. John Mason, your affectionate brother (f)."

An instrument drawn by A. upon B. requiring him to pay to the order of C. a certain sum at a certain time "without acceptance," is a bill of ex-

(x) 29 Car. 2, c. 3, s. 4. See Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. Rep. 84, (Chit. j. 1518); ante, 69, note in (k).

(y) Morris v. Lea, ante, 128, note (u).

(z) Id. ibid.

(a) Id. ibid. But not if the word promise be omitted; Horne r. Redfearn, 4 Bing. N. C. 433; 6 Scott, 260, S. C.; post, 130, note (n). (b) Id. ibid.

(c) Cashborne r. Dutton, Sel. N. P. 881,

9th edition. And see Ashby v. Ashby, 3 M. & P. 186, supra. see post, 819 (14).

(d) Green v. Davies, 4 B. & C. 235, (Chit. j. 1251); 6 D. & R. 306, S. C.; post, Poth. pl. 31; but see Pardess, Court de Droit Com. (e) Ruff v. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep. 129, (Chit. j. 524); ante, 124, note (s); but see Little v. Slackford, Mood. & M. 171, (Chit. j. 1395); post, 130, note (m).

(f) Ellis v. Mason, 3 Jurist, 406. Bail Court.

although it is neither made payable to order or bearer, nor has the words "value received," nor is made payable at a day certain; nor at any particular place. Kendall v. Galvin, 15 Maire Rep. 131. And the request may be general, to pay to the drawer's own order, and it will then be payable to himself, upon endorsement, and notice to the acceptor before it is due. Rice v. Hogan, 8 Dana, 134. But an order to pay, on account of the drawer, money which will be due him at some future day, and accepted when due, is not a bill of exchange. Rice v. Porter, I Harrison, (N. J.) Rep. 440. And quere, whether a request by a mast r to the consignee of a vessel, to pay the pilot his fees for pilotage can be considered as a bill. See Dibble v. Gaston, R. M. Charl. Rep. 444. A letter sent to the holder of a fund, directing him to make payments thereout, is not such a bill as requires a stamp. Hutchinsou v. Heyworth, 9 Ad. & El. 375. Nor is an order to a debtor, at the bottom of an account, to pay the account to A., and delivered to A. for the sole purpose of collecting the money, a bill, within the stamp act. Norris v. Solomon, 2 Moo. & Rob. 267.

See also Hitchcock r. Cloutier, 7 Verm. Rep. 22; Ring c. Foster, 6 Ham. 280; Wheatley v. Williams, 1 Mee. & Wels. 553; Richards v. Richards, 2 Barn. & Adol. 447.

change, and may be so described in an indictment for forgery(g). And al- I. Form though a simple I. O. U. does not require a stamp, yet if it add "to be paid and princion a given day," it will amount either to a promissory note or an agree-sites of ment, and must be stamped accordingly (h).

Bills and Notes, &c.

But a mere acknowledgment of a debt or of money (i) having been left in a But a mere But a mere acknowledgment of a debt of of money (*) having been less in a Acknowleavy's hands, or bills to be discounted (k), without some words from which edgment of an order or promise to pay can reasonably be inferred, is not a bill or note, a Debt is and will have no other operation than perhaps affording evidence of a debt, insufficient. and it may therefore be received in evidence, although unstamped (l); and it must be an has been considered that a mere letter requesting a third person to pay Order or money as a favour, is not to be considered as a bill; and therefore where an Promise to instrument was tendered in evidence in the following form, "Mr. L. please Payto let the bearer have seven pounds, and place it to my account, and you will oblige your humble servant, R. S." Lord Tenterden held that no stamp was necessary, the paper not purporting to be a demand made by a party having a right to call on the other to pay, and that the fair meaning was, "you will oblige me by doing it (m)." And an instrument in the following form—" I have received the sum of 201. which I borrowed of you, and I have to be accountable for the said sum with interest," was held to be an agreement and not a promissory note(n). So where A. being indebted to B., and B. to C., B. by letter requested A. to pay C. the balance due to him B., and stated that C.'s receipt should be a sufficient discharge; it was held that this was not a bill of exchange, or requiring, within the 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, a stamp as such; and A. having expressed his assent to pay C. when the amount of the balance due to B. was ascertained, it was held that it amounted to an equitable assignment of the debt due from A. to B.(0)

*Where there is a contradiction, ambiguity or uncertainty in the terms of When the instrument, it may, especially against the party making or negotiating it, Terms of Instrument be so construed as to give effect to it according to the presumed intention of ambiguous. the parties (p); and therefore where a note was in these terms, "borrowed it may be of I. S. 50l. which I promise never to pay," it was decided, that the word Bill or

(g) Reg. v. Kinnear, 2 Mood. & R. 117. (h) Brooks v. Elkins, 2 M. & W. 74. Sec post, Ch. XII. s. iv. Form, &c. of Promissory

(i) Cashborne v. Dutton, Sel. N. P. 381, 9th edition.

(k) Or "received certain bills to get discounted or return on demand," or "received a bill of exchange to recover the value for you," &c. are neither promissory notes, receipts, or agreements, but mere acknowledgments, and require no stamp; Mullett v. Hutchinson, 3 C. & P. 92, (Chit. j. 1372); and Lungdon v. Wilson, 2 Man. & R. 10.

(1) In Tomkins v. Ashby, 6 B. & C. 541; 1 M. & M. 32, S. C.; it was held that the following memorandum, "Mr. T. has left in my hands 2001." was not a promissory note or receipt, and was admissible in evidence without a stamp. So a paper with these words, "I.O. U. eight guineas," was held by Lord Kenyon to be neither a promissory note nor a receipt, and therefore admissible in evidence without a stamp; Fisher v. Leslie, 1 Esp. Rep, 426; Israel r. Israel, 1 Campb. 499; Childers v. Boulnois, Dow. & Ry. N. P. C. S; Payne v. Jenkins, 4 Car. & P. 335; Bayl. 5. And see fur- [*131] ther, post, Ch. XII. s. iv. Form, &c. of Promissory Note. See also as to acknowledgments and accountable receipts, Chitty on Stamp Laws, 121, 211.

(m) Little v. Slackford, Mood. & M. 171. (Chit. j. 1895). And see cases 3 Chit. Crim. Law, 1033, 1034, 2d ed. S. P. and post, Part III. Ch. I. Forgery. But on other evidence the plaintiff recovered, and see Ruff r. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep. 129, (Chit. j. 524); ante, 129, n. (e). And semble, that civility in the terms of request cannot alter the legal effect of the instrument; "il vous plaira payer" is in France the proper language of a bill; l'ailliet Man. de Droits Franc. 841.

(n) Horn r. Redfearn, 4 Bing. N. C. 483; 6 Scott, 200, S. C.; see aute, 109.

(a) Crowfoot v. Gurney, 2 Moore & S. 473; 9 Bingh 372, S. C. After the balance due to B. was ascertained, but before the amount was paid, he became bankrupt. It was held that his assignees were not entitled to recover the amount from A. but that he was justified in paying it over to C.

(p) In France, as certain parts of the form sites of Bills.

"never" might be rejected or read as "ever," for a man shall never say "I and princian a cheat and have defrauded," and the holder recovered (q). pal Requisame ground, an instrument in the common form of a bill of exchange, except that the word "at," in very small letters, was substituted for "to" in Notes, &c. the address of the bill, before the name of the drawee, may be declared on as a bill of exchange(r). And an instrument appearing to common observation as a bill may be treated as such, although words have been introduced into it for the purpose of deception, which might in strictness make it a promissory note(s); and though in a criminal case it was doubted whether such an order was not a promissory note(t), yet it has been recently decided, that where an instrument had been made in terms so ambiguous as to make it doubtful whether it be a bill or note, the holder may, at his election (as against the maker of the instrument), treat it as either; and if he proceed on it as a promissory note against the maker, he will thereby avoid the necessity of proving notice of non-payment(u). An instrument in the following form, "on demand I promise to pay," &c. addressed to the defendant [*132] and accepted *by him, may be declared on as a promissory note(x). So if a person draw a bill on himself, it may be declared on as a promissory note. (y). But a bill made payable to the order of the drawer, and by him delivered to the plaintiff, cannot be treated as a promissory note, drawn in > of a bill, as to date, place, &c. are prescribed by positive law in those cases, the party guilty of the omission may nevertheless object to pay on account of the defect; Pardess. vol. i. 487.

(q) Cited per Lord Macclesfield, and by Lord Mansfield in Russell v. Langstaffe, K. B. Mich. 21 Geo. 3; 2 Doug. 514, (Chit. 415); and in Peach v. Kay, Sittings after Trinity Term, 1781; and per Lord Hardwicke, in 2 Atk. 32; Bayley, 5.

(r) Shuttleworth v Stephens, 1 Campb. 407, (Chit. j. 755); Rex v. Hunter, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 511; ante, 25.

(s) Allen v. Mawson, 4 Campb. 115; ante, 25; Edis v. Bury, 6 B. & C. 433; 2 C. & P. 559; 9 D. & R. 492, (Chit. j. 1326).

(t) Rex v. Hanter, Easter Term, 1823, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 511; ante, 25. The prisoner was indicted for forging and uttering a promissory note, and the indictment stated the note as follows; "Newport, Nov. 20. A. D. 1821.-Two months after date pay Mr. B. Hobday, or order, 281. 15s. value received. John Jones. At Messrs. Spooners' and Co bankers, London." After conviction, Holroyd, J stated a case for the consideration of the Judges, whether this was rightly called a promissory note; and, on consideration, five Judges out of seven who met doubted; and a pardon was recommended. See Reg. r. Kinnear, 2 Mood. & R. 117; ante, 130.

(u) Edis r. Bury, 6 B. & C. 433; 9 D. & R. 492; 2 Car. & P. 559, (Chit. j. 1326). The instrument declared on as a promissory note was in this form:

" London, 5th Aug. 1826. "Three months after date I promise to pay Mr. John Bury, or order, forty-four pounds Mr. John Dury, or Older, while received.

"John Bury.

" J. B. Grutherot, 35, Montague Place, Bedford Sq.''

Indorsed "John Bury." Grutherot's name was written across it. In assumpsit for cattle sold, defendant proved that he gave this instrument to plaintiff for the price and insisted upon want of notice of dishonour. If it was only valid as a bill, then defendant was discharged by want of due notice of nonpayment; but if it was a note, then the defendant, being the party primarily liable, was not entitled to notice. The court held it to be a note, but that as against the defendant it might be treated as either a bill or note.

Lord Tenterden, C. J. "This is an instrument at least of a very ambiguous character. In form it is a promissory note, for it contains in terms a promise to pay the sum mentioned in it; but then in the corner of it, there is the name of Grutherot, and it appears that his name is also written across the instrument. In that respect, although it does not in terms contain a request to Grutherot to pay, yet it resembles a bill of exchange. It is an instrument, therefore, of an ambiguous nature, and I think that where a party issues an instrument of an ambiguous nature, the law ought to allow the holder at his option to treat it either as a promissory note or a bill of exchange. That being so, I think it was competent to the plaintiff in this case to consider this as a promissory note, and if so, the notice of the dishonour was un-

Bayley, Holroyd, and Littledale, Js. expressed a similar opinion; the two latter thinking that as until Grutherot put his name to this instrument it was clearly, in terms, a promissory note, he could not by afterwards putting his name to it as acceptor make it a bill of exchange. And see Rex r. Hunter, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 511; ante, 131, note (t); and ante, 25.

(x) Block v. Bell, I Mond. & Rob. 149. (Chit. j. 1567).

(y) Roach v. Ostler, 1 Man. & Ry. 120, (Chit. j. 1859); ante, 25, notes (h)(i).

and principal Kequifavour of the plaintiff, but an indorsement must be averred as well as delive- I. Form sites of There are however (independently of some other minor requisites) essen-Bills, tial qualities to be observed in framing a bill of exchange or promissory note Notes, &c. in Great Britain and Ireland, the absence of which have very frequently But cortain given rise to discussion, and which renders them invalid. These are, that Qualities they be for the payment of money only, and that such payment be absolute are essential. They and not contingent either as to amount, event, fund or person. The law has must be for rendered these qualities essential, on account of the necessity for certainty Payment of Money on-and precision in mercantile affairs, especially with reference to negotiable se-ly, and that curities; for it would perplex commercial transactions if paper securities of absolutely, this nature, encumbered with conditions and contingencies, were allowed to and not have effectual circulation, and if the persons to whom they were offered in contingent, either as to negotiation were obliged to inquire when these uncertain events will proba- Amount, bly be reduced to a certainty, and if the time of courts of justice were occu- Event. pied in ascertaining whether or not the event on which payment was to de-Fund or Person. pend had happened (a)(1). But although a bill or note must on the face of it be payable absolutely, yet the circumstance of extrinsic circumstances suspending the time of payment and rendering it for a time inoperative, will not vitiate; therefore, if A. and others give a bill or note to B., the wife of A., though during his life she could not sue, yet after his death she may sue the other parties, if there were adequate circumstances, and in other respects the instrument was valid (b).

First, It must be for Payment of Money only. With respect to this first Must be for Payment of Money

j. 918).

(a) See Carlos v. Fancourt, 5 T. R. 485, (Chit. j. 515); Dawkes r. Lord de Loraine, 3 Wils. 213; 2 Bla. Rep. 782, S. C., (Chit. j.

(z) Prevot r. Abbott, 5 Taunt. 786, (Chit. 382); Roberts v. Peake, 1 Burr. 325, (Chit. j. only. 340); Ralli v. Sarell, 1 Dowl. & Ry. N. P. Č

> (b) Richards v. Richards, 2 Bar. & Adol. 447; ante, 23.

The doctrine that a bill payable out of a particular fund, is not negotiable according to the custom of merchants, has been recognized in Kentucky. Merchon v. Withers, 1 Bibb's R. 502.

A bill of exchange must not be made payable out of a particular fund, but if the fund is certain and is described only as a mean by which the drawee is to be indemnified, the bill is good. Bank of Kentucky v. Sanders, 3 Marsh, 184.

The word "note" is sometimes considered as a general term, comprehending both bills of exchange and promissory notes, and was held to embrace the former, when used in an assignment for the benefit of creditors. Dn Costa v. Guieu, 7 Serg. & Rawle, 402.

On a draft payable out of a particular fund of money in the hands of the drawer belonging to the payee, the payee may maintain an action against the drawer, in case of the drawee refusing acceptance. Joliffe v. Higgins, 6 Munf. 3.

As to the essential requisites of a bill or note, see Cook v. Satterlee, 6 Cowen, 108. Union Turnpike Co. v. Jenkins, 1 Cain. Rep. 381. An instrument in writing, by which A. directs B. to pay C. or bearer 400 dollars, and take up A.'s note of that amount, though accepted by B., is not a bill of exchange. Id.

An obligation to pay in notes of a specific bank must be paid in the notes of that bank or their numerical value in money: their value in market cannot be substituted. Edwards v. Morris, Ohio Rep. Cond. 222.

Inserting in a bill a promise that the drawer will credit the drawee's note with the amount, does not make it a bill drawn on a particular fund. It leaves the drawee to pay as he can, and at all events. Early v. M'Cart, 2 Dana, 414.

An order on a particular fund, the payment depending on the sufficiency of the fund, is not a valid bill of exchange. But if it is payable at all events, not upon a condition or contingency, though it may refer the drawee to a particular fund for reimbursement, is to all intents a bill of exchange. Ibid. See also Wiggins v. Vaught, Cheves' Rep. 91, S. P. as to promissory notes.

⁽¹⁾ These requisites apply only to a bill or note in its original formation, for it seems that an acceptance may be to pay upon a contingency, or in bills, &c. and not in money. See p. 333, note (f).

1 (%)

Œ.

4727

001

2 4

ш

31

X

iù)

Ŋ

'n

1 7

A

Ð

and principal requisite, it is established by foreign as well as English law, I. Form and principe that a bill or note must be for the payment of money only; and a bill cannot pal Require be for the delivery or navment of merchandize or other things in their name. be for the delivery or payment of merchandize, or other things in their nasites of ture susceptible of deterioration and loss and variation in quality and Bills. Notes, &c. value (c)(1); nor can it be for payment in good East India bonds (d), or for [*133] payment of money by a bill or note(e)(2). And a *signed memorandum, stating that a party has certain bills in his hands "to get discounted or return on demand," is neither a promissory note nor an agreement, but a mere acknowledgment requiring no stamp (f). But it is said, that it is not necessadess. 331, 332.

(d) Anon. Bul. N. P. 272. A written promise to pay 3001. to B. or order, in three good East India bonds, was held not to be a note within the statute; Smith v. Boehm, Gilb. Ca. L. & E. 93, (Chit. j. 234).

(e) It became a common practice, especially in Lancashire, for a purchaser of goods to pay for them by drawing a check on a banker, requesting him to pay the vendor or bearer, or order, the named price of the goods, by a bill, or a good bill at --- months, and the banker

(c) This is the express law in France, 1 Par- drew a bill in London or other place according-See Bolton r. Richards, 6 T. R. 139, (Chit. j. 538); Ex parte Dixon, 6 T. R. 142; post. But the 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, Schedule, tit. Bills of Exchange, subjects such drafts, when they require the delivery of a bill or note to order or bearer, to the same stampduty as a bill of exchange; see ante, 105, 118.

(f) Mullett r. Huchison, 3 Car. & P. 92; 7 B. & C. 639; 1 Man. & Ry. 522, (Chit. j. 1372); and see Langdon v. Wilson, 2 Man. & Ry. 10, cited in Mullett r. Huchison, Chit. j. 1872, n. (a).

The holder of a note payable in specific articles is not bound to receive them at a place or on a day different from that appointed in the note. Erwin r. Cook, 2 Devereux's Rep. 183.

A note was executed payable in money, but dischargeable in salt by a given day. Held, that if the salt is not delivered by the day specified, the money is due. Stewart r. Donelly, 4 Yerger's Rep. 177.

A note payable in specific articles is admissible in evidence under the money counts. Crandal v. Bradley, 7 Wend. Rep. 311.

A promissory note payable in cash or specific articles is not negotiable. Mutthews v. Houghton, 2 Fairf. 377. And see Wyman v. Winslow, Idem, 398. Johnson v. Baird, 3 Blackf. 153. }

A note payable "to A. B. or bearer in good merchantable whiskey, at trade price" cannot be sued by an assignee or bearer in his own name. Rhodes v. Lindley, Ohio Rep. Cond. 465.

⁽¹⁾ When a note is given for the payment of a certain sum of money, within a certain time, to be paid in furniture or other specific articles, until the day of payment, the payer has an election to pay either in money, or in such specific articles; but after the day of payment is past, his right of election is gone, and the payee's right to demand the money is absolute. Church v. Feterow, 2 Penn. Rep. 301.

⁽²⁾ A note for a certain sum payable to A. or order, "in foreign bills," (meaning thereby bills of country banks) has been held not to be a good promissory note within the statute, and consequently not negotiable. Jones v. Fales, 4 Mass. Rep. 245. So, in New York, a note payable in Pennsylvania or New York paper currency, to be current in the State of Pennsylvania, or the State of New York, is not a promissory note within the statute. (1 R. S. 151, R. S. of 29, 768.) Leiber v. Goodrich, 5 Cowen, 186. { The rule is the same if it be payable in Canada money. Thompson v. Sloun, 23 Wend, 71. } So in Pennsylvania, it was held, that a promissory note payable to A. B. or order, for 500 dollars in notes of the Chartered banks in Pennsylvanis was not a negotiable note on which the indorsee can sue in his own name. M'Cormick v. Trotter, 10 Serg. & R. 94. See Cook v. Satterlee, 6 Cowen, 108. In South Carolina, it has been decided, that paper medium is not money; and that, therefore, a note payable in paper medium is not assignable within the statute of Anne and their act; and on a verdict for the assignee of such a note, judgment was arrested. Lunge v. Kohn, 1 M'Cord, 115 See M'Clarin v. Nesbit, 2 Nott & M'Cord, 519. Cons. U. S. s. 8 & 10. But it was formerly decided in New York, that a note payable to A. or bearer, in "New York State bills or specie," was held to be a negotiable note within the statute, upon the ground that the bills mentioned meant bank paper, which in conformity with general usage and understanding, are regarded as cash: and therefore, that the meaning was the same as if payable in lawful current money of the State. Keith v. Jones, 9 Johns. Rep. 120. So it was also decided, that a promissory note payable at a particular place, 'in the bank notes current in the city of New York,' was a negotiable note within the statute. Judah v. Harris, 19 Johns. Rep. 144. \{ But it has been held in Vermont, that a promissory note payable to order in current bills, is not negotiable. Collins v. Lincoln, 11 Verm. Rep. 268. So, a note payable "in the office notes of a bank," is not negotiable. Irvine v. Lowry, 14 Peters, 293. The mention on the face of a note that it is given in part payment of a tract of land, does not, however, prevent its negotiability. Maurin v. Chambers, 16 Louis. Rep.

, .

. . . *

÷

. [:

-3

av. , 3

3 (P$

ry that the money should be that current in the place of payment, or where I. Form the bill is drawn; it may be in the money of any country whatever(g). and princi-When the word "sterling," or lawful money of Great Britain, or some sites of words equivalent have been used, English money and currency is in general Bills, meant(a). There was not any lawful money of Ireland, excepting copper, Notes, &c. appropriated to that country; it was merely conventional; there is neither gold nor silver coin of legal currency; there is no such thing as Irish money, it is Irish currency (i). But by a recent act(k), all distinction as to currency between England and Ireland has been determined.

The bill or note must also be for the payment of a named sum certain, and Must be the amount of the sum to be paid must not in any respect be uncertain or certain as to Amount. Therefore, where the instrument was "to pay I. E. the sum of 65l. with lawful interest for the same, three months after date, and all other sums which may be due to him," Lord Ellenborough was of opinion that the instrument was too indefinite as a promissory note, and that since the whole constituted an entire promise it could not be divided into parts(m). paper whereby the defendants promised to pay the plaintiffs, or order, the sum of 131. for value received with interest at 51. per cent. and all fines according to rule, cannot be declared on as a promissory note(n). And an instrument in the following form:—"Received and borrowed of A. B. 301. which I promise to pay with interest at the rate of 51. per cent. I also promise to pay the demands of the sick club at H. in part of interest, and the remaining stock and interest to be paid on demand to the said A. B. Witness my hand, &c. C. D." is not a promissory note(o). And where the note was to pay 400l. " first deducting thereout any interest on money 1. S. might owe to the defendant," it was held, that the instrument resting entirely on contingency, it could not be considered as a promissory note to pay a certain or definite sum at all events, though being stamped as a note, it might, between the original parties, be read as evidence of a debt under the account stated(p). But a promise to pay so many pound (instead of pounds) is valid(q). So a bill of *exchange for twenty-five seventeen shillings and three-[*134] pence, is good as a bill for twenty-five pounds, seventeen shillings and three-pence, and may be declared on as such(r). Where A. having consigned goods to B. sent him the following order, "Pay to A. B. the proceeds of a shipment of goods, value about 2000l. consigned by me to you," and C. in (§) 1 Pardess. 381, 382.

(h) Lansdowne v. Lansdowne, 2 Bligh. 95, Kearney v. King, 2 B. & Ald. 301, (Chit j. 1046); post.

(i) 2 Bligh, 79.

(k) 6 Geo. 4, c. 79.
(l) Smith v. Nightingale, 2 Stark. Rep. 875, (Chit. j. 1080); Barlow v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471, (Chit. j. 1083); and Jones v. Simpson, 2 B. & C. 318; 3 D. & R 545, (Chit. j. 1189), post. Where the sum stated in the body of a bill or note is less than the sum mentioned in figures in the margin, the holder can only recover the smaller sum; and evidence is not admissible to show that the larger sum was intended, although the stamp is sufficient to cover the latter sum; Saunderson r. Piper, 5 Bing. N. C. 425; post, Part 1I. Ch. VI. Sum recoverable.

(m) Smith v. Nightingale, 2 Stark. 375. See also Firbank v. Bell, 1 Bar. & Ald. 36, post.

(n) Ayrey r. Fearnsides, 4 Mee. & Wels.

168. The jury having found general damages on a declaration containing a count on the above instrument (as a promissory note) and a count on an account stated, the court awarded a venire de novo.

(o) Bolton v. Dugdale, 4 Bar. & Adol. 619; 1 Nev. & M. 412, S. C., (Chit. j. 1637). (p) Barlow v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471,

(Chit. j. 1093).

(q) Rex v. Post, Easter T. 1806, Russ. & R. C. C. 101, S. C. Prisoner altered a note for one pound into a note for ten, by substituting "ten" for "one" before the word "pound" in the body of the note, and also in the corner. It was urged, that a note for payment of ten pound was not a money note. On a case reserved, the judges were clear that a capital conviction of the prisoner for forgery was right; Bayl. 11, 12, note 23.

(x) Phipps v. Tanner, 5 Car. & P. 488, (Chit. j. 1634).

ιH

ŧ.;

T,

Œ

r.

D; î.J

70 63

101

;

3

I. Form and princi-pal Requisites of Bills, writing consented to pay over the full amount of the net proceeds of the goods; it was held that neither of these instruments required a stamp as a draft, bill or order for the payment of money, because no particular sum was named(s).

Although for many purposes bank-notes are equivalent to money, yet a Notes, &c. promissory note payable in cash, or Bank of England notes, was holden not to be valid within the statutes 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9, and 7 Anne, c. 25, s. 3, and that therefore a person who had received them from an intermediate person was not entitled to prove them as a debt against the maker(t). Afortiori an instrument engaging to pay money and deliver up horses and a wharf on a named day (u), or to pay money or surrender I. S. to prison (x), is invalid as a bill or note.

Must be abbolutely payable, not deany Event.

Secondly, The Money must be payable at all Events, not dependent on any Contingency, either with regard to Event, or with regard to Fund out of which Payment is to be made, or the Parties by or to whom the payment is pending on to be made(1).

Contingency as to Event.—Therefore an order or promise to pay money, provided the terms mentioned in certain letters shall be complied with(y); or provided that I. S. shall not be surrendered to prison within the limited time(z); or provided I. S. shall not pay the money by a particular day(a); or provided I. S. shall leave me sufficient, or I shall otherwise be able to [*135] pay it(b); or provided D. M. shall not return *to England, or his death be

> (s) Jones v. Simpson, 2 Bar. & C. 318, (Chit. j. 1189); 3 D. & R. 545, S. C.; Chitty's Stamp Laws, 141.

(t) Ex parte Imeson, 2 Rose, 225; Ex parte Davison, Buck, 31; Rex v. Wilson, Bayl. 11, Easter Term, 1809. Indictment for forging and uttering a promissory note. The note was to "pay the bearer, on demand, one guinea in cash or Bank of England notes." Upon a case reserved, the majority of the judges held this was not a note within the statute, and the prisoner was pardoned.

(u) Martin v. Chauntry, 2 Stra. 1271; Bul. N. P. 272. On error from the Court of Common Pleas, the Court of King's Bench held. that a note to deliver up horses and a wharf, and pay money at a particular day, was not a note within the statute, and reversed the judgment in favour of the original plaintiff.

(x) Smith v. Boehm, Gilb. Cases L. & E. 98, (Chit. j. 234); cited also in Jenny v. Herle, Lord Raym. 1362, (Chit. j. 253); Morris v. Lee, Lord Raym. 1396, (Chit. j. 258); see infra, note (z)

(y) Kingston v. Long, K. B. Mich. Term, 25 Geo. 8, MS; 4 Dougl. 9, (Chit. j 427). The plaintiff brought an action as indorsee against the defendant as acceptor, upon an order importing to be payable " provided the terms mentioned in certain letters written by the drawer were complied with;" and the court held clear-ly, that the plaintiff could not recover, though the acceptance admitted a compliance with the terms; for if the order was no bill until after such compliance, and if it were not a bill when drawn, it could not afterwards become one; see Bayl. 5th edit. 16, S. C.

(z) Smith v. Boehm, Gilb. Cases L & E 93, (Chit. j 234); 3 Lord Raym. 67, cited Lord Raym. 1362, 1396; Barnesley v. Baldwin, 7 Mod. 418. Action by the plaintiff as payee of the note against the makers, upon a promise to pay the plaintiff, or order, on demand, the sum of 711. 12s. 10d or surrender the body of Samuel Boehm in an action brought against him Verdict for the plaintiff, and judgment; and on error brought in the King's Bench, the court held that this was not a note within the statute, because the money was not absolutely payable, but depended upon the contingency whether the defendant should surrender Samuel Bochm to prison, and the judgment was reversed.

(a) Appleby r. Biddulph, cited 8 Mod. 363; 4 Vin. Abr. 240, pl. 16. An action was brought on this note, "I promise to pay T. M. 50l. if my brother doth not pay it within six weeks," and after verdict for the plaintiff, the court arrested judgment, because the maker was only to pay it upon a contingency.

(b) Roberts r. Peake, 1 Burr. 823, (Chit. j. 3:10). The plaintiff, as indersee of a note, sacd one of the makers; the instrument was in these words, "We promise to pay A. B. 11tl. 11s. value received, on the death of George Henshaw, provided he leaves either of us sufficient to pay that said sum, or it we otherwise shall be able to pay it;" and upon a case reserved, the court held it was not a negotiable note, because it was payable eventually and conditionally only, and not absolutely and at all events, and a nonsuit was entered; and see Ex parte Tootle, 4 Ves. 372, (Chit. j 595).

⁽¹⁾ A plaintiff may, in this state, declare upon a note payable upon a contingency, in the same manner as upon notes strictly negotiable. Odiorne v. Odiorne, 5 New Hamp. Rep. 315.

hr:

2-10

3-1002.2 12.4D41 。代:福

is with a

. (Just

.

) (SMC)

116

i. Fuz.

GLEVE

3.71

 $p(A^{-1})$

1.11

is 1834

و لم المن

it is a

,, . |1.5

1.1

VE I PE

2011 , it is 16.×3

. 1X 1

.

....

15 II II

124 195

d state

Total .

, yes

., 45

11 %

4 3 425

والمحادثة و

KE P

Ů. 200

, j. jet

. 18 26

پ پ

. : **

. ej 🎐

...

,,,,,,0

) x2

duly certified, before the appointed time of payment(c); will be void as a I. Form bill or note. So a bill or note to pay when my circumstances will admit, and princi-without detriment to myself or family (d); or when I. S. shall marry; or if sites of the maker shall be married within two months(e); or to pay at four years af- Bills, ter date, if I am then living, otherwise this bill to be null and void (f); or Notes, &c. to pay by instalments, the instalments to cease on the death of the plaintiff(g); or to pay a sailor his wages if he do his duty as an able seaman(h); or to pay on the sale or produce, immediately when sold, of the White Hart, and the goods, &c.(i). So, borrowed and received of I. and J. W. the sum of 2001. in three drafts, dated as under, which we promise to pay unto the said I. and J. W. with interest; Lord Ellenborough thought the 2001. was payable on the contingency of the drafts being paid, and was therefore void as a note, and only available as a special agreement on being stamped as $\operatorname{such}(k)$. So where the instrument was in these words, "I., R. E. do this day bargain and agree with my uncle W. E. to give him 51. for a cart for the use of my father; and I do hereby *promise and agree to pay him the [*136] said W. E. without fail in three weeks from the date hereof;" this was holden to be an agreement, and not a promissory note (l). And an instrument in this form, "at thirty days after the arrival of the ship Paragon at Calcutta pay," &c. was held not to be a bill of exchange, because it was contingent

(c) Morgan and another v. Jones, 1 C. & J. j. 584) 162; 1 Tyr. Rep. 29, (Chit. j. 1515). An inatrument in the following terms, "nine years after the date hereof I promise to pay to, &c. the sum of, &c. with lawful interest, provided D. M. shall not return to England, or his death be duly certified in the mean time," is not a valid promissory note, nor does it even afford evidence of money lent, either on a special or indeb itatus count

(d) Ex parte Tootle, 4 Ven 372, (Chit. j. 595.)

(e) Pearson v. Garrett, 4 Mod. 242; Comb, 227, (Chit. j 198); Colehan r. Cooke, Wilhis, 897, (Chit. j. 298); Benrdsley r. Baldwin, Stra. 1151; 7 Mod 417, (Chit j 293.) A note to pay money within so many days after the defendant should marry, was held not to be a negotiable note; and in Pearson v. Garrett, Comb. 277, and 4 Mod. 242, an action having been brought upon a note, by which the defendant promised to pay the plaintiff sixty guineas, if he (the plaintiff) should be married within two months, the court inclined against the note, because it was to pay money on a mere contingency.

(f) Broham v. Bubb, Trin. Term, 2nd Sitting, June 7th, 1826, Middlesex. Per Abbott, C. J. "I think this not like a note payable on the maker's death, which is an event that must happen, but here it is contingent whether the note will ever be payable; for if the maker should die within the four years no payment is to be made, and as to the verbal promise which has been proved, inasmuch as that refers to the note in question, it does not carry the plaintiff's case further, and he is not entitled to recover on the common counts." And see next note.

(g) Worley v. Harrison, 8 Ad. & El. 669; 8. C., 5 N. & Man. 173; 1 Har. & Woll. 426. It makes no difference that the contingency is one upon which the liability is to cease, and not to arise, ib. 674; and see last note.

· (1) Alves v. Hodgeon, 7 T. R. 242, (Chit.

(i) Hill v. Halford and another, in error, 2 Bos. & Pul. 413, (Chit. j. 687). The defendants in error sued Hill, as maker of a note, thereby promising to pay them 1904, on the sale or produce, immediately when sold, of the White Hart Inn, St. Alban's, Herts, and the goods, &c. value received. The declaration averred a sule of the inn and goods before the commencement of the action. After judgment in K. B. by default, writ of inquiry executed, and general damage recovered, Hill brought a writ of error in the Exchequer Chamber, and the court held that this promise could not be declared on as a note, and therefore reversed the judgment. (k) Williamson r. Bennet, 2 Campb. 418, (Chit. j. 788). The defendants were sued on the following instrument, which was stamped and declared upon as a promissory note:—

"Borrowed and received of J. and J. Williamson(the plaintiffs), the sum of 2001. in three drafts, by W. and B. Williamson, dated as under, payable to us, W. Bennet and S. M. (the defendants) on J. and J. Williamson, which we promise to pay unto the said J. and J. Williamson, with interest. As witness this 26th day of August, 1802."

1 draft at 2 months Angust 21st. £120 1 ditto 30 1 ditto 50

£200

Signed by the defendants.

Lord Ellenborough held that this was not a promissory note; and said there can be no doubt that the money was not payable immediately, and that it was not to be paid at all unless the drafts were honoured. The plaintiffs were nonsnited.

(1) Per Richardson, J. in Ellis v. Ellis, Gow's Rep. 216.

(II

ž0

ш

r

ž!

21

40

M

10 lά

0

I. Form pal Requisites of Bills,

whether the ship would ever arrive (m). So an instrument which is intended and princh merely to operate as a set-off against some future claim will be bad as a bill or note; thus, A. having given his daughter on her marriage the stock of a public house, amounting in value to 1200l. she and her husband signed the Notes, &c. following instrument: "On demand we promise to pay to A. or his order 12001. for value received in stock, &c. this being intended to stand against me M. (the daughter) as a set-off for that sum left me in my father's will above my sister Ann's share," and it was held that this was not a promissory note payable at all events, and not intended to confer on the father a right of action, but as a memorandum of a sum having been received as a satisfaction pro tanto of an intended legacy (n). So the following instrument was held to be an agreement, and not a promissory note: "I agree to pay the plaintiff or order the sum of 6951. at four instalments, viz. the first on &c., being 2001.; the second, on &c. being 1501.; the third, on &c., being 150l.; the fourth, on &c., being 100l.; the remainder, 95l., to go as a setoff for an order of R. to J., and the remainder of his debt from C. D. to him(o)."

If Event must happen, as Death, &c. such contingency does not vitiate.

But if the event on which the instrument is to become payable must inevitably happen some time or other, it has been decided to be of no importance how long the payment may be in suspense (p). Therefore if a bill be drawn payable six weeks after the death of the drawer's father (q), or payable to an infant when he shall come of age, specifying the day when that event will happen, it will be valid and negotiable (r). So a promissory note payable, with interest, twelve months after notice, is not to be considered as payable on a contingency, and is consequently valid, and may be proved under a commission against the maker, issued before any notice had been given(s)(1).

(m) Palmer v. Pratt, 2 Bingh. Rep. 185; 9 Moore, 388, (Chit. j. 1221).

(n) Clarke v. Percival, 2 Bar. & Adol. 660.
(o) Davis v. Wilkinson, 2 Perry & Dav.
256. The declaration stated, that the plaintiff accounted with the defendant, and on the account was found indebted in £--, and in consideration thereof promised to pay by instalments according to the above agreement. At the trial the plaintiff having proved that he had lent money to the defendant, held, that the above instrument was evidence of the account-

Semble, that an instrument may be framed so as to operate both as a note and as an agreement; per Patteson and Coleridge, Js. ib.

(p) Cooke r. Colehan, Willes, 896, 398;
Stra. 1217, S. C.; Goss v. Nelson, 1 Burr. 226,

(Chit. j. 339).
(q) Cooke v. Colehan, Willes, 306; Stra.
1217, (Chit. j. 298). On a writ of error from the Common Pleas, on a note whereby defendant promised to pay A. or order 150l. six weeks after the death of his futher, the court held this to be a negotiable note within the statute, and that the distance of time of payment was no objection, as the event on which it was payable, the death of the defendant's father, must hap-pen; and see Ex parte Mitford, 1 Bro. C. C. 898; and Ex parte Barker, 9 Ves. 110. Recognized by Abbott, C. J. in Braham v. Bubb, ante, 135, note (f). And see Roffey v. Green-well, T. T. 1839, Q. B., 2 Perry & Dav.; post, Part II. Ch. VI. Sum Recoverable—Interest.

(r) Goss v. Nelson, 1 Burr. 226, (Chit. j. 339). Action on a note payable to an infant, "when he (the infant) shall come of age, to wit, 12th June 1750," and it was objected, in arrest of judgment, that it was uncertain whether the money would ever have been payable, because the infant might have died under twenty-one, but the court held it a good note, because it was payable at all events on the 12th June, 1750, though the infant should have died before that time; and see 2 Bls. Com. 513.

(s) Clayton v. Gosling, 5 Bar. & C. 360; 8 D. & R. 110, (Chit. j. 1297).

(1) A promissory note payable to A. or order, at a day certain, "or when he (the promisse) completes the building according to contract," is payable absolutely at a day certain, and therefore good within the statute and negotiable. Stevens v. Blunt, 7 Mass. Rep. 240.

A note promising to pay a sum to the president, directors and company of a turnpike road, for five shares of the capital stock of said company, in such manner and proportion, and at such time.

and place as the president, directors, and company should from time to time require, has been held in effect payable on demand, and therefore a cash note within the statute. President, &c-of the Goshen Turnpike v. Hurtin, 9 John. Rep. 217. But a different opinion seems to have i is more 140 B 1 1 e ca di

mil

1.1座 2.0 TP# 10 #

AC. 122 m (1 1 f (l.D)

0. 1 1000

nite (ff) 117 36

452.5 Wi No

250 Bia CL liv Þ

1 فاستبلت

: 1 (IÇ.)

.... e nd

., 30

ŵ,

-, 10

14 , 3,1 _{1,0} 17

130 552

11,11

MI!

i Mile

طور , b

CHAP. V.

*There are also decisions, that if the event on which the payment is to 1. Form depend be of public notoriety, and relating to trade, and there be a moral and princicertainty of its taking place, the bill, &c. will be valid(s). On this ground pal Requithe bills of exchange called billa nundinates were formerly always holden to Bills, be good, because though the fairs on which the payment of them depended Notes, &c. were not always holden at a certain time, yet it was certain that they would be holden(t). Thus, for example, there are at Lyons four fairs, which are called vulgarly Les parements de Lyon, which are each a month; bills of exchange payable at the times of these fairs only mention the fair, without any other precise time(u). So it has been reported to have been decided that if a bill or note be payable two months after a certain ship be paid off(x), or be payable on the receipt of the payee's wages, due to him from a certain ship, it is valid(y); but this latter decision seems questionable(z). (s) Coleban v. Cooke, Willes, $98, (Chit. 296); Andrews v. Franklin, 1 Stra. 24, (Chit. j. 280); Evans v. Underwood, 1 Wils. 262, (Chit. j. 826); Dawkes v. Lord de Loraine, 8 Wils. 213; 2 Bla. R. 782, S. C., (Chit. j. 384); Lewis v. Orde, Gilb. Ev. 172; Hill v. Halford, 2 Bos. & Pul. 414, 415, (Chit. j. 687); ante, 185, in notes; sed vide Kyd, 58.

(t) Per Willes, C. J. in delivering judgment in Colchan v. Cooke, Willes, 894, (Chit. j. 298); and see 1 Pardess. Cours de Droit Commercial, 852, S. P.; and Pothier, pl. 16. (u) Pothier, pl. 16.

(x) Andrews v. Franklin, 1 Stra. 24, (Chit. j. 236). A note, payable two months after a certain ship in his majesty's service should be paid off, was objected to, as depending upon a contingency which might never happen; but per cur. the paying off the ship is a thing of a public nature; it is morally certain. Judgment for the plaintiff. Bayl. 5th edit. 24; see also Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 895, 896.

(y) Evans v. Underwood, 1 Wils. 262, (Chit. j. 826). This was an action brought by an indorsee against the maker, upon a note payable on the receipt of the maker's wages from his majesty's ship the Suffolk; the court thought this case like that of Andrews v. Franklin; and after looking into that case are said to have given judgment for the plaintiff. Upon this case there is a note in Bayley on Bills, 5th edit. 24, as follows: " Quære tamen because it was uncertain, though the wages might be paid, whether the maker would receive them." also Lewis v. Orde, 1 Gilbert on Evid. by Lofft, 178; Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 885. It is observable, that in both those cases the ships belonged to government, and were not private ships, and probably the wages had been already earned.

(z) In Selw. N. P. 9th ed. 886, there is a note upon this point, and in the conclusion is stated the case of Beardesley v. Baldwin, E. 15 Geo. 2, B. R. MS. (Chit. j. 293); in which the court said, that as to Andrews v. Franklin, if it ever was determined, which they could not find, it must have been decided on the certainty observed in the return of ships, and must be looked upon as an event in itself not contingent. Sed quære. And see Evans v. Underwood, 1 Wils. 263, (Chit. j. 826); where it was said that Andrews v. Franklin was not decided. Where the note was "I promise to pay J. S.

been asserted in the President, &c. of the Union Turnpike Road v. Jenkins, 1 Caines' Rep. 381.

Where a note was executed and put into the hands of a third person, but was not to be delivered to the payee until certain conditions were performed, it was held, that, without a performance of the conditions, no recovery could be had on the note, though a suit be brought for the benefit of the holder who has an interest in the note. Jarvis v. Baker's Admrs., 3 Verm. Rep. 226

That when one of the conditions, on which the delivery of the note depended, was, that certain suits should be instituted in the name of the payee for the benefit of the signers of the note, it was not a performance of the condition that the suits were commenced, but were ordered to be discontinued by the payee. Ib.

A promissory note given on condition to be in force on the happening of a contingency, cannot / be sued before that contingency happens. Henry v. Coleman, 5 Verm. Rep. 402.

A. is prosecuting debt against B. the surety of C., and C.'s father agrees in writing to pay the debt with interest, if A. will dismiss his suit against B., at A.'s own cost; A. dismisses his suit, generally; In assumpsit by A. against the father upon his conditional promise to pay the debt, held, A. was bound to perform the condition strictly, in order to entitle himself to enforce the promise, and having dismissed his suit generally instead of at his own costs, he cannot recover upon the promise.

pon the promise. Couch v. Hooper, 2 Leigh's Rep 557.

And though the father subsequently approved A.'s dismission of his suit against the son's surey, generally, yet A. not having averred such subsequent ratification in his declaration on the father's promise, that fact cannot avail him. Ib.

Notes payable on a coatingency may be declared on as ordinary notes of hand. Cong. Society v. Goddare, 7 N. Hamp. 480. See also M'Gebee v. Children, 2 Stew. 506; Chittenden v. Ensign, Wright, 721.

.517

2:1

14 17

32.0

...

٠,٠

134

10

11

٠,

۲,

sites of Bills,

Contin-

Contingency if payable out of a Particular Fund.—So if by the terms and princi- of the instrument the payment is to depend upon the sufficiency of a particular fund, the bill or note will be invalid; thus an order to pay money out of the drawer's growing subsistence, (a) or out of the *fifth payment when Notes, &c. it should become due, and it should be allowed by the drawer(b), or out of money when received (c), or an order to pay the amount of a note and interest out of the purchase-inoney of the drawer's house (d), or an order cause pay- or promise to pay out of the drawer's money that should arise from his a particu- reversion, when sold, is no bill or note(e). So an order to pay a sum of lar Fund. money out of the rents or other money in the hands of the person to whom [*138] it is addressed,(1) is no bill, because he may not have rent or other money in his hands sufficient to discharge it(f). So a promise to pay on > 111. at the payment of the ship Devonshire," it was held good, and Lord Hardwicke is reported to have said, " As to the time, this note is certainly within the statute; if it had been made payable at any precise future day, and if it be uncertain at first, but referred to a subsequent fact to make it certain, when that fact happens (as in this case it was averred that the ship Devonshire was paid), it is as much reduced to a certainty as if the day had been mentioned at first;" Lewis v. Orde, Selw. N. P. 385, 9th ed.; Cunningham's Bills of Exchange, 127, 2d ed. The reasoning of Lord Hardwicke is in opposition to the cases of Carlos v. Fancourt, 5 T. R. 492; post, 139, note (e), and Hill v. Halford, 2 B. & P. 413, (Chit. j. 637); ante, 135, n. (i). When the note was "I promise to pay G. P. or order, 81. upon the receipt of his the said G. P.'s wages from his majesty's ship the Suffolk." &c. the court, it is said, on the authority of Andrews v. Franklin, held the note good; Evans v. Underwood, 1 Wils. 262. But this decision is not to be considered as law, because it is uncertain, though the wages might be paid, whether the maker of the note would receive them.

> (a) Jocelyn v. Laserre, Fort. 281; 10 Mod. 294, 316; Willes, 397, (Chit. j. 232). Evans drew upon Jocelyn, and required him to pay Laserre 71. per month out of Evans's growing subsistence. Laserre sued Jocelyn, and had judgment, but upon a writ of error that judgment was reversed, because this draft was not a good bill of exchange, inasmuch as it would not have been payable had Evans died, or had his subsistence been taken away.

(b) Haydock v. Liuch, Lord Raym. 1563, (Chit. j. 268); Rogers drew upon Linch, and requested him to pay Haydock 141. 3s. out of the fifth payment when it should become due, and it should be allowed by Rogers. Linch accepted the draft, and Haydock sued him, but the court, upon demurrer to the declaration, held this was no bill of exchange, and gave judgment for the defendant.

(c) Dawkes v. Lord De Loraine, 2 Bla. R. 782; 3 Wils. 207, (Chit. j. 384). A draft was in these words, "8 Jan. 1768. Seven weeks after date pay to Mrs. Dawkes 321. 17s. out of W. Steward's money, as soon as you shall have received it, for your hamble servant, De Loraine. To Timothy Brecknock, Esq." Brecknock accepted the bill, but it not being paid, Mrs. Dawkes brought an action against Lord De Loraine, who pleaded that Brecknock, had not received W. Steward's money; and upon demurrer to his plea, insisted that this was not a bill of Exchange. The court, after argument, held the objection good, because it was payable out of a particular fund, and on an event which was future and contingent, viz. the receipt of W. Steward's money, whereas a bill ought to be subject to no event or contingency, except the failure of the general personal credit of the persons drawing or negotiating it.

(d) Yates v. Grove, 1 Ves. jun. 280, 281. (e) Carlos r. Funcourt, in error from the C. P. 5 T. R. 482, (Chit. j. 515). Assumpsit upon a promissory note, whereby Carlos, in the life-time of defendant's wife, promised to pay Fancourt's wife the sum of 101. "out of his money that should arise from his recersion of 431. when sold." The defendant suffered judgment by default, and brought a writ of error, and the court held that this note could not be declared upon as a negotiable security under the statute 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9, the object of which statute was to put promissory notes on the same footing with bills of exchange in every respect, and they must stand or fall by the same rules by which bills of exchange were governed; and unless they carried their own validity on the face of them, they were not negotiable, and on that ground bills of exchange, which were only payable on a contingency, were not negotiable, because it did not appear on the face of them whether or not they would ever be paid. The same rule that governed bills of exchange in this respect must govern promissory notes; and therefore reversed the judgment; Hill v. Halford, 2 Bos. & Pul. 413, ante, 137, note (z), and infra note (g).

(f) Jenny v. Herle, Lord Raym. 1361; 8 Mod. 265; 1 Stra. 591, (Chit. j. 253). Herle sued Jenny upon a bill drawn by him upon Pratt, and payable to Herle as follows: "Sir, you are to pay Mr. Herle 1945l, out of the money in your hands, belonging to the proprietors of the Devonshire mines, being part of the consideration-money for the purchase of the manor of

^{(1) {} Or an order by a client upon his attorney, to pay out of monies collected. See Crawford v. Cully, Wright, 458. }

7417.1

. .

i.gr

1392

110 🕾

- "01

1132

17 77

773

1

(22) n û 1168

- 30

£ $

_____ . "

124 (B

1 2 pro C

172

-, no

. 1

. 2.

. 1

1.18

13C 12 e: "3

احز

e, 15

. . . *

15.30

€4

. . .

: "

33

. 15

j ≰ gir

1

#1

y.

1,61

13

, it , 3

112

M

۴

12

1 70

ı

the sale or produce, immediately when sold, of the White Hart Inn, St. I. Form Alban's, and the goods, &c. is no note, although it be averred in the dec- and princilaration upon such promise, that the White Hart Inn, goods, &c. were pal Requisold before the action was commenced(g). And a promise to pay when Bills, three drafts have been paid, falls under the same objection (h). order from the owner of a ship to the freighter to pay money on account of freight, is no bill, because the quantum due on the freight may be open to litigation(i), though such an order from the freighter is, because it is an admission that so much at least is due(k).

*But the statement of a particular fund in a bill of exchange will not viti- When ate it, if it be inserted merely as a direction to the drawee how to reimburse Statement himself; and therefore a bill requesting the drawee, one month after date, to of Fund pay the plaintiff, or his order, a certain sum of money "as my quarterly vitiate. half-pay, to be due from the 24th of June to the 27th September next by advance," was decided to be a valid bill (l)(1), because it would be payable, [*139] though the half-pay might never become due; and an order from the freighter of a ship to pay money on account of freight is sufficient, because it is an admission that so much at least is due(m), though we have seen that an order from the owner of a ship to the freighter, to pay money on account of freight, is not valid (n). Nor will a bill or note be vitiated by the insertion of words pointing out the consideration: as for instance, "value received out of the premises in Rosemary-lane(o);" or "being a portion of a value as under deposited in security for payment hereof(p)," or on account of

So an Notes, &c.

West Buckland." Herle had judgment in the Common Pleas: but upon a writ of error, the court of King's Bench held that this was no bill of exchange, because it was only payable out of a particular fund, supposed to be in Pratt's hands, and the judgment was accordingly re(g) Hill v. Halford and another, in error, 2 Bos & Pul. 413; ante, 135, note(i).

(h) Williamson v. Bennett, 2 Camp. 418,

(Chit. j. 788); ante, 135, note(k)

(i) Banbury r. Lissett, Stra. 1211, (Chit. j. 310); Gibson drew on the defendant in favour of the plaintiff, "on account of the freight of the galley Veal, Edward Champion, and this order shall he your sufficient discharge for the same." This action was brought against the defendants as acceptors, and they contended, that it was not a bill of exchange, because it was only payable out of a particular fund; and Lee, C. J. was of that opinion.

(k) Pierson v. Dunlop, Cowp, 571, (Chit. j. 352). M'Lintot freighted a ship, of which Nicholl was captain, and Pierson owner, and being unable to pay the freight, drew upon Don-lop and Co in favour of Nicholl, on account of freight. Pierson afterwards sued Danlop and Co. as acceptors, and though other objections were taken, yet it was never insisted that this was payable out of a particular fund

(1) M'Leod v. Snce, Stra. 762; Ld. Raym. 1481; 11 Mod. 400; 1 Barnardiston, 12, (Chit. 259). Error on a judgment given against M'Leod on a bill of exchange drawn by J. S. on the 25th of May, 1724, upon M'Leod, and directed him, one month after the date, to pay

A. B. or order, 91. 10s. as his quarter's half-pay frem 24th June, 1724, to 25th September following. The court were of opinion that this was a good bill of exchange, for it was not payable out of a particular fund nor upon a contingency, and was made payable at all events, and was drawn upon the general credit of the drawer not out of the half-pay, for it is payable as soon as the quarter begun, for the half-pay mentioned in the bill, which was not to be due for three months after. Semble. This case may be sustainable on the ground that the halfpay was merely referred to in order to show the consideration, and not to render the payment contingent.

(m) Pierson r. Dunlop, Cowp. 571, (Chit. j. 392); vide ante, 138, note (k).

(n) Banbury v. Lissitt, Stra. 1112, (Chit. j. 310); vide ante, 138, note (i).

(o) Burchell, administrator, &c. v. Slocock, Lord Raym. 1545, (Chit. j. 267). Action on a promissory note, whereby the defendant promised to pay to A. B. 1017. 12s in three months after the date of the said note, " value received out of premises in Rosemary-lane, late in the pessession of G. H." The court, upon demurrer held this to be a promissory note within the statute, and gave judgment for the plaintiff.

(p) Hausoullier v. Hartsink and others, 7 T. R. 733, (Chit. j. 618). Payee against the maker of a promissory note, whereby the defendant promised to pay —, or bearer, 251. being a portion of a value as under deposited in security for the payment thereof. Upon a special case being reserved, the court said they were clearly of opinion, that though as between

^{(1) {} Early v. M'Cart, 2 Dana, 214; Wiggins v. Vaught, Cheves' Rep. 91. }

(Į ih an of 91

C

X ŭ

'n

11 ij

$(1)

4 ä

3

Ī

r

3

4

à

I. Form and princiand principal Requisites of Bills,
Notes, &c.

wine had of the drawer(q). So a note promising to pay on demand 161.

So a note promising to pay on demand 161.

So a note promising to pay on demand 161.

A note also, whereby the maker promised to pay to A. B. 81., "so much being to be due from to A. B." was on the same principle held not to be conditional(s)(1).

Contingency as to Person by or to whom payable. So a contingency or uncertainty, as by or to whom the bill or note is payable, is fatal to its validity.

In general, every contract must show in whose favour it is to be performed, or it will be void for uncertainty in an essential particular(t). So a bill or note must show to whom the payment is to be made(u). And therefore where the prisoner forged a bill upon the treasurer of the navy, payable to — or order, and signed it in the name of a navy surgeon; it was held, the original parties to the transaction the payment of the notes was to be carried to a particular account, the defendants were liable on these notes, which were payable at all events. See also Burchell v. Slocock, Lord Raym. 1545, (Chit. j. 267).

[17] [267] Buller v. Cripps, 6 Mod. 29, (Chit. j.

222); Mod. Ent. 312.

(r) Dixon v. Nuttall, 1 C., M. & R. 307; 6 C. & P. 320, S. C.

(s) Anonymous, Select Cases, 39.
(t) Champion v. Plumer, 1 New R. 252;
Cooper v. Smith, 15 East, 103.
(u) Green v. Davies, 4 B. & C. 235; 6 D.

& R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251).

(1) So where a note was made payable to A. or order, and on the back of it an indorsement was written, that it was to be delivered to A. in consideration of a judgment against C. to be assigned to the maker, it was held a good promiseory note within the statute, and that the indorsement only operated as a notice to any purchaser of the consideration of the note. Sanders v. Bacon, S John. Rep. 495.

In Massachusetts the statute of 3 & 4 Ann. ch. 9, was never enacted; but in practice the provisions of the first section were early adopted, and the form of declaring on negotiable notes resulting from that statute was extended to notes not negotiable. It may therefore be considered as the common law of that state, that all cash notes are negotiable, and that all notes for merchandize may be sued by the promisee against the promisor, and when indorsed by the indorsee against his indorser, who may declare in the same manner as they might if the note were negotiable. Jones v. Fales, 4 Mass. Rep. 245, and Eaton v. Fallensbee, Sup. Court, Essex, June Term, 1779, MSS. Whether this doctrine applies also to notes and bills payable out of particular funds, does not seem to have been decided. But even admitting that a bill payable out of a particular fund, could not be declared on within the statute; yet if the drawee accept to pay it, when the funds come into his hands, this binds him to the payment when he receives the funds, and the payee may on his refusal recover the amount in an action for money had and received. Stevens v. Hill, 5 Espin. Rep. 247, stated post, 253, and see Scarborough v. Giegar, 1 Ray's Rep. 368. Mershon v. Withers, 1 Bibb's Rep. 503. Mowry v. Todd, 12 Mass. Rep. 281. A writing was made thus ——"good for ——— dollars on demand. A. B." In an action thereon it was holden to import no promise to the holder, without evidence to show that it was actually given to him or some subsisting connexion shown from which that fact might be inferred. Brown v. Gilman, 13 Mass. Rep. 158.

In New York, a like usage in relation to notes not within the statute, has not prevailed; consequently, a note for a sum payable in lands at a specific price per acre, cannot be declared on even between the original parties as a promissory note, but the consideration must be specially set forth and proved, as in other declarations in assumpsit. Smith v. Smith, 2 John. Rep. 226. And even the terms "value received" in a note not within the statute, have been held not of themselves to imply a consideration, but a consideration must be specially averred and proved. Lansing v. M'Killip, 3 Caines' Rep. 286. However, this doctrine has been overruled, and it is now held that these terms were prima facie evidence of a consideration in such a note, and sufficient to cast the burthen of proof of the contrary on the defendant. Jerome v. Whitney, 7 John. Rep. 321. Jackson, v. Alexander, 3 John. Rep. 484. And therefore such a note would be good evidence to support the money counts. Told. and Smith v. Smith. But if no consideration appear on the face of a note, not negotiable within the statute, and no terms implying value received, it cannot be given in evidence under the money counts. Sexten v. Johnson, 10 John. Rep. 418. And see 3 Kent's Com., new ed., 76, note d.

nn:

1976200 🖟 🕠 of 2000, 180

医远波

『変通 udt II 🎮

وبالبوع

S21

· And

(1919)

羽蓋

18 K 1

2 12

35 ()

1.005

[ˈb≭≯) MA

~ > P x13.4

1 . 13 Dire on M el. 12 1

p. ⊈1

, 10

: الله ا

1 . e p 1

الا ي

*

4

世

d d

, d

< 1.

that to constitute an order for the payment of money there must be a payee, I. Form and that a direction to pay to --- or order was not sufficient, and the offence and princiof forgery was not *committed(x). And in another case, the judges held a sites of similar instrument to be no bill till the blank was filled up(y), but this requisite Bills, may be supplied by necessary or natural intendment(y), as in the case before Notes, &c. noticed of a note thus expressed, "received of Mr. D. Boaz 501. which I *140] promise to pay on demand," and it was holden that it sufficiently appeared that Boaz was intended to be the payee(z); and in general, as far as respects the civil remedy, when a blank has been left for the name of the payee, the intended payee, or any bona fide holder, may insert his own name(a), and such instrument may be declared upon as if the name had been originally in-And a bill addressed not to any particular person, but merely to a particular house will be sufficiently certain; at least it will be so against the acceptor(c). A mistake in the name of the intended payee, as giving him a wrong description, if there be no doubt who was intended, will be immaterial(d).

But if it be really uncertain by or to whom the payment is to be made, that imperfection will prevent the instrument from operating as a bill or note. Thus, a note to be paid "by A. or else B." is bad(c). So a note to pay, if the maker's brother do not pay by such a time, is bad(f). So a note whereby the maker promised to pay A. B. or to plaintiffs, or his or their order, a sum of money for value received, was held not to be within the statute, for it was not payable to A. B. and the plaintiffs, but payable to either of the parties, and that only on the contingency of its not having been paid to the other (g). But where a bill or note is upon the face of it payable to a particular individual, a mere contingency as to the persons who may have a right to enforce it under particular circumstances will not vitiate; as If A.B. and C. join in a promissory note payable to D. the wife of A.; in this case, if the husband die in the life-time of his wife, then the right to sue vests in the wife; if, on the other hand, the wife die first, then the note vests in the administrator of the wife, yet this does not create such a contingency as to make the instrument void as a note (h).

(y) Rex v. Randall, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 196, (Chit. j. 838).

(y) Rex v. Randall, Russ. & Ry. C C. 196, (Chit. j. 888.)

(z) Rex v. Randall, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 196, (Chit. j. 838); Ashby v. Ashby, 3 Moore & P. 186, S. P.; Pothier, pl. 31, puts this very

(a) Crutchley v. Mann, 1 Marsh. 81; 5 Taunt. 529, (Chit. j. 908); Crutchley v. Clarence, 2 Maule & S. 90, (Chit. j. 895); Avoid v. Griffin, Ryan & Mood. 42, 425, (Chit. j. 1805).

(b) Id. ibid. Atwood v. Griffin, Ryan & Mood. 425, (Chrt. j. 1805).

(c) Gray v. Milner, 3 Moore, 90; 8 Taunt.

789, (Chit. j. 1022, 1052).
(d) Rex v. Box, 6 Taunt. 825, (Chit. j. 941). (e) Ferris v. Bond, 4 Bar. & Ald. 679, (Chit. j. 1110). The form of the note in this case was thus, "I, J. C. promise to pay to A. F. the sum of 58! with lawful interest for the same, or his (x) Rex v. Richards, Russ & Ry. C. C. order, at six months notice, dated, &c. J. C. or else H. B." et per curiam, "This is not a promissory note by this defendant within the statute of Anne. It operates differently as to the two parties. It is an absolute undertaking on the part of J. C. to pay, and it is conditional only on the part of the defendant, for he undertakes to pay only in the event of J. C.'s not paying." A rule for a nonsuit was made absolute. See Wilkinson v. Lutwidge, Stra. 648, (Chit. j. 263).

21

(f) Appleby v. Biddulph, Bul. N. P. 272. cited 8 Mod. 868; 4 Vin. Ab. 240, pl. 16. An action was brought on this note, "I promise to pay T. M. 50l. if my brother doth not pay it within six weeks," and after verdict for the plaintiff, the court arrested judgment, because the maker was only to pay it upon a contingen-

(g) Blanckenhagen v. Blundell, 2 Bar. & Ald. 417, (Chit. j. 1054).

(A) Richards v. Richards, 2 B. & Ad. 447, 455, (Chit. j. 1548); ante, 28, note (r).

(B

C.

x.

71

27

X.

17

725 æ î.

S

23

ť,

H

d ķ

•

Z

ä

ă

Ĭ

ģ

pal Requisites of Bills, Notes, &c. written dum.

The rule that a bill or note payable on contingency is invalid as such, and princi- extends also to cases where the bill or note is absolute on the face of it, but rendered contingent by a contemporaneous indorsement, or even by a written memorandum on a detached paper. As where a *note before it was signed by the makers, was indorsed "The within note is taken for security Contingent for all such balances as I. M. may happen to owe to T. L. and Co. not extending further than the within-named sum of 2001., but this note is to be in force for six months, and no money liable to be called for sooner in any Memoran- case;" and in an action by the payees against one of the makers, Lord Ellenborough was of opinion, that as between the parties the instrument was merely an agreement, and not a note, although he seemed to think that in the hands of a bona fide holder, who received it as a promissory note, it might possibly be considered valid as such(i). But an indorsement merely denoting the payee's desire, and not an order or agreement that indulgence should be given, that will not qualify the tenor of the note(k). where a note payable to Foster or order, and given for 251., being the amount of the purchase-money for a quantity of fir belonging to Mr. Hartley, had, before it was signed, the following indorsement, "This note is given on condition, that if any dispute shall arise between Mr. H. and Lady W. respecting the fir, the note to be void:" it was held not to be a note payable at all events, but contingent; and that an indorsee could not recover against the maker(l). So in the instance before mentioned, where the note was given in respect of drasts borrowed of the plaintiff, Lord Ellenborough considered that the payment of the note was to depend on the payment of the drafts, and therefore contingent(m). But where on an action coming on to be tried at the assizes, an agreement in writing was entered into that the trial should be postponed till the next assizes, on the defendant undertaking to give the plaintiff a promissory note payable on demand, by way of security in case the plaintiff should recover a verdict, and to be given up if the plaintiff, the payee, should fail in that action, and the note was accordingly given, but after it was signed a memorandum was indorsed upon it, stating that the note was given upon the condition mentioned in the agreement; it was held, that this indorsement was to be considered as merely a marking of the note for the purpose of identification, and not as an incorporating of the agreement, so as to render the note an agreement or a conditional promise(n).

By separate Memorandum.

So although the memorandum be on a separate paper, yet if it were con-

(i) Leeds r. Lancashire, 2 Campb. 205, (Chit. j. 775). But the back could not be looked at unless stamped; see next case and Sweeting v. Halse, 9 Bar. & Cres. 365; 4 Mann. & Ry. 287, (Chit. j. 1423); ante, 122, note (a).

Leeds v. Lancashire, 2 Camp. 205, (Chit. j. 775). The defendants Marriott and Ball gave a joint and several promissory note to the plaintiffs for 2001. No time for payment was mentioned in the note. On the back was written, "The within note is taken for security of all such balances as James Marriott may happen to owe to Thomas Leeds & Co. not exceeding farther than the within sum of 2001. but this note to be in force for six months, and no money liamemorandum was written before the note was signed by the defendant or Ball. It appeared, in an action upon this note, that, in the course of mercantile dealings, Marriott had become indebted to the plaintiffs, and that on their refusing to deal with him any longer without some guarantee, the above instrument, which the makers represented to be a note, was given. It was impressed with a promissory note stamp.

Lord Ellenborough. "As between the original parties this instrument is only an agreement, and not a note; in the bands of a bont fide holder, who received it as a promissory note, it might possibly be considered as such. The plaintiffs were nonsuited." And see Rallie r. Sarell, 1 Dow. & Ry. N. P. C. 33.

(k) Stone v. Metcalfe, MS., and 1 Stark. 58; 4. Camp. 217, (Chit. j. 943), post, 142, u (r); and see ante, 122.

(1) Hartley v. Wilkinson, 4 M. & S. 25; 4 Campb. 127, (Chit. j. 931).

(m) Williamson v. Bennett, 2 Campb. 417,

(Chit. j. 789); ante, 135, note (k).
(n) Brill v. Crick, 1 Mee. & Wels. 232.

11171

E 90

239 L 2

251

1.01 16

(0.7)

ê. Mid 3.1

: DF

1,5

11.7

1 12 1

V X7.

الدعوم وم

17.

در ۾

11.

1.43

1.11

 $\gamma < 2$

: T¹2

 $\sim 7^{\prime}$

.

103

2 1

go, 15

ئىر. ئىرىد

11 20

g f

r 1

ví *

46

1 12

٠,5

زي.

Y

19 ĵ.

11

temporaneous, it is admissible between the original parties and their repre- I. Form sentatives; as where there was a written stipulation to renew *on a separate and principaper, it was considered that it qualified the liability, although it did not vitisites of ate the instrument itself(o); and it should seem that an indorsee who has Bills, notice of the stipulation at the time he takes the bill, will be equally bound Notes, &c. by its terms(p).

When the party means to avail himself of a binding written engagement to Steps to be renew, he must take all the proper steps to obtain a renewal, or will loose thereupon the advantage of the stipulation, and should therefore tender a proper fresh bill or note(q).

It is also incumbent on a defendant, who relies on an indorsement on a bill or note, or on a separate paper as qualifying and rendering contingent the absolute engagement on the face of the instrument, to have the same stamped as a special agreement, for otherwise it cannot be read, and the plaintiff may succeed on the former, and the defendant be precluded from establishing his defence: as where the plaintiff proved a note absolute on the face of it, and there was on the back a memorandum attested by J. S. and it was urged by the defendant that he had a right to have such memorandum read as well as the note, without calling J. S.; but Lord Ellenborough ruled otherwise, and upon J. S. being called, the desendant urged, that though unstamped the endorsement might be read, because it made part of the note, and that neither of them could be read, because taken together they required an agreement stamp; but Lord Ellenborough said, "the plaintiff is entitled to have the note read, having proved defendant's hand-writing, but the indorsement may be an unconnected instrument. I have on one side a perfect note, and on the other that which, if stamped, might have operated as a defeasance, but at which, for want of a stamp, I cannot look (r)."

It seems now settled, that verbal evidence is not admissible to contradict Parol Evior vary an absolute engagement to pay money on the face of a bill or note, dence of a although as between the original parties evidence may be adduced to estab- Bargain, or lish a defence on the ground of total want of consideration, failure of it, or agreement And if the instrument on the face of it purport to be an abso- to renew, illegality(s). lute engagement to pay money, no evidence of a verbal agreement made at sible. the same time, qualifying the liability to pay the bill, or of a verbal agreement at the time to renew or give indulgence, will be admissible to defeat the action on the bill or note(1).

(o) Bowerbank v. Monteiro, 4 Taunt 884, (Chit. j. 889); Steel r. Pradfield, 4 Taunt. (227, (Chit. j. 855); and Gibbon v. Scott, 2 Stark. R. 286, (Chit. j. 1008).

(p) See the observations in Leeds v. Lancashire, 2 Campb. 203; ante, 141, note (i). (q) Gibbon v. Scott, 2 Stark. R. 286, (Chit.

j. 1008).

(r) Verdict for plaintiff; Stone r. Metcalfe, 1 Stark. R. 53; 4 Campb. 217, (Chit. j. 943); anle, 122; and see Brill r. Crick, 1 M. & W. 232, anic, 141, note (n).

(s) See observations in Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. 84; 1 Cro. & J. 231, (Chit. j. 1518); ante, 69, note (k); Solly v. Hinde, 2 C. M. & Ros. 516; ante, 71, note (p); and see ante, 76, 81,

(1) Houre and others r. Graham, 3 Campb. 57, (Chit. j. 888). Indorsee against the payees of a promissory note. The defendants gave in evidence that they had indorsed the note by way of collateral security for certain advances made by the plaintiff to Messrs. Grill and Son, and the rerbal condition of the defendant's indorsement was, that the note should be renewed when it became due, to which the plaintiffs acceded, but that they afterwards demanded payment instead of calling for a renewal.

Lord Ellenborough. "I do not think I can admit evidence of this sort; what is to become of bills of exchange and promissory notes if they may be cut down by a secret agreement that they shall not be put in suit? The parol condition is quite inconsistent with the written

⁽¹⁾ Parol evidence is not admissible to show that a note, purporting to be absolute, was to be ш.

2.39

11 1

21

E.

Ý١

12

÷ 1

712

- 3

经可能的证据的现在分词是有的

I. Form and principal Requisites of Bills,

This is a general rule not confined to bills of exchange, but extends to all written contracts(u); and the same law prevails in France with respect to bills where parol evidence is not admitted to extend or qualify the terms of those instruments (x). Therefore where a promissory note, on the face Notes, &c. of it, purported to be payable on demand, it was held that parol evidence was not admissible to show that at the time of making it, it was agreed that it should not be payable till after the decease of the testator(y); or until certain estates of the maker had been sold(z), or until the payee should deliver up possession of certain premises(a), or should not be payable if the > instrument. I will receive evidence that the that the defendant should not be called on to pay note was indorsed to the plaintiffs as a trust, but the condition for a renewal entirely contradicts the instrument which the defendants have signed; such an agreement rests in confidence and honour only, and is not an obligation of There may, after a bill is drawn, be a binding promise for a valuable consideration to renew it when due, but if the promise is contemporaneous with the drawing of the bill, the law will not enforce it. This would be incorporating with a written contract an incongruous parol condition, which is contrary to first principles." The plaintiff, therefore had a verdict. The same point was decided in Campbell v. Hodgson, I Gow, R. 74. See Bowerbank v. Monteiro, 4 Taunt. 846, (Chit. j. 889); Hogg v. Snaith, 1 Taunt. 347, (Chit. j. 751); Skin. 54; Phil. on Evid. 2d edit. 433; and see 1 Maule & S. 21; Stark. on Evid. Part II. 279.

Dakes v. Dow, Sittings after Faster Term, 1817, coram Gibbs, C. J. Payee r. Maker of a note for 131. Ss. 10d. payable nine months after date. Defence and proof that defendant, at the time of giving the note, was charged in execution for a debt, and it was agreed between plaintiff and defendant, that the latter should be discharged on giving the note, and the plaintiff verbally agreed at the time it was given that if it was not convenient to the defendant to pay the note at maturity the plaintiff would give him time, but had commenced this action contrary to such engagement Gibbs, C. J. held, that such a parol contract collateral to the instrument could not be admitted in evidence to annul the very terms of the written contract, and defeat its obligation.

Rawson and another v. Walker, 1 Stark. Rep. 801, (Chit. j. 967). Action on a promissory note for 66l., payable on demand. Ld. Ellenborough refused to admit parol evidence inconsistent with the terms of the note; as that it was agreed between the plaintiff and defendant, till a final dividend of a bankrupt's estate should be made.

And see the observations of Bayley, J. in Ridout r. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. Rep. 84; 1 Cr. & J. 231, (Chit. j. 1518); ante, 69, note (k). The following case of Usborn v. Larkin, on first view, would seem to be a contrary decision, but it probably turned on the failure of cousideration.

Usborn v. Larkin, Guildhall, 19th October, 1829, cor. Lord Tenterden, C. J. Pollock and Wightman for plaintiff. Denman and Cress-well for defendant. Webster attorney for plaintiff. Action on a note payable two months after date. Lord Tenterden, C. J. admitted evidence of a parol agreement that the note should only be a security on a certain event which had not happened, and left it to the jury, on conflicting evidence, to say whether that was the agreement, but said that evidence of such a stipulation to cut down and defeat a written positive agreement, ought to be very strong and satisfactory. The jury found for the plaintiff. But it will be observed that the evidence was received, because it tended to show a total failure of consideration, which always between the original parties affords a defence. See post, 819, (15).

(u) Sugd. Vend. & Pur. tit. Eridence; Phil. on Evid.

(x) I Pardess. 845, 482.

(y) Woodbridge r. Spooner, S B. & Al. 228;

1 Chit. Rep, 661, (Chit. j. 1073),
(2) Free r. Hawkins, S Taunt. 92; Holt,

C. N. P. 556, (Chit. j. 1000).

(a) Moseley v. Hanford, 10 B. & C. 729, (Chit. j. 1493). In this case Alexander, C. B. before whom the cause was tried, received parol evidence of the terms upon which the note was to become payable; the plaintiff, however, had a verdict, and Denman afterwards moved for a new trial on the ground that the verdict payable only on condition. Farnham v. Ingham et al., 5 Verm. Rep. 114. A subsequent agreement by parol that a note may be paid in a different way than is expressed in the note, if the agreement is performed, may be given in evidence in an action on the note.

Such agreement, made at the time the note was executed, is admissible in evidence. Ibid. Where the payee of a note, after it was duly made and delivered, gave it to the maker to keep, until certain acts to be done by the maker were performed, who subsequently refused to redeliver it to the payee, it was held that the circumstances under which the note came to the possession of the maker might be given in evidence in an action by the payee, to recover the amount thereof. Gasloch v. Gerotner, 7 Wend. Rep. 198.

The maker of a note may prove by parol that the payee, subsequent to the making of the note, agreed that payment might be made to a third person. Low v. Treadwell, 3 Fairf. 441.

Parol evidence that a bill of exchange, absolute in its terms, was to be payable on a contingency, is isodmissible. Cunningham v. Wardwell, Id. 466.

Tiera a 1 (500 .: 15

PART I

× 6 1,230 0.4200 1.02

4 30% 10.0 1 3 * XXX 02:00

1.03 17 (3 3 17.70 · 😾 🎾

g: 15 . v 3 ابهر 151 . . 3 33

; ¥6 : : : 41 . 104 a Pi

12 3 E

C# :(1 115 72 Tá M 100

. 38

12 d g 3 لاو 13

maker's allowance under a commission against him should not be sufficient I. Form to pay the amount(b), or not payable till a final dividend of a bankrupt's es- and princito pay the amount(0), or not payable this a mail dividend of a bankrupt's estate should have been made(c); and if a note be payable at nine months sites of after date, parol *evidence of the holder's agreement to give the maker time, Bills, So if a Notes, &c. if, at maturity, it was not convenient to pay, is inadmissible (d). note be made payable fourteen days after date, parol evidence cannot be [*144] given to show that it was not to be paid in case a verdict was obtained by the plaintiff in an action brought against other parties(e)(1). And the same rule applies to an indorsement in blank, in which case the indorser will not be allowed to prove that he had indorsed the note by way of collateral security for certain advances made by the indorsee (the plaintiff) to third persons, and that plaintiff had agreed at the time to renew (f)(2).

was against the weight of evidence. But the court intimated a doubt whether parol evidence could be given to restrain the effect of a promissory note absolute on the face of it, and referred to Woodbridge r. Spooner, 3 B. & Al. 233, as an authority to the contrary; and Parke, J. observed, that every bill or note imported two things-value received, and an engagement to pay the amount on certain specified terms; that evidence was admissible to deny the receipt of value, but not to vary the engagement. Cur. adv. vult.

Lord Tenterden, C. J. now delivered the judgment of the court, and, after stating the facts of the case, proceeded as follows:--"When this application for a new trial was made, it occurred to the court that the evidence given on behalf of the defendant ought not to have been received, on the ground that evidence of an agreement that the note was not to be put in suit until a given event happened was not admissible, the effect of it being to contradict by parol the note itself; and upon consideration we are of opinion, that upon principle as well as authority that evidence was not admissible." Several cases to that effect are collected in Selwyn's 9th ed. 394; Hoare v. Graham, 3 Campb. 57, (Chit. j. 838); Free v. Hawkins, 8 Taunt 92, (Chit. j. 1080). Rule for a new trial refused.

(b) Rawson v. Walker, 1 Stark. R. 361, (Chit. j. 967); and Campbell v. Hodgson, Gow, C. N. P. 74, (Chit. j. 1058). (c) Rawson v. Walker, 1 Stark. Rep. 361; see supra.

(d) Dukes v. Dow, ante, 143, note (t).
(e) Foster v. Jolly, 1 Cro. M. & R. 703; 5 Tyrw. 239, S. C.

(f) Hoare and others v. Graham, 3 Campb. 57; ante, 142, note (1).

Parol evidence is inadmissible to contradict, vary or explain a written contract, or show it different from what it purports to be. Bradley v. Anderson, 5 Verm. Rep. 152. If A. as payee of a promissory note, sue B. as maker of the same, B. shall not be permitted to give parol evidence of facts, which amount only to an innocent mistake in A. in writing the note, to prevent A's recovery; nor shall B. give parol evidence of such facts under the false pretence that they show fraud in A. in writing the note. Ibid.

Where usury is alleged, it may be proved by parol; and then by the like evidence, the written instruments of the contract may be contradicted or varied. Fenwick v. Ratliff's repr's., 6

Monroe's Rep. 155.

At the bottom of a promissory note on demand, was written the memorandum, "one half payable in 12 months, the balance in 24 months." Held that it was competent to either party to the note to prove by parol evidence the time when, the person by whom, and the circumstances under which the memorandum was affixed to the note. Heywood v. Perrin, 10 Pick. Rep. 228.

Such memorandum being proved to have been affixed to the note before it was delivered to the promisee, and so constituting a part of the contract, it was held, that the contract was to be construed according to the written terms; and that parol evidence to show that the stipulation for a term of credit was provisional, namely, if the promisor should remain solvent, was inadmissible.

It was also held, that there was not such a repugnance between the memorandum and the words "on demand," as would invalidate the contract, but that the memorandum limited the generality of those words. Ib.

In an action by the payee against the maker of a negotiable note in common form, the defendant cannot give in evidence, by way of defence, a parol agreement, that upon his giving a deed of real estate to the plaintiff, the note should be given up. Spring v. Lovett, 11 Pick. 417.

(2) Evidence of a parol agreement which would vary the effect of the indorsement not ad missible. Dupuy v. Gray, 1 Minor's Alabama Rep. 357.

If A. execute to B. his promissory note, and C. indorse his name in blank on the same, parel evidence is admissible to show the understanding that C. was to be the holder only collaterally. Barrows v. Lane et al., 5 Verm. Rep. 161.

⁽¹⁾ In assumpsit upon a promissory note against one of the makers, it was held to be competent to the defendant to show, by parol evidence, that he was only a surety, and that the plaintiff, knowing the fact, had so conducted with the notes as to discharge him. Bank v. Kent, 4 New Hamp. Rep. 221.

CE!

١

ĺШ

1

x

X.

έź

361 l

201

Ę,

ij

ř

However, it has been decided that a verbal agreement to renew, founded

1. Form and princi- on adequate consideration, and made after a bill or note has been given or pal Requirites of Bills, to renew.

No Action thereon as a Bill or Note, and Considera-indorsed, is admissible in evidence, and will be binding(g)(1); and it has been decided, that if the indorsee of a bill verbally agree, at the time of his Notes, &c. discounting the same, not to sue the drawer in the event of non-payment of Effect of a the acceptor, he is bound by that agreement, and cannot afterwards sue subsequent Agreement such drawer(h). Consequences of informality. If the bill or note be insufficient in its original formation in either of these respects, or be rendered contingent by a written memorandum, it will not become valid by any subsequent occurrence rendering the payment no longer contingent, but certain, as to the amount(i); and consequently the same cannot be effectually declared upon as a bill be proved or note even between the original parties (k); and though it may in some cases be declared upon as an agreement, yet it cannot be produced in evidence, unless stamped as a special agreement (l); and even if stamped, the consideration on which it was given must, in general, be alleged and prov-Another consequence is, that so defective a bill or note cannot be proved as such under a commission of bankruptcy (n).

der a Commission.

But although the bill cannot be sued or acted upon as such, the payee may nevertheless sue the acceptor for money had and receied. bill was, "Please to pay Messrs. Maber and Kentish or order 1951. 148. 10d. out of the produce of goods you have of mine now lying at Gibraltar, Barbary, and Leghorn, as soon as the same shall have come into your hands, after discharging the present acceptances," and which bill was accepted in these words, "I agree to conform to this order Moses Massias." De Grey, Ch. J., Gould, Blackstone, and Nares, Js. held, that the payees were entitled to sue the acceptor for money had and received to their use, and that having accepted the bill, the acceptor was not at liberty to show as a defence [*145] that he was *overdrawn(o). So a bill payable out of a particular fund, when accepted, operates as an equitable assignment, and will enable the holder, at least in bankruptcy, to claim on the acceptor (p).

(g) See the observations of Lord Ellenborough in Hoare v. Graham, 8 Campb. 57; ante, 142, note (t). See Phil. on Evid. as to effect of subsequent alteration, &c.

(h) Pike r. Sweet, Danson & Lloyd Rep.

159, (Chit. j. 1410); see post.
(i) Hill v. Halford, in error, 2 B. & P. 413; (Chit. j. 657); ante, 135, note (i); Colehan v. Cooke, Willes, 399, (Chit. j. 298); ante, 136; Kingston v. Long, ante, 134, note (y).

(k) Carlos v. Fancourt, 5 T. R. 485; ante, 138, note (e); Manwaring v. Newman, 2 B. & P. 123, (Chit. j. 623); Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 243, (Chit. j. 584).

(1) Manwaring v. Newman, 2 B. & P. 125; Firbank v. Bell, 1 B. & Al. 36; Butts v. Swan,

2 B. & B. 78; 4 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1094); Jones v. Simpson, 2 B. & C. 318; 3 D. & R.

545, S. C., (Chit. j. 1189); ante, 142.(m) Leeds v. Lancashire, 2 Campb. 205; ante, 141, note (i).

(n) Ex parte Adney, Cowp. 460; Ex parte Tootel, 4 Ves. 372, (Chit. j. 595); Ex parte Minet, 14 Ves. 188; Ex parte Barker, 9 Ves. 110; In re Barrington, 2 Sch. & Lef. 112, (Chit. j. 697); Clayton v. Gosling, 5 B. & C. 360; S. D. & R. 110, S. C. (Chit. j. 1287); post, tit. Bankruptcy.

(o) Maber r. Massias, 2 Bla. Rep. 1072. (p) Ex parte Kirk, 1 Atk. 108; see Crawfoot v. Gurney, 2 Moore, 473; 9 Bing. 372, S.

C.; ante, 180, note (o).

Parol testimony is admissible to prove the sale and transfer of a note payable to order, without indorsement or written transfer. Hughes v. Harrison et. al., 2 Miller's Louisiana Rep 90.

⁽¹⁾ After a promissory note discounted by a bank had become due, the bank, upon the maker's application for a renewal, endorsed on the wrapper of the note the words "renewed for three months" and the maker paid the interest in advance, but the note was retained by the bank and no new note given. It was held that this endorsement did not become a part of the note; and that the bank was not thereby disabled from commencing an action upon the note before the expiration of three months. Central Bank v. Willard, 17 Pick. 150. }

PARTI

17/03

301

1 ro it

37

. F1

7.7

1.1.

· 👏

16 1. X

1

1.1

. 3

1

~ Ţ

115

10

.

S

1.

quences of lar Requisites.

With respect to the original parties, this objection may only affect the I. Form form of the remedy as between them, but the consequences may be substan- and princitial and fatal as regards an indorsee or holder; for as so defective an instrument is not negotiable, the indorsee can neither sue(q) nor prove(r) upon it, Bills, and he has no remedy thereon, and can only proceed against his immediate Notes, &c. debtor for the recovery of the debt on account of which the transfer was Consemade.

But although the instrument referred to may be thus inoperative as a bill ity. or note, yet if for the payment of money they are nevertheless, by the terms of the Stamp Act, liable to the stamp duties as valid bills or notes are(s); and where they are for the payment of money, and yet constitute special agreements, it should seem that they must be stamped as well with a bill stamp as also with an agreement stamp, in which case they may be declared on specially as between the original parties (t); and in some cases they may be given in evidence under the count upon an account stated (u).

II. THEIR PARTS AND PARTICULAR REQUISITES.

Besides these principal qualities which bills of exchange must possess, II. Their there are certain other matters proper to be attended to in the formation of Particuthem: These are,

1. That in most cases the instrument be properly stamped.

2. That it be properly dated as to place.

3. That it be properly dated as to time of making.

4. That the sum to be paid be correctly superscribed.

5. That the time of payment be distinctly stated.

6. That the place of payment be in some cases stated in the body or at the foot.

7. That an order or request to pay be inserted.

8. That in the case of a foreign bill drawn in sets, each set contain a proviso that it shall only be payable in case the others are not paid.

9. That it clearly express to whom the bill is to be payable.

- 10. That where the instrument is intended to be negotiable there be words inserted, giving the power of transfer.
- 11. That the money to be paid be distinctly and intelligibly expressed in the body of the bill, and in certain cases that it be above a certain amount.

12. That in certain cases value received be inserted.

13. That it state to whose account the payment is to be placed.

14. That under particular circumstances a bill state whether it is to be paid with or without further advice.

15. That the drawer's name be clearly signed.

That the bill be properly addressed to the drawee.

17. That where the bill is to be paid at a certain place, that place be properly described at the foot or in the body.

(q) Ante, 144.

(r) See the cases in note (n), ante, 144. (s) See 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, Schedule, tit. Bills of Exchange, and tit. Promissory Notes, ante, 105, 109; and see Chitty on Stamps, 141, 209.

(1) Blackenhagen v. Blundell, 2 Bar. & Ald. 419, (Chit. j. 1054); Smith v. Nightin-gale, 2 Stark. 375, (Chit. j. 1080); sed quære, see Davies v. Williamson, 2 Perry & Dav. 256, ante, 186, note (o), where Coloridge, J. said, that although there may be a case in which an instrument may operate both as a note and as an agreement, yet as it would be highly inconvenient to make two stamps necessary, the stamp should be selected according to the governing character of the document.

(u) Barlow v. Broadhurst, 4 Moore, 471, (Chit. j. 1083); Davies v. Williamson, 2 P. & D. 256, ante, 136, note (0); see the cases, post, Part II. Ch. II. tit. Declaration.

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites.

- 18. That where a third person is to be referred to by the holder on default of acceptance or payment, the usual words "au besoin chez Messes.

 ————," or equivalent words be inserted.
- 19. That where the drawer wishes the bill not to be protested in case of dishonour, "retour sans protet," or some equivalent words be subscribed.

 20. That if any words of qualification as to amount of re-exchange are intended, they be explicitly stated; and

21. That if it is intended to have a witness there be no ambiguity in signing his name.

The better mode of considering each of these matters will be by presenting the reader with the usual forms of a Foreign and Inland Bill of Exchange, and of a Check and Promissory Note, and Country Banker's Note, and then considering the various parts of each in their natural order, and the legal effect, and with some observations for the use of mercantile students.

FORM OF A FOREIGN BILL.

Forms of No. Bills, Checks, Exchange for 10,000 Livres Tournoises. London, 1st January, 1840. Notes, and I. O. Ú. 1 At two usances (or "at -— after sight," or "at — — after date, at Versailles,") Stamp pay this my first Bill of Exchange (second and third of the same tenor and date -, or order (" or bearer") Ten Thousand Livres Tournoises, value received of them, and place the same to account, as per advice from JAMES OATLAND. payable at Versailles. " Au besoin chez Mesers. --.'' "Retour sans protét.'' " Re-exchange, interest, and expenses, not to exceed £ Witness, James Atkinson.

FORM OF AN INLAND BILL.

London, 1st January, 1840.

1 Two Months after date (or "at sight," or "on demand," or "at — days after sight,") pay Mr. ——, or order, One Hundred Pounds, for value received.

16 To Mr. ——, Merchant, 15 SAMUEL SKINNER.

FORM OF A BILL UNDER FIVE POUNDS.

As prescribed by Stat. 17 Geo. III. c. 30, Schedule No. 2.

[Here insert the place, day, month, and year, when and where made.]

Twenty-one days after date pay to A. B. of _____, or his order, the sum of _____, value received by C. D.

Witness, G. H. _____.

The Figures refer to the parts of the observations in the following pages of this Chapter.

Patt L

ROY.

e: Neur

12 128 1

J3:(T)&

120 n i B

r 1.50

TO EX

132.45

[~;*15

1

1 14 2

1.13

110

14

1

U

II. Their FORM OF A CHECK. Parts and (2) particular (8.5)(16)Requisites. London, 1st January, 1840. Messrs. Pay A. B. or bearer, Twenty Pounds. (4)(15) J. K. £20 0 0 PROMISSORY NOTE. £50 London, 1st January, 1840. 1. Two Months after date I promise to pay Mesers, -----, or order, Fifty Stamp. Pounds, for value received. A. B. COUNTRY BANKER'S NOTE. Norwich, 1st January, 1840. We promise to pay the Bearer on demand Five Pounds, here or at ---, Bankers, London. For A. B. C. and Co. A. B. FORM OF I. O. U. Mr.

(1)—With respect to the stamp to be impressed on a bill or note, and 1st. Stamp. the exceptions in favour of certain checks on bankers, Bank of England notes, and bankers' notes, we have already devoted a Chapter to the consideration of the subject (v).

(2)—In France there is a local law that a bill must be drawn at one place 2dly. Place upon another, the very object of bills being to carry into execution the previous contract of exchange, which is to pay money at a distant place from the residence of the drawer. And in that country the place of drawing must be correctly stated, or certain inconveniences will result(w). But in general, in Great Britain and Ireland the place of date in a stamped bill or note is not material. It is proper, however, in all cases to superscribe the name of the place where the bill is really made, and when the drawer is not a person well known in the commercial world, it is advisable for him to mention the number of his house, and the street in which he resides, in order that the holder may be the better enabled to find him out, in case his responsibility is doubted, or in case acceptance or payment should be refused by the drawee(1). Where the bill or note is described as drawn generally at a place,

I. O. U. Twenty Pounds. Dated this 1st January, 1840.

(v) See ante, Ch. IV.

(w) 1 Pardess. 332, 346, 348, 349, " De la remise d'un lieu sur un autre."

C. D.

⁽¹⁾ A note being dated at a particular place, it is not, therefore, payable at that place alone; and if the maker cannot be found at such place, the holder will be bound to enquire elsewhere. Galpin v. Hard, 8 M'Cord, 894. If the place of payment of a note be designated in a memorandum at the bottom; or if to the acceptance of a bill, a particular place of payment be added, with the assent of the holder; such memorandum or qualification becomes part of the contract.

Ò

b

¥

Ē

d

h ū

H b

U

0 ľ

ũ

II. Their Parts and erticular

Place where made.

as at "Manchester(x)" or "London(y)," without a more definite description, it will suffice to direct a notice of dishonour to the drawer or maker at Requisites such place generally; though it would not be sufficient *as against the indorser(z). According to the form in the schedule contained in the 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, in certain cases where bills are under 51. it is absolutely necessary to insert the true name of the place where they are made; and if this be not [*148] observed in a check on a banker, it will not be exempt from the stamp duties imposed by the 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, and the prior acts(a). We have already seen some recent important provisions relative to banking establishments exceeding six in number, making bills and other negotiable securities upwards of sixty-five miles from London(b).

3dly. Date Drawing.

(3)—As the time when a bill is to become due is generally regulated by the or Time of time when it was made, the date of the instrument ought to be clearly expressed(c), and although it is the common practice to write the date in figures, yet, in order to prevent intentional or accidental alteration, which may invalidate the instrument, even in the hands of an innocent holder(d), it may be advisable to write the date at full length in words. It has been expressly enacted, that it shall not be lawful for any banker or other person to issue any promissory note for the payment of money to the bearer oh demand, and which are re-issuable, liable to any of the duties imposed by the act, with the date printed therein, under a penalty of 50l.(e). There is no legal objection to a bill being dated on a Sunday (f); and an indorsee may recover against the acceptor of a bill dated on a Sunday, when there is no evidence that the bill was accepted on that day, and even if it had been actually accepted on that day, it seems that it would have been binding (g). has been considered that the date of a bill or note is prima facie evidence of its having been made on the day of the date(h)(1); but that doctrine was afterwards over-ruled, as far as respects any questions between third persons(i). A date, however, is not, in general, essential to the validity of a bill, for where a bill has no date, the time, if necessary to be inquired into, will be

(x) Mann v. Moors, Ry. & Mo. 249, (Chit. J. 180, (Chit. j. 1516).

j. 1260). (y) Clarke v. Sharpe, 3 M. & W. 166; 1 Horn & Hurl. 35, S. C.

(z) Walter r. Haynes, Ry. & Mo. 149, (Chit.

j. 1227).

(a) Ante, 106, note (x).

(b) Ante, 15, 16.

(c) Beawes, pl. 3; Mar. 2d ed. 61; Pardessus, cours de Droit Commercial, 1 tom. 332, 346, 848. As to the terms "usual date," see Laing v. Barclay, 1 B. & C. 398; 2 D. & R. 580, (Chit. j. 1170), post, 162.

(d) Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 320, (Chit. j. 482, 490); when not, see Upstone v. Marchant, 2 B. & C. 10; 8 D. & R. 198, (Chit. j. 1182).

(e) 55 Geo. 8, c. 184, s. 18. (f) Drury v. De Fontaine, 1 Taunt. 181; Begbie v. Levy, 1 Tyrw. R. 180; 1 Cromp. &

(g) Begbie v. Levy, supra.
(h) Taylor v. Kinlock, 1 Stark. 175, (Chit. j. 951). The date upon a promissory note made by a bankrupt, of a time antecedent to an act of bankruptcy, is prima facie evidence to show that the note existed before the act of bankruptcy was committed, so as to establish a petitioning creditor's debt in an action by the assignees. See also Obbard v. Beetham, Mo. & M. 486, (Chit. j. 1490); post, Part II. Ch. VIII. s. iii. Bankruptcy. But see next note.

(i) Stark. Evid. 161; and see 2 Stark. R.

594; Rose v. Rowcroft, 4 Camp. 245, (Chit. j. 949); Cowie v. Harris, Mood. & M. 141; Wright v. Lainson, 2 M. & W. 739; 6 Dowl. 146, S. C.; post, Part II Ch. VIII. s iii. Bank-

Tuckerman v. Hartwell, 8 Greenl. Rep. 147. And if only the name of the place be written at the bottom of the note or bill, the jury may determine when, by whom, and for what purpose it was placed there. Id. (1) { Anderson v. Weston, 8 Scott, 593. }

Take &

1 12 2

- E M

11 - 22

- . . N

1.

173

pl. 1

9.5

. 14

12

اگر :

. 118

÷.5

.

10.0 $\gamma \beta$

1.4

1. 1

334

117

;;;

18.

230 25

.01

5

ď

-

ŕ

ظ

id

÷

computed from the day it was issued(k) or made(l); and if a bill of exchange II. Their be made payable two months after date, and no date be expressed, the court Parts and will *intend it to be payable two months after the day on which it was Requisites. made(m). A check, if post-dated and not stamped, we have seen is invalmade(m). A check, if post-acted and not stamped, we have seen is invalid.

id(n); and though it has been decided that a bill of exchange may be post-Time of dated(o)(1), and a bill or note be dated forward, of a day not arrived, and any Drawing. of the parties die before that day, such death will be no bar to a bona fide [*149] holder(p): yet we have seen that this cannot be done so as to postpone the payment for more than two months or sixty days from the time it is issued, unless the increased duty be paid (q). However, as the amount of the stamp is regulated by the date expressed thereon, we have seen that post-dating a bill will not invalidate it in the hands of a bona fide holder(r). By the statute 17 Geo. 3, c. 30(s), however, it is enacted, that all bills of exchange, or drafts in writing, being negotiable or transferable for the payment of twenty shillings, or any sum of money above that sum, and less than five pounds, or on which twenty shillings, or above that sum, and less than five pounds, shall remain undischarged, shall bear date before or at the time of drawing or issuing thereof, and not on any day subsequent thereto. A mere omission or mistake of date may be inserted or corrected without invalidating the instrument, as where an agent of drawer and acceptor discovered that a bill was improperly dated A. D. 1822, and altered it to A. D. 1823, and the plaintiff recovered(t). The law in France as to the date of a bill appears much to resemble that in this country (u)(2).

- (k) Armit v. Breame, 2 Ld. Raym. 1076, 1082. An award which directed the removal of some scaffolds within 58 days from the date of the award, had no date; an objection being taken upon this ground, the court said the time was to be computed from the delivery. See also De la Courtier v. Bellumy, 2 Show. 422, (Chit. j. 167); post, 149, note (m); Goddard's Case, 2 Co. 5 a; Sel. N. P. 9th ed. 316; Bac. Ab. Leases, (I 1); Com. Dig. Fait, (B 3); 4 B. & C. 908.
- (1) Giles v. Bourne, 6 Maule & S. 73; 2 Chit. Rep. 300, (Chit. j. 982). The plaintiff declared that J. T. on the 22d February, 1816, made his bill of exchange, and thereby required defendant, four months after date, to pay at Messrs. V. and Co. Lombard-street, &c. On demurrer assigning for cause that the bill was payable four months after date, but no date was assigned to the bill, it was held the declaration was good, for it shall be intended that it was dated on the day when it was made.
- (m) De la Courtier v. Bellamy, 2 Show. 422, (Chit. j. 167). Case on a foreign bill of exchange, payable at double usance from the date and it was alleged that the party beyond the sea drew the bill on a certain day, and that the same was presented to and accepted by the defendant. Exception, that the date of the bill was not set forth. The court said that they would intend the date of the bill from the drawing of it. See also Hague v. French, 3 B. & P. 178, S. P. (Chit. j. 652). See post 820 (16.) (n) Ante, 119.

(a) Passmore v. North, 13 East, 517, (Chit. j. 829).

(p) Id. Ibid.

(q) Ante, 103, 104, and 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 12; see Upstone v. Marchant, 2 B. & C. 110; 3 D. & R. 198, (Chit. j. 1182); Peacock v. Murrell, 2 Stark. C. N. P. 558, (Chit. j. 1077); 2 Chit. Rep. 121, 123, 123.

(r) Id. Ibid.
(s) This act is now in full force, see 7 Geo. 4, c. 6. It was made perpetual by 27 Geo. 8, c. 16. By 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, s. 9, the offender against this provision would be subject to 201. penalty. See also sec. 2, of 17 Geo. 3.

(t) Brutt v. Picard, Ry. & Mood. 38, (Chit.

j. 1205).

(u) 1 Pardess. 348, "l'indication du jour," the true date is there required, because it tends to establish whether or not, at the time of drawing, the drawer was on the point of insolvency, which allowing ante-dating might conceal.

(2) Notes made or first delivered after the time they bear date are valid only from the day of delivery, and are to be considered as drawn on that day. Dansing v. Gaine, &c. 2 John. Rep. 800.

⁽¹⁾ A note post-dated and negociated before the day of its date, is recoverable by the indorsee; its transfer before the day of its date affords no cause of suspicion so as to put the indorsee on inquiry and subject him to the equities existing between the original parties. Brewster v. McCardel, 8 Wend. Rep. 478.

And if a statute has made notes of a particular description illegal if, issued after a particular time, it is competent for the maker to prove that a note was ante-dated to brade the statute. Bayley v. Taber, 5 Mass. Rep. 286.

tÌ

C

1

ij

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites. 4thly. Suble.

(4)—There is no absolute necessity for the superscription of the sum for which the bill is payable, provided it be mentioned in the body of the bill, but the superscription will aid an omission in the body (x); and it is the advice of Beawes(y), that the sum payable be expressed so distinctly both in words and figures, that no exception can be taken to the instrument; and it is tion of the now the usual mode to superscribe the sum payable in figures at the head of Sum Pays- the instrument, and in words in the body of it. If there be a discrepancy between the sum in the body of the *bill and the superscription, the former will prevail(z). In drawing a check on a banker, the sum is generally subscribed. We shall hereafter notice the amount of the sum(a).

5thly. Time of Payment.

(5)—By a French ordinance, it was required that bills of exchange made in that country should express the time when they were to be paid, or otherwise they would be invalid (b); and this may be, 1st, at sight (meaning in that country at the instant of presentment); 2dly at the expiration of a specified number of days, weeks, months or usances after sight, which begin to run from the time of acceptance or refusal; or, 3dly, at a fixed day of the month, or a fixed feast, civil or religious; or 4thly, at a fair, when payment is to be made the day before the last day thereof; or 5thly, at the expiration of a certain number of days, weeks, months, or usances after date, and which commence the day after the date. There is no positive regulation affecting bills in this country as to the time when they may be made payable. would be valid, although no time be mentioned in them, and would operate, as in the case of a check on a banker, as payable on demand(c)(1). advisable, in all cases, to express the time of payment as clearly and intelligibly as possible(d), and it is therefore usual to write it in words, particularly as they are less subject to alteration than figures; and where a bill is drawn in one country using one style, and payable in a country using another, it is said that the drawer sometimes makes the date both according to the old and new style(e).

With respect to the time when payment is to be made, it depends entirely on the agreement of the parties, and there is no limitation in point of law,

(x) Elliot's case, 2 East's P. C. 951, on an indictment for forging the following note:-

No. 17. 73. I promise to pay Mr. I. C. or bearer on demand, the sum of fifty London, 20 June, 1795. For Governor and Company of the Bank of England. Thos. Thompson. Entered C. Blewart.

The forgery being proved, it was urged for the defendant, that this was not a note for fifty pounds, as the word "pounds" was not inserted, and judgment was respited for the opinion of the judges, who all agreed that the "£fifty" in the margin removed every doubt, and showed that the fifty in the body of the note was intended for pounds. But note, in this case the sum in the margin was looked at in order to show the intention of the party in uttering the note, and not to show the meaning of the note itself. See Per Tindal, C. J., in Saunderson v. Piper, 5 Bing. N. C. 425, 431; 7 Scott, 408, (y)] Beawes, tit. Bills of Exchange, pl. 8; Marius, 189.

(2) Benwes, pl. 193; Marius, 2d ed. 138, 139; Saunderson v. Piper, 5 Bing. N. C. 425; 7 Scott, 408, S. C. post, 160, note (7).

(a) Post, 159, Sum Payable. (b) Poth. pl. 16, 82; Pardessus, Droit Commercial, 1 tom. 346, 352.

(c) Boehin v. Sterling, 7 T. R. 427, (Chit. 593); Whitlock v. Underwood, 2 Bar. & C. 157; 3 D. & R. 356, (Chit. j. 1188).

(d) Beawes, pl. 3. (e) Kyd, 8; Mar. 91.

A note may for honest purposes be dated as of a day antecedent to that on which it was really made. Richter v. Selin, 8 Serg. & Rawle, 425.

If indorsers commit a promissory note to the maker, with a blank for the date, they thereby authorise him to fill the blank with what he pleases. Mitchell v. Culver, 7 Cowen, 336. See Mechanics' and Farmers' Bank v. Schuyler, 7 Cowen, 887, note (a). (1) { Burthe ". Donaldson, 15 Louis. Rep. 392. } ie enn in

MIT

: 120T (j. 1912 ::..ī 🗱

沙滩

g re 2 · * $ 1.85 y e! 3 . : :3

1.50 inco E il 37.7% 11.5

- 21 :1,35 1.2

y 11.

~E 51 h ř.

12 (*

 \mathbf{c}^{\dagger}

though the payment must not be contingent (f). But by the 17th Geo. 3, II. Their c. 30, negotiable bills and drafts under 51. of the description above-mention- Parts and ed must be payable within twenty-one days after the day of the date thereof. Requisites. The operation of this act was suspended with respect to drafts, &c. payable Time of to bearer on demand, by the statute 37 Geo. 3, c. 32, and other subsequent Payment. acts, until the late act of 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, which, by repealing these, renewed such operation except upon bills and drafts, &c. under 51. stamped before the 5th September, 1826, and except upon Bank of England notes under 51. made and dated before 10th October, 1826. Now, therefore, by the 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, in conjunction with the 17 Geo. 3, no bill, draft, or other negotiable instrument, or Bank of England note under 51. can be made or negotiated if it be payable to bearer on demand, (except it be a bill, &c. stamped before the 5th February, 1826, and these only till 5th of April, 1829,) or a Bank of England note made and dated before the 10th October, 1826, and after the 5th of April, 1829, no Bank of England note under 51. can be negotiated if it be payable to bearer on demand(g). The 9 Geo. 4, c. 65, also restrains, under a penalty of 201., the negotiation in England of bills and notes, &c. under 5L or on which less than 5L shall remain undischarged, payable to bearer on demand, made and issued in Scotland or Ireland, or elsewhere out of England (h).

*Foreign bills are frequently drawn payable at usance or usances, but [*151] they, like inland bills, may be drawn payable at sight, or at days, weeks, months, or years, after sight or date, or on demand: bills, however, are very seldom drawn payable on demand; but usually, when it is intended they should be payable immediately, are drawn payable at sight. If drawn at sight, the drawer of a foreign bill should express that it is payable according to the course of exchange at the time of making it(i); for otherwise, it seems, that the drawee must pay according to the exchange of the day when he has sight of the bill.

A note payable generally is payable on demand (j)(1); and it has been recently determined that a banker's deposit note, "for £ --- payable with interest, at the rate of 31. per cent. to the day of acceptance," is a note payable at sight, and need not be left with the maker for acceptance (k).

Checks on bankers very seldom express any time when they are to be paid, and consequently, as will be seen hereafter, are demandable immediately they are delivered to the payee or bearer (l), and they are excepted out of the provisions of the 7 Geo. 4, c. 6 and 9 Geo. 4, c. 65(m).

However, with respect to the time when a bill drawn payable in either of ⁽f) See the cases, ante, 134, &c. If a bill of exchange be made payable at ever so distant a day, if it be a day that must come, it is no objection to the bill. Per Willes, C. J. in Colehan v. Cooke, Willes, 396, (Chit. j. 298).

(g) Penalty 201.; see these acts, Chit. Stat.

^{121, 122.}

⁽h) See the act Chit. & H. Stat. 77. (i) "En especes au cours de ce jour;" Poth. pl. 174.

⁽j) Whitlock v. Underwood, 2 Bar. & C. 157; 3 D. & R. 356, (Chit. j. 1183); ante, ⁽k) Sutton v. Toomer, 7 Bar. & C. 416; 1 M. & R. 125, (Chit. j. 1852); ante, 117.

⁽¹⁾ Down r. Halling, 4 Bar. & C. 233; 6 D. & R. 455; 2 C. & P. 11, (Chit. j. 1262); post, Chap. XI.

⁽m) 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, s. 9, and 9 Geo. 4, c. 65, s. 4.

⁽¹⁾ Thompson r. Ketcham, S John. Rep. 189. Bacon v. Page, 1 Conn. Rep. 404. Cran-mar v. Harrison, 2 M'Cord's Rep. 246.

{ Gaylord v. Van Loan, 15 Wend. 308; Gordon v. Preston, Wright, 341; McLure v. Longworth, Idem, 582. A note psyable "on demand, with interest after six months," is due presoutly: the "six months" applying to the interest and not to the principal. Rice v. West, 2 Fairf. 323. And a note in a similar form, with the words " on demand" erased, but still legible, was held not to be due until after the lapse of the number of months mentioned. Hobart v. Dodge, 1 Fairf. 156.

(I

Ш

Ш

3

'n

À

J

1 30

ij,

ķ

G d

1 ì

j

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites. these ways becomes due, the reader is referred to that part of the work which treats of the presentment for payment (n).

6thly. Place of Payment.

(6)—It has been laid down, that in all cases the drawer ought to name the place of payment, either in the body or subscription of the bill(o); but this is not essential, and in general the drawer merely subscribes the address to the drawee, without pointing out any place of payment, and then the bill is considered payable and to be presented at the residence of the drawee at the time the bill was made, or to him personally any where (p). But the drawer may prescribe a particular place of payment, and make the payment there part of the contract, as where he intends it to be made at a place where the drawee does not reside(q). So the drawee may fix the place in his acceptance, and which, it is said, is essential, when he is requested, in the body or address of the bill, to pay at a large town, in which case the acceptance should point out a particular house or place there (r). In France and other countries, excepting Great Britain and Ireland, the contract and place of payment may be thus qualified, by any words sufficiently indicating the intention of the parties, as by the drawer's writing in the body of the bill—"Two months after date, at Bourdeaux, pay, &c." or by subscribing after the address of the bill, "Payable at Bourdeaux," or by the drawee's accepting "payable at Monsieur — Rue — Bourdeaux(s);" and in either of these cases the law of the continent renders a presentment and payment at the prescribed place compulsory. In our country also, and | *152 | since the 1 & 2 *Geo. 4, c. 78, a presentment at the place so particularised by any words will always suffice, and it will not be necessary also to present the bill at the residence of the drawee, or to him personally, because a presentment at such place accords with the intention of the parties, and will therefore at least be sufficient(s). Before this act it was considered in this country that such specification by the drawer in the body of the bill of the place of payment, constituted an essential and qualifying part of the contract(t); and we shall presently see that such is still the law in proceedings against the drawer(u).

Enactment of 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, as to Acceptances payable at a particular Place.

But the act 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, intituled An act to regulate acceptances of bills(v), after reciting, that according to law, where a bill is accepted payable at a banker's, the acceptance is not a general but a qualified acceptance, and that a practice had very generally prevailed amongst merchants and traders so to accept bills, and the same have among such persons been very generally considered as bills generally accepted, and accepted without (n) Post, Ch. IX. s. i.

(o) Marius, 107.

(p) 1 Pardess. 354, "Enonciation du lieu du paiement;" and see observations in Mitchell v. Baring, 10 B. & C. 4; Mood. & M. 381; 4 Car. & P 35, (Chit. j. 1454, 1581); post, Ch. 1X. s. i. Presentment.

(q) Beawes, pl. 3; 1 Pardess. 354; Gibb v. Mather, S Bing. 214; S. C., 1 Moore & S. 387; 2 C. & J. 254; post, 152, and Ch. IX. s. i. Presentment.

(r) 1 Pardess. 355. (s) 1 Pardess. 354.

(s) De Bergareche v. Pillin, 3 Bing. 476; 11 Moore, 350, (Chit. j. 1292); Sanderson v. Judge, 2 Hen. Bla. 509, (Chit. j. 545); Ambrose v. Hopwood, 2 Taunt. 61, (Chit. j. 772); Mackintosh v. Haydon, Ry. & Mood. 363, (Chit. j. 1287); Stedman v. Gooch, 1 Esp. Rep. 4, (Chit. j. 508). It is upon this ground that the addition of a place of payment after a general acceptance, though not such as to make it a special acceptance, constitutes a material alteration, and vitiates the bill; see post, s. v. as to Alterations; and see the recent act 2 & 3 Will. 4, c. 98, relating to Protest, post, Ch. X. s. i.

(t) Hodge v. Fillis, 3 Campb. 463, (Chit. j. 900); Roche v. Campbell, 3 Campb. 247, (Chit. j 870); Rowe v. Young, 2 Brod. & B. 165; 2 Bligh's Rep. 391, (Chit. j. 1084).

(u) Infra, note. (v) See Rowe v. Young, 2 Brod. & B. 165; and 2 Bligh's Rep. 391; and Halcomb's report of that case. The conflicting opinions of the judges in that case occasioned this act.

PART I.

.is 900

... 17

- 4

100 24

· [THE 2

1 2

1.3

:

. 4 2

77

1373

· . : 199

黑

. .

- 5

ريا. دين ل^{ين}

211 cz: W

511. 22

. .

. 7°

. n

مَرَا إِ

1 μ.

9

; 2

qualification; and that many persons have been and may be prejudiced and II. Their misled by such practice and understanding, and that persons accepting bills Parts and may relieve themselves from all inconveniences, by giving such notice as Requisites. thereinafter mentioned of their intention to make only a qualified acceptance, then enacte, "that after 1st August, 1821, if any person shall accept a bill, Payment. payable at the house of a banker or other place, without further expression in his acceptance, such acceptance shall be deemed and taken to be to all intents and purposes a general acceptance; but if the acceptor shall, in his acceptance, express that he accepts the bill payable at a banker's house or other place only (w), and not otherwise or elsewhere, such acceptance shall be deemed and taken to be to all intents and purposes a qualified acceptance of such bill, and the acceptor shall not be liable to pay such bill, except in default of payment, when such payment shall have been first duly(x) demanded at such banker's house or other place." This act applies only to acceptances(y); but it has been decided upon it, that although the drawer of a bill has, in the body of it, required payment to be made at a particular place, and the drawee has accepted it pavable there, yet, unless the acceptor has introduced the express terms required in the act, his acceptance is to be considered as general, and that, at least, it is not necessary in an action against him to prove any presentment at the particular place named in the bill, or in his acceptance, or indeed any presentment at all(z). Where, however, the action is against the drawer of a bill so made payable, a presentment at the particular place specified will still be necessary (a).

*Since this act, when it is intended by the drawer that the bill shall be 1 & 2 Geo. payable at a particular place, it is advisable to introduce in the body of the 4. c. 78. bill the particular expression in the statute, as thus, "Two months after [*153] date, pay to my order, at Messrs. —— in Lombard-street, London only, and not otherwise or elsewhere, to A. B. or order - pounds for value received," and to address the bill thus:-" To Messrs. -- Plymouth, payable in London only, and not otherwise or elsewhere;" and the holder should also require the drawee to accept accordingly by writing, "accepted payable at Messrs. —— in Lombard-street, London only, and not otherwise or elsewhere." It is not, however, necessary in order to constitute a special acceptance that the word "only" should be inserted; if a bill be accepted payable at a particular place "and not elsewhere," this is a special acceptance(b). Observing this form, the bill, as against all persons, must be presented at the specified place; though as to the acceptor, it will still be questionable whether, under the concluding terms of the enactment, ("and the acceptor shall not be liable, except in default of payment, when such payment shall have been first duly demanded at such banker's house or other place,") a presentment of the bill when at maturity would be essential, or whether a presentment at any time before the commencement of the action would not suffice (c). Before this statute, but after the decision in Rowe v. Young had established that an acceptance payable at a bank-

⁽w) This word unnecessary; Siggars v. Ni- s. i. Presentment; see Ambrose v. Hopwood, eholls, post, 158, note (b).

(x) See infra; and post, 153, note (c). (y) See Gibb v. Mather, S Bing. 214, 221, infra. (z) Selby v. Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511, (Chit. j. 1297); Fayle v. Bird, 6 Bar. & C. 531; 2 Car. & P. 303; 9 D. & R. 639, ⁽Chit. j. 1329). (a) Gibb v. Mather, 8 Bing. 214; S. C. 1 Moore & S. 887; 2 C. & J. 254; post, Ch. IX:

² Taunt. 61, (Chit. j. 772); Garnett v. Wood-cock, 1 Stark. Rep. 475, (Chit. j. 979, 981); and see Roscoe on Bills, 26. See post, 820, (17).

⁽b) Siggars v Nicholls, Bail Court, H. T. 1839, 3 Jurist, 34.

⁽c) See Roscoe on Bills, 91, referring to Rhodes v. Gent, 5 Bar. & Ald. 244, (Chit. j. 1124).

II. Their Parts and Place of Payment.

er's was a qualified acceptance, where a bill had been accepted payable at Messrs. P. & H., bankers, and it was not presented for payment until sev-Particular Requisites. eral days after it was due, the court, without saying what effect the proof of actual loss sustained by the acceptor, in consequence of an omission to present, would have had, held that he clearly was not exonerated in that case where no injury was proved to have arisen from what had occurred (d). In a case since the act, where the acceptance, payable at a banker's, omitted the words "only, and not otherwise or elsewhere," and the bill was not presented on the day it fell due, and the banker would have paid it had it been then presented, but failed afterwards, and before the presentment, the court held, that as under the act the acceptance was general, no presentment for payment at the banker's was essential as to the acceptor, and he continued liable, though the neglect of the holder occasioned the loss of the mo-

> It has been holden, that when the drawer, on the face of the bill, directs that it is to be paid at his own house, that very circumstance affords presumptive evidence of the bill having been drawn for his accommodation, and that he was to provide for and pay it, so as to dispense with proof of notice of the dishonour, unless he show that he really had effects in the hands of the drawee (f).

Promissory Notes. able at a particular Place. [*154]

In the case of a promissory note (as the statute 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, does not extend to notes) if a particular place of payment be specified in the body when pay- of it, then, when any presentment for payment is essential, it must be made there(g), and the promissory note must be so described *in pleading(h). But if the place of payment be written only at the foot of the note, though proved to have been there before the signatures, it is considered only as a memorandum, and not as forming any part of the contract, so as to qualify it, and no presentment there need be averred or proved(i); and it was even held that to describe in a declaration, a note with such a memorandum at the foot, as in its terms payable at a particular place, is a variance (k); though if the declaration merely state, "that the said drawer made" the note payable at the place, without saying "thereby made," it is not a misdescription of the instrument, and may be rejected as a superfluous allegation(1). In one case it was considered, that if the direction at the foot were printed, it must be considered as part of the note, as it must have been made before or coeval with the signature. But that decision may be considered as overruled(m).

> We shall hereafter find, that if a place be stated in any part of the bill or note, with intent to qualify the contract, and having that effect, it must be so described in pleading (n).

(d) Rhodes v. Gent, 5 B. & Ald. 244. (e) Turner v. Hayden, 4 Bar. & Cres. 1; 6 D. & R. 5; 1 R. & M. 215, (Chit. j. 1246). (f) Sharp v. Bailey, 9 Bar. & Cres. 44; 4

Man. & Ry. 4, (Chit. j. 1416).

(g) Sanderson v. Bowes, 14 East, 500, (Chit. j. 839); Dickinson v. Bowes, 16 East, 110, (Chit. j. 863); Howe v. Bowes, 16 East, 112, (Chit. j. 864); Rowe v. Young, 2 Brod. & Bing. 165; 2 Bligh, Rep. 391, (Chit. j. 1084).

(A) Roche v. Campbell, 3 Campb. 247,

(Chit. j. 870).

(i) Williams v. Waring, 10, Bar. & C. 2, (Chit. j. 1458); Wild v. Rennards, 1 Campb. 245; Callaghan v. Aylett, 2 Campb. 551, (Chit. j. 820, 822); Sanderson v. Judge, 2 Hen. Bla. 509, (Chit. j. 545); Price v. Mitchell.

4 Campb. 200, (Chit. j. 933); Richards v. Lord Milsington, Holt, C. N. P. 364.

(k) Exon v. Russell, 4 Maule & S. 505, (Chit. j. 949); Price v. Mitchell, 4 Campb. 200, (Chit j. 933).

(1) Hardy v. Woodroffe, 2 Stark. Rep 819, (Chit. j. 1020); see Sproule v. Legg, 3 Stark. Rep. 156; 1 B. & C. 16; 2 D. & R. 15, (Chit.

j 1152, 1154).

(m) Trecothick v. Edwin, 1 Stark. Rep. 468, (Chit. j. 979). Sed quare, and see Williams v. Waring, 10 Bar. & C. 2; 5 M. & R. 9, (Chit. j. 1458).
(n) Hardy v. Woodroffe, 2 Stark. Rep. 319,

(Chit. j. 1020); post, Part II. Ch. II. s. iv. Declaration.

PART L

grada d

र हाउलीबी

in 10 081 2.1

; s. 🖢

, 11 21

(1931. 13

(1.18)

F. T. 9

2: 3

. CHI

13 16

-y, 12

of cold

22.33

5, 19

े से

y =12

e fre

الم المراد

::E

317

- 15.5 |a : 3

: 75

()

15 0

ي بن

4 :

للبت

(7)—It is said by Beawes, in his Lex Merc. (0), that payment of a bill II. Their should be ordered and commanded; it is sufficient, however, if it be request- Parts and should be ordered and community, it is summered, it is summer be contained in the body of the bill, or even on the same side of the paper, 7thly. Rebut any deviation from the ordinary form is not recommended (q). We have quest to seen that a bill must contain an order or request to pay as a matter of right, Pay. and not of favour(r), but the word "pay" is not indispensable, for the word "deliver" would be equally operative(s).

(8)—Foreign bills, in general, consist of several parts, in order that the 8thly. Of bearer having lost one may receive his money on the other(t). If a person Parts. has engaged to deliver a foreign bill, it seems that he is bound, on request, to deliver as many parts of it as may be applied for (u); but if the drawer only give one bill, he will, if it should be lost, be obliged to give another of the same date to the loser(x). The several parts of a foreign bill are called a set(1); each part should contain a condition, that it shall be paid, provided the others remain unpaid(y); in other respects all are of the same tenor. This condition should be inserted in each part, and should in each mention every other part of the set, for if a *person, intending to make a set of three [*155] parts, should omit the condition in the first, and make the second with a condition, mentioning the first only, and in the third alone take notice of the other two, he might, perhaps, in some cases be obliged to pay each; for it would be no defence to an action by a ben? fide holder on the second, that he had paid the third, nor to an action on the first, that he had paid either of the others (y). But an omission is not, perhaps, material, which upon the face of the condition must necessarily have arisen from a mistake, as if in the enumeration of the several parts, one of the intermediate parts were to be omitted, for instance, "pay this my first of exchange, second and fourth not paid(z)." Each of the parts, when drawn in Great Britain, must be stamped(a). Where a bill consists of several parts, each ought to be delivered to the payce, unless one be forwarded to the drawee for acceptance, otherwise there may be difficulties in negotiating the bill, or obtaining payment(b). The forgery of the indorsement of the payer on one of the

(o) Pl. 3; and see anie, 180, note (m). (p) Morris v. Lea, Lord Raym. 1397, (Chit. j. 382, 384); ante, 128, note (u): Brown v. Harraden, 4 T. R. 149, (Chit. 470); Ruff v. Webb, 1 Esp. Rep. 129, (Chit. j. 524); but see ante, 130, note (m).

(q) Mar. 11; Brown v. Harraden, 4 T. R. 149, and see Gray v. Milner, 3 Moore, 90; 8 Taunt. 739, (Chit. j. 1052); Rex v. Hunter, Russ & Ry. C. C. 511; post, 16thly, Direction to Drawee.

(r) Ante, 130, note (m); Little r. Slackford v. Mood. & M. 171, (Chit. j. 1395).

(s) Morris r. Lea, Lord Raym, 1397; 8 Mod. 364, (Chit. j. 382, 384); antc, 128, note (u).

(1) Poth. pl. 3).

(u) 1 Pardess, 331. (x) Poth. pl. 39.

(y) 1 Pardess. 861, tit. " Des divers exemplaires d'une lettre de change."

(y) Davison v. Robertson, 3 Dow. 218, 228, (Chit. j. 934); Beawes, 430; Poth. pl. 111; 2 Pard. 367.

(z) Eayl. 5th ed. 28.

(a) Ante, 106.

(b) Bayl. 5th ed. 29. And see per Park, J. in Long v. Smyth, 7 Bing 284, 294; 5 M. & P. 78, S. C. that it is the duty of a person taking one of several parts of a bill to inquire after the others.

But in the case of Downes v. Church, 13 Peter's Rep. 205. It was held that the plaintiff in an action on the second set of a foreign bill of exchange which was protested for non-acceptance, with the protests thereto annexed, can recover without producing the first of the same set, or accounting for its non-production.

^{(1) {} Where the second of a set of three bills of exchange is protested for non-acceptance, and a suit is brought against the indorser, and the plaintiff declares on the first of the set, he is not intitled to recover unless he produces the second of the set, or accounts for its non-production. The defendant may require its production to guard against a subsequent claim by an acceptor su-pra protest. Wells v. Whitehead, 15 Wend. 527.

5

t

t

t

1 ţ

5

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites.

Of several Parts.

parts will not pass any interest even to a bond fide holder, and the real payer may sustain an action on the other part(c).

It is laid down, that unless the drawee has accepted another part of a bill, he may safely pay any part that is presented to him, and that a payment of that part will annul the effect of the others. But that if one of the parts has been accepted, the payment of another unaccepted part will not liberate the acceptor from liability to pay the holder of the accepted part, and such acceptor may therefore refuse to pay the bearer of the unaccepted part, and may compel him, if he suggest that he has lost the accepted part, to find caution or sureties against his liability to pay the accepted part(d). It may therefore be collected that the drawee of a bill drawn in sets should only accept one

In a recent case many points were decided connected with this part of the The drawee (who was also payee) of a foreign bill drawn in three subject(e). parts, accepted and indersed one part to a creditor to remain in his hands until some other security was given for it; and afterwards accepted and indorsed another part for value to a third person. The acceptor substituted another security for the part first accepted, whereupon it was given up to him; and it was held, that under these circumstances the holder of the part secondly accepted was entitled to recover on the bill against the acceptor, and that the bill being foreign, did not require a stamp, though thus, in this country, converted into separate securities; and it was also held by Lord Tenterden, C. J., and Parke, J., that the acceptor would have been liable on the part secondly accepted, even if the first part had been indorsed and circulated unconditionally. In the same case at Nisi Prius, Sir James Scarlett referred to a case in which he had been concerned, and in which it was held that he whom any part of the set is first transferred, acquires a property in all [*156] the other parts, and may maintain trover *even against a bona fide holder, who subsequently, by transfer or otherwise, gets possession of another part of the set(f).

(9)—A bill of exchange and promissory note ought to specify to whom it whom pay- is to be paid(g), and it has been said that otherwise it will be merely waste able, and paper (h); and if a bill or note be contingent or uncertain, as if payable to A. authorizing or to B. and C. is not valid, nor can be sued upon as such by one of the Transfer. payees(i)(1). But Pothier(k) observes, that if the drawer has omitted to > (c) Cheap v. Harley, cited in 3 T. R. 127. Upon this point, see Smith v. Mercer, 6 Taunt. 80; 1 Marsh. 453, (Chit. j. 923); Fuller v. Smith, 1 Car. & P. C. N. P. 197, (Chit. j. 1205).

(d) 1 Pardess. 433.

(e) Holsworth v. Hunter, 10 Bar. & C. 449,

(Chit. j. 1477).
(f) See Perreira v. Jopp, 15 B. & C. 450, note (a).

(g) 1 Pardess. 346, pl. 831—359, "Nom de celui a qui la lettre est payable." It should seem that in France a bill caunot be drawu payable to bearer, id. ibid. S.d vide Poth.

pl. 221, post, 157, note (u).
(h) Per Eyre, C. B. Gibson v. Minet, post, 1 Hen. Bla. 608, (Chit. j. 479). And where a person was indicted for forging a bill of exchange, which was payable to blank or order; it was held there must be a payer, and forging an instrument payable to blank or order was not sufficient; Rex r. Randall, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 195, (Chit. j 838); and so with respect to the forging of an order for payment of money to blank or order; Rex v. Richards, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 193; Mansfield, C. J. diss. and see Lyon's case, 2 Leach, C. C. 597; 2 East, P. C. 933, S. C.; but see ante, 140.

(i) Blackenhagen v. Blundell, 2 B. & Al. 417, (Chit. j. 1054); ante, 140.

(k) Pl. 31; and see Green v. Davies, 4 B. & C. 235; 6 D. & R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251); ante. 139.

⁽¹⁾ Where a promissery note was made payable to A. B. or C. D., it was held to be evidence of a contract with A. B. and C. D. jointly, and that neither could maintain an action upon it separately. Willoughby v. Willoughby, 5 New Hamp. Rep. 244.

PARTL

eal care

11.10

73 Xd

100 K

ecepto , ni ne

no s

To the (*): 0# e de

-

, .33

12.1

(5)(3)

r is I

. ,1

ું પૂર્વી.

2 d [#

5.3 n G

.

js tel : 16

الكايفي

T 186

.

Tiel! 34

e] ;;

17.

12

, Ĺ

d I í, f

ı

mention any person to whom the bill is to be paid, declaring in the bill, II. Their however, from whom he received the value, it is but reasonable to construe Parts and the instrument to be payable to that person. In Great Britain it is now set-Requisites. tled, that if a bill be drawn and negotiated, and a blank left for the name of To whom the payee, a bon's fide holder may fill it up with his own name, and recover payable. against the drawer(l). But in an action against an acceptor, the holder must prove an authority from the drawer for inserting his name as payee, because otherwise the acceptor may not be able to charge the drawer with the value of the bill(m). Care also should be taken that the name be properly spelled, though, if there be a mistake or ambiguity, parol evidence is admissible to show who was intended (n). Where there are two persons of the same name, it is advisable to describe the payee in such a manner that no mistake can arise (o); and if there be father and son of the same names, and it be intended to be payable to the son, he must be so described, because, if the Christian and surname only be stated, it will be intended for the father until the contrary appear, though that may be shown, and the son's being in possession of the instrument, and directing the action, would suffice to prove his ownership (p). However, a misdescription of the character of the payee will not vitiate, provided it can, from the whole instrument, be collected who was the party intended (q). Bills and all other negotiable instruments under 5l. are, by the statute *17 Geo. 3, c. 30(r), to express the names and places [*157] of abode of the persons respectively to whom or to whose order the same shall be payable.

A bill may, in Great Britain, be drawn payable to bearer, and in such case it will be transferable by delivery (s)(1); and a bill or note payable to J. S.

(1) Cratchley v. Clarence, 2 Maule & S. 90, (Chit. j. 895). Action against the defendant as drawer of a bill of exchange. The bill had been drawn on one Henry Mann, and a blank left for the name of the payee; the bill had been negotiated by one Vashon, and indorsed to the plaintiff, who filled up the blank with his own name, and upon the trial a verdict was found for the plaintiff. The court afterwards refused to set aside the verdict, and observed, that as the defendant had chosen to send the bill into the world in this form, the world ought not to be deceived by his acts, and that by leaving the blank, he undertook to be answerable for it when filled up in the shape of a bill; see also Usher v. Dauncey, 4 Campb. 97, (Chit. j. 919); Powell v. Duff, 3 Campb. 182. The issuing of a bill with a blank for the payee's name was expressly prohibited in France, see post, 157, note (x); and the holder by so inserting his own name does not render a fresh stamp necessary; Attwood v. Griffin, Ry. & Mood. 425, (Chit. j. 1305); Penny v. Innes, 1 C. M. & R. 439; 5 Tyr. 107, S. C.; ante, 103, note (m). And see ante, 139, 140.

(m) Crutchley v. Mann, 1 Marsh. 31; 5 Taunt. 529, (Chit. j. 908). And see Attwood v. Griffin, Ryan & Mood. 425, S. P., (Chit. j. 1305); ante, 140.

(n) Beawes, pl. 8; Willis v. Barrett, 2 Stark Rep. 29, (Chit. j. 989); Mead v. Young, 4 T. R. 29.

(o) Mead v. Young, 4 T. R. 28, (Chit. j. 467).

(p) Sweeting v. Fowler, 1 Stark. Rep. 106, (Chit. j. 946).

(q) The King v. Box, 6 Taunt. 325; Russ.

& Ry. C. C. 300, (Chit. j. 941).
(r) This act was made perpetual by the 27
Geo. 3, c. 16, and is now in full force; see 7 Geo. 4, c. 6.

(s) Grant v. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1526, (Chit. j. 365). According to 1 Pardess. 358, bills cannot in France be so payable.

A promissory note cannot be recovered of the maker, unless there has been a delivery of it to the payee. Woodford et ux. v. Darwin, 3 Verm. Rep. 82.

But the law will presume a delivery, unless something appears which does away such prosumption. Ibid.

A note takes effect from its delivery, and not from its date. Ib. See also Camp v. Tompkins, 9 Conn. Rep. 545.

If the payer of a note negotiable by indorsement, transfer it by delivery, without indorse-

⁽¹⁾ A bill of exchange payable to the order of the drawer, and not indorsed, may be assigned, for a valuable consideration, by delivery only; and an action may be sustained against the acceptor in the name of the drawer, as on a bill payable to himself, for the benefit of the assignee. Titcomb v. Thomas, 5 Green! Rep. 292.

Parts and particular Requisites.

To whom Payable.

or "ship Fortune or bearer," is, in legal effect, payable to the bearer, and J. S. is a mere cipher(t). In France, bills of this description were at first forbidden, but by a subsequent law they were established(u). In that country, it appears that it was formerly usual to make bills payable to a person whose name was left in blank, in order that the holder of the bill, when he was desirous of not being known, might fill it up with any name be chose; but as these bills were employed as a cloak for usury and fraud, they were afterwards prohibited (x). These bills seem to have been in the nature of those payable to a fictitious payee, the validity of which has been so frequently and fully discussed of late in our courts of justice: the result of which discussion seems to be, that a bill payable to a fictitious person or his order is in effect a bill payable to bearer, and may he declared on as such, in favour of a bona fide holder ignorant of the fact, against all the parties, know-[*158] ing that the payee was a fictitious person(y). So it *may be proved under a (t) Grant v. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1526, (Chit. j. 865).

(u) Poth. pl. 221; but see 1 Pardess. 358. (x) Arrets de Reglements de la Cour du 7 Juin, 1611, et du Mars, 1624; and see Pardessas Droit Commercial, 1 toin. 352, 358,

(y) Ex parte The Royal Burgh of Scotland, 19 Ves. 311, 312; 2 Rose Bank. Cas. 201, (Chit. j. 927); Hunter v. Jeffery, Peake Rep. Add. 146, (Chit. j. 587). Almost all the modern cases upon this question arose out of the bankruptcy of Livesay and Co. and Gibson and Co., who negotiated bills with fictitious names upon them to the amount of nearly a million sterling a year. See the facts, Peake Rep. Add. 146, 147.

The first case of this nature was that of Stone r. Ireland, at Nisi Prius 1769, cited 1 Hen.

Bla. 316.

The first case in banc. was Tatlock v. Harris, 2 T. R. 174, (Chit. j. 453), in which the Court of K. B. held that the boat file holder for a valuable consideration of a bill drawn payable to a fictitious person, and indorsed in that name by the drawer, might recover the amount of it in an action against the acceptor for money paid or money had and received; upon the idea that there was an appropriation of so much money to be paid to the person who should become the holder of the bill. In Vere v. Lewis, 3 T. R. 192, (Chit. j. 455), (decided the same day,) the court held there was no occasion to prove that the defendant had received any value for the bill, as the mere circumstance of his acceptance was sufficient evidence of this; and three of the judges thought the plaintiff might recover on a count which stated that the bill was drawn payable to bearer; Minet v. Gibson, 3 T. R. 481, (Chit j 460); put this point directly in issue, and the unanimous opinion of the court was, that where the circumstance of the payee being a fictitious person is known to the acceptor, the bill is in effect payable to bearer. Soon after, the coart of C. P. laid down the same doctrine in Collis v. Einmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313, (Chit. j. 461); and that decision was acquiesced in, but Minet r. Gibson was carried up to the House of Lords, 1 Hen. Bla. 569. The opinions of the judges being then given, Eyre, C. B. (p. 598), and Heath, J. (p. 619), were for reversing the judgment of the court below, and Lord Thurlow, C. J. coincided with them (p. 625), but the other judges thinking otherwise, judgment was affirmed; Parl. Cas. Svo. ii. 48.

The last reported case in banc. upon this subject was Gibson v. Hunter, 2 Hen. Bla. 187, 288, (Chit. j. 618); which came before the House of Lords upon a demurrer to evidence; and in which it was held, that in an action on a bill of this sort against the acceptor, to show that he was aware of the payee being fictitious, evidence is admissible of the circumstances under which he had accepted other bills payable to fictitious persons.

In Bennet r. Farnell, 1 Campb. N. P. 130, (Chit. j. 743), Lord Ellenborough, C. J. held that a bill of exchange unde payable to a ficti-tious person or his order, is neither in effect payable to the order of the drawar nor to bearer, but is completely roid; though if money paid by the holder of such a bill as the consideration for its being indorsed to him actually gets into the hands of the acceptor, it may be recovered back as money had and received.

But from a subsequent observation (1 Campb. 180 c.) it appears that the last case is to be tak-ment, the party to whom the transfer is made may bring an action in the name of the payee. Myers v. James, 2 Bai. 547. So also in the case of a delivery without indorsement, or other assignment in writing, of an unnegotiable note. Horton v. Blair, Idem, 545.

In an action upon a note payable to bearer, the possession of the plaintiff is prima facts evidence of assignment and delivery by the payee. And it is unnecessary to prove consideration unless it appears that the note was lost, stolen, or otherwise forcibly or fraudulently obtained from the real owner. Jackson r. Heath, 1 Bai. 355. And the holder of such a note may see in his own name although it was delivered to him for the use of another. Ibid.

Delivery is essential to the validity of a note. Chamberlain v. Hoffs, 8 Verm. 94. }

PART L

, ame : 70% 57.283

11370 (5 XIII . 11 X. 19

ु ्राष्ट्री ag 🦸 🏋

, M , 12 Z 2.18 y ₹ 14

No. 113 . 11 . 93

-,-0 . 95. 12. 2.2

القرب. 14 1 - 50 لأزيق

135 - 11 190 \mathbb{R}^{1}

130 ્તું # જુ≉

ę P

was tried submitted the case to the considera-

Digitized by Google

commission against the indorser, or of the prior parties privy to the fictitious II. Their transactions(z). But if the plaintiff himself, at the time he received such a Parts and bill, knew of the payee being fictitious, and discounted the bill for the benefit Requisites.

of the drawer, he cannot recover against the acceptor, although he also ac- To whom cepted with full knowledge of the fact; and Lord Kenyon said, "though payable. now it is too well settled to be disputed, that a bonû fide holder might recover on such a bill as on a bill payable to bearer, yet a plaintiff so aware of the fact cannot recover (a)(1).

Where a bill is drawn in the name of a fictitious person, payable to the order of the drawer, the acceptor is considered as undertaking to pay to the order of the person who signed as the drawer, and therefore a bona fide indorsee may bring evidence to show that the signatures of the supposed drawer to the bill and to the first indorsement are in the same handwriting (b). The use of these fictitious names has been highly censured, and the person fraudulently indorsing the fictitious name on the bill, to give it currency, would be guilty of forgery(c); and as being debts not necessarily incurred, the party would not, in certain cases, be entitled to his discharge under the

Insolvent Act within five years. As it is not necessary or essential to the validity of a bill of exchange that there should be three parties to it, a bill may be drawn payable to the drawer himself(d), though in such case it is said to be more in the nature of en with this qualification "unless it can be shown that the circumstance of the payee being a fictitious person was known to the acceptor." A new trial was refused in this case, because no such evidence had been offered at Nisi Prius, and Lord Ellenborough said, he conceived himself bound by Minet v. Gibson, and the other cases upon this subject, which had been carried up to the House of Lords (though by no means disposed to give them any extension), and that if it had appeared that the defendant knew the payee to be a fictitious person, he should have directed the jury to find for the plaintiff. See also Ex parte Allen, Co. B. L. 184; Ex parte Clarke, 3 Bro. C. C. 238, (Chit. j. 493); Parl. Cas. 8vo. 9th vol. 235, 255; Cullen, 98; 1 Mont. B. L. 145; Bayl. 5th ed. 31, 32, 33; Selw. 9th ed. 319; Thicknesse v.

Browilow, 2 C. & J. 425.

(z) Ex parte Clarke, 3 Bro. C. C. 233; 19 Ves. 211.

(a) Hunter v. Jeffery, Peake Rep. Add. 146, (Chit. j. 587)

(b) Cooper v. Meyer and another, 10 Bar. & C. 468, (Chit. j. 1480).
(c) The King v. Edward Taft, Leach Cro.
Law, 172: The King v. Taylor, id. 257, and note (a); Tatlock v. Harris, 3 T. R. 174, (Chit. j. 453); Vere v. Lewis, 3 T. R. 182, (Chit. j. 455), Minet r. Gibson, 3 T. R. 482, (Chit. j. 460); Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313, (Chit. j. 461); Gibson v. Minet, 1 H. Bla. 569, (Chit. j. 479); 2 East's P. C. 957. Rex v. Edward Taft, Leach Cro. Law, 172, (Chit. j. 500). The prisoner was indicted for forging an indorsement on a bill of exchange, and found guilty, but the judge before whom he tion of the judges upon the following statement: -The bill was drawn payable to Messrs. R. & M. and indorsed by them generally, and became the property of one W. W. from whom it had been stolen; the prisoner, for the purpose of getting it discounted, indorsed on it the name of John Williams. The judges were unanimously of opinion that this was a forgery, for although the fictitious signature was not necessary to his obtaining the money, yet it was a fraud both on the owner of the bill and the person who discounted it, and referred to Rex r. Locket, where it was holden that the forging a name, either real or fictitious, with an intent to defraud, was forgery; and see the King v. Inhabitants of Burton-upon-Trent, 3 Mau. & S. 528, where Lord Ellenborough said, if a party sign an instrument in a name assumed by him for other purposes a considerable time before, such signature will not amount to a forgery; but otherwise, if he assume a name by which he had never been known before, for the purposes of fraud. In Rex v. Bontin, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 260, it was held, that to support a charge of forgery by subscribing a fictitious name, there must be satisfactory evidence on the part of the prosecutor that it is not the party's real name, and that it was assumed for the purpose of fraud in that instance—that the assuming and using a fictitious name, though for purposes of concealment and fraud, would not amount to forgery, if it were not for that very fraud, or system of fraud, of which the forgery forms a part. And see further 3 Chit. Crim. Law, 2d.

ed. 1036, and post, Part III. c. 1, Forgery. (d) Butler v. Cripps, 1 Salk. 130; and v. Ormston, 10 Mod. 286; ante, 24, 25.

(1) $\{$ If the maker of a note make it payable to a fictitious person, and puts it in circulation with the fictitious name written on it; or if he makes it payable to a real person and forge the indorsement or procure it to be done, and then put it in circulation, he is estopped from saying that it was not genuine. Fort ads. Meacher. Rileys Law Cases, 248. See Meacher v. Fort, 3 Hills Rep. (So. Car.) 227.

0

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites. 10thly.

To whom payable. [*159]

Bearer.

a promissory note. A bill payable to the drawer's order is payable to himself, if he makes no order(e). A bill may also be payable to one for the use of another, in which case it is payable to the former (f). When drawn payable to a married woman, it is payable to the *husband, and transferable in his name; or sometimes in the name of the wife (f).

(10)—As the commercial advantage to be derived from the negotiable Payable to quality of bills of exchange, was the only reason why our courts allowed in Order or to their favour an exception to the rule relative to the assignment of choses in action, it was once thought, that unless they possessed that quality, they would have no greater effect than that of being mere evidence of a contract(g). And this is still the law in France(h). But it is now well established in Great Britain, that it is not essential to the validity of a bill, as an instrument, that it be transferable from one person to another (i)(1).

v. M'Clure, 5 East, 476.

(f) Evans v. Cramlinton, Carth. 5; 2 Vent. 807; Skin. 264, (Chit. j. 174); Smith v. Kendall, 6 T. R. 123, (Chit. j. 533); Marchington v. Vernon, 1 Bos. & Pul. 101, n. (c).

(f) Ante, 25.

(g) Dawkes v. Lord de Loraine, 3 Wils. 211, (Chit. j. 382, 384).

(h) 1 Pardess 346, 358. 359. But any equivalent words will suffice, as, Pay to A B. ou à sa disposition, this bill is indorsable; 1 Pardess, 360, 361.

(i) Smith v. Kendall, 6 T. R. 123, 124, (Chit. j. 533). The King v. Box, 6 Taunt. 828; Russ. & Ry. C. C. 800, (Chit. 941); Smallwood v. Rolfe, Sel. Ca. 18; Bayl. 5th edit. 33, 34.

Smith v. Kendall, 6 T. R. 123; 1 Esp. R. 231, (Chit. j. 588). Assumpsit for money

(e) Per Holt, C. J. Anon. Comb. 401; Smith paid, &c. On the trial the following note was M'Clure, 5 East, 476. given in evidence: "Three months after date I promise to pay to Mr. Smith, currier, 401. value received, in trust for Mrs. E. Thompson, as witness my hand, L. Asken, 25th June, 1787." The defendant objected that this was not a promissory note within the statute, not being payable either to order or bearer. A verdict was taken for the defendant with leave for plaintiff to move to set it aside and enter a verdict for him. Upon motion being made and cause shown, the court held that a note payable to B. without adding " or to his order, or to bearer," was a legal note within the act of parliament; S. P. Burchell v. Slocock, Lord Raym. 1545, (Chit. j. 267); Moore v. Paine, Rep. Temp. Hardw. 288, (Chit. j 202); and see the Entries, Ewers v Benchin, 1 Lutw. 231, 232, (Chit j. 179); Manning v. Cary, id. 277, (Chit. j. 194); Clift. 916.

(1) The same principle has been recognized in the United States, Downing v. Backenstoes, 1 8 Caines' Rep. 137. Goshen Turnpike Co. v. Hurtin, 9 John. Rep. 217.

A request to pay the amount of a promissory note, written underneath the same, without words of negotiability, is operative as a bill of exchange; and the drawee is liable on his acceptance. Leonard v. Mason, 1 Wend 522.

As between indorser and indorses a note not negotiable is, in Massachusetts, treated exactly as if negotiable. Jones v. Fales, 4 Mass. Rep. 245.

In South Carolina an assignment of a chose in action not negotiable has always been considered as a letter of attorney to the assignce; and the assignce or holder of a negotiable instrument may, therefore, elect to regard himself in that character, or sue in his own name. Ware r. Key, 2 M'Cord, 873.

If the payee of a note payable to himself or bearer indorse it, he will be liable as indorser. Bush v. Adm. of Reeves, 3 John. Rep. 439.

And it has been held that the contract made by indorsement extends to all future indorsees, even where the notes are not originally negotiable; and an action lies in favor of an indersee against a remote indorser. Codwise r. Gleason, 3 Day's Rep. 12.

A bank note payable to W. Pitt, or bearer, is in effect payable to the bearer; as between any bona fide holder, and the bank, such holder is to be deemed the bearer to whom the bank is originally liable. Bullard v. Bell, 1 Mason's Rep. 252.

At common law, and by the custom of merchants, no bills are negotiable unless payable to order or to bearer. The drawer of an unnegotiable bill is not liable on the indorsement to the indorsee or assignee. Pratt v. Thomas, 2 Hill, 654.

A bill of exchange is negotiable till it is paid; and each party, who has used due diligence, may resort to all or any of the preceding parties, in case of protest. Gazzam v. Armstrong's ex'r., 3 Dana, 554.

The words " or order," or words tantamount, are necessary to make a note negotiable. Fennon v. Farmer, 1 Har. Del. Rep. 32.

An indorsement on the back of a promissory note, making its payment depend on a contigency, does not affect its negotiability. Its only effect is to give notice of the consideration to subsequent holders. Tappan v. Ely, 15 Wend. 862.

FART L

. . . 3 1: F

. 🤈

10.7.248

n. gi 1

7. 3

1.12

: _ #

1

i e e

: 2° 12

(2) gr. (3) gr. 1 (3) gr. 1 (3) gr. 1 (4) gr.

417 (2]6 (4)

1.51 [F

جُهُ ا

×35

gur g$10

1.1

1

P |

ď

. 1

. 3

۱.,

If, however, it be intended to be negotiable, care must be taken that the II. Their operative words of transfer, commonly used in bills, or some words equiva- Parts and lent, be inserted therein(k), though if they be omitted by mistake, it seems Requisites. that if the bill was originally intended to be negotiable, the words "or order" Sum Paysmay be inserted at any time without a fresh stamp(l). In Scotland, the ble. words "or order" are not necessary in that country; and a bill or note may be effectually indorsed by the payee without them (m). The modes of making a bill transferable, are by drawing it either payable to A. B. or order, or to \hat{A} . \hat{B} or bearer, or to the drawer's own order, or to bearer generally. But any terms expressing the intent will render the bill negotiable (n). use, operation, and effect of each of these forms of words will be pointed out hereafter in that part of the work which treats of the transfer of bills and checks.

(11)—The sum for which the bill is drawn should be clearly expressed in 11thly. the body of it, and, as it has been before observed, it may be advisable to Sam Payawrite it in figures at the head, and in words at length in the body of the bill, in order the better to prevent alteration(o). Erasure may in general be de-

(k) Beawes, pl. 3; Selw. N. P. 319, 9th post. edit.; Hill v. Lewis, Salk. 183, (Chit. j. 187, 188, 189).

(m) Thompson on Bills, 101.

(n) 1 Pardess. 360, 361.

(o) Poth. pl. 35, 99; Master v. Miller, 4 T. (1) Kershaw v. Cox, 3 Esp. Rep. 246, (Chit. j. 629); Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 435, 437, R. 320, (Chit. j. 482, 490); ante, 149; 1 Par-(Chit. j. 671); Cole r. Parkin, 12 East, 471; dess. 346, 350.

A promissory note payable in cash or specific articles, is not negotiable. Matthews v. Houghton. 2 Fairf. 377.

Bills are transferable, not by force of any statute, but by the custom of merchants. A deed conveying a great number of bills, bonds, notes, &c. is not a negotiation of the bills on mercantile principles, so us to authorize the holder to sue in his own name. Hopkirk v. Page, 2 Brock. 20.

A note made and endorsed for the accommodation of the maker, to be discounted at a bank, where its discount is refused, cannot be transferred as a business note, to one having knowledge of the facts, and the amount recovered of the indorser. Stone v. Vance, 6 Ham. 249.

Where a note has been once paid, it ceases to be negotiable, except as against those by whom a new indorsement has been made, and such parties as are not prejudiced by the transfer. Cochran v. Wheeler, 7 N. Hamp. 202.

A mere order drawn by a third person on C. "to pay to the order of A. when in funds, the net amount of sales" of certain goods, is not a negotiable instrument. Jackson v. Tilghman, 1

In Ohio, by statute, notes for money made payable to any person or to bearer, are negotiable, and the title may pass by indorsement. Fallis v. Griffith, Wright, 303.

In Mandeville v. Union Bank, 9 Cranch, 11, Chief Justice Marshall said, "By making a note negotiable at a particular bank, the maker authorizes the bank to advance, on his credit, to the owner of the note, the sum expressed on its face." Ibid.

A note payable to bearer is negotiable by delivery and this creates a property in the assignes or bearer. And the same rule obtains in regard to a check on a bank. Hutchings v. Low, 1 Green's Rep. 246.

A note for money "which may be discharged by the delivery of cotton," is not a negotiable instrument, and the indorser or assignor of such instrument is not liable upon his indorsement. Lawrence v. Doherty & Gwin, 5 Yerger's Rep. 435.

A note payable in North Carolina bank notes is negotiable, and the indorser is liable for the specie value of such notes. Deberry v. Darnel, 5 Yerger's Rep. 451.

The negotiability of a promissory note made in that form, is not restrained or in any manner altered, by the circumstance of its being paraphed ne varietur by a notary public. Abat v. Gormley et al., 3 Miller's Louisiana Rep. 239.

A note given in part payment of a contract for erecting certain buildings secured by a mortgage on the ground, is negotiable and it is no defence against it, either in the hands of the original or subsequent holder, that the buildings were not completed according to contract. Chalaron v. Vance, 7 Louisiana Rep. 571.

The paraph of the notary ne varietur on a negotiable note, does not in any manner change the mature of its negotiability. Ibid.

Where a note is made 'payable and negotiable' at a bank, its negotiability is not restricted to the place where it is made payable. Wardell v. Hughes, 8 Wend. Rep. 418.

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites. Sum payable. [*160]

tected, but there are modes of expunging writing and figures and of inserting larger sums, so that a drawee, before he accepts or pays, must be quite certain not only that the drawer signed the bill, but also that he originally authorized the payment of the sum apparently named on the bill; and if he should accept for or pay more than the sum inserted by the drawer, he may *be without remedy(p). But even in an indictment for forgery an omission or imperfection in the body of the bill has been aided by the superscription(q). Care should be taken that the stamp be appropriated to the sum. If the sum in the superscription of the bill be different from that in the body of it, the sum mentioned in the body will be taken prima facie to be the sum paya-The sum must be fixed and certain, and not contingent(s). It may be the money of any country (t). When there has been a contract by a third person to guarantee a bill for a given sum the bill should be drawn accordingly, for if it be drawn for a larger sum the guarantee will not be liable even to the amount of the sum he engaged to secure (u). With respect to foreign bills there is no restriction as to the amount of the sum for which they may be made payable; but it is otherwise with regard to inland bills and drafts, which are forbidden to be drawn for any sum under twenty shillings by the statute 48 Geo. 3, c. 88(x), under the penalty of 51. to 201., such bill, &c. being also thereby declared absolutely void; and bills under 51. are regulated by 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, and 9 Geo. 4, c. 65(y). And the amount of promissory notes is, as we shall hereafter see, also regulated. The currency and monies of Great Britain and Ireland are assimilated by 6 Geo. 4, c. 79.

the words ceived.

(12)—It appears that in France it was not only essential to the validity of a bill that it should express whether or not value had been received, but like-Value Re- wise the nature of the consideration which constituted the value (z), but in this country it is otherwise, for value received is implied in every bill and indorsement, as much as if expressed in totideum verbis(a); and though when the Coal Act, 3 Geo. 2, c. 26, s. 7 & 8, now repealed, was in force, the refusal to insert in a note the words "value received in coals," subjected the buyer to 101. penalty, yet it was held that the note was valid notwithstanding the omission (b); and though there are some old cases (c) on the question whether indebitatus assumpsit would lie on a bill of exchange, in which it

> (p) Hall v. Fuller, 6 Bar. & Cres. 750; 8 D. & R. 464, (Chit. j. 1294); Bulkley v. Butler, 2 B. & C. 434; post, 166, note(r).
> (q) Elliot's case, 2 East P. C. 951; ante,

(r) Beawes, pl. 193; Mar. 2d ed. 139, 189; Saunderson v. Piper, 5 Bing. N. C. 425; 7 Scott, 408, S. C.; ante, 149.
(s) Smith r. Nightingale, 2 Stark. 375, (Chit.

j. 1030); ante, 133, note (l).

(t) 2 Pardess. Lettres de Change, 336. (u) Phillips v. Astling, 2 Taunt. 206, (Chit.

(x) Repealing the 5 Geo. 3, c. 51. The act gives magistrates summary jurisdiction over the offender.

(y) See ante, 150. (z) Poth. pl. 8, 84; 1 Pardess. 346, 355, La Valeur fournie et la designation, of the NATURE of the value, id. ibid.

(a) Per Lord Ellenborough, in Grant v. Da Costa, 3 Maule & S. 352, (Chit. j. 920); White v. Sedgwick, B. R. Hil. 25 Geo. 3, 4 Dougl. 247; Bayl. 40, note 83. A declaration on a bill of exchange was demurred to because it was not stated to have been given for value received, but the court said it was a settled point that it was not necessary, and gave judgment for the plaintiff; Popplewell v. Wilson, 1 Stra. 264, (Chit. j. 243); Claxton v. Swift, 2 Show. 496. (Chit. j. 467); Macleod v. Snee, Ld. Raym. 1481, (Chit. j. 259); Joeelyn v. Laserra, Fortes. 282, (Chit. j. 283); Jenny v. Hearle, 8 Mod. 267, (Chit. j. 258, 254); Everkin v. Merry, 1 Barn. 88, (Chit. j. 268); Death v. Serwonters, Lutw. 88, 89, (Chit. j. 167), acc.; Dawkes v. Lord de Loraine, 3 Wils. 212, (Chit. j. 382, 384); Banbury v. Lisset, 2 Stra. 1212, (Chit. j. 310), semble contra. In the latter case it is said that a jury of inerchants were of opinion that the words "value received" were essential to the validity of a bill of exchange; 2 Bla. Com. 468.

(b) Wigan v. Fowler and others, 1 Stark. R.

468, (Chit. j. 977).

(c) Hodges v. Steward, Skin. 846, (Chit. j. 184); Anonymous, 12 Med. 845, (Chit. j. 212). 2000

1.72

....

_ 1

. . . 2

. . . . . . \

. • t *

128 31

g ... 3

ु -भा

1:5

71C

40.

7.7

. .

, L

.

4:2

. 141

.....

7 شروب

.;·$

مين الم

di

100

.71

1 4E

wi. , **'

, 17

j~•(

j 117 (1457 (1477)

110

e .

-10

appears there was a distinction made between a bill importing to have been II. Their given for value received, and one not containing those words, and it was Parts and holden, that in the first case the drawer was chargeable at common law, but Requisites in the latter on the custom only (d); yet it is now settled that *there is no such [*161]distinction and that a bill need not contain the above words (d).

If a bill or note contain the words "value received," an action of debt of the may be sustained by the drawer against the acceptor of the one, or the words valpayee or immediate indorsee against the maker of the other(e); though not ed. by an indorsee against the acceptor, or by a remote indorsee against the maker, by reason of the want of privity between the respective parties (f). And in a late case, Abbott, C. J. said, "I agree that when a note is expressed to be 'value received,' that raises a presumption of a legal consideration to sustain the promise, though that is only a presumption which may be rebutted" (g)(1). So when a sufficient value is expressed on the face of a bill or note it has been doubted whether the accepter or maker can give evidence that the consideration was different, unless such evidence tends to establish fraud or illegality (h).

These distinctions render it advisable in all cases to insert these words in a bill or note. It is said to have been decided, that to aid a variance, the words may be inserted at the time of the trial(i), but the utility of such amendment seems very questionable; and in a late case, where the note stated the consideration, and the declaration omitted to state such consideration, it was held no variance (k). It has been considered that when a bill is in this form, "Pay to F. G. B. or order, 315l. value received," and is subscribed by the drawer, it may be alleged in pleading to be a bill for value received by the drawer from the payee (l). But in a subsequent case, where a bill was drawn by T. S. payable to his own order, "value received," it was held that this must mean value received by the drawce, and as it had been alleged in the declaration to be "for value received by the said T. S." it was adjudged to be a fatal variance, though the plaintiff was permitted to recover on the account stated(m). So in general the words "value received," in a note, import "received from the payer(n)." But the (d) Beawes, pl. 233; Cramlington r. Evans, 1 Show. 5, (Chit. j. 174); Vin. Ab. tit. "Bills of Exchange," G. 2.

(d) Same cases as ante, 160, note (a).
(e) Bishop v. Young, 2 Bos. & Pul. 78, 81,
(Chit. j. 621); Priddey v. Henbrey, 3 Dow. & Ry. 165; 1 B. & C. 674, (Chit. j. 1179); and see Cresswell v. Crisp, 2 C. & M. 634; 2 Dowl. 635, S. C.; Lyons v. Cohen, S Dowl. 243; post, Part II. Ch. VII. Of the action of Debt. (f) Cloves v. Williams, 3 Bing. N. C. 868; 5 Scott, 68, S. C., and the cases in last note.

(g) Holliday v. Atkinson, 5 Bar. & Cres. 508; 8 D. & R. 163, (Chit. j. 1290); ante, 74, note (x). (h) Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. R. 88; 1 C. & J. 231, S. C.; (Chit. j. 1518), ante, 69, n.

(i) Bul. Ni. Pri. 275.

(k) Coombs v. Ingram, 4 Dow. & Ry. 211, (Chit. j. 1206); Grant v. Da Costa, 3 Maule & 8. 351; infra, note (l).

(1) Grant v. Da Costa, 3 Maule & S. 851, (Chit. j. 920). Per Lord Ellenborough, "It appears to me that 'value received' is capable of two interpretations, but the more natural one is that the party who draws the bill should inform the drawee of a fact which he does not know than one of which he must be well aware. words, ' value received' are not at all material, they might be wholly omitted in the declaration, and there are several cases to that effect. The meaning of them here is that the drawer informs the drawce that he draws upon him in favour of the payee because he has received value of such payee. To tell him that he draws upon him because he the drawee has value in his hands is to tell him nothing, therefore the first is the more probable interpretation." And per Bayley, J. "The object of inserting the words 'value received' is to show that it is not an accommodation bill but made on a valuable consideration given for it by the payee;" and see Coombs v. Ingram, 4 Dow. &. Ry. 211, (Chit. j. 1206).

(m) Highmore v. Primrose, 5 Maule & S. 65, (Chit. j. 956). See other cases, post, tit. Declaration.

(n) Clayton v. Gosling, 5 Bar. & Cres. 360; 8 D. & R. 110, (Chit. j. 1287).

^{(1) {} Raymond r. Sellick, 10 Conn. Rep. 480. }

II. Their Parts and particular Requisites.

words "value received with interest," occurring in an instrument which is not negotiable, as a promissory note or bill of exchange not payable at all events, but on a contingency, do not of themselves import a money consideration, so as to satisfy an averment that money was lent by plaintiffs to defendant; and an instrument by which money is made payable on a contingency can-[*162] not be given in evidence as a *promissory note on the counts for money lent or on the account stated, though sued on between the original parties, and expressing value to have been received(o). So in a subsequent case it was observed that, if instead of a note a creditor take a written security, which must express a consideration, that consideration must nevertheless be proved to exist aliunde(p).

18thly. The Direction to place it to Account.

(13)—It is said by Marius that if the drawer of a bill is himself to be the debtor then he inserts in the bill these words:—" and put it to my account(o)" but if the drawee, or person to whom it is directed, be debtor to the drawer then he inserts the following words:--" and put to your account;"(p) and that sometimes where a third person is debtor to the drawee it is expressed in the bill thus:—"and put it to the account of A. B.(q)." It is, however, perfectly unnecessary to insert in a bill any of these words. In a late case, under the following special circumstances, these words were held unnecessary:—A. and B. merchants in London, being applied to on behalf of C. resident at Demarara, to give him a letter of credit for 30,000l. to enable him to purchase produce to load certain vessels for the port of London, and to accept his drafts at ninety days sight on receiving invoice, bill of lading, and order for insurance to the extent of certain fixed prices for various kinds of produce, wrote to C. stating they consented to make the advances required upon the terms prescribed, and that upon receiving the documents before mentioned and no irregularity appearing, they would accept his draft at the usual date to the extent of 30,000l. C. shipped produce to the value of 800l. on board of one vessel, and to the value of 1600l. on board another, and sent the necessary documents to A. and B., and directed that the surplus of the proceeds of the first cargo, (after repaying the advances of A. and B.) should be paid to D. in London, and that the surplus of the second cargo should be held by them to abide his future advice. C. afterwards drew a bill upon A. and B. for 500l. at six months sight, which they refused to accept, C. not specifying to the account of which cargo it was to be charged. In an action by C. for this refusal to accept, it was held C. was not bound to draw at ninety days, but might draw at any usual date, the jury not having found that six months was an unusual date; and secondly, that C. was not bound to specify to which cargo the bill was to be charged; for that in the absence of any direction by him, A. and B. might charge it to either at their election (r).

14thly. Of the Words vice (s).

(14)—The propriety of inserting the words, "as per advice," depends as per Ad- on the question whether or not the person on whom the bill is drawn is to expect further direction from the drawer. Bills are sometimes made payable "as per advice;" at other times, "without further advice(t); and generally, at least in inland bills, without any of these words. In the former 5; Thomas v. Bishop, R. T. Hardw. 1, 2, 3, (Chit. j. 277, 278, 279).

(r) Laing v. [Barclay, 1 B. & C. 392; 2 D. & R. 530; 3 Stark. 38, (Chit. j. 1170).

(s) Sec post, 166. (t) Poth. pl. 36, 169.

⁽o) Morgan v. Jones, 1 Tyrw. R. 21, (Chit. j. 1515).

⁽p) Per Bayley, J. in Ridout v. Bristow, 1 Tyrw. Rep. 88; 1 Crompt. & Jervis, 231, (Chit. j. 1518); and ante, 69, note (k). (q) Mar. 27; Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, F.

PM1 1

201330 in con

11.58

一次に関

1 331

2.727.5 (get

177. 1

UXX

(6 11) E le lidi

 $a\in {\bf I}$

J 1785

b. ( e sitti

114 1

200

11:14 小说

UBAR.

11.42 13.

1636

11.18

ندر مار مار

e i

120

1.63

1 12

غالان

84

325

J.B

^j*

case, the drawee may not, but in the latter he may pay before he has re- II. Their ceived advice. Every prudent drawer ought to send a distinct letter of ad- Parts and vice, as well to prevent fraud as alteration of the bill, or otherwise to let the Requisites. drawee know what provision has been made for payment of the bill(u). And no prudent drawee should *accept without previous advice, stating the sum, [*163] &c. for which the bill is drawn; and if the bill denotes that the drawee is to have advice, then, at all events, he should not accept till he has received it(v).

(15)—To give effect to the bill, &c. the drawer's name must either be 15thly. subscribed, or inserted in the body of it, but the latter will suffice (x). may be in writing or pencil(y), and it must be written either by the person purporting to be the drawer, or by some person authorised by him(z). In the case of the Bank of England, the name of their clerk may be impressed by machinery, by 1 Geo. 4, c. 92, s. 3. We have already seen how an agent should draw a bill(a). If drawn and signed by an agent, it is usual to sign it as follows:—"A. B. (the principal), per procuration, C. D." (the 'agent), and if he do not express for whom he signs, he may be personally We have also seen how a partner should draw(c). If signed by one person for himself and partners, it is usual and advisable to subscribe the name of the firm, or at least to sign it as follows:—" A. B. for A. B. and Company," or to that effect(d); but it is sufficient if it purport in any way to have been signed on behalf of the firm(e). Where there is no firm, and there are to be several persons as drawers of a bill, or makers of a note, we have seen each must separately sign (f). And a note signed "A. B.," or else "C. D.," is not binding on a party who does not sign(g). If a bill purport to be drawn in the name of a firm as consisting of several persons, in an action by the indorsee against the acceptor, the declaration may aver in the plural, that certain persons using that firm drew the bill, although, in (u) 1 Pardem. 382, 883.

(v) 1 Pardess. 478.

(x) Beawes, pl. 3; Elliott v. Cooper, Lord Raym. 1876; 1 Stra. 609; 8 Mod. 807, (Chit. j. 255); Erskine v. Murray, Lord Raym. 1542; Taylor v. Dobbins, 1 Stra. 399.

Elliott v. Cooper, Stra. 609; Ld. Raym. 1876; 8 Mod. 807, (Chit. j. 255). It was objected on demurrer to a declaration on a note, that it alleged only that the defendant made it, but did not state that he signed it; but, by the court, "if he did not either write or sign, he did not make it, for making implies signing, and making is alleged." Judgment for plaintiff.

Erskine v. Murray, Lord Raym. 1542, (Chit. j. 268). In an action on a bill, it was alleged that the plaintiff made his bill in writing, and thereby required the defendant to pay. It was objected on error, that it did not appear that the plaintiff signed the bill; but it was answered that the allegation that he made it, and required the defendant to pay, implied that his name was in it (otherwise he could not request) and that he or somebody wrote it for him. Judgment for the plaintiff was affirmed.

Taylor v. Dobbins, 1 Stra. 899, (Chit. j. 248). Per cur. If the defendant wrote it, his sub-scription to it was unnecessary; it is sufficient if his name appeared in any part. "I, J. S. promise to pay" is as good as "I promise to pay" subscribed "J. S." See also Saunderson v. Jackson, 2 Bos. & Pul. 238. The same in a contract under the Statute of Frauds, Knight v. Crockford, 1 Esp. 90; Ogilvie v. Foljambe, 3 Mer. 53. So in a will, Lewarque v. Stanley, 8 Lev. 1, 86. Signature by mark suffices, Phillimore v. Baring, 1 Camp. 513, and the name of the drawer might be printed; Schneider v. Norris, 2 Mau. & Sel. 286; Saunderson v. Jackson, 2 Bos. & P. 239.

(y) Ante, 127, note (b).

(z) Ante, 27.

(a) Ante, 32.
(b) Thomas v. Bishop, Stra. 955, (Chit. j. 277); Enton v. Bell, 5 B. & Al. 34, (Chit. j. 1115); ante, 38, 34.

(c) Ante, 57.

- (d) Smith v. Jarvis, Lord Raym. 1484, (Chit. j. 265). The declaration upon a note drawn by Jarves and Bailey stated, that Jarves, for himself and partner, made his note in writing with his own hand subscribed, whereby he promised for himself and partner to pay. It was objected on demurrer, that it was not charged that Jarves had signed the note for himself and Bailey, but the Court held the statement showed that Jarvas did sign for himself and Bailey, and gave the plaintiff judgment; ante, 57, 58,
 - (e) Ante, 58, 59.

(f) Ante, 59.

(g) Ferris v. Bond, 4 Bar. & Ald. 679, (Chit. j. 1110); ante, 140, pote (e).

II. Their Parts and particular point of fact, the bill were drawn by a single person using the name of that firm(h); and where money was deposited in the Bank of England in the Requisites. names of three assignees, it was ordered by the Chancellor to be paid to the [*164] *checks of the two(i). The clerk of the Bank of England, or of any other corporation, when he has authority in fact to sign, need not have a power under the corporate seal(k).

> It is not usual, nor indeed prudent, for the drawer of a bill or check to sign his name before it is filled up in every respect; for if a person sign his name upon blank paper, stamped with a bill stamp, and deliver it to another to draw above the signature, he will be liable, as drawer, to pay a bona fide holder, any sum warranted by the stamp(l).

By the 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, bills and drafts or other negotiable instruments under 51., or on which less than 51. remains due, cannot be issued, unless they specify the names and places of abode of the persons respectively to whom or to whose order they be payable, and the signing of every such bill must be attested by one subscribing witness at the least(m).

16thly. Direction to the Drawee.

(16)—A bill of exchange, being in its nature an open letter of request from the maker to a third person, should regularly be properly addressed to that person by the Christian and surname, or by the full style of their firm(n). It should not be addressed to the drawer's wife, or to a fictitious person(o). And no one can be made liable as the acceptor of a bill but the person to whom it is addressed, unless he be an acceptor for honour(p). But if a bill be drawn payable to the order of the drawer at a particular place, without being addressed to any person, and a party afterwards accepts it, the want of the address of the bill to any particular party by name is cured(q). If addressed to the drawer himself, he may be sued as drawer or acceptor, or as maker of a note(r). The address of the bill, it is said, is usually made by the Italians and Dutch on the back of the bill, but the French and the English uniformly subscribe the direction in the form to which this paragraph refers; and this latter mode is reccommended as preferable to the other, because, as the paper on which a bill is usually written is but small, if the direction were on the back of it, there would be very little room left for indorsements, which frequently are very numerous; nor would there be any space on which to write the receipt for payment(s). A bill addressed to -, and Co. will, when accepted, bind all secret as well as ostensible partners, but the holder will only be bound to sue those he knew when he received the bill(t). A bill directed to A. or in his absence to B., and beginning, "pray, gentlemen, pay, &c." being accepted only by A., may be declared upon without noticing B.(u). An instrument in the form of a bill having the word "at" substituted for the word "to" before the usual place of direction at the foot of it, may be treated as a bill

(h) Bass v. Clive, 4 Campb. 78; 4 Maule & S. 18, (Chit. j. 930).

(i) Ex parte Hunter and another, 2 Rose, 868.

(k) Rex v. Bigg, 8 P. Wms. 419, (Chit. j. 286).
(i) Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313, (Chit.

j. 461); ante, 29, note (s).

(m) Semble, a note for a sum under 5l. payable to bearer only, is not a negotiable or transferrable instrument within this act; Quarterman v. Green, 1 Carr. & Pa. C. N. P. 92. See Hill v. Lewis, 1 Salk. 132, (Chit. j. 187, 189); post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer.

(n) Poth. pl. 35; Beawes, pl. 8; Mar. 148; 1 Pardess. 850, 351.

(o) 1 Pardess. 350, 351, 352.

(p) Polhill v. Walter, 8 B. & Ad. 114; I Law J. K.B. 92, (Chit. j. 1572); ante, 35 n. l. (q) Gray v. Milner, 3 Moore, 90; 8 Taunt.

- 789, (Chit. j. 1022, 1052). (r) Ante, 24, note (h), 131, 132. (s) Mar. 44; Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, (F
- (t) De Mantort v. Saunders, 1 Bar. & Ad. 898, (Chit. j. 1509); ante, 44, note (1). (u) Anonymous, 12 Mod. 447, (Chr. j. 216).

ili i

: 3

. 3

1.32

77

31

113

. . .

. . . 5

9-12

ء ڏڻ

3.5

.# T

1

, t

14.2

⊊‡

للحداج

g.,£3

je j

1348

دل ج

ni Z

355 k

3 J

7-75 eţ.

_{[5}] 3

1 1

16.3 . 78

32

1 $\alpha_{ij}^{\rm ex}$

هاني

. 10

11

19

3

of exchange or a promissory note(x). If a bill be intended to be accepted II. Their by two or more persons, it should be addressed accordingly, for where a bill Parts and was *drawn upon one person, and was accepted by him and another, it was Requisites. decided that only the first party was liable as acceptor, for there cannot be a [*165] series of acceptors (y). But in foreign bills it is not unusual for the drawer to add, " Au besoin chez Mesers. ----," the object of which we will presently consider.

In France a bill must not be drawn upon a person residing where the drawer is domiciled, but must be drawn upon a person at another place; but they give effect to bills drawn differently in foreign countries, where the French local regulation does not prevail (z).

(17)—We have already (a) considered the points relating to the place 17thly. where the payment is to be made, and which we have seen should be fully Place of Payment. expressed in the subscription or body of the bill, and it will suffice to refer to those observations.

- (18)—When the drawer has any apprehension that the drawee will either 18thly. Au not accept or not pay the bill, he may, as a matter of precaution, to prevent besoin, &c. the expenses and inconveniences resulting from a return of the bill, require the holder in such an event to apply to a third person named in the bill for This requisition is intimated by writing in the corner of the bill, under the drawee's address, these words, "Au besoin chez Messrs. ---, at ---," or in other words, "In case of need apply to Messrs. --is desirous, in case of refusal or failure by the drawee, to become parties to the bill, in the nature of an acceptor or payer for honour; and is valid and usual on the Continent, though we have just seen that there cannot be a se-The holder is bound to apply to the party so adries of acceptors (b). dressed(c), and who may accept and pay without previous protest, in which respect he differs from an acceptor supra protest(d): and the party so paying has a right to sue the drawer for the amount(e). It should seem, however, that the introduction of these words rather imports an apprehension that the bill will not be regularly accepted or paid, and therefore tends to diminish the credit which might otherwise be attached to the bill without such desire being expressed.
- (19)—A drawer also may add a request or direction, that in case the bill 19thly. should not be honoured by the drawee, it shall be returned without protest, "Refour or without expense, by subscribing the words, "retour sans protet" ou tet," ou tet," ou tet," ou sans frais." In this case, the omission of the holder to protest, having "sans been induced by the request of the drawer, he, and perhaps the indorsers, frais." cannot resist payment on that account, and thus the expense of protest is avoided (f).
 - (20)—It should seem that the drawer of a bill may also, in order to avoid 20thly.

ante, 181.

(y) Jackson v. Hudson, 2 Campb. 447; (Chit. j. 799).

(2) 1 Pardess. 346, 480; 4 id. 210, 354.

(a) Ante, 151 to 154. (b) 1 Pardess. 351, 394, 437, 438; supra, note (y).

(c) Id. 438. But see as to these words in an indorsement, Leonard v. Wilson, 2 C. & M.

(x) Rex v. Hunter, Russ. & Ry. C. C. 511; 589; 4 Tyr. 415, S. C.; post, Ch. VI. s. i. Re-exnte, 181.

(y) Jackson v. Hudson, 2 Campb. 447; is not bound to present the bill to the referee for Expenses.

(http://goo. change and payment till the day after dishonour by the drawee. See 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 58, post, Ch. IX. s. i. Presentment-Time of.

(d) Id. Ibid. (e) Id. Ibid.

(f) 1 Pardess. 450.

II. Their Parts and particular discussion and litigation respecting the amount of re-exchange and expenses, in the event of the bill being returned for non-acceptance *or non-payment, Requisites. anticipate and limit what shall be the extent of claim upon him or the in-[*166] dorser, by subscribing, "In case of non-acceptance or non-payment, re-exchange and expenses not to exceed £--," (a specified sum). And any holder taking a bill with any such words subscribed will be bound by the limit(g).

21stly. Of Subscribing Witnesses.

(21)—In general no witness is essential to the validity of a bill of exchange or promissory note(h); but in the case of bills drawn for a less sum than 51. a witness is necessary (i), and in other cases, if there be a subscribing witness, the instrument must be proved by subportaing him(k). But if he purposely keep out of the way, or diligent search has ineffectually been made with reference to his residence, his attendance will be dispensed And though his hand-writing must be proved, that of the drawer in such case need not be proved (m). In France the testimony of witnesses is not admissible to add to the terms of the written contract(n); and the same rule prevails in this country unless to establish illegality or fraud, or want of or failure in the consideration(o).

Letter of Advice.

When a bill is about to be, or has been drawn upon a person resident at a distant place, we have seen(p) that it is recommended that the drawer do, by a separate conveyance, send a letter of advice to the drawee, stating the sum to be paid, and the terms of the bill, and the funds out of which the drawee is to be re-imbursed, and that without having received some such communication, the drawee may and ought to refuse to accept(q). precaution will prevent fraudulent alterations, which have not unfrequently been affected, by discharging the sum written in the body of the bill, and introducing a larger sum before the drawee has received advice (r).

Of mistakes in Bill or Note.

In the French law there are certain rules prescribed as to the consequences of defects in bills, and who shall take advantage of them(s). But our law contains no express provisions on the subject.

If, however, by mistake a bill or note has been drawn in terms different to the intention of the parties, the error may be corrected by consent of such parties, and this without requiring any fresh stamp(t).

Of Courts

And it should seem that a court of equity will relieve in this respect even of Equity against a surety as well as a principal, and compel all parties to give a prop-compelling Parties to er bill or note according to the original intention; as where the makers of a give the in- note intended that it should be several as well as joint, but it was drawn ontended In- ly as a joint note (u). And although in general no *relief can be obtained in [*167] equity upon a promissory note void at law for want of a stamp(x), yet where the plaintiff had received a promissory note without a stamp, the court di-

- (g) See post, Part II. Ch. VI. Sum recoverable-Re-exchange, as to the utility of such words; and see 1 Pardess. 461, &c.
- (h) Marius, 14.
 (i) Ante, 108; 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, s. 1.
 (k) Lemon v. Deane, 2 Campb. 636;
 M'Craw v. Gentry, 3 Campb. 232, (Chit. j. 361); post, Stone v. Metcalf, 1 Stark. 53, (Chit. j. 943); post, Part II. Ch. V. s. j. Evi-
- (1) Burt v. Walker, 4 Bar. & Al. 697, and cases there cited.
- (m) Page v. Newman, Mood. & M. 79; Kay v. Brookman, id. 286; post, tit. Evidence.

- (n) 1 Pardess. 345.
- (o) Ante, 127, 69.

(p) Ante, 162.

(q) 1 Pardess. 334, 335, 478, 475; post, Ch. VII. s. ii. Acceptance.

- (r) See Bulkeley v. Butler, 2 Bar. & C. 434; 3 D. & R. 625, (Chit. j. 1193); ante, 71. note (q)
 - (s) 1 Pardess. 478 to 489.
- (t) See cases as to alteration of bills, post, 80C. V.
- (u) Rawstone v. Parr, 8 Russ. 424, 529. See other cases Chitty's Eq. Dig. tit. Mistake.
 (x) Toulmin v. Price, 5 Ves. 240; ante, 125.

PART I

CCCD· arbe

of 30 2 €

at. 14-01-

27.00

. . 21. [

ែនថ and E

 $\{ 1, 1 \}$

. Be: . y

بجوريه

e care

T DATE

391 I

ígiá **:

123 Li

130 $

:::: **!

ge 9T

. Ib

Į.

1.24

1190 uj þr

7.41

y| 52-

1 915

15.16

ď

100 - 1 E

i Tota

rected a proper note to be made conformable to the agreement between the II. Their

On the other hand, a court of equity will, when justice requires, restrain Injunction the negotiation of a bill or note unduly obtained, and even order its cancel- in Equity lation(z).

articular Requisites. to prevent Negotiation and compel Delivery up of Bill, &c.

III. Construction of Bills and Notes, and how given EFFECT to.

Bills of exchange and promissory notes, like every other contract, are to III. How be construed in such manner as, if possible, to give effect to the intention of construed the contracting parties; and, indeed, our courts, sensible how peculiarly and given conductive the negotiability of these instruments is to the ease and increase Effect to of trade, adopt a still more liberal mode of construing them than any other instrument(b)(1).

It has been observed by a celebrated writer on moral philosophy (c), that "every contract should be construed and enforced according to the sense in which the person making it apprehended the person in whose favour it was made understood it; which mode of interpretation will exclude evasion, in cases in which the popular meaning of a phrase and the strict grammatical signification of words differ, or in general whenever the contracting party attemps to make his escape through some ambiguity in the expression which he used." These observations are applicable to the mode of construing a bill or note; thus, in a case before Lord Macclesfield, where a man, for a past consideration, gave a person a promissory note, in the beginning of which it was mentioned to be given for "twenty pounds borrowed and received," but at the latter end were the words, "which I promise never to pay;" it was decided that the payee might recover it, because the person making the note had intentionally excited expectations which he ought to satisfy (d); so if a bill be drawn payable to the order of a fictitious person, it may ut res magis valeat quam pereat be recovered upon by a bona fide holder against all the parties privy to the transaction as a bill payable to bearer, on the principle, that as they gave currency to the instrument, which they knew could never be paid to the order of the fictitious payee, the law will presume they intended that the formality of indorsement should be waived (e).

(y) Aylett v. Bennett, 1 Anstr. Rep. 45, (Chit. j. 494); Chitty's Eq. Dig. titles Agreement-Specific Performance.

(z) Ante, 98 to 101; post; Chitty's Eq. Dig. tit. Practice-Injunction.

(a) As to the construction of contracts in general, see Com. Dig. tit. Parols, (A 18); 1 Pardess. 454; 4 id. 196, 205, 209, 210, 211, 220; Chitty, jun. on Cont. 19 to 28; 3 Chit. Com. Law, 106 to 118; 3 Stark. on Evid. 915 to 1055.

(b) Per cur. Hotham v. East India Company, Dougl. 277.

(c) Paley, 126; Anderson v. Pitcher, 2 Bos. & Pul. 168.

(d) Cited in Simpson v. Vaughan, 2 Atk. 32; ante, 131.

(e) Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 586, (Chit. j. 479); ante, 157, 159; Ex parte Bank of Scotland, 19 Ves. 811, 812; 2 Rose's Bank. Cas. 201, (Chit. j. 927).

⁽¹⁾ Orders for goods, in the hands of the drawee, are prima facie evidence of goods sold to the drawer delivered to the payee at his request: not so with orders for money; they are presumed to be drawn, nothing appearing to the contrary, upon funds in the hands of the drawee, and if paid, give no cause of action against the drawer, unless that presumption is rebutted by other evidence. Alvord v. Baker et al., 9 Wend. Rep. 323.

III. How Bills, &c. construed and given Effect to. strued according to law of country where made. [*168]

Effect is also to be given to the intention of the parties according to the law of the country where the contract is made, and in which it is to be performed, and not according to the law of the *country into which either or all of them may remove (f); for what is not an obligation in one place cannot Bills, &c. by the laws of another country become such in another place(g). to be con- tinction between that part of the law of the foreign country where a personal contract is made which is adopted, and that which is not adopted by our courts, is, that so much of the law as affects the rights and merits of the contract, all that relates ad decisionem litis, is adopted from the foreign country—so much of the law as affects the remedy only, all that relates ad litis ordinationem, is taken from the lex fori of that country where the action is The construction or interpretation of the contract, therefore, must be governed by the law of the country where the contract was made—lex loci contractus; the mode of suing, and time within which the action must be brought, must be governed by the law of the country where the action is brought—in ordinandis judiciis, loci consuctudo ubi agitur(h). The law of France, by which an indorsement in blank does not operate as a transfer of a bill or note, is a rule which regulates the interpretation of the contract; and, therefore, the holder of a bill or note drawn in France, and indorsed there in blank, cannot recover against the acceptor or maker in the courts of this country, at least not in his own name (i). So in an action here against the Bank of England on their promissory note, upon an indorsement in France, the Court of King's Bench said, "the plaintiff ought to have proved that by the law of France such a note was negotiable (k);" and where the defendant gave the plaintiff in a foreign country, where both were resident, a bill of exchange, drawn by the defendant upon a person in England, which bill was afterwards protested here for non-acceptance, and the defendant afterwards, while still resident abroad, became bankrupt there, and obtained a certificate of discharge by the law of that state, it was held, that such certificate was a bar to an action here, upon an implied assumpsit to pay the amount of the bill in consequence of such non-acceptance in England, because such implied contract was made abroad (l).

The time of payment is, however, in general to be calculated according to the law of the country where the bill is made payable(m); and upon a bill drawn at a place using one style, and payable at a place using the other, if the time is to be reckoned from the date, it shall be computed according to the style of the place at which it is drawn, but otherwise according to the style of the place where it is payable, and in the former case the date must be reduced or carried forward to the style of the place where the bill is payable, and the time reckoned from thence, because it must be supposed that the parties, in framing the bill, intended that it should be payable according to the law of the place where payment was to be made, and consequently (f) Burrows v. Jemino, Stra. 733; Sel. Ca. 144, (Chit. j. 265); Potter v. Brown, 5 East, 130, (Chit. j. 694). And see argument in Wynne v. Callendar, 1 Russ. 295.

(h) Huber r. Steiner, 2 Scott, 304; 2 Bing. N. C. 202; 1 Hodges, 206, S. C.; Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N. C. 151; post, 170, n. (b).

See further as to the remedy, post, 169.
(i) Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N. C. 151;
4 Moore & Scott, 695; 6 Car. & P. 25, S. C. (k) De la Chaumette v. Bank of England, 9 Bar, & C. 215; Dans. & L. 319; 2 Bar. &

Ad. 385, (Chit. j. 1419, 1542).
(1) Potter v. Brown, 5 East. 124, (Chit. j.

(m) Beawes, pl. 251; Mar. 112.

⁽g) Melan v. De Fitzjames, 1 Bos. & Pul. 141; Talleyrand v. Boulanger, 3 Ves. 447; Gienar v. Meyer, 2 Hen. Bla. 603; Mostyn v. Fabrigas, Cowp. 174; Robinson v. Bland, Burr. 1077, (Chit. j. 255); Folliott v. Ogden, I Hen. Bla. 123; Alves v. Hodgson, 7 T. R. 242, (Chit. j. 584); Da Costa v. Cole, Skin. 272, (Chit. j. 778). Potter a Brown K. Fart. 180 (Chit. j. 1778). 179); Potter v. Brown, 5 East, 180, (Chit. j. 694); Johnson v. Machielyne, 3 Campb. 44.

hii

空に強

20 X E

I.

21.0

Ξ.

11.

. .

* :-

نڌ ۽

3-3

LZ,

::::

£ 315

a i

(: I

. 24

(2 (3

-5*

ir. I

: 1

. .

ئظه . ملازان

,....E

17.3 ř

. . . . $\mathbf{J}^{\pm 3}$ 5.50 \mathbb{K}_{n}

; 2 7 . 15

i I

ıξů",

Ŗ# (e)

ş (

that was impliedly part of the contract(n). It has been observed(o), that III. How this is contrary to the reason and the nature of the thing; yet other writers Bills, ¢ertain a very different opinion; and it is said that a bill of exchange is and given considered in this respect as having been made at the place where it is payable, Effect to. according to the maxim, contraxisse unusquisque in eo loco intelligitur in quo ut solveret se obligavit, and that consequently the contract should be construed and regulated according to the laws and usage of that place to which the contracting parties have understood themselves subject, following the other rule, in contractibus veniunt ea quæ sunt moris et consuctudinis in regione in quâ contrahitur(p).

This doctrine was at one time extended even to the substance of the rem- But the edy, or mode of enforcing payment, and it was considered, that although the Remedy form of the remedy must depend on the laws of the country in which the according creditor proceeds, it will, in respect of the extent of it, be subject to the to the Law same regulations and restrictions as if it had been pursued in the country of the where the contract was made; and, therefore, where a man in France enter- where pured into a contract to be there performed, and the fulfilment of it could not sued. in that country be enforced by arrest, it was held, by a majority of the judges, that he could not in this country be holden to bail(q)(1). But this (q) Melan v. De Fitzjames, 1 Bos. & Pul. 141; Pedder v. Mac Master, 3 T. R. 609; Potter v. Brown, 5 East, 124, (Chit. j. 694); but see Imlay r. Ellefsen, 2 East, 255; Tidd, 9th edit. 211.

As to the form of the action or remedy by which a contract is to be enforced, a different rule ⁽n) See Bayl. 5th edit. 249; Mar. 75, 89 to 92, 101 to 103.

⁽o) Kyd, 8.

⁽p) Poth. Pl. 155, and the notes of M. Hutteau in his edition of Pothier, p. 241. See 5 B. & C. 443.

⁽¹⁾ Many cases have occurred in the courts of the United States, which have drawn in question the operation of the lex loci contractus. The rule is well settled, that the law of a place where a contract is made, is to govern as to the nature, validity, and construction of such contract; and that being valid in such place, it is to be considered equally valid, and to be enforced every where, with the exception of cases in which the contract is immoral or unjust, or in which the enforcing it in a state would be injurious to the rights, the interest, or the convenience of such state or its cit-This doctrine is explicitly avowed in Huberus de conflictu Legum, and has become incorporated into the code of national law in all civilized countries. Pearsall v. Dwight, 2 Mass. Rep. 84. Lodge v. Phelps, 1 John. Cas. 139. Smith v. Smith, 2 John Rep. 235. Ruggles v. Keeler, 3 John. Rep. 263. Thompson v. Ketcham, 4 John. Rep. 285. 8 John. Rep. 188. Van Rough v. Van Arsdaln, 3 Caines' Rep. 154. Warder v. Arell, 2 Wash. Rep. 282, and the cases cited in Van Reimsdyk v. Kane, 1 Gallis. Rep. 371, 375.

Ticknow v. Roberts, 11 Current Law and the cases cited in Van Reimsdyk v. Kane, 1 Red 130. Ret. when it is made with reference to ry's Louis. Rep. 14; Harman v. Harman, t Bald. 130. But when it is made with reference to the performance of an act in another country, which is regulated by its laws, it must be executed with the formalities required where it is to be performed. Ibid. It seems to follow, that if a contract be void by the law of the place where it is made, it is void every where; and that a discharge of a contract in the place where it is made, shall be of equal avail in every other place. Van Schaick v. Edwards, 2 John. Cas. 355. Baker v. Wheatou, 5 Mass. Rep. 509. Thompson v. Ketcham. Smith v. Smith; and the cases cited in 1 Gallis. Rep. 371. A discharge, therefore, under the insolvent or bankrupt law of a state, (supposing it to be conditional) is a good discharge of a contract made there, in every other state where a suit may be brought to recover on such contract. James r. Allen, 1 Dall. Rep. 188. Miller v. Hall, 1 Dall. Rep. 229. But it seems to have been held that this doctrine only applies where both of the parties are citizens of, or individuals in, the state at the time when the contract was made. Harris c. Mandeville, 3 Dall. Rep. 256. Proctor v. Moore, 1 Mass. Rep. 198. Buker v. Wheaton, Smith v. Smith. But see Hicks v Brown, 12 John. Rep. 142. And such a discharge will not be valid against a suit upon a contract made or to be executed in another state, whether it be a foreign state, or the state where the suit is brought. Van Rough v. Van Arsdaln, 3 Caines' Rep. 154. Smith v. Smith, Thompson v. Ketcham, 4 John. Rep. 285. \ Woodhull v. Wagner, 1 Bald. 296, where the decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court on State insolvent laws are collected and classed. \ S. John. Rep. 189. Van Reimsdyk v. Kane, Shieffelin v. Wheaton, 1 Gallis. Rep. 441. However, in Connecticut a discharge under the insolvent laws of that state has been held a good ever, in Connecticut a discharge under the insolvent laws of that state, has been held a good discharge of a contract entered into in another state with the citizens of another state. Barber v. Mintum, 1 Bay's Rep. 186.

construed and given Effect to.

III. How latter doctrine was in a late case over-ruled, and it was decided, that, in a suit between parties resident in England, a contract made between them in a foreign country, although the contract is to be interpreted according to the foreign law, yet the remedy must be taken in all respects according to the law here, and that, therefore, one foreigner may arrest another in England for a debt which accrued in Portugal, while both resided there, though the Portuguese law does not allow of arrest for debt(r).

> (r) De la Vega v. Vianna, 1 Bar. & Adol. 284. Lord Tenterden, C. J. said, "That this was an application to discharge the defendant, who had been arrested upon mesne process, out of custody on filing common bail. The plaintiff and defendant were both foreigners; the debt was contracted in Portugal, and it appears that by the law of that country the defendant would not have been liable to arrest. It is contended on the authority of Melan and the Duke de Fitzjames, that he is entitled to the relief now sought. We are, however, of opinion that be In the case of Melan v. De Fitzjames, the distinction taken by Mr. Justice Heath, who differed from the other judges, was, that in construing contracts, the law of the country in which they are made must govern; but that the remedy upon them must be pursued by such meaus as the law points out where the parties reside. This doctrine is said to correspond with the opinions of Huber and Voet, and we think, on consideration of the present case, that the distinction laid down by Mr. Justice Heath ought to prevail. A person suing in this country must take the law as he finds it; he cannet, by virtue of any regulation in his own country, enjoy greater advantages than other suitors here, and he ought not therefore to be deprived of any prevails, for the recovery must be sought, and the remedy pursued according to the lex fort, not prevails, for the recovery must be sought, and the reduced partials and the reduced partials the lex loci contractus. Dixon's Ex. r. Ramsay's Ex., 3 Cranch Rep. 324. Nash v. Tupper, 1 Caines' Rep. 402. Ruggles v. Keeler, 3 John. Rep. 268. Pearsall r. Dwight, 2 Mass. Rep. 84. Smith r. Spinola, 2 John. Rep. 198; and the cases cited 1 Gallis. Rep. 371. 376. Bird r. Caritat, 2 John. Rep. 342. Sicard v. Whale, 11 John. Rep. 194. \(\rangle$ Woodhull r. Wagner, suppress. Bainbridge v. Wilcocks, 1 Bald. 536. \rangle$ Therefore the statute of limitations of the state pra. Bainbridge v. Wilcocks, 1 Bald. 536. \ Therefore the statute of limitations of the state where the contract is made, has been held to be no bar to an action in another state, for it is only a modification of the remedy. Pearsall v. Dwight, Ruggles r. Keeler. But the statute of limitations of the state of limitations of limitations of the state of limitations of limit tations of the state where the suit is brought is a good bar. Nash v. Tupper, Ruggles v. Keeler, Hubbell v. Cowdrey, 5 John Rep. 132; and if a note be negotiable by the law of the place where the suit is brought, but not by that of the place where it was made, an action may be maintained by the indorsee in his own name. Lodge v. Phelps, 1 John. Cas. 139, S. C. 2 Caines' Cas. in Err. 321. And a discharge under an insolvent law of a state which simply protects the debtor from arrest or imprisonment is no bar to a suit in another state, for it is held to be limited to the person only, without discharging the debt, and local in its effects. White v. Canfield, 7 John. Rep. 117.

It has been held that a tender of payment of bills of credit, which would be good by the law of the place where the contract was made, would be a good bar in every other state, where a suit should be brought. Warder v. Arell, 2 Wash. 282. And it seems to have been thought that a stay of execution upon a foreign judgment, by the law of the place where the judgment was recovered, would be so far recognized here, as to exempt the party from arrest for the debt, and if arrested would entitle him to a discharge on common bail. Conframp c. Burel, 4 Dall. Rep. 419. and see Melan v. Fitzjames, 1 Bos. & Pul. 138. But the contrary seems asserted by Lord Ellenborough in Imlay v. Ellefsen, 2 East's Rep. 455, and see Sicard v. Whale, 11 John. Rep. 194.

And as the law of the place where the contract is made, regulates the rights and duties of the parties, if a bill be drawn and indorsed in a place, by a person resident there, he is answerable upon such indorsement only so far as the laws of that country bind him upon a bill so drawn and indorsed. Powers v. Lynch, 3 Mass. Rep. 77. See also Hicks v. Erown, 12 John. Rep. 142. And upon a bill drawn payable in a foreign country, whether payment in the current money of that country be good or not, depends upon the intention of the parties, and their reference in the contract to the lex loci. Seabright v. Galbraith, 4 Dall. Rep. 325. For where it appears that the performance of the contract in the contemplation of the parties, has relation to the laws of another country, the contract must be interpreted according to those laws Powers v. Lynch. Hicks v. Brown.

The indorsement of a bill is downed a new substantive contract; and therefore the indorser will be liable to damages on non-payment of a bill, according to the law of the place where the indorsement was made. Semb. Slacum v. Pomeroy, 6 Crunch, 221. The usage of the place on which a bill is drawn, or where payment is demanded, uniformly regulates the number of days of grace which must be allowed. Bank of Wushington v. Triplett, 1 Peters, 25, 34. See Mills v. Bank of the United States, 11 Wheat. 431. Brent's Exrs. v. Bank of the Metropolis, 1 Peters 80 ters, 89.

For other cases respecting the operation of the lex loci, see Van Schaick v. Edwards, 2 John. Cas. 355. Harrison v. Sterry, 5 Cranch, 289. Ludlow v. Van Renssellaer, 1 John. Rep. 94. Winthrop v. Pepont, 1 Bay's Rep. 468. Green v. Sarmiento, 1 Peter's Rep. 74.

PART !

.: 02

قنيال

- - 1

1

77.7

وهرين

د! د . د . الا الا

19 III 1.—12.

نوازین مه ا

). (e.≇ • [.★

V. 8. 30

10 1 15°

1.35 دو) در مساوی مهروی

121

-1-1

فأجن

الريواني اليحيج (. الله الد

p F

فيرغ

5. د.

الزار

.... ٠,

And persons trading abroad in such mode as would constitute a partner- III. How ship here, may sue here as partners for consignment sent to this country, Bills, &c. though they cannot sue at the place of trading, by reason of the particular and given law of that country(s).

Effect to.

*So with respect to the limitation of action, it has recently been determin-[*170] ed that the French law of prescription as to bills and notes appertains ad tempus et modum actionis instituendæ and not ad valorem contractús, and, therefore, that the payee of a promissory note made in France might sue the maker in this country at any time within six years, though by the law of France he would have been limited to five years(t).

And, on the other hand, it has been held that though by the law of the country where the contract was made the party would have forty years to proceed on it, he would only have six years in England(u). And so far has this doctrine been carried, that a holder was allowed to recover in an English Court on a bill drawn in France on a French stamp, though, in consequence of its not being in the form required by the French code, he had failed in an action which he brought on it in France(x). So we have seen that our courts do not regard the revenue laws of a foreign country, and even give effect to contracts in fraud of the foreign country, or even of the private subjects thereof(y). According, however, to the law of France, the time of limitation prescribed in the country where the contract was made would be given effect to wherever the contractor should be sued(z).

And in England our courts, besides giving effect to the contract itself ac- Foreign cording to foreign law, must also give effect to the foreign law in some other to be given collateral respects, for otherwise the greatest injustice might ensue; thus in Effect to as France, a protest for non-payment is not to be made till the day after a hill to Protests, falls due, whereas in England it is to be made on the very day. It cannot &c. be doubted that if the hill were payable in France, the English courts must give effect to the French instead of the English law(a). So in France, a protest is always necessary, while in England a protest is only necessary in the case of foreign bills (b); certain formalities are also essential in the former country to the validity of an indorsement of a bill or note, and no indorsement in blank can be made there, while in this country such mode of indorsement is not only permitted, but is the more common form; and it has lately been decided that these formalities must be complied with to enable the indorser to sue in this country in his own name (b). And in cases of superior advantage which the law of this country may confer. He is to have the same right which all the subjects of this kingdom are entitled to." See ante, 168.

(s) Shaw v. Harvey, Mood. & M. 226 — Lord Tenterden, C. J. after referring to the articles, said, "This may be the governing law of Holland, but it will not prevent persons from suing here as partners. If they really are such, they may maintain an action for goods sold and delivered here. These are merely municipal regulations, preventing, as it seems, their suing as partners where they are in force, but not affecting the general rights of the parties." A verdict was then taken for the plaintiff, subject to a reference as to the amount.

(t) Huber v. Steiner, 2 Bing. N. C. 202; S. C. 2 Scott, 304; 1 Hodges, 206, ante, 168. Such actions, however, are not favoured. See the same case, 4 Moore & S. 328; 2 Dowl. 781. See post, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

(u) The British Linen Company v. Drummond, 10 Bar. & Cress. 903. An action was brought here on a written engagement entered into in Scotland; and although by the law of this country the Statute of Limitations had attached, it was contended that the Scotch law must prevail, which would have allowed forty years for commencing the suit. But the court of King's Bench thought the case must be governed by the law of the country in which the action was brought. Cited in De La Vega v. Vianna, 1 Bar. & Adol. 234; and Huber v. Steiner, 2 Bing. N. C. 202; ante, 168.

(x) Wynne v. Jackson, 2 Russ. 351; sed guære. See Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N.

C. 151, infra, note (b). (y) Anle, 121, note (y).

(z) 4 Pardess. 223. (a) 4 Pardess. 227.

(b) Trimbey v. Viguier, I Bing. N. C. 151;

III. How Bills, &c. construed and given Effect to. foreign marriages, in whatever country *they may have taken place, and although the parties be British subjects, yet they are legal if celebrated according to the law of the country where they took place, however different from that prescribed in England(c).

Foreign Law on this subject.

Some of the decisions referred to seem to depart from the admitted rule, that the contract itself ought to be given effect to according to the lex loci where it was made. In the French law, there is much learning on this subject, and the rule itself seems much the same as that laid down in the English courts, but they appear to be more liberal in the application of it, and give more extensive effect to foreign law than adopted in this country (d). Thus it has been there considered, that if a bill of exchange be made in a foreign country, defective according to the French law, but valid according to the foreign law, it must, nevertheless, be given effect to in the French courts, even against a French indorser, "parce que les regles sur la validité intrinseque des conventions sont derivées du droit naturel, et sont de toutes les legislations." And in the very case of limitations it is laid down, that the law of prescription prevailing in the country where the contract was made, though different from that in France, must in their courts be given effect to(e). The difficulty of ascertaining correctly the foreign law is admitted, but it is there considered that such difficulty does not constitute any sufficient ground for relieving the courts from the necessity of giving full effect to the contract according to the law of the place where it was made (f).

The Language of the Bill must be observed.

It has been observed by a celebrated writer on the law of Nations(g), that it is the first general maxim of interpretation, "that it is not allowable to interpret what has no need of interpretation;" and that when a deed is worded in clear and precise terms, when its meaning is evident, and leads to no absurd conclusion, there can be no reason for refusing to admit the meaning which such a deed naturally presents; to go elsewhere in search of conjectures, in order to restrict or extend it, is but to attempt to elude it, and if this dangerous method were once admitted, every deed might be rendered useless. Les termes de la contravention doivent être consideres avant tout(h). It seems that on similar principles, our courts, notwithstanding their anxiety to give effect to the intentions of the contracting parties, have laid down as a general rule, that all latitude of construction must submit to this restriction, namely, that the words and language of the deed bear the sense which is 4 Moore & S. 695, S. C. It was proved at the trial by a French advocate called as a witness on the part of the defendant, that by the law of France a protest must always be made, and that no action could be maintained upon promissory notes and bills of exchange unless they were 'protested; and the inclorement to the plaintiff being in blank, and not according to the formalities required by the Code de Commerce, articles 136, 137, 138, was invalid, and passed no interest to the holder. And the court so held after argument in banc; but gave no opinion as to the necessity of protest. See further as to indorsement, post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer—Modes of.

(c) See Lacon v. Higgins, 3 Stark. R. 178; Dowl. N. P. C. 38, S. C.; infra, note (f). See also Doe d. Birtwhistle v. Vardill, 5 B. & C. 489, 452; 8 D. & R. 185, S. C.

C. 489, 462; 8 D. & R. 185, S. C. (d) See 1 Pardess. 455; 4 id. 196, 205, 209, 210, 211, 220, 223. "Des conflits de legislation relatif au commerce." "De l'application de lois estrangères relatives à la forme des actes." De l'interpretation des actes faits en pays etrangers." "De l'execution des actes faits en pays estrangers."

(e) 4 Pardesa. 223.

(f) 4 Id. 216, &c. In many cases, particularly with respect to foreign marriages, it is admitted that the lex loci must be ascertained and given effect to; see the cases collected 1 Bla. Com. by Chitty, 440, note 31, and supra. n. (c). And if English courts will take any cognizance of foreign transactions, semble that full effect should be given to them, the same as if discussed in the proper country. And see Alivon v. Furnival, 1 C. M. & R. 277; 4 Tyr. 751. S. C. see nest. 820. (18).

751, S. C. see post, 820,(18).
(g) Vattel, 244; et vide Powell on Contracts, tit. Construction.

(h) 4 Pardessus, 216, 217, &c.

e, 11. 6

TO B

11.00

دالة. ر.

. 20

· 4

jj., #

. ; 4 1. 21

jn (*

تلا ".

1

in I

1 ed D

 $\gamma_i M_i^2$

. J.

• , 5 1

100 j. 110

لمشتريت

 $\chi(1)$ JA, 1.152 1.152

. . .

11

5 D - A

, i

ار الا

. 2

ď £

ţ

(e).

attempted to be put upon them (i). However, in the case of bills and other III. How negotiable instruments, our courts have relaxed this rule; and therefore in Bills, &c. the case just alluded to, where *an action was brought by an indorsee of a and given bill of exchange against the acceptor, and he could not prove an indorse- Effect to. ment by the payee, evidence was admitted to prove that the payee was a [*172] fictitious person, and consequently could not indorse it; and it was adjudged, that as the drawer and acceptor knew of such fact, and the holder did not, the bill should against them operate as a bill payable originally to bearer, The courts have and that the holder might recover thereon as such(k). always, in mercantile affairs, endeavoured to adapt the rules of law to the course and method of trade and commerce, in order to promote it; and when new cases have arisen on the mercantile law, they consult traders and merchants as to their usage in regard to bills (l)(1).

(i) Anderson v. Pitcher, 2 Bos. & Pul. 168; Hotham r. East India Company, Dougl. 277; Burnet v. Kensington, 7 T. R. 214.
(k) Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 569, (Chit. j. 479); and see ante, 157, note (y); 167 note P. 99, in notes.

(1) Per Willes, C. J. in Stone v. Rawlinson, Willes, 561; Barnes, 164, (Chit. j. 313); and see Carvick v. Vickery, Dougl. 653, (Chit. j. 410); ante, 57, note (l); but see Holt's C. N.

(1) It may be well to collect in this place a number of cases in which a legal construction has been put upon written contracts, which do not properly fall under any other head.

A note as follows, "Due the bearer hereof, 3l. 18s. 10d. which I promise to pay to A. T. or order, on demand," is a note payable to A. T. or order, and not to the bearer, and therefore cannot be transferred but by indorsement. Cock v. Fellows, 1 John. Rep. 143.

An instrument in writing, by which A. directed B. to pay C. or bearer 400 dollars, and take up A.'s note of that amount, though the instrument be accepted, is not a bill of exchange. Cook v. Satterslee, 6 Cowen, 108. But a request to pay the amount of a promissory note, written underacath the same, is operative as a bill of exchange, and after acceptance, the drawee is liable. Leonard v. Mason, 1 Wend. 522. And so, if the place of payment of a note is designated in a memorandum at the bottom; or if to the acceptance of a bill, a place of payment be added, with the assent of the holder, such memorandum or qualification becomes a part of the contract. Tuckerman v. Hartwell, 3 Greenl. 147.

Where a person adds at the bottom of a note of another, that he acknowledges himself to be holden as a surety for the note, he is in law deemed an original joint promissor. Hunt v. Adams, 6 Mass. Rep. 219. Leonard v. Vredenburgh, 8 John. 295.

If a person write his name on the back of a note in blank, as guarantor, and authorize another person to write a guaranty over his name, it is good and may be filled up accordingly. Ulen v. Kittredge, 7 Mass. Rep. 233. Moies v. Bird, 11 Mass. Rep. 436. If a note be made payable to A. or order, and a person who had previously intended to have become indorser thereon, write on the back of the note, " for value received, I undertake to pay the money within mentioned to A ;" he will be held as an original promissor. White v. How-land, 9 Mass. Rep. 314. Leonard v. Vredenburgh, Bailey v. Freeman, 11 John. Rep. 221.

The payee of an accommodation note not negotiable, indersed it in blank to a creditor of the maker, intending thereby to become security for the debt of the maker to the creditor; it was held that the creditor might lawfully write over the indorsement " for value received, I undertake to pay the moncy within mentioned to A. (the creditor;") and so hold the payee as an original promissor. Joscelyn v. Ames, 3 Mass. Rep. 274.

And if a note be payable to the creditor only, and another person indorse his name in blank on the note as security for the payment, he may be treated as an original promissor. Moies v. Bird.

If a bill be drawn in England, on a firm in Boston, payable to the drawer himself or order, and be accepted by one of the firm then in England, payable in London, it is a foreign bill of exchange, and on non-payment it is to be governed by the law of Massachusetts as to damages. Grimshaw v. Bender, 6 Mass. Rep. 157.

Where a note dated the 15th of July, was payable immediately with interest from the first day of June, it was held to mean the first day of the preceding June. Whitney v. Crosby, 8 Caines' Rep. 89.

Where the payee of a note payable to himself or order, indorsed on it, "I guarantee the payment of this note within six months," and signed his name thereto, such a signature was held to operate a transfer of the note to every subsequent holder, even supposing that the guaranty should be construed a mere contract between the payee and his immediate indorsee. Upham r. Prince, 12 Mass. Rep. 14. But see Tyler v. Binney, 7 Mass. Rep. 479.

Such a guaranty by a third person, made at the time of the execution of the note is an original collateral undertaking, and is sustained by the original consideration in the note. Leonard v. Vredenburg, 8 John. Rep. 29. Bailey v. Freeman, 11 John. Rep. 221.

Digitized by Google

IV. DELIVERY OF A BILL OR NOTE TO THE PAYEE, AND EFFECT

IV. Delivery of a Bill or Effect thereof.

A bill of exchange, &c. in general is delivered by the drawer to the payee, and where it consists of several parts, as is usual in case of foreign bills, Note to the each ought to be delivered to the person in whose favour it is made, unless one part be forwarded to the drawee for acceptance, and in that case the rest must be so delivered; were it otherwise difficulties might arise in negotiating a bill or obtaining payment of it(m), though a delivery is not essential to vest the legal interest in the payee (n)(1).

When it suspends or destroys Remedy for prior Debt.

In general one contract not under seal cannot be extinguished by another similar contract(o); and a mere gratuitous promise, without any new consideration, to give time for the payment of a pre-existing debt is not binding (p). But a person by taking a bill of exchange or promissory note in satisfaction of a former simple-contract debt, or of a simple-contract debt created at the time, suspends his remedy, and is precluded from afterwards waiving it and suing the person who gave it him for the original debt before the bill has been dishonoured; for the taking of the bill is prima facie a satisfaction of the debt and at least amounts to an agreement to give the person delivering it credit for the length of time it has to run(q)(2). And if the holder of a bill

(m) Ante, 155.

(n) Smith v. M'Clure, 5 East, 477, (Chit. j. 699). The plaintiff declared on a bill payable to his own order, and averred that he delivered it to the defendant, to whom it was addressed, and who accepted it according to the usage and custom, &c. and by reason of the premises, &c. the defendant became liable to pay. The defendant demurred specially, and assigned as cause that it was not alleged that the defendant re-delivered the bill to the plaintiff. Per curi-am, the acceptance of the bill, which was admitted by the demurrer, and must be taken to be a perfect acceptance, vested a right in the drawer to sue upon it, and if, after such an acceptance, the acceptor improperly detained the bill in his hands the drawer might nevertheless sue him on it, and give him notice to produce the bill, and on his default give parol evidence of it.

- (o) Story r. Atkins, Lord Raym. 1430, (Chit. j. 960); Scott v. Surman, Willes, 406; Taylor r. Wasteneys, 2 Stra. 1218.
- (p) De Symons v. Minchwick, 1 Esp. R. 430. (q) Kearslake v. Morgan, 5 T. R. 513, (Chit. j. 520); post, 176, note (t); Stedman r. Gooch, 1 Esp. R. 3. Assumpsit for goods sold; defence that plaintiff had taken three promissory notes of Finlay; it appeared that these notes had been returned to the defendant before they were payable, and it was insisted that the plaintiff, having taken them in discharge of her debt for goods sold, could not maintain an action on her original debt until an actual default in the payment of these notes, as the notes might be paid when they became due, nor should the plaintiff be allowed to judge of the probable or improbable ability of the party to pay at a future day.

 Lord Kenyon said that the law was clear, and that if in payment of a debt the creditor is con-

Where the payee of a note payable to himself or order, indorsed on it upon a transfer, "I guarantee the payment of the within note in eighteen months, if it cannot be collected before that time; the guaranty was construed not to mean to give an unlimited currency to the note, and no person other than an original party to the guaranty could maintain an action thereon. Tyler v. Binney, 7 Mass. Rep. 479.

Where the promissee of a negotiable note, payable in six months, sold it, having made and signed this indorsement on it, "I guarantee the payment of the within note in six months;" this was held to be an absolute and original undertaking, by which it was the duty of the guarantor to see that the maker paid the money within the time specified, or to take notice of his neglect and pay it himself. Cobb v. Little, 2 Greenl. 261.

Where the defendant indersed a note not negotiable, obliging himself to pay it if the maker proved insolvent, or ' to make it good,' all that can be required of the indorsee is that he should first use the ordinary means to get payment from the maker before he resorts to the indorser. The rules applicable to negotiable instruments do not apply in such case. Wilson v. Mullen, 3 McCord, 236. See further as to collateral undertakings. Prentiss v. Danielson, 5 Conn. Rep. McCord, 236. See further as to collateral undertakings. Prentiss r. Dan 175. Beckwith r. Angel, 6 Conn. Rep. 315. Smith r. Hawkins, Id. 444.

(1) But it is essential to the validity of a promissory note. Chamberlain v. Hopps, 8 Verm.

(2) Where a bill of exchange is given in payment of goods purchased, there can be no recov-

127

176

4.3 G

112

·: '=

12

....

n 3

• [b]

. .

100

- 1

 $\cdot\cdot\cdot 1^{10}$

.

. , 4⁹1

. 3

37

1

. . 3

4

. ندميه

* ١,

Ç

. 4

take *from the drawer a promissory note in full satisfaction of the bill, he IV. Delivcannot afterwards sue the acceptor of such bill(r). So if a party in a cause ery of a take a promissory note from his attorney for the debt which his attorney has Bill or Note to received from the opposite party, he deprives himself of the summary relief the Payee, by application to the court to make the attorney pay over the money(s). &c. And even on behalf of the crown an extent in aid cannot be issued against a When it person from whom the principal debtor has taken a bill which is not due(t). suspends or On the same principle the acceptance by a creditor of a check in his favour Remedy drawn by the debtor operates as payment unless dishonoured (u). But for prior where the traveller of a tradesman in London called on his employer's debt- Debt. or in the country, and being unable to obtain cash consented, at the request of the debtor, to take an acceptance for the amount, and wrote the whole form of a bill except the name of the drawer, (the traveller having no authority to sign bills, but being in the habit of sending them up to London without a drawer's name to prevent risk by loss), and sent it up to his employer, telling the debtor that he did not think it would be satisfactory, and the employer kept the bill, but did not put his name to it as drawer, it was held that these facts did not amount to proof of the drawing of a bill, so as to prevent the creditor from recovering for his original demand before the instrument purporting to be a bill became due(x). And the taking of a bill is not a suspension of the right to proceed for the prior debt, unless the party delivering it performs all that he engaged to do; and therefore where an action having been brought against the acceptor of a bill of exchange, it was tent to take a bill or note payable at a future day, he cannot legally commence an action on his original debt until such bill or note becomes payable, or default is made in the payment; but that if such bill or note is of no value, as if, for example, drawn on a person who has no effects of the drawer's in his hands and who therefore refuses it, in such case he may consider it as waste paper and resort to his original demand and sue the debtor on it.

Formerly if a writ were issued before the bill was due and the bill was dishonoured bet fore the day of which the declaration was entitled, the action was sustainable; 4 East, 75; 7 T. R. 4; 11 East, 118. But it would now be otherwise; see 2 Will. 4, c. 39; Chit. & H. Stat. 1091.

(r) Surd v. Rhodes, 1 M. & W. 153; S. C. 1 Tyrw. & G. 298; 4 Dowl. 743; 1 Gale, 376; and see Lewis v Lister, 2 C., M. & R. 704; S. C. 4 Dowl. 377; 1 Gale, 320. As to renewed bills, see post

(s) Anon. 3 Law J. 106, K. B. 28th January,1825.

(t) The King v. Dawson, Wightw. 32, (Chit. j. 799). It was pleaded to an inquisition founded on an extent in aid that the defendant had accepted a bill drawn upon him by J. C. (the original debtor) and which did not become due until after the inquisition was taken; the replication stated that the bill was dishonoured, and that the original debtor to the crown had been obliged to take it up; upon demurrer, that as the inquisition was executed before the bill became due the bill could not at that time have been taken up by the said J. C., the court held, that as on the day of taking the inquisition no action could have been maintained by J. C. against the defendant upon this bill of exchange, the interest in the bill at that time being in his indorsee, there was, in fact, at that time no right of action against any person.

(u) Pearce v. Davis, 1 Mood. & Rob. 365. The mere fact of one party drawing a check in favour of another is not evidence of a debt;

(x) Vyse v. Clarke, 5 Car. & P. 403.

ery on a count for goods sold, unless it be shown that the drawer has been legally fixed with the payment of the bill, or has promised to pay it with full knowledge that he was not liable. Jones et al. r. Savage, 6 Wend. Rep. 658.

So, a note due to a bank, which is taken up by the proceeds of a note discounted to renew it, is in general extinguished. Hill v. Bostick, 10 Yerg. 410. And in all cases of notes endorsed, where one is fairly received in renewal of another, it discharges the first, and the second is taken in the usual course of trade," and for a good consideration passing at the time. Nichol v. Bate, Idem, 429

The delivery of a bill of exchange or promissory note as payment, is prima facie, evidence of payment for the goods sold; and it is for the creditor to show that the security has been dishonoured. In general, if it be dishonoured it will not be considered payment, unless the creditor has agreed to run the risk of the bill or note which he takes in payment being bad, or unless he has, by laches, made it his own; in which case it would operate in discharge of the original cause of action. 8 Burge's Col. and For. Law 794. }

ery of a Bill or Note to When it suspends or destroys Remedy for prior Debt. [*174]

IV. Deliv- agreed between the parties that the defendant should pay the costs, renew the bill, and give a warrant of attorney to secure the debt, and the defendant gave the warrant of attorney and renewed the bill, but did not pay the costs, the Payee, it was held that the plaintiff might bring a fresh action on the first bill while the second was outstanding in the hands of an indorsee(y). So if the person delivering a bill, check, or note, knew or *had reasonable ground to expect that it was of no value, the holder, on discovering the fraud, will not be precluded from immediately suing such party on his original liability(z). We have already seen what conduct the holder may pursue when a bill or note given in payment of a debt is upon a wrong stamp(a).

Where one of three joint covenantors gave a bill of exchange for part of a debt secured by the covenant, on which bill judgment was recovered, it was held that such judgment was no bar to an action of covenant against the three, such bill, though stated to have been given for the payment and in satisfaction of the debt, not being averred to have been accepted in satisfaction, nor to have produced it in fact(b). So where the maker of a promissory note accepts a bill of exchange drawn by the payee of the note, in lieu of such note, it must, in answer to an action on the note, be distinctly averred that the bill was given as well as taken in satisfaction of the note(c). The taking of a bill or note in payment of rent does not of itself preclude the right of distraining for the rent even before the bill or note become due(d). And the taking a bill or note does not prejudice a prior specialty security so as to preclude the party taking it from recovering interest payable on the specialty (e). And the giving a bill or note for a smaller sum is not in law a satisfaction of a larger sum claimed, and the difference may be sued for (f). An express and clear agreement by the creditor to take a bill as payment at all events, and whether honoured or not, would amount to a payment of the debt(g), but in the absence of such stipulation even a partner of the debtor,

(y) Norris v. Aylett, 2 Campb. 329, (Chit. j. 781). Per Lord Ellenborough. There was to be no extinguishment of the bill until, amongst other things, the costs were paid. If they had been paid this might have brought it within the case of Kearslake v. Morgan, but the agreement remaining unperformed on the part of the defendant the plaintiff reserved to himself the power of rendering the bill available; this is like accord without satisfaction. Verdict for the plaintiff, on his delivering up the substituted bill to the defendant; and see Lumley r. Musgrave, and Lumley v. Hudson, 5 Scott, 230, 238; but see Dillon r. Rimmar, 1 Bing. 100; 7 Moore, 427, (Chit. j. 1170). See post, 820

(z) Stedman v. Gooch, 1 Esp. Rep. 5, (Chit. (2) Stedman v. Gooch, P. Esp. Rep. 5, (Chit. j. 216); hawse v. Crow, Ry. & Moo. C. N. P. 414; Puckford v. Maxwell, 6 T. R. 52, (Chit. j. 531); Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 61; Bishop v. Shilleto, 2 B. & Ald. 329, note (a); Taylor v. Plumer, 3 Maule & S. 362, (Chit. j. 923); 2 B. & P. 518; Gladstone v. Hadwen, 1 Maule & S. 517, (Chit. j. 886); Noble v. Adams, 7

Taunt. 59; Earl of Bristol v. Wilsmore, 1 B. & C. 514; 2 D. & R. 755; Kilby r. Wilson, Ry. & Moo. C. N. P. 178.

(a) Ante, 124, note (s); and see Wilson v.

Vysar, 4 Taunt. 298, (Chit. j. 860).
(b) Drake v. Mitchel, 3 East, 251, (Chit. j. 665); see Sard a. Rhodes, 1 M. & W. 153; ante, 173, note (r)

(c) Crisp v. Griffith, 2 C., M. & R. 159; S. C. 3 Dowl. 752; 1 Gale, 106.

(d) Bul. N. P. 182, note (a); 3 Price, 272; Davis r. Gyde, 4 Nev. & M. 462; 2 Adol. & Ellis, 623, S. C. Quære, whether to an avowry for rent an agreement to take a promissory note as accord and satisfaction could be pleaded in bar, or an agreement to suspend the right of distress until a note taken for the rent should become due; id. ib.

(e) Curtis v. Rush, 2 Ves. & B. 416, (Chit. j. 910).

(f) Thomas v. Heathom, 2 B. & C. 477; 3 Dow. & Ry. 647, (Chit. j. 1197). See post, 820 (20).

(g) Brown v. Kewley, 2 Bos. & Pul. 518; 3 Chit. Com. Law. 131.

^{(1) \(\)} A draft or bill of exchange upon a third person, given by a debtor to a creditor, who stipulates that it shall be in full satisfaction of the debt, when paid, is prima facie evidence of payment of the original debt; and to rebut such evidence the creditor is bound to show, in an action for the recovery of the original debt, diligence in obtaining payment of the bill, and if not paid, notice of non-payment; or, he must excuse the non-presentinent and produce the bill on the trial, to be cancelled. Dayton v. Snell, 28 Wend. 345. }

17.3

100

11/10

1.8

., 17:

7.35

3.18

1.4

1

> 1

273

02

15

Li i

12

(st'

1. 12

11 J.

. 10

unknown until the dishonour, may be sued(h). And if the payee of a pro-IV. Demissory note payable on demand deposit it with a creditor as a security for livery of a advances, and afterwards procure from the maker of the note a bill of ex-Note to the change as in lieu of the note, representing that the creditor wished for a fresh Payee, security, and undertaking to get back and deliver up the note, but which he &c. never does; the creditor, notwithstanding he has been paid the amount of the bill, may also recover upon the note, unless there are circumstances from which a jury can infer that he knew the bill to have been given for the same debt as the note(i).

The taking a bill of exchange or note in satisfaction will in general deter- When it mine a lien. Thus, where the owner of a ship having a lien on the goods Lien. until the delivery of good and approved bills for freight took a bill of exchange in payment, and though he objected to it at the time he afterwards negotiated it, it was held that such negotiation amounted to an approval of the bill by him, and that it was a *relinquishment of his lien on the goods(k). So a [*175] vendor, who takes in payment a promissory note and negotiates it, loses his lien; and such lien is not revived upon the dishonour of the note, which is outstanding in the hands of an indorsee(1). But a vendor does not waive his lien on his estate sold by taking the promissory note or acceptance of the vendee, and receiving its amount by discount(m). And where real property was devised to trustees on trust to sell and pay the produce to the chil dren of the testator, and the children sold the property to one of the executors in consideration of a sum secured by bills payable by instalments, and as to some shares further secured by an assignment of a policy of insurance, and the executor became bankrupt without having paid the bills, it was held that the children all had a lien on the estates for the sums unpaid (n).

When an account for goods sold is settled, and the defendant gives a bill When it of exchange for the amount which remains unpaid, it has been holden that inquiry as the defendant cannot, in an action on such bill, go into evidence to impeach to amount the charges in the account which has been settled, the giving of the bill being of prior conclusive evidence of the sum due(o).

The effect also of taking a bill of exchange or promissory note on account Compels of a precedent debt, is, that when the bill is accepted or note made by a Holder to third person, the creditor cannot proceed in an action for such debt against prove due his original debtor without showing that he has used due diligence to obtain Diligence. payment from such third person(p); and also showing, if the defendant was

- (h) Robinson v. Wilkinson, 3 Price, 538.
- (i) Adams v. Bingley, 1 M. & W. 192. (k) Horncastle v. Farran, 8 B. & Ald. 497; 2 Stark. R. 590, (Chit. j. 1079).

(1) Bunney v. Poyntz, 1 Nev. & M. 229; 4 Bar. & Adol. 568, S. C.

Bar. & Adol. 568, S. C.

(m) Ex parte Loaring, 2 Rose, 79; Grant v.

Mills, 2 Ves. & B. 306, (Chit. j. 898).

(n) Ex parte Latey, 2 Mont. & Ay. 609; 1

Dea. 557, S. C.

(o) Knox v. Whalley, 1 Esp. Rep. 159,

(Chit. j. 528); (sed quære Trueman v. Hurst,

1 T. R. 40, (Chit. j. 430); Chandler v. Dorsett, Finch Rep. 431, (Chit. j. 165); Vin. Abr.

Partner, E 2). The defendant was indebted to the plaintiff 742, for clothes, & c. and gave a to the plaintiff 741. for clothes, &c. and gave a bill of exchange for 841. and received the differ-The bill being dishonoured, plaintiff brought his action on the bill and for a further sum for clothes furnished since the bill was given. At the trial the defendant was proceeding to impeach the plaintiff's charges contained in the first bill, which was objected to by the counsel for the plaintiff. Lord Kenyon ruled, that up to the time of giving the bill of exchange all matters must be considered as closed, and that the giving the bill must to that effect be taken as conclusive evidence of the sum due at that time.

(p) Smith r. Wilson, Andr. 187, (Chit. j. 285). This was a special case for the opinion of the court. It appeared that the defendant being indebted to the plaintiff for goods sold and money paid, had, in part payment, indorsed to him a note for 1002 drawn by Jones and payable to defendant or order, and at the foot a party thereto or delivered it to the plaintiff, that the defendant had due nolivery of a tice of the dishonour (q). And *where the buyer of goods hands over to the Note to the seller the promissory note of a third party without indorsing it, it is not ne-Payee, &c. cessary for the seller, in an action for the price of the goods, to prove pre-[*176] sentment of the promissory note to the maker(r). But if the defendant was the acceptor of the bill or the maker of the note, then it suffices merely to produce the instrument on the trial, in order to show that it is not outstanding in a third person's hands(s). It is a good plea, in an action for the original debt, that the defendant delivered a bill or note in payment or for or on account of such debt, and compels the plaintiff to reply and prove that the bill or note was dishonoured, and that due notice thereof was given to the defendant(t).

When the Bill must be producdue Notice of Dishon-

In an action for the original demand, if it appear in evidence that a negotiable(u) bill or note was given, the plaintiff cannot recover without producing the instrument, or proving it in his possession or control(v), or proving Trial, and that it was destroyed(x), or showing that it was on a wrong stamp(y).

our proved. of an account stated between the parties plaintiff wrote "received the contents when the above mentioned bill is paid." Plaintiff indorsed over the note, which became due 28th March, 1735. Jones carried on business and continued his payments till the 13th May following; one question therefore was, whether the plaintiff, by receiving this note and not applying for the money due thereon, had lost his original debt? The court held, that where a note is taken for a precedent debt, it must be intended to be taken by way of payment, upon this condition that the note is paid in a reasonable time, but if the person accepting it doth not endeavour to procure such payment, and the money is lost by his default, it is but reasonable that he should bear the loss; see Ward v. Evans, 2 Lord Raym. 928, 929, 930, (Chit. j. 216); Chamberlain v. Delarive, 2 Wils. 353, (Chit. j. 877).

Hebden v. Hartsink and another, 4 Esp. Ni. Pri. R. 46, (Chit. j. 40). Assumpsit by the plaintiff for wages as a clerk to the defendant. Pleas of non-assumpsit and a set-off. To prove payment of 1401. in part discharge of the plaintiff's demand, the defendants gave in evidence that they had given him bills of the house to that amount. It was contended for the plaintiff, that before this could be deemed a discharge to that amount, the defendants should prove the bills to have been paid. Lord Kenyon said it was not necessary; that where a party took bills in payment of a debt, he would presume the money was received, unless the contrary was shown.

(q) 4 Ann. c. 9, s. 7; Bridges v. Berry, 3 Taunt. 180, (Chit. j. 804); but see Bishop v. Rowe, 8 Maule & S. 362, (Chit. j. 921); as to the necessity of giving defendant notice of dishonour, &c. when he is no party to the bill, post, Ch. X. s. i.

(r) Goodwin r. Coates, 1 Mood. & Rob. 221.

(s) Ante, 124, note (s).

(t) Kearslake v. Morgan, 5 T. R. 513, (Chit. j. 520). Assumpsit for goods sold and delivered and for money lent. The defendant pleaded the general issue, and that as to 4l. 11s. 6d. one W. P. made his promissory note for 10l. payable to the defendant or order at a time which elapsed before the commencement of the suit, and that the defendant, before the note became due, indorsed it to the plaintiff for and on account of the said sum of 41. 14s. 6d. and of the sum of 51. 5s. 6d. paid by the plaintiff to the defendant; and that the plaintiff accepted and received the note for and on account of those sums; to this plea there was a general demurrer, and it was urged that the plea ought to have alleged that the note was received in satisfaction of the debt; but the court on argument held the plea good, and advised the plaintiff to withdraw his demurrer and reply, which he did; see Sard v. Rhodes, 1 M. & W. 153; Crisp v. Griffith, 2

C., M. & R. 159, ante, 173, n. (r). (u) See Plimley v. Weatley, 2 Bing. N. C. 249; 2 Scott, 423, S. C.; post, Ch. X. . i.

Notice of Dishonour.
(v) Hadwen v. Mendizabel, 10 Moore, 477; 2 Car. & P. 20, (Chit. j. 1271); post, 177. In this case the plaintiff received bills for goods sold and paid them away, but afterwards got them back, and they were, at the time of the trial for the price of the goods, lying protested in the hands of plaintiff's agent sbroad; and it was held he might recover the money due without delivering up the bills, and that defendant noust seek relief in equity if plaintiff did not deliver them up.

(x) Dangerfield v. Wilby, 4 Esp. N. P. C. 159, (Chit j. 648). The declaration contained a count upon a note made by the defendant payable to the plaintiff, and the money counts. At the trial the note was stated to be lost, but no evidence of the fact was offered, nor was there any evidence of its being destroyed or not in existence. It was proved, however, that on the money being demanded, the defendant had apologized for not having paid the money on account of the note. This was the whole of the plaintiff's case, and he contended that the note was only evidence of the consideration (which was stated to have been money lent), and that he might abandon the note and go for the consideration. But Lord Ellenborough said that as the note, for anything that appeared in evidence, hit!

. . . .

4.3

.......

300 X 20.50

1 2

g 1.4

138 70

1.5

...

122

1 903

. eggi

. 46

100 g 23 , ; o

(

. (3

, , y y 2" 12

ু গুৰ

وليشي 4 1 (

11

. .

-∴.6 4 (2 , K

. .

_k, s)

1.7%

...

111

 $g(\theta)$

125

1

į,

, d

(P

, 3

. e $

1

, p.,

. 1

.#

70

But it has been recently decided, that although a party, who has, in pay- IV. Dement of a debt for goods sold, received an acceptance of his debtor in pay- livery of a ment cannot in general sue him for the amount whilst the bill is outstanding Note to the in a third person's hands, yet if the bill be dishonoured, the debt for goods Payee, sold may be sued for; and it suffices if the bill be returned to the plaintiff at &c. any time before the trial(z). And where the defendant had given the plaintiff in payment for goods certain bills of *exchange which were afterwards dis- [*177] honoured, and thereupon the latter sued him for the price of the goods, it was held that the plaintiff was not even bound to produce the bills at the trial, and that proof of the fact of their being in the possession of his agent at the time was sufficient to show that the defendant could not be called upon by a third person(a).

So it suffices for the plaintiff, when the bill was received in satisfaction from a third person, and the original defendant (the debter) was not a party to it, to prove the due presentment for acceptance or payment, and the dishonour, without showing that notice thereof was given to the drawer or to the defendant, unless the latter can prove that he sustained some actual loss for want of such notice(b); and if the defendant admit the refusal of the drawee to accept the bill, although he requested the creditor to present it again for acceptance, this will be unnecessary, and the creditor may recover his original demand without further proof of the dishonour of the bill(c). So, if a bill or note be not negotiable for want of the words "or order," the creditor may sue for the original consideration without proof of notice of dishonour(d). But in a case where the defendant, being indebted to the plaintiff, gave him a promissory note for 45l. which was dishonoured, and the latter afterwards agreed to accept 5s. in the pound, to be secured by the acceptance of a bill for 111. 5s. by the defendant's brother, which was accordingly given, but the original note remained in the plaintiff's possession, and was to revive if the acceptance was not honoured, and the bill was not paid was in existence, it might be still in circulation, so that the defendant might be subjected twice to the payment of the same demand; without therefore proving the note destroyed, the plaintiff was not entitled to recover; sec as to lost bills, post, Ch. VI. s. iii.

(y) Ante, 124, note (s).
(z) Burden v. Halton, I Moore & P. 223;
4 Bing. 454, (Chit. j. 1374). Therefore where the defendant had given the plaintiff bills for goods, which bills had been transferred to a third person, but at the time of the trial of an action for the value of the goods, though not at the commencement of it, they were again in the plaintiff's hands over-due and unpaid by the defendant; it was held that he was liable notwithstanding he had given the hills; and per Best, C. J. "There is no evidence of these bills having been transferred to the indorsces for consideration, and they were sent back to the plaintiff without any money passing. The authorities show that if the bills had remained in the hands of third persons that would have been a defence to the action, because the defendant might have been called on to pay them; but as they were in the hands of the plaintiff and overdue at the time of the trial that could never happen."

(a) Hadwen v. Mendizabel, 10 Moore, 477; 2 Car. & P. 20, (Chit. j. 1271); ante, 176, note (v). On motion for a new trial, Best, C. J. said, "It was proved that the original bills were in the possession of the plaintiff's agent, and I thought that he had a right to retain them until the defendant was ready to pay. In Dangerfield v. Wilby, (4 Esp. Rep. 159), (Chit. j. 649), ante, 176, note (x), the plaintiff declared on the note, which might have been in existence and in the hands of a third person, as its absence was not accounted for. The present case however is wholly different. The action was not brought on the bills. If it had been, no doubt they must have been produced. The plaintiff however relied on his original demand, and declared for goods sold and delivered, the consideration for which the bills were given, and he thereby threw the onus of setting up the bills on the defendant." Park and Burrough, Justices, concurred; et per Gaselle, J. "The defendant may pay the amount of the verdict into court and move that execution may be stayed until the bills are delivered up: but it appears to me that there is no ground to set aside the verdict."

(b) Bishop v. Rowe, 3 Maule & S. 362, (Chit. j. 921); Warrington v. Fubor, 8 East, 242, (Chit. j. 733). See this more fully, post, Ch X. s. l. Notice of Dishonour.

(c) Hickling r. Hardy, 7 Taunt. 812; 1 Moore, 61, (Chit. j. 983).

(d) See Plimley r. Westley, 2 Scott, 428; S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 249; 1 Hodges, 324; post, Ch. X. s. i. Notice of Dishonour.

IV. De-Bill or Note to the Payee, &c.

the day it became due, but on the following morning the defendant tendered 121. to the plaintiff, including its amount and expenses thereon, which the plaintiff refused to accept, and brought an action on the note, the court held he could not recover, as the plaintiff had not demanded payment of the bill of the defendant before the tender, as he ought to have done(e).

We shall, however, hereafter see(f) that in general when the holder has been guilty of neglect, either in presenting a bill for acceptance when necessary, or for payment, or in giving notice of non-acceptance or of non-payment, or by giving time to the acceptor, this conduct will render the original delivery of the bill equivalent to a payment of the debt, and discharge such debtor from all liability (g), unless the bill or note should turn out to be inadmissible in evidence, in consequence of a defect in the stamp(h); or be so framed as [*178] not to afford a remedy over *against prior parties to the bill or note(i); in which cases the laches of the holder cannot be taken advantage of. We shall hereafter also consider the effect of the loss of bills, notes and checks (k).

On Dishonour of Bill, when original Liability revives(1).

In general, when the bill is dishonoured, and the holder uses due diligence, not only the parties to the bill are liable to be sued thereon, but the first liability on the original consideration revives (m). And though where A. sold goods to B. for which the latter was to pay in a bill at three months, and B. gave A. a check on his bankers (who were also bankers of A.) requiring them to pay A. on demand in a bill at three months, and A. paid the check into the bankers, and took no bill from them, but the amount was transferred in the banker's books from B.'s account to A.'s with the knowledge of both, and the bankers failed before the check became due, it was held that A.

(e) Soward r. Palmer, 2 Moore, 274; 8 Taunt. 277, (Chit. j. 1025)

(f) See post, Chapters VII. to X.

(g) 4 Ann. c. 9, s. 7; Smith r. Wilson, Andr. 187, (Chit. j. 285); Chamberlain r. Delarive, 2 Wils. 353, (Chit. j. 377); Ward t. Evans, 2 Lord Raym. 930, (Chit. j. 216).

(h) Ante, 124, note (s).
(i) Plimley v. Westley, 2 Scott, 423, ante, 177, note (d)

(k) Post, Ch. VI. s. iii.
(l) The right to sue for the original consideration on dishonour of bill or note, is not destroyed as between the original parties by an alteration of the instrument. See post, 181,

(m) Smith r. Wilson, Andr. 187; Popley r. Ashley, 6 Mod. 147, (Chit. j. 225); Ward r. Evans, 2 Lord Raym. 928; Hickling r. Hardy, 7 Taunt. 312; Bishop r. Rowe, 3 Maule & S. 362, (Chit. j. 921); Tempest r. Ord, 1 Madd. 89; Bedder v. Wall, Peake, Add. 41; Taylor v. Briggs, Mood. & M. 28; Smith v. Ferrand, 7 Bar. & C. 19; 9 D. & R. 803, (Chit. j. 1338); Robinson v. Reed, 9 Bur. & C. 449; 4 Man. & Ry. 349, (Chit. j 1431). Tempest r. Ord, 1 Madd. 89. The manager of a colliery, paying a creditor on the colliery with a bill which is not paid, the colliery remains liable to the payment of the original debt. Per the Vice-Chancellor: The justice of the case, independent of authorities, is clear. Crowther has supplied goods, and receives a bill, which turns out to be mere waste paper, and ought not therefore to be considered as a payment. Where a bill of exchange is given in payment of a debt, and the bill is not paid, the creditor, unless he has purchased the bill out and out, has a right to resort to his original cause of action. So, if before a bill becomes due, it is dishonoured, the creditor may resort to his original debt.

Ward r. Evans, Lord Raym. 928, (Chit. j. 216). A banker's note was paid to plaintif's servant at noon, and presented for payment the next morning, at which time the banker stopped payment. On a case reserved, the Court held it was presented in time, and judgment was given for the plaintiff for the original consideration.

Puckford v. Maxwell, 6 T. R. 52, (Chit. j. 531). The defendant having been arrested by the plaintiff for 801. gave a draft for 451. and promised in a few days to settle the remainder, on which the plaintiff consented to his being discharged out of custody. The draft was dishonoured, and the defendant was again arrested upon the same affidavit. On a rule to show cause why he should not be discharged out of custody, it was urged that the draft having been accepted as part payment, could not be treated as a nullity. But per Lord Kenyon, in cases of this kind, if the bill which is given in payment do not turn out to be productive, it is not that which it purports to be, and which the party receiving it expects it to be, and therefore he may consider it as a nullity, and act as if no such bill had been given. These questions have frequently arisen at Nisi Prius, where they have always been determined in the same way. Rule discharged. See post, 820 (21).

2.3

171

11.1

1,5

्रश

1525

الا) تر

42

. .

50

Ö

-43

31 þ

i.e

7

could not recover the value of the goods from B., because A., instead of IV. Detaking bills from his bankers, having agreed to leave the check with them, livery of a it was as if he had discounted it with them, and then deposited the mo- Note to the ney(n); yet where the amount was not so transferred to A.'s account, it Payee, was held that B. was still liable for the goods(o). And where A. wishing &c. to send goods to B. employed C. to carry and deliver them, and engaged On Disto pay C. for the freight, and C., on delivering them according to the order, honour of Bill, when took a bill of exchange from B., and which was not paid, it was held *that original A. was liable to pay the amount of the freight to C., notwithstanding his Liability taking the bill(p). And if a captain sign a bill of lading, and it is stated revives. that the freight is to be paid by the consignees on the delivery of the cargo, [*179] either generally, or to be paid in cash, or by approved bills, he does not, by taking a bill from the consignee, give up his claim on the consignor (q), unless he took the bill voluntarily and for his own accommodation, when he might have received cash(r). And if in case (there being no charterparty) the captain of a ship deliver the cargo, and as the best thing he can do for all parties under the existing circumstances, take a bill of the agent of the persons to whom the cargo on board belongs for the amount of the freight, this does not discharge the owners of the cargo, but they are liable for freight if the bill be dishonoured(s); though indeed it would be otherwise if it appeared he might have had money of the agent, and chose to take the bill voluntarily (t). And where a person, in payment of goods, gives an or-

(n) Bolton v. Richards, 6 T. R. 139, (Chit. j. 538); Vernon v. Boverie, 2 Show. 296, (Chit. j. 166); Ex parte Blackburne, 10 Ves.

204, 206, (Chit. j. 706).

(o) Brown v. Kewley, 2 Bos. & Pul. 518; Ex parte Dickson, in the matter of Parker, a bankrupt, cited 6 T. R. 142. Dickson sold sugars to Parker, for which the latter was to pay him in one month by a good bill at two months. Parker gave Dickson a check on his bankers at Liverpool, requesting them to pay him in a bill at three months; the Liverpool bankers drew upon their agents in London, in favour of Dickson for the amount, but before the last bill became due Parker and the banker became bankrupt. The Chancellor ordered that Dickson should prove the bill under the commission against the bankers and their agents, and claim the rest under Parker's commission.

See Harley v. Greenwood, 5 B. & Ald. 95.

(p) Tapley v. Martens, 3 T. R. 451, (Chit. j. 625). This was an action of debton charterparty from London to Ancona. Plaintiff delivered his cargo to the consignee of defendant, and applied to him for the payment of the freight. Plaintiff took a bill of exchange drawn by the consignee on defendant, which was not paid, in consequence of the consignee becoming insolvent. It was urged on the part of the defendant, that the plaintiff had given personal credit to the consignee by taking the bill in question, the defendant having furnished the consignee with money for that purpose. The court held that the plaintiff neither having taken the bill for his accommodation, nor having been guilty of any laches in enforcing the payment. the bill could not be considered as payment of the plaintiff's domand, and that the defendant was liable for the amount under the charterparty; but see Strong v. Hart, 6 B. & C. 160; 9 D. & R. 189, (Chit. j. 1318); infra, note (t). See also wyatt v. Hertford, 3 East, 147, (Chit. j. 664); Marsh v. Pedder and others, 4 Campb. 257; 1 Holt, C. N. P. 72, (Chit. j. 945); Everett v. Collins, 2 Campb. 515, (Chit. j. 818).

(q) Christy v. Row, 1 Taunt. 300; Taylor v. Briggs, Mood. & M. 28, S. P.

(r) Strong v. Hart, 6 B. & C. 160, infra.

(s) Strong v. Hart, 2 Carr. & Pa. 55, infra. (t) Id. and see Wyatt v. Marquis of Hertford, 3 East, 147, (Chit. j. 664); and in Sheppard v. De Bernales, 13 East, 565, Lord Ellenborough said, "That if the clause in the bill of lading, that the consignee should pay the freight, were introduced with a view to the consignor's security, and made it incumbent on the master of the ship, at his peril, to look to the consignee under the bill of lading for payment of the freight, the plaintiff had no right to deliver to the plaintiff's agent, without first re-ceiving such payment, and his delivery without payment was, in that case, not a right and true delivery; but this clause was introduced for the master's benefit only, and merely to give him the option, if he thought fit, to insist upon his receiving freight abroad before he should make delivery of the goods; he had a right to waive the benefit of that provision, made in his favour, and to deliver without first receiving payment, and he is not precluded by such delivery from afterwards maintaining an action.'

Strong v. Hart, 6 B. & C. 160; 2 Car. & P. 55; 9 D. & R. 189, S. C. (Chit. j. 1313). The master, being also part-owner of a ship, carried a cargo from A. to B., and delivered it there to the consignee (he having signed bills of lading, making the cargo deliverable to the consignees or their assigns, he or they paying freight for the same.) And the master took a bill for such freight, which was afterwards disbonoured, and an action was commenced

Bill or Note to the Payee, & c.

On Dishonour of original Liability revives.

der on his banker to pay the amount in bills, and the vendor takes bills for livery of a the amount, he will not lose his remedy against his original debtor, unless he be guilty of laches (u). And it has been decided, that where the manager of a colliery pays a creditor on the colliery with a bill, which is not paid, the colliery remains liable to the payment of the original debt(x).

Most of these cases were brought under the consideration of the Court of King's Bench in a recent case (y), where a tradesman, who had supplied Bill, when goods to a ship, sent in his account to the owner's agent and *ship's husband, and took his acceptance at three months for the amount, deducting discount for that time, which was the usual credit; and when the bill became due con-[*180] sented to a renewal of it, adding interest, and in like manner took a third acceptance, which was dishonoured, and the agent soon afterwards failed: the balance in his hands in favour of his principal (the ship-owner) having during all this time exceeded the amount of the bill, which was however unknown to the principal, who had never inspected the agent's accounts; and it was held, that the tradesman might sue the ship-owner for the amount of his claim, and that it was not discharged by the acceptance of the agent.

> In Exparte Blackburne(z) the Chancellor said, "I take it to be now clearly settled, that if there is an antecedent debt, and a bill is taken, without taking an indorsement, which bill turns out to be bad, the demand for the antecedent debt may be resorted to. It has been held, that if there is no antecedent debt, and A. carries a bill to B. to be discounted, and B. does not take A.'s name upon the bill, if it is dishonoured there is no demand; for there was no relation between the parties except that transaction; and the circumstance of not taking the name upon the bill is evidence of a purchase of it. of goods the law implies a contract that those goods shall be paid for. It is competent to the party to agree that the payment shall be by a particular bill. In this instance it would be extremely difficult to persuade a jury, under the direction of a judge, to say an agreement to pay by bills was satsified by giving a bill whether good or bad"(1).

against the consignor for the freight. It was held, that the jury were properly directed to find for the defendant, if they thought that the captain took the bill voluntarily and for his own convenience; and that the defendant was not bound to prove that an offer was made to pay in cash.

(u) Ex parte Dickson, cited in 6 T. R. 142, 143; ante, 178, n. (o); Ex parte Blackburne, 10 Ves. 204, (Chit. j. 706); accord; Bolton r. Richards, 1 Esp. Rep. 106, (Chit. j. 538); semb. contra.

(x) Tempest v. Ord, 1 Mai'd. 89; anle, 178, note (m).

(y) Robinson r. Hend, 9 B. & C. 449; 4 M. & R. 349, (Chit. j. 1431); sed ride Reed

v. White, 5 Esp. 122, ante, 45, note (q).
(z) 10 Ves. 206; S. P. Tempes v. Ord, 1 Madd. 89; ante, 178, n. (m). See post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer, Liability of party delicering a Bill, &c.

(1) { Where a party agrees to take the note of a third person payable to bearer as money, absolutely, it will discharge the debt though the maker be insolvent, if there be no fraud on the part of the vendor. Scruggs v. Gass, 8 Yerg. 175.

Where bills of exchange are transmitted by a debtor to his creditor to be sold, and the debtor directs the creditor to credit him with the proceeds; and the creditor sells the bills partly for cash and partly for negotiable notes, and gives the debtor credit for the amount in two distinct items, first for the notes, and secondly for the balance in cash; this is a more provisional payment, and if the notes are not paid he may recur to his original claim. Hamilton v. Cunningham, 2 Brock. 350. But a payment which is merely provisional, in its inception, may be converted into an absolute payment, by the subsequent conduct of the creditor. Ibid.

Where a note signed by 14 persons was taken up by 4 of them, who gave in satisfaction thereof their own joint and several note; held such a payment as would enable the four to maintain an action against a co-promissor in the first note for contribution. Chandler v. Brainard, 14 Pick. 285. }

The rules laid down in respect to the operation of payments by bills and notes are in general recognized in the United States; but with some seeming diversity arising from local usages. In New York a bill of exchange or promiseory note, either of the debtor or any other person, is 111

. . .

....

1.3

ı, İ

1,1 jez

And where A. being the creditor of B., and having an account with C., IV. Dedirected B. to remit the money to C., and B., keeping cash with a banking-livery of a Bill or

Note to the Payee,

Payee, not payment of any precedent debt, unless it be so expressly agreed. Murray v. Governeur, 2 &c.

John. Cas. 438. Herring v. Sanger, 3 John. Cas. 71. Tobey v. Barber, 5 John. Rep. 68.

Schermerhora v. Lomis, 7 John. Rep. 311. Johnson v. Weed, 9 John. Rep. 310. Putnam v. On Dis-Lewis, 8 John. Rep. 389. Wetherby v. Mann, 11 John Rep. 513. Arnold v. Camp, 12 John. honour of Rep. 409. See Barelli, Torre & Co. v. Brown, 1 M'Cord, 449. See also Gilmore v. Bussey, Bills, when 3 Fairf. 418; Watkins v. Hill, 8 Pick. 522; Bill v. Porter, 9 Conn. 23; New York State Bank v. original State of World & S. Hiszing v. Pauloud 2 Hall 5.17. Neither is a receipt for a note, as 1 inchiliar Fletcher, 8 Wend. 85; Higgins v. Packard, 2 Hall, 547. \ Neither is a receipt for a note, as Liability. cash, evidence that it was taken as an absolute payment. The receipt of a note is merely a suspension of the right of action on the original consideration, during the time allowed for the payment of it. Tobey v. Barber. The creditor is not obliged to sue upon such note; he may return it when dishonored, and resort to his original demand. It therefore only postpones the time of payment of the old debt until a default be made in the payment of the note. Ibid. Yet the acceptance of a negotiable note on account of a prior debt, is so far evidence prima fucie of satisfaction, that no recovery can be had on such prior debt without producing the note at the trial and cancelling it, or showing that it had been lost without having been indorsed. Holmes v. De Camp, I John. Rep. 34. Angel r. Felton. 8 John. Rep. 149. Cummings v. Hackley, 8 John. Rep. 202. Pinturd v. Tackington, 10 John. Rep. 104. Smith v. Lockwood, 10 John. Rep. 366. Clenn v. Smith, 2 Gill & John. 493. And if the creditor part with the note or bill, or if it be the note or acceptance of a third person, and the creditor be guilty of laches in not presenting it for payment in due time, it will discharge the debtor from the original debt. Tobey v. Barber. And the same rules apply to a check given in payment of a pre-existing debt, for unless it be paid by the drawee, resort may be had by the holder to his original debt. The people v. Howell, 4 John. Rep. 296. And if, upon a sale of goods, the notes of a third person payable at a future day, are, upon a fraudulent misrepresentation, agreed to be received as an absolute payment, at the risk of the vendor, the vendor may immediately bring an action for the goods sold, for the fraud will avoid the transaction. Wilson v. Force, 6 John. Rep. 110. If there be an agreement to accept notes in payment of goods sold, and before delivery of the goods, the notes turn out to be bad, the party is not bound to receive them unless he agreed to receive them at all events, and to run the risk of their being paid. Roget v. Merritt, 2 Caines' Rep. 117. And if a party receive in payment for goods sold, counterfeit bank notes, or other notes which prove of no value, it is not a payment, although the debtor paid them bona fide supposing them to be valid, unless the vendor took upon himself expressly, the risk of forgery. Markle v. Hatfield, 2 John. Rep. 455. And see Ellis v. Wild, 6 Mass. Rep. 321. Breed v. Cook & Caldwell, 15 John. Rep. 241. Keene v. Thompson, 4 Gill and Johnson, 463.

A negotiable promissory note is not an absolute extinguishment of a simple contract debt, but only sub modo; and therefore cannot be pleaded in answer to a declaration upon a simple contract. It is only evidence under the general issue, and the effect of such evidence may be destroyed by producing and cancelling the note on the trial. Hughes r. Wheeler, 8 Cowen, 77.

In the Supreme Court of the United States it has been held that no action can be maintained for goods sold by a person who has received a negotiable note as conditional payment and has passed that note away. Harris r. Johnson, 3 Cranch, Rep. 311; and that a note, without a special contract, does not of itself discharge the original cause of action, unless by express agreement it is received as payment. Semb. Sheehy r. Mandeville, 6 Cranch, 553; and that where a note has been received as conditional payment, it will be a discharge of the debt, unless it be proved that due diligence has been used to receive the money, and that it cannot be obtained. Clark v. Young, 1 Cranch, 191.

In Massichusetts, a note of the debtor, not negotiable, is not deemed a payment of a pre-existing debt. Greenwood v. Curtiss, 4 Mass. R. 93. Maneely v. M'Gee, 6 Mass. R. 148. But it has long been settled as law in that State that a negotiable note, given in consideration of a simple contract debt, is a discharge of such debt; and that the law will presume that a negotiable note is agreed by the parties to be payment of such contract. This presumption however may be encountered by proving an express agreement that the note should be received as collateral security. Thatcher v. Dinamore, 5 Mass. Rep, 299. Maneely v. M'Gee, Chapman v. Durant, 10 Mass. Rep. 47. If the note of a third person be taken in payment of a debt, it operates as a complete discharge of the debt. Wiseman v. Lyman, 7 Mass. Rep. 286. { Hutchins v. Olcott, 4 Verm. Rep. 549.} However, where an order was drawn on a third person in favor of the vendor in part payment of the cargo of a vessel, and payable on the return of the ressel from her voyage, it was held no payment of the original demand, although upon the giving of the order and receiving payment of the residue of the sum, the vendor had signed a receipt in full. The court did not think that there was sufficient proof that the vendor was to depend in all events for the payment of this sum upon the vessel's return; but that this event was probably to fix the length of credit. Tucker v. Maxwell, 11 Mass. Rep. 143. And if A. sells goods to B. and agrees to receive certain notes in payment, and it be afterwards discovered that the notes are forgeries, though unknown to the parties at the time, no action lies against B. for the price of the goods. Aliter if payment by the notes was not part of the original stipulation, but an accommodation to the vendee. Ellis v. Wild, 6 Mass. Rep. 321. See 1 Peters' Rep. 266.

A promissory note payable on demand, with interest after a limited time, will sustain an ac-

IV. Delivery of a Bill or Note to the Payee, &c.

On dishon-

our of Bill, when original Liability revives.

house wherein C. was a partner, gave an order to the banking-house to place the money due to the credit of C., so as to make the same as a payment by tion brought before the expiration of the time; therefore, in the case of goods sold and delivered, to be paid for by such a note, if the vendee neglects to give the note, the vender may forthwith bring assumpsit for the price of the goods. Loring v. Gurney, 5 Pick. 15.

In Maine, it has been held, that the fact of drawing a bill, or making a negotiable note, which is received by the creditor, is presumptive evidence that it was intended to be an extinguishment of the original demand or cause of action: But this presumption may be rebutted or explained by the agreement of the parties, or by proof of usages or circumstances inconsistent with such presumption. Variety 8 Noblehorough 2 Greent 121 sumption. Varier v. Nobleborough, 2 Greenl. 121.

If bills are received on account of a debt, and protested for non-payment, and in an account rendered, the drawer is charged with the usual damages, this amounts to an election to consider the bill as payment. Watts v. Willing, 2 Dall. Rep. 100. See also Chapman v. Steinmetz, I Dall. Rep. 161. And if in such a case, the creditor return the bill and request a remittance on account of the debt, this amounts to an extinguishment and waiver of the bill; and, if it be one of a set, to an extinguishment of all of them. Ingraham v. Gibbs, 2 Dall. Rep. 134.

A note given by a debtor to the agent of his creditor for goods sold in order to obtain a discount thereon, and afterwards given up through misrepresentation of the drawer, is no extinguishment of the original debt. Lewis v. Manly, 2 Yeates' Rep. 200. Suckley v. Furze, 15 John.

Rep. 338.

The taking of a bill of exchange is, at most, only prima facie evidence of a satisfaction and extinguishment of an antecedent debt. Quere, how far even this is to be relied on, as a general presumption, in foreign states. Wallace v. Agry. 4 Mason, 336.

presumption, in foreign states. Wallace v. Agry, 4 Mason, 336.

Where a purchaser of goods transfers without indorsement, a note in payment, he thereby guarantees that the sum expressed in the note is due, and constitutes the seller his agent to see for the same in his name; and if suit be fairly brought and duly prosecuted, and a set-off is established by the maker, the seller may resort to the purchaser for the price of the goods sold. Jones r. Yeargain, 1 Devereux's Rep. 420.

Where a bank discounts a note for the purpose of renewing a former loan in the usual way, the negotiation seems to be equivalent to a new loan, and an independent payment of the old debt; not merely giving one note as satisfaction of another. Letcher v. Bank of the Commonwealth, 1 Dana's Ken. Rep. 84.

Where the cashier of a bank, on a note holden by the bank falling due, accepted a check of a third person for part of the amount, and a new note for the balance, and delivered up the old note, it was held, on the check being dishonored, that an action might be maintained on the original note against the maker to recover the amount of the check; and that the bare fact of delivering up the old note was not evidence that the check and new note were received in payment. Oleou r. Rathbone, 5 Wend. Rep. 490.

Where, however, the suit was brought in the name of the cashier, and there was no evidence that the note had been transferred to him, or that the suit was instituted in his name by the direction of the bank, it was holden that there could be no recovery. Ib.

Whether the bank, after the note was delivered up and the check protested, could transfer the note so as to enable the assignee to maintain an action in his own name, quere. 1b.

If one give his note, and accept a discharge of a subscription, such fact affords no presumption, either way, of a compromise or a substitution of the note for his subscription, unless he knew of the full grounds of his defence at the time. Middlebury College v. Williamson, 1 Verm. Rep. 212.

The circumstance of giving a note in payment of a subscription, does not preclude the party from defending, by proving such facts as were supposed to exist when he settled, but of which he knew no evidence whatever. Ibid.

Where A received certain promissory notes of B against a third person, in payment for services rendered for B on terms to return them if not paid, it was held that A was not obliged to receive the articles, in which the notes were payable, at a greater price than the cash value. Keyes v. Carpenter, 3 Id. 209.

A creditor receives from his debtor in payment a promissory note of other parties not indersed by the debtor—some of the signatures prove to be forged. The creditor cannot sustain an action on the original consideration, unless as soon as he discovers the forgery he tenders a return of the note, or unless with due diligence he has exhausted all the liabilities on it. Pope & Hickman r. Nance & Co., 1 Minor's Alabama Rep. 299.

It is a general rule that the payee of an indorsed note or bill cannot recover on his original demand, so long as such note or bill is outstanding in the hands of a third person; but the mere indorsement of a bill or note, by the payee, is not payment of the original demand even as to him. Davidson v. The Borough of Bridgeport, 8 Conn. Rep. 472.

Where a creditor receives the transfer of a negotiable note in payment of a precedent debt, he takes it, although transferred to him before maturity, subject to all equities existing between the original parties. Rosa v. Brotherson, 10 Wend. R. S5.

\[
 \begin{align*}
 \text{ See also, on this subject, Goodrich v. Barney, 2 Verm. 422. Geiser v. Kershner, 4 Gill & John. 305. Curtis v. Ingham, 2 Verm. 287. Barrett & Co. v. Hall, 1 Aikin, 269. Soow v. Perry, 9 Pick. 539. \}
 \]

717

. 11 119 : 23

44

:::"

.: 2

....

m+,*

1-12

24

13 7

. . .

ئ. ي

:-41

9 %

, 2

300

1.50

a bill at a month to A.; and the banking-house accordingly wrote to C. on IV. Delivaccount of the order, who answered, that on that day month he would credit ery of a A., and on the same day wrote in the same manner to A., but before the ex- Note to the piration of the month, when the credit was to have been given, and before it Payee, had been actually given, C. and the banking-house became bankrupt, this &c. prospective engagement to pay was holden no payment(a).

But where the seller of goods received from the purchaser an order upon his banker for the price in these words, "Please to pay the Gormersal Mill Company 1931. equal to six months," requiring him in effect to pay in money, and the latter (with whom money had been deposited to meet that and certain other demands) offered to pay in cash, deducting discount for the period of credit, or by a bill upon a third person, which the seller elected to take; it was holden that (the bill having afterwards been dishonoured) he could not sue the purchaser for the price of the goods, having elected to take the bill instead of money, minus the discount (b).

Bills, in lieu of which other bills are given, if permitted to remain with Renewed the holder, may be sued upon in case the latter bills are not paid(d). *And Bills(c). where the holder of a bill for 181, which had been dishonoured, agreed to take Sl. in cash and another bill for 10l. from the drawer, and the drawer accordingly drew another, bill upon the same acceptor for that amount, and while in the hands of the drawer, the acceptor, without the knowledge of the drawer, altered the date and vitiated the bill; it was held, that the latter bill being a nullity, the first was not discharged, and that the drawer was liable upon it(e). But where a renewed bill has been taken and paid, the party is not justified in suing on the former bill, which was left in his hands, although costs incured in taking a warrant of attorney, as an additional security, are left unpaid contrary to agreement (f). And where after a bill of exchange became due, and whilst it was in London, where it had been sent for presentment for payment, the person who had indorsed it to the plaintiff came to him with another bill for the same amount, and prevailed on him to take it for and on account of and in renewal of the first bill, and before the second bill became due, and without delivering it back, the plaintiff brought an action upon the first bill against the acceptor; it was held, that he could not recover even the expenses of noting and postages (g). Unless, however, it appear that the second bill is taken in renewal or substitution of the first, and at the

(a) Pedder v. Watt, Peake, Add. 41, (Chit. j. 547, 553).

(b) Smith v. Ferrand, 7 B. & C. 19; 9 D. & R. 803, (Chit. j. 1338); and see Strong v. Hart, 6 B. & C. 160; 9 D. & R. 189, (Chit. j. 1318); ante, 179, note (t).

(c) As to bills given in satisfaction of prior bill or note, see Sard v. Rhodes, 1 M. & W. 153; Crisp v. Griffiths, 2 C., M. & R. 159, ante, 173, note (r); 174, note (c). (d) Ex parte Barclay, 7 Ves. 597, (Chit. j. 656). Barclay was indorsee and holder of two bills drawn by Kemp upon Dearlow, and indorsed by Clay to Barclay; these bills were dishonoured, and Clay drew two other bills upon Sampson for the amount of the former bills, interest and charges, and the former bills were permitted to remain with Barclay; one of the two last bills was paid by Sampson. Upon petition by Barclay to be allowed to prove these bills under a commission of bankrupt against Kemp, it was objected on the ground that the two latter bills were accepted in discharge of them. Lord Chancellor, "If the two bills are dishonoured, and two others given 'in lieu' of them, but the former allowed to stay in the hands of the holder, that fact will give a construction to the words 'in lieu,' and the meaning will be only in case they are paid." See also Bishop v. Rowe, 8 Maule & S. 363, (Chit. j. 921).

(e) Sloman r. Cox, 1 Crom. M. & R. 471; 5 Tyrw. 174.

(f) Dillon r. Rimmer, 1 Bing. 100; 7 Moore, 427, (Chit. j. 1160); but see ante, 173, note (y).

(g) Kendrick r. Loniax, 2 Crom. & J. 405; 2 Tyrw. 438, (Chit. j. 1592); quære, as to the right to recover such expenses in general, at all events they are not recoverable unless laid specially in the declaration, not being a necessary consequence of the dishonour; id. ib. 409,

IV. Deliv- time of taking the second bill interest is due upon the first, and the first bill ery of a Bill or is allowed to remain in the holder's possession, an action may be maintained upon the first bill to recover the interest due thereon, notwithstanding the Note to the second bill is paid at maturity (h). Payee, &c.

V. Consequences of Alterations in Bills and Notes.

V. Consequences of in Bills and Notes(i).

If a bill of exchange or promissory note be altered without the *consent of the parties in any material part, as in the date, sum, or time when payable, or consideration, or place of payment, such alteration will, at common law, and independently of the stamp acts, render the bill or note wholly invalid as [*182] against any party not consenting to such alteration; and this, although it be in the hands of an innocent holder. Thus an alteration in the date of a bill of exchange after it has been accepted and indorsed, without the acceptor's or indorser's consent, will discharge them from liability (1) even though such alteration were made by a stranger (k); and in all cases where the date of the instrument is material, as is generally the case with bills, notes, and checks(1), any alteration or addition, as by a stranger's obliterating the top of the figure six in a bill, dated 26th March, so as to make it appear as dated the 20th March(m), or by altering the word date into sight(n), will be fatal; so an alteration in the statement of the consideration, as it professes to evidence by the instrument that which must otherwise be proved aliunde, will discharge

> (h) Lumley v. Musgrave, 4 Bing. N. C. 9; 5 Scott, 230; S. C., Lumley v. Hudson, 4 Bing. N. C. 15; 5 Scott, 238, S. C. Assumpsit by the executors of the indorsee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange for 5081; plea, an agreement between testator and defendant, by which, after the bill had become due and been dishonoured, it was agreed that a second bill drawn by one Hudson and accepted by de-fendant for the like sum of 5081. should be delivered to the testator, which, when paid, was to be in full satisfaction and discharge of the cause of action in the count mentioned, averring that the substituted bill was afterwards given and subsequently paid. Issue having been taken upon this plea, defendant offered no evidence in support of it, relying on the facts therein stated as the necessary legal inference arising out of the transaction. On the part of the plaintiff it was proved, that when the second bill was givon (which was three months after the dishonour of the first) the first was allowed to remain in the testator's hands with an understanding that interest was to be paid thereon until the second bill should be paid: held, that notwithstanding the principal debt had been discharged by the payment of the second bill, the plaintiffs were entitled to recover in the shape of damages interest upon the first bill.

(i) See in general, Chitty's Stamp Acts, 23 to 38. Good defence under plea of non-acceptance; Cock v. Coxwell, 2 C., M. & R. 291; S. C. 4 Dowl. 187; 1 Gale, 177; Calvert v. Baker, 4 M. & W. 417; 7 Dowl. 17, S. C.; poet, Part II. Ch. IV. Defences and Pleas.

to pleading identity of altered bill, see Haydon v. Thompson, 2 N. & M. 403.

(k) Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 320; 5 T. R. 867; 2 H. Bla. 141; 1 Anstr. 225, S. C.; Com. Dig. Fait, (F 1); Powell r. Divett, 15 East, Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 320; 1 Anstr. 225; 2 H. Bla. 141, (Chit. j. 482, 490), S. C. in error. In an action by indorsees against the acceptor of a bill, payable three months after date to Wilkinson and Cooke, the declaration had one count on the bill as dated the 20th March, and another as dated the 26th March. The jury found a special verdict, stating that the bill was drawn and dated the 26th, that it was accepted, and that afterwards, and whilst it remained in the hands of Wilkinson and Cooke, the date was altered from the 26th to the 20th March without the defendant's knowledge, and by some person unknown to the jury. That after such alteration it was indorsed for a valuable consideration by Wilkinson and Cooke to the plaintiffs. After two arguments, Lord Kenyon, Ashurst, and Grose, Justices, held that the alteration, although by a stranger, vacated the bill. Buller, J. differed, but on error judgment for defendant affirmed. See Henfree r. Bromley, 6 East, 309.

(1) Walton v. Hastings, 4 Campb. 223; 1 Stark. R. 215, (Chit. j. 944, 953); S. C. Outhwaite v. Luntley, 4 Campb. 179, (Chit. j.

(m) Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 320, supra-(n) 2 Stark. Ev. 294; but see 1 Taunt. 20.

(1) { Hervey v. Hervey, 15 Maine Rep. 357. }

11.

شند.

..; :

:11

يان مد a, 35

.. 52

-195

.

511

75

198

12

the parties(o). So when a bill has been accepted generally, and the draw- V. Conseer, without the consent of the drawee, adds a particular place of payment quences of Alterations under the acceptance, this is considered a material alteration, and discharges in Bills and the acceptor, although made since the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, and still operat- Notes, &c. ing only as a general acceptance, because it induces the holder to present 1. At at the particular place instead of presenting to the acceptor himself, and Common the bill might be treated as dishonoured, and the defendant be put to in- Law. convenience when in fact no presentment had been made to $\lim(p)(1)$. Nor will a *letter from the defendant's attorney to the plaintiff complaining of the [*183] alteration, and stating that the defendant had been prepared for payment, and that the plaintiff might have the money by calling at his house, be any acknowledgement of a subsisting debt, so as to support a count upon an account stated (q). So where the drawer of a bill of exchange, which was accepted payable at the house of a banker who had become insolvent, erased the name of that banker, and substituted the name of a solvent banker, without the consent of the acceptor, such alteration was considered so material as at common law to invalidate the bill against him, though in the hands of an indorsee for a valuable consideration, who was ignorant of the circumstances, upon the ground that it caused the bill to carry with it the appear-

j. 761).

(p) Cowie v. Halsall, 4 Bar. & Ald. 197, (Chit. j. 1099); M'Intosh v. Haydon, Ry. & Moo. 362, (Chit. j. 1287); Tidmarsh v. Grover, 1 Maule & S. 735, (Chit. j. 891); The King v. Treble, 2 Taunt. 329, (Chit. j. 791); Sparkes v. Spur, MS. Chitty's Stamp Laws, 26; Calvert v. Baker, 4 M. & W. 417.

M'Intosh v. Haydon, Ry. & Moo. 862, (Chit. j. 1287). After the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, the drawee had accepted by writing the word "Accepted, J. Haydon." The drawer, without the control of without the acceptor's consent, added, "payable at Messrs. Ransom and Co. bankers, London. Lord Tenterden held that the acceptor was discharged, and said, "there is another view in which the words added materially alter the character of the bill. Suppose the indorsee, who was cognizant of such an alteration, were to pass the bill while current to another person without communicating the fact, and he to a third, the right of the last indorsee to sue his immediate indorser would, as the bill now appears, be complete upon default made at the bankers, and notice thereof; whereas in truth, the acceptor not having in reality undertaken to pay there, would have committed no default by such non-payment. I am of opinion, therefore, that the alteration is in a material part of the bill, and that the defendant (the acceptor) is in consequence discharged." See also S. P. in (o) Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 401, (Chit. Tidmarsh v. Grover, 1 Maule & S. 785, (Chit.

(Chit. j. 791); The King v. Treble, 2 Taunt. 329, (Chit. j. 791); and Desbrow v. Weatherley, 6 C. & P. 758, post, 190, note (r).

Sparkes v. Spur, 16th February, 1827, at Guidhall. The defendant had accepted the bill thus, "Accepted, I. Spur," and some person interlined in such acceptance "at Fry and Co." Abbott, C. J., on the authority of M'Intosh v. Haydon, nonsuited plaintiff. Upon motion for a new trial, after rule nisi, the question was much discussed; and Marson v. Petit, and Jacobs v. Josephs, 2 Stark. R. 45, were cited in support of the motion. Rule absolute on payment of costs. Lord Tenterden said, "the plaintiff would then have an opportunity of putting the question upon the record by tendering a bill of exceptions; that was the utmost the court could do, as the other judges were strongly inclined to think the nonsuit quite right. MS. Chitty's Stanip Laws, 26, note.

But see Marson v. Petit, 1 Campb. 82; and Trapp v. Spearman, 3 Esp. Rep. 57, (Chit. j. 619); semble contra, post, 194, note (a). But those cases were decided by learned judges, who considered that the addition of the place of payment was immaterial, and the above view of the effect of the alteration was not suggested.

When made by consent, see Walter v Cubley, 2 C. & M. 151, post, 184, note (b).
(q) Calvert r. Baker, 4 M. & W. 417.

^{(1) {} An alteration of a general acceptance of a bill by the addition of a place of payment, discharges the acceptor, if made without his privity. Desbrowe r. Wetherby, 1 Moo. & Rob. 438. S. C. 6 Car. & Payne, 758. S. P. Taylor r. Mosley, Idem, 439. Oakey v. Wilcox, 3 How. Rep. 330. }

Where after a note was made and indorsed, the maker, without the knowledge or consent of the indorser, (both of whom resided in Albany, where the note was made,) added in the margin "payable at the bank of America;" (which is in the city of New York,) and payment was accordingly demanded at that bank, and due notice of non-payment was sent by mail to the indorser at Albany, it was held that the addition of the place of payment was an immaterial alteration, and that the demand and notice was sufficient to charge the indorser. Bank of America v. Woodworth, 18 Johns. 815. But this judgment was afterwards reversed on error. 18 Johns. 391.

Notes.

1. At Common Law.

V. Conse- ance of solvency, by being directed to a solvent house instead of an insolquences of vent one, and thereby held out a false colour to the holder, and likewise va-Atterations ried the contract of the acceptor by superadding an order upon another house in Bills and to pay the bill(r). And where such an alteration has been made with a fraudulent intent, it will even amount to forgery(s). So if a joint note be altered into a joint and several note, the party who signed the former will be discharged, although his co-partner assented to the alteration(t); and if there he no privity between the holder and the party sued, the former cannot recover even for the consideration of the bill(u). And if the indorsee of a bill alter it in a material respect, he thereby not only vitiates the bill, but causes it to operate as a satisfaction of the original *debt, and consequently cannot sue the drawer, the immediate indorser, either upon the bill or for the original consideration(x). But as between the drawer and acceptor, such alteration, though it will vitiate the bill, will not prevent the former from suing the latter for the original consideration (y).

Immaterial Alterations.

But if an alteration be made in any part of a bill which is not material, even without consent, it will not, though made after the bill is complete, invalidate it either at common law or with regard to the stamp laws (z). Thus, when the law was considered to be, that an acceptance engaging to pay at a particular place did not qualify the contract, if after a bill had been accepted generally, the acceptor wrote upon it the place where he wished it to be presented for payment when due; or if the holder merely subscribed the real residence of the acceptor, to save trouble in inquiring after him, it was held that such addition would not render the bill void(a). And where in an

(r) Tidmarsh v. Grover, 1 Maule & S. 735; and Rex v. Treble, next note; and see per Bayley, B. in Walter v. Cubley, 2 C. & M. 151, post, 184, note (b).

(s) The King v. Treble, 2 Taunt. 329; Russ. & Ry. C. C. 164, (Chit. j. 791). Indictment for forgery, with intent to defraud Messrs. Kellingry William V. Market Edition 18 liway. Messrs. Kelliway, bankers in the country, made their re-issuable notes payable at Sir M. Bloxam and Co. bankers, London. Upon the failure of Bloxam and Co., Messrs. K. appointed Messrs. Ramsbottom and Co. their agents, and caused the words "Ramshottom and Co." to be engraved on small slips of paper, with which they covered the words "Sir M. Bloxam and Co." and fastened them on their notes with gum-water. It also appeared that a parcel of notes which had been sent by Messrs. Bloxam and Co. to Messrs. K. by the coach had been stolen, and that the defendant had caused similar slips of paper to be pasted over divers of the stolen notes, containing the words "Rams-bottom and Co." and negotiated them, but it did not appear that either Messrs. Ransbottom and Co. or Messrs K. had paid any of the notes so altered. It was objected for the defendant, this alteration did not amount to forgery, and the prisoner was respited until the opinion of the twelve judges could be had. After argument, the judges were of opinion that the act done by the prisoner was a false making, in a circumstance material to the value of the note and its facility of transfer, by making it payable at a solvent instead of an insolvent house. And sec further, post, Part III. Ch. I. Forgery.

(1) Perring v. Hone, 4 Bing. Rep. 28; 12 Moore, 135; 2 Carr. & P. 401, (Chit. j. 1313); ante, 46, note (g), 58, note (u). whether the holder of a joint and several promissory note, by merely erasing the name of one of two co-promisors, discharges the other; Nicolson v. Revill, 6 Nev. & Man. 192; S. C. 4 Ad. & Ell. 675; 1 Har. & Wol. 753.

(u) Long v. Moore, cited 3 Esp. Rep. 155. Assumpsit by indorsee of a bill against acceptor; after the acceptance, the word "date" was inserted in place of "sight," in which form it had originally been drawn. The acceptor being thereby discharged, the plaintiff wanted to go on the common counts, and offered in evidence another bill drawn by the same drawer on the defendant for the same amount, but not accepted. Lord Kenyon ruled that it could not be done; nor could the plaintiff recover at all against the acceptor (the defendant), for he was liable only by virtue of the instrument, which, being vitiated, his liability was at an end. See Master v. Miller, 4 T. R. 320; ante, 182, note (k).

(x) Alderson v. Langdale, 3 B. & Ad. 660. (y) Atkinson v. Hawdon, 2 Ad. & El. 628; 1 Har. 77, S. C., post, 191, note (d).
(z) Sanderson v. Symonds, 1 Brod. & Bing.

426; Walter v. Cubley, 2 C. & M. 151; 4 Tyr.

87, S. C.
(a) Trapp v. Spearman, 3 Fsp. Rep. 57; (Chit. j. 618). cited 2 C. & M. 153. In an action on a bill by an indorsee against the acceptor, the defence was that the bill had been altered by the insertion of the words "when due, at the Cross Keys, Blackfriars Road." But Lord Kenyon said that the alteration was immaterial, and the plaintiff had a verdict; and see 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78.

Patt 1

12.70

d'

15

. . .

14

07

action by the payee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange, it appeared that V. Consethe bill had originally been accepted by the defendant payable at his own quences of house, King's Road, Chelsea, but six weeks after the delivery of the bill to in Bills and the plaintiff, the defendant, at the plaintiff's request, altered the description by Notes. making it "payable at J. Bland's, Great Surrey Street, Blackfriars," it 1. At Comwas held that this alteration was immaterial, being a mere memorandum made mon Law. by consent(b). So where a bill was addressed to A. and B., by the style of A., B., and Co., and they accepted in the name of A. and B., and the address of the bill was afterwards altered to A. and B. striking out "and Co.," this was held an immaterial alteration, and that the acceptors were not discharged (c).

So an addition or correction to supply or declare the real intention of the Alteration parties may, as well at common law as under the stamp laws, be made even Mistake alafter a bill or note has been in circulation. Thus a bona fide holder of a lowed. bill accepted payable to --- (blank) or order, may, we have seen, insert his own name as payee, and indorse the same, without rendering the bill void(d). So the insertion of the words "or order," in a note intended to be negotiable, but which have been omitted by mistake, will not render it inoperative against any of the parties(e). *So where a person who was in- [*185] debted to another had agreed to give him a bill of exchange in payment, which was to be drawn by him and accepted by a third person, sent a promissory note drawn by himself and indorsed by the person who was to have been the acceptor, it was held that such promissory note might before it was circulated be altered into a bill of exchange, according to the original agreement of the parties, such alteration being considered as a mere correction of a mistake(f); and at the request of the drawer, a bill may before accep-Marson v. Petit, 1 Campb. 82. Indorsee against the acceptor of a bill. After acceptance, the drawee, without the consent of the defendant, wrote under his name the words " Prescott and Co." Lord Ellenborough held it immaterial, as it did not alter the responsibility of the acceptor; but those cases appear overruled, unless considered merely as authorities that a memorandum as to the place of payment may be made with consent of the parties; see observations of Lord Tenterden in M'Intosh v. Haydon, ante, 182, n. (p); Tidmarsh v. Grover, 1 Maule & S. 735, (Chit. j. 891); French v. Nicholson, 1 Marsh. 72; Cowie v. Halsall, 4 Bar. & Ald. 197; 3 Stark. 36, (Chit. j. 1099); ante, 182, note (p), and Walter v. Cubley, 2 Crom. & Mee. 151, next note.

(b) Walter v. Cubley, 2 Crom. & Mee. 151; 4 Tyr. 87, S. C. The objection in this case was that a fresh stamp became necessary.
(c) Farquhar v. Southey and others, 1 M. &

M. 14; 2 Car. & P. 497, (Chit. j. 1315). (d) Attwood v. Griffin, Ryan & Moo 425, (Chit. j. 1805); ante, 156, n. (l).

(e) Kershaw v. Cox, 3 Esp. Rep. 246, (Chit. 692); recognized in Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 485, 437, (Chit. j. 761), and 12 East, 475; and Bathe v. Taylor, 15 East, 517, (Chit. j. 857), and see Robinson v. Tourays, 1 Maule & 8. 217. In an action on a bill it appeared that the defendant, who was the payee, had indorsed the bill to one K., by whom it was indorsed to the plaintiffs; that they, on discovering the words "or order" had been omitted, returned it the day after it was drawn, and the drawer, with the consent of the defendant, then inserted those words. Le Blanc, J. held that no new stamp was necessary, that this was not a new instrument, as in Bowman v. Nicholl, but merely a correction of a mistake, and in furtherance of the original intention of the parties, and the plaintiff had a verdict. A new trial was afterwards refused. In Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 437, (Chit. j. 761), Le Blanc, J. said that Kershaw v. Cox could only be supported on the ground that the alteration was merely the correction of a mistake, for the alteration was a very material one. And see Coles v. Parkin, 12 East, 471. See post, 820, (22).

(f) Webber v. Robert Maddocks, 3 Camp. 1, (Chit. j. 831). Indorsee against acceptor. Samuel and Robert Maddocks being indebted to plaintiff in 110l. agreed to give him a bill at four months, to be drawn by Samuel and accepted by Robert. Instead of a bill they sent a note as follows:-

London, 10th Dec. 1810.

Four months after date, I promise to pay to my own order one hundred and ten pounds, value received.

S. Maddocks.

Indorsed, S. Maddocks. R. Maddocks.

The plaintiff returned it that it might be altered into a bill, according to the agreement. The words "I promise to" were immediately struck out, a direction to R. Maddocks was subjoined, and he wrote his name as acceptor.

(1

Notes.

1. At Common Law.

v. Conse- tance be altered and postponed as to the date, without vitiating it, or renderquences of ing a new stamp necessary (g). And where a bill was dated by mistake in Alterations 1822 instead of 1823, and the agent of the drawer and acceptor, without their knowledge or consent, corrected the mistake, it was held such alteration did not vacate the bill(h); and the introduction of words which were implied may be made without discharging the parties or rendering a new stamp necessary (i)(1).

> A court of equity will reform an instrument, which by the mistake of the drawer admits of a construction inconsistent with the true agreement of the parties, although the party seeking to reform it himself drew the instrument(k).

2. Under Stamp Acts. Material Alteration after Bill has become an available Security, destroys it, though with Consent. [*186 i

Any material alteration made in a bill of exchange or promissory note after it has been once perfected, and has become an available security, even with the consent of the parties, except in the before-mentioned cases of an alteration to correct a mistake(1), will render it absolutely void, it having been enacted, that there shall be no alteration in any stamped instrument after it has been used for one purpose; and a material alteration creates a new contract, and the stamp *appropriate to it ought to have been impressed before such contract was made, so that the instrument is rendered wholly inoperative (m). The usual expression inaccurately is, that a material alteration renders a fresh stamp necessary; but as a bill or note must be properly stamped before it is made or signed, and no fresh stamp can be legally imposed, the real consequence of such alteration is that the new contract is wholly unavailing, and the expression should more properly be varied accordingly (n).

It was then delivered back to the plaintiff.

For the defendant it was insisted that the instrument was completely vitiated by this alteration.

Lord Ellenborough. "I think the stamp impressed upon this paper is sufficient to render the instrument available in its present form. It cannot be considered as having been negotiated as a promissory note. It never was issued to third persons. It remained in the hands and under the dominion of the original parties. Every thing continued in fieri till after the altera-tion. The stamp was not occupied till then. Webber instantly rejected it as a promissory nete. The alteration only fulfilled the terms of the agreement, and may be treated as the cor-rection of a mistake." The plaintiff recovered.

(g) Peacock v. Murrell, 2 Stark. R. 558, (Chit. j. 1077); anle, 103; Upstone v. Marchant, 2 Bar. & Cress 10; 3 Dowl. & Ryl. 198, (Chit. j. 1182); where a bill was in fact drawn on the 21st December for 211., payable two months after date, but on the face of it purported to bear date on the 31st December, it was held to require only a 2s stamp, which is imposed by 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, on bills for that sum not exceeding two months after date, the word "date," as there used, meaning the period of payment expressed on the face of the bill. See ante, 115.

(h) Brutt v. Picard, Ryan & Mood. 37,

(Chit j 1205); Peake's Rep. Addenda, 97.
(i) Doe v. Houghton, 1 Man & Ry. 208.
(k) Ball v. Storey, 1 Sim. & Stu. 210. (1) In Jacobs v. Hart, 6 Maule & S. 142, (Chit. j. 990), the date was mistaken. (m) See 1 Ann. stat. 2, c. 22, s. 2 and 3, to which the subsequent acts refer; per Le Blanc, J. in Bathe v. Taylor, 15 East, 416, (Chit. J.

857) (n) Wilson v. Justice, Peake's Rep. Addenda, 96, (Chit. j. 574). A note of nine months after date was, by consent of all parties, a fortnight after it had been delivered to the

In such a case the question as to the sum intended to be inserted is properly submitted to a jury. lb.

The maker of the note is a competent witness to prove such intention. lb

⁽¹⁾ Where a note is intended to be made for eight hundred dollars, and is indorsed by the payee for the accommodation of the maker and delivered to him, and by mistake the words hundred dollars are omitted, so that it purports to be a note for eight , the maker, without the assent of the indorser, may insert the words hundred dollars; and in an action by the holder to secure a debt to whom the note was made, the indorser cannot object to the insertion of such words. Boyd v. Brotherson, 10 Wend. Rep. 93.

But the holder of a bill has no right to make an alteration in it, even to correct a mistake, unless to make the instrument conform to what all parties to it agreed or intended it should have been. Hervey v. Hervey, 15 Maine Rep. 857. } lil!

1.7.32

15.72

: ::: 9

me. ---

W 2

....

200

15-1.48

ş (°),

. ()

,~2 P

, 3

...

311

. ,; 1323

4 1

1.2

3

1.P

Every alteration of a bill or note, after it is once complete, and become an V. Conseavailable security, is considered as a fresh drawing or making, and the cir-quences of cumstance of the bill or note not having been negotiated will not in that case in Bills and afford any exception(o).

In these cases, therefore, the true question is not, whether the material 2. Under alteration was made before or after negotiation of the instrument; but whe- Stamp ther it was made before the instrument and transaction respecting it was com- Acts. plete, and had become an available security, that is, whether it was then in At what the hands of a party who could enforce payment thereof for some other parterations ty thereto(p); if before, the instrument is valid; if after, void. When a may be bill is drawn for value, or for a debt due from the drawee to the drawer, made. then whilst it is in the hands of the drawer, and before acceptance, it may by consent be altered in any material respect, as in date and time of payment, because until acceptance it had not become an available security (q). So even after acceptance, and before the bill has been completely delivered over to the drawer or payee, it may, it seems, be so altered; and therefore where a person having made and signed a promissory note, handed it to a third person to attest, and then to deliver it to *the payee, but before it was [*187] given to the payee it was altered by the consent of all parties; it was held, that the so delivering it to the third person was not an issuing of it, and that it did not require a new stamp(r). And where a joint and several promisso-payee, altered to ten months after date. Lord Kenyon held a new stamp necessary, and nonsuited the plaintiff. In Eayl. 5th edit. 110, it is called a bill.

The day after a promissory note had been delivered to the payee, and by consent of the maker, words denoting the consideration were inserted, and they were held to invalidate for want of a fresh stamp, because this alteration was material, for the words introduced must, if not there, have been proved as a fact by dif-ferent evidence; Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 431, (Chit. j. 761); rost, 189, note (g). (o) Bowman v. Nicholls, 5 T. R. 537, (Chit.

j. 522). A bill was dated 2nd September, and payable twenty-one days after date; afterwards, and after acceptance, and while it was in the hands of the drawer, it was altered, with the consent of the acceptor, to fifty-one days; on the 20th September it was again altered to twenty-one days; but the date was brought forward to 14th September, after which it was negotiated, and an action brought against the acceptor. Lord Kenyon said, that every alteratien in an instrument requiring a stamp made a new stamp necessary, and nonsuited the plaintiff. Upon a rule nisi for a new trial, it was urged that there was a distinction between an alteration made after the negotiation of a bill, and an alteration made before, and in the latter case, the whole might be considered as one transaction; but the court said, "that as the operation of the bill as it originally stood was quite spent when the last alteration was made, that alteration made it a new and distinct transaction between the parties, and therefore there should have been a new stamp," and the nonsuit was confirmed.

In Bathe v. Taylor, 15 East, 412, (Chit. j. 857), is was held, that a bill drawn on the 1st of August, at two months, by A. on B. payable to the order of the drawer, and accepted and re-delivered by B. as a security for a debt, and kept by A. for twenty days, could not be altered in its legal effect by bringing forward the date to the 21st without a new stamp, though with the consent of the acceptor, and lefore indorse-ment and delivery to a third person. See M'Intish r. Haydon, Ry. & Mood. C. N. P. 362, (Chit. j. 1287); ante, 182, note (p); Prince v. Nicholson, 1 Marsh. 72, note (c). But see Leykrieff v. Ashford, 12 Moore, 281, (Chit.

j. 1824); 10st, 191, note (2).
(p) Per Bayley, J. in Downes r. Richardson, 5 Bar. & Ald. 680; 1 D. & R. 332, S. C.,

(Chit. j. 1385).

(q) Kennersley v. Nash, 1 Stark. R. 452, (Chit. j. 977); Jacobs r. Hart, 2 Stark. R. 45; Outhwaite r. Luntley, 4 Campb. 179, (Chit. j.

(r) Sherrington r. Jermyn, 3 Car. & P. 374, (Chit. j. 1409). Assumpsit against the defendant as the maker of a promissory note, payable to the plaintiff or order one month after date. It appeared from the evidence of Mr. Freeman, that he was present with the plaintiff and the defendant when the note was made. That the body of the note was written by the plaintiff, and signed by the defendant, and that after signing it the defendant handed it to the witness to attest, and to give it to the plaintiff, and that when it was so handed to Freeman the note ran thus:

"I promise to pay to Mr. S. Sherrington, or order, on demand, the sum of two hundred pounds, with interest."

But after it was so put into the hands of Freeman, and before it was given to the plaintiff, it was with the consent of all parties, altered to its present form, which was this:-

"One month after date I promise to pay to Mr. S. Sherrington, or order, two hundred pounds.'

The words "on demand" being struck out

Alterations Notes. 2. Under Stamp Acts.

V. Conserry note was made by several parties concerned in a joint undertaking, for quences of the purpose of securing the re-payment of a loan of money, and one of the in Bills and parties signed it some days after the party who borrowed the money, it was held that the note did not require an additional stamp if the last signature was put before the money was advanced, or if the party last signing had promised to sign a note before the advance of money, notwithstanding it might not have been issued till afterwards(s). And it has been held that an accepted bill might, after it had been delivered to the drawer, with the consent of the acceptor, be altered by merely stating a place of payment(t), or changing the place of payment(u), without requiring a new stamp; though these must be considered as cases of mere memorandums made by consent, because, we have seen, that such alteration is now considered material (x). But after an accepted bill drawn for value has been delivered over to the drawer, and the parties have separated, it cannot be altered in any material respect, unless to correct a mistake, because the drawer had already acquired a perfect right to insist on payment according to the original terms of the bill(y); and even an unaccepted bill, which has been delivered by the drawer to a payer for value, cannot, though before acceptance, be altered, because the payee had acquired a perfect right against the drawer(z). An accommodation bill is not to be considered as issued until it is in the and, therefore, where three persons joined, as drawer, acceptor, and first indorser, in making an accommodation bill, and it was afterwards issued for value to J. S., and previously to its being so issued its date had been altered, it was held that the acceptor having assented to the alteration when he was informed of it, it was no answer to an action on the bill against him that the bill had been so altered without the consent of the drawer aud first indorser, [*188] *and that a fresh stamp was not necessary in consequence of such alteration, the bill having having been altered before it was issued in point of law, viz. before it was in the hands of a person who could sue any prior party thereon(a). On the other hand, where the date of a bill of exchange was altered by the payee at the request of the acceptor before the acceptance but after the bill had been delivered to the payer for a bona fide debt, such alteration was considered to render the bill wholly void, and to preclude the payee from maintaining any action thereon even against such acceptor, because before the alteration it had become an available security in the hands of the payee And if a bill be altered in the date by the drawee against the drawer(b).

hands of some person who is entitled to treat it as a security available in law; with a pen, and "one month after date" substituted, and the words "with interest" being altogether erased.

F. Pollock, for the defendant, submitted that the note having been handed over to Freeman in the manner stated, after it had been signed and perfected by the defendant, it was to be considered as issued from that time, and that consequently it was void under the stamp laws.

Lord Tenterden, C. J. "1 am of opinion, that as it was all one transaction, it could not be considered as issued at the time of the alteration." Verdict for the plaintiff.

(s) Ex parte White, 2 Dea. & Chitty, 334, (Chit. j. 1612). See Clerk v. Blackstock, Holt's N. P. C. 474.

(t) Jacobs v. Hart, 2 Stark. 45; 6 Mau. & S. 142, (Chit. j. 990); Stevens v. Lloyd, Mood. & M. 292, (Chit. j. 1427).

(u) Walter v. Cubley, 2 C. & M. 151; ante,

184, note (b).

(x) M'Intosh r. Haydon, Ry. & Mood. 362, (Chit. j. 1278); Desbrow v. Weatherley, 6 C. & P. 758; ante, 182, note (p).

(y) Wilson r. Justice, Peake Rep. Addenda, 90, (Chit. j. 574); ante, 186, note (n); Bathe v. Taylor, 15 East, 412, (Chit. j. 857); is expressly to this effect; ante, 186, note (n).

(z) Id. ibid.; Walton v. Hastings, 4 Camp. 223; 1 Stark. Rep. 215, (Chit. j. 944, 953); post, 188, note (b)

(a) Per Holroyd, J. in Downes v. Richardson, 1 D. & R. 332; 5 B. & Ald. 674, S. C. (Chit. j. 1135). And see Johnson v. Gibbs, 2 Chit. Rep. 123, (Chit. j. 932); Sherrington v. Jermyn, 3 Car. & P. 374, (Chit. j. 1409). These cases over-ruled Calvert r. Roberts, 3 Campb. 843, (Chit. j. 884); where it was held, that the alteration even of an accommodation bill after acceptance and whilst in the hands of the drawer invalidated it.

(b) Walton v. Hastings, 4 Camp. 223; 1

9427 I

2.3

(, 'T

10

, -v.

حي 😼

1,00

. /#

.52

. . 4.7

3.

after it has been indorsed, but before it has been accepted, and with the V. Consedrawer's consent, such alteration will invalidate the bill, and discharge the quences of Alterations drawer and indorsers from liability, though it be in the hands of a bona fide in Bills and holder, who was ignorant of the circumstances(c). And after a promissory Notes. note has been made by one person, the name of another cannot be added 2. Under thereto as surety, unless by indorsement, because his becoming a joint maker slamp would be making a new contract(d). In a recent case, however, it was Acts. held that the addition of a name as a second surety to a joint and several promissory note, after it had issued, but with the consent of all the parties to it, was not a material alteration, so as to preclude the original surety, who had paid a moiety of it, from recovering the amount as money paid to the use of the maker(e). Where A. and B. exchanged their acceptances, it was held that the delivery of the respective bills for acceptance, and the re-delivery of the same by the acceptors to the respective drawers, was a negotiation of the bills, and that such bills could not, after they had been so exchanged for a valuable consideration (as the exchange of acceptances is) for twenty days, be post-dated, although during all that time each had remained in the hands of the original drawer(f). And even the subsequent *inser- [*189]tion of the nature of the consideration of the bill will render it void(g). should also seem that no bill after it would have fallen due according to its original shape can be altered even with consent, unless a fresh stamp be impressed(h).

If upon a bill being presented for acceptance, the drawee alters it as to the time of payment, and accepts it so altered, he vacates the bill as against the drawer and indorsers; but it is said, that if the holder acquiesces in such alteration and acceptance, it is a good bill as between him and the acceptor; and keeping the bill and presenting it for payment at the deferred

Stark. Rep. 215, (Chit. j. 944, 953). Payee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange. The bill was drawn by one Brooks on the defendant, payable to the order of the plaintiff, dated 5th July; when the bill was presented for acceptance, defendant requested that the date of the bill might be altered to the 10th, to which plaintiff agreed, but did not inform Brooks. The plaintiff contended, that as the alteration was made before acceptance, the defendant was liable as acceptor, although the drawer might be discharged. Lord Ellenborough: "Upon the Stamp Laws, I think the bill is void. It was an existing valid instrument before the alteration. It was negotiated when delivered by Brooks to the plaintiff. The plaintiff, as payee, had acquired an absolute interest in it, and might have maintained an action upon it against the drawer. It did not remain in fieri till the acceptance. As to the drawer, it was before then a perfect instrument. Nor was there any mistake to be rectified. When drawn on the 5th July, it corresponded with the intentions both of the drawer and payee. Here, when the date was altered, a new bill was drawn, and that could not be done without a new stamp.

(c) Outhwaite and another v. Huntley, 4 Campb. 179, (Chit. j. 932). Lord Ellenborough said, that "before acceptance the bill of exchange was a perfect instrument, on which the drawers might have been sued; any material alteration of it in that state, therefore, rendered it void. Besides, consent would not justify the alteration, with a view to the Stamp Laws, after the bill had been negotiated.

(d) Clarke v. Blackstock, Holt, C. N. P. 474, (Chit j. 968). A promissory note signed by A., and subsequently by B., whilst in the hands of the payee, as surety for A., will be void without an additional stamp, unless such signature of B. is in virtue of a previous agreement at the time of making the note.

(e) Cattin v. Simpson, 3 Nev. & P. 248; 8 Ad. & El. 136.

(f) Cardwell v. Martin, 9 East, Rep. 190; 1 Camp. 79, (Chit. j. 744). Note. Each bill was payable to the drawer's order, and the plaintiff was a bon't fide indorsee; 9 Fast. 357; 6 Fast, 312.

(g) Knill v. Williams, 10 East, 431, (Chit. 761). This was an action on a note, by which, nine months after date, the defendant promised to pay the plaintiff or order 1001. value received, for the good-will of the lease and trade of Mr. F. Knill, deceased. It appeared at the trial before Le Blanc, J. at Hereford, that the words in italics were added by the consent of both parties, on the day after the note had been signed and delivered to the plaintiff, without any new stamp being impressed upon it; upon this the plaintiff was non-suited; and upon a rule nisi to set aside the nonsuit, the whole court held that the alteration was material, and therefore discharged the rule.

(h) Bownian v. Nicholls, 5 T. R. 537, (Chit.

j. 522); ante, 186, note (v).

v. Conse- period is proof of such acquiescence; and the holder cannot afterwards quences of maintain an action on the case against the acceptor for thereby destroying Alterations the bill(i). The effect of an alteration in the acceptance of a bill will be in Bills and Notes, hereafter considered (k). As the stamp is impressed on the bill, and not on the acceptance of it, a deviation or alteration in the terms of an accep-2. Under tance does not render a new stamp necessary, and therefore to save the Stamp stamp, it should seem, that if the drawer wish to alter the sum, or extend Acts. the time of payment, the alteration may be effected by accepting accordingly(l)(1).

> (i) Paton v. Winter, 1 Taunt. 420, (Chit. j. 763). See 6 East, 309. The drawee altered the time of payment of a bill from one month to two, and accepted it; the holder kept it two months, and then presented it for payment. The court held that this was an acquiescence in the alteration, and directed a nonsuit to be entered, in an action on the case brought by the holder against the acceptor, for having mutilated the bill. Sed ride Walton v. Hastings,

1 Stark. Rep. 215; 4 Campb. 223; S. C., anle, 188, note (b), where Lord Ellenborough said, the only tenable objection, i. e. on the Stamp Law, was not taken in Paton v. Winter, and which was scarcely worth reporting.

(k) Post, Ch. VII. s. ii. Liability of Acceptor-How discharged. (1) Stevens v. Lloyd, Mood. & M. 292,

(Chit. j. 1247).

(I) Any alteration, whether material or not, in an instrument under seal, made by the party to whom it is given, will avoid it, unless made by the consent of the party who executed it. But this consent may as well be implied from the nature of the alteration as be expressed. In a simple contract, which is merely evidence of a promise, an immaterial alteration, however made, not at all affecting the terms of the promise, seems not to be within the same principle of deeds, which, from the alteration, may not be the deeds of the parties; while a similar alteration in a written simple contract might leave it complete evidence of the same contract. Indeed the assent of the party signing such contract, that the omission of a word by a clerical mistake which the law will supply, might be cured by inserting such word, ought to be presumed, to protect him from the imputation of intentional fraud. And in a simple contract an addition by the unnecessary supplying of a word, which the law would supply, is not an alteration in matter or form which would destroy the contract. Per Curiam, Hunt v. Adams, 6 Mass. Rep. 519. See Griffith v. Cox, Overton's Rep. 210.

If an acceptance of a bill be cancelled by mistake, it does not avoid the acceptance, and all parties to the bill are bound in the same manner as if the act had not been done. Nevins et al. r.

De Grand, 15 Mass. Rep.

An alteration of the date of a promissory note by the payee, whereby the time of payment is retarded, and afterwards discounted with innocent persons by the payer on indorsing it, avoids the note. Bank of U. S. v. Russell and Boone, 3 Yeates' Rep. 391. See 3 Cranch, 37.

The law will not presume that an alteration apparent on the face of a note was made after its execution. Cumberland Bank v. Hall, 1 Halsted, 215. But whether the alteration was made after or before the execution of the note, seems to be a question for the jury. Ibid.

An alteration of the date of a promissory note without consent, vitiates it in the hands of an innocent indorsee. Stephens v. Graham, 7 Serg. & Rawle, 505.

If the obligee of a sealed bill procure persons not present at the execution, to add their names as witnesses, without the knowledge of the obligor; this is such an alteration as avoids the instrument. But if they did it by mistake, supposing that they were witnessing an assignment then made by the obligee, the bill is good. Marshall r. Gougler, 10 Serg. & Rawle, 164.

If a person draw a note leaving a blank for the name of the payee, and authorize a person to obtain the money from the payee and insert his name, the note is valid, if the directions are complied with. Stahl v. Berger, Ib. 170.

Where a bill was deposited by H. with B., as a security for monies advanced, but not indorsed, and which fell due after the acceptor, without the knowledge or consent of A., altered it to $120, and then passed it to H. for that sum, it was held that A. was not liable to pay the note. Goodman v. Eastman, 4 New Hamp. Rep. 455.

The rule of law that where one of two innocent parties must so suffer by the fraud of a third person, he who trusted such third person and enabled him to commit the fraud must abide the consequences, does not apply in such a case. Ibid

A bill of exchange indorsed in blank by the payers and left by them in the hands of the drawer was transferred to the plaintiff without the knowledge of the indorsers, with the following words written by the drawer under his name. "Left with Mr. B. (the plaintiff) as collateral." It was held, that this was not an alteration of the bill, and therefore that it did not render it void as against the indorsers. Bachellor v. Priest, 12 Pick. Rep. 399.

One who executes a note as a surety and gives it to the principal to be executed by him, and delivered to the payee, but who, before so doing, alters the amount mentioned in the note from d'are .. ii. 🖫

2427

1 23

• -1-

: :::::

31 m

. .

EV

. . 1

.. y:

....

1.0

. 1963

361

الص . 100 1-5

31

, F

quently give the transaction the appearance of fraud(m); and though it has quences of Alterations been laid down that if an interlineation appear in a deed, and there be no ev- in Bills and idence to show how it was done, it will be presumed to have been done before Notes. the execution (n), yet with respect to bills and notes, and other negotiable 2. Under securities, a contrary rule has been laid down, namely, that if the instrument stamp appear upon the face to have been altered, it is for the holder to prove, and Acts. not for the defendant to disprove, that it was altered under circumstances Evidence

It may be here proper to observe, that alterations and erasures will fre- V. Conse-

And where in an action tried on in case of (m) Singleton r. Butler, 2 B. & P. 283.

which will make it still available (o)(1).

(n) 12 Vin Abr. 58.

(o) Johnson v. The Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. Rep. 313, (Chit. j. 1020); Henman v. Dickenson, 5 Bingh, 183; 2 Moore & P.

289, (Chit. j. 1461); Bishop v. Chambre, Mood. & M. 116; 3 Car. & P. 53, (Chit. j. 1365, 1411). Over-ruled on another point in Jardine v. Payne, 1 B. & Adol. 671, (Chit. j.

a greater to a less sum, cannot take advantage of such alteration upon the plea of non est factum. Ogle v. Graham, 2 Penn. Rep. 182.

Nor closs it affect the validity of a note, that it was executed by one of the payors in the presence of one witness, and by the other, in the presence of another; although it purports to be executed by both, in the presence of two subscribing witnesses. Ibid.

Any alteration, however immaterial, made in a deed or promissory note, made by the obligee without obligor's consent, renders it void. Bank of Limestone v. Penick, 5 Monroe's Rep. 31.

The attestation of a note not before witnessed, by a person who was not present at the signing, is a material alteration of the contract, and destroys its validity. Brackett v. Mountford, 2 Fairf. 114.

But where, previous to the delivery of a note executed by two persons and attested by one witness, the name of another person was added to the note as a witness, without the knowledge of such person; but it did not appear that this was done by the payce, and no fraud on his part was suggested; it was held that the addition of such name was not a material alteration, and did not render the note void. Ford v. Ford, 17 Pick. 418. So, where a joint and several promissory note was signed by A., B., and C.; and afterwards A. acnowledged his signature to a witness, who subscribed his name in the presence of A and of the payee, without stating that he witnessed only the signature of A, it was held in an action against the three makers, that this was not such an alteration of the instrument as to discharge B. and C. Beary v. Haines, 4 Whart. 17. Neither is the adding of a date to an endorsement of a partial payment on the back of a note an alteration of the instrument. Howe v. Thompson, Idem, 152.

A promissory note in these words was made by the defendant: "For value received I promise to pay to Quincy Railway Co." (the plaintiffs) "or order, $1000." &c. The note was then indorsed by E. P. and delivered to the treasurer of the plaintiffs, who, without the knowledge or consent of the maker, inserted the words "the order of E. P." above the words "Quincy R. Co. or order," but without erasing the latter words; held it was not an alteration affecting the validity of the note. Granite Railway Co. v. Bacon, 15 Pick. 239.

Where an instrument in the form of a promissory note for the payment of a certain sum of money to A. or bearer is signed by three persons, and a seal affixed at the signature of one of them, a joint action cannot be maintained against the three; and if the seal be affixed afterwards, and in the absence of the other two, the instrument is rendered void as to the latter. Biery v. Haynes, 5 Whart. 563.

An alteration of a note, changing the liability of an indorser from a conditional to an absolute engagment, is a material alteration. Farmer v. Rand, 14 Maine Rep. 225. Where the surname of the payee of a note was interlined after delivery, but it was proved that the note was originally given to the payee, whose name was inserted; held that the alteration did not vitiate the note. Monchet v. Cason, 1 Brev. 307. }

(1) In an action on a promissory note, on which a small payment had been indorsed, but afterwards erased, it was held, that the note might be read in evidence, without any previous explanation of the reason why the indorsement had been cancelled. Kimball v. Lamson, 2 Verm, Rep.

K. held a note against L. and indorsed thereon one dollar for services rendered for him by L, L. afterwards sued K. for the services so indorsed on the note, and recovered, L. having testified that he had never authorized K. to make the indorsement. In an action against L. on said note, it was afterwards held, that K. might erase said indorsement without prejudice to to the note. Ib.

Erasures or interlineations in the substantial part of an acceptance or other instrument, are presumed to be false or forged, and must be satisfactorily accounted for before the instrument can be received in evidence. M'Micken v. Beanchamp, 2 Miller's Louis. Rep. 290.

An erased credit on a note in the possession of the creditor, is not conclusive proof of payment, but may be repelled by other proofs or presumptions, to show it was indorsed on the note erroneously. Benson r. Mathews, 7 Louis. Rep. 356.

V. Conset the 8th December, 1827, on a promissory note declared on as dated 27th Notes.

2. Under Stamp Acts.

quences of May, 1814, the defendant pleaded the general issue and the statute of limi-Alterations tations, and there was evidence of an ambiguous acknowledgment of the note to take the case out of the statute, and the end of the note produced in evidence, after the figures 27 had been cut off and the word "May" written over the 27 and the 1814 underneath, and in the cutting off some of the writing had also been cut; Lord Tenterden told the jury that it *certainly lay [*190] on the plaintiff to account for the suspicious form and obvious alteration of the note, and that if they thought that the alteration had been made after the note had been signed by the defendant, they should find for him, and he advised them to find for the defendant, as the plaintiff had adduced no evidence to explain the alteration, and the jury found accordingly (p). there was an apparent alteration in the date, the same judge required the plaintiff not only to prove that it had been altered with the consent of the acceptor, the defendant, but also that such alteration had been made before it had been issued, but upon proving that the defendant himself had altered the date, and that the bill was in the hands of the drawer after such alteration, and before it was indorsed to the plaintiff, he recovered (q). And in an action by the indorsee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange, if it appear that following the acceptance there are words not in the acceptor's handwriting, making the bill payable at a particular place, it is incumbent on the plaintiff to show that the words were written by the acceptor's authority, because the addition of such words is a material alteration notwithstanding the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c.78(r). But where the making of the bill or note is admitted upon the record, and issue taken upon the indorsement, the plaintiff is not bound to explain an apparent alteration in the date of the instrument(s). And where the date (20th April) of a bill payable three months after date appeared to be on an erasure, and it was proved that it had been dated the 28th January, yet, as the acceptor himself had written at the top "due July 23," it was held that this was sufficient to negative any fraud, and also afforded an inference that the alteration was antecedent to or coeval with the acceptance, and therefore valid, and it was left by the judge to the jury with that suggestion, and they found for the plaintiff (t). So in an action against the acceptor, where the defendant traversed the acceptance, and it appeared in evidence that a space which was originally left between the word "accepted" and the acceptor's name, had been filled up in the handwriting of a third party with the name of the place of payment, but it was shown that the defendant was not in the habit of writing acceptances in this manner, and that when applied to for the amount of the bill he promised payment in a month; it was held that the acceptance had been sufficiently proved, and that it was not incumbent on the plaintiff to give further evidence to show that the addition to the acceptance had been made with the consent of the And where the defence is that the bill had been altered, the defendant(u). defendant cannot go into evidence to show that other bills have been likewise altered (x). In an action by the indorsee against the acceptor, the bill appeared on inspection to have been altered in amount, and after the ac-

⁽p) Bishop v. Chambre, at Westminster, 8th December, 1827. Denman for plaintiff. Brougham for defendant, MS.; Mood. & M. 116; 3 Car. & P. 55; 1 Dans. & Lloyd, 83, (Chit. j. 1365, 1411).

⁽q) Johnson v. The Duke of Marlborough, 2 Stark. Rep. 368, (Chit. j. 1020); and sco Bul. N. P. 255.

⁽r) Desbrow v. Wentherley, 6 Car. & P. 758. See ante, 182, note (p).

⁽s) Sibley v. Fisher, 7 Ad & El. 444; 2 N. & P. 430, S. C.

⁽t) Leykrieff v. Ashford, 12 Moore, 281. (u) Semble v. Cole, H. T. 1839, Ex., 3 Jurist, 268.

⁽x) Thompson v. Moseley, 5 Car. & P. 501.

m.

 ϵ of F

× 19

, , ,

فيزجم

::""

100

1. 2

خر زند

15 47

-

راهي دي ا معرد دي ا

p(B)12.3

....

. 6,5

65

....

4 :

Ţ,

1

ceptance were the words "at Cockburn's," which were not in the defend- V. Conseant's handwriting. Neither the plaintiff nor the defendant gave evidence as quences of to when or by whom the alterations were made; and it was held that it was in Bills and for the jury to say under the circumstances whether the bill had been alter- Notes. ed after acceptance, and that if they *thought it had, the plaintiff could not 2. Under recover(y). From this and the other cases it appears that the question stamp whether there has or not been any alteration, and when it was made, and Acts. with what view or motive, is always for a jury, and not for the court(z).

It was for some time supposed, that a bill or note, rendered inadmissible ABill, &c. in evidence as a security by a material alteration, might nevertheless be look- altered ed at by a jury for collateral purposes, and might assist in evidence in proof of not admisa common count in a declaration(a); but that supposition is now refuted, and sible in such a vitiated instrument cannot be read in evidence for any available pur- for any pose whatever in favour of the holder (b), though it is admissible to defeat a available claim on the ground of fraud, or convict a party of a crime(c). But the ma- purpose. terial alteration does not extinguish the prior debt, and between the original When oriparties, after the expiration of the period for which the bill or note was made, sideration the original debt or consideration is recoverable upon adducing other evidence recoverain proof thereof; and proof of reputed payment of a fixed sum, as interest ble. for a named period, may suffice to establish the amount of a debt, the interest of which would be equal to the sums from time to time paid(d). Unless, however, the payment or other admission enable a jury to ascertain the precise amount of debt, the proof is insufficient, and the plaintiff cannot recover even nominal damages (e). And the right to recover for the consideration of the bill or note being confined to the original parties thereto, such consideration cannot be recovered in an action by an indorsee against either the acceptor or maker, or against the drawer or indorser; because as against the former the only privity between the parties is by means of the bill or note, which is destroyed by the alteration; and as against the latter, their remedy over against prior parties is also destroyed (f).

(y) Taylor v. Moseley, 6 Car. & P. 273; see post, 820, (23).

(z) Leykrieff v. Ashford, 12 Moore, 291, (Chit. j. 1324). A case of this nature arose in Scotland, where by the express enactment in the act, A. D. 1696, c. 15, and the practice thereon, erasures in general vitiate. It was insisted before the Lord Ordinary and the judges of the First Division, that the bill had been improperly vitiated and erased. The bill was produced, and the Lord Ordinary having inspected the same, and declared that the same was not vitiated or erased, judgment was accordingly pronounced against the suspender. Upon a reclaiming petition, the judges, on inspecting the bill, were generally of opinion that there was no vitiation; but as the allegation was insisted on, they allowed a proof, and a remit was accordingly made to engravers and other skilful persons to report. Thereafter the reporters having stated their unanimous opinion that the bill had been vitiated, the judges recalled the decision complained of, and remitted to pass the bill without caution or consignation; Hamilton r. Kinnear and Sons, 4 Shaw & Dunlop, 102. See further as to erasure and alterations, Sir Thomas Craig, lib. 11; Digg. 5, ss. 23, p. 215; Blair's edit. Stair, B. 10, tit. 42; Bankton, B. 1. tit. 11; Erskine, B. 3, tit. 12, ss. 20; Ross on Conveyancing, vol. i. 145; Gaywood v. M'Keand, House of Lords, 1831, case No. 64. The Scotch Act, 1696, c. 15, is particular as to attestation, &c.

(a) Bishop v. Chambre, 1 Dans. & Lloyd Rep. 83; Mood. & M. 116; 3 Car. & P. 55; (Chit. j. 1365, 1411); (expressly overruled as to that point in Jardine v. Payne, 1 Barn. & Adol. 671, (Chit. j. 1521)); and see Sutton, Toomer, 7 B. & C. 416; 1 Man. & R. 125, (Chit. j. 1352).

(b) Jardine v. Payne, 1 B. & Adol. 671, (Chit. j. 1521); Sweeting v. Halse, 9 B. & C. 365; 4 M. & R. 287, (Chit. j. 1423); ante, 122, note (a). And see Jones v. Ryder, 4 M. & W. 32; ante, 124, note (n).

(c) Ante, 124.

(d) Sutton v. Toomer, 7 B. & C. 416; 1 M. & R. 125, (Chit. j. 1352); Payee r. Ma-And if the drawer sues the acceptor upon the bill and fails in consequence of having altered the bill in a material part, he may still recover upon counts on the original consideration; Atkinson v. Hawdon, 2 Ad. & El. 628; S. C. 4 N. & M. 409; 1 Har. & Wol. 77. Aliter, in action by indorsee against drawer; Alderson v. Langdale, 3 B. & Ad. 660; infra, note (f).

(e) Green r. Davies, 4 B. & C. 255; 6 D. & R. 306, (Chit. j. 1251); ante, 119, note (i). (f) Alderson v Langdale, 3 Bar. & Adol.

Notes. 2. Under Stamp Acts.

V. Conse-

*A drawee should not accept a bill that has the least appearance of erasure quences of or alteration, until he has ascertained that the drawer intended it to stand Alterations in that form, and if he do he may be liable pay a smuch larger sum than was Alterations in that form, and if he do, he may be liable pay a much larger sum than was intended, without having any remedy against the drawer(g); on the other hand, the drawer and holder should ascertain that the alteration was made before the bill was a complete available security, and to prevent subsequent dispute should request the acceptor and all other parties to signify their con-So the drawee ought not to pay an apparently altered bill unless he be quite certain that it was made before it was an available security. If a banker pay a check that has been altered after it was issued, in fraud of the drawer, he cannot debit such drawer with the amount as a valid payment (h), unless the drawer himself was guilty of negligence in filling up the check so as to have enabled some holder to practise the fraud(i).

Consequences of Holder's making Erasures, delivering

Where the holder of a bill or note is required by an indorser or drawer to deliver it up on payment to the former of the amount, he ought to deliver it up in such a state as not to prejudice the right of the payer to proceed on the security against the prior parties, though he might undoubtedly cancel his &c. before own name, so as to prevent the possibility of the bill being ever again available against himself or subsequent indorsers. Where the plaintiff, in an action against the acceptor, was ordered by rule of court generally to deliver up the bill upon payment of debt and costs, it was decided that he had complied with such rule, though before it was delivered up he had rendered it a nullity by considerable erasures (k). It should however be observed, that in general, if a party to a bill, or a third person, deface it, so as to prejudice the claim of a holder, a special action on the case, and perhaps of trover, might be sustainable, unless he acquiesced (l)(1).

VI.—LIABILITY OF THE DRAWER.

VI. Liability of the Drawer.

Upon delivery of the bill to the payee or indorsee, the liability of the draw-The act of drawing a bill implies a contract from er becomes complete. the drawer to the payee, and to every subsequent holder fairly entitled to the possession, that the person on whom he draws is capable of binding himself by his acceptance; that he is to be found at the place where he is described to reside, if that description be mentioned in the bill; that if the bill be duly

660. The vendee of goods paid for them by a bill of exchange drawn by him on a third person, and after it had been accepted the vendor altered the time of payment mentioned in the bill, and thereby vitiated it; and it was held that by so doing he made the bill his own, and caused it to operate as a satisfaction of the original debt, and consequently that he could not recover for the goods sold. And see Atkinson v. Hawdon, 2 Ad. & El. 629; ante, 191, note (d), where the distinction between the rights of drawer and indorsee was fully admitted.

(g) Bulkley v. Butler, 2 B. & C. 484; 3 D.

& R. 625, (Chit j. 1198); and Hall r. Fuller,

5 B. & C. 750; S Dowl. & Rv. 464, (Chit. j.

(h) Hall and unother v. Fuller and others, 5 Bar. & Cres. 750; S Dowl. & Ry. 464, (Chit. j. 1294).

(i) Young r. Grote, 4 Bing. 258; 12 Moo. 484, (Chit. j. 1844).

(k) Tomlins v. Lawrence, 6 Bing. 376, (Chit. j. 1465, 1486); 4 Moo. & P. 54; post, Part II. Ch. III. Motion to stay Proceedings.

(1) Paton v. Winter, 1 Taunt. 420, (Chit. j. 763); Henfree v. Bromley, 6 East, 809; see post, 820, (24).

⁽¹⁾ Where the payee of a promissory note mutilated it, by cutting off the name of the attesting witness, held, that he was entitled to no relief in a court of equity. Sharpe r. Bagwell, I Devereux's Eq. Rep. 115.

hE.

presented to him, he will accept in writing on the bill itself according to its VI. Liabiltenor; and that he will pay it when it becomes due, if presented in proper ity of the Drawer. time for that purpose; and that if the drawee fail to do either, he, the drawer, will pay the amount, provided he have due notice of the dishonour.

The drawer of a bill stands in some respects in the situation of a surety for the drawee. The implied contract of the maker of a note is, that he will duly pay it on its being presented to him, and he is *primarily liable, and [*193] stands in that respect in the situation of the acceptor of a bill.

The engagement of the drawer of a bill is in all its parts absolute and irrevocable, and therefore where A. in England drew a bill of exchange on B. in a foreign country, who, by the laws of that country, was prohibited from paying it, although it was urged that the undertaking of the drawer did not extend to the case of a prohibition to accept or pay the bill, imposed by the law of a foreign country in which the drawee resided, yet it was ruled, in an action against the drawer, that this was no defence, it not being necessary for the holder to inquire for what reason the bill was not paid(m). payment or acceptance be prohibited by the law of this country it is otherwise(n), though if after the prohibition has been removed, the drawer promise to pay, he may be sued(o). The drawer will also be equally liable, whether he draw the bill on his own account, or as agent of a third person(p), unless he added words of qualification (q); and if A. permit B. from time to time to draw bills in his name for a particular purpose, he will be liable to bond fide holders, although B. has abused such confidence by drawing bills in the name of A. for other and fraudulent purposes (r). So he is liable for the signature of his partners in the name of the firm(s), though he cannot in that case be sued by a person who was a partner and liable to contribute(t); nor can he be sued by a party who has expressly or impliedly engaged even verbally not to sue(u). We have seen that a person signing his name on a blank paper, stamped with a bill stamp, will be liable to pay to a bona fide holder any sum inserted in the bill, and warranted by the stamp(x). executor, administrator or trustee, draw, accept, or indorse a bill or note, with-

(m) Mellish v. Simeon, 2 Hen. Bla. 378; Poth. pl. 58; Tooting v. Hubbard, 3 Bos. &

Mellish v. Simeon, 2 Hen. Bla. 379, (Chit. j. 534). A bill drawn in London upon Paris, and negotiated through Holland; before it became due, the French government prohibited the payment of any bill drawn in England, in consequence of which it was dishonoured, and sent back through the different hands by which it had before been negotiated to London; the re-exchange between Paris and Holland raised the bill from 603l. 12s. 10d. to 905l. 13s. 9d and the re-exchange between Holland and London, to 9131. 4s. 3d. which the plaintiff, the payee, paid; and upon an action by him against the drawer, Eyre, C. J. left it to the jury, whether the defendant was liable for the re-exchange occasioned by returning the bill through Holland, and they found that he was. An application was made for a new trial, upon the ground that the defendant was not liable for the re-exchange, because there was no default in him, the payment being prohibited by the government of France. But the court held it immaterial why the bill was not paid; that as it was not paid, he was liable to all the consequences, of which the re-exchange was one, and the rule was refused.

(n) Pollard v. Herries, 3 Bos. & Pul. 340, (Chit. j. 672). Lord Alvanley, C. J. "It cannot be disputed, that whatever be the nature of the contract into which a subject of this country enters, he is excused from the performance of it if the laws of his country interpose and forbid the performance.'

(o) Duhammel v. Pickering, 2 Stark. Rep.

90, (Chit. j. 994); ante, 14, note (g).
(p) Le Feuvre v. Lloyd, 5 Taunt. 749; 1 Marsh. 318, (Chit. j. 915); ante, 34, n. (b), note (g). And see Sowerby v. Butcher, 2 C. & M. 318; 4 Tyr. 320, S. C. (q) Ante, 32, 33, 34.

(r) Smith v. Stranger, Peake Rep. Add. 116, (Chit. j. 581); ante, 32.

(s) Ante, 39, et seq. (t) Teague v. Hubbard, 8 Bar. & Cres. 345; 2 Man. & Ry. 869, (Chit. j. 1896); ante, 60. (u) Pike v. Sweet, Dans. & Lloyd, 159, (Chit. j. 1410); ante, 71.

(x) Ante, 29, n. (s); Russell v. Langstaffe, Doug. 496, 514, (Chit. j. 415); Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313, (Chit. j. 461); Schultz v. Astley, 2 Bing, N. C. 544; 2 Scott, 815, S. C.; post, Ch. VI. s. i. Transfer—Time of.

ity of the Drawer.

VI. Liabil- out words of qualification (as "sans recours") he will be personally liable, although he intended only to subject himself to liability in the event of his hav-Thus, if an executor draw a bill or note as executor of J. S. and sign it in terms as such, yet if it be in the general form, or in any form which [*194] implies assets, it will bind him personally (y). *On failure of the performance of the engagement, that the drawee will accept, the drawer of a bill will immediately and before the time specified in the bill for payment, be liable to an action(z), not only for the principal sum, but also in certain cases for interest, re-exchange, and costs, as a consequence of the bill not being honoured(a).

> On non payment and due notice a fortiori he is liable to pay(1). These are the principal obligations of a drawer in cases of a regular bill transaction. In cases of an irregular bill transaction, such as those of accommodation bills, besides the implied contract to the payee and the holder, the drawer is also bound to indemnify the acceptor, if he accepted for his accommodation, for any loss he may sustain in consequence of his acceptance (b).

These obligations, though absolute and irrevocable, may be discharged or released by the laches or neglect of the holder, or by other means, which will be spoken of hereafter; for if a party take a negotiable security of this nature, he takes it subject to the law incident to all bills. If a bill be drawn abroad on a person in this country, and the latter refuse acceptance or payment, the drawer will, if discharged by the foreign law, be discharged in this Where an annuity was granted in consideration of a bill accepted, which was dishonoured by the acceptor, but paid by the drawer on notice, it was held that this was not such a non-payment of the bill in the terms of the annuity act as to vacate the annuity, though the bill was accepted for the accommodation of the drawer, who undertook to furnish assets, but neglected so to do(d).

(y) King v. Thom, 1 T. R. 487, (Chit. j. 438). The court held, that upon a bill payable to several as executors, they might sue as such. And per Buller, J. "If they indorse, they are liable personally, and not as executors; further indorsement would not give an action against the effects of the testator."

(z) Ballingalls v. Gloster, 3 East, 481, (Chit. j. 673); Bright v. Purrier, Bul. Ni. Pri. 269, (Chit. j. 371). A foreign bill payable one hundred and twenty days after sight was presented for acceptance, but acceptance being refused, the holder brought an action immediately against the drawer; the defendant objected that he was not liable till the expiration of the one hundred and twenty days, and offered to call witnesses to prove that such was the custom of merchants; but Lord Mansfield said, the law was clearly otherwise, and refused to hear the evidence; so the plaintiff recovered.

Milford v. Meyor, Dougl. 54, (Chit. j. 400). Indorser against the drawer of a bill, which the drawee had refused to accept. On a rule to show cause why the defendant should not be discharged, the ground stated was, that the bill was not due. Per curiam. It is settled, that if a bill of exchange is not accepted, an action on the bill will lie immediately against the drawer, because his undertaking that the drawee shall give him credit is not performed.

In France it seems that a drawer or inderser is not upon non-acceptance liable to be immediately sued, though he must find caution or security for the ultimate payment; I Pardessus, 344. So Pothier considers the drawer as merely liable to indemnify the holder against the more probable non-payment at maturity. Traite du Contrat de Change, Part 1, Chap. 4, num. 70.

(a) Mellish v. Simeon, 2 Hen. Bla. 379, (Chit. j. 534); ante, 193, note (m); Poth. pl.

(b) Poth. pl. 97, 98, 99. (c) Potter v. Brown, 5 East, 131, (Chit. J.

(d) Cook v. Tower, 1 Taunt. 372. Under the 17 Geo. 3, c. 26, s. 4. See the last act, 53 Geo. 3, c. 141, s. 6, 3 Younge & J. 136.

^{(1) {} Jordan v. Bell, 8 Porter 53; Evans v. St. John, Gid. 186. }

*CHAPTER VI.

H

.. 4%

OF THE TRANSFER OF BILLS AND NOTES-OF RE-STRAINING THEIR NEGOTIATION-AND OF THE LOSS OF BILLS, &c.

I. OF THE TRANSFER OF BILLS AS		Restrictive	28
Notes	195		23
1. What Bills, Notes, &c. transferab	le ib	Qualified sans recours	28
2. Who can or cannot transfer	197	Number of indorsements	23
Persons having no Right	ib.	Delivery to transferee	il
Infants	200	6. Of compelling an Indorsement	23
Married Women	ib.	7. Rights and liabilities of Parties	il
Partners	201	Right of Indorsee	ib
Executors	ib.	Right of Bearer	24
Trustees	202	Liability of Indorser	il
Bankrupts	ib	Revocation of Transfer, &c. when	248
Where he has neglected to in	!-	Liability of Transferer by Deli
dorse	203	rery	244
In case of Accommodation Bills	204	Idemnity on an accommodation
After secrets Act of Bankruptcy	205	Indorser	247
In cases of fraudulent Preference	208	8. Of Guarantees in lieu of indorse-
Insolvents	212	ment	249
8. To whom	ib.	II. OF ACTIONS FOR BILLS OR PRO-
4. Time of Transfer	218	CEEDS, AND BILLS IN EQUI-
Before Bill, &c. complete	214	TY TO RESTRAIN TRANSFERS
After Refusal to accept	ib.	UI. OF THE LOSS OF BILLS, NOTES,
After Bill or note due	215	&c.	258
When payable on demand	220	Course to be pursued by Loser	ib.
Party taking not liable to col		Consequences of Loss, and where lateral Defences	ib.	a Right acquired	254
When Bill payable at fixed		Caution to be observed in taking	256
Day	222	MALA FIDES necessary to defeat
Who precluded from objecting	ib.	Right of Holder	257
After Payment and when Note re-	. "'	Necessity for Loser duly demandissuable	223	ing Payment, and giving No-
5. Modes of transfer	224	tice of Non-payment	262
By Delivery	227	Demand of Duplicate Bill, &c.
By indorsement	ib.	under Statule	263
Table of forms	224	Loser's Remedy in Equity	264
In Blank, authorises Payment	227		265
In full or special	231		268

I. Of the Transfer of Bill; and Notes.

THOUGH inland bills are frequently accepted before they are indorsed, I. Of the Transfer tag all bills may be transferred before greentance we will consider the yet as all bills may be transferred before acceptance, we will consider the of Bills and points relative to the transfer of bills and notes in this Chapter.

It has been already observed(a), that it is the transferable quality of bills and notes which principally distinguishes them from other contracts, and that on account of this property and of their utility in mercantile transactions they have been peculiarly favoured by our courts. The above divisions and points relating to the transfer of bills are to be considered:—

First, What bills or notes are transferable. If a BILL or note has been Bills, drawn or transferred, or is payable in a foreign country, it is *essential for Notes, &c.

are transferable. [*196]

(a) Ante, 159. 29

I. Of the transfer of Bills and Notes.

1st. What Bills, &c. transferable.

the holder to be well informed of the law of that country relating to the transfer of bills. In France it is absolutely essential that bills be drawn expressly payable to order, and they must not be payable to bearer(b); and it appears that bills were not transferable in France by the law-merchant but by a particular ordonnance(c). And in a late case a doubt was entertained whether a Bank of England promissory note is transferable by the law of France(d). In Scotland bills are transferable although they did not contain the word "order" or other transferable words(e).

With respect to bills payable to a certain person or order, or to the order of a third person, no doubt seems ever to have been entertained respecting their negotiability; and though bills payable to bearer, or to a certain person or bearer, were formerly thought not to be negotiable and considered as mere choses in action, upon a supposition that such instruments contained on authority to assign them so as to enable the assignee to demand payment of the drawee(f); yet it is now completely settled(g) that the decisions tending to support this doctrine and the reasoning on which they were founded were equally erroneous. In short, it is now well established that in this country bills, whether payable to order or to bearer, are equally negotiable from hand to hand ad infinitum; and that the transfer vests in the assignee a right of action on the instrument assigned sustainable in his own name.

But in general in England and Ireland(h), unless the words "or order," "or bearer," or some other equivalent words(i), authorising the payee of a bill or note to assign it, be inserted therein, it cannot be transferred so as to give the assignee a right of action thereon against any of the parties (k); unless the negotiable words were omitted by mistake, in which case they may be supplied(1); or unless perhaps in the case of a bill or note being vested in the king, who may assign a chose in action, and that by his sign manual only(m). And though before the passing of the stamp acts the indorser of a bill not negotiable for want of the words "or order" was held to be liable to his immediate indorsec, on the ground of the act of indorsing being equivalent to a new drawing (n)(1); yet since those acts, in order to charge such indorser as a new drawer, a second stamp will be necessary (o). It may,

(b) 1 Pardess. 346, 358, 359, 360; Pailliet,

Manuel de Droit Français, 840, 848.
(c) Pothier, Traité de Contrat de Change;
Œuvres de Pothier, Dupin, Paris, 1825, vol. iii.
123; and see part ii. article ii. sect. v.; Billets à Ordre, 222; De la Chaumette r. Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 215; Dans & L. 319; 2 B. &

Ad. 385, (Chit. j. 1418, 1542).
(d) Per Lord Tenterden, in De la Chaumette v. Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 215. See post, 820 (25).

(e) Thompson on Bills, 101.

f) Horion v. Coggs, 3 Lev. 299, (Chit. j. 185); Hodges v. Steward, 1 Salk. 125, (Chit. j. 184); Nicholson v. Sedwick, 1 Ld. Raym. 180, (Chit. j. 203); Mod. Ent. 313. Bills and notes are valid, though they do not contain any words rendering them negotiable; Smith v. Kendall. 6 T. R. 124, (Chit. j. 533); ante, 159, note (i)

(g) Grant v. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1516; Ela.

Rep. 481, 485, (Chit. j. 365); post, 198, note (i); Hinton's case, 2 Show, 235, (Chit. j. 166); and see Miller v. Race, 1 Burr. 452, (Chit.) 346).

(h) See the Irish Act, 9 Geo. 4, c. 24, s. 2. This act assimilates the law relating to bills and notes in Ireland to that of England.

(i) 1 Parders. 360. 361.

(k) Hill v. Lewis, 1 Salk. 132, S. C. nom-Tassell, and Lee r. Lewis, 1 Lord Raym. 743, (Chit. j. 187, 188); and infra, note (o).

(1) Kershaw r. Cox, 3 Esp. Rep. 246, (Chit.

j. 629); ante, 184, note (e).
(m) Lambert v. Taylor, 4 B. & C. 189; 6
D. & R. 188, (Chit. j. 1428).

(n) Hill v. Lewis, 1 Salk. 132, 133; 1 Ld. Raym. 743, S. C. nom. Tassell and Lee r. Lewis; see post as to Liability of Indorser.

(o) Plimley v. Westley, 2 Scott, 423; S.C.

2 Bing. N. C. 249; 1 Hodges, 324. This was

⁽¹⁾ The same point was decided in actions brought in Pennsylvania by the indorses of a note and bill, not negotiable, against the acceptor of the latter and the maker of the former. Gerard v. La Coste, 1 Dall. 194. Barriere v. Nairac, 2 Dall. 249.

ni.

2023

TO DE

100 04

erate, ir , 17 JF

165-1

77.75

... (2)

. duto

11-1

.

تندأ جل

18

تكانواند م

hijid.

T.

NA.

. . .

S. 12

.

, roin

. .

.....

1:5

()

: **

Ţ

7

however, be collected* from the cases relative to bills payable to fictitious I. Of the persons (p), that any words in the bills or extraneous facts, from whence it Transfer of Bills and can be inferred that the person making it, or any other party to it, intended Notes. it to be negotiable, will give it a transferable quality against that person. Victualling bills are not assignable; but by usage, a power of attorney to the 1st. What Bills, &c. attorney, his substitutes and assigns, to receive the money, authorises the at- transfertorney to assign. Such a power is called a general power, in contradistinc-able. tion to a special power, which authorises the attorney only to receive. where an attorney, acting under the latter power, deposited certain victualling bills with the defendant, as a security for money borrowed from him, it was held that the payee of the bills was entitled to recover them in an action of trover(q). So East India certificates are not indorsable so as to transfer the legal interest(r); and it was held that East India bonds were not transferable so as to pass the legal interest to the purchaser, but this has been altered by statute(s). East India Company's warrants are not negotiable instruments within the 6 Geo. 4, c. 94, s. 2, as they pass by delivery and not by indorsement(t). But an Exchequer bill, the blank in which has not been filled up with any person's name, is transferable by delivery (u). So is a Prussian bond (x). A doubt was once suggested whether a check or draft on a banker were negotiable out of the bills of mortality (y); but it is now settled that this instrument is as negotiable as a bill of exchange (z) (1). X and it seems that a bill or note payable to bearer may be transferred and declared on as indorsed(a)(2)

The law having in general already determined when a bill is assignable, and the mode by which the transfer is to be effected, it is the province of a court(b), and not that of a jury, to decide on the negotiability of these instruments, unless in new cases where the law-merchant is doubtful, when evidence of the custom may be received (c).

the case of a promissory note not negotiable; but we shall hereafter see that the indorser of a negotiable note cannot be charged as a new muker, because the maker of a note stands in the situation of the acceptor of a bill; Gwinnell v. Herbert, 5 Ad. & El. 436; 6 N. & M. 723, S. C.; post, Liability of Indorser. In the 593). case of a negotiable bill no second stamp is ne- (a) Wayman v. Bend, 1 Campb. 175, (Chit. cessary in order to charge an indorser as a new drawer, because the instrument remains the same; Penny v. Innes, 1 C., M. & R. 439; 5 Tyrw. 107, S. C.

(p) Minet v. Gibson, 3 T. R. 481; 1 H. Bla. 569, (Chit. j. 460); vide ante, 158, in notes. (q) Tonkin v. Fuller, 3 Dougl. 300, M. T.

(r) Williamson v. Thomson, 16 Ves. 450. (s) Glynn v. Baker, 13 East, 509; 51 Geo. 3, c. 64. As to a navy bill, see M'Lieske v. Ekins, Say. 73, cited 13 East, 515, note (a).

(t) Taylor v. Trueman, Mood. & M. 456. (u) Wookey v. Pole, 4 B. & Al. 1, (Chit. j. 1086); post, 199, note (o).

(x) Gorgier v. Mieville, 3 B. & C. 45; 4 D. & R. 641, (Chit. j. 1212); post, 199, note (p).
(y) Grant r. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1517, (Chit.

j. 365).

(2) Boehm v. Stirling, 7 T. R. 439, (Chit. j.

j. 746). In an action against the maker of a promissory note, payable to T. L. or bearer, the defendant averred an indorsement by T. L.; and Lord Ellenborough held, that the plaintiff having stated such indorsement, though unnecessarily, was bound to prove it, and that the plaintiff could not recover on the money counts, as he was not an original party to the bill. Sed vide Quarterman v. Green, 1 Carr. & Pa. 92.

(b) Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr. 1224, (Chit. j. 358); Grant v. Vaughan, 3 Barr. 1523, 1528, (Chit. j. 365).

(c) Stone v. Rawlinson, Willes, 561, (Chit. j. 313); Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr.

If the payee of a note, payable to bearer, indorse his name on the note, he will be liable on the note in the same manner as if it were payable to order. Brush v. Beeves' adm. 3 John. Rep. 489. { Dean v. Hall, 7 Cowen, 214. And the endorsee may maintain an action upon such a note in his own name. Kimmey v. Campbell, 1 Ala. Rep. (New Series) 92. }

Digitized by Google

^{(1) {} Alwood v. Haselden, 2 Bai. 457. }
(2) The indersement of a bill or note is not merely a transfer of the paper; but it is a new and substantive contract. Slacum v Pomeroy, 6 Cranch, 222. It is in fact the same as a new bill drawn by the indorser on the acceptor in favor of the indorsee. Van Staphorst v. Pearse, 4 Mass. Rep. 258. See Lenox v. Prout, 3 Wheaton, 520. Bank of N. America v. Barriere, 1 Yeates' Rep. 360. Eccles v. Ballard, 2 M'Cord, 388.

I. Of the Transfer of Bills and Notes.

fer.

Secondly, Who can or cannot transfer.—With respect to the persons who may transfer a bill or note, whoever has the absolute property may assign it if payable to order (d). In general a valid transfer can only be made by the 2dly. Who payee or the person who is legally interested in the instrument or by his may trans- agent, and consequently an indorsement by a person of the same name is inoperative (except against the party making it and the subsequent indorsers,) [*198] *although the person entitled to transfer the instrument was not particularly described in it(e). The same rule applies to the right of transferring a bill made payable to bearer or to order, and indorsed in blank, if the person to whom it was assigned or pledged knew, at the time he became the holder, that the person making the transfer had no right to make it (f). So the party himself, who has received a bill or note as agent, or for a particular purpose, must apply the same accordingly, and neither he nor any third person knowing the facts, can, by afterwards receiving the amount, detain the same from the principal, or avail himself of a set-off(g)(1). But if A. remits a bill of exchange to B. to be paid to a third person on A.'s account, and B. discounts the bill, but does not pay over the proceeds, and A. instead of bringing a special action against B. for the breach of duty, sues him in assumpsit for money had and received, the latter is entitled to a set-off(h). Where the holder has no knowledge of the special circumstances and takes the bill bond fide, either absolutely or as a pledge, such transfer will be as operative, and will convey the same rights as if it had been made by a person authorised to make it; for it would be a great clog on the negotiability of bills and checks, if the holder were bound in every instance where there > 1216; 1 Bla. Rep. 295, (Chit. j. 358); Carvick defendant, payable to Hunt, or order, on dev. Vickery, Dougl. 653, (Chit. j. 410); ante, 57, note (l).

(d) Per curiam, in Stone v. Rawlinson,

Barnes, 165; Willes, 560, (Chit. j. 313).

(e) Mead v. Young, 4 T. R. 28, (Chit. j. 467); Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 607, (Chit. j. 479). A bill payable to Henry Davis, or order, was sent by post, and got into the hands of a wrong Henry Davis, who indorsed it to plaintiff; there was no description of Henry Davis in the bill, in addition to his name, nor was any fraud imputable to the plaintiff. This was an action against the acceptor, and on his offering evidence to show that the Henry Davis who indorsed the bill was not the person in whose fayour it was drawn, Lord Kenyon was of opinion that the evidence was inadmissible, and he retained that opinion after cause shown against an application for a new trial; but Ashhurst, Buller, and Grose, Justices, held, that unless the indorsement was made by the person to whom the bill was really payable, it was a forgery, and could confer no title, and that therefore it was competent for the defendant to show that the person who indorsed the bill was not the person in whose favour it was made, and a new trial was accordingly granted.

(f) Roberts r. Eden, 1 Bos. & Pul. 398, (Chit. j. 615). The plaintiffs were assignees of the indorsee of a promissory note, made by mand, for money borrowed, and who indorsed to bankrupt. Hunt and the defendant afterwards settled accounts, but the promissory note was not mentioned; it was given in evidence that the note had passed several times between Hunt and the bankrupt, but upon one occasion, Hunt told him that it must not be negotiated, as he should want it when he settled accounts wilk defendant. The jury, upon the trial, found a verdict for the defendant, and upon a motion for a new trial, the court held that the verdict was right, and that the evidence was decisive to show that the note was not negotiated to the bankrupt, but only deposited with him as a pledge, and that it must remain in his hands subject to the same equity as if it were in the hands of the original payee. S. P. Trouttel v. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100, (Chit. j. 1002); post, 200, note

(g) Buchanan v. Findlay, 9 Bar. & Cres. 738; 4 Man. & Ry. 593, (Chit. j. 1041); post, 211, n. (n); Kay v. Flint, 8 Taunt. 21; Exparte Flint, 1 Swanst. 30; Exparte Frere, 1 Montag. & Macar. 263, (Chit. j. 1451). But see Thorpe v. Thorpe, 3 B. & Ad. 580, infra. note (h). As to the form of action against ngent misapplying proceeds of bill, see Palmer v. Jarmain, 2 M. & W. 282; post, 199, note (r)

(h) Thorpe v. Thorpe, 3 Bar. & Adl. 580.

Brush v. Scribner, 11 Con. 388. Sims v. Lyles, 1 Hill's Rep. 50. Car. 89. }

^{(1) {} Procter v. M'Call, 2 Bai. 298. But where the transfer of a note is taken from a person, not an original party to it, the notes being past due, at the time of the transfer is not equivalent to notice that such person came into possession of it by fraud; unless perhaps inquiry of the payer would necessarily have led to a knowledge of the fraud. Ibid.

PART

1/19N W

7 1901

7 3

2 17

 $(C,C) \ge 2$

ئے آئا_ی

. , , , , ,

176

N 754

a 11%

... Pre

g Stat

1. 1. $\pm i (i)$

. . .

. ... ??

47.0.2

۳.

ý ,, jê:

 $(i_{i_1})_{i_2}$

£.15

1

... 1t

n, r

. د دور

3

. .

17.58

نفر کدم:

, J r (s

are no suspicious circumstances to inquire into the right of the person making I. Of the Therefore, if indorsed bills be delivered to a person for a Transfer the transfer(i). particular purpose, and he negotiates them to a third person, who does not and Notes. know the trust, and obtains them fairly, he will become beneficially entitled to them, *however fraudulent the conduct of the agent(k). And if the 2dly. Who drawer and payee of a bill after it has become due indorse it to B. on condifer. tion that he will take 'up certain bills discounted by the payee, and B. does [*199] not take up the bills, but transfers the bill so indorsed to him to C., the latter may recover against the acceptor (l). So if A. deposit bills indorsed in blank with B. his banker, to be received when due, and the latter raise money upon them by pledging them with C. another banker, and afterwards become bankrupt, A. cannot maintain trover against C. for the bills(m); and the same doctrine extends to Navy Bills(n), Exchequer Bills(o), and Prussian Bonds(p). And though in general a factor, until the 6 Geo. 4, c. 94, could not pledge the goods of his principal (q), it was always otherwise in the

(i) Grant v. Vaughan, 8 Burr. 1516, (Chit. j. 365). The defendant gave a cash note upon his banker to one Bicknell, payable to ship Fortune, or bearer. Bicknell lost it, and the plaintiff afterwards took it bon? fide in the course of trade, and paid a valuable consideration for it. The banker (in consequence of an order from the defendant) refused to pay it, upon which the plaintiff brought this action. Lord Mansfield left it to the jury to consider, first, whether the plaintiff came to the possession of the bill fairly and bona fide, and, secoudly, whether such draft was in fact and practice negotiable, and the jury found for the defendant; but upon an application for a new trial, and cause shown, the court were of opinion, that the second point ought not to have been left to the jury, because it was clear that such drafts were nogotiable, and if the jury thought the plaintiff took the note fairly and bona fide, of which there appeared to be no doubt, he was entitled to recover. A new trial was accordingly granted, in which the plaintiff recovered.

(k) Bolton v. Puller, 1 Bos. & Pul. 539, (Chit. j. 567); see also Ramsbottom v. Cator, 1 Stark. Rep. 228, (Chit. j. 953); and Paley, 154, 155

(1) Wright v. Hay, 2 Stark. 398.

(m) Collins v. Martin, 1 Bos. & Pul. 648; 2 Esp. R. 520, (Chit. j. 576); cited and approved of in Treuttel v. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100, (Chit. j. 1002); post, 200, note (s); Wookey v. Pole, 4 B. & Al. 1, (Chit. j. 1086); The plaintiffs sent bills indorsed in blank to Messrs. Nightingules to receive the money upon them; they borrowed money of the defendants, and pledged these bills as a security; they afterwards became bankrupt, and the plaintiff brought trover for the bills; there being no evidence that the defendants knew under what circumstances the bills had been left with Messrs. N., or how the plaintiff's account (he being in cash) stood with them, Eyre, C. J. thought the action would not lie, and nonsuited the plaintiff. On a rule nisi to set aside the nonsuit, it was urged, that though the Messrs. N. might have negotiated the bills, they could not pledge them; but after consideration the court was unanimous, that they had the power of binding the plaintiff as well by pledging as negotiating the bills, of which they were enabled to hold themselves out to to world as the absolute owners.

See also Bolton v. Puller, 1 Bos. & Pul. 546, (Chit. j. 567); in which Eyre, C. J. said, "it is clear, that if indorsed bills are deposited with a banker, and they are by him negotiated to a third person, though the purpose for which they were deposited should be ever so cruelly disappointed, the original owner can have no claim to recover them in trover against such third person."

Ex parte Pease, in the matter of Boldero, 1 Rose, 238, in which the Lord Chancellor states the law to the same effect; see also Paley, 154, 155; Thompson v. Giles, 2 B. & C. 422; 3

D. & R. 733, (Chit. j. 1190).
(n) Goldsmid v. Gaden, in Chancery, cited in Collins v. Martin, 1 Bos. & Pul. 649, (Chit. j. 571). The plaintiffs, who were brokers, advanced money on three navy bills, and a deposit of scrip, and though it afterwards appeared that both navy bills and scrip were left by the defendant in the hands of the party depositing for a particular purpose, and were not his property, but the property of the defendants; yet, on a bill filed in equity, it was referred to the Master to take an account of what was due to the piaintiffs, and an issue at law was refused by the Chancellor, who thought the question too clear to be disputed. See further as to navy bills, Jones v. Ryde, 1 Marsh. 157, (Chit. j.

(o) Wookey v. Pole, 4 B. & Al. (Chit. j. 1086); and see Clayton's case, 1 Meriv. 572 to 585, from which it also appears that if one of several partners, bankers, improperly dispose of such bills, the firm will be liable for the amount.

(p) Gorgier v. Mieville, 3 B. & C. 45; 4 D. & R. 641, (Chit. j. 1212). Trover lies for India bonds; 13 East, 509; ante, 197, note (s); but see now 51 Geo. 3, c. 64.

(q) Newsome v. Thornton, 6 East, 21; in Martin v. Coles, 1 Maule & S. 140, and Solly v. Rathbone, 2 Maule & S. 298; Guichard v.

I. Of the case of a bill. If a party authorised by the holder of a bill of exchange to get it discounted, and to apply the proceeds in a particular way, does not Bills and get it discounted, but misapplies any part of the proceeds, he cannot be Notes. sued in trover for the bill, but must be sued for money had and received(r).

2dly. Who may transfer. By an Agent in fraud of his Duty(#).

However, it has been decided, that trover lies for bills of exchange indorsed to a person as agent of the plaintiffs, when, by the terms of the indorsement, it appears that the indorsee was a mere agent as "for their account," and deposited by him with the defendant, as a security *for past [*200] and future advances made to him by the defendants(s); and an indorsement in these words, "pay to A. B. for my use," or "pay to A. B. or order, for my use," or "the within must be credited to A. B." sufficiently denote that the indorsee or holder is a mere agent, and prevents him from parting with or charging the proceeds of the bill in fraud of the principal(t). But the merely writing the name of a banker across a check has not that ef-When it is known that the holder of a bill is entitled to it only as an agent, no person should take the same by indorsement or transfer from him without first ascertaining the extent of his authority (x). In order to prevent the fraudulent misapplication of a bill or note by an agent, the above special forms of indorsement should be adopted (y). We shall hereafter, in the Chapter upon Bankruptcy, consider the cases of bills deposited short, and not discounted by bankers or agents (z).

In cases of transfers without title or authority, it is scarcely necessary to refer to authorities to show that a person taking the transfer, with knowledge of the circumstances, cannot sue; but if he have given value without being aware of the facts, he may recover, though prior indorsers were privy to the fraud(a).

Transfer by an Infant.

We have seen that an indorsement by an infant payee will not pass any interest in the bill as against himself, but that it sufficiently passes the interest as against the acceptor and subsequent indorsers, and they will in general be liable to be sued by the indorsee or holder (b).

Morgan, 4 Moore, 36. See the 6 Geo. 4, c. 94, relative to the rights of the vene'or and vendee and pledgee of goods, &c. in the case of a sale or pledge by an agent.

(r) Palmer v. Jarmain, 2 Mce. & Wels. 282; see Stierneld v. Holden, 4 B. & C. 5; Ry. &

Moo. 219, S. C.

(s) As to the extent of an agent's authority to draw, indorse, and accept bills in the name of his principal, see ante, 28 to 32; and see Foster v. Pearson and Stephens r. Foster, 1 C. M. & R. 849; 5 Tyr. 255, S. C. As to the duty of bill brokers in discounting bills, post, Right of Indorsee.

As to embezzlement by agents of money or securities entrusted to them for a special purpose, see the 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 49, &c. post, Part III. Ch. II. Embezzlement.

(s) Treuttel v. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100, (Chit. j 1002).

(t) Id. ibid.; Sigourney v. Lloyd, 8 B. & C. 622; 3 Man. & Ry. 58; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Younge & J. 221, (Chit. j. 1412).

(u) Stewart v. Lee, Mood. & M. 158, (Chit. 1378); and see post, as to Restrictive Indorsements.

(x) Attwood v. Munnings, 7 Bar. & Cres.

278; 1 Man. & Ry. 78, (Chit. j. 1342); ante, 28, note (m).

(y) Treuttel r. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100, (Chit. j. 1002). As "pay to S. P. or order for account of C. D."

(z) Post, Part II. Ch. VIII.

(a) Haley r. Lane, 2 Atk. 181, (Chit. j.

294).

(b) Ante, 19, 20. Taylor v. Croker, 4 Esp. Rep. 187, (Chit. j. 684); Grey v. Cooper, E. T. 22 Geo. 3, 1 Selw. N. P. 302, 9th edit.; 3 Dougl. 65, S. C. In an action against the acceptor of a bill, drawn by Eversfield and Jones on the defendant and payable to their own order, and indorsed by them to one S. and by him to the plaintiff; it appeared that both the drawers were infants at the time of drawing the bill, but Lord Munsfield held, that though that might have been a good defence, had the action been brought against the drawers themselves, it was no defence in the present action. Verdict for the plaintiff. But quære if the infant afterwards dissent to his indorsement, whether such defective transfer of his interest in the bill would not defeat the plaintiff 's claim. Vide Jones v. Darch, 4 Price, 800, (Chit. j. 997); ante, 19, note (h); semble it would not. 'nn.

1.22.2

r. 26e

racost k

1 2222

Cd 252

er Wir

r 18:3

ro mg

. 11 . . .

31. 715

ه کی پیده • این این ا

e de

' ۳۱۰۰ 1 1/4

; ~*

. .

13

13

*

Where a bill or note has been made payable or endorsed to a fine sole I. Of the who afterwards marries, or where it is made during the coverture, the right Transfer of Bills and of transfer vests in her husband, he being by the marriage entitled to all her Notes. personal property (c), and he thereby becomes virtually indorsee, so that he may sue thereon in his own name, without alleging or proving any indorse- 2dly. Who ment(d). If a bill or note be *made payable to a fine covert, it is in legal fer. operation payable to the husband, and an effectual indorsement should in By a Margeneral be in his name(e)(1). But we have seen, that if the husband per-ried Womit his wife to act as his agent or to carry on trade as a fême sole, his authority to indorse may be presumed; and if a promissory note is made payable [*201] to a married woman, and she indorse it for value in her own name, and the maker afterwards promises to pay it, in an action against him by the indorsee, it will be presumed that the nominal payee had authority from her husband to indorse the note in that form, and the indorsement will be considered as vesting a legal title to the note in the plaintiff (f); and even without such promise the indorsee might recover (g); and if the husband indorse a note given to him by his wife, he may be sued as indorser(h).

On the death of the holder, the right of transfer is vested in his executor By Execuor administrator (i) (2). If the executor or administrator indorse the bill or Adminisnote without qualification, he would be personally liable in case the bill should trators. be dishonoured(k). Executors are not personally liable in case of the fail-

See Haleg v. Lane, 2 Atk. 181, (Chit. j. 294); 23, note (1). supra note (a).

(c) Ante, 22, note (n). Conner v. Martin, 1 Stra. 516; Sel. Ca. 96, S. C.; Rawlinson v. Stone, 3 Wils. 5, (Chit. j. 314); Miles v. Williams, 10 Mod. 245; Hatchett v. Baddely, 2 Bla. Rep. 1081; Caudell v. Shaw, 4 T. R. 361; Lavie v. Phillips, 3 Burr. 1776.

Conner v. Martin, 1 Stra. 516, cited in 3 Wils. 5. A bill was made payable to Susan Conner or order while she was sole. She married, and during her coverture indorsed it to the plaintiff, and upon demorrer and argument, the Court of Common Pleas held that the feme covert could not assign the note, because by the marriage, it became the sole property of her husband.

Miles v. Williams, 10 Mod. 245. Per Parker, C. J. If a note be payable to a feme sole or order, and she marries, her busband is the proper person to indorse it.

(d) M'Neilage v. Holloway, 1 B. & Ald. 218; Arnold v. Revoult, 1 Brod. & Bing. 446; 4 Moore, 71, 72, S. C.; ante, 23, note (p).

(e) Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 432; 3 Esp. Rep. 266, (Chit. j. 637); ante, 23, note (s); or he may declare on it as payable to himself. Per Richardson, J. in Arnold v. Revoult, 1 Brod. & B. 446; 4 Moore, 71, 72, S. C.

(f) Cotes v. Davis, 1 Campb. 485; ante,

(g) Prestwich v. Marshall, 4 Car. & P. 594; 4 Moore & P. 513, (Chit. j. 1555); ante, 28, 24, note (u).

(h) Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 181, (Chit. j. 294). (i) Rawlingon v. Stone, 3 Wils. 1; 2 Stra. 1260; Barnes, 164, (Chit. j. 314). A note was payable to A. B. or order; A. B. died intestate, and his administrator indorsed it to the plaintiff. These facts appearing upon the de-claration, the defendant demurred, and contended that the personal representative of the payee had no power to indorse a note, but the Court of Common Pleas, after three arguments, and the Court of King's Bench, upon error brought, were unanimously of opinion that he had, and each court said it was every day's practice and the constant usage for executors and administrators to indorse bills and notes payable to the order of their testators or intestates; and see Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & W. 243, (Chit. j. 1097).

(k) King v. Thom, 1 T. R. 487, (Chit. j. 435); Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 622, (Chit. j. 479). The court held, that upon a bill payable to several as executors, they might sue as executors; and per Buller, J. "No inconvenience can arise from their indorsing the bill; for if they indorse, they are liable personally,

(1) A promissory note given to a feme covert for her separate use, for the consideration of her distributive share in an intestate estate, becomes immediately the property of the husband. Commonwealth v. Manley, 12 Pick. Rep. 178.

(2) An administrator appointed abroad, may maintain a suit here in his own name, on a note payable to his intestate or bearer; especially when the question whether or not he be a bona fide holder is submitted to the jury, and there is no pretence of a set-off or other defence as against the payee. Robinson et al. v. Crandall et al., 9 Wend. Rep. 425.

Digitized by Google

Bills and Notes.

may trans-

I. Of the ure of a banker, in whose hands they have deposited bills, part of the es-Where they payee and holder of a note appointed the maker there-Transfer of tate (l)(1). of, with others, his executors, this was held to be an extinguishment of the note at law, and that no action could be supported upon the note, even by a 2dly. Who person to whom the executor indorsed it against such executor(m). The inere act of one of two executors indorsing his name to enable the other to receive payment of a note, is not equivalent to his personal receipt of the money, so as to render him liable in case his co-executor should misapply the amount (n).

By Partner. [*202]

If a bill has been made or transferred to several persons not in partnership, the right of transfer is in all collectively, and not in any one individually (0) (2); but where several persons are in partnership, the *transfer may be made by the indorsement of one partner only, in which case the transfer is considered as made by all the persons entitled to make it(p); and one of several partners may authorise a person, as agent, to indorse the name of the firm, and thereby bind the same (q)(3). And it has been held, that though such persons may not be in partnership, and only one has indorsed, yet that if the drawee accepted after the indorsement, he cannot dispute the regularity of the and not as executors; for their indorsement would not give an action against the effects of the testator."

Where two makers of a promissory note gave it to a creditor of their testator, whereby "as executors they severally and jointly promised to pay on demand with interest," it was held they were personally responsible; Child v. Monins, 2 B. & B. 460; 5 Moore, 282, (Chit. j. 1103); and Ashby v. Ashby, 7 Bar. & C.

446; 1 Man. & Ry. 80, (Chit. j. 1438).
(1) Rowth v. Howell, 3 Ves. 565, 566;
Knight v. Lord Plymouth, 3 Atk. 480, (Chit. j. 819); Robinson v. Ward, 2 Carr. & Pa. C. N. P. 59; ante, 36.

(m) Freakley v. Fox, 9 Bar. & C. 130; 4 (Chit. j. 1450).

Man. & Ry. 18, (Chit. j. 1418). In that case the note having been discharged by the appointment of the maker executor ceased to be negotiable. See 55 Geo. 8, c. 184, s. 19. Bartrum v. Caddy, 1 Perry & Dav. 207, 212, 213; ante, 108 n. (e).

(n) Hovey v. Blukeman, 4 Ves. 608.

(o) Carvick v. Vickery, Dougl. 653, (Chit. j. 410); note, ante, 57, 59; and Jones v. Radford, 1 Camp. 83, (Chit. j. 741); and see Williams. liams v. Thomas, 6 Esp. Rep. 18, (Chit. j. 722); ante, 45; Solw. Ni. Pri. 9th edit. 348, 849.

(p) Ante, 57, 58.
(q) Tenant v. Strachan, Mood. & M. 278,

(1) If a negotiable note be made payable to two executors as such, it cannot be transferred by the indorsement of one of them; both must indorse the note to pass the property by assignment.

Smith v. Whiting, 9 Mass. Rep. 334.

(2) { One of two joint payees cannot endorse a note in his own name or in his own name and that of his co-payee, they are not considered partners, either in a commercial or legal sense of the

rm. Wood v. Wood, 1 Han. 428; Bennett v. M'Gaughy, 3 How. 192. \
(3) One partner may by an indorsement made by himself in the name of the partnership, enti-1 Caines' Rep. 305. And an indorsement to a third person of such a note by one partner by writing the name of the firm on the back of the note, is a valid transfer. Kane v. Scofield, 2 Caines' Rep. 368.

If one of the partners of a firm has been in the habit of indorsing the name of the firm on bills of exchange as security, it is a fact from which the jury may legally infer that he had authority from the other partners; and the bona fide holder of such bill may recover against all the partners notwithstanding the indorsement of the name of the firm was expressly prohibited in the articles of partnership.

les of partnership. Bank of Kentucky v. Brooking, 2 Lit. 45.

As to the powers of one partner to bind the firm by his acceptances, &c. in the partnership name, See Le Roy, Baynard & Co. v. Johnson, 2 Peters, 186, 197, 199. Sutton v. Irvine, 12 Serg. & R. 13. Taylor v. Coryell, Id. 243. Armstrong v. Hussey, Id. 315. Smith v. Lusher, 5 Cowen, 688. Jaques v. Marquand, 6 Cowen, 497. Graves v. Merry, Id. 701. Bank of South Carolina v. Humphreys, 1 M'Cord, 888.

Endorsements made by a partnership, bearing date about three weeks before its dissolution, will be presumed to have been made during the continuance of the partnership. Crosby v. Morton, 13 Louis. Rep. 357. As to the power of a bank to endorse a note after the expiration of its charter. Folger v. Chase, 18 Pick. 68.

M

e 199

.58739

853

. .

1.5

17.2

1 1/2 ·-, 38

10 (45%

.

_{er} Îr

, 15

40.0

r y A

:525

r 19

11

· Yr

18

7

¥Ĭ

#

latter(r). In general we have seen that one partner may, without the ex- I. Of the press concurrence of the other partners, make a valid transfer of a bill by Transfer of Bills and an indorsement in the name of the firm, even in fraud of his copartners (8). Notes. And where several partners carry on trade under the name of one of them only, an indorsement in his separate name will bind the firm (t).

In the case of a trustee, where a bill is payable to A. for the use of B. By Trusthe right of transfer is only in A., because B. has only an equitable and not too. a legal interest(u).

If a man become a bankrupt, all his property in which he is beneficially By Bankinterested is vested by the assignment of the commissioners in the assignees, by relation to the act of bankruptcy, so as to defeat all intermediate acts done by him to dispose of his property, (unless within the protection of the bankrupt act, 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, and the recent statute, 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, presently noticed), and consequently the right of transfer of a bill or note is in general vested in them from the time of the act of bankruptcy(x); and it has been held that after a secret act of bankruptcy committed by one of two co-partners, he could not, by an indersement in the name of the firm, transfer negotiable securities which existed before the act of bankruptcy, so as to pass the beneficial interest in the bill away from his assignees(y); and it has been doubted whether the solvent partner could in such *case, without the con-[*203] currence of the assignees of the bankrupt, indorse the bill(z); and it was

(r) Jones v. Radford, 1 Campb. 93, (Chit. j. 741); cited in notes. Indorsee against acceptor of a bill of exchange, payable to two persons. The bill had been indersed by one in the name of both, and the defendant had accepted it with the indorsement upon it. The defence was, that the payees not being partners, the hill ought to have been indorsed by both. Lord Ellenborough held, that the defendant having accepted the bill after it had been so indorsed could not now dispute the regularity of the indorsement. Sid vide Smith v. Hunter, 1 T. R. 654.

(s) Swann v. Steele, 7 East, 210, (Chit j. 722); ante, 41, note (x); Ridley v. Taylor, 18 East, 175, (Chit. j. 812); ante, 48, note (s). But see as to the necessity, in case of bankruptcy, of proving the assent of the firm, in order to entitle a separate creditor to prove against the joint estate, Ex parte Goulding, 2 Gl. & J. 118; 8 Law J. 19, S. C.; Ex parte Thrope, 8 Mont. & Ayr, 716; post, Part II. Ch. VIII. Bank-

(1) South Carolina Bank v. Case, 8 I'ar. & C. 427; 2 Man. & Ry. 459, S. C. (Chit. j. 1401); ante, 57, 58.

(u) Evans v. Cramlington, Carth. 5; 2 Vent. 807; Skin. 264, (Chit. j. 174); Company of Felt-makers r. Davis, 1 Bos & Pul. 101, note (c); Smith v. Kendal, 6 T. R. 124, (Chit. j. 528); Selw. Ni. Pri. 9th edit. 849, 849. A bill was payable "to Price or order, for the use of Calvert." Price indorsed it to Evans, after which an extent issued against Calvert, and the money due upon it was seized to the use of the king. These facts appearing upon the pleadings, two points were made upon demurrer; the one, whether Calvert had such an interest in the money as might be extended, the other, whether Price had power to inderse the bill, or whether he had only a bare authority to receive the money for the use of Culvert; and the Court of King's Bench, and afterwards the Exchequer Chamber, held that Calvert had not such an interest as could be extended, and that Price had power to indorse the bill, and judgment was given for the plaintiff.

(x) Pinkerton r. Marshall, 2 Hen. Bla. 835; Thomason v. Frere, 10 East, 418, (Chit. j. 761); Ramshotham r. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279, (Chit. j. 748); anle, 55, note (z).

(y) Ante, 55, note (z); Thomason v. Frere, 10 East, 418, (Chit. j. 761); Lacy v. Woolcott,

2 D. & R. 458, (Chit. j. 1181).

(z) Abel r. Sutton, 8 Esp. Rep. 107, 108, (Chit. j 619); Ramsbotham v. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279, (Chit. j. 748); Ramsbetham v. Cater, 1 Stark. Rep. 225, (Chit. j. 958). From Abel v. Sutton, it should seem, that after the act of bankruptcy of one of several partners, and the commission issued against him, the property in a bill could only be transferred by the respective indorsements of the assignees and the insolvent partner. Lord Kenyon there says, "If a fair bill existed at the time of the partnership, but is not put into circulation till after the dissolution, all the partners must join to make it negotiable; the moment the partnership ceuses, the partners are tenants in common of the partnership property undisposed of from that period; and if they send any securities which belonged to the partnership into the world after such dissolution, all must join in doing so.?" See observations, 1 Campb. 231, n. (b).

In Ramsbotham r. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279, (Chit. j. 748), the declaration stated that both partners drew and indorsed the bill, although one of the partners was then a bankrupt; and Lord Ellenborough held, that under such declaration, the indersee could not recover. His

Bills and Notes.

may trans-considered that at least a declaration upon such an indorsement should not Transfer of state that the bankrupt joined in the indorsement(a). However, we have seen that after a secret act of bankruptcy committed by a partner, he might accept in the name of the firm, so as to subject his partner to liability(b); 2dly. Who and it should seem there is no sound distinction between an indorsement and an acceptance (c).

It is also to be observed, that the right and title of the assignees, as to bills and notes and other property acquired after the act of bankruptcy, does not vest in them absolutely; they have a right to interfere, and claim the bill; and if they do, it is effectual against the bankrupt and all the world: but if they do not interfere, then, as between the bankrupt, or one claiming under him, and his debtor, the latter cannot set up their title, and the bankrupt has a right in a court of law to enforce the payment of the debt(d). the defendant made a bill payable to A. B. or his order after, A. B. had become bankrupt, and the latter, without the previous consent of his assignees, indorsed it to a third person, who indorsed it to the plaintiff, it was held, first, that the defendant having given the bankrupt authority to indorse, he was estopped from setting up the rights of the assignees, who had not made any claim; and secondly, that the bankrupt might acquire property subsequently to his bankruptcy, and retain it as against all the world but his assignees(e).

It has been adjudged, that if a trader delivered a bill for a valuable consideration to another previously to an act of bankruptcy, and forgot to indorse, [*204] he might indorse it after his bankruptcy (f); and if he *and his assignees refused they might be compelled to do so by bill in equity or by petition, and the costs of the petition would be ordered to be paid out of the estate of the bankrupt(g); the indorsement to be special, so as to secure the assignees from personal liability (h). So the administrator of the bankrupt might in-lordship said, "The declaration states that both parties drew and indorsed the bill, but upon this last supposition at the time of the indorsement one partner had no longer any interest in it, and was incapable of exercising any act of ownership over it; the partnership had in fact then ceased to exist, and the solvent partner was to be considered as tenant in common of the bill along with the assignees of the other." However, in general, a transfer of partnership property, made by the solvent member of a firm, after an act of bankruptcy committed by his partner, cannot be invalidated; 12 Mod. 246; Fox v. Hanbury, Cowp. 448; Smith v. Oriel, 1 East, 869; Smith v. Stokes, 1 East, 864; 1 Mont. on Part. 154. And see Ex parte Robinson, 1 Mont. & Ayr. 18; ante, 56;

(a) Ramsbotham v. Lewis, 1 Campb. 279, 281, (Chit. j. 748); supra, note (z).

(b) Lacy v. Woolcott, 2 Dowl. & R. 458, (Chit. j. 1181); ante, 55, 56, note (d).
(c) See Lord Brougham's judgment in Ex parte Robinson, 1 Mont. & Ayr. 18, ante, 56, note (e); and see 6 Geo. 4, c 16, s. 82, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, post, 206.

(d) Webb v. Fax. 7 T. R. 391; Kitchen r.

Bartsch, 8 Smith, 58; S. C. 7 East, 53; but it is otherwise as to property acquired before the act of bankruptcy, I. Car. & P. 147.

(e) Drayton v. Dale, 2 B. & C. 293; 3 D.

& R. 534, (Chit. j. 1186).

(f) Smith v. Pickering, Peake's Cases, 50, (Chit. j. 479, 481); Anon. 1 Campb. 492;

Rolleston v. Herbert, 8 T. R. 411; and see also 1 Rose, 14, note (a). Ex parte Greening, 13 Ves. 206; Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & W. 243; Ex parte Rhodes, 3 Mont. & Ayr. 217; 2 Dea. 364, S. C.

Smith v. Pickering, Peake's Cases, 50, (Chit. j. 479, 481). Richardson and Hill drew a bill upon the defendant, payable to their own order, which the defandants accepted; the drawers delivered this bill to the plaintiffs for a valuable consideration, but forgot to indorse it; they afterwards became bankrupts, and then indorsed it. The plaintiffs, as indorsees, now sued the defendant as acceptor; Lord Kenyon was clearly of opinion that the indorsement was good, and the plaintiffs had a verdict.

Anon. 1 Campb. 422, in notes. The bill was delivered to the indorsee, with the intent of transferring the property in it to him, more than two months before the commission, but the indorsement was not in effect written upon it till within two months. Lord Ellenborough held, that the writing of the indorsement had reference to the delivery of the bill, and that the case was clearly within the statute.

(g) Ex parte Greening, 13 Ves. 206; Cullen, 190; Ex parte Mowbray, 1 Jac. & Walk. 428, (Chit. j. 1099); Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & Walk. 243, (Chit. j. 1097); Ex parte Rhodes, 3 M. & A. 217; but see Ex parte Hall, 1 Rose, 13, 14. As to costs, see Ex parte Brown, 1 Glyn. & Jam. 407, (Chit. j. 1206)

(h) Ex parte Mowbray, 1 Jac. & Walk. 448, 217

* 12.77

1

3 12

12

....

. 13

9 5.00

·....

.

2.0

.........

1 1

- 4

. 3

e E

, : , : •

j)

. ; 4.

...

14.

dorse(i); for the transfer for consideration is the substance, the indorsement I. Of the a mere form, which creates an equitable right, entitling the holder to call for Transfer of the form (k). It should seem, however, that if the holder thought fit he Bills and the form(k). It should seem, however, that if the holder thought fit, he Notes. might always sue in the name of the party transferring (l). And a special action on the case might be supported for not indorsing, but the damages to may transbe recovered being unliquidated, would not constitute a mutual credit under fer. the Bankrupt Act(m).

And as in general property, in which a bankrupt has no beneficial interest, does not pass to his assignees under the assignment, where a bill was in the hands of a bankrupt as an agent or trustee for another, he might, notwithstanding his bankruptcy, indorse the bill in pursuance of his trust(n). So, where a bill had been accepted by another for the accommodation of the bankrupt, he might, after an act of bankruptcy, indorse it, so as to convey a right of action thereon to a third person, who obtained it bona fide, against the accommodation acceptor(o)(1). But in these cases the holder must have obtained the bill fairly, and in the ordinary course of business(p); for where the acceptor of an accommodation bill having delivered it to A. for a special purpose, and the latter, without performing his trust, having quitted the country after committing an act of bankruptcy, was pursued by a creditor, who obtained the bill from him in ignorance of his bankruptcy, and of the circumstances under which the bill was accepted, it was held that the acceptor was not liable upon the bill at the suit of the creditor who had so possessed himself of it(q). If there were an exchange of *acceptances or securities [*205] between the bankrupt and the accommodation acceptor, then the bill would be considered as accepted for value, and the indorsement after the act of bankruptcy would not transfer the property (r). And where a trader, having securities in his banker's hands to a certain amount, after a secret act of bankruptcy, drew on them a bill for a larger amount for his accommodation, (Chit. j. 1009). Ex parte Rhodes, 3 M. & A. owed Jones nothing, but accepted the bill to en-217.

(i) Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & Walk. 242, (Chit. j. 1097).

(k) Per Sir T. Plumer, in Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & Walk. 243, (Chit. j. 1097).
(l) Pense v. Hirst, 10 Bar. & Cres. 122.

(Chit. j. 1456); Carpenter v. Marnell, 3 Bos. & P. 40, (Chit. j. 646); Chalmers v. Page, 3 Ear. & Ald. 697.

(m) Rose, assignees, v. Sims, 1 B. & Adol. 521, (Chit. j. 1510).

(n) Ramsbottom v. Cater, 1 Stark. Rep. 229, (Chit j. 953).

(0) Arden v. Watkins, 8 East, 317, (Chit. j. 667); Wallace v. Hardacre, 1 Campb. 46, 47, (Chit. j. 140); and Ramsbottom v. Cater, 1

Stark. Rep. 288, (Chit. j. 953).

Arden v. Watkins, 3 East, 317, (Chit. j. 667). On 5th Oct. 1801, Lewis Jones committed an act of bankruptcy, on which a commission issued 31st Dec. 1801. On the 4th Dec. 1801, he drew a bill on Watkins for 1001. Payable to his own order, and indorsed it to the plaintiff, who paid him full value; Watkins able him to raise money upon it, and Jones deposited a lease with him as an indemnity; the assignees insisted upon a restoration of the lease, and Watkins refused to pay the bill; action on the bill and reference. The arbitrator awarded against Watkins, but stated the facts specially to enable him to take the opinion of the court. After a rule nisi, to set aside the award, cause shown, and time taken to consider, the court were clear that the defendant was liable; that as Jones had no effects in Watkins' hands, no right to indorse devolved upon the assignees. and therefore his indorsement was effectual, and transferred the property to the plaintiff. Rule discharged. See Willis v. Freeman, post, 205, note (s).

(p) Smith r. De Witts, 6 Dowl. & R. 120; R. & M. 212, (Chit. j. 1253).

(q) I.l. Ibid.

(r) 1 Campb. 179, in notes; Buckler v. Buttivant, 3 East, 72, (Chit. j. 659). When not, see Ex parte M'Gae, 2 Rose, 376, (Chit. j. 954); 19 Ves. 607.

⁽¹⁾ The payee of a negotiable note, holding it in trust for another person, may by indorsement, convey the note for the benefit of the cestui que trust, notwithstanding his bankruptcy. Wilson v. Codman, 3 Cranch, 193.

A transfer of a note by a debtor to his creditor in contemplation of bankruptcy, as collateral security for the payment of the debt, is void as a fraud upon the bankrupt law. Locke v. Winning, 3 Mass. Rep. 825.

Transfer of Bills and Notes.

edly. Who may trans-payable to his own order, which, after acceptance, he indorsed to the plaintiff, (who knew of his partial insolvency, but not of the act of bankruptcy), and a commission of bankrupt having been afterwards taken out, it was held that the plaintiff, who was to make title through the bankrupt's indorsement, after his bankruptcy, though he were entitled to sue the acceptors upon the bill, yet could only recover on it the amount of the sum accepted for the accommodation of the bankrupt, over and above the amount of the bankrupt's effects in the hands of the acceptors at the time of the bankruptcy; for which latter amount alone they were liable to account to the assignees(s). And in equity, where the instrument has been delivered as a security for a debt less than the amount of the note, the order has been, that the creditor should be at liberty to bring an action on the note in the name of the assignees, indemnifying them, and undertaking to account for the surplus recovered (t).

This rule of law invalidating transfers by a bankrupt, after a secret act of bankruptcy, having been found extremely inconvenient to commerce, it was enacted by the 19 Geo. 2, c. 32, that payments by the bankrupt to creditors, in respect of goods really and bon's fide sold to such bankrupt, or in respect of any bills of exchange in the usual or ordinary course of trade or dealing, provided he had not notice of an act of bankruptcy, or that he was in insolvent circumstances, were protected. That act was repealed by the 6

Geo. 4, c. 16.

Transfers. of Bankruptcy, since 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, and 2 & 8 Vict. c. 24. [*206]

The 50th section of this last act allows mutual debis and credits between &c. after secret Act the bankrupt and any other person to be set off, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy; provided that the person claiming the benefit of such set-off had not, when such credit was given, notice of any act of bankruptcy(u).

The 81st section makes valid all conveyances, contracts, and other *dealings and transactions by and with any bankrupt bona fide made and entered into more than two calendar months before the date and issuing of the commission against him(x), notwithstanding any prior act of bankrupicy: provided the person so dealing with such bankrupt had not, at the time of such conveyance, contract, dealing, or transaction, notice of any prior act of bank- $\tau uptcy(\eta)$.

The S2d section makes valid all bona fide payments by or to any bankrupt before the date and issuing of the commission, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy; provided such payment by the bankrupt shall not be a fraudulent preference, and the person so dealing with the bankrupt had

(s) Willis v. Freeman, 12 East, 656; (Chit. .j. 802). Action by indorsee of drawer against acceptor. Verdict for plaintiff, subject to opinion of court upon a case, stating that Anderson, the drawer, being indebted to the plaintiff in more than 2000l. and being insolvent, proposed to pay the plaintiff a composition of 13s. 6d. in the pound, together with the costs of an action which had been brought by the plaintiff against him, by a bill upon the defendants. This proposal being acceded to, Anderson applied to the defendants to accept a bill for 1400/. for his accommodation. The defendants accepted the bill, drawn 5th of July, and payable 10th November, 1809, having in their hands effects of Anderson to the amount of 8881. 16s. 84. Anderson had committed a secret act of bankruptcy on 7th of Murch, 1809, upon which a commis-sion issued 25th of July. The court held, that to the extent of S881. 16s. Sd. the defendants had a right to resist payment, on the ground of their being answerable for that amount to the assignees, to whom these funds devolved upon the act of bankruptcy; and that therefore the indorsement by Anderson to that extent was inoperative; but as to the surplus (5111. 3s. 8d.) for which the acceptance was accommodation, the case of Arden v. Watkins was in point, 10 show that the indorsement was valid. And they held the law in this respect had not been altered by the 49 Geo. 3, c. 121, s. 8, and therefore ordered a verdict to be entered for this reduced sum of 571l. 3s. 4d. See observations, Bayl. on Bills, 5th edit. 141, 142.

(1) Ex parte Brown, 1 Glynn & Jam. 407, (Chit. j. 1209).

(u) See this and the following enactments, post, Part II. Ch. VIII. Bankruptcy.

(x) The 2 & 3 Vict. c. 11, s. 12, takes away this restriction as to conreyances, and the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, as to contracts, &c. (y) See Bevan v. Nunn, 2 Moore & S. 182; 9 Bing. 207, S. C.

1.0

1.

4. 道

757

٠٠. f.

r. 洋

1.12

7.7

1. 3

1 7

· . 10.

 $\times^{i N}$

5

not, at the time of such payment by or to such bankrupt, notice of any act I. Of the of bankruptcy.

The 84th section also protects payments made to a bankrupt by persons Notes.

having money of the bankrupt in their possession.

And now by the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, intituled "An Act for the better Pro- 2dly. Who tection of Parties dealing with Persons liable to the Bankrupt Laws," after fer. reciting 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82, and 2 & 3 Vict. c. 11, s. 12, (the latter All Conrelating to conveyances executed by the bankrupt before the date and issuing tracts, &c. of the fiat), it is enacted "That all contracts, dealings and transactions by bona fide and with any bankrupt really and bona fide made and entered into before the made by date and issuing of the fiat against him, and all executions and attachments any Bankagainst the lands and tenements or goods and chattels of such bankrupt, bona rupt previfide executed or levied before the date and issuing of the fiat, shall be deemed ous to the Date and to be valid, notwithstanding any prior act of bankruptcy by such bankrupt issuing of committed; provided the person or persons so dealing with such bankrupt, or any First to at whose suit or on whose account such execution or attachment shall have be valid, issued, had not at the time of such contract, dealing or transaction, or at the Notice had time of executing or levying such execution or attachment, notice of any prior of prior act of bankruptcy by him committed; provided also that nothing herein contained shall be deemed or taken to give validity to any payment made by any bankrupt being a fraudulent preference of any creditor or creditors of such bankrupt, or to any execution founded on a judgment on a warrant of attorney or cognovit given by any bankrupt by way of such fraudulent preference"(1).

The principal difference between the statute 19 Geo. 2, c. 32, and the 6 Decisions Geo. 4, c. 16, is, that the latter does not contain, as the former did, the 4, c. 16, words " or notice that he was in insolvent circumstances." On the 50th section of 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, it has been decided, in an action brought by the assignees of certain bankers, that a party has a right to set off notes of such bankers, taken by him after he knew that they had stopped payment, but before he knew that they had committed an act of bankruptcy (z).

In another case (a) it was holden, in an action brought by the assignees of certain bankers, that although a party has a right to set off notes of such bankers taken by him after he knew that they had stopped payment, but before he knew that any of the partners constituting the banking-house had committed an act of bankruptcy, yet that he had no right to set off notes of such bankers taken by him after he knew *that three or indeed any one of the [*207] four partners constituting the banking-house had committed acts of bankruptcy(b).

It will be observed, that the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82, did away with numerous questions which used to arise on the prior act, as to what was a payment in the course of trade(c), and as to what was a notice of a person being in insolvent, circumstances(d). That act also protected bon î fide payments

(z) Hawkins v. Whitten, 10 B. & C. 217, (Chit. j. 1462).

(a) Dickson v. Cass, 1 B. & Adol. 343, (Chit. j 1502).

(b) Dickson v. Cass, 1 B. & Adol. 343, (Chit. j. 1502).

(c) Pinkerton v. Marshall, 2 H. Bla. 334; Southey v. Butler, 3 Bos. & Pul. 237; Vernon v. Lomas, 11 East, 127; Bayley v. Schofield, 1 Maole & S. 338.

See the cases upon this part of the provision in the old act, 1 Mont. 318, &c. and see Eden, 247, & c.

(d) As to the meaning of the term insolvent circumstances in the old act, it has been held to mean that a person is not in condition to pay v. Hall, 2 T. R. 648, (Chit. j. 446); Harwood his debts in the ordinary course, as persons

⁽¹⁾ See post, 820, (26).

I. Of the of all descriptions of bona fide debts, and thereby set at rest the contested transfer of questions, whether promissory notes (e), or checks on bankers (f), were Bills and within the former enactment. Notes.

2diy. Who may transfer.

What a payment under 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82.

With respect to the term "payment," as used in the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82, it should seem that an indorsement of a bill would operate as a payment; and that, therefore, if a person, after an act of bankruptcy, unknown to the indorsee, indorsed a bill, it would transfer the interest to such indorsee. It was held, that if a trader, after he had committed a secret act of bankruptcy, indorsed a bill of exchange to a creditor in payment of a debt, who received the money due upon the bill before a commission issued against the trader, such payment would be protected (g). And if a bill of exchange were indorsed by a trader after a secret act of bankruptcy, in payment of a debt for goods sold, it should seem that such transfer would be valid with reference to the construction of the old stat. 1 Jac. 1, c. 15, s. 14, although the bill were not paid until after the issuing of the commission, because the indorsement of a bill of exchange is deemed a payment in satisfaction, provided the bill be paid when due(h); and therefore it should seem, that although in general a partner who has committed a secret act of bankruptcy cannot indorse a bill in existence, and belonging to the partnership before the act of bankruptcy, so as to affect the firm(i); yet it seems that such an indorsement by the solvent partner would be valid(k), even though the solvent partner had notice of his co-partner's [*208] having committed *an act of bankruptcy(1). But where a partner had an interest in the profits, without any interest in the property, it was holden that he could not, after an act of bankruptcy by the proprietor, transfer the property as against that proprietor's assignees (m). And a payment by a partner who had committed an act of bankruptcy, of a partnership debt to a creditor who had notice of his act of bankruptcy, was not protected, and might be recovered back by the assignees and the solvent partner (n). The act of the bankrupt must also, under this statute, have been equivalent to a payment, and not a delivery by wayof indemnity or set-off(o).

> carrying on trade usually do, for the object of the statute was to protect those persons only who receive money under circumstances not calculated to raise suspicion; but if any such circumstances occur, then they receive the money or bills at their peril, and are liable to refund; as where a bankrupt, before his transfer of bills, proposed to pay his creditors by instalments. Per Lord Ellenborough, Le Blanc, J. and Bayley, J. in Bayly v. Schofield, I Maule & S. 350, 353, 354. But the insolvency mentioned in this and the stat. 46 Geo. 3, c. 135, meant a general inability in the bankrupt to answer his engagements, and which is not to be inferred merely from his renewing bills of exchange in a particular instance; Anon. 1 Campb. 492, in notes. Sittings in Trin. Vac. 1808.

(e) See Harwood v. Lomas, 11 East, 127. (f) Holroyd v. Whitehead, 5 Taunt. 444;

1 Marsh. 129, (Chit. j. 905).
(g) Hawkins r. Penfold, 2 Ves. sen. 550, (Chit. j. 335). Per Lord Chancellor, "There is no difference between an actual payment of money in satisfaction of a debt and indorsing bills of exchange, provided the money was received on them before the commission of bankruptcy issued, for I should take that only as a medium of payment and no more; otherwise it would be very hard." See also Eden, Bank Law, 252, 253; 1 Mont. 311, note (h). And see Shaw v. Batley, 4 B. & Ad. 801; 1 N. & M. 751, S. C.

(h) Wilkins v. Casey, 7 T. R. 711.

(i) Ante, 55, note (z); Burt v. Moult, 1 C. & M. 525. In Thomason v. Frere, 10 East, 418, (Chit. j. 761); and in Willis v. Freeman, 12 East, 656, (Chit. j. 802); the bills were not indersed for goods sold; and in the last case Lord Ellenborough expressly alluded to the exceptions introduced by the statutes.

(k) Fox r. Hanbury, Cowp. 449; Smith c. Stokes, 1 East, 263; Smith r. Oriel, id. 369; Ramsbotham r. Cater, 1 Stark. Rep. 228, (Chit. j. 953); and see Woodbridge r. Swan, 4 B. & Ad. 633; 1 N. & M. 724, S. C.; and Ex parte Robinson, 1 Mont. & Ayr. 18; ante, 56, note (e).

(1) Harvey v. Cricket, 5 Maule & S. 336, (Chit. j. 969).

(m) Meyer v. Sharpe, 5 Taunt. 74.

(n) Craven v. Edmondson, 6 Bingh. 734; 4 Moore & P. 622, S. C.
(o) Carter v. Breton, 6 Bingh. 617; 4

Moore & P. 424, S. C.; post, 213, note (e).

But whatever doubts may have been entertained with respect to the va-I. Of the lidity of a transfer or indorsement of a bill or note by a bankrupt after a se-transfer of cret act of bankruptcy, as amounting to a payment within the 6 Geo. 4, those Notes. doubts are now removed by the 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, which protects all contracts, dealings and transactions by and with any bankrupt bona fide made may transand entered into before the date and issuing of the fiat, notwithstanding any fer. prior act of bankruptcy, provided the party so dealing with the bankrupt had Transfers no notice of such act of bankruptcy. And under this latter act it is clear, and Inthat any indorsement or transfer of a bill or note, made after a secret act dorsements of bankruptcy before the date of the fiat, although not as a payment, will be before Date of valid, provided the party in whose favour it were made had no notice of fiat, though such act of bankruptcy. And such was previously the case under the 81st not as Paysection of 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, where the transfer or indorsement took place ment, valid. more than two months before the date of the commission.

So a payment to a person surrendering a lien even with notice of an act of bankrupicy was protected(p); and upon a principle of law (independent of any of the provisions by statute) a payment to a landlord about to distrain after an act of bankruptcy was not recoverable by the assignees (q); nor was a payment enforced by coercion of law(r).

With respect to what shall be deemed a constructive notice of a prior act What is of bankruptcy, the 83d sect. of the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, enacts, that the issuand Act of ing of a commission shall be deemed notice of a prior act of bankruptcy (if Bankruptan act of bankruptcy had been actually committed before the issuing the com-cy. mission) if the adjudication of the person or persons against whom such commission has issued shall have been notified in the London Gazette, and the person or persons to be effected by such notice may reasonably be presumed to have seen the same. Notice of a docket struck is not absolutely and necessarily notice of an act of bankruptcy, but with other circumstances it is. S5th section enacts, "that if any accredited agent of any body corporate, or public company, shall have had notice of any act of bankruptcy, such body corporate or company shall be thereby deemed to have had such notice."

We have seen that both the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82, and 2 and 3 Vict. Transfers c. 29, except payments by way of fraudulent preference, and therefore a fraudulent transfer or indorsement after an act of bankruptcy, in order *to effect such Preference. preserence, is invalid(s). Before the 6 Geo. 4, and under the prior acts, ence void. it was settled, that if a bill were indorsed by a bankrupt to a particular cre- [*209] ditor by way of fraudulent preference, even before an act of bankruptcy, it would be invalid. The rule upon this subject was, that if the preference was not the mere voluntary act of the party, but only consequential, as it is called, (as where the act is done in the ordinary course of business, and upon the application of the creditor, or in pursuance of some prior agreement, which was not made in contemplation of bankruptcy, or was done to deliver the party from legal process, or from the threat and apprehension of it, or even from the pressure or importunity of the creditor,) then it would not be void, though made the very moment before an act of bankruptcy committed. And where the preference was consequential merely, the creditor's or bankrupt's own knowledge or apprehension of his insolvency was considered im-

⁽p) Thomson v. Beatson, 1 Bingh. 145; 7 tained. See 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 74. Moore, 548, S. C.

⁽q) Stephenson v. Wood, 5 Esp. Rep. 200; Mavor v. Croome, 1 Bingh. 261; 8 Moore, 171, S. C. But only a year's rent can be ob-⁽r) Eden, B. L. 253.

⁽s) Bagnall v. Andrew, 7 Bingh. 217; 4 Moore & P. 889, (Chit. j. 1514).

Bills and Notes.

2dly. Who may trans-material, that being frequently the very reason of the creditor's taking such Transfer of measures against the bankrupt as are precisely the ground of justifying the act done by the bankrupt in consequence of it. But a trader could not, in contemplation of bankruptcy, indorse a bill or note to his creditor of his own accord, and without any application. However, it was deemed not sufficient to avoid the transaction, that the indorsement was made voluntarily, and that an act of bankruptcy ensued, it must also appear that he had the act of bankruptcy in contemplation at the time when the indorsement was So it must appear that the transfer was made in contemplation of bankruptcy, and not merely that the trader was insolvent at the time it was Nor was it ever held, that if a creditor press for payment of his made(u). debt, and thereby obtain a transfer of a bill or note to him, that the intention of the bankrupt shall be called in aid to set it aside. If it were transferred through the urgency of the demand, or through the fear of prosecution, whatever may have been in the contemplation of the bankrupt, this will not vitiate the proceeding. Nor would the transaction, if bona fide, and not colourable, be impeached by the secrecy adopted in the transaction by the trader, to save his own credit in the view of the world(x). And where a trader, in contemplation of bankruptcy, and without solicitation, put three checks into the hands of his clerk, to be delivered to a creditor, at the counting-house of the latter, but before they were delivered, the creditor called at the trader's and demanded payment of his debt, upon which the checks were delivered to him; it was held, that the intention to give a voluntary preference not being consummated, the delivery of the check was valid(y). So where a creditor obtained a preference in contemplation of an intended deed of composition, and which preference would have been void as against the creditors under that deed, yet as the composition went off, it was decided that the creditor might hold his securities against the assignees under a commission of bankrupt subsequently issued, but not contemplated at the time of [*210] the preference(z). *These several rules and decisions as to fraudulent preferences are still applicable. But the act 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 3, further declares, that a fraudulent preference, by delivering goods and chattels, shall be deemed an act of bankruptcy, and bills are chattels for this purpose(a). And upon this ground it has been decided that the voluntary transfer or delivery of bills by a trader in contemplation of bankruptcy, in satisfaction of a bona fide debt, is not within the protection of the 81st section of that statute though made more than two months before the issuing of a commission against such trader, though this section contains no proviso against fraudulent Where bills of exchange were delivered by a trader, in preferences (b). contemplation of bankruptcy, to a creditor, with a view of giving him the preference, and the amount due on the bills was received by him after the bankruptcy; it was held in an action of trover by the assignees to recover the bills, that the receipt of the money by the creditor was not a conversion, and therefore that it was necessary for them to prove a demand and refusal all, 2 Scott, 369, infra.

(u) Morgan v. Brundrett, 5 B. & Ad. 289;
2 N. & M. 280; Atkinson v. Brindall, 2 Scott,

⁽¹⁾ See the rule and cases upon this subject in Smith r. Payne, 6 T. R. 152; Hartshorn v. Slodder, 2 Bos. & Pul. 589; Crosby v. Crouch, 11 East, 256; Wheelwright v. Jackson, 5 Taunt. 109, 633; Gilbins v. Philips, 7 B. & C. 529; Fidgen v. Sharp, 1 Marsh. 196; Poland v. Glyn, 2 Dow. & Ry. 310; Cullen, 280, 281; Eden, Bank. Law, 31. And see Morgan v. Brundrett, 5 B. & Ad. 289; Atkinson v. Brind-

^{369;} S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 225; 1 Hodges, 335.
(x) Crosby v. Crouch, 11 East, 256.
(y) Bayley v. Ballard, 1 Campb. 416.
(z) Wheelwright v. Jackson, 5 Taunt. 109,

⁽a) Cumming v. Baily, 6 Bingh. 368; 4 M. & P. 36, (Chit. j. 1485); post, Part II. Ch.

VIII. Bankrupicy.
(b) Bevan v. Nunn, 2 Moore & S. 132; 9
Bing. 107, S. C., (Chit. j. 1435). See Harman
v. Figher, Cowp. 117; Lofft, 472, S. C.

1.F

. . . .

. 2

. در _{در}

4 ...

.:.5

x . . .

(1 st -

280

4.5

. 12

. 10

1.5

01 ----

. C. 12 F

37.75

13.3

ş O

شفري pro N

19

914 P 100 فأنانا

ું પ્

. 1

. . .

عرد

ءُ ابن

31

62

্ৰ

٦,

y

۶

before the bills became due, or the action should have been for money had I. Of the and received(c). And where the defendants, B.'s bankers, had discounted Transfer of for B. a bill payable January 10, drawn by B. and guaranteed by L., and Notes, on the 3d January B. being in embarrassed circumstances, gave L. a check on the defendants for the amount of the bill, who on receiving the check 2dly. Who handed the bill over to L., and B. became bankrupt January 9; it was held, fer. that his assignees could not sue the defendants as having received the amount of the check by way of fraudulent preference, the preference, if any, being given to L.(d).

So there are cases in which a trader in insolvent circumstances may return bills of exchange to the party from whom he has received them, though they would otherwise become the property of his assignees; as where he has obtained them by fraudulent representation(e), or where they have been delivered to him for a special purpose which has failed (f).

The 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, gives to the assignees all property which may accrue in any way to the bankrupt before he obtains his certificate, and therefore, if a promissory note be given to an uncertificated bankrupt, after the commission issued, and the assignees require the maker *to pay them, the [*211] right to the note is thereby vested in the assignees, and an action cannot be supported by the bankrupt(g), unless indeed he acquired the note in respect of a contract made in his favour by the assignees, or with their concur-And it seems a bankrupt is not only capable of acquiring property and retaining it against any person except his assignees (i), but also of maintaining actions for it(k).

In case of the bankruptcy of a banker, bills deposited with him as agent, Bankruptto obtain payment (usually termed short bills, because not discounted nor cy of a carried out as money in their books), do not pass to the assignees, unless the banker has, at the request of his customer, discounted them, or advanced money upon the credit of them, in which case the assignces acquire the en-

R. 547, (Chit. j. 1445).
(d) Abbott v. Pomfret, 1 Bing. N. C. 462;

1 Scott, 470; 1 Hodges, 24, S. C.

(e) Graff, assignee, &c. v. Greffulke, 1 Campb. 89. If a trader, on receiving bills of exchange from one of his creditors abroad, to whom he is indebted beyond the amount of them, after becoming insolvent, but before committing an act of bankruptcy, deliver these bills with the consent of his other creditors to an agent of the person who had remitted them for the use of the latter, if he should be ultimately entitled to them; this is a legal and valid transaction, and if a commission of bankrupt afterwards issue against the trader, his assignees cannot maintain an action against the trustee to recover the produce of the bills.

Gladstone r. Hadwen, 1 Maule & S. 517, (Chit. j. 886). Where S. obtained bills of exchange from the defendant upon a fraudulent representation that a security given by him to the defendant (which was void) was an ample security, and on the next day, having resolved to stop payment, informed the defendant that he had repented of what he had done, and had sent express to stop the bills, and would return them, and three days afterwards committed an act of bankruptcy, after which he returned to

(c) Jones v. Fort, 9 B. & C. 764; 4 M. & the defendant all the bills (except one which had been discounted) and also two bank-notes. part of the proceeds of such discount; and the defendant delivered back the security, and afterwards a commission of bankruptcy issued against S., and the assignees under such commission brought trover against the defendant for the bills and bank-notes: it was held, that the defendant was entitled to retain them; see Eden. Bank. Law, 308.

(f) Toovey v. Milne, 2 Bar. & Ald. 683. (g) Kitchen v. Bartsch, 7 East Rep. 53; Smith's Rep. 58; S. C. Niss v. Adamson, 3 Barn. & Ald. 225; Drayton v. Dale, 2 Barn. & Cress. 293; 3 D. & R. 534, (Chit. j. 1186); Hull v. Pickersgill, 1 B. & B. 282; Smith r. De Witts, 6 Dow. & Ry. 120; R. & M. 212, (Chit. j. 1253).

(h) Coles v. Barrow, 4 Taunt. 754; Holt, C. N. P. 174.

(i) Ante, 203; Webb r. Γox, 7 T. R. 391; Fowler v. Down, 1 B. & P. 41; Evans v. Brown, 1 Esp. C. N. P. 170; Cumming v. Roebuck, 4 Holt, C. N. P. 172; Clark v. Calvert, 3 Moore, 96.

(k) Ante, 203; Anonymous, 2 Taunt. 61. See further I Chitty on Pleading, €th edit. 25,

1. Of the tire property in them if discounted, or have a lien on them pro tanto in case Transfer of of a partial advance (l). Bills and

Notes. may trans-

Bills remitted by a Bankrupt for a parti-cular Purpose.

Where A., a merchant at Liverpool, remitted bills to B., a merchant in 2dly. Who London, with directions to get them discounted and apply the proceeds in a particular way, and B. did not get them discounted, but received the money when they became due, but before that time A. had stopped payment, and desired to have the bills returned, and a commission issued against him before the money on the bill was received, it was held that B. was liable to be sued by the assignee of A. for money had and received to his use, and that B. could not set off a debt due to him from A.(m), because the bills were remitted to B. on a specific account; they were to be discounted, and the proceeds were to be appropriated in a particular mode, and under such circumstances the defendant had no right to them; the property in the bills sent, until discounted, remained in the senders, and that the defendant could not insist that this was a case of mutual credit; for in all cases of mutual credit the transaction must be such as will terminate in a cross debt; but this transaction could not have so terminated, because the bills were remitted with directions to apply the whole of the proceeds to particular purposes(n). [*212] where by the terms of an agreement between F. and Co. *and their bankers S. and Co. the permission to discount indorsed bills of exchange was limited to the amount necessary to meet such acceptances of F. and Co. as were in the course of immediate payment at the house of S. and Co.; and to cover certain acceptances becoming due, F. and Co. remitted to S. and Co. an indorsed bill of exchange, but the latter dishonoured their acceptances, and soon afterwards stopped payment, and then procured the bill so remitted by F. and Co. to be accepted, and made an entry in their books of their having discounted it; and thereupon a commission of bankrupt having issued against S. and Co., it was held that S. and Co. had no right to discount the bill without exe> cuting the trust reposed in them, and that their assignees were bound to deliver up the bill to F. and Co.(o). But the effect of bankruptcy upon the property in bills in the hands of the trader will be more fully considered in the chapter relating to Bankruptcy(p). If short bills be delivered by a banker, on the eve of his bankruptcy, to a third person, who merely receives the payment and pays over the money to the assignees, instead of the customer, he can sue such third person only for money had and received, and not in trover(q).

(1) Per Lord Ellenborough, in Giles v. Perkins, 9 East, 14, (Chit. j. 737); Carstairs v. Bates, 3 Campb. 301, (Chit. j. 877); Parr v. Eliason, 1 East, 544, (Chit. j. 632), and cases there cited; Lingham v. Biggs, 1 B. & P. 83, note (α); and 1 Mont. 354, 355, &c.; Ex parte Waring. 19 Ves. 345. (Chit. j. 929); Thomp-Waring, 19 Ves. 345, (Chit. j. 929); Thompson v. Giles, 2 B. & C. 422; 3 D. & Ry. 733, (Chit. j. 1190); Eden, B. L. 261, 262; see post, Part II. Ch. VIII. Bankruptcy.

(m) Buchanan, assignee, r. Findlay, 9 B. & C. 738; 4 Man. & Ry. 593, (Chit. j. 1441). (n) Buchanan, assignee, v. Findlay, 9 B. & C. 738; 4 M. & R. 593, S. C.; Key v. Flint, 8 Taunt. 21, (Chit. j. 1000); 1 Moore, 451, S. C.; Ex parte Flint, 1 Swanst. 30. And in Buchanan v. Findlay, Lord Tenterden observed. "If in the present case the defendants had procured these bills to be discounted as directed, and paid over the 900l. to Ransom and Co. they would have been entitled to the benefit of the difference, and to apply it to the account of Duff, Findlay, and Co. But as they did not procure the bills to be discounted, nor pay the 9001 the bankrupt had a right to a return of the bills, and the defendants cannot have the benefit of that partial application of their value to which they would have been entitled if they had followed the directions of the bankrupts in other respects. If they could be permitted to do this, they would receive the benefit without performing the consideration for it, which would be very unreasonable. For these reasons we think the verdict is to stand for the whole sum." See observations upon this case in Thorpe v. Thorpe, 8 B. & Ad. 580; ante, 198.

(o) Ex parte Frere, 1 Mont. & Mac. 263,

(Chit. j. 1451).
(p) Post, Part II. Ch. VIII.
(q) Tennant v. Strachan, Mood. & Mal. 378, (Chit. j. 1450).

H.

1.7

, , }

11.74

1. 3

_3 1d

. 5.3

.

Li

: 15

1 T

4.3

]4]3F¹

- " P# 2 3

JE 18

į 1877

 $\mathbb{R}^{\frac{1}{2}}$

h 1.3

jed^{og}

333

PART

1 T

36.7

NA.

of N

 $\mathcal{C}^{\tilde{a}}$

322

-13

'ميرد و بر

10

7

•

The Insolvent Act, 7 Geo. 4, c. 57, s. 32, (re-enacted 1 & 2 Vict. c. I. Of the 110, s. 59), invalidates all voluntary transfers and delivery of bills, notes Transfer of and money, by a person in insolvent circumstances, to any creditor or other Notes. person for the benefit of a creditor, and who, within three months after is imprisoned, and petitions and obtains his discharge under the act; and this 2dly. Who provision therefore invalidates a voluntary indersement of a bill, or a pay-for. ment made by an insolvent within three months before his imprisonment(r). By an In-And it has recently been decided that this section is not confined to such solvent. transfers as are made within three months before the commencement of the imprisonment, or during the continuance of such imprisonment, but extends to transfers made at any time, even a year previous to the imprisonment, if made with the view or intention of petitioning the court for the insolvent's discharge(s). It is not, however, necessary, in order to support a transfer by an insolvent debtor to his creditor, to show that it was made in consequence of pressure on the part of the creditor; in order to invalidate it, it must appear to have originated in the voluntary act of the debtor, not in a bona fide application by the creditor(t). And where the transfer is not the mere spontaneous act of the debtor, and the consideration for the transfer is in itself sufficiently strong to induce the debtor to make it, such transfer will not be voluntary within the act, though part of the consideration consists of a pre-existing debt(u).

A bill of exchange ought not to be transferred to an alien enemy (x), saly. To though under circumstances he might, after return of peace, sue *thereon(y). whom the If made to a married woman, it enures to the benefit of her husband, though may be we have seen an indorsement in her own name will sometimes suffice (z). It made. should not be made to a known bankrupt(a). We have seen what pay- [*213] ments and deliveries of property to a bankrupt, after a secret act of bankruptcy, are protected, when before the date of the commission (b); and if a bill be indorsed to or drawn or accepted in favour of a hankrupt, in payment of a debt due to him at any time before the date of the commission, though after a secret act of bankruptcy unknown to the debtor, it will, as well under the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82, as since the recent act 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29, no doubt be a sufficient discharge of the debt so as to preclude the assignees from suing for it(c).

And where, before the late act, there had been a bona fide payment to a bankrupt, the court had gone so far to give effect to such payment as to hold that a person who had hona fide purchased and paid the price of goods bought of a trader after a secret act of bankruptcy, and within two months of the commission, had a right to retain such goods until repaid the money, although the sale was void, and passed no other interest in the goods than merely a lien(d). But the 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, only protected payments strictly and pro-

(r) Herbert v. Wilcox, 6 Bing. 203; 8 M. & P. 515, S. C.; post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Payment-By Whom.

(s) Beck v. Smith, 2 M. & W. 191; and see Wainwright v. Miles, 3 Moore & S. 211. See also Binns v. Towsey, 3 Nev. & P. 88; 7 Ad. & El. 867, S. C.

(t) Doe d. Boydell v. Gillett, 2 C. M. & R. 579; 1 Tyr. & G. 114, S. C. See Stuckey v. Drewe, 2 Mylne & Keen, 190; Reynard v. Robinson, 3 Moore & Si. 127; 9 Bing. 717, S. C.; Davies v. Acocks, 2 C. M. & R. 461; 1 Gale, 251, S. C.

(u) Margareson v. Saxton, 1 Younge & Col. 525; Arnell v. Bean, 1 Moore & S. 151; 3 Bing. 87, S. C. See Mogg v. Baker, 3 M. & W. 195. See also Troup v. Brooks, 4 C. & P. 821; Tibbitts v. George, 5 Ad. & El. 107; Smith v. Smith, 2 C. M. & R. 281.

(x) Anke, 18.

(y) Ante, 13. (2) Ante, 22, 28, 201.

(a) Ante, 202 to 212. (b) Anle, 205, 206.

(c) See Wilkins v. Casey, 7 T. R. 711; Hawkins v. Penfold, 2 Ves. sen. 550, (Chit. j. 385); and other cases, ante, 207, notes (g) and

(d) Hill v. Farnell, 9 B. & C. 45.

1. Of the Bills and Notes.

3dly. To who m Transfer may be ınade.

perly so termed, and did not extend to give effect to contracts of indemnity or set-off; and therefore where, after a secret act of bankruptcy committed by A., the defen lant accepted a bill for him for 981. at three months, which A. transferred to a creditor, and afterwards on the same day A. agreed to sell the defendant four horses as security for part of the 93l. and the horses were subsequently delivered to the defendant, who paid the 981, when it fell due; it was held, that the transaction was not protected by the 82d section of that act; this not being a sale of goods with payment of the price, but a sale of goods with an agreement to set off the price against a liability on the part of the bankrupt(ϵ).

A bill cannot regularly be indorsed to a prior party, at least so as to enable him to sue any indorser of the bill whose name was upon it subsequent to his own, either on the bill or specially, unless under very particular circumstances (f); however, if there were any prior indorsement in blank, a subsequent holder might sue thereon(g). So if one partner in a firm draw or indorse a bill in his own name only, but on account of the firm, and another member of the firm afterwards become the holder for a debt due from the firm to himself, he cannot sue the first party (h)(1).

When there is a contention between separate claimants, which of them is entitled to the bills or the proceeds in a third person's hand-, as agent or otherwise, the latter may file a bill of interpleader(i); or may apply to the court under the recent act(k).

4thly. The Time when a transfer may be made (l).

Indorsements of bills are most usually made after acceptance and before payment; but though the term "transfer," like the term "acceptance," supposes a pre-existing bill, a transfer may be made previously *to the bill being completed. Thus it has been adjudged, that if a man indorse his name on a [*214] blank stamped piece of paper, such an indorsement will operate as a carte blanche, or letter of credit, for an indefinite sum consistent with the stamp, and will bind the indorser for any sum to be paid at any time, which the per-When may son to whom he entrusts the instrument may insert therein(m), and such paper shall be considered a bill by a relation from the time of signing and indorsing(n) (2). And it has been held no objection to the validity of a bill be before Bill complete.

> (e) Carter v. Breton, 6 Bing. 617; 4 Moore & P. 424, S. C.

> (f) Bishop r. Hayward, 4 T. R. 470, (Chite (1) Disnop r. Hayward, 4 1 R. 470, (Chir.) 3 492); Britten v. Webb, 2 Bar. & Cres. 483; 3 D. & Ry. 650, (Chit. j. 1198); ante, 26, note (o). But see Penny v. Innes, 1 C., M. & R. 439; post, Liability of Indorser.

> (g) Id. ibid. (h) Tengue v. Hubbard, S. B. & C. 345; 2 Man. & Rv. 369, (Chit. j. 1396); ante, 60, note (s).

(i) Stevenson r. Anderson, 2 Ves. & B. 407.

(k) 1 & 2 Will 4, c. 58.

(/) In France a bill must properly be indorsed before it is due, and not after, and it must be dated; 1 Pardess. 365, 368. See post, 225.

(m) Russell v. Langstaff, Dougl. 514, (Chit. j. 415). Newsome r. Thornton, 6 East, 21, 22; Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313, 316, 319, (Chit. j. 461); ante, 29, note (s).

(a) Per curtam, in Snaith c. Mingay, 1 Maule & S. S7; Crutchley c. Clarence, 2 Maule & S. 90; 1 Marsh. 29, (Chit. j. 895); and Usher v. Dauncey and others, 4 Camp, 98, (Chit. j. 919). See ante, 29, 156, notes (1) and (m).

(1) { A bill payable to the drawer's order, and endorsed to his agent is a virtual endorsement to himself. Rice v. Hogan, 8 Dana, 136. }

⁽²⁾ The same doctrine has been asserted in the United States. Violet v. Patton, 5 Cranch, 142. Putnam v. Sullivan, 4 Mass. Rep. 45. Mitchell v. Culver, 7 Cowen, 336. Mechanica' and Farmers' Bank v. Schuyler, Id. 337, in note. So where A. made a note with a blank for the sum, and sent it to the payer, and requested him to fill it up, it was held that the payer might lawfully fill up the blank and recover upon the note. Jordan v. Neilson, 2 Wash. Rep. 164.

A. wrote his name on a blank paper and gave it to B. who made a note on the other side payable to C. or order, with interest, and signed it as a promissor; C. afterwards received part payment of the note from B., and indorsed the amount on the note, and afterwards brough an action on non-payment of the residue against A. and wrote over his name "in consideration of the subsisting connexion between me and my son-in-law B., I promise and engage to guarantee the pay-of exchange, that the acceptance and indorsement were written before the 1. Of the bill was drawn, notwithstanding the indorsement was made by a stranger to Transfer of Bills the acceptor(o). So where in an action brought by the indorsee of a post- and Notes. dated bill, drawn by the defendant, and indorsed by the payce before the 4thly. day on which it hore date, and the payce died before such date, the defend-Time of ant contended that the bill did not acquire the character of a negotiable bill Transfer. within the custom of merchants, till the time it bore date, and that the payce who indorsed it having died before that time, such indorsement conveyed no title to the plaintiff, and that the defendant as drawer was not liable: upon a special case reserved the Court of King's Bench were of opinion that such an indorsement before the date of the bill was legal and valid, and that notwithstanding such death of the indorser the plaintiff was entitled to recover(p). But there is an express provision in 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, s. 1, that bills and notes for the payment of a less sum than five pounds shall not be indorsed before the date thereof(q)(1).

Although if a bill of exchange, payable at a certain time after date, be After refupresented for acceptance and refused, and the holder thereof neglect to give sal of Acdue notice of such dishonour to the drawer or indorsers, they are discharged ceptance. from liability to such holder, yet if before the specified time of payment he indorse the bill to a party, ignorant of the laches, for valuable consideration, such indorsee will not be thereby affected, and may enforce payment from the drawer or prior inderser(r). But if *such indersee, at the time he receiv- [*215]

(o) Schultz v. Astley, 2 Bing. N. C. 544; S. C. 2 Scott, 815; 1 Hodges, 525; 7 C. & P. 99.

(p) Pasmore v. North, 13 East, 517, (Chit. j. 829). Defendant, 4th May, 1810, drew a bill for 2001. on Brook & Co. dated 11th May, 1810, payable to Totty or order sixty-five days after date. On 5th May Totty indorsed this bill to the plaintiff for a valuable consideration, and on the same day died. After 4th and before 11th of May, the defendant received effects of Totty's to the amount of about 1301. to answer this bill. On 12th of May, defendant advised the drawees of the bill having been drawn, and of Totty's death, and desired them not to accept or pay the bill. Acceptance and payment were accordingly refused, and this action was brought against the drawer. A verdict was found for the plaintiff, subject to the opinion of the court of King's Bench on a case reserved. The court, after adverting to 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, as to bills for less than 51. and to 48 Geo. 3, c. 149, as to post-duting drafts upon bankers, held clearly that the plaintiff was entitled to recover for the whole amount of the bill, and he had judgment accordingly.

(q) See observations on this statute in Pasmore v. North, 18 East, 517, (Chit. j. 829). The statute was made perpetual by 27 Geo. 3, c. 16, and by 7 Geo. 4, c. 6, is still in force.

(r) O'Keefe v. Dunn, 1 Marsh 613; Taunt. 305, (Chit. j. 937); per Gibbs, C. J. Heath and Dallas, Js.; dissentiente Chambre, J.; but athrmed in error, 5 Maule & S. 282. The payee of a bill of exchange presented it for acceptance, which was refused, but no notice of such dishonour was given to the drawer, and the payee afterwards indorsed over the bill without notice to the indorsee of such refusal to accept, and the latter again presented the bill for acceptance, which was again refused; and it was held, that the indorsee might recover on the bill against the drawer notwithstanding the laches of the pavee, hy three judges, Chambre, J. con-ment of the contents of the within note on demand." It was held that C. had a right to fill up the indorsement so as to make A responsible as a common indorser, or a guarantor, warrantor or surety, liable in the first instance, and in all events as a joint and several promissor would be. S. J. Court of Massachusetts, Prec. Declar. 113, note. S. C. cited 3 Mass. Rep. 275. See and consult Herrick v. Carman, 12 John. Rep. 159. And see Beckwith v. Angel, 6 Conn. Rep. 315. Sumner v. Gay, 4 Pick, 311. Tenney v. Prince, Id. 385.

So the holder of a bill of exchange, with several indorsements in blank, has a right to strike out the names of the indorsers subsequent to the first, and to write over the name of the first indorser an assignment to himself; or the bill without such assignment will be considered as his property by his having it in his power to make it. Ritchie & Wales r. Moore, 5 Munf. Rep. 388.

⁽¹⁾ The indorsement of a note in presumption of law is cotemporaneous with the making of it, or at all events, antecedent to its becoming due: if the defendant in a suit by the indorsee, wishes to avail himself of payment to the original holder, it is incumbent upon him to show the indorsement to have been made subsequent to the time when the note became due. Pinkerton v. Bailey, 8 Wend. 600.

i

Bills and Notes.

4thly. Time of Transfer.

1. Of the ed the bill, knew of the dishonour, or took the bill after it was due, he will Transfer of be affected by such laches, and will not be entitled to recover(s). Noting, however, on the face of the bill for non-acceptance, though formerly considered sufficient notice(t), will not now, of itself, be sufficient to divest a holder for value of his right to recover, because it must further appear that the holder has acted mala fide, and not merely that he has been guilty of gross negligence(u). Where the holder of a bill, before it was due, having tendered it for acceptance, which was refused, kept it till due, when it was presented for payment and refused, and then returned to an indorser, who, not knowing of the laches, paid it; it was held, that his ignorance of such laches, when he paid the bill, did not entitle him to recover, either against the drawer or prior indorsers, who had thus been discharged by the laches of the holder(x). But if the drawer of a bill, retaining it after he has released the acceptor, indorse it to a bona fide holder before it is due, the latter may recover from the acceptor (y).

Conse-In this country there is no legal objection to the validity of a transfer of a quences of Transfers till made after it became due(z). In this case it is said that the *indorsement after bill or Note due. trà. Per Gibbs, C. J. "He who takes a bill [216] after it has arrived at maturity takes it subject to all the defences which could have been made by any previous holder; for the bill being unpaid, its date is notice to him sufficient to put him on inquiry; but if he takes the bill before it is due, he takes it not subject to the same infirmity of title, because he then takes it without notice of any suspicious circumstances that may break in upon his remedy against any former holder. This is the general law; but there may be circumstances that may make it otherwise. A holder is not bound to present a bill for acceptance; there is nothing, therefore, on the face of an unaccepted bill to awaken a suspicion that it has been presented for acceptance and refused. But it is said the general law is, that where notice is requisite, if notice be not given, the drawer, and all persons claiming to be entitled to have notice of the dishonour, are discharged. I think that is a begging of the question. If a holder comes to the knowledge that the drawee will not accept or will not pay the bill when it becomes due, and omits to give notice, he shall never sue the drawer, because his neglect prevents the drawer from using dilligence in withdrawing from the drawee the effects which were destined to satisfy the bill. But I am of opinion, that if the bill is passed for a valuable consideration, without notice of that defect of title, he who so innocently takes the bill is not guilty of any breach of duty towards the drawer, and is therefore not affected by the omission; Roscoe v. Hardy, 12 East, 434, is mainly distinguishable from the present case, in respect that the bill there continued, up to the time of its maturity, in the hands of a holder who had neglected to give that notice at the time when the bill was first refused acceptance; and the holder, I agree, had thereby, as to his own claim, discharged the drawer. I am of opinion, that the circumstance of the bill continuing in the same hand materially differs that case from the present. I therefore think that the present plaintiff not having had notice that the bill had been presented for acceptance and dishonoured. before she took it, is entitled to recover." See further the case in error, 5 Maule & S. 282.

(s) Crossly v. Ham, 13 East, 498, (Chit.) 827); Brown v. Davis, 8 T. R. 80, post, 216, n. (h). See observations in the preceding note.

(t) Per Dallas, J. 6 Taunt. 309; and see per Bayley, J. in Crossly v. Ham, 13 East, 502; 5 Maule & S. 289.

(u) Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 87; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C., post, 216, note (g). (x) Roscoe v. Hardy, 12 East, 434; 2 Campb. 480, (Chit. j. 801). Acceptance of a bill was refused; of this, however, the holders gave no notice, but when the bill became due again presented it for payment, and that being refused, they called upon the plaintiff, an indorser, for payment, and he being ignorant of their laches paid it. He now sued the defendant as his indorser, who set up the laches of the said holders as a defence, and the plaintiff was nonsuited. On motion to set aside this nonsuit, it was urged that the plaintiff ought not to be pre-judiced by the laches of subsequent holders, of which he was ignorant, without the means of information. But the court held, that his ignorance, which had prevented his availing himself of this laches as a defence, could not alter or revive the liability of the defendant, who had been discharged by the same laches. See the observations on this case by Gibbs, C. J. in O'Keefe v. Dunn, 1 Marsh. 622, and 6 Taunt.

805, (Chit. j. 937); ante, 214, note (r).
(y) Dod r. Edwards, 2 Car. & P. 602, (Chit. j. 1334).

(z) Mitford v. Walcot, 1 Ld. Raym. 575, (Chit. j 214); Dehers r. Harriott, 1 Show. 163, (Chit. j. 485); Boehm r. Stirling, 7 T. R. 430, (Chit. j. 593); Dehers v. Harriott. ! Show. 163. A bill was indersed to the plaintiff after it was due, and he had judgment, without any objection on this ground.

Mitford v. Walcot, 1 Ld. Raym. 575, (Chit. j. 214). Holt, C. J. said, "he remembered a case where a bill was negotiated after the day of payment, and he had all the eminent merchants in London with him at his chambers, and they all held it to be very common and usual, and a very good practice." In France an indorsement must be dated and made before the bill is due, but if made afterwards it · . \ :

1 - 12

تنا بس

6 17 B

17.3

V. -3

ŋ.:

. i

. 4.

~ K#

14.2

12.16

 $i_1 T_{k_1}$

100

ya. In 17.24 , g w

•

10 M

. . .

v: *

e of 4106

....

, CS

, (... y)

A 100

y 95

40.7°

. 4.

8 M

18. 1 18. 1 18. 1

, i'*

4

19

 $-\hat{U}$

is equivalent to the act of drawing a bill payable at sight(a). But bills under 1. Of the five pounds cannot be indorsed after they are due(b). Where a note given Transfer for the accommodation of A. was transferred by him to B. and C. before it and Notes. was due, but not indorsed, it was held that B., on obtaining administration to A.'s effects several years after the note was due, might, although A. had been the of a bankrupt, indorse the bill to himself and C.(c). And where A., the drawer Transfer. of a bill of exchange, gave it to ${f B.},$ unindorsed, to present it for payment; and etaB. did so and got it noted; and afterwards A. indorsed the bill and gave it to B. to obtain payment; it was held, that this indorsement was sufficient to enable B. to recover in an action against the acceptor, not with standing A. said upon the trial that B. was indebted to him, and that he did not give him any authority to bring the action (d).

There is a material distinction in the effect of a transfer made before a bill is due, and one made after that time; in the first case the transfer carries no suspicion on the face of it, and the assignee receives it on its own intrinsic credit, nor is he bound to inquire into any circumstances existing between the assignor and any of the previous parties to the bill, as he will not be affected by them(e); and although at one time it was considered that if the circumstances under which the transfer takes place be such as would naturally have excited the suspicion of a prudent and careful man, the holder cannot recover(f), a contrary doctrine now prevails, and it is not enough to deprive a holder for value of his remedy on the bill to show that he was guilty even of gross negligence, unless it also appear that he acted mali fide(g)(1). when a transfer of a bill is made after it is due, whether by indorsement or mere delivery, it has been long settled(h), that at least it is to be left to the is valid for some purposes; 1 Pardess. 365, 868, 369; see Trimbey v. Vignier, 6 C. & P. 25, 27, 30, 31.

(a) Dehers c. Harriott, 1 Show. 164, (Chit. j. 415).

(b) 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, s. 1.

(c) Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & W. 243, (Chit. j. 1097).

(d) Adams r. Oakes, 6 Car. & P. 70.

(e) Per Buller, J. in Brown v. Davis, 3 T. R. 82, (Chit. j. 452); per Gibbs, C. J. in O'-Keefe r. Dunn, 1 Marsh. 621, 622; 6 Taunt. 305, (Chit. j. 937); ante, 214, note (r); Grant r. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1516, (Chit. j. 865); Peacock r. Rhodes, Dougl. 683, (Chit. j. 408); Miller v. Race, 1 Burr. 452, (Chit. j. 346); Lee v. Newsam, 1 Dow. & R. C. N. P. 50.

(f) Gill r. Cubitt. 3 B. & C. 466; 5 Dow. & Ry. 324, (Chit. j. 1827); 1 Car. & P. 168, 487, S. C.; Down v. Halling, 4 B. & C. 380; 6 D. & R. 455; 2 Car. & P. 11, (Chit. j. 1262).

(g) Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 970; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C. See post, section iii. as to Lost Bills.

(h) Brown v. Davis, 3 T. R. 80, (Chit. j. 452); Roberts v. Eden, 1 Bos. & Pul. 399, (Chit. j. 615); Tinson v. Francis, 1 Campb. 19, (Chit. j. 739); Mac Clure v. Pringle, 13 Price, 8, (Chit. j. 1202); Amory v. Merewea-ther, 2 B. & C. 573; 4 D. & Ry. 86, (Chit. j.

Brown r. Davis, 3 T. R. 80, (Chit. j. 452). Davis drew a note payable to Sandall or order.

Sandall indorsed it to Tuddy, and he had it presented and noted for non-payment. Davis then paid the money to Sundull, and he took up the note from Taddy, but, instead of returning the note to Davis, indorsed it to Brown. Brown thereupon sued Davis, and on Davis's offering to prove these facts, Lord Kenyon thought they would not amount to a defence, unless it could be proved that Brown knew them when he took the note; and he rejected the evidence; but upon a rule nisi for a new trial and cause shown, Lord Kenyon said he thought there ought to be further inquiry; it did not strike him at the trial that the note had been noted before Brown took it, and that that circumstance ought to have awakened Brown's Ashburst and Buller, Justices, suspicion. thought that the party taking a note after it was due was to be considered as taking it on the credit of the person from whom he received it; and that whatever would be a defence against the giver would be a defence against the receiver. Upon which Lord Kenyon said he agreed with that, if the note appeared on the face of it to have been disbonoured, or if knowledge could be brought home to the indorsee that it had been so, but otherwise he was not prepared to go that length. Grose, J. said, "if collusion could be proved between the defendant and Sandall, the defendant would not be entitled to insist on the objection, but as the cause then stood he thought there ought to be a new trial." Rule abso-

I. Of the Transfer of Bills and Notes.

4thly, Time of Transfer. jury upon the slightest circumstance *to presume that the indorsee was acquainted with the fraud, or had notice of the circumstances which would have affected the validity of the bill, had it been in the hands of the person who was holder thereof at the time it became due; and though the indorsee may have been ignorant of the fraud, yet any objection which might have been taken against the bill when in the hands of the indorser may be taken against him, if the bill or note, when he took it, appeared upon the face of it to have been dishonoured(i); and Buller, J. said, "It has never been determined that a bill or note is not negotiable after it is due, but if there are any circumstances of fraud in the transaction, and it is indorsed to the plaintiff after it is due, I have always left it to the jury upon the slightest circumstance to presume that the indorsee was acquainted with the fraud(k)." But it was not formerly fully settled that the mere circumstance of a bill being over due is sufficient to affect the indorsee(1): Lord Kenyon thought not; but Buller, J. and Ashhurst, J. were of opinion "that it was, and that when a note is over due, it being out of the common course of dealing, is alone such a suspicious circumstance as makes it incumbent on the party receiving it to satisfy himself that it is a good one; and that if he omit to do so, he takes it on the credit of the indorser, and must stand in the situation of the person who was holder at the time it was due;" and this latter opinion is now the law(m).

(i) Id. ibid. But see Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 870, ante, 216, note (g), as to bill noted for non-acceptance.

(k) Taylor v. Mather, K. B. Fast, Term, 27 Geo. 3, 3 T. R. 83, in notes, (Chit. j. 439).

(1) Lord Kenyon, C. J. in Brown v. Davis, 3 T. R. 80, (Chit. j. 452); appears to have considered that the mere circumstance of a note being over-due is not sufficient to prejudice a subsequent indorsee. In Columbier v. Slim, K. B. Trin. T. 12 Geo. 3, vol. xviii. MS. Paper Books of Mr. Justice Ashhurst, 62, (Chit. j. 745), the court held, that an indorsement even after action brought on a note over-due would nevertheless give the indorsee a right of action, unless he had actual notice of such action. See post, 219, n. (a), 224, n. (r).

(m) Per Littledale, J. in Rothschild r. Corney, 9 B. & C. 391, (Chit. j. 1430); Lee v. Zagury, S Taunt. 114, (Chit. j. 1603); Banks r. Colwell, cited 3 T. R. 81; Frown v. Turner, T. R. 630, (Chit. j. 611); Tinson r. Francis, 1 Campb. 19, (Chit. j. 739); Boehm v Stirling, 7 T. R. 427, (Chit. j. 593); Good v. Coe, cited

7 T. R. 427, 429.

Banks v. Colwell, cited 3 T. R. 81. Indorsee of a note payable on dem val against the maker. The note was given for smuggled goods, part of it was paid, and it was not in lorse let the plaintiff till a year and a half after it was given, no privity was brought home to the plaintiff, but Buller, J. was clearly of opinion he ought to be nonsuited, and said it had been repeatedly ruled at Guildhall, "that if a hill or note was indorsed over after it was doe, the indorsee took it on the credit of the indorser, and stood in his situation." But all the circumstances of this case of Banks v. Colwell do not appear, and quære if payment of the note was not demanded before, the indorsement to plaintiff. See Barough v. White, 4 B. & C. 325; 6 Dow. & Ry. 379, (Chit. j. 1261).

Brown r. Turner, 7 T. R. 630, (Chit. j. 611). Pritchard paid some stock-jobbing differences for the defendant, and drew on him for the amount: defendant accepted the bill, and after it became due Pritchard indorsed it to the plaintiff for a prior debt. A question was made, whether the illegality of the original transaction vitiated the bill, the plaintiff having taken it after it became due, and consequently not being entitled to recover on it, if Pritchard could not. Lord Kenyon being of opinion that Pritchard could not have recovered on the bill, directed a verdiet for the defendant, and the court being of opinion that the direction was right, refused a rule nisi for a new trial.

Tinson v. Francis, 1 Campb. 19, (Chitj. 789). Indorsee against the maker of a promisory note; the defendant proved that it was given for the accommodation of one T. the payee, and dishonoured, and that the plaintiff had received it from a Mr. Stevens, to whom it was given to be returned to the defendant. Plaintiff offered to prove that he had given a valuable consideration for the note. Land Elienborough suid, "after a hill or note is due, it comes disgraced to the indorsee, and it is his daty to make inquiries concerning it, if he takes it. Though he give a full consideration for it, he takes it on the credit of the indorser, and subject to all the equities with which it may be incumbered." But see Attwood v. Crowdie, 1 Stark, R. 483, (Chitj. 795.)

Boshan e. Stirling, 7 T. R. 423, (Chit. j. 593). Maiban lent the defendant his acceptance for 24441. 14:, at three months, and the defendant gave Maibanan a check upon his banker for the amount, dated 17th February, 1756 (the year was, perhaps, intended for 1797). On the 20th of January Muilman gave this check to the plaintiff in payment of an old debt; Muilman ded before his acceptance became due, and the defendant was obliged to take it up. In an action upon the check the defendant urged that Muilman could not have sued him upon this check, and that therefore the plaintiff could not, because he took it so many months after it was dated.

11

*In other words, the rule is, that a person who takes a bill or note after it is I. Of the due takes it subject to all objections in respect of want of consideration or il- Transfer of legality, and all other objections and equities affecting the instrument itself, Notes. and to which it was liable in the hands of the person from whom he takes and to which it was hable in the nands of the person from whom he takes it(a). Therefore, if a bill or note, founded on a smuggling or stock-jobbing time of transaction, be indorsed after the same became due, to a person ignorant of Transfer. the illegality, and for full value paid by him, he cannot recover(p). where the drawer of a bill payable to his own order, after the bill became due settled with the acceptor, and gave him a receipt in full of all demands, and the drawer being afterwards in possession of such bill, indorsed the same to the plaintiff, it was held that he could not sue the acceptor(q); and although it was held in one case, that a bill accepted for the accommodation of the drawer might be indorsed for full value after it was due, so as to enable the indorsee to sue the acceptor(r), yet the contrary was decided in a subsequent case(s); and it seems that the distinction is, that if the holder knew that after the accommodation bill was due it was not intended to be applied as a security for subsequent transactions, he cannot apply the same accordingly, but that otherwise he may(r); and it also seems that when a note payable several months *after date is given as a guarantee, it is to be presumed that it [*219] was not, after due, to be a continuing guarantee for subsequent claims (t); and Lord Kenyon left it to the jury whether the plaintiff took it bon's fide, and without knowing the circumstances under which Muilman held it; they found for the plaintiff; and on a rule aisi for a new trial and cause shown, Lord Kenyon admitted that it was to be considered as a rule, that the person who takes a bill after it is due is: subject to the same equity as the party from whom he took it, though the bill did not appear upon the face of it to have been dishonoured; and he thought there was no distinction in this respect between checks upon bankers and hills of exchange; but as the defendant himself had not issued this check until nine months after it was dated, he thought it was not competent to him to object to the time when the plaintiff took The other Judges agreed that the rule mentioned by Lord Kenyon was to be considered as settled, but for the reasons given by Lord Kenyon, that it did not bear upon that case. Rule discharged.

(o) Taylor r. Mather, 3 T. R. 83; (Chit. j. (Chit. j. 452); ante, 216, note (h); Brown r. Turner, 7 T. R. 630; Tinson r. Francis, 1 Campb. 619, (Chit. j. 739); Lee r. Zagury, 8 Taunt. 114, (Chit. j. 1003); per Littledale, J. in Rothschild v. Corney, 9 Bar. & C. 391, (Chit. j. 1430); Burrough v. Moss, 10 Bar. & C. 55%, (Chit. j. 1481).

(p) Banks v. Colwell, cited 3 T. R. 81, and Brown v. Turner, 7 T. R. 630, (Chit. j. 611), ante, 217, note (m).

(9) Thoroughgood v. Clark, 2 Stark. R. 251,

(Chit. j. 1008); see ante, 80, 81. (r) Charles r. Marsden, 1 Taunt. 224, (Chit. j. 750). Indorsee of a drawer of a bill against the acceptor. The defendant pleaded that he had accepted the bill for the accommodation of the drawer, and without any consideration; and that it was indorsed to the plaintiff after it was due, and that plaintiff knew the circumstance. On special demurrer to the replication, the argument turned on the validity of the plea; the court held, that as there was no averment of fraud in the plea, nor that the plaintiff had not given a valuable consideration for the bill, the plea was bad, and gave judgment for the plaintiff. Sed vide Tinson v. Francis, 1 Campb. 19; ante, 217. See observations on the case of Charles v. Marsden, and Tinson v. Francis, in Bayl. 5th edit. 504, where a sed guære is added to the former; and see Roscoe, 112, 386, note 19; and anle, 80, S!. Possibly the court decided Charles v. Marsden on the ground that a drawee, who accepts to accommodate the drawer, does not limit such accommodation to any particular time, and by suffering it to remain in the drawer's possession impliedly authorizes the drawer to make use of the bill at any time till he rescinds the authority, and consequently that he cannot refuse to pay a holder for value, on the ground of the bill having been transferred after it was nominally payable. The cases of Bosanquet r. Dadman, I Stark. Rep 1, (Chit. j. 904); Attwood v Crowdie, 1 Stark. 483, (Chit. j. 979); and Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & Walk. 244, (Chit. j. 1007), seem to suggest that in that view of the case, the decision in Charles v. Marsden may have been correct, for in Attwood v Crowdie the court said, " the acceptors not withdrawing their bills, or demanding them back, showed that they considered themselves to be sureties;" see jost, Chap. VII. s. ii Liability of Acceptor; and Bosanquet r. Dudman probably turned on the same ground. In Marsh v. Houlditch, (rost, Ch. IX. s. ii. as to the Application of Payments), in which it was held, that after an accommodation bill has fallen due, and the drawer has once paid to the holder enough to cover the amount, the latter cannot afterwards retain the same as a security for subsequent advances; such holder had declared that he should look only to the drawer, which evinced that he knew it was no longer to be kept on foot against the acceptor. (s) See observations in the last note.

(t) Bloxsome and another r. Ncale and an-

Bills and Notes. 4thly. Time of Transfer.

1. Of the if a bill given for a supposed balance of accounts, to be afterwards settled on Transfer of a day appointed, be dishonoured by the acceptor (the defendant), and after it is due be indorsed by the drawer to the plaintiff, the relative situation of debtor and creditor not being created between the drawer and acceptor, the plaintiff cannot maintain an action on it as indorsee (u). So if the party transferring the bill after it was due was only an agent for the purpose of receiving the money for his principal, or received the same for a particular purpose, the person to whom he transfers it will be accountable to the principal for whatever money or bills he may obtain upon it(x); and a party who knows that a bill of exchange is accepted for a particular purpose cannot afterwards, when that purpose has failed, sue on the bill in consequence of an indorsement of it to him(y). If a bill of exchange be not presented by an indorsee for payment until a year after it is due, the law will raise a presumption that it was indorsed after it became due, and the indorsee will be affected by the same liabilities as the drawer(z); and where an over due bill or note is indorsed after action brought, the indorser, with notice of the action, cannot sue thereon(a).

[*220] X * A party, however, to whom an over-due bill has been indorsed is clothed with all the advantages of the party from whom he received it, and therefore it has been decided, that in an action by the second indorsee against > other, K. B. 1832. This was an action by Messrs. Bloxsome and Co. bankers, at Dursley, in Gloucestershire, against two ladies, upon a note of hand which they had given to secure the balance of an account kept with the plaintiffs by Porter and Clarke, timber merchants, at Dursley, who subsequently failed. It appeared upon the trial, which took place at the Sittings at Middlesex some time ago, that Porter was the nephew of the defendants, the Misses Neale (one of whom was upwards of eighty years of age, and the other very far advanced in life), and there being a cash balance of 1000l. against him, the plaintiffs refused to continue the account without security, and the note in question, payable at nine months, was consequently given. At the time of its becoming due, the balance was reduced to 600l., and it was not presented for payment, but the bankers con-tinued to hold it, and went on discounting bills for Porter and Clarke, and receiving bills from them, which they put to their credit as cash. Some time afterwards they required fresh security, and Porter proposed that Miss Neale's note should continue as a guarantee for future advances. A clerk of the bankers stated that it was originally intended that the note should be a continuing guarantee; but the plaintiffs in some of their letters, asked Porter whether they were to present it for payment when it became due, or whether he would provide for it. It was also stated that the defendants, on being applied to after the failure of Porter and Clarke admitted their liability, but referred to their attorney, who promised to settle it if time were given. Porter, who was called as a witness, stated that the note had been given as a security for the 1000l then due, and which was to be paid off by bills paid in upon the running ac-count, and that when it became due, the balance against them was reduced, and was ultimately turned in their favour. In the course of the subsequent transactions, however, the balance was against them, and the bankers refusing to go on, he (Porter) proposed that the note should continue as a general guarantee, but he did so without the authority of the defendants. Under these circumstances, the questions left to the jury were, first, whether the note was given to secure the specific balance due at that time; for, if so, it was admitted that the balance had been reduced by bills, supposing the agreement to have been to treat them as cash; and secondly, whether it was intended to be paid in cash, or given up when due, or was to be a continuing guarantee. In directing the ju-ry, Lord Tenterden observed, that the fact of the bill being made payable at nine months raisel a presumption that it was to be paid or giren up when due; and even if Porter had agreed with the bankers that it should be a continuing guarantee, it did not appear that he had any authority from the defendants to do so, and if he had not, they would not be liable. The jary found for the defendants. A rule nisi for a new trial having teen obtained, the case came on to be argued. After hearing Mr. F. Pollock and Mr. Follett against the rule, and Sir J. Scarlett, Mr. Cambell, and Mr. Talfourd, in support of it, the court were of opinion, that there ought to be a new trial, as it was not clear, upon Porter's own evidence, that the balance was in favour of himself and Clark at the time the note became due. Rule absolute.

(u) Verley v. Saunders, 2 Chit. 127.

(x) Lee r Zagnry, 8 Tannt, 114; 1 Moore, 556, (Chit. j 1003). (y) Lloyd c. Davis, 3 Law J. 38, K. B. 8th

Nov. 1824. (z) Ib.; and see Counsall v. Harrison, 1 M. & W. 611, as to what is evidence to go to a jury of a bill having been transferred after due. (a) Jones v. Lane, Exch. Cham. 1939, 3 Jurist. 265; Marsh v. Newell, 1 Taunt. 109; post, 224, note (r); aliter, where no such notice, Columbier v. Slim, ante, 217, note (1).

 Π

1 500

the acceptor of a bill of exchange, if the person who indorsed to the plaintiff I. Of the could himself have maintained an action upon it, the defendant cannot give Transfer of in evidence that it was accounted for a debt contracted in available and in evidence that it was accepted for a debt contracted in smuggling, although Notes. it was indorsed to the plaintiff after it had become due(b) \bigcirc And it has been held, that where a bill, accepted for the accommodation of the drawer, 4thly. has been transferred to a person for value before it was due, and he after- Transfer wards hands it back to the drawer, who after it is due returns it to him, he may sue the acceptor, being remitted to his former right(c). So if an accommodation acceptance be suffered to remain with bankers, they may apply the same as a security for an account which became due to them since the bill became due(d); for in both the last cases, the acceptor, by not withdrawing or demanding back the bill, evinced that he considered himself still as a surety to some third party for the amount of the bill(e).

The rule that a party taking an over-due bill takes it subject to the equi- But the ties to which the party delivering the bill to him was subject, is qualified and confined to restrained to all equities arising out of the note or bill transaction itself, and Objections he is not subject to a set-off in respect of a debt due from the indorser to to the Bill the inches of the note activity out of collection matters (f). The independent itself, and The indorsee, does not the maker of the note arising out of collateral matters (f). however, of a promissory note, not over-due, but the amount of which is extend to a exceeded by a cross demand of the maker on the payee, having notice of Set-off. such demand at the time of the indorsement, cannot recover against the maker advances made to the payee on the note subsequent to such notice, although the note is a distinct transaction between the original parties (g).

With respect to promissory notes payable to order or bearer on demand, Notes payable on (especially when with interest), as the parties contemplated *that payment Demand.

how fat within the

(b) Chalmers v. Lanion, 1 Campb. 383, (Chit. j. 754). To an action by the indorsees against the acceptor of a bill, one ground of defence was, that the bill had been accepted for a debt contracted in a snuggling transaction, and that though it had been indorsed for value before it became due to a bona fide holder, yet that it had been indorsed by him to the plaintiffs after it was due, and it was contended, that having been so indorsed to the plaintiffs, it was competent to the defendant to set up the illegality of the consideration as a defence, in like manner as if the action had been brought by the payee; but Lord Ellenborough held, that if the plaintiff's indorser might have maintained an action upon the bill, the circumstance of the indorsement to them having been made after the bill had become due, was insufficient to let in the proposed defence, and the court of King's Bench concurred in opinion with his lordship.

(c) Per Lord Ellenborough, in Bosanquet v. Dudinan, 1 Stark. Rep. 1, (Chit. j. 904); and see Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & Walk. 244, (Chit. j. 1097); ante, 218, note (r).

(d) Attwood v. Crowdie, 1 Stark. R. 483, (Chit. j. 979); but see Bloxsome v. Neale, MS. ante, 219, n. (t); and Marsh v. Houlditch, MS.; post, Ch. IX. s. ii. as to the Application of Payments. Semble, contra.

(c) See ante, 218, note (r).

(f) Burrough v. Moss, 10 B. & C. 558; 5 [*221]

M. & R. 296; S. Law J. 287, K. B. (Chit. j. 1481). The judgment of the court was delivered by Bayley, J. "This was an action on a promissory note, made by the defendant, payable to one Fearn, and by him indorsed to the plaintiff after it became due; for the defendant it was insisted, that he had a right to set off against the plaintiff's claim a debt due to him from Fearn, who held the note at the time when it became due. On the other hand it was contended, that this right of set-off, which rested on the statute of set-off, did not apply. pression on my mind was, that the defendant was entitled to the set-off, but on discussion of the matter with my Lord Tenterden, and my learned Brothers, I agree with them in thinking that the indorsee of an over-due bill or note is liable to such equities only as attach on the bill or note itself, and not to claims arising out of collateral matters; the consequence is, that the rule for reducing the damages in this case must be discharged."

(g) Goodall v. Ray, 4 Dowl. 76; 1 Har. & W. 333, S. C.; per Coleridge, J., Bail Court.

⁽¹⁾ An indorser of a note for the accommodation of the maker, and without consideration, is liable to the indorsee, notwithstanding the facts were known to the latter, when he took the bill. Brown v. Mott, 7 Johns. Rep. 361. And the same rule is said to apply, even if the indorses took the note after it was due. Ibid.

Bills and Notes.

4thly. Time of Transfer.

would not be immediately required, and that the note would for some time be Transfer of in negotiation, they are not strictly within the rule applicable to over-due bills(h); and they are not to be considered as over-due without some evidence of payment having been demanded and refused(i). And where a promissory note, pavable on demand with interest until paid, was given in part consideration for the share of a ship, purchased by the maker from the payer, without an observance of the provisions of the Ship Registry Acts, and was indorsed by the payee, first to J. L., who, on presentment and refusal of payment, obliterated his name and returned it, and afterwards to J. G. P., who indorsed it upwards of two years and a half after its date, with the name obliterated, to the plaintiff, for a full and valuable consideration, without notice, it was holden that although the contract of sale was void, vet as the maker had recognised it by paying one year's interest on the note and otherwise, and as there was a presumption that he had received the subsequent earnings of the share in question, and therefore of a consideration pro tanto, the plaintiff, notwithstanding he had taken the note without inquiry, was entitled to recover its amount in an action against the maker; and it was doubted whether the circumstance affecting the note placed the innocent indorsee in the same situation with the payee as against the maker, but it was considered that a note payable on demand, with interest until paid, is not to be considered as payable instantly, or as over-due(k). And in one case, an action by an indorsee for value of the note dated nine years before was sustained, although the maker had been swindled out of it(l). But we have seen that in another case, where a note payable on demand was indorsed to the plaintiff a year and a half after its date, the indorsee was considered as affected by all objections that could be advanced against the title of the inderser(m). Perhaps a distinction may be made between notes payable on demand made by a private individual, and those of bankers, re-issuable and intended to be many years in circulation (n).

Checks on Bankers (0). [*222 1

With respect to checks on bankers, they ought regularly to be presented or forwarded for payment on the day after they have been drawn, and they are not usually intended to be kept in circulation for *any considerable time, and, therefore, it should seem that the rule respecting over-due bills is in general more strongly applicable to checks than to notes payable on de-

(h) Barough v. White, 4 Bar. & C. 325; 6 Dowl. & R. 379; 2 Car. & P. 8, (Chit. j. 1261). Action by indorsee against maker of a promissory note, payable with interest on demand. Bayley, J. " Neither does it appear to me that this note could be considered as overdue." See post, Part H. Ch. V. Eridence; and see per Park, J in Heywood v. Watson, 4 Bing 560, 561, (Chit. j. 1374), as to the onus probandi in case of over-due bill, see Lewis r. Parker, 4 Ad. & El. 838; S. C. 6 N. & M. 291; 2 Har. & Woll. 46.

(i) Id. ibid.; rer Bayley, Holroyd, and Littledale, Justices; and see Roberts r. Eden, 1 Bos. & P. 308, (Chit j. 615).

(k) Gascovne r. Smith, M'Clel. & Y. 339,

(Chit. j 1256).
(1) Morris v. Lee, cited in Auonymous, 1 Com. Rep. 43; and Bayl. 233, 5th edit. note 16. (m) Banks v. Colwell, 3 T. R. 81, ante, 217, note (m).

(n) In the American edition of Bayley on Bills, 84, it is laid down, that the rule established in that country is, that "where a promissory note, payable on demand, is indorsed within a reasonable time after its date, the indorser has all the rights of an indorsee receiving a negotiable instrument before it becomes due; but if it be not indorsed within a reasonable time, it will be considered as over-due, and dishonoured, and the indorser will be subject to any defence which would have been available against his indorsers. What is such a reasonable time is not precisely settled, though it is clear that a note is to be considered overdue and dishonoured a year, or even eight or nine months, from the date, but not over-due a few days from the date. What is a reasonable time is a question of law where the facts are settled." The following are the American cases on this subject.—See Ayer v. Hutchins, 4 Mass. R. 368; Freeman v. Hoskins, 2 Cain. Rep. 368; Loomit v. Pulver, 9 Johns. R. 214; Loosee v. Dunkin, 7 Johns. R. 70; Sandford c. Mickles, 4 Johns. R. 224; Thurston v. M'Kown, 6 Mass. R. 76; Hendricks r. Judah, 1 Johns. R. 319.

(o) See further as to checks, post, Chapter

Hill.

.

 (r, Σ)

43

. .

4*E

ĥ.

*3*13

٠,

mand(p); and, therefore, where the owner of a check drawn upon a banker I. Of the for 50l. had lost it by accident, and it was tendered five days after the date Transfer of Bills and to a shopkeeper, in payment of goods purchased to the value of 61. 10s., Notes. and he gave the purchaser the amount of the check, after deducting the value of the goods purchased, and the shopkeeper the next day presented 4thly. the check at the banker's, and received the amount, it was held, in an ac-Transfer. tion for money had and received, brought by the person who lost the check against the shopkeeper, to recover the money paid to him upon it, that the jury were properly directed to find for the plaintiff, if they thought the defendant had taken the check under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man(q). But in a subsequent case(r) Lord Tenterden said, "it cannot be laid down as a matter of law, that a party taking a check after any fixed time from its date does so at his peril, and, therefore, the mere fact of a party taking them six days after they bore date, from a person who had not given value for them, will not necessarily invalidate his title. It is, indeed, a circumstance to be taken into consideration by a jury, in determining whether the party took the checks under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man." We have seen, however, that this doctrine as to taking a negotiable instrument under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man, is now exploded, and that nothing short of mala fides will oust a party, who has given value for such instrument, of his title thereto(s).

A party to a bill or check, who has himself transferred it to another after Who preit was due, or long after the date of the check, will not be at liberty to ob- cluded ject, on the ground of fraud, to the payment of it, when in the hands of a jecting. third person, who must necessarily have also received itafter it was due; for it is obvious payment could not have been demanded when the bill was due, as it was not then issued; and the difficulty was occasioned by the party himself, who so gave to it an improper circulation(t). Where a note payable on demand, with interest, drawn by A. in favour of B. as a security for a debt, was by him indorsed to C. for the same purpose, and after the indorsement it passed backwards and forwards between B. and C. several times, and previous to its being ultimately deposited with C. he received an intimation from B. not to negotiate it, as he should want it when he settled accounts with A., it was held that C. could not, after a settlement of accounts between A. and B., without a re-delivery of the note, recover on it against Where a bill has been improperly indorsed after due, a party interested in having it delivered up, whether drawer, indorser or accommodation acceptor, may file a bill in equity (x), or support an action of trover, though, in truth, the bill is of no value(y); and this *sometimes even without a pre- [*223] vious demand, as where it has been discounted after notice of the circumstance(z)(1). But the holder of a promissory note, delivered to him with-

⁽p) Boehm v. Stirling, 7 T. R. 423, (Chit. j. 598); ante, 217, in note.

⁽q) Down v. Halling, 4 Bar. & Cres. 330; 6 Dow. & R. 455; 2 Cur. & P. 11, (Chit. j. 1262); it was there also held that the shopkeeper having taken the check five days after it was dated, it was sufficient for the plaintiff to shew he once had property in it, without shewing how he lost it. See Lee v. Newsam, 1. Dow. & Ry. C. N. P. 50.

⁽r) Rothschild v. Corney, 9 B. & C. 390; 4 M. & Ry. 411; Dans. & L. 825, (Chit. j. 1430).

⁽s) Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 870; ante, 216, note (g).

⁽t) Boehm v. Stirling, 7 T. R. 423, (Chit. j. 593); ante, 217, in note.

⁽u) Roberts v. Eden, 1 Bos. & Pul. 898, (Chit. j. 615).

⁽x) Ante, 97, 98.
(y) Goggerly v. Cuthbert, 2 New Rep 170; Evans v. Kymer, 1 Bar. & Adol. 528, S. P. (Chit. j. 1512); ante, 97, note (m).
(z) Beckwith v. Corrall, 2 Car. & P. 261;

³ Bing. 444; 11 Moore, 385, (Chit. j. 1291 /

⁽¹⁾ Where a note is negotiated after it becomes due, the indorsee takes it, subject to every

Of the out indorsement, after it became due, and noted for non-payment, will not Transfer of be stayed by injunction from enforcing a judgment at law obtained by default, Bills and because such defendant ought to have tried his defence at law(a).

4thly. Time of transfer. (a) Dunbar v. Wilson, 6 Bro. P. C. 231.

defence that existed in favor of the maker of the note before it was indersed. Johnson v. Bloodgood, 1 John. Cas. 51. S. C. 2 Caines' Cas. in Err. 302. M'Cullongh v. Houston, 1 Dall. Rep. 441. Humphrey v. Blight's assignees, 4 Dall. 370. Sebring v. Rathbun, 1 John. Cas. 331. Prior v. Jacocks, 1 John. Cas. 169. Jones v. Caswell, 3 John. Cas. 29. Farman v. Haskin, 2 Caines' Rep. 369. Payne v. Eden, 3 Caines' Rep. 213. Hendricks v. Judah, 1 John. Rep. 319. Lansing v. Gaine, 2 John. Rep. 300. O'Callaghan v. Sawyer, 5 John Rep. 118. Losee v. Dunkin, 7 John. Rep. 70. Lansing v. Lansing, 8 John. Rep. 454. Gold v. Eddy, 1 Mass. Rep. 1. Wilson v. Clements, 3 Mass. Rep. 1. Thurston v. M'Kown, 6 Mass. Rep. 428. Ayer v. Hutchins, 4 Mass. Rep. 370. Thompson v. Hale, 6 Pick. 259. Braynard v. Fisher, Id. 355. Sargent v. Southgate, 5 Pick. 312.

Robinson v. Lyman, 10 Conn. 30; Stedman v. Jillson, Idem, 55; M'Neill v. M'Donald, 1 Hill, 1; Hays v. May, Wright, 80; Proctor v. M'Call, 2 Bai 298. But in order thus to affect the note in the hands of the indorsee, the infirmity, equity, or defence relied on for that purpose must have existed against and attached to the note itself, before the transfer, and not have sisen out of subsequent or collateral matters. Robinson v. Lyman, supra. The indorsee in such a case is not liable to a set-off of debts due from the payee to the maker, having no connection with the subject matter of the note. Stedman v. Jillson, supra. Robertson v. Breedlove, 7 Port, 541.

Where the transfer of a note is taken from a person not an original party to it, the note's being past due at the time of the transfer, is not equivalent to notice that such person came to the possession of it by fraud; unless perhaps inquiry of the payee would necessarily have led to a knowledge of the fraud. Proctor v. M'Call, 2 Bai. 298.

In the case of notes transferred after due and guarantied by indorser, demand of payment from the maker, and notice to the indorser, within a reasonable time must be proved. Benton r. Gibson, 1 Hill, 56. Alwood v. Haseldon, 2 Bai. 457. See also Rice c. Goddard, 14 Pick. 293; Bonnsall v. Harrison, 1 Mec. & We's. 611; Colt v. Barnard, 18 Pick. 261.

The right of the maker of a promissory note negotiated out of time, to set up against the indorsee, transactions between himself and the payee, before its transfer, is not restricted to equitable grounds of defence only, as payment or failure of consideration; but extends to every thing which would have been a good defence against the payee; such as fraud between the puties in the original concoction of the security, &c. Tucker v. Smith, 4 Greenl. 415. { Sylvester v.

Crapo, 15 Pick. 92. >

A note payable to bearer, and passed out of time, does not carry along with it all the equities which may subsist between any intermediate bearer and the maker; it is subject only in the hands of a bona fite holder without notice, to the equities subsisting between the original parties Nixon v. English, 3 M'Cord, 549. And where a bill is not taken in the usual course of trade, it is subject to all the equities that subsisted between the original parties. Evans v. Smith, 4 Binney's Rep. 366. And where a party to a bill cannot maintain an action against another party to the bill, no person claiming subsequently, by a derivative title under the former, and having knowledge of all the facts, can recover against the latter. Herrick v. Carman, 12 John Rep. 189. So where a tote is indorsed over in trust for the indorser, it is open to the same equities if the suit was in favor of the indorser himself. Payne v. Eden.

And a note purchased after it has become due, and after an assignment under a statute upon the maker's insolvency, cannot be set off against a debt due to the insolvent's estate in an action brought by his assignees for the recovery of it. Johnson v. Bloodgood, 1 John. Cas. 51. 2 Caines' Cas. Err. 303, and see Anderson v. Van Alen, 12 John. Rep. 343. So a note purchased after knowledge of the issuing of a commission of bankruptey, although not then due, is subject to all the equities between the original parties; and therefore if proved under the commission, it is liable to the right to set-off of the bankrupt against the original payee. Humphreys v. Blight's assignees, 4 Dall 370.

But the court will not set aside a judgment on confession to let in an equitable defence, especially where the parties are in in part delicto. Sebring v. Rathbun, 1 John Cas. 331.

Where a negotiable note is paid before it becomes due, and is afterwards indersed by the payer with notice to the indersee of such payment, the latter takes the note subject to that defence, and therefore cannot recover against the maker. White r. Kibling, 11 John. Rep. 128.

If the maker of a note when sued by an indorsee, relies upon payment before indorsement or any other legal defence as against the payee, the burthen of proof of the time of the indorsement rests upon him. Webster v. Lee, 5 Mass. Rep. 334. See Stewart v. Greenleaf, 3 Day's Rep. 311.

Where a note is payable on demand, it must be presented within a reasonable time for payment, or it will be considered as out of time and dishonoured; and if it be afterwards negotiated, it will, in the hands of the indorsee, be liable to all the equities which subsisted between the original parties. Furman v. Haskins, 2 Caines, 369. Such a note, negotiated eighteen months of two years after its date, will be considered as out of time. Ibid. Loomis v. Pulver, 9 John.

T.

If, out of the usual course of business, a bill or note be paid before it is I. Of the due by any other party than the acceptor or the maker, and be re-issued be- Transfer of fore it is at maturity, even in fraud of some of the parties, yet an innocent Notes. indorsee may recover upon it; the party paying, therefore, ought to state the payment on the face of the bill(b). And a bill of exchange is negotiable ad \mathbb{R}^{lthy} . infinitum until it has been paid by the acceptor, and therefore if the drawer Transfer. pay it after it is due, he may, even a year and a half afterwards, indorse it to a fresh party, who may sue the acceptor thereon(c); and in such case the After payment. latter cannot inquire into the state of the accounts between the indorsee and the drawer, nor will the state thereof furnish him with any defence (d). when a bill has been ence paid by the acceptor, it is functus officio at common law, and by the express legislative provision of the Stamp Laws no longer reissuable(e); and a bill or note cannot be negotiated after it has been

(b) Burbridge r. Manners, 3 Campb. 194,

(c) Callow v. Lawrence, 3 Maule & S. 97, (Chit. j. 911); Hubbard v. Jackson, 4 Bing. 890; 1 Moore & P. 11; 3 Car. & P. 134, (Chit. j. 1363); Gomeserra v. Berkely, 1 Wils. 46, (Chit. j. 307).

(d) Hubbard v. Jackson, 3 Car. & P. 134; 4 Bing. 390; 1 M. & P. 11, (Chit. j 1363). (e) Supra, note (c); Holroyd v. Whitehead, 1 Marsh. 130, (Chit. j. 905); and 55 Geo 3, c. 184, s. 19; Thoroughgood v. Clark, 2 Stark.

Rep. 251, (Chit. j. 1008); Bartrum v. Caddy, 1 Perry & Day. 207; anle, 108, note (e).

Rep. 224. So, a note of this description, dated the 3d of Se_l tember, 18:7, and negotiated on the 25th of May, 1818, was held to be out of time. Nevens v. Townsend, 6 Conn. Rep. 5. There is no precise time in which a note payable on demand is to be deemed dishonored; but it must depend upon the circumstances of the case. Loose v. Duncan, 7 John. Rep. 70. no particular circumstances are disclosed, and a transfer be made two months and a half after the date, it will be deemed out of season, and let in the defence of payment by the maker. Ibid. See also Hendricks r. Judah, 1 John. Rep. 319. Sandford r. Mickles, 4 John. Rep. 224. Thurston r. M'Kown, 6 Mass. Rep. 428.

Wherever the holder of a negotiable note has notice either constructively or positively at the time of the transfer to him of an equity subsisting between the original parties, he takes it subject to trial and equity. Humphreys v. Blight's assignees, 4 Dall. Rep. 371. White v. Kibling, 11 John. Rep. 128. Wilson v. Holmes, 5 Mass. Rep. 543. But the mere knowledge that the note was made and indorsed for the accommodation of the maker, will not entitle the indorser to set up that defence against a bona fide holder. Brown v. Mott, 7 John. Rep. 361, ante, 143, note. And if the consideration for a note be specially indersed on the back of it, it operates as notice to all subsequent holders. Saunders v. Bacon, S John. Rep. 485. And if there be a memorandum on the back of the note, stating its actual execution to have been on an anterior day to the date, it is sufficient notice to put the party upon inquiry into the circumstances. Wiggin r. Bush, 12 John. Rep. 306.

Where a note not negotiable is assigned, explicit notice must be given to the maker, or he will be justified in paying the amount to the payee. Meghan r. Mills, 9 John. Rep. 92.

Notice of nonpayment must be given as well to one who indorses a note after it becomes due, as to an indorser of a note before it becomes due. Stockman v. Riley, 2 M'Cord, 398.

Where a promissory note payable on demand was indorsed eight months after its date, it was held that in order to charge the indorser, a demand on the drawer and notice to the indorser must be proved. M'Kenney v. Crawford, 8 Serg. & Rawle, 351. See also Poole v. Tolleson, 1 M'-

The defendant indersed to the plaintiff a negotiable note after it had been over-due eight or ten months; the parties living in the same village, and the maker about two miles off. In an action hy the indorsee against the indorser, held, that the circumstance of the note having been long over-due, could nake no difference, and the same ought to be treated as a note indorsed on the day it fell due. Nash v. Harrington, 2 Aiken's Rep. 9.

Where the day of payment of a note is past, at the time of its transfer, it is a sufficient warning to whoever receives it, that the maker may have some just reason to withhold payment, as he has a right to any equitable defence after the transfer, which he might have successfully urged before. Burroughs r. Nettles, 7 Louis. Rep. 113.

Where a note over-due is transferred, the maker is not entitled to set off a demand against the payee, if at the time of the transfer, the payee has other demands against the maker to an amount sufficient to exhaust the demands sought to be set off. Collins and Winslow v. Allen, 12 Wend.

Where two notes are held against a party who has a demand sufficient in amount to extinguish one of the notes, but not both, and one of the notes is transferred after due, leaving the other in the hands of the payee to an amount sufficient to meet the demands of the maker, and subsequently the second note is transferred, it seems that the demands of the maker cannot be set off against the note first transferred, but must be set off against that which is last transferred. Ib.

once paid if such negotiation would make any of the parties liable who would otherwise be discharged (f)(1), nor can it be negotiated so as to I. Of the Transfer of Bills and charge even the indorser (g).

4thly. Time of Transfer.

Notes.

The Stamp Laws contain an exception in favour of promissory notes payable to bearer on demand of a sum not exceeding 1001. which, if duly stamped for that purpose, may be re-issued after payment by the maker(h). Thus the 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 14 enacts, "that it shall be lawful for any banker or other person, who shall have made and issued any promis ory notes for the payment to the bearer on demand, of any sum not exceeding 1001. each, duly stamped according to the direction of that act(i), to re-issue the same from time to time after payment thereof, as often as he, she or they, shall think fit, without being liable to pay any further duty in respect thereof; and that all promissory notes so to be re-issued shall be valid, and as available as upon the first issuing thereof(2)." And the fifteenth section provides, "that such *notes shall not be liable to further duty, though reissued by certain persons not strictly the original makers, nor re-issued at the same place." The twenty-fourth section requires bankers and others, issuing re-issuable notes, to take out a licence for that purpose, and contains several regulations respecting such re-issuable notes, and the licences. 7 Geo. 4, c. 46, and 9 Geo. 4, c. 23, contain further regulations connected with this subject (k). It has been observed that the very terms of the act 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 14, enable other persons basides bankers to take out a licence to re-issue notes (l).

A person not originally party to a bill, by paying it for the honour of the parties to it, acquires a right of action against all those parties (m). And after a payment of a part, a bill may be indorsed over for the residue(n). It was formerly supposed, that if the holder of a bill were indebted to a prior party, and doubted his solvency, it was not advisable to transfer the bill, because, if he retained it, he might treat it as a mutual credit, and set off the amount against his own debt; but that if he transferred it, and after the act of bankruptcy was obliged to take it up, he could only prove under the com-

(f) Beck v. Robley, cited 1 Hen. Bla. 89, note, (Chit. j. 890, 450, note). Brown drew a bill upon Robley, which Robley accepted, payable to Hodgson or order; Robley did not pay it when in was presented, upon which Brown took it up; Brown afterwards indorsed it to Beck, and Beck brought an action upon it against Robley, but the jury thought that when Brown took up the bill its negotiability censed. and found for the defendant; and on a rule nisi for a new trial, the Court thought the jury right, and Lord Mansfield said, " when a draft is given, payable to A. or order, the purpose is, that it shall be paid to A. or order, and when it comes back unpaid, and is taken up by the drawer, it ceases to be a bill; if it were negotiable here, Hodgson would be liable, for which there is no colour." See observations on this case in Callow e. Lawrence, 3 Maule & S. 97, 98, (Chit. j 911); The King e. Burn, 5 Price, 174, (Chit. j. 1005); and see Hubbard r. Jackson, 4 Bing. 3:90; 1 Moore & P. 11; 3 Car. & P. 134, (Chit. j. 13:63); Bartrum v. Caddy, 1 Perry & Day. 207; ante, 108, note (e).

(g) Frenkely v. Fox, 9 B. & C. 130; 4 M. & Ry. 18, S. C.; Bartrum v Caddy, 1 Perry & Dav. 207, 212, 213; ante, 201, note (m).

(h) 55 Geo. 3, c. 184, s. 14, &c.

(i) See antc, 107, 108.

(k) See ante, 112, 113 (1) Per Bayley, J., in Keates v. Wheildon,

8 B. & C. 9, (Chit. j. 1379); ante, 116.
(m) Mertens v. Winnington. 1 Esp. Rep. 112, (Chit. j. 523); et post, Ch. X. s. ii. Of Payment supra Protest.

(a) Hawkins v. Cardy, Lord Raym. 360; Carth. 416; 1 Salk. 65, (Chit. j. 208); llawkins r. Gardner, 12 Mod. 213; Johnson r. Kennion, 2 Wils. 262, (Chit. j. 371).

(2) { A promissory note may be re-issued by an endorsce after it is due, and after it was discounted in bank and paid by him at its maturity with his own funds. Kirbrey c. Bates, I Ala-Rep. (New Scries) 303. } mission, and receive a dividend, and must have paid the whole of his own I. Of the But it is now settled that he may set off the amount of such bill, Transfer of Bills and though not returned to him till after the bankruptcy (p).

⁽¹⁾ A bill endorsed after due, is equivalent to drawing a new bill, payable at sight. Bishop r. Dexter, 2 Conn. Rep. 419. M'Kinney v. Crawford, S Serg. & Rawle, 351. Berry v. Robinson, 9 Johns. Rep. 121. Dwight v. Emerson, 2 New Hamp. Rep. 159. Rugely v. Davidson, 3 S. Car. Coust. Rep. 33.

If a party, whether before or after a bill or note be due, become the in- 4thly. dorsee or holder by delivery, with notice that the party from whom he re-Transfer. ceives it had no right to make the transfer, he will acquire no better right than such party, and a person who discounts a bill for the full value, after he knows that it has been lost by the owner, will not only be precluded from recovering thereon, but will be liable to an action of trover, even without any previous demand(q); nor can a person who receives a bill with notice that an action has been commenced thereon and still depending sustain another action against the same party (r)(1).

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

Modes or Forms of Indorsements and Transfers.

1. First indorsement by drawer or payee in blank.

"James Atkins."

2. The like by a partner. "Atkins & Co."

"For self and Thompson,
"James Atkins."

3. The like by an agent.

" Per procuration James Atkins, " John Adams."

or, " As agent for James Atkins. " John Adams."

(o) Ex parte Hale, 3 Ven. 304, (Chit. j. 574); 3 T. R. 509; 6 T. R. 57; 1 Mont. 543. See post, Part II. Ch. VIII. Bankruptcy.
(p) Bolland v. Nash, 8 B. & C. 105; 2 M.

& R. 189, (Chit. j. 1381.)
(q) Lovell v. Martin, 4 Taunt. 799, (Chit.

(r) Marsh v. Newell, 1 Taunt. 109, (Chit. 745). This was a rule nisi to cancel the bail bond given herein under the following circumstances:-Plaintiff had arrested defendant on a promissory note payable to plaintiff or bearer; plaintiff afterwards paid the note to one Frost, who likewise arrested the defendant upon the same instrument. The court held, that as the transfer of the note to Frost was accompanied with a notice of the action which was pending, Frost could not, after such notice, be permitted to bring a second action against the defendant. And the same point was ruled by Alderson, B. in a late case in the Exchequer Chamber; . ones v. Lane, 1839, 3 Jurist, 265; ante, 219, n. (a). But it is otherwise where the indorser has not received such notice, Columbier v. Slim, ante, 217, note (1).

(1) If after the holder of a promissory note obtains a judgment on it against the maker, the indorser pays the note, and then indorses it to a third person, such third person cannot maintain an action upon the note against the maker in the ordinary form of indorsee against drawer. Prest v. Vanarsdalen, 6 Halsted's Rep. 194.

A note once paid, ceases to be negotiable, and remedies lie only between the then existing parties. Therefore, if an indorsce pay a note on its being dishonoured by the maker, he cannot by a subsequent transfer enable a subsequent indorsee to maintain an action on it against a prior indorser. Blake v. Sewall, 3 Mass. Rep. 556. Cochran v. Wheeler, 7 N. Hamp. 202. Boylton t. Greene, 8 Mass. Rep. 465. But such assignee may maintain an action upon it in the name of the indorsee who transferred the note to him. Boylton v. Greene. See Robertson & Co. v. Williams, 5 Munf. Rep. 381.

A bill of exchange does not lose its negotiable character by being protested; but after protest, may be assigned, or transferred without assignment. 5 Munf. Rep. 388.

And where A. and B. indorsed a promissory note for the accommodation of the defendant, and on its being dishonoured by the defendant, paid, and took it up, and then delivered the note to B. alone, with the original indorsement thereon; it was held, that B. might maintain an action in his own name alone, as indorsee. Havens v. Huntington, 1 Cowen, 387.

A. purchased a note of B., who indorsed it in blank before it became due. A. sold it to C. before due, who charged the indorser by demand and notice, &c., and after it was due, A. repurchased it, and sold it to D. Held, that D might maintain an action on the note against the indorser in his own name. Williams v. Matthews, 3 Cowen, 252. And the case of Boylton v. Greenc, was afterwards overruled in Massachusetts, and it was held, that when a promissory note has been paid, or taken up by the last indorser, its negotiability is not destroyed, but it may be transferred by him to another, and the new indersee may maintain an action in his own name against any of the prior parties. Guild v. Eager, 17 Mass. 615. See Mead v. Small, 2 Greenl. 207.

1. Of the Bills and Notes.

44. Qualified indorsement to avoid personal I. Of the Transfer of liability. "James Atkins, " sans recours."

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

- or, "James Atkins, with intent only to transfer my interest, and not to be subject to any liability in case of non-acceptance or non-pay-
 - 5. Indorsement in full or special. " Pay John Holloway, or order.
 " James Atkins."
- 6. Restrictive indorsement in favour of indorser.
 - " Pay John Holloway for my use(s). " James Atkins."
 - " Pay John Holloway for my account. " James Atkins."

- 7. Restrictive indorsement in favour of indorsee or a particular person only. " Pay to I. S. only.
 - "James Atkins."

" James Atkins."

- or, "The within must be credited to A. B. " James Atkins."
- 8. Indorsement of a foreign bill, dated, stating name of indorsee, and valid, and an besoin, and sans prot(t.
- " Payee La Fayette freres, ou ordre, valeur recue en argent, (or 'en merchandises, or 'en compte.')
 - " A Londre,
- " 18 Jain, A. D, 1831.
 - "Au besoin chez Messrs. -, Paris "Rue -
 - "Retour same Protet."

The forms or modes of indorsing a bill or note depend on the law of the place where such indorsement is made; and the foreign law as to the forms of indorsement prevails here (t). In France an indorsement must be in writing on the bill or note itself(u), or an annexed paper called un allonge, it should be DATED(x), and not ante-dated(y); should state the name of the indorsee(z); and an indorsement in blank is insufficient(a), though it may be

- a son ordre; Pothier, pl. 89.
- (t) Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N. C. 151, infra, note (a).
 - (u) 1 Pardess. 364.
- (x) Id. 349, 350, 365; Pailliet Man. 848; see infra, note (a).
 - (y) 1 Pardess. 366; Pailliet Man. 848.
- (z) Id. ibid. See infra, next note. (a) 1 Pardess. 367; Pailliet Man. 848; and
- in the late case of Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N. C. 151; S. C. 4 Moore & S. 695; 6 C. & P. 25, which was an action by the holder (an Englishman resident in England at the time of receiving the notes) against the maker of two promissory notes made in France, and indorsed there in blank, it was stated in evidence by a French advocate of twenty years' practice, that the indorsement to the plaintiff being in blank, and not according to the formalities required by the Code de Commerce, Articles 186, 137, 138, was invalid and passed no interest to the holder. These articles declare—

Article 136. "La propriété d'une lettre de change se transmet par la voie de l'endossement."

Article 137. "L'endossement est dats. Il exprime la valeur fournie. Il enounce le nom de celni à l'ordre de qui il est passe.''

Article 138. "Si l'endossement n'est pas conforme aux dispositions de l'article precedent, il n'op\re pas le transport; il n'est qu'une procuration.

A verdict was thereupon taken for the defendant, and leave given to move to enter a verdict for the plaintiff. A rule nisi was accordingly obtained, and the court directed that, before cause was shown, the opinion of French

(s) Pour moi paierez à un tel, omitting ou advocates should be taken upon this point, and also upon certain other points which, however, afterwards became unnecessary.

The opinion procured by the plaintiff, as far as it related to the indorsement in blank, was as follows:-

This circumstance was no obstacle to Mr. Trimbey's right of action; for the 138th Article of the Code of Commerce thus expressed: "If the indorsement is not conformable to the requisition of the preceding article, it does not operate as a transfer of interest, but only as a procuration," is only available on behalf of the party making the indorsement in blank against the immediate indorser under such indorsement. If, however, the holder under an indorsement in blank does not proceed against the party immediately indorsing to him, but against the maker of the note, or against the parties who have made regular indorsements, neither the maker nor such parties can avail themselves of the provision of the 138th Article of the Code. Upon this point the jury has been completely led into error.

"BLANCHET." Paris, 21 May, 1833.

The opinion procured by the defendant upon the same point was as follows:-

There is no doubt that, according to the French law, an indorsement in blank is insufficient to transmit regularly the property in a bill of exchange or promissory note. The Code de Commerce is precise on this point. Article 187 says "The indorsement is dated: it expresses the value given for it and states the name of him to whose order it is passed." The Article 188 adds, "If the indorsement is not

4C

01 13 TE

1 (p) 1150 148

هدا برز.

ت از: القريرة إن

M X C

÷ N

25.3

كاسترقها

-2/17

... 75.1

51.2

والميدار

، لا ،

:5

التراد

filled up by any one(b); and it should "state the value received(c), and be I. Of the signed by the party himself, or by a person under a power of attorney(d). Transfer of It is said that an indorsement in any other form does not transfer the interest in the bill, but operates merely as an authority to receive payment(e), and that an indorsement in blank may be disputed or countermanded by the prior indorsers, though not by the acceptor. But it is considered by some, that such an irregular indorsement gives the indorsee the power of making an indorsement sufficient to pass the principal right of action against the acceptor, though not other collateral advantages(f). But other authors insist that it merely creates an agency to receive(g).

In Great Britain and Ireland there is no legislative provision as to the form or requisites of an indorsement, (except in the case of bills under 5l. presently noticed,) and the modes of transfer depend on the terms of the instrument, as whether it be payable to the bearer, or the order of the drawee or payee; in the former case it is transferable by delivery, and in the latter by indorsement, which may be made either in blank, in full, conditional, or restrictive(h). It has been considered, that in all cases, in order to complete for all purposes the legal transfer, and so to operate against an extent of the crown, a delivery of the instrument to the person for whose benefit it is transferred, or to some person on his behalf, is essential(i). But in general be-conformable to the preceding article, it does not operate as a transfer; it is only a procuration."

"VERYOOT."

Paris, 21 Oct. 1933.

After argument and time taken to consider, the court gave judgment for the defendant. Tindal, C. J. in delivering the judgment of the court said, "The promissory note was made by the defendant in France; and it was indorsed in blank by the payee in that country, each of the parties, the maker and the payee, being at the respective times of making and indorsing the note domiciled in that country. The first inquiry therefore is, whether this action could have been maintained by the plaintiff against the defendant in the courts of law in France. Upon this point of French law the opinions of the foreign advocates, which have been taken by consent since the trial of the cause, appear to be contradictory; but as each of them founds his opinion on the Codo de Commerce, Articles, 136, 137, and 138, we feel ourselves at liberty to refer to the text of that Code, in order to form our own judgment on that point; and upon reference thereto, we think the language of the Code is clear and express, that an indorsement in blank, that is, without containing the date, the consideration paid, or the name of the party to whose order it is passed, does not operate as a transfer of the note; it is but a procuration. And the language of the Code being general, and unrestricted by any expressions which confine its operation to questions between the indorsee and the indorser of the note, we think, that if an action had been brought in any of the courts of law in France against the maker of the note, it would have been held not to be maintainable in the name of the plaintiff, but that he should have sued in the name of the last indorser by procuration."

His Lordship then went into the law relative to the construction of foreign contracts, as to which see ante, 167 to 169.

It was said by counsel in the course of the argument for the defendant, that by the laws of every European state except England, an indursement in blank is prohibited.

(b) 1 Pardess. 367.

(c) 1 Pardess. 866; Pailliet Man. 843.

(d) 1 Pardess. 335.(e) Id. Ibid.; see ante, 225, note (a).

(f) See the opinion of Blancket, ante, 225, note (a).

(g) Pailliet Man. 848, note 3. See Pothier, Traiti du Contrat de Change, Chapter 3, No. 41; see ante, 228, note (a).

No. 41; see sate, 225, note (a).

(a) Per Eyre, C. J. in Gibson v. Minet, 1
Hen. Bla. 605, (Chit. j. 479). "Bills of exchange being of several kinds, the title to sue upon any one bill of exchange in particular will depend upon what kind of bill it is, and whether the holder claims title to it as the original payee, or as deriving from the original payee or from the drawer; in the case of a bill drawn payable to the drawer's own order, who is in the nature of an original payee, the title of an original payee is immediate and apparent on the face of the bill. The derivative title is a title by assignment, a title which the common law does not acknowledge, but which exists only by the custom of merchants as it is by force of the custom of merchants, that a bill of exchange is assignable at all of necessity; the custom must direct how it shall be assigned, and in respect of bills payable to order, the custom has directed that the assignment should be made by a writing on the bill, called an indorsement, appointing the contents of that bill to be paid to some third person, and in respect of bills drawn payable to bearer, that the assignment should be constituted by delivery only." And see post, 227, note (x).

(i) The King v. Lampton, 5 Price, 428, (Chit. j. 1016). Therefore, if after the indorsement and before delivery to a partner or other

Digitized by Google

I. Of the Transfer of Bills and Notes.

tween private parties, if an indorsement has been completely made with intent to part with the interest, the mere circumstance of the instrument having been left in *possession of the transferrer would not invalidate the transfer, and, therefore, the allegation in pleading, that a person indersed a bill to another, sufficiently imports a transfer of the entire legal and beneficial interest, without any allegation of delivery(k).

Modes of Transfer. *227] W hen transfera-livery.

When a bill or note is by the terms of it payable to a certain person or bearer, it is transferrable by mere delivery (l)(1); and where a bill is payable ble by Deto the order of a fictitious person, it will operate against all parties aware of the circumstances as a bill payable to bearer, and will be transferable by delivery (m), in favour of any bona fide holder ignorant of the facts, but not otherwise (n).

When transfere ble only by Indorsement

A bill payable to order of a certain person, or to that person or order, or assigns, or to the drawer's order, is transferable in the first instance only by indorsement(o); and if the beneficial interest be transferred, but there has been no indorsement, the action must be brought in the name of the pay-

It has been decided that an indorsement written in pencil is sufficient(q); and if a bill or note be vested in the king he may transfer it by his sign man-

Indorsement how made.

No particular form of words is essential to an indorsement, the mere signature of the party making it is in general sufficient(s); it is the most concise mode of transferring an interest, or creating a contract, that could possibly be invented (t); and although the very term indersement seems to import a writing on the back of the bill or note itself, yet it is clearly established that it may be made on the face of the bill (u), and numerous indorsements may be made on a separate paper called an allonge(3).

agent for the indorsee, the bill be taken under an extent against the indorser, the crown is entitled to the same. Id. ibid.

(k) Churchill v. Gardiner, 7 T. R. 596, (Chit. j. 605); Smith v. M'Clure, 5 East, 476, (Chit. j. 699); post, 236, note (o).
(l) Ante, 226, note (h).

(m) Gibson v. Minet, 1 H. Bla. 600, (Chit. j. 479); Ex parte Royal Burgh of Scotland, 19 Ves 811, (Chit. j. 927); ante, 226, n. (h).

(n) Hunter v. Jeffery, Peake Rep. Addenda, 146, (Chit. j. 587); ante, 158, note (a).
(o) Ante, 226, note (h).

(p) Pearse r. Hirst, 10 Bar. & C. 122; 5 Man. & Ry. 88, (Chit j. 1456); 3 B. & P. 46. (q) Geary v. Physic, 5 B. & C. 334; 7 D.

& R. 653, (Chit. j. 1279).

(r) Lambert v. Taylor, 4 Bar. & C. 188; 6

D. & R. 188, (Chit. j. 1248).
(8) Hill r. Lewis, Holt, 117, (Chit. j. 187); Pinckney v. Hall, Lord Raym. 176, (Chit.) 194); East v. Essington, Ld. Raym. 810. (Chit. j. 222); 12 Mod. 194; Lambert v. Oakes, 12 Mod. 244, (Chit. j. 211); Hodges v. Stewart, 1 Salk. 125, (Chit. j. 184); Lambert v. Pack, 1 Salk. 128, (Chit. j. 211); Lacas r. Haynes, 1 Salk. 130, (Chit. j. 220).

(t) 1 Pardess. 363, 364.
(u) Per cur. in Yarborough v. Bank of England, 16 East, 12, (Chit. j. 961); Rex v.

Bigg, 1 Stra. 18, (Chit. j. 236).

But the mere assignment of an attorney's receipt of a note for collection, pending a suit by the

^{(1) {} See Horton v. Blair, 2 Bai. 545; Myers v. James, Idem, 547; Jackson v. Heath, 1 Bai. 355. }

⁽²⁾ A suit brought upon a note which is not negotiable, must be in the name of the payee, and not of the assignee. Matlack v. Hendrickson, 1 Green's Rep. 263.

So of a note payable to order and transferred by mere delivery, Marion v. M'Rac, Rice's Law Rep. 171. Davis v. Lane. 8 N. Hamp. Rep. 224. }

^{(3) \(\)} An indorsement in these words: "I indorse the within note to J. R. unconditionally," means nothing more than that there should be no restriction, enlargement, or qualification of the endorser's liability, beyond what was to be inferred from the mere fact of endorsement, and does not dispense with the necessity of proving due diligence by demand, and notice. Dowd r. Aaron, 2 Hill, 531.

1.1

, X

100

4.54

 40^{27}

Ç. e., 5

: 11.15 74.3

Part of the second

An indorsement which mentions the name of the person, in whose favour I. Of the it is made, is called an indorsement in full, and an indorsement which does Transfer not, is called an indorsement in blank. After an indorsement in full, the in- and Notes. dorser can only transfer his interest in the bill or note by his own indorse sthly.

ment in writing, but after an indorsement in blank, he may transfer by deliv Modes of ery only, and so long as the indorsement continues in blank it makes the bill Transfer. or note in effect payable to bearer(x); and if the first indorsement on a bill In Full or or note be made in blank, *it will be assignable afterwards by mere delivery, in Blank. notwithstanding subsequent indorsements in full having been made thereon(y), [*228] unless in the cases presently noticed of restrictive indorsements (z).

When a bill or note is payable to the order of the drawer, or of a third Name of person as payee therein named, the name of such drawer or payee must ap-dorser must pear in the first indorsement, whether such indorsement be intended to con-appear in vey to the indorsee the absolute property in the bill or note, or merely to Indorseenable him to receive payment thereof, as agent of such indorser(a)(1).

An indorsement made upon a bill or note thus, "I give this note to A." is a testamentary indorsement, and may be proved (b). But the mere circumstance of the payee putting a number or any private mark on a bill or note will not be equivalent to an indorsement(c). So where a party promised to indorse a bill, and upon the faith of such promise a stranger wrote an indorsement in the name of party, it was considered that such indorsement was invalid (d).

An indorsement by one of several partners in the partnership name will By Partbe sufficient, if the partnership be proved, whereupon an authority may be ner. implied(e); and a transfer in the name of one partner alone will pass the partnership interest, and also charge all the partners, if it be proved that it has been the practice of the firm to indorse for them in the name of one only (f), So if one partner transfer in the name formerly used by the partnership (g).

(x) Peacock v. Rhodes, Doug. 633, (Chit. j. 408). A bill was drawn by the defendant, payable to Ingham or order. Ingham indorsed it in blank, after which it was stolen; the plaintiff took it bonû fide, and paid a valuable consideration for it, and acceptance and payment being refused, gave notice to the defendant, and brought this action. A case was reserved for the opinion of the court, and it was contended that this bill was not to be considered as payable to the bearer, and the plaintiff had no better right upon it than the person of whom he took it; but the court said there was no difference between a note indorsed in blank, and one payable to bearer, and the plaintiff had judgment. Francis v. Mott, at N. P. before Lord Mansfield, cited Doug. 612, was a similar case, and the Attorney General, who was for the defendant, after attempting unsuccessfully to show that the plaintiff knew the bill was obtained unfairly, gave up the cause.

(y) Smith v. Clarke, Peake, 225, (Chit. j.

529); post, 230, note (a).
(z) Post, 232.
(a) Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 432; 3 Esp. 266, (Chit. j. 637).

(b) Per Lord Chancellor, in Chaworth v. Beech, 4 Ves. 585, (Chit. j. 616); but see ante, 74, as to Gifts.

(c) Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 757, (Chit. j. 463, 467); Ex parte Shuttleworth, 8 Ves. 368, (Chit. j. 583).

(d) Moxon v. Pulling, 4 Campb. 51, (Chit. j. 914).

(e) Ante, 57.

(f) South Carolina Bank v. Case, 8 Bar. & Cres. 436; ante, 57, 58.

(g) Williamson v. Johnson, 1 B. & C. 146;
2 D. & R. 281, (Chit. j. 1163). See post, 220 (29).

indorsee against the maker, does not operate as an endorsement of the note to bearer. Dickson v. Cunningham, 1 Martin & Yerg. 203.

A note transferred by the payce to a bank and endorsed by the cushier, thus: "P. H. F., Cashier," was held well endorsed; and, it seems, that in an action by the second indorsees against the payee, the plaintiffs may in such case, if the endorsement is not sufficiently certain, prefix the name of the bank thereto. Folger v. Chase, 18 Pick. 63. An indorsement on a slip of paper attached to the note, held sufficient. Id. }

(1) Where the maker of a note promises to pay A. to the order of B. & C., and B. & C. indorse the note, an action may be maintained against them by A. upon such indorsement. Willis v. Green, 10 Wend. Rep. 516.

1. Of the When the instrument is payable to the order of several persons not in part-Transfer of nership, all must separately sign their names as indorsers (h)(1). Bills and 5thly. Modes of Transfer. By Agent.

Notes.

We have already seen that a bill of exchange may be drawn by an agent, so also it may be indorsed by a person acting in that capacity; in which case he should expressly indorse as agent, as "A. B. agent for E. F." or "E. F. per proc. A. B." or write the name of his principal, otherwise the indorsement would be inoperative (i)(2). In the negotiation of bills, it frequently happens that parties who are employed merely as agents are obliged to indorse them for the purpose of transmitting them to their principals(3), and if such indorsement be written unconditionally, the agent, though he have no interest whatever in the transaction, may be liable to pay the amount of the bill(k); and, therefore, to exempt themselves from responsibility, it is necessary in such case to specify in the indorsement, that he makes it without intending to incur personal responsibility for the payment, which may be effected by adding the words, "sans recours" or, "without recourse to me," or, "I indorse this bill to pass the interest, but I will not be liable to any as a qualified indorsement, and gives notice to subsequent parties taking the [*229] proceeding against me as indorser," either of which expressions *will operate bill that the indorser is acting only as an agent, or at least is not to be sued(l)(4). It seems that an agent indorsing a bill, without showing on the face of it he acted as such, would be personally liable to the indorsee, though the latter knew the indorsement was made in the character of agent(m).

410); ante, 57, 59.

(i) Barlow v. Bishop, 1 East, 432; 3 Esp.

266, (Chit. j. 637); ante, 32, 33.
(k) Le Feuvre v. Lloyd, 5 Taunt. 749, (Chit. j. 915); ante, 33, 34; but see ante, 35,

(1) Goupy v. Harden, 7 Taunt. 159, 162,

(h) Carvick v. Vickery, Doug. 653, (Chit j. 163, (Chit j. 971); post, 235, p. (a); see Eaton v. Bell, 5 Barn. & Ald. 84, (Chit. j. 1115); ante, 34; see forms, ante, 225; 1 Pardess. 372.

(m) Leadbitter v. Farrow, 5 Maule & S. 345, (Chit. j. 970); ante, 83, note (a); and see Sowerby r. Butcher, 2 C. & M. 368; 4 Tyr. 320, S. C.; but see ante, 85, note (i).

One of several joint holders of a bill of exchange may transfer the whole interest by his indorsement. Snelling v. Boyd, 5 Monroe's Rep. 173.

(2) The directors of a bank have power to authorise one of their number to transfer any notes given to the bank; and a blank indorsement by the person so authorized, signed with his name as attorney, will be a good transfer of such notes. Northampton Bank v. Pepoon, 11 Mass. Rep. 289.

Where the maker of a promissory note indorsed the same for his own benefit in the payer.

name, by virtue of a parol authority for that purpose communicated to him by the payee, it was held to be well indorsed, and that the payee was liable upon such indorsement, in the same manner as if it had been made by himself, with his own hand. Turnbull, &c. v. Trout, I Hall's Rep. 336.

It is not necessary that the authority by which one person executes a written agreement for another and in his name, should be in writing also; although such written agreement may not be for the benefit of the party bound by it. Ibid.

The subsequent assent of the defendant to the indorsement, is a waiver, it seems, of any exception which might otherwise be taken to the sufficiency of the authority by which the note was indorsed. Ibid. 347.

An executor appointed under the laws of another state, cannot indorse a promissory note payable to his testator by a citizen of this state, so as to give the indorsee a right of action here in his own name. Steams v. Burnham, 5 Greenleaf's Rep. 261.

And this objection, though in disability of the plaintiff, may be taken under the general issue, in an action by the indorsee against the maker of the note. Ibid.

(3) { Where a bill is sent to an agent, for collection, and merely for that purpose is endorsed in full, on the bill being returned to the owner protested, he may strike out the indersement and bring an action in his own name. A re-indorsement from the agent is not necessary in such a case. Cautauque Co. Bank. v. Davis, 21 Wend. 584. \

(4) Assumpsit lies by assignee of note, assigned without recourse. if assignor made fraudulent representations as to solvency of maker. Harton v. Seales, 1 Minor's Alabama Rep. 166.

 ^{(1) \(\}begin{align*} A negotiable note payable to three persons may be legally transferred by an indorsement. by two of them to the third payee and a stranger; and if this were doubtful, the further indorsement by the third payee to the stranger will cleary pass the property to him. Goddard r. Lyman,

h.r

2 ميرو

hier.

7-15

.. 27 . .

:, ¥*

.,05

. 1

12

1

In the case of bills under five pounds, the indorsement must be attested I. Of the by a subscribing witness, and must mention the name and place of abode of Transfer of Bills and the indorsee, and bear date at or before the making thereof; in short, it Notes. must be made in the form prescribed in the schedule to the statute 17 Geo. 3, c. 30, s. 1, which regulates these indorsements (n).

Modes of

visable to state Resi-

Where the residence of the indorser of a bill is not well known in the When Incommercial world, it would be advisable for him in all cases to mention in dorsement his indorsement the name of the place where he resides, so that the holder witnessed, may without delay be enabled to give him notice of the dishonour of the When adbill(o).

An indorsement in blank is by far the most common, and is made by the Indorser. mere writing of the indorser's name on the back of the bill, without any Indorsemention of the name of the person in whose favour the indorsement is made, ment in and is sufficient to transfer the right of action to any bona fide holder, and blank. so long as it continues in blank makes the bill or note payable to bearer (p) Its effect. (1), and it conveys a joint right of action to as many as agree in jointly suing on the bill, whether they be or not in partnership (q). It has been said that such an indorsement does not transfer the property and interest in the bill to the indorsee without some further act(r); but that it gives him, as well as any other person to whom it is afterwards transferred, the power of constituting himself assignee of the beneficial interest in the bill by filling it up payable to himself, (as by writing over the indorser's name, "pay the contents,") which he may do even at the time of trial(s), and this seems to be still the French law(t). But in this country it is now settled that such an indorsement in itself constitutes a complete and perfect transfer of the interest in the bill, and *without the addition of any other words will vest the [*230] right of action and all other rights in the transferree and subsequent holders, though if the transferree were a mere agent his principal may interfere:

(n) See the general law in France, Poth. Traite du Contrat de Change, part i chap. 8, num. 130; and see Pardessus, 1 toin. 364 to 379, to the same effect.

(o) Bul. Ni. Pri. 276; see Walter v. Haynes, Ry. & Mood. 149, (Chit. j. 1227); and Mann v. Moors, id. 249, (Chit. j. 1260); Clarke v. Sharpe, 3 M. & W. 166; ante, 147, 148; and post, Ch. X s. i. as to the Mode of giving Notice of Non-Payment.

(p) Peacock v. Rhodes, Dougl. 633, (Chit. 408); ante, 227, note (x); Newsome v.

Thornton, 6 East, 21, 22. (q) Per Lord Ellenborough, in Ord v. Portal, 3 Campb. 240, (Chit. j. 861); and see Attwood v. Rattenbury, 6 Moore, 579, (Chit. j. 1131); Rordanz v. Leuch, 1 Stark. R. 446, (Chit. j. 907); post, 241.

(r) Clark v. Pigot, 1 Salk. 126; 12 Mod. 192, (Chit. j. 206); Lambert v. Pack, 1 Salk. 128, (Chit. j. 211); Lucas v. Haynes, id. 130, (Chit. j. 220); Lambert v. Oakes, 12 Mod. 244; Ld. Raym. 448, (Chit. j. 211); Vin. Ab. tit. Bills of Exchange, H. 6; Bul. N. P. 275.
(2) Theed v. Lovel, 2 Stra. 1108, (Chit. j.

209); Lambert v. Oakes, 12 Mod. 244; Ld. Raym. 443, (Chit. j. 211); Lambert v. Pack, 1 Salk. 127, (Chit. j. 211); Lucas v. Haynes, id. 180, (Chit. j. 220); Dehers v. Harriot, 1 Show. 163, (Chit. j. 485); Moore v. Manning, Comyna, 811, (Chit. j. 243); Lucas v. Marsh, Barnes, 453, (Chit. j. 317); Vin. Ab. tit. Bills of Exchange, H. 8; Bul. N. P. 275, 278.

(1) Ante, 225; and see Pardess. 875; Trimbey v. Vignier, 1 Bing. N. C. 151; ante, 225, note (a).

(1) Where a note is payable to bearer, or indorsed in blank, an action on it may be maintained in the name of any person, without the plaintiff's being required to show that he has an interest in it, unless he possesses the note under suspicious circumstances. If any question as to mala fide possessio arise, that is a matter of fact to be raised by the defendant and submitted to a jury.

Ogilby v. Wallace, 2 Hall's Rep. 553.

Where therefore in an action upon a promissory note, payable to order and indorsed in blank, the plaintiff upon the record was a fictitious person, and the judge for that reason nonsuited him at the trial, although the note appeared to be the property of a real party whose name was disclosed; the court directed the nonsuit to be set aside, that the questions of fact connected with the possession and prosecution of the note, might be submitted to a jury. Ibid.

Digitized by Google

Bills and Notes.

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

and a blank indorsement is now considered as prima facie a transfer of the in-Transfer of interest until the contrary be established by showing that it was a mere A blank indorsement may be converted into a special one deposit(u)(1). by the holder's inserting above it the words, "pay the contents to A. B.;" but such holder by writing those words, and transferring the bill to the party named in the indorsement, without writing his own name as an indorser, will not be liable on the bill(x). If the indorsee fill up the blank indorsement, and make it payable to himself, it is said that the action cannot be brought in the name of the indorser, which otherwise it may be(y).

(u) Ex parte Twogood, 19 Ves. 229, 232,

(Chit. j. 871).
(x) Vincent and others v. Horlock and others, 1 Campb. 442, (Chit. j. 757). Declaration against defendants as indorsers of bill drawn by Jacks payable to his own order, indorsed by him to defendants, and by them to plaintiffs. The fact was, that Jacks, the drawer and payee of the bill, indorsed it in blank to Horlock and Co., and that Caleb Jones, one of the partners in that house, wrote over Jacks' signature " pay the contents to Vincent and Co." without signing his own name or that of his firm. Lord Ellenborough-" I am clearly of opinion, that this is not an indorsement by the defendants, for such a purpose the name of the party must appear written, with intent to indorse. We see these words, 'pay the contents to such a one, We see written over a blank indorsement every day, without any thought of contracting an obligation, and no obligation is thereby contracted. When a bill is indorsed by the payee in blank, a power is given to the indorsee of specially appointing the payment to be made to a particular individual, and what he does in the exercise of this power is only expressio corum quæ tacile insunt. This is a sufficient indorsement to the plaintiffs, but not by the defendants." Plaintiffs nonsuited. See also Ex parte Isbester, 1 Rose,

(y) A full or special indorsement contains in itself a transfer of the interest in the bill to the person named in such indorsement, Poth. Traite du Contrat de Change, part 1, chap. 2, s. 23, 24. But a bare indorsement, without other words purporting an assignment, does not work an alteration of the property. Per cur. Lucas

v. Haynes, Salk. 130, (Chit. j. 220). Clark v. Pigot, 12 Mod. 193; 1 Salk. 126, (Chit. j. 206). Clark having a bill of exchange payable to him or order, put his name upon it, leaving a vacant space above, and sent it to J. S. his friend, who got it accepted; but the money not being paid, Clark brought assumpsit against the acceptor; and it was objected that the action should have been brought by J. S. But per Holt, C. J .- " J. S. had it in his power to act either as servant or assignee. If he had filled up the blank space, making the bill payable to him, as he might have done if he would, that would have witnessed his election to have received it as indorsec. The property of the bill would have been transferred to him, and he only could have maintained this action against the acceptor; but since he has not filled up the blank space, his intention is presumed to act as servant only to Clark, whose name was put there; that on payment thereof, a receipt for the money might be written over his name, and therefore the action is maintainable by Clark."

From the foregoing case it appears that a blank indorsement is an equivocal act, and that it is in the power of the party to whom the bill is delivered to make what use of it he please of such an indorsement. He may either use it as an acquittance to discharge the bill, or as an assignment to charge the indorser; Selw. Ni. Pri 9th edit. 342, 343.

" Promissory notes and bills of exchange are frequently indorsed in this manuer 'pay the money to my use,' in order to prevent their being filled up with such an indorsement as passes the interest." Per Lord Hardwicke, Chan.

in Snee v. Prescott, 1 Atk. 249.

"A bill, though once negotiable, is certainly capable of being restrained. I remember this being determined on argument. A blank indorsement makes the bill payable to bearer; but by a special indorsement the holder may stop the negotiability." Per Lord Mansfield, C. J. Archer r. Bank of England, Dougl. 659.

(1) The holder of a negotiable note by blank indorsement, may maintain a suit on it without filling up the same to himself. Grifforn v. Jacobs, 2 Miller's Louis. Rep. 192.

A blank indersement by A., of the promissory note of B., payable to C. or order, does not imply a valuable consideration from C. to A., and an engagement by A., that B. was of ability to pay, and should pay such note. Wylie v. Lewis, 7 Conn. Rep. 301.

A blank indorsement of a bill passes all the interest therein to the indorsees in succession, discharged of all obligations which do not appear on the face of the bill. Wilkinson v. Nicklin, 2 Dall. Rep. 296. Where a negotiable note is indorsed in blank, the holder may fill it up with any name he pleases, and the person whose name is inserted will be deemed rightfully intitled to sue. Tyler v. Binney, 7 Mass. Rep. 479. Lovell r. Everton, 11 John. Rep. 52. See Norris v. Badger, 6 Cowen, 449. Dugan v. United States, 3 Wheat. 173, 183.

A bill of exchange payable to the order of the drawer, and not endorsed, may be assigned for value, by delivery only; and an action will lie against the acceptor for the benefit of the assignee, in the name of the drawer, as on a bill payable to himself. Titcomb r. Thomas, 5 Greenl 282. And if in fact the indorsee has no interest, he will be deemed a trustee for the benefit of parties A.C

الزوماج

. :

,,

164 10

4

A blank indorsement makes a bill transferable by the indorsee and every 1. Of the subsequent holder by mere delivery (z); and when the first indorsement has Transfer of Bills and been in blank, the bill or note, as against the payee, the drawer, and acceptor, Notes. is afterwards assignable by mere delivery, notwithstanding it may have upon it subsequent indorsements in full, because a holder, by delivery, may declare Modes of and recover as the indorsee of the payee, and strike out all the subsequent Transfer. indorsements, whether special or not(a)(1). Nor will an irregularity in the indorsement subsequent *to that of the plaintiff, as by mis-spelling the name [*231] of one of the parties to whom the plaintiff as indorsee had specially indorsed the bill, prevent the plaintiff, as such indorsee, from suing his immediate indorser, provided the bill has been regularly presented and due notice of disbonour given (b). But it should seem, that if there be a subsequent restrictive indorsement upon the instrument, any person taking it receives it subject to its terms(c).

Such being the effect of a first indorsement in blank, it has been observed,

(z) Peacock v. Rhodes, Dougl. 633, (Chit. j. 408); Bayl. 5th ed. 123, n. 12, ante, 227, $\mathbf{n}.(x).$

(a) Smith v. Clarke, Peake R. 225; 1 Esp. R. 180, (Chit. j. 529); Anonymous, 12 Mod. 345, S. P. (Chit. j. 212). A bill was indorsed in blank by the payee, and after some other in-dorsements was indorsed to Jackson or order. Jackson sent it to Muir and Atkinson, but did not indorse it, and Muir and Atkinson discounted it with the plaintiffs; the plaintiffs struck out all the indorsements except the first, which con-tinued in blank. This was an action against the acceptor, and it was objected that the plaintiffs could not recover, without an indorsement by Jackson, but Lord Kenyon held otherwise, and the plaintiffs recovered. The plaintiffs afterwards proved that Jackson desired Muir and Atkinson to discount this bill, but Lord Kenyon thought the plaintiff's case made out without this evidence. Quære, why is not such special indorsement to be considered as notice to any holder that the bill has been appropriated to the use of the special indorsees only?

Chaters v. Bell, 4 Esp. Rep. 120, (Chit. j. 636). The declaration stated that a bill was drawn payable to Curry, by him indorsed to de-fendant, and by the defendant to the plaintiff. There were in fact several intermediate indorsoments between Curry and the defendant, which were omitted in the declaration, and it was contended that the plaintiff should have either declared as the immediate indorsee of the payee, or have stated all the indorsements. But Lord Ellenborough overruled the objection. See also Waynham v. Bend, 1 Camp. 175, (Chit. j. 746); and Critchlow v. Parry, 2 Camp. 182, (Chit. j. 774).
(b) Leonard v. Wilson, 2 C. & M. 589; 4

Tyr. 415, S. C. post, 236, note (i).

(c) See Sigourney v. Lloyd, S Bar. & C. 622; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Younge & J. 220, (Chit. j. 1412); post, 232, note (n), and 233, note (p).

having the logal interest. The interest of one of several joint assignees of such bill may be transferred to the others by delivery of the bill, and payment by them of his share of the money due upon it. Id. Ibid. And where a person fairly and without fraud becomes possessed of a negotiable note indorsed in blank, it has been held that he may maintain an action thereon, although it has not been legally transferred to him. Little v. O'Brien, 9 Muss. Rep. 423. Bowman v. Wood, 15 Mass. Rep. 534.

And the right to strike out a special as well as a general indorsement on a note has been recognized in Pennsylvania. Morris v. Foreman, 1 Dall. Rep. 193; and see Thomson v. Robertson, 4 John. Rep. 27.

Where a bill is indorsed and sent to an agent to collect, although the indorsement be general, yet the principal may at any time countermand the authority, and thereby prevent the agent from a recovery against the acceptor. Barker v. Prentiss, 6 Mass. Rep. 430. But it will be otherwise if the agent has a lien. Ibid.

Where the holder of a note indorsed in blank fills up the blank by directing payment to be made to another merely for collection, and the agent returns the note unpaid to the holder, be may strike out the transfer and make the note payable to himself. Bank of Utica v. Smith, 18 Johns. 230.

A bill with an endorsement in blank, becomes the property of any one to whom it is transferred by delivery, and the party to whom the bill is delivered and each subsequent bolder may unite an assignment to himself or any other person over the signature of the indorser in blank. And the holder of any bill so endorsed in blank may sue the same in his own name. Cope s. Daniel, 9 Dans, 415. See also U. S. Bank v. Hammond, 2 Rev. 415; M'Donald v. Bailey, 14 Maine, 101. Denton v. Duplessis, 12 Louis. Rep. 83; Mourain v. Devall, id. 93; Kennon v. M'Rea, 7 Port. 175. And the words "eventually accountable" immediately preceding the name of the endorser, do not restrict or qualify the transfer. M'Donald v. Bailey, ut supra. }
(1) { Gorden v. Nelson, 16 Louis. Rep. 321; Haie v. Bailey, Id. 213; Bullock v. Nally, 12

Id. 619; Wood v. M'Claurin, 2 Rev. 377; Banks v. Rander, 13 Louis. Rep. 274 }

34

I. Of the Bills and Notes.

5thly.
Modes of Transfer.

that it is advisable for the indorsee in some cases to fill it up so as to make it an indorsement in full, or to insert restrictive words, in order to avoid the risk which he may run, in case the bill be lost, of its getting into the hands of a bond fide holder(d)(1); or of its being fraudulently pledged or disposed of (e). When bills, &c. are deposited in a banker's hands, and entered short in his books, or are in his possession, in case he becomes bankrupt, his assignees will not be entitled thereto, though such deposit enables the banker to pass the interest to a third person taking it bona fide for a valuable consideration (f).

An indorsement in full, or special indorsement, is so called because the Special or indorser not only writes his name, or that of his firm, but expresses therein in Full. in whose favour the indorsement is made, as, " pay the contents to Mr. A. B." This indorsement, it is said, contains in itself a complete, regular, and legal transfer of the interest in the bill to the person named in the indorsement(g), and makes the bill transferrable in the next instance only by the indorsement of A. B. (h); though afterwards, if A. B. make a blank indorsement(i), it is transferrable by delivery as well as by indorsement. As the negotiability of a bill, originally transferrable, can only be restrained by > express restrictive words, the words "or order" need not be inserted in a full or any indorsement, to give the bill a subsequent negotiable quality(k).

(d) Beawes, pl. 179.

(e) Treuttel v. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100.

(f) Zinck v. Walker, 2 Bla. Rep. 1156; Bolton v. Puller, 1 Bos. & Pul. 547; Hallie v. Smith, id. 566; Collins v. Martin, id. 648; Giles v. Perkins, 9 East, 12; Carstairs v. Bates, 3 Campb. 301; Treuttel v. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100; 1 Moore, 543, (Chit. j. 1002); Thompson r. Giles, 2 Bar. & Cress. 422); 8 Dow. & Ry. 733, (Chit. j. 1190); and see post, Part II. Ch. VIII. s. vi.—Bankruptcy.

(g) Poth. pl. 22, 23, 24. The French law is so; ante, 225.

(h) Potts v. Reed, 6 Esp. Rep. 57, (Chit. j. 731); post, 233, note (q); and see the cases infra, note (k).

(i) In France there can be no blank indorsement, at least such indorsement will only operate as a procuration; ante, 225, note (a)

(k) Moor v. Manning, Com. Rep. 311, (Chit. j. 243); 1 Selw. 344, 9th Edit. A note was drawn by the defendant, payable to Statham or order, Statham indorsed it to Witherhead, but did not add " or to his order," Witherhead indorsed it to the plaintiff. The defendant contended that there was no express words to authorize Witherhead to assign it, he had no such power; but the whole court resolved that as the bill was at first assignable by Statham, as being payable to him or order, and all Statham's in-terest was transferred to Witherhead, the right of assigning it was transferred also, and the plaintiff had judgment.

Acheson v. Fountain, 1 Stra. 557; Select Cases, 126, (Chit. j. 252). Upon a case made at Niei Prius, coram Pratt, C. J. it appeared that the plaintiff had declared on an indorsement made by A. whereby he appointed the payment to be to B. or order, and upon producing the bill in evidence, it appeared to be payable to A. or order, but the indorsement was in these words, "Pay the contents to B." and therefore it was objected that the indorsement not being to order did not agree with the plaintiff's declaration; but upon consideration the whole court were of opinion that it was well enough, that being the legal import of the in-dorsement, and that the plaintiff might upon this have indorsed it over to another, who would be the proper order of the first indorser.

Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr. 1216; and 1 Bla. R. 295, (Chit. j. 359). Where a foreign bill of exchange was drawn by A. on B. payable to C. or order, and accepted by B., and C. indorsed it to D. without adding the words "or order," and D. afterwards indorsed it to E. who brought an action against B. the acceptor, for non-payment, evidence having been adducted at the trial, of the usage of merchants with respect to indorsements of bills payable to se-der, where the words " or order" were omitted in the indersement, which evidence was contradictory, some merchants declaring that the omission did not make any difference, others that it restrained the negotiability of the bill, and made it payable to the indorsee only, the jury found a verdict for the defendant. On a motion for a new trial, on the ground that evidence of the usage ought not to have been allowed, that the custom of merchants was part of the law of England, and that the law of England was fully settled on this point, the court were unanimous that a new trial ought to be granted, and Lord Mansfield, C. J. said he was clear the evidence ought not to have been admitted, for the law was fully settled in the ^{(1) {} It seems that a bona fide holder may, in all cases, write a bill of exchange over the name of the indorser, or fill up the blank in any form consistent with the intent of the parties. Deen v. Hall, 17 Wend. 214. }

11

いたは選

12.72

- JH 🎜

13.33

S 20 25

r vi

J 19(8)

4 X 1 1

1 KU 2 .

mage 🏋 est.∦

14. 47

ed 13

13.78° Et

(فندا ا ر

أستحاثها

44.72.75

1

ا مد استعرب ام

£ 191 75

2745 271

Win d

رُ بَرِي

y 310

لاداء

الله 21 (100 H 21 (37)

1

ا الأوابيا

1-4-1-4-1-4-1-4-

m 11 .

A PUT

, es 1 يحبا إبد للامس

, 7¹²

ال بديد

, at 16

4

1.

.

1 y p N si

If a bill be indorsed "pay to the order of A. B." he *may himself sue upon I. Of the it, and this without averring that he made no order (l)(1).

The payee or indorsee having the absolute property in the bill, and the 5thly. right of disposing thereof, has the power of limiting the payment to whom he Modes of pleases(m); and consequently he may make a restrictive indorsement; thus Transfer. he may stop the currency of the bill, by giving a bare authority to receive Restrictive the money, as by an indorsement requesting the drawee to " pay to A. for Indorsemy use," or "to A. B. or order, for my use," or "to I. S. only," or for the use of "my account," or "the within must be credited to A. B." which modes pre- a particular vent a blank indorsement from being filled up by the indorsee, so as to con- Party only. vey any interest in the bill to himself (n), and from making a transfer of the case of Moor v. Manning, and Acheson v. Fountain, (supra). The other judges concurred, and Denison, J. said that there was not any instance of a restrictive limitation, where a bill was originally made payable to A. or or-der; that he had never heard of an indorsement to A. only, and that in general the indorse-ment followed the nature of the thing indorsed. And see per Tindal, C. J. in Cunliffe v. Whitehead, 8 Bing. N. C. 828; 5 Scott, 31, S. C.

Bills and Notes.

(1) Fisher v. Pomfret, Carth. 403, (Chit. j. 203).

(m) Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr.

1218, supra, note (k).

(n) Sigourney v. Lloyd, 8 B. & C. 622; 2 M. & Ry. 58, S. C., affirmed on error in Exchequer Chamber, 5 Bingh. 525; 3 Younge & J. 220, (Chit. j. 1412); post, 233, note (p). Per Wilmot, J. in Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr. 1227; Bla. Rep. 299, (Chit. j. 358); Treuttel c. Barandon, 8 Taunt. 100; 1 Moor, e 543, (Chit. j. 1002); and per Lord Hardwicke, in Snee v. Prescott, 1 Atk. 249: "Bills and notes are frequently indorsed in this manner, 'pray pay the money to my use,' in order to prevent their being filled up with such an indorsement as passes the interest." And see Poth. pl. 89, 90.

Archer v. Bank of England, Dougl. 615, 637. A bill was drawn by the plaintiffs upon Claus Heide and Co. payable to Jens Mæstue or Mæstue indorsed it to this effect, the within must be credited to Captain M. L. Dahl, value in account, Christiana, 17th Jan. 1778, Jens Mæstue," and sent it to Claus Heide and Co. who credited Dabl for the amount, and gave notice to Dahl and the plaintiffs that they had done so; an indorsement by Dahl was afterwards forged upon the bill, and the Bank discounted it. Claus Heide and Co. having become insolvent, Fulgberg paid it for the bonour of the plaintiffs, and upon the ground that the indorsement had restrained the negotiability of the bill, they brought an action for money had and received against the Bank; Lord Mansfield directed a nonsuit, but upon a rule to show cause why there should not be a new trial, and cause shown, Lord Mansfield, Willes and Ashhurst, Justices, thought the indorsement restrictive, and that Dahl himself could not have indorsed it, and that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover; but Buller, J. thought otherwise; upon which Lord Mansfield said, the whole turned on the question, whether the bill continued negotiable, and if they altered their opinion they would mention the case again; but it never was mentioned afterwards, and upon a new trial, Lord Mansfield directed the jury to find for the plaintiffs, which they did.

Where the payee of a bill indorsed on it " should the within exchange not be accepted and paid agreeably to its contents, I hereby engage to pay the holder in addition to the principal 20 per cent. damages," it was held that a bona fide holder might insert above such stipulation, a direction to pay the contents to his order for the value received, for the indorsement was to be considered as general. Blakeley v. Grant, 6 Mass Rep. 386. But where the payee of a negotiable note payable in six months, indorsed on it "I guarantee the payment of the within note in 18 months, if it cannot be collected of the promissor before that time;" it was held that no person could entitle himself as holder to maintain an action on the guaranty, except the original ⁽¹⁾ The same doctrines have been recognized in the United States. A negotiable note indorsed in blank, or by a direction to pay the contents to A., omitting the words " or order," is further negotiable by the holder under such indorsement, but an indorsement "pay the contents to my wee," or " to the use of a third person," or " carry this bill to the credit of a third person," is not an assignment of the security, but is only an authority to pay the money agreeably to the direction of the indorsement. But as to an indorsement "pay the contents to A. B. only," whether it is only an authority to A. B. to receive the money for the use of the indorser or for his own use, if made for value received, or whether in this last case the restriction is not void, and A. B. may further negotiate it, seems not to be settled. If the property be vested in A. B. perhaps he will hold it with its negotiable quality notwithstanding the restriction. Per curiam. Rice v. Stearnes, 3 Mass. Rep. 225. Wilson v. Holmes, 5 Mass. Rep. 543. But an indorsement "to pay to A. or order at his own risk," does not restrain the negotiability of the note. Ibid. Russell v. Ball, 2 John. Rep. 50. Nor an indorsement "We assign this note to A. B. Wilson v. Codman's Executors, 3 Cranch, 193. Barker v. Prentiss, 6 without recourse.'' Mass. Rep. 430.

Bills and Notes.

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

bill, &c.; and when *made for the use of the indorser, is revocable in its na-Transfer of ture by him, like a power of attorney (o). All the cases on this subject were examined and considered in the Court of King's Beuch in a late case, and the judgment of that court was affirmed in the Exchequer Chamber. A bill of exchange drawn in America on a house in London, payable to order, was indorsed by the payee generally (technically called in blank) to the plaintiff, and by him in these words, "Pay Samuel Williams, Esquire, of London, or his order for my use." Williams applied to his bankers to discount the bill, and they, without making any inquiry, did so, and applied the proceeds to the use of Williams: and it was decided, that the indorsement was restrictive, that the property in the bill remained in the plaintiff, and that he was entitled to recover the amount of the bill from the bankers(p). But an indorsement of a bill of exchange in these words, " Pay the contents on the bill to A. B., being part of the consideration in a certain deed of assignment executed by the said A. B. to the indorsers and others," is not a restrictive indorsement (q).

> (o) Poth. pl. 168; Mar. 72, acc.; Beawes, pl. 219, contra. See post, as to the Liability of Indorser.

(p) Sigourney v. Lloyd and others, 8 B. & C. 622; 3 M. & Ry. 58, (Chit j. 1412); where the court examined all the cases. The case was turned into a special verdict, and on writ of error in the Exchequer Chamber, 3 Younge & J. 229; 5 Bing. 525; 3 Moore & P. 229, S. C.; the judgment of the Court of King's Bench was affirmed, and Best, C. J. delivered the judgment of the court as follows; "The indorsement upon this bill of exchange is special, and restricts its negotiability. The object of the indorser was to prevent the money received in respect of the bill being applied to the use of any person other than himself. Whoever, therefore, received the money, received it for the use of the indorser; and as the plaintiffs in error took it upon the indorsement of Williams, and upon his account, it being indorsed to him for a special purpose, to receive the money merely, and hold it to the use of indorser, he could not confer a greater interest than the indorser had given him, which was a mere trust, and they paid the money in their own wrong. The trust was apparent upon the face of the instrument itself. No inconvenience can arise to the commercial interests of the country, by limiting the operation of an indorsement so expressed; the only effect will be, to make individuals more cautious in their transactions in future. Unless the words 'for my use' have no meaning, it is obvious, upon looking at the indorsement, that some inquiry was necessary; and if a meaning can be found for them, the court must apply them in a manner in which they were intended to operate. It is said, that by holding the indorsement to be restrictive, we shall render the words 'or order' inoperative.

But they are not useless, for had they not been inserted, Williams must have attended personally to receive the money; and being inserted, they obviate that inconvenience, and enable him to appoint an agent to receive and give a discharge for the amount. It was, notwithstanding, the intention of the indorser, that the agent appointed under that authority should receive the money for his use. This intention has been defeated by the plaintiffs in error, who have received the money for the money ceived the money, but have not paid it over according to the directions of the indorse-ment. We are therefore of opinion, that the defendant in error is entitled to recover, and that the judgment of the court below should be affirmed.

In France also, the holder may, by a restrictive indorsement, prevent the indorsee from transferring the bills, as thus:—" Pourmei paierez à un tel," omitting the words "ou à son ordre." Poth. pl. 89.

(q) Potts v. Reed, 6 Esp. Rep. 57, (Chit. j. 731). Per Lord Ellenborough, "This is not a restrictive indorsement, and as to the other words, they are surplusage, and could not affect the subsequent negotiability of the bill. If the bill was payable out of a particular fand, it would affect the negotiability of the bill, but what was here mentioned was not the fund out of which the bill was to be paid, but the consideration for which the bill was given, which the holder had nothing to do with. Mr. Gamon, the defendant, was here personally liable, though the liability might have been created by the fund mentioned in the indorsement, as arising from the fund so designated by the indorsement; and whenever a party is personally liable, a bill is negotiable. It is, however, necessary to prove Pugh's indorsement, as his name is mentioned in the indorsement, but party to the guaranty, or a person claiming with the subsequent privity and assent of the payer. It seems to have been the opinion of the court that even admitting that the indorsement was a transfer of the note, yet it did not make the guaranty negotiable. Tyler v. Binney, 7 Mass. Rep. 479. See also Williams v. Granger, 4 Day's Rep. 444.

The indorsement of a promissory note to A. B. or order, for value received, transfers the legal title in the note to the indorsee, which cannot be divested, except by cancelling the indorsement, or indorsing it again. Burdick v. Green, 15 Johns. Rep. 247.

1.2

. 9

3.

,...:

1.0

J. 47 70

12 20

-121°1

علاء . 21.12.25

العملة أنات

122 mg 1

CEXT والنزار

37

32 B . مذوي

ali je ti

. I

1.53.1

5 0

150,5

y 5

ji H

, 3'

, g

, y

. .

g ir

.ș.1

P

٠,

*So the merely writing the name of a banker across a check does not I. Of the necessarily denote that the check or money belongs to the payee, so as to Transfer of entitle him alone to receive the amount, but is according to the custom of Notes. trade merely to denote and secure that the payment shall be made to some banker, and the holder may substitute any banker he pleases(r).

Modes of

It was once thought, that although the indorser might make a restrictive Transfer. indorsement, when he intended only to give a bare authority to his agent to receive payment, yet that he could not, when the indorsement was intended to transfer the interest in the bill to the indorsee, by any act preclude him from assigning it over to another person, because, as it was said, the assignee purchases it for a valuable consideration, and therefore takes it with all its privileges, qualities and advantages, the chief of which is its negotia-In a case(t) before Lord Kenyon, he doubted whether a bill indorsed in blank by A. to B. can be restrained in its negotiability by B.'s writing over A.'s indorsement "Pay the contents to C. or order." In a note, the Reporter has collected the cases showing that in general a restrictive indorsement may be made by a subsequent holder after an indorsement in blank; but observes, that the recent cases do not establish the right of an indorsee in blank to write over the indorser's name, but only that a restrictive indorsement may be made below an indorsement. But the case of Clark v. Pigot(u) seems to be an authority to prove that this may be done. It has long been settled on the above principle, that any indorser may restrain the negotiability of a bill by using express words to that effect, as by indorsing it, "payable to J. S. only;" or by indorsing it "the within must be credited to J. S. (x)" or by any other words clearly demonstrating his intention to make a restrictive and limited indorsement. But a mere omission in the indorsement of the words "or order," will not, in any case, prevent a bill from being negotiable ad infinitum(y)(1).

though so made payable to him by name, there is nothing to restrain its future negotiability: in the case cited, the bill was to be credited to Dahl's account; no such restriction or direction was here." See also Haussoulier v. Hartsink, 7 T. R. 783, S. P., (Chit. j. 613).

(r) Stewart v. Lee, Mood. & M. 158, (Chit. . 1378). In that case C. drew a check on his banker, payable to A. and B. assignees of C. or bearer, and wrote the name of their banker across it; and B. who had another private account with the banker, delivered the check into that separate account: it was held, that the bankers were justified in applying it to that separate account, the drawer's writing the name of the bankers of the joint payees of the check across it not being, according to the custom of trade, information to the bankers that the money was that of the payees jointly; and it seems to have been the opinion of the court, that the custom of writing the name of a banker across a check is only for the purpose of securing that the payment shall be made to some banker, not to the banker originally named; and that the holder may substitute another for him, and this even when the name of the particular banker is originally written, not by himself, but by the drawer. Id. ibid.

(s) Edie v. East India Company, 2 Burr. 1226; 1 Bla. Rep. 295, (Chit. j. 358).

(t) Bland v. Ryan, Peake Addend. 39, (Chit. j. 547).

(u) Clark v. Pigot, Salk. 126; 12 Mod. 192, (Chit. j. 206).

(x) Archer v. Bank of England, Dougl. 637; ante, 232, note (n).

(y) See ante, 231, note (k); Cunliffe v. Whitehead, 3 Bing. N. C. 828: 5 Scott, 31, S.

The indorsee has no right to fill a blank indorsement with any special contract or warranty, but only with an order to pay the contents to him for value received. Adis & al. v. Johnson, I Verm. Rep. 136.

⁽¹⁾ The bank, as the holder of a note indorsed in blank, having the legal interest in it, may sue to the use of the last indorser in blank, who is entitled to the equitable interest, and recover the amount from the payee or any of the previous indorsers. Louisiana Bank v. Roberts, 4 Miller's Louis. Rep. 530.

A bona fide holder of a bill or a promissory note in which the name of the payee has not been inserted, has a right to fill up the blank left for the payee's name with that of an indorser, or he may subject the inderser in a count upon his indersement, or as the drawer of a bill of exchange upon the maker. Lawrence v. Mabry, 2 Devoreux's Rep. 478.

I. Of the Bills and Notes.

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

It is competent also to an indorser to make only a conditional transfer of Transfer of the bill; and therefore if the payee of a bill annexes a condition to his indorsement before acceptance, the drawee, who afterwards accepts it, is bound by that condition; and if the terms of it be not performed, the property in the bill reverts to the payee, and he may recover the sum payable in an action against the acceptor (z)(1).

Conditional Indorsement.

Qualified

Indorsement, to ability.

*A payee or indorsee of a bill may also make a qualified indorsement, so as to transfer the interest in the bill to the indorsee, and enable him to sue thereon, without rendering the indorser personally responsible for the payment of the bill, as by adding under his indorsement "sans recours," or any equivalent words; and this is the proper mode of indorsing a bill where prevent Inan agent indorses a bill on behalf of his principal, and it is not intended that dorser's lihe shall be personally liable (a)(2). And this qualified mode of indorsing is [*235] allowed in France(b) and in America(c).

An indorsement for a Part.

Although an indorsement may be made in blank, in full, or restrictive, yet it cannot, after acceptance, be made for less than the full sum appearing

(z) Robertson v. Kensington, 4 Taunt. 30, (Chit. j. 884). Payee against the acceptors of a bill of exchange; when the bill was presented for acceptance, it had the following indorsement upon it, "Eddinburg, 19th November, 1808, pay the within sum to Messrs. Clarke and Ross, or order, upon my name appearing in the gazette as ensign in any regiment of the line between the 1st and 64th, if within two months from this date; P. Robertson." The bill had several subsequent indorsements, and when due was paid by the acceptors to the holder; the plaintiff's name had never appeared in the gazette as eneign in any regiment of the line; the plaintiff had a verdict, subject to a case reserved for the opinion of the court. The case was afterwards argued, and for the plaintiff it was contended that it was competent for him, by this special indorsement, to make only a conditional transfer of the absolute interest in the bill, and the defendants, by subsequently accepting the bill, became parties to that conditional transfer; that as the condition was not performed, the transfer was defeated, and they became liable, at the expiration of two months, to pay the plaintiff, to whom the property reverted, the contents of the bill, of which none of the indorsers could enforce payment against the acceptors, because they had all received the bill, subject to the condition, and were bound thereby. The court gave judgment for the plaintiff. See also Savage v. Aldren, 2

Stark. 232, (Chit. j. 1007).

(a) Goupy v. Harden, 7 Taunt. 160, 161; 2 Marsh. 454; Holt, 842, (Chit. j. 971). Evidence was given that when agents indorse fo-reign bills, for the mere purpose of transmitting them, without intending to incur responsibility for the payment, it is their practice to add to the indorsement the words " sans recours." Dallas, J. observed, "The defendants might have specially indorsed this bill sans recours, if they had thought fit so to do, but they have not done it, and therefore they are personally liable;" see also ante, 34, n. (d).

The mode of making a qualified indorsement may be thus: "I hereby indorse, assign, and transfer, my right and interest in this bill to C. D. or order, but with this express condition, that I shall not be liable to the said C. D. or any holder, for the acceptance or payment of such bill, A. B.," or the form may be as adopted in France, by the indorser writing his name, and subscribing "without recourse to me." Any person taking a bill or note, with notice of such qualification in the indorsement, must be considered as engaging not to sue the inderser, and the engagement is binding; Pike v. Street, Mood. & M. 226, (Chit. j. 1410); see ante, 193, note (u).

(b) 2 Pardess 378.

(c) Rue v. Stearns, 3 Mass. Rep. 225; Welsh v. Lendo, 7 Cranch, 159; Bayl. 95, Amer. edit.

(1) { An indorsement on the back of a promissory note, making its payment depend on a contingency, does not affect its negotiability. Its only effect subsequent holders. Tappen v. Elv, 15 Wend. 362. Its only effect is to give notice of the consideration to

A blank indorsement does not absolutely transfer the property in a note. Either indorser or indorsee may sue upon it. Or the indorser may turn it into a special indorsement and then he only can sue. Hartwell v. M'Beth, Har. Del. Rep. 363. And see Perkins v. Catlin, 11 Con.

⁽²⁾ If the holder of a bill, subject to certain duties and obligations in reference to the law of the place where the bill is drawn or is made payable, wishes to impose the same obligations upon his indorsee, it behoves him to make a special indorsement, or the indorsee will incur no other obligations than what are imposed by the law merchant of the place where the indersement is made. Aymar v. Sheldon, 12 Wend. Rep. 489.

'nĽ

14 700

y (, + χ2'

· - - 11

100

- 2

, 5023

R5"

مر . تاریخ

ومراء وي

(m) #

, · · ·

1300

, : •

: 15"

. 27

al .

. •'ı'

فوي

ر رو بر

, y

5 to be due upon the bill or note transferred (d)(1), because a personal contract I. Of the cannot be apportioned, and it would be making the acceptor liable to two Transfer of Bills and actions, when, by the contract raised by his acceptance, he intended to sub- Notes. ject himself only to one; but when a bill has been indorsed, before accept- 5thly. ance, for part of the sum for which it is drawn, it has been said that the ac- Modes of ceptor may, by his acceptance after this indorsement, become liable to two Transfer. actions(e); and when the drawer or indorser of a bill has paid part, it may Of numebe indersed over for the residue (f).

dorsements on an al-

There is no legal limit to the number of indorsements; and if there be longe. more than can be distinctly written on the back of the bill itself, a paper may [*236] be annexed, called in France an allonge, on which the latter indorsements Of adding "au bestmay be written, and which is considered part of the bill itself(g), and re-in," &c. quires no additional stamp. or " retour sans pro-tet."

It seems that an indorser like a drawer may, in order to avoid the expense and inconvenience resulting from a return of the bill, direct that the holder, in case the bill shall be dishonoured, shall apply to a named third person for payment, and which is effected by adding, immediately under the indorsement, "au besoin chez Messrs. --- (h)." But it appears, at least in the case of an inland bill, that such direction casts no obligation on the holder to present the bill to the referee in case of need(i); although we have seen infra, note (f).

(e) Pownal Ferrand, 6 Bar. & C. 439; Beawes, pl. 286. Sed quære, see Goupy v. Harden, 7 Taunt. 160, 161; 2 Marsh. 454; Holt, 34?, S. C.; supra, note (a). In America, where a bill was first indorsed to the plaintiff as to part, and afterwards another indorsement was made to him of the residue, it was held that the two bad transfers did not make one good one; Hughes v. Kiddall, Bayl. 5th edit. 324; Bayl. 72, Amer. edit.

(f) Pownal v. Ferrand, 6 Bar. & C. 439; 9 D. & Ry. 603, (Chit. j. 1327); Johnson v. Kennion, 2 Wils. 262, (Chit. j. 371); Hawkins v. Cardy, 1 Salk. 65; Lord Raym. 360; Carth. 466; 12 Mod. 243, (Chit. j. 208); Callow v. Lawrence, 3 Maule & S. 95, (Chit. j. 911).

Hawkins v. Cardy, Lord Raym. 360. In an action upon a bill drawn by the defendant for 461. 19s. payable to Blackman or order, the declaration stated that Blackman indorsed 431. 4s. of it to the plaintiff; the defendant pleaded an insufficient plea, upon which the plaintiff demurred, but the whole court held the declaration bad, because the bill could not be indorsed for less than all the money due thereon, and the plaintiff discontinued his action; and per Gould, J. in Johnson v. Kennion, 2 Wils. 262, (Chit. j. 871). Where the drawer of a bill has paid

(d) Hawkins v: Cardy, Lord Raym. 360; part, you may indorse it over for the residue, otherwise not, because it would subject him to a variety of actions. (g) 1 Pardess. 365.

(h) 1 Pardess. 437, 438; ante, 165.

(i) Leonard v. Wilson, 2 Crom. & M. 589; 4 Tyrw. 415, S. C. In this case a bill of exchange was indorsed by the payee to the Manchester and Liverpool District Banking Company, who indorsed it, and added to their indorsement the following memorandum, "In need, S. P. and Co." After several other blank indorsements, the bill was indorsed in blank to the Bank of Liverpool, who indorsed it in blank to the plaintiff, who indorsed it specially, "Pay Messrs. Terney and Farley, or order," who indorsed it in blank by writing thereon, "Thomas Terney and Farrelly." After passing through several other hands, the bill when due was duly presented at S. A. and Co.'s, London, bankers, where it was made payable by the acceptance, and was dishonoured, the answer being "no advice." On the same day it was presented at S. P. and Co.'s, London, bankers, where it was by the said memorandum to be paid in case of need. S. P. and Co. refused to pay it, solely on the ground of the irregularity of Terney and Farley's indorsement. The custom of London bankers was admitted to be to refuse all bills, even their own acceptances, where there

⁽¹⁾ The assignment of part of a demand, due on a promissory note, gives no right of action to the assignee, as indorsee, either against the maker, or against the payee; the transfer of the note for less than the real sum appearing due, unless the residue has been extinguished, not constituting the assignee an indorsee within the law merchant. Douglass et al. v. Wilkeson, 6 Wend. Rep. 637.

An instrument for the payment of money, not payable to any particular person or to bearer, is not negotiable; and it was accordingly held that a memorandum made by a payer of a note for $2500, on the back thereof, in these words, "Mr. Olcott, pay on within $750," did not authorize a recovery on the money counts, by the holder against the payee. Ib.

I. Of the that as regards foreign bills such direction on the part of the drawer is com-Transfer of So he may add, "retour sans protet." The utility of adoptpulsory(j). Bills and ing these words has been already pointed out (k). Notes.

5thly. Modes of Transfer.

Delivery of Bill to Transferree.

Upon a transfer, whether by indorsement or bare delivery, the bill should, in order to prevent an extent of the crown and other difficulties that might otherwise arise, be delivered to the assignee(1); and in all cases of a transfer of a bill drawn in sets, each part should be delivered to the person in whose favour the transfer is made, for otherwise the same inconveniences may follow which we have seen may arise upon a neglect to deliver each of them to the payee (m). A delivery, however, is not essential to vest the legal right in the payee or indorsee, where there has been a complete transfer(n), and it need not be alleged in pleading; and if, after an absolute acceptance, the acceptor should improperly detain the bill in his hands, the drawer might nevertheless sue him on it, and give him notice to produce the [*237] bill, and in default of production give parol evidence of its contents(0). *But where bills are specially indorsed, the property in them does not pass before delivery (p). It is not necessary for the holder to give any notice to the acceptor of the indorsements, nor need such notice be averred in pleading(q).

Sending Bills or Notes by Post.

Where a creditor directs his debtor to remit him by post the money due to him by a bill of exchange, cash, note, &c. or where it is the usual way of paying such debt, if the bill be lost, the debtor will be discharged(r); but where the defendant, in discharge of a debt which he owed to the plaintiff, delivered a letter, containing the bills which were lost, to a bellman in the street, it was decided that he was not discharged from liability to pay the debt, because it was incumbent on him to have delivered the letter at the General Post-Office, or at least at a receiving-house appointed by that office(s). Bank-notes and others, payable on demand, should be remitted in halves by different conveyances (t), and other bills and notes should, before the first indorsement in blank, be filled up with the name of the party to whom they are sent, thus "pay E. F. for his use only."

is a lelter wrong in any indorsement. The bill was returned with due notice to the plaintiff, who gave due notice of dishonour to the Liver-pool Bank. At the Liverpool Bank the irregularity was pointed out to the plaintiff, who by their recommendation sent the bill to Terney and Farley, who lived in Ireland, to rectify the mistake, and the bill, with the proper indorsement on it, was then sent up to London, and again presented at S. P. and Co.'s, who then refused to pay it as being out of time; and it was held, that the Bank of Liverpool were liable to the plaintiff on the bill, and that the question of liability was not affected by the refusal of S. P. and Co. to pay the bill in consequence of the mis-spelling in Terney and Farley's indorsement, the holder not being bound to present the bill at that house.

(j) Ante, 165.

(k) Ante, 165. (l) The King v. Lampton, 5 Price, Rep. 130, (Chit. j. 1016).

(m) Ante, 155.

(n) But see Savage v. Aldren, 2 Stark. Rep. 236, (Chit. j. 1007).

(o) Churchill v. Gardiner, 7 T. R. 596,

(Chit. j. 605); Smith v. M'Clure, 5 East, 476; 2 Smith's Rep. 443, (Chit. j. 6:9); but see ante, 227, note (k).

Churchill v. Gardiner, 7 T. R. 536, (Chit. j. 605). In an action by the payee of a bill against the acceptor, the declaration stated, the drawer made his certain bill of exchange, but there was no allegation that he delivered it to the plaintiff; and the defendant demurred especially for that cause; but the court was clearly of opinion that there was no foundation for the objection, the delivery of the bill to the plaintiff being sufficiently implied in the allegation, but the drawer, "made" the bill.

(p) Rex v. Lampton, 5 Price Rep. 428,

(Chit. j. 1016).
(q) Reynolds v. Davis, 1 B. & P. 625,

(Chit. j. 571).
(τ) Warwick v. Noakes, Peake Rep. 67; ante, 36, note (u).

(s) Hawkins v. Rutt, Peake Rep. 186, (Chit. . 511); and see Parker v. Gordon, 7 East, 385, (Chit. j. 727).

(t) See observations in Lane v. Cotton, I Salk. 17, and post, Sec. iii. as to the Loss of Bills, &c.

ų.

v State

. 16.

11 120

1

. Was

. . . .

لارية

g. 53F

, 196 $\nu^{i-i'}$

ķ tā

الله والم 2.5

je .4

. 7.5

, d

; ;

,

If a party has transferred a bill without indorsing it, when it was intended that I of the he should do so, a bill may be filed in equity to compel him, and his assign- of Bills ees, if he has become bankrupt to indorse(u); and a special action on the and Notes. case might be supported against him for refusing to indorse (x); and if a transfer (x); and if a transfer (x); and if a transfer (x); and (x)has been made before, no doubt a formal indorsement may be made at any compelling time after a bill is due, even by the administrator of the party who transfer- an Indonered(y); and it should seem, that as the transfer implies an authority to do all ment. acts necessary to render it available, the party to whom the transfer has been made may sue in the name of the transferrer (z). But it seems that the promise to indorse will not enable the holder himself to make a sufficient indorsement in his name, especially if at the time of the promise the bill was not in existence, and the only remedy will be to sue him for the breach of his promise, or others in his name(a).

The cases of relief in equity have already been stated (b).

The nature of a transfer of a bill, note or check, the right which it vests in 7thly, the assignee, and the obligation which it imposes on the person making it, Rights and may, in a great measure, be collected from what has been previously said.

Liabilities of the Par-

With respect to the right of a bond fide holder for value, whether by in-Right of dorsement or delivery, he has such an interest in the bill or note that he may Indorsee. effect a policy of insurance to secure the due payment(c); and *though in [*238] this country he has no direct legal or equitable lien upon the fund deposited by the drawer with the drawee to cover the liability of the latter in respect of his acceptance, yet, on the bankruptcy of the drawer and acceptor, the arrangement of the property between the two estates may indirectly render such an equity available (d). And in a recent case (e), property so deposited was ordered to be sold for the benefit of the holder, and the holder allowed to prove for the deficiency against the estates of both drawer and acceptor; although it did not appear that the holder had any notice of the deposit. if a party take bills for the price of goods, and it he agreed that the bills are to be paid out of the proceeds, and the acceptors become bankrupt, the indorsees of the bills, without notice of the agreement, are entitled to the benefit of it(f). So if there be three partners in a particular transaction, in which one furnishes the goods and the other two accept bills for the price, and it be agreed that the bills are to be paid out of the return proceeds of the goods, and the two acceptors become bankrupt, the indorsees of the bills, with notice of the agreement, are entitled to the benefit of it, after the joint creditors, if any, of the three are paid(g). And where C., a factor, accepted bills drawn by A. and B., his principals, under an agreement that the proceeds of goods sent to him as factor should be security for payment of the (u) Ante, 203, 204.

(Chit. j. 1097).

(z) Ante, 204, note (l).
(a) Mozon v. Pulling, 4 Campb. 51, (Chit. j. 914).

(b) Ante, 98, 189, and see post, Sec. ii. (c) Tasker v. Scott, 6 Taunt. 234; 1 Marsh.

(d) Ex parte Waring, 2 Rose, 182; 19 Ves. 345; 2 Gl. & J. 404. In France the transfering a bill is considered an appropriation of the effects in the hands of the drawee, and though he has not accepted, yet the holder may proreed against the funds, though not on the bill, in preference of any other creditor of the drawer; 1 Pardess. 429, 442, 443, 466.

(e) Ex parte Perfect and others, 1 Mont. Rep. 25.

(f) Ex parte Prescott and others, 1 Mont. & Ayr. 816; 8 Dea. & Chitty, 218, S. C.
(g) Ex parte Copeland, 2 Mont. & Ayr.

177; 3 Des. & Chit. 199, S. C. The return proceeds are not in the reputed ownership of the bankrupts, being clothed with a trust; id. ibid.; and see Ex parts Flower, 2 Mont. & Ayr. 224; 4 Den. & Chit. 449, S. C.; 70il; Part II. Ch. VIII. Bankruptcy.

⁽x) Rose, assignees, v. Sims, 1 Bar. & Ad. 521, (Chit. j. 1510); see form of declaration; and see ante, 204, note (m).
(y) Watkins v. Maule, 2 Jac. & W. 242,

I. Of the Bills and Notes. 7thly, Liabilities ties.

bills, and such bills were paid by A. and B. into their bankers, who knew Transfer of of the agreement, and A. and B. became bankrupt and the bills were dishonoured; it was held, that the bankers might have the proceeds of the goods applied in payment of the bills and prove for the balance remaining due Rights and against both estates(h).

The title of an indorsee is the title of all the prior parties to the bill or And the bon's fide holder may sue the acceptor and the drawer and indorser separately at the same time (j). But if the person be not what the law considers a bon's fide holder, as if at the time he received the instrument he knew that circumstances existed which rendered it improper that payment should be enforced, he will not acquire any better interest in the same than the party had who transferred it to him. Therefore a person who receives a bill, with notice that it is to be negotiated only upon certain terms, or for a particular purpose, holds the bill subject to such terms; and, consequently, where A., a creditor of B., having deeds in his possession as a security for a debt, receives a bill indorsed by B., for the purpose of getting it discounted, but neglects to do so, he cannot appropriate the bill to his own use, and maintain an action upon it against the acceptor (k)(1). So, though a bona fide holder may in general recover against an accommodation acceptor, yet

[*239] *where the creditor of the drawer who had procured such an acceptance for his accommodation, after the drawer had absconded and committed an act of bankruptcy, pursued him and obtained from him such acceptance as security for his debt, it was held that he could not retain it under such circumstances, and that the acceptor might sue him in trover(1). ed for accommodation, and left in the hands of the drawer to get discounted, and pay other bills accepted by the same person, cannot be retained by a holder, who received it with knowledge of the fact, and the acceptor may, in an action of trover, recover damages to the full amount of the sum payable by the bill, subject to be reduced to nominal damages on delivering it up(m). So where a creditor obtained a check from his debtor, and even payment thereof from the bankers, under circumstances which he knew rendered it unjust to require the bankers to pay, he was compelled to refund (n). So if

> (h) Ex parte Hobbhouse and others, 3 Mont. & Ayr. 269; 2 Den. 291, S. C. Having proved the full debt makes no difference, it must be expunged pro tanto, id. ibid.; and see Caze-nove v. Prevost, 5 Bar. & Ald. 70.

> (i) See per Parke, B., in Edwards r. Jones,2 M. & W. 414, 418.

(j) Since, however, the late rule T. T. 1 Vict. the acceptor, like the other parties to the bill, will be allowed to stay proceedings on payment of the bill and of the costs of the action against himself only. See post, Part II. Ch. III.

(k) Delaney v. Mitchell, I Stark. 439, (Chit. j. 976).

(1) Smith v. De Witts, 6 Dowl. & R. 120,

(Chit. j. 1258); ante, 204, notes (p), (q).
(m) Evans v. Kymer, 1 Bar. & Ald. 528,
(Chit. j. 1512); Treuttel v. Barrandon, 8
Taunt. 100; 1 Moore, 543, (Chit. j. 1002);
Goggerly v. Cutbbert, 2 New Rep. 176.

(n) Martin v. Morgan, 3 Moore, 635; 1 Gow, 123, (Chit. j. 1045).

(o) Pike v. Street, Mood. & M. 226, (Chit. j. 1410).

(1) A note indorsed for the accommodation of the maker, delivered to him to be used in renewal of a former note about to fall due at a bank, transferred by the maker as collateral security for the payment of another debt owing by him, cannot be enforced against the indorsee by the creditor to whom such transfer is made. Wardell and others v. Howell, 9 Wend. Rep. 170.

the indorsee of a note take it, subject to an agreement not to sue the indorser, he is precluded from so doing(o). But an agreement between the payee and

Where a note has effected the substantial purpose for which it was designed by the parties, an accommodation indorser cannot object that it was not effected in the precise manner contemplated at the time of its creation; but where a note has been diverted from its original destination, and fraudulently put into circulation by the maker or his agent, the holder cannot recover upon it against an accommodation indorser, without showing that he received it in good faith, in the ordinary course of trade, and paid for it a valuable consideration. Ibid.

212

会な選

3 10 th 200

K COM

- 30; FX3

ing paper

(11)

NO PERFIT

iab. a 🕯

مكلة إحوال

أأتابها.

تنكفأ أإع

AT 24.8

្ដារ

ا وزرسي

 $a_i \mathcal{W}^i$

(:al al

900 B 💯

Ki litta

111

J. X. B. C.

gge þi

ggy s

خار (دان

1 1 1

polic

5 N

C. K

S. Fari

int s

833

Cle P

گروس او

maker of a note that payment shall not be enforced except upon certain terms, I. Of the will not bind a subsequent indorsee for value, though he give but part only of Trainler of the value of the note (p). And if a bill be transmitted to a person to get $\frac{\text{Bills and}}{\text{Notes}}$. discounted, and take up another bill to which he was a party, and he do not 7thly, succeed in getting such bill discounted, but pays the other, he may retain the Rights and transmitted bill and sue the parties thereto, in order to reimburse himself the Liabilities amount of the bill which he took up(q). In a late case(r) it was held, that of the Para bill broker who receives a bill from a customer merely for the purpose of procuring it to be discounted, has no right to mix it with bills of other customers, and to pledge the whole mass as a security for an advance of monies to himself; and that still less has he a right to deposit bills which are received merely for the purpose of discount as a security or part security for money previously due from him; and that if the pledgee of bills under such circumstances receive them from the bill broker, with knowledge or reasonable ground of suspicion, he cannot hold them as against the customer.

It is, however, to be observed, that in this case there was no direct evidence of any usage or custom among bill brokers so to pledge the bills of their employers; the effect of such evidence, so far at least as regards advances actually made at the time of deposit, will appear from the following more recent decisions:-

*W. and P., brokers in London, had in their possession bills of different [*240] customers to the amount of nearly 3000l. which had been left with them to They mixed these bills with others of their own to raise money upon. about nearly the same amount and deposited the whole with F. and Co., who were merchants and capitalists, for an advance of 3000l. then made and for a preceding advance made a few days before on a promise to bring bills; evidence was given that it was usual and customary for bill brokers in London to raise money by a deposit of their customers' bills in a mass, and that the bill broker alone was looked to by the customer who gave the bill broker dominion over the bill; in an action brought by F. and Co. on one of the bills against one of the customers, who was a party to the bill, the judge left it to the jury to say whether F. and Co., the plaintiffs, took the bills from W. and P., the bill brokers, with due care and caution and in the ordinary course of business, and the jury being of opinion that they had so taken the bills, found a verdict for the plaintiff; and it was held, that the defendant, the customer, could not complain of such summing up; and that the court would not disturb the verdict(s). In another action(t) arising out of the same transaction, and which was an action of trover brought by one of the customers (who was himself also a bill broker) against F. and Co. to recover the value of some of the bills, the judge directed the jury that the prin-

(p) Edwards v. Jones, 2 M. & W. 414; S. C. 5 Dowl. 585; 7 C. & P. 633. Quære, as to the legality of an agreement which substitutes a different mode of payment from that provided by the note itself; see per Parke, B. ibid.

(q) Walsh v. Tyler, Sittings at Guildhall, in K. B. coram Lord Ellenborough, after Michaelmas Term, 1817; 2 Stark. 288, (Chit. j. 1009). Declaration on a bill, dated 18th March, 1817, for 50l. payable three months after date, drawn by Shaw on the defendant Tyler, and indersed by him to the plaintiff. Defence, that Shaw, the drawer, sent the bill to the plaintiff to be discounted, and with a request to send up the amount to Shaw, in order that he might take up a bill for 771. 10s. then falling due; and that the plaintiff did not send up the money; and afterwards the bill for 77l. 10s. having been returned to and paid by him, proved the amount under Shaw's commission. Per Lord Ellen-borough. "This affords no defence. If the produce of the bill was to have been applied for another purpose, then the plaintiff had no right to retain the bill or sustain this nation; but the plaintiff being unable to discount the bill, and having been compelled to pay that to which he was a party, he had a right to protect himself by applying the bill in question to cover his own advance." Scarlett for the plaintiff.

(r) Haynes o. Foster, 2 Crom. & Mee. 237. (s) Foster v. Pearson, 1 C. M. & R. 849; 5 Tyr. 255, S. C.

(t) Stephens v. Foster, id. ibid.

Digitized by Google

I. Of the Transfer of Bills of the Parciple laid down in Haynes v. Foster, that a bill broker who receives a bill from a customer to get it discounted had no right to mix it with bills of other or Buis and Notes. customers, and to pledge the whole mass as a security for on advance of Rights and curity or part security for money previously due from him, was to be taken Liabilities by them as the general law has the security for money previously due from him, was to be taken labeled to be the security for money previously due from him, was to be taken labeled to be the security for money previously due from him, was to be taken labeled to be tak money to himself, and still less had he a right to deposit such bill as a selaw, the parties might contract as they thought proper; and he left it to the jury to say whether the wage set up by the defendants as to the course of dealing in such cases was established to their satisfaction, and if so, whether they thought that the plaintiff, who was a bill broker himself, had contracted with reference to that usage; and the jury having found for the defendants, the court refused to disturb the verdict. And it was held that a bill broker is not a person known to the law with certain prescribed duties, but that his employment is one which depends entirely upon the course of dealing, that his duties may vary in different parts of the country, and their extent is a question of fact to be determined by the usage and course of dealing in the particular place.

The court also seemed to consider that the old established rule of law, "that the holder of bills of exchange indorsed in blank, or other negotiable securities transferable by delivery, can give a title which he does not himself possess to a person taking them bona fide for value," is not to be qualified by treating it as essential that the person so taking them should take them with due care and caution; but that the person taking them bond fide for value has a good title, though he take them without care or caution except so far as the want of such care and caution may affect the bona fides and honesty of the transaction. And this doctrine has since been adopted by the Court of King's Bench(u).

[*241]

*An indorsement in blank not only authorises the person to whom the transfer is made to sue, but also enables as many persons as agree, whether partners or not, to join in an action on the instrument(v).

A transfer by indorsement vests in the indorsee a right of action against all the precedent parties whose names are on the bill; and after the bill bas been duly indorsed by the payee in blank, it is transferable by mere delivery, and the holder may sue all parties to the bill(x); but unless the payee or the drawer, when the bill is payable to his order, has first indorsed it, a party who becomes possessed of it by delivery can only sue the person from whom he obtained it, and the action must be for the original consideration and not upon the bill itself(y). And if in an action by an indorsee against the acceptor the declaration states the bill to have been indorsed by the drawer to B., the plaintiff must go on to shew an indorsement by B., and it will not be sufficient to allege that B. delivered the bill to the plaintiff(z)(1).

(u) Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 870; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C. See post, Sec. iii. as to Lost Bills.

(z) Cunliffe v. Whitehead, 3 Bing. N. C. 828; 5 Scott, 81, S. C.

⁽v) Ord v. Portal, 3 Campb. 240, (Chit. j. 861); Attwood v. Rattenbury, 6 Moore, 579, (Chit. j. 1181). See post, Part II. Ch. I. By and against whom Action may be brought. See also post, Part II. Ch. V. sec. i. Evidence -Proof of Plaintiff's Interest.

⁽x) Anon. Lord Raym. 738, (Chit. j. 202); Miller v. Race, Burr. 452, (Chit. j. 346); Grant v. Vaughan, Lord Raym. 485; Burr. 1516, (Chit. j. 365); ante, 227; Peacock v. Rhodes, Dougl. 633, (Chit. j. 408).

(y) Post, 244, 246.

(z) Cunliffa v. Whitchand v. Bing N. C.

^{(1) \(\)} In an action against the maker of a note indorsed by the payee in blank, the endorsers and holders must prove the indorsement of the note to them before they can recover. Briggs 5 Briscoe, 12 Louis. Rep. 468. }

11

Serve (I

النيزر

1.34

, el

.e .i

 $\chi:\mathbb{R}\to$

13. 35

. . . K. IL

1. 50

: Feb.

21 64 3

3. 2.3

g 1885 -

: 1 PLS

James .

ا عد ن

11 25

لعرائكا وعاد

تل ير ;

1

, s.(·

7. C el.39

141 115

KL IF 1.5.23

7

XXI كاعل وي

e Kit

ent;

rii b تعفقه بالجاوا

450 A

 $\mathfrak{g},\mathfrak{S}$: تَدَر

14

The mere act of indorsing a bill has a peculiar effect, unlike that of any 1. Of the other transfer or instrument. In general, a party who assigns his property Transfer of Bills and Bills and in a chattel merely parts with it without any engagement that it shall turn Notes. out productive, unless accompanying the transfer there is an express war-7thly, ranty; but a mere indorsement not only passes the interest to the indersee, Rights and but also amounts to an undertaking that the bill or note shall be duly honour-Liabilities ed, and that if it is not, and the indorser has due notice of the dishonour, he of the Parwill pay the amount to the indorsee(1). The simple writing the name on Liability of the back of the bill, and handing it over to the indorsee, implies this engage- Indorser. ment, and an adequate consideration for making it, whereas a mere guarantee, that a bill or note shall be paid, would be void, unless adequate consideration be expressed on the face of the writing (a).

With respect to the liability of the party transferring a bill, it is said that a transfer by indorsement is equivalent in its effect to the drawing of a bill, the indorser being, in almost every respect, considered as a new drawer on the original drawee (b)(2); on which principle it is said to have been decided that a promissory note indorsed may be declared on as a bill of exchange(c); or the indorser may be described as having drawn the bill(d); and if the drawee refuse to accept, the indorser is immediately liable to be Where a bill was drawn by the plaintiffs upon F. W., and indorsed by the plaintiffs to the defendant, and re-indorsed by the defendant to the plaintiffs, to *secure the payment by F. W., it was held plaintiffs had no [*242] remedy on the bill as such, and there not appearing any consideration for the defendant's undertaking to indorse, he could not be sued thereon (f). But where the payee of a bill of exchange indorsed it specially to the plaintiffs, and immediately after the special indorsement the defendant indorsed the bill, and then the plaintiffs indorsed it; it was held that the defendant's indorsement was equivalent to a new drawing by the defendant, and that he

(a) Morley v. Boothby, 3 Bing. 107, note. (b) Smallwood v. Vernon, 1 Stra. 479, (Chit. j. 250); Hill v. Lewis, 1 Salk. 133, (Chit. j. 178); Williams v. Field, 3 Salk. 68, (Chit. j. 197); Claxton v. Swift, 2 Show. 441; S. C. id. 495, (Chit. j. 167, 162, 171); Heylyn v. Adameon, 2 Burr. 674, (Chit. j. 849); Anon. Holt, 115, (Chit. j. 197); Claxton r. Swift, Skin. 255; Anon. id. 843; Hill v. Lewis, id. 411; Luke v. Hayes, 1 Atk. 282; Haly v. Lane, 2 Atk. 182, (Chit. j. 294); Gibson v. Minet, 1 Hen. Bla. 587, (Chit. j. 479); Houle v. Baxter, 8 East, 182, (Chit. j. 664); Ballingalls v. Gloster, id. 482, (Chit. j. 673); Allen

v. Walker, 2 M. & W. 317.

(c) Brown v. Harraden, 4 T. R. 149, (Chit. 470); cites Buller v. Cripps, 6 Mod. 29, 30, (Chit. j. 222); but see Gwinnell r. Herbert, 5 Ad. & El. 436, post, 242, note (h).
(d) Brown v. Harraden, 4 T. R. 149, (Chit. j. 470).

(e) Ballingulls v. Gloster, 8 East, 481, (Chit. j. 673); Starey v. Barnes, 7 East, 488, (Chit. j. 729).

(f) Britten and Wilson v. Webb, 2 B. & . 483; $ D. & R. 650, (Chit. j. 1198); Bishop r. Hayward, 4 T. R. 470, (Chit. j. 492); ante, 26, note (o).

The indorser of a note, under the statutes of Indiana warrants two things: 1st, That the note is valid and the maker liable to pay it; 2dly, That the maker is solvent and able to pay it. Howell v. Wilson, 2 Black. 418. The indorsee of a note obtained from the maker without consideration has a right, as soon as he discovers the imposition, to sue the indorser. Ibid. }

(2) The indorsement of a note to the maker is an extinguishment of it, and it cannot be recovered by his indorsing it to a third person or to the original payee, but such indorsement might create a new obligation in the indorser. Long v. Bank of Cinthianns, 1 Litt. 290. { Clai-burne v. Planters Bank, 2 How. 727. }

Although a negotiable note not payable to bearer may pass by delivery, without indorsement; t, if it be indorsed, the indorser is liable as upon a new bill to bearer. Eccles v. Ballard, 2 M'Cord, 888. Brush v. Reeves' Admrs. 8 John. 489.

^{(1) \} An indorsement is in the nature of a new and distinct contract, and is an engagement to pay to whoever may by subsequent negotiation, become the holder of the bill or note, the amount secured by it. Pense v. Turner, 3 How. 375. And where one leaves with another blank endorsements of his name, without restriction as to the manner of using them, he is liable for whatever sums the notes may be drawn under such indorsements. Kimbro v. Lythe. 10 Yerg. 4 17.

Bills and Notes.

Liabilities

ties.

I. Of the was liable to be sued upon the bill by the plaintiffs(g). But although it be Transfer of true that every indorsement of a bill is in the nature of a new drawing, it is otherwise with respect to promissory notes, and the indorser of a note cannot be sued as a new maker, because the maker of a note stands in the situation 7thly, Rights and of the acceptor of a bill, and not of drawer(h). Nor can the indorser of a note not negotiable for want of the words "or order," be sued by his immediate indorsee as upon a new contract arising out of the indorsment without a second stamp(i). In order to prevent such liability, a party may indorse a bill so as to transfer the interest therein without subjecting himself to liability, as by adding the words "sans recours," or any words in English of equivalent meaning (j).

It has been contended that an indorsemnt is equivalent to a warranty that the prior indorsement were made by persons having competent authority(k): but the court seemed to deny that doctrine(1); and though an indorsement admits all prior indorsements to have been in fact duly made(m); yet an indorser, by his indorsement, merely engages that the drawee will pay, or that he, the indorser, will, on his default, and due notice thereof, pay the same, and which is the extent and limit of his implied contract(1).

As the act of indorsing is similar to that of drawing, the obligation which it imposes on the indorser to the indorsee, and the mode in which that obli-

(g) Penny v. Innes, 1 Cro. M. & Ros. 439; 5 Tyrw. 107. No question was raised as to the consideration for the defendant's indorsement. It was held also that a fresh stamp was not necessary. But see Plimley v. Westley, 2 Scott, 423; infra, note (i), when instrument not negotiable.

In the American edition of Bayley on Bills, p. 94, (Boston, 1826), is the following note of a case which appears to be at variance with the above decision: "Where A., being in possession of a note to which he was not a party, and which had not been indorsed by the payee, indorsed it to B. for a valuable consideration, it was held that B. could maintain no action against A. without proof of some special contract between A. and B.; Birchard v. Bartlett, 14 Mass. R. 279." But see the cases cited in the American edition of Chitty on Bills, p. 109, (Philadelphia, 1826).

(h) Gwinnell v. Herbert, 5 Ad. & El. 436; 6 N. & M. 723, S. C. per Littledale, J. "It is said that in the case of a bill of exchange, overy indorser is a new drawer. But even that requires qualification. Bills are drawn according to the custom of merchants all over the world; and merchants would be much surprised at being told that an indorser might be considered a new drawer in all respects. It may be correct to say that an indorsement of a bill is in the nature of a new drawing. But, supposing the indorser of a bill to be strictly in the situation of a drawer, it does not follow that the indorser of a note is a maker. The drawer of a bill is liable only after presentment to the acceptor; but the maker of a note is in the aituation of acceptor."

(i) Plimley v. Westley, 2 Scott, 423; S. C. 2 Bing. N. C. 249; 1 Hodges, 324. Second stamp not necessary where instrument negotiable; Penny v. Innes, 1 C. M. & R. 439; supre, note (g). See post, 820, (30).

(j) Ante, 228, 235.

(k) See argument in East India Company r. Tritton, 3 Bar. & Cress. 280; 5 Dowl. & Ry. 214, (Chit. j. 1216); and the decision of Chambre, J. in Smith v. Mercer, 6 Taunt. 83; 1 Marsh. 453, (Chit. j. 923), was relied upon.

(1) Id. ibid. In 2 Pardess. 376, and Code de Commerce, No. 140, it is said, "L'Endosseut est garant solidaire avec les autres signataires, de la verité de la lettre, ainsi que du paiement a l'écheance.'

(m) Lambert v. Pack, 1 Salk. 127, (Chit.j. 211); post, Part II, Ch. V. Evidence.

An inderser of a note is only a provisional guarantee for the payment of the money. Tidd r. Campbell, 2 Brev. 21; Kilpntrick v. Henton, 3 Id. 92. But he impliedly affirms the genuineness of the instrument and of the previous endorsements, and the indorsee is not bound to prove the making of the note, and its endorsement to the defendant indorser. 'Woodward v. Harlin, l. Alab. Rep. N. S. 104.

In Louisana a person not a party putting his name on a bill or note, is presumed to have done so as surety. Lawrence v. Oakey, 14 Louis. Rep. 386. But this guaranty is considered as a direct and positive understanding and not conditional. Id. }

^{(1) {} Where A. makes a promissory note payable to B. or his order, and C. indorses it, a declaration, in such a case, in an action by a third person claiming by transfer from B., charging C. as the maker of the note, is bad. Dava v. Hall, 17 Wend. 214. But it seems that where an indorser of such a note is privy to the consideration, he may be charged directly as maker or indorser; and that a bona file holder may, in all cases, write a bill of exchange over the name of the indorser, or fill up the blank in any form consistent with the intent of the parties. Ibid.

11

·

1.78

- 3

् । इन्ह

171

-:::::::-

23.25.25

. jyr 1

ist Jag

11.15

.

ma Es - × 111

4 20

A KAL

4 M (18)

N" 140 mild.

1 100 5

S. 10. 4.24

W. C. of

(R th a

: BOX

j [kf ¹

........... 1.5

, 4 × 7

1.5

عليه و م

7. . 30

15.3

J.S.

大学 一年 大学 大学

gation may be extinguished by the holder's laches or otherwise, is in all I. Of the cases exactly similar to that which a drawer of a *bill is under to the payee(n); Transfer of Bills and for, as observed by Lord Ellenborough, C. J., "when it is laid down that Notes. an indorser stands in all respects in the same situation as a drawer, all the consequences follow which are attached to the situation of the latter(o)." Rights and The indorser, however, is not liable in any instance to the acceptor, unless Liabilities indeed in the case of an acceptance for his honour(p), or for his accommo- of the Pardation; nor when he has indorsed on behalf of a firm, though in his own results. name, is he liable to be sued by any partner (q). Neither, since the Stamp Acts, can the indorser of a bill not negotiable be charged as drawer without a second stamp(r). We have seen, that if an agent indorse in his own name, without qualifying his indorsement, he may at law be personally liable even to his principal(s). But the mere circumstance of the holder writing over a blank indorsement to him a direction, ordering the money to be paid to a particular person without adding his own name, does not render him an indorser, or liable as such(t).

An indorsement of a bill once complete, by delivery over to the indorsee Revocation for value, is not revocable without his consent (u)(1); and although by mistake fer, &c. an indorsement has been erased by a third person the indorser will continue when. liable(x); and where the agent of a person, whose name was forged as an indorser, paid the bill for his honour, and cancelled the subsequent indorsers' names, it was held, in an action by such agent against the person to recover back the money, that such cancellation did not discharge the indorsers, and that the person so sued might nevertheless sue them, so that the cancellation had not predjudiced his security on the bill(y). But an indorsement, like an acceptance, may, before it has been delivered over to a bona fide holder, be revoked(z). If the indorsee assent to the erasure, care must be observed not to injure the security by any suspicious appearance(a); and where there has been an erasure of an indorsement, especially upon a bill or note payable on demand, a party who takes it should previously inquire into the circumstance(b). But an indorser who has merely transferred the instrument to an agent to receive the amount, or to a person for a particular purpose, without vesting in him any beneficial interest, may always countermand the authority, and after notice thereof, the drawer should not pay the indorsee, but should require an indemnity from the indorser, and at all events defend at law or file a bill of interpleader; or move the Court, under 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58, s. 1.

(n) Lambert v. Oakes, Holt, 117, (Chit. j. 211); and see 1 Pardessus, 461, 462. But it is said there is this difference, that an indorser is considered as a new drawer at the place where he indorsed, and not where the drawer drew the bill, and he is liable to re-exchange accordingly; 1 Pardessus, 461, 462.

(o) Ballingalls v. Gloster, 3 East, 483, (Chit. j. 673); Starey v. Barnes, 7 East, 435, (Chit.

(p) Poth. pl. 111, 112. (q) Teague v. Hubbard, 8 Bar. & C. 345;

 Man. & Ry. 369, (Chit. j. 1396); ante, 60.
 (r) Plimley v. Westley, 2 Scott, 428; ante, 242, note (i); and see ante, 196, 197, note (o); though such stamp is unnecessary when the bill is negotiable; Penny v. Innes, 1 C., M. & R. 439; ante, 242, note (g).

(*) Ante, 83, 34; but equity will in some cases relieve; Kidson v. Dilworth, 5 Price, 564, (Chit. j. 1026); ante, 85, note (i). (t) Vincent v. Horloch, 1 Campb. 442, (Chit. j. 757); ante, 230, note (y).

(u) 1 Pardess. 372, 373; 2 Pardess. Lettre de Change, 373.

(x) Wilkinson v. Johnson, 5 Dowl. & R. 403, and 3 Bar. & C. 423, (Chit. j. 1231); Cox v. Troy, 5 Bar. & Al. 474; 1 Dowl. & R.

88, (Chit. j. 1129); 1 Pardess. 373.
(y) Wilkinson v. Johnson, 5 Dowl. & R.
403; 8 Bar. & C. 428, (Chit. j. 1281).
(z) Cox v. Troy, 5 Bar. & Al. 474; 1 Dow.

& Ry. 88, (Chit. j. 1129); and see 2 Pardess.

(a) 1 Pardess. 878.

(b) Gascoigne v. Smith, M'Clel. & Y. 338, (Chit. j. 1256).

J. Of the Bills and Notes.

rer by Delivery.

*It has been said that a transfer by mere delivery, without any indorsement, Transfer of when made on account of a pre-existing debt, or for a valuable consideration passing to the assignor at the time of the assignment (and not merely by way of sale or exchange of paper) (c), as where goods are sold to him(d), impos-7thly, Rights and es an obligation on the person making it to the immediate person in whose Liabilities favour it is made, equivalent to that of a transfer by formal indorsement(e). of the Par- But this expression seems incorrect, for the party transferring only by delivery can never be sued upon the instrument, either as if he were an in-Liability of dorser, or as having guaranteed its payment, unless he expressly did so. The expression should be, "that if the instrument should be dishonoured the transferrer in such case is liable to pay the debt in respect of which he transferred it, provided it has been presented for payment in due time, and that due notice be given to him of the dishonour (f)." A distinction was once taken between the transfer of a bill or check for a precedent debt, and for a debt arising at the time of the transfer; and it was held, that if A. bought goods of B., and at the same time gave him a draft on a banker, which B. took without any objection, it would amount to payment by A., and B. could not resort to him in the event of the failure of the banker(g)(1). But it is now settled, that in such case, unless it was expressly agreed at the time of the transfer, that the assignee should take the instrument assigned as payment, and run the risk of its being paid, he may, in case of default of payment by the drawee, maintain an action against the assignor on the consideration of the transfer(h). And where a debtor, in payment of goods, gives an order to pay the bearer the amount in bills on London, and the party takes bills for the amount, he will not, unless guilty of laches, discharge the original [*245] debtor(i). And where a person obtains money or *goods on a bank note,

(c) Hornblower v. Proud, 2 B. & Al. 327.

(Chit, j. 1049).

(d) Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 64; Ward v. Evans, Lord Raym. 928, (Chit. j. 216); Lambert v. Oakes, 12 Mod. 244, (Chit. j. 211); Anon. id. 409, (Chit. j. 215); Puckford v. Maxwell, 6 T. R. 52, (Chit. j. 531).

(e) Ward v. Evans, Lord Raym. 929, (Chit. 216); Anon. 12 Mod. 408, (Chit. j. 215); Ward v. Sir Peter Evans, id. 521, (Chit. j. 216); Moor v. Warren, and Holme v. Barry, 1 Stra. 415, (Chit. j. 249); Turner v. Mead, id. 416, (Chit. j. 248); accord.; Anon. 12 Mod. 511, (Chit. j. 216); semble, contra.

(f) Camidge v. Allenby, 6 Bar. & C. 373; 9 D. & R. 391, (Chit. j. 1319).

(g) Clerk v. Mundall, 12 Mod. 203; 1 Salk. 124; 3 Salk. 69, (Chit. j. 181, 200); Anon. id. 408; Anon. id. 517; Anon. Holt, 298, 299, (Chit. j. 214); post; Vin. Abr. tit. Payment, A.; Cooke's Bank. Law, 178; Tassell v. Lewis, 1 Ld. Raym. 748; but see Hepkins v. Grey, 7 Mod. 189. In Camidge v. Allemby, 6 Bar. & Cress. 373; 9 Dow. & R. 891, (Chit. j. 1819); Bayley, J. seems to have recognised this distinction, and stated, "that if the country bank notes had been taken at the time of sale as money, the party delivering them would not be kin-ble if they were dishonoured." Altter if taken afterwards.

(h) Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 65, 66.

Popley v. Ashley, Holt, 122, (Chit. j. 225); 2 B. & P. 518; and see Ex parte Blackburne, 10 Ves. 204, (Chit. j. 706); infra, note (i); ante, 178 to 180.

(i) Ex parte Dickson, cited in 6 T. R. 142, 143, and ante, 178 to 180; Ex parte Blackbarne, 10 Ves. 204, (Chit. j. 706); 1 Mont. 142, 149, 150, acc.; Vernon v. Bouverie, 2 Show. 296, (Ch. j. 166); Bolton v. Reichard, 1 Esp. Rep.

106, (Chit. j. 522), contra. Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 64. The plaintiff bought some plate of the defendant, and gave him some country bank-notes in payment; the netes were dishonoured, on which the defendant refused to deliver the plate. The plaintiff brought trover and insisted that the notes were payment, but on a case reserved, the court held that they were no payment, unless the defendand had agreed to take them as payment, and run the risk of their being paid. Nonsuit en-tered. See also Tapley v. Martens, 8 T. R. 491, (Chit. j. 625).

Blackburne, Ex parte, 10 Ves. 204, (Chit.) 706). Goods sold to be paid for by bills at three months. The drawers and acceptors becoming bankrupts before the bills were due, the venders having received dividends under their commissions, were entitled to prove under a commission against the vendees, who had not inderest the hills, the deficiency as a debt: till that shall be ascertained a claim and dividend reserved for ⁽¹⁾ Receiving the transfer of a note as collateral security for the payment of a pre-existing debt, is not taking it in the ordinary course of trades, and for a valuable consideration, as between the creditor and an accommodation indorser. Wardell v. Howell, 9 Wend. 170.

1.0

100

: 🕫

~~ 1.10

A CHARLE

1. 1. 12 m ¹¹

be een di

3 (194⁻⁾

wywy YT

: y : 120

p. 101 I

. 12 ⁽³⁾

d B. co

B 13

e ist

1 15 418

777 a wa

1.684

n ale)

, 192 Mi

: 44 2

1

11. 30X

10

Company of the compan navy bill, or other bill or note on getting it discounted, although without in- I. Of the dorsing it, and it turns out to be forged, he is liable to refund the money to Transfer of the party from whom he received it, on the ground that there is in general Notes. an implied warranty that the instrument is genuine (k)(1); although there is 7thly.

the whole. The Lord Chancellor said, "I take it to be now clearly settled, that if there is an antecedent debt, and a bill is taken without taking an indorsement, which bill turns out to be bad, the demand for the antecedent debt may be resorted to. It has been held, that if there is no antecedent debt, and A. carries a bill to B. to be discounted, and B. does not take A.'s name upon the bill, if it is dishonoured there is no demand, for there was no relation between the parties except that transaction, and the circumstance of not taking the name upon the bill is evidence of a purchase of the bill. In a sale of goods the law implies a contract that those goods shall be paid for. It is competent to the party to agree that the payment shall be by a particular bill. In this instance it would be extremely difficult to persuade a jury, under the direction of a judge, to say an agreement to pay by bills was satisfied by giving bills whether good or bad. The bills were only a mode of paying the debt of 8000l. If they are not paid, the original debt, arising out of the contract for goods sold and delivered, remains. It is clear, the creditor still holding the bills, cannot resort to that original contract. In general cases, where the bill is not paid, if there is no bankruptcy, the creditor must come immediately upon the bill dishonoured, saying, he cannot procure payment, and desiring to have payment, and then he might maintain an action for goods sold and delivered. There may be cases in which he may have received part of the money without involving the difficulty from giving time as to the rest of it; as it part was paid before it was due; in that case, if no time was given for payment of the residue, an action for goods sold and delivered would lie for the residue.'

(k) Jones v. Ryde, 1 Marsh. 157, 159; 5 Taunt. 489, (Chit j. 906); Brace v. Bruce, 1 Marsh. 165; 5 Taunt. 495, (Chit. j. 908); Bayl. 5th edit. 170; per Littledale, J. in Camidge v. Allenby, 6 B. & C. 373, 385. See post, Ch IX. s. ii. Payment by Mistake.

Jones v. Ryde. Assumpsit for 1000l. for money had and received; at the trial the plaintiffs had a verdict, subject to the opinion of the court on the following case: The defendants, bill brokers, were possessed of a navy bill, purporting to be for 1884l. 16s. 10d. which the plaintiffs, also bill brokers, discounted for them at their request. The plaintiffs afterwards discounted it with Mr. Williams, who presented it for payment. The date and sum in the bill had been altered since it was issued, and before it came to the hands of the defendants, the bill being originally issued for 8841. 16s. 10d. only. Williams received 8841, 16s, 10d, from the transport-office, and the plaintiffs repaid him the 1000%, and brought the present action. The court held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover, and although the defendants could not Liabilities be sued as indorsers (the instrument being of the Partransferable by delivery) they were not released from the responsibility they incurred by passing an instrument which purported to be of greater value than it really was. And per Gibbs, C. J. "The ground of resisting this claim is, that it was a negotiable security without indorsement; and that when the holder of a negotiable security passes it away without indorsing it, he means not to be responsible upon it. This doctrine was fully discussed in the case of Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 757, (Chit. j. 463, 467); and the proposition is true, but only to a certain extent. If a mon pass an instrument of this kind without indorsing it, he cannot be sued as indorser but he is not released from the responsibility which he incurs by passing an instrument which purports to be of greater value than it really is. This question must often have occurred in the case of bank notes: I believe it is not disputed, but that if a man take a forged note, he is entitled to recover the amount of it from the person of whom he received it; and I cannot distinguish this from the case of a promissory note; for though one should not be answerable on the note as party to it, one should be liable for the money which had been paid on the supposition of its being worth so much." Mr. Justice Chambre, "There can be no doubt in this case: the general principle is perfectly clear, that where money has been paid without n consideration, it is to be recovered back. It would be very mischievous if the doctrine contended for by the defendants could be supported, as it would very materially affect the credit of these instruments. The person who takes them gives credit to the person who passes them to him for the amount, and if they fail, the money must be refunded. In this case, the plaintiffs, or at least Williams, who stood in their place, have done nothing but what was for the advantage of the defendants.

In Bruce v. Frace, 1 Marsh. 165; 5 Taunt. 495, (Chit. j. 908), the same doctrine was established with reference to a victualling bill.

In Fuller v. Smith, Ry. & Moody, 49; 1 C. & P. 197, (Chit. j 1205); where the plaintiffs, bankers, discounted for the defendants, bill brokers, a bill of exchange, which the latter did not indorse, and the signatures of the drawer and acceptor (the latter of whom kept an account with the plaintiffs) were forged; it was held that the defendants were liable to refund the money, and that the fact of their having paid over the amount to the indorace, for whom they were brokers, would not relieve them from their liability.

But see the cases as to recovering back money paid, post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Of Payment by Mistake.

⁽¹⁾ The indorser of a bill is not untitled to relief, on the ground of error or fraud, because the previous indorsement is a forgery committed by the drawer, unless he shows that such error was Bille and Notes.

no guarantee implied by law in the party passing a note payable on demand Transfer of to bearer, that the maker of the note is solvent at the time when it is so passed(l). And though a party do not indorse a bill or note, yet he may, by a collateral guarantee or undertaking, become personally liable(m).

7thly. Rights and Liabilities ties.

*But, as on a transfer by mere delivery, the assignor's name is not on the instrument, there is no privity of contract between him and any assignee, beof the Par- coming such after the assignment by himself, and consequently no person but his immediate assignee can maintain an action against him, and that only on the original consideration, and not on the bill itself(n). And if only one of several partners indorse his name on a bill, and get it discounted with a banker, the latter cannot sue the firm, though the proceeds of the bill were carried to the partnership account(o).

When a transfer by mere delivery, without indorsement, is made merely by way of sale of the bill or note, as sometimes occurs(p); or exchange of it for other bills(q); or by way of discount, and not as a security for money lent(r); or where the assignee expressly agrees to take it in payment, and

(1) Pcr Littledale, J. in Camidge v. Allenby, 6 B. & C. 373, 385.

(m) Post, 248.

(n) Ward v. Evans, Ld. Raym. 928, (Chit. 216, 218). In the matter of Barrington, 2 Sch. & Lef. 112.

In the matter of Barrington and Burton, bankrupts, 2 Sch. & Lef. Rep. 112, (Chit. j. 697). B. hands over a negotiable note for valunble consideration to G., not indorsing it, but giving a written acknowledgment on a separate paper to be accountable for the note to G. G. indorses the note, which, together with the written acknowledgment, comes into the hands of M. for valuable consideration, and B. and the several parties to the note become bankrupts; M. cannot prove the note against the estate of B. the written acknowledgment not being assignable: but is entitled to have the amount made an item in the account between B. and G. and to stand in the place of the latter. The Lord Chancellor: "This undertaking, though for valuable consideration, was not assignable with the note, nor can it give the holder of the note, to whom it was transferred, a right to prove under it against the estate of Barrington and Burton; the note does not make them debtors; they are indeed chargeable, on the ground of their undertaking in account with Gray and Son; but you can make yourselves creditors to the bankrupt's estate only by your equitable right to stand in the place of Gray and Son. To this end an account must first of all be taken, to see whether the bankrupt's estate is debtor to Gray and Son; and the most proper course would have been to petition that the assignees of Grav and Son might prove for your benefit on the estate of Parrington and Burton; if there shall appear to be a sufficient balance due by them to Gray and Son, you will be entitled to be paid 3001, out of that balance; but this undertaking does not make you creditors on the estate of Barrington and Burton. It only gives you a right to have it made an item in the account between them and Gray and Son."

(o) Emly v. Lye, 15 East, 7, (Chit. j. 849); ante, 58, 59; infra, note (s).

(p) Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 767, (Chit. j. 463, 467); Fydell v. Clark, 1 Esp. Rep. 447, (Chit. j. 561); Bank of England r. Newman, 1 Lord Raym. 422, (Chit. j. 207); 12 Mod. 224; and Comyns, 57; S. C., 1 Mont. 142. 149, 150; Ex parte Suttleworth, 8 Ves. 368, (Chit. j. 583); Cullen, 100, 101.

(q) Hornblower v. Proud, 2 B. & Al. 327, (Chit. j. 1049); Fydell v. Clark, 1 Esp. Rep. 447, (Chit. j. 561).

(r) Fenn r. Harrison, 3 T. R. 759; Ex parte Shuttleworth, 3 Ves. 368; Fydell r. Clark and another, 1 Esp. Rep. 447; and see Lord Raym. 442; 15 East, 12; 10 Ves. 206; Ex parte Isbester, 1 Rose, 23; Bayl. 5th edit. 368, 369.

In Fenn r. Harrison, 3 T R. 759, (Chit. j. 463, 467), Lord Kenyon said, "It is extremely clear, that if the holder of a bill send it to market without indorsing his name upon it, neither morality, nor the laws of this country, will compel him to refund the money for which he sold it, he did not know at the time that it was not a good bill. If he knew the bill to be bad, it would be like sending out a counter into circulation to impose upon the world, instead of the current coin. In this case, if the defendant had known the bill to be bad, there is no doubt that he would have been obliged to refund the money."

caused by the plaintiff, or that he participated in the fraud. Olivier v. Audry, 7 Louis. Rep.

Whether the indersement of a note was made for the accommodation of the drawer, or taken in the regular course of business, the holder can look to his immediate indorser, even if the in-dorsement preceding it is a forgery. Ibid.

it was an accommodation indorsement, and the prior indorsement forged. And this is upon the principle that the last indorsement is a guaranty of all preceding indorsements. Harris v. Bradley, 7 Yerg. 319.

1

.

از جو مینجاد انواز در m Pitt

....

....

. 15 X

3 -5-3

i.e. bei

182.

n 1141

... 51

, , , ,

+5t

3.50

j.

4,1

15

to run all risks(s); he has in general no right *of action whatever against the I. Of the assignor, in case the bill turns out to be of no value. But there can be no Transfer of doubt that if a man assign a bill for any sufficient consideration, knowing it to be of no value, and the assignee be not aware of the fact, the former would, in all cases, be compellable to repay the money he had received(t). And Rights and it should seem, that if, on discounting a bill or note, the promissory note of Liabilities country bankers be delivered after they have stopped payment, but unknown of the Parto the parties, the person taking the same, unless guilty of laches, might recover the amount from the discounter, because it must be implied, that at the time of the transfer the notes were capable of being received if duly presented for payment(u)(1).

The obligation of the assignor, though in general irrevocable, may, however, be discharged or released by the act of the holder, in the same manner as the obligation of the drawer(s); it may also be discharged by payment of the bill by any prior party (y)(2). But the taking another party in execution will only operate as a payment by such party and will not operate in favour of any other (2)(3).

Ex parte Shuttleworth, 3 Ves. 368, (Chit. j. 593). Newton gave the bankrupt before his bankruptcy cash for a bill, on discounting the same, but refused to allow the bankrupt to indorse it, thinking the bill better without his name. He had proved the amount under the commission, and on a petition to have the proof expunged, the Chancellor granted the petition, observing, that this was a sale of the bill. The same doctrine was entertained in Ex parte Blackburne, 10 Ves. 206; anle, 214, note (i); and see Ex parte Roberts, 2 Cox, 171.

Fydell v. Clark and another, 1 Esp. Rep. 447, (Chit. j. 561). Where bankers, in discounting a bill, give their customers bills or notes without indorsing them, which turn out to be bad, the bankers are not liable. S. P. Bank of England v. Newman, 1 Ld. Raym. 442, (Chit. j. 207); Emly v. Lye, 15 East, 7, 12, (Chit. j. 849).

(1) Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 65, 66; ante, 244, note (1). Cooke's Bank Law, 120; Exparte Shuttleworth, 3 Ves. 368, (Chit. j. 583); Exparte Blackburne, 10 Ves. 206; Emly v. Lye, 15 East, 13: 1 Mont. 142, 149, 150.

Lye, 15 East, 13; 1 Mont. 142, 149, 150.
Emly v. Lye, 15 East, 13, (Chit. j. 849).
Per Bayley, J. "If a person buy goods of another, who agrees to receive a certain bill in payment, the buyer's name not being on it, and that bill be afterwards dishonoured, the person who took it cannot recover the price of his goods from the buyer, for the bill is considered as a satisfaction. It has been so held, and I can see no difference where money, instead of goods, is given for the bill;" and per Kenyon, C. J. in Owenson v. Morse, 7 T. R. 66. See the cases, ante, 244, 245, 246, in notes.

(1) Anon. 12 Mod. 517, (Chit. j. 216); Fenn v. Harrison, 3 T. R. 759, (Chit. j. 463, 467); Popely v. Ashley, Holt, 121, (Chit. j. 225); Bayl. 5th edit.

(u) Sed quære; see Camidge v. Allenby, 6 B. & C. 373; 9 Dow. & Ry. 391, (Chit. j. 1319); post, Ch. IX. s. i. Of Presentment for Payment.

(x) Synderbottom v. Smith, Stra. 649, (Chit. j. 263); Gee v. Brown, Stra. 792, (Chit. j. 267); ante, 194.

(y) Hull v. Pitfield, 1 Wils. 46, (Chit. j. 306).

(z) Hayling v. Mulhall, 2 Bla, Rep. 1235, (Chit. j. 400); Macdonald v. Bovington, 4 T. R. 925, (Chit. j. 497); Claxton v. Swift, 2 Show. 481, (Chit. j. 167); post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Payment. See post, S20, (31).

(2) Where a negotiable promissory note, signed by one person as principal, and others as sureties, is paid by the principal after it is due, no action can be maintained on it by any person against the sureties. Merrimac Bank v. Parker, 7 Pick. Rep. 88.

Where a surety in a joint note, paid it, but took no assignment from the creditor, of a judgment previously obtained upon it, against the principal debtor, held that the payment satisfied the judgment. Sherwood upon the relation of the State Bank v. Collier, 3 Devereux's R. 380.

(3) If the indorsee after taking the maker in execution, take of him a bond or warrant of attorney to confess judgment, in satisfaction of the execution, this discharges all the other parties. M'Fadden v. Parker, 4 Dall. Rep. 275.

The discharge of one joint promissor under an insolvent act will not operate as a release of the other. Tooke v. Bennett, 3 Caines' Rep. 1.

The holder's proceedings under a commission of bankruptcy against the acceptor of a bill, will

⁽¹⁾ Where bank bills are received in payment, and at the time of such payment the bank which issued the bills has in fact stopped payment, although the failure is not at the time known at the place of payment, the loss falls upon the party paying, and not upon the party receiving the bills. Lightbody v. Ontario Bank, 11 Wend Rep. 9. { Hawley v. Thornton, 2 Hill, 509 S. P. Contra, Scroggs v. Goss, 8 Yerg. 175. }

If a party indorse a bill for the accommodation of the drawer, which is I. Of the Transfer of also accepted by a third person for the like accommodation, such indorser Bills and Notes.

not discharge the responsibility of the antecedent parties. Kenworthy v. Hopkins, 1 Johns. 7thly. Rights and Cas. 107.

Liabilities

Indemnity

of an Acer, &c.

A suit may lie by an indorser against his indorsee upon a special guaranty. 4 Yeates' Rep. of the Par- 436. If the holder of a note, knowing that it was made and discounted for the accommodation of ties. the indorser, give time to the indorser, without consulting the drawer, the latter will not thereby be discharged. Walter r. Bank of Montgomery County, 12 Serg. and R. 382. So, an agreement by the holder of a bill with the drawer for delay, without any consideration, commodaand without any communication with, or assent of the indorser, will not discharge the latter, tion Indors- after due notice of dishonor. M'Lemere r. Powell, 12 Wheat. 554, 556. Quere, whether the indorser has a right to require the holder to compel payment of a bill by suits against the principal. Id. See infra.

The drawer of a check is not surety for the payee, though it be drawn for the accommodation of the latter. Therefore, if a subsequent holder give time to the payee, he being bound to pay the holder, this will not discharge the drawer, even though such holder know that the check was made for the payee's accommodation. Murray v. Judah, 6 Cowen, 484.

So, a receipt of part of a bill, after a regular demand and protest for non-payment, though without the knowledge or consent of the drawer, will not discharge him for the balance appaid. Motte r. Kennedy, 3 M'Cord, 13.

Although the holder of a promissory note, upon the request of the surety, neglects to sue the principal, the surety is not thereby discharged. Fry c. Baker, 4 Pick. 382. { Beardsley c. Warner, 6 Wend. 616. Hogaboom c. Herrick, 4 Verm. 131. }

If an indorsee give time of payment, the indorser is discharged. Whittelsey et al. v. Dean, 2

Aiken's Rep. 263

If the holder of a note take collateral security, the indorser is not thereby discharged, unless the right of action on the note be suspended by such act of the holder. Moar r. Wright, I Vermont Rep. 57.

Where the payees of a promissory note, without the request of the surety, commenced a suit thereon, and attached the property of the principal, and afterwards, by an arrangement made with the principal, dissolved the attachment and discontinued the suit, it was held, in an action brought against the surety on said note, that he was not released from his liability thereon. Montpelier Bank r. Dixon, 4 Vermont Rep. 587.

An agreement without consideration by a creditor with the principal debtor, changing the time of payment of a note, does not discharge the surely to such note. Olcott v. Rathbone, 5 Wend.

Rep. 490.

 Λ_n agreement for delay, without consideration, made between the principal debtor and his creditor, will not discharge a surety. An agreement to have that effect must be a binding agreement, or one to the prejudice of the surety. Hall and Montross v. Constant, 2 Hall's Rep. 185. Planter's Bank v. Sellman, 2 Gill & John 230. }

Where the holder of a note appears at the concurso of the maker's creditors, and votes that property which is mortgaged to secure the payment of the note shall be sold on time, the inderer is discharged. Lobdell r. Niphler, 4 Miller's Louisiana Rep. 294.

An indorser is not discharged by the acceptance by the holder of a note, of a bond and warrant of attorney from the maker, for the purpose of entering judgment thereon, and increasing his security; the bond and warrant in such case, are considered as collateral security. The Mohawk Bank v. Van Horne, 7 Wend. Rep. 117.

If a note payable in specific articles be assigned as collateral security to a bond, and the saignce make a new contract with the maker, the note becomes his own, and all parties to the bond are discharged. Erwin v. Cooke, 2 Devereux's Rep. 183.

A creditor who, on receiving a new note surrenders the first, novates his debt, the surelies he had for the payment of the first are discharged, and the accommodation indorser must be so, if his name be not on the note taken to renew the former. Morgan et al. v. Their Creditors, I Miller's Louisiana Rep. 527.

If a creditor gives a receipt for a draft in payment of his account, the debt is novated. Hunt

r. Boyd, 2 Miller's Louisiana Rep. 109.

The debt is not novated when the vendor consents that the person proposed as indorser may, if he choose, pay the price in cash. Lalawrie v. Cahallen, 2 Miller's Louis. Rep. 401.

Where three individuals are bound in solido for the whole amount of a note, if the holder accept a less sum from two of the drawers, who are released from responsibility, the indorser is discharged. Abat v. Holmes, 8 Id. 351.

A See also Bradford v. Hubbard, 8 Pick. 155; Oxford Bank v. Lewis, Idem, 458; Gloucester Bank v. Worcester, 10 Pick. 528; Parsons v. Same, Idem, 533; Planter's Bank v. Sellman, 2 Gill & John. 230; State Bank v. Wilson, 1 Dev. 484; Bush v. Critchfield, 5 Ham. 113; Brown Williams, 4 Wend. 360; Southwick v. Sox, 9 Wend. 122; Keeler v. Bartine, 12 Idem, 110; Bank of the United States v. Hatch, 6 Peters' 250.

If the holder of a note takes a higher security from the drawer, it discharges the endorser, though time be not given. Bank of Wilmington v. Simmons, 1 Har. Del. Rep. 331. Indulgence may, after he has been compelled to pay the bill, support an action thereon I. Of the against the acceptor, or may prove under his commission, in case of his Transfer of bankruptey (a) (1) And such an accommodation independ in case of his Bills and bankruptcy(a)(1). And such an accommodation indorser, in case there be Notes. reasonable ground to apprehend the insolvency of his principal, has an equit-7thly. able right to withhold the payment of any money which he may owe to him, Rights and until he has been indemnified against any liability on account of his indorse-Liabilities ment, though such liability would be no defence at law to an action by the of the Parties. principal(b). If the indorser of a dishonoured bill promise the indorsee that if he will sue the acceptor, he, the indorser, will pay the law-expenses, to entitle the indorsee to recover on this promise, the amount of his attorney's bill on suing the acceptor, it is not necessary for him to prove that he paid the attorney, his liability to do so being sufficient(c).

*Where the defendant drew upon his brother, C. L. H., certain bills of [*248] exchange, and indorsed them to the plaintiffs, as security for advances made and to be made by them to C. L. H.; and as a further security, C. L. H., by a deed, to which the plaintiffs and defendants respectively were parties, assigned to one B. the lease of his house and the fixtures, furniture and effects therein, in trust that at the request of the plaintiffs, B. should sell the same, and apply the proceeds in discharge of the debts then due or thereafter to become due to the plaintiffs; and the deed also contained a proviso that the premises should be sold or offered for sale, and the proceeds if sold applied in the manner specified in the deed before any proceedings should be commenced against the defendant upon the bills; and the trustee (with the knowledge and assent of the defendant) never took possession, but C. L. H. remained on the premises; and the goods of C. L. H. were afterwards sold by the assignees appointed under a commission sued out against him; it was held, that the proviso was no bar to the plaintiff's right of action upon the bills(d).

(a) Houle r. Baxter, 3 East, 177, (Chit. j. 664). Defendant ordered goods of Capper, and to obtain these materials accepted a bill, drawn on him by Capper; and to increase the credit of the bill, Cupper prevailed on the plaintiff to lend his indorsement. Capper indorsed the bill to Abad, who supplied the silver of which the goods were made, and delivered it to the defendant. Before the bill became due, the defendant became a bankrupt, and obtained his certificate. Plaintiff took up the bill and brought this action, and upon the trial the plaintiff had a verdict, subject to the opinion of the court; and the court held that the bankruptcy of the defendant was a bar to the action, because the plaintiff might have proved under the commission. In Brown and others r. Massey, 15 East, 220, (Chit. j. 852), it appears to have been questioned whether an accommodation indorser could sue an accommodation acceptor. if at the time he so indorsed he knew that the acceptor had received no value. And see Wiffen v. Roberts, 1 Esp. R. 261, (Chit. j. 536).

7'

(b) Wilkins v. Casey, 7 T. R. 711, as observed upon by Lord Ellenborough, C. J. in Willis r. Freeman, 12 East, 659, (Chit. j. 802); Ex parte Metcalfe, 11 Vez. 407, (Chit. j. 719); Madden v. Kemster, 1 Campb. 12, (Chit. j. 739); See Stonehouse v. Read, 5 D. & R. 603; 3 Bar. & Cres. 669, (Chit. j. 1242); post, Ch. VII. s. iii. Indemnity to Acceptor.

(c) Bullock v. Lloyd, 2 Car. & P. 119,

(Chit. j. 1274).
(d) Lancuster v. Harrison, 4 Moore & P. 561; 6 Bing. 726, S. C.

to the maker on receiving securities from him, does not discharge the endorser, where there is no valid agreement for giving time of payment for a definite period. Bank of Utica v. Ives, 17 Wend. 501. Or where there is no evidence of the maker's acceptance of such indulgence. Hefford v. Morton, 11 Louis. 115. And see the following cases on this subject; Freeman's Bank v. Rollins, 1 Shep. Maine Rep. 202; Bank of S. Carolina r. Myers, 1 Bai. 412; Perry v. Corneal, Wright, 197; Westcott v. Price, Idem, 220; Wakefield v. Limbert, R. M. Charlton's Rep. 13; Commercial Bank r. Hughes, 17 Wend. 94; Nicherson v. Revell, 6 Nev. & M. 192; S. C. 4 Adol. & El. 675. Receiving part payment for the acceptor or maker and neglecting to give notice to the indorser, will discharge him. Kilpatrick v. Heaton, 2 Brev. 21; 3 Brev. 93, S. P. }

(1) { The indorser of an accommodation note is to be considered in the light of a surety, and when sued may produce the original contract on which the note was given, to show that it was stipulated the note should not be negotiated. Louisiana State Bank v. Senecal, 11 Curry, 29. }

I. Of the Transfer of Bills and Notes. Sthly, Of Collateral Guarantees that a

Note shall be paid.

Bill or

Sometimes on the transfer of bills or notes, a party may object to indorse, but yet will collaterally guarantee the payment. In France, when a money changer or commercial agent sells a bill to a banker or merchant, he puts his name upon the bill, and thereby warrants the payment, or in case of a note, he guarantees on a separate paper called a val, that the note is Where the party is benefitted by the transfer, it should seem that even his verbal promise would be valid, but when the engagement would be collateral, and within the meaning of the statute against frauds, as an agreement to answer for the debt, default, or miscarriage of a third person, it must be in writing, and either expressly or impliedly state on the face of it an adequate consideration; (1) and it has been decided, that a written engagement that a bill, note or check shall be paid, will not be valid unless according to the requisites of the statute against frauds, it sufficiently, on the face of it, shows that there was an adequate consideration for giving it(f); therefore, an undertaking in these words, "Messrs. Morley & Co. we hereby promise that your draft on Wm. Clark, Son & Co. due at Messis. Mastermans' at six months, on the 27th Nov. next, shall be then paid out of money to be received from St. Phillip's Church, say amount, 1741. 13e. 5d.

Wm. Clark, Wm. Boothby, 26 May, 1824," is void under the statute, no consideration appearing for Boothby's promise (f).

The following memorandum is also void:—" Inclosed I forward you the bills drawn per J. A. upon and accepted by L. D. which I doubt not will meet due honour, but in default thereof I will see the same paid. B. J. [*249] A.(g)." But where an agent remitted bills in payment of his principal's (e) See De la Chaumette v. Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 210; Dans. & L. 319; 2 Bar.

& Ald. 385, (Chit. j. 1419, 1542).

(f) Morley v. Boothby, 3 Bing. 107; 10

Moore, 395; 3 Law J. 177, C. P., S. C.; see also Phillips v. Bateman, 16 East, 356. See post, 820, (32).

(g) Hawes v. Armstrong, 1 Bing. N. C. 761; 1 Scott, 661; 1 Hodges, 179, S. C. Tindal, C. J. "The consideration is thus stated in the present case:—that the plaintiffs, at the request of the defendant, would give time for the payment of the debt of 2601, then due from John Thomas Armstrong and Dell, and would take, accept and receive, by way of security for the payment of the same, the several bills of exchange set out in the declaration, and would forbear and give time to the said John Thomas Armstrong and Dell for payment of the said debt or sum of 260%, until the said bills should respectively become due and payable. And whether this consideration sufficiently appears in the written memorandum, is the point in dispute. That such consideration does not appear expressly and in terms in such memorandum is apparent on the bare inspection of the writing itself. It is not, however, necessary that such consideration should appear in cx-press terms: it would undoubtedly be sufficient in any case, if the memorandum is so framed that any person of ordinary capacity must infer from the perusal of it that such and no other was the consideration upon which the undertaking was given. Not that a mere conjecture, however plausible, that the consideration stated in the declaration was that intended by the memorandum, would be sufficient to satisfy the statute, but there must be a well-grounded inference to be necessarily collected from the terms of the memorandum that the consideration stated in the declaration, and no other than such consideration, was intended by the parties to be the ground of the promise. Now, looking at the memorandum in this case and reading it as persons of ordinary understanding would read it, we cannot come to the conclusion, that giving time and forbearing to sue was necessarily the consideration for the promise of the defendant. It may have been so, undoubtedly, and most probably it was. But the consideration may also have been, for any thing to the contrary to be collected from the written agreement, an engagement on the part of the plaintiffs to extend their credit to Armstrong and Dell, or an engagement by the plaintiffs to dicount these bills for Armstrong and Dell. For there is noth-

So in Virginia, though in their statute the word promise was used. 5 Cranch's Rep. 151, 152.

The words "value received" in a guaranty to pay the debt of another, are a sufficient expressing of the consideration. Watson v. M'Laven, 19 Wend. 557.

⁽¹⁾ Although this is the English rule, and has been adopted in New York, Sears r. Brink, 3 Johns. Rep. 210. Leonard v. Vredeuburgh, S Johns. Rep. 29, and in South Carolina, 2 Nott & M'Cord, 372; yet it has been rejected in many of the States. See Levy v. Merrill, 4 Green. Rep. 180, 387. Packard v. Richardson, 17 Mass. Rep. 122. Sage v. Wilcox, 6 Con. Rep. 81.

1,[

debt, and wrote, "that should they not be honoured when due, he (the I. Of the agent) would see them paid," this was holden a sufficient engagement within Transfer of the statute (h). And in a very recent case, where the plaintiff having pressed W. for payment of a debt, the defendant, W.'s attorney, sent to plaintiff a bill accepted by W. at two months inclosed in a letter, in which the descendent said, "W. being disappointed in receiving remittances and your tees in lieur expressing yourself inconvenienced for money, I send you his acceptance of Indoneat two months;" and the plaintiff refusing to take the bill unless defendant ment. put his name to it, the defendant wrote on the back of the letter "I will see the bill paid for W." It was held, that the defendant was responsible, and that the consideration (viz. the forbearing to sue) for the guarantee sufficiently appeared(i). So a written promise, "Messrs. B. & Co.—Gentlemen, our mutual friends, Messrs. S. & Co. having accepted the underwritten bill drawn on them by your firm, I hereby give my guarantee for the due payment of the same, should it be dishonoured by the acceptors," was held binding on the defendant(k). And a written promise, "Mr. P.—Sir, M. L. having chartered your ship, Roberts, to bring a cargo from New-Brunswick, and the same being landed to the *charterer, and he having paid [*250] you one-half of the freight, and given you his acceptance for the remainder, at four months date, I engage to be accountable to you for the amount of the said acceptance should it not be paid when due," was also holden valid(1). And from a late case it should seem that the following is a sufficient guarantee within the statute. "In consideration of your being in advance to Messrs. Lees in the sum of 10,000l. for the purchase of cotton, I hereby give you my guarantee for that amount on their behalf .- J. BROOKS:" at all events the plaintiffs giving up such guarantee is a sufficient consideration for the defendant's promise to see certain acceptances paid(m).

ing whatever in the letter itself that necessarily connects the undertaking of the defendant with the consideration of forbearance; no expression to denote that the bills are delivered in satisfaction of or as security for the debt then due from Armstrong and Dell to the plaintiffs, nor even any mention that any debt was due to them. Undoubtedly, it is extremely probable, from the amount of the debt due from Armstrong and Dell agreeing exactly with the amount of the bills inclosed in the letter, that such bills were sent as a security for the debt then due, and if so, that the forbearance for the time the bills had to run must have formed the ground for the promise of the defendant; and there is no written evidence to show that such was the case: and after proof of the existence of such debt by parol evidence (which might be admitted) the great link in the chain of the evidence would still be wanting, and there would be nothing but parol evidence to supply it, namely, that the forbearance of suing for that debt was the consideration for the particular promise.

"Thinking, therefore, in this case, that the consideration for the defendant's promise is left in complete uncertainty upon the defendant's letter, we cannot bring ourselves to the conclusion that the memorandum is sufficient to take the case out of the statute of frauds, and consequently we hold that there must be judgment for the defendant.' In Ellis v. Levi, (decided T. T. 1836), the court pronounced a like judgment on the following agreement:—

"Mr. T. Ellis, 60, Whitechapel. Mr. Richard H. Chase, of the Office of Ordnance, Barbadoes, about to proceed thither in the Mary, having incurred an account with you amounting to 491. 5s. with the understanding that he is to transmit the amount to you three months after he shall have arrived at Barbadoes, we hereby guarantee his performance of the said engagement, and in failure thereof we will be responsible to you. Isaac Levy and Bing. N. C. 767, note (a); 1 Scott, 669, note (a), S. C.

(h) Morris v. Stacy, Holt, C. N. P. 153, (Chit. j. 950). There A. an agent for some manufactures, sold to B., who likewise acted as an agent, a quantity of shoes, and received certain bills of exchange in payment. B. being pressed to indorse them refused, but wrote a letter to A., in which he inclosed the bills, and added "that should they not be honoured when duc, he (B.) would see them paid." Held, that this was a sufficient agreement within the 4th section of the statute against frauds to bind B. to pay for the goods in default of his principal. Sed vide Hawes v. Armstrong, 1 Bing. N. C. 761, ante, 248, note (g).

(i) Emmott v. Kearns, 5 Bing. N. C. 559. (k) Boehm v. Campbell, 3 Moore, 15; 8 Taunt. 679, (Chit. j. 1045). Sed quære; see ante, 248, note (g).

(1) Pace v. Marsh, 1 Bing 216; 8 Moore,

59, S. C. Sed quare; see ante, 248, note (g).

(m) Haigh v. Brooks. T. T. 1839, Q. B. 2

Perry & Dav. Lord Denman, C. J. in delivering the judgment of the court said, "It was ar-

I. Of the Bills and Notes.

8thly. Guarantee in lieu of Indorsement.

But even in those cases where a valid engagement has been made, that a Transfer of bill or note shall be paid, it is effectual only between the original parties to it, and not transferable at law, or in equity, or in bankruptcy; nor can the action or proof be upon it, as in the case of the indorsement of a bill or note, but it must be on a special agreement, or the consideration which existed before, or passed at the time of the transaction(n). So a written engagement to warrant the payment of a bill of exchange, although good for other purposes, is not within the statute of 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 51, which applies only to what arises on the face of the instrument (o)(1).

> gued for defendant that this guarantee is of no force, because the fact of plaintiff's being already in advance to Lees could form no consideration for defendant's promise to guarantee to plaintiff the payment of Lee's acceptances. In the first place this is by no means clear. That 'being in advance' must necessarily mean to assert that he was in advance at the time of giving the guarantee, is an assertion open to argument. It may possibly have been intended as prospective. If the phrase had been in consideration of your becoming in advance,' or on condition of your being in advance, such would have been the clear import. As it is, nobody can doubt that the defendant took a reat interest in the affairs of Messrs. Lees, or believe that the plaintiff had not come under the advance mentioned at defendant's request. Here is then sufficient doubt to make it worth defendant's while to possess himself of the guarantee, and if that be so, we have no concern with the adequacy or inadequacy of the price paid or promised for it. But we are by no means prepared to say that any circumstances short of the imputation of fraud in fact would entitle us to hold that a party was not bound by a promise made upon any consideration which could be valuable; while of its being so, the promise, by which it was obtained from the holder of it, must always afford some proof. Here, whether or not the guarantee could have been available within the doctrine of Wain r. Warlters, the plaintiff was induced by the defendant's promise to part with something which he might have kept, and defendant obtained what he desired by means of that promise. Both being free and able to judge for themselves, how can defendant be justified in breaking this promise by discovering afterwards that the thing, in consideration of which he gave it, did not possess that value which he supposed to belong to it? It cannot be ascertained that that value was what he most regarded. He may have had other objects and motives, and of their weight he was the only judge."

(n) Ex parte Harrison, 2 Cox, 172; 2 Bro. C. C. 614; in re Barrington, 2 Schol & Lef. 112, (Chit. 607), ante, Ex parte Hustler, 1 Glyn. & J. 9, (Chit. j. 1019, 1106); Ex parte Isbester, 1 Rose, 20; Ex parte Bell, 19th April, 1829, 1 Mont. Bank. Law, 3d edit. 194.

(o) Ex parte Harrison, 2 Cox, 172; S. C. 2 Bro. C. C. 614. A decisen on similar provision in 7 Geo. 1, c. 31.

(1) Where upon the back of a promissory note made by S. and A. to the plaintiffs, were written the words, "I guaranty the payment of the within note," which were signed by the defendant, it was held, that he was a guarantee and not a surety. Oxford Bank c. Haynes, 8 Pick-Rep. 423.

The guarantee of a promissory note will be discharged by a neglect of the holder to demand payment of the maker and to give the guarantee notice of non payment, provided the maker was solvent when the note fell due, but has since become insolvent. Ibid.

Where A. gave to B. a writing in these words: "Whereas B. has agreed to indorse C.'s notes at the Middletown Bank, to the amount of 4000 dollars, I hereby agree to be responsible to B. for one half the amount of any loss he may sustain by said indorsement; and I agree to pay the one half of any payments which B. may be obliged to make, in the same manner and at the same time I should be obliged to pay it, provided I was joint indorser with him on said notes; it was held, 1. That such writing was not on its face a continuing guaranty, but was limited to the indorsement of notes once only, to the amount of $4000; 2. That parol evidence of the subject matter of the agreement and of the circumstances under which it was made, was inadmissi ble to affect the construction; 3. That by virtue of the agreement, B. was authorized to indorse the notes of C., by attorney, the act being fixed, and not requiring the exercise of judgment or discretion, and therefore capable of delegation; 4. That B. was not bound to give notice to A. of the several indorsements of C.'s notes, as they were made; and 5. That A. was not entitled, as an indorser, to strict notice of the dishonor of such notes. Hall v. Rand, S Conn. Rep. 560.

A declaration upon an indersement of a promissory note guaranteeing payment by the maker, must set out the consideration of such indersement. The guaranter upon such indersement is not liable without a demand and notice of non-payment. Green v. Dodge et at., Ohio Rep.

Cond. 436.

Where a note given by a partner for his individual debt, in the name of the firm was delivered by the payee to the defendant, the other partner, to secure it by an attachment in the name of the payee, upon the defendant's guaranteeing the payment of it, it was held, that there was a sufficient consideration for the guaranty; and that as the defendant at the time of signing the guaran12

Section II.—Of Actions for Bills or Proceeds, and Bills IN EQUITY TO RESTRAIN TRANSFERS.

When a bill or note was void in its creation (q), or has been unduly obtained II. Of Ac-

(p) See ante, 97 to 101.

Trover. 180, (Chit. j. 1027). The bill was given for and Bills (q) Lloyd v. Gurdon and another, 2 Swanst. money won at play; ante, 98, note (z).

to restrain Negotiaty, knew for what consideration the note was given, he could not avoid the guaranty on the tion, &c. ground that he erroneously supposed himself to be liable on the note. Flagg v. Upham, 10 Pick. Ĭ47.

Where a promissory note was paid by a surety, the guaranter was held not to be liable to contribution. Longly v. Griggs, Id. 121.

A guarantee in general terms, warranting the collection of a note, does not authorize a suit against the guaranter by any subsequent holder of the note; it is a special contract, which can be enforced only in the name of the person with whom the contract was made. Lamorieux v. Hewit, 5 Wend. 307.

Such general guaranty cannot be altered on the trial, so as to make it a guaranty to the plaintiff in the suit, as is done in filling a blank indorsement of a promissory note. Ib.

A guarantee cannot object laches in the holder for not seeking satisfaction of the principal debtor, if a suit be commenced within three months after the debt falls due. 1b.

The doctrine of laches in such case is not applicable, if the principal debtor be insolvent. Ib. In articles for the purchase of land, whereby the purchaser covenanted to pay in notes "such as he would be responsible for," the covenant binds him as a guarantor. Ward r. Ely, 1 Devreux's Rep. 372.

When the payment of a note is guaranteed by a third person, it is an absolute undertaking that the note shall be paid when due, and if not paid, a suit may be immediately commenced upon the guaranty, and if the guaranty is by the indorser of the note, it dispenses with the necessity of a demand of the maker and notice to the indorser. Cumpston v. M'Nair, 1 Wend. Rep. 457.

Where the plaintiff in an action against B., on his guaranty of A 's note, averred in the declaration, that "in consideration the plaintiff would delay the collection of said note, and not exact payment thereof for four years thereafter, and of the plaintiff's promise of forbearance to collect the same for that time," the defendant promised, &c.: it was held, that this was a sufficient allegation of consideration for the defendant's engagement, and adapted to proof of an agreement on the part of the plaintiff to forbear. Breed r. Hillhouse, 7 Conn. Rep. 523.

Where the payee of a promissory note, after it became due, accepted the guaranty of a third person for a certain period, and actually forbore suit during that period; it was held, that these facts afforded prima facic evidence of an agreement by the plaintiff to forbear suit. Ib. If, after the dishonour of a note, the indorser promise to pay it, such promise is presumptive evidence of due demand and notice. Ib. And this rule is applicable to the case of a third person, who has guaranteed the payment of

Where a third person guaranteed the payment of a note, by an indorsement in these words, "I hereby guaranty the payment of this note, within four years from this date," it was held, that this was an absolute engagement on the part of the guarantor, that the note should be paid within the time specified, by the maker, or by himself; and that demand and notice were not necessary. Ib. When a note is indorsed, guaranteeing the solvency of the maker, held, that the holder will be entitled to recover from the indorser, upon proving demand and notice, without proof of the maker's insolvency. Bell r. Johnson and Hicks, 4 Yerger's Rep. 194.

{ A guaranty in these words, "I warrant this note good," endorsed by a payce upon a note, is a guaranty that the note is collectable: and not that it will be paid on demand; and to charge the guarantor it is necessary to show that payment cannot be enforced against the maker. Curtis v. Smallman, 14 Wend. 231.

Where one of the signers of a note payable on demand, added these words, to his name, "surety ninety days from date." They were holden to constitute a guaranty that the principal should remain of sufficient ability to pay the note for that period; and that the liability of the surety could not be extended beyond the ninety days. Ulmer v. Reed, 2 Fairf. 293. And see True v. Harding, 3 Fairf. 193; Erwin v. Sanborn, 1 Har. Del. Rep. 125; Lee v. Dick, 10 Pe

Where an absolute guaranty is endorsed upon a note payable to bearer, at the time of the making thereof, and the note and guaranty are transferred by the payee, the assignee may maintain an action in his own name against the guaranter without showing demand of payment of the maker and notice of non-payment. Hough v. Gray, 19 Wend. 202; Watson v. M'Laron, Id. 557. But such guaranty is not negotiable unless it be upon the note in which case it may be treated as an endorsement without a necessity of demand and notice. Ib. And such a guarantor is liable for the whole note and not merely for the amount received by him. Oakley v. Boorman, 21 id.

tions of Trover. and Bills in Equity to restrain Negotiation, &c.

II. Of Ac- or is detained contrary to the purpose for which it was delivered, either to an agent, or to any person aware of the circumstance, the party entitled to the instrument, even though an accommodation *acceptor, may maintain an action of detinue or trover to recover the same or its value (r)(1), or assumpsit for money had and received, if the proceeds of the bill have been received(s), and this without being subject to the set-off (t); and the negotiation of it may be [*251] restrained by a court of equity(u), which has a peculiar jurisdiction, to prevent a party from being sued at law upon a security which has been improperly obtained, and to order it to be delivered up to be cancelled(x). Courts of equity have also concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of law in relieving against bills and notes taken when overdue (y).

If a party receiving a bill payable to order for the purpose of getting it indorsed for another person, procures the indorsement, pays in the bill to his

(r) Evans v. Kymer, 1 Bar & Adol. 529, strained from parting with or assigning the note (Chit. j. 1512); ante, 97, note (a). See post, till answer or further order. See also 3 Bro. C. 820. (33).

(s) See Atkins r. Owen, 4 Ad. & El. 819, infra, note (z).

(t) Jones v. Fort, 9 B. & C. 764; 4 M. & Ry. 547, (Chit. j. 1445).

(u) Bromley r. Holland, 7 Ves. 20; Jervis v. White, id. 413; Newman v. Milner, 2 Ves. jun. 483, (Chit. j. 514); Hammersley v. Purling, 3 Ves. 757; Berkeley v. Brymer, 9 Ves. 355, (Chit. j. 692). As to partners, see ante, 49, 52, 53. As to want of consideration, see ante, 69 to 81. As to Illegality, see ante, 81 to 97.

(x) Newman v. Milner, 2 Ves. jun. 488, (Chit. j. 514). Plaintiff prayed a discovery, injunction, and delivery of a bill of exchange; apon the answers and evidence, the right being clear, the court refused an opportunity of trying it at law, and decreed an immediate delivery. Sec also Jervis v. White, 7 Ves. 413; 2 Ves. & Bea. 302; Houlditch v. Nias, 8 Price, 689; Solly v. Moore, 8 Price, 631; ante, 98.

Smith v. Haytwell, Ambl. 66; 3 Atk. 566, (Chit. j. 319). Bill to be relieved against a promissory note given upon a marriage brokage agreement; on motion, the defendant was re-

C. 177; Prac. Reg. Ch. 233; wood, 8 Anst. 851, (Chit. j. 575); Cotton v. Catlyn, 2 Eq. Ca. Abr. 525. An injunction was granted to prevent the negotiating a note at play. upon atfidavit before service of the subpose. See also Newman v. Franco, 2 Anst. 519, (Chit. j. 535); Andrews v. Berry, 3 Anst. 624; Newland on Cont. 491 to 494.

Burrows v. Jemino, 2 Eq. Ca. Abr. 525, pl. 7, (Chit. j. 265). Where the acceptance of a bill of exchange became void by the law of a foreign country, and was vacated by a competent court there, a perpetual injunction was granted against proceedings here.

Berkeley v. Brymer, 9 Ves. 355, (Chit. j. 692). Affidavits cannot be read in support of an injunction to restrain the negotiation of a bill; and from Iveson v. Harris, 7 Ves. 257, it appears that an injunction is not binding upon a person not party in the cause; Echilf v. Baldwin, 16 Ves. 267. In the case of a lost bill, Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit. j. 996); post, 264, n. (r). In the case of a bill indorsed after it was due, see Goggerly v. Cuthbert, 2 New Rep. 170.

(y) Hodgson v. Marray, 2 Saund. 515.

Where the guaranty is an absolute promise to pay, and not a mere guaranty for collection, and an advance of money is made upon the strength of the declaration of its validity by the guarantor, it seems, that the guaranter would be held liable though there should be no note in existence. Watson v. M'Laren, ut supra.

But in Massachusetts, the words "I guaranty the payment of semi annual interest on this note, as well as principal, were held not to be a negotiable guaranty, nor made so by being on a negotiable note. True v. Fuller, 21 Pick. 140.

A guaranty of payment upon a negotiable note over the signature of the indorser is prima facile evidence that it was written at the time the indorsement made. Gilman v. Lewis, 15 Maine Rep. 453. But where it was written over the name of the payee who had indorsed the note in blank without his knowledge or consent, parol evidence was rejected to charge him as indorser-and such a note was held inadmissible under the money counts. Smith v. Frye, 14 Maine Rep. 457.

A guaranter " for debt and costs without demand or notice," though not liable for the expenses of a protest, is so for the costs of a suit against the maker. Gilman v. Lewis, ut supra

A delay in the presentment of a bill; does not discharge the guarantor. Sinclair v. Barrett, 1 Irish Law Rep. 46. }

(1) Where the payee of a note, which ought to have been delivered up to the maker, sold and transferred it to a third person, who afterwards sued the maker thereon and recovered judgment; it was held that an action of trover would lie by the maker against the payee to recover the amount of the note; and that, if said judgment had any effect on the rights of the parties, an exemplification of the record ought to have been produced to show that such a judgment had been rendered. Buck v. Kent, 3 Verm. Rep. 99. 1,0

1. 20 .

JE 200

242 L 3

. H.Z

34 5 1. 1.72

10.2

. Kr. 131 MI VE

. __ ;

انعنك نه خا

A1150. 141

المحاز

1. 115

1030000

العراق ال ا فلما ا ا فلما ا

ر نند پر

14.5°

. .

فأز ملاء

. 15

, , ,

210

4 E 2 1

≻#*

...5'

امون دي مر

,*

147

الوي

~ J}

own account at his bankers, with intent to appropriate the proceeds, and, II. Of Acbefore the bill is due, draws upon such account (though not specifically on tions of the credit of the bill,) and his draft is honoured, an action of trover may be and Bills in commenced against him before the bill is due, but not an action for money had Equity to and received (z). And where the drawer of a bill of exchange deposites it restrain with a creditor, giving him authority to receive the proceeds, and apply them tion, &c. in a specified way, if the creditor, after an act of bankruptcy by such drawer, gives up the original bill to the acceptor (taking another bill in lieu of it), this is a conversion by the creditor, and the assignees of the drawer may support trover(a).

So, where R. being employed to procure a bill of exchange to be discounted for the plaintiff instead of doing so, indorsed it, and placed it in the hands of the defendant, who was clerk to a creditor of R.; and the defendant carried the bill to R.'s account with his creditor, and though afterwards apprised of the circumstances under which R. held the bill, refused to restore it; it was held that the defendant was liable to the plaintiff in trover(b).

*At law, except in the instance of warrant of attorney(c), there is no ju- [*252] risdiction to order the security to be vacated, and the contracting party must, at the risk of losing the evidence which might establish his defence, wait till the party who holds the security thinks fit to try the validity of the instrument in an action, and should he be nonsuited, he will still be at liberty to proceed de novo upon his security; but a court of equity will often decree instruments to be delivered up to be cancelled, although the objection to their validity might be taken advantage of at law, for fear that the evidence to impeach them might be lost, or a vexatious use made of them (d). where a bill of exchange has been negotiated by means of a forgery of the name of the payee as indorser, a court of equity will restrain even a bona fide holder of the bill from suing the acceptor, and will direct the forged instrument to be delivered up to be cancelled (e). As, however, the party apply-

(z) Atkins v. Owen, 4 Ad. & El. 819; 6 Nev. & M. 309; 2 Har. & W. 59, S. C. As to granting new trial in case of nonsuit for not producing bill, see ib. note (b); 4 Nev. & Man. 123, S. Č

(a) Robson v. Rolls, 1 Mood. & R. 239.

(b) Cranch v. White, 1 Bing, N. C. 414; 1 Scott, 814; 3 Dowl. 377; 1 Hodges, 4; 5 Car. & P. 767, S. C. In such case R. is a competent witness for the plaintiff, (independently of 8 & 4 Will. 4, c. 42,) as standing indifferent between the parties; Fancourt v. Bull, 1 Bing. N. C. 681; 1 Scott, 645, S. C., infra, note; and see post, Part II. Ch. V. s. iv. Evidence-Competency of Witness.

Where to a count in detinue, on the bailment of a promissory note, to be re-delivered on request, the defendant pleaded, that the plaintiff had deposited the note with him, to be kept as a plodge and security for the repayment of a loan of 501.; and the plaintiff replied a tender of the 501.; it was held, on special demurrer, that such replication was good, and no departure; Gledstane v. Hewitt, 1 Crom. & J. 565. And in trover for a bill, defendant having pleuded that plaintiff indorsed the bill in blank; that R. became the holder, and that defendant believing that R. had authority to dispose of the bill took it of him as a pledge to secure the payment of a debt; a replication that at the time of taking the bill from R. the defendant knew that he had not authority to pledge was held sufficient; Hilton v. Swan, 5 Bing. N. C. 418; 7 Scott, 398, S. C. Where in trover for a bill the defendant plended that the drawer, being lawfully possessed of the bill, indersed it to P., and that P. for good consideration indersed to defendant, to which the plaintiff replied that there was no good consideration for P.'s indorsing the bill; and the jury found for the plaintiff on that replication; the court refused to arrest the judgment or award a repleader, on the ground of the issue raised by the replication being immaterial, for that the plaintiff's property in the bill being admitted by the plea it was not sufficient to divest him of that property without alleging either that P. or the defendant took the bill for valuable consideration; Fancourt v. Bull. 1 Bing. N. C. 681; 1 Scott, 645, S. C. A party who being employed by the plaintiff to procure a bill to be discounted, lodges it instead with the defendant as a security for a debt doe to the defendant, is a competent witness for the plaintiff in an action of trover for the recovery of the bill; i.l. ibid.

(c) When equity will not relieve against execution, see Nayler v. Christie, 8 Price, 534. But see Whittingham r. Bouroyne, 3 Anst. 900; anle, 99, note (h).

(d) Id. ibid. and see other cases in Newland on Cont. 493, 494.

(c) Esdaile v. La Nauze, 1 Younge & Col. 394.

Trover, Equity to restrain Negotiation, &c.

II. Of Ac- ing for relief seeks equity, he must observe it, and therefore the court, in affording relief, will compel him to pay what may be justly due, and will and Bills in impose on him such equitable terms as the justice of the case may require (f). Where an action is brought against the plaintiff in equity for damages for not accepting certain bills of exchange according to contract, and the bill prays an account and discovery of certain matters to aid the plaintiff's desence to the action at law, and an injunction in the mean time; if discovery is made, the defendant in equity is entitled to have the injunction dissolved; and the court cannot refuse to dissolve the injunction in order to see the result of the account, and to enable the plaintiff to set off the account against the damages, equitable set off being equitable relief, and requiring to be specifically prayed by the bill(g).

*Section III .- Of the Loss of Bills, Notes, &c. .

III. Of the Loss of Bills. Notes, &c.

by Loser (ħ).

In case the holder of a bill, note, bank note, or check, has lost the same, either by accident or felony, he ought immediately to give notice of his loss as explicitly and extensively as possible, in order to prevent persons ignorant of the loss from taking it(i); and also in cases of felony to lead to the appre-Course to be pursued hension of the offender (k) tand it has even been considered, that the negligence of the loser in this respect will prejudice, if not preclude him from recovering the instrument or its value from a person who had not had actual notice of the loss, though he himself had not used due caution in taking it, and the latter might defend, on the maxim, potior est conditio possidentis, at least, the neglect of the loser has so prejudiced a jury as to induce them to find against him, and the court refused a new trial (l). A written notice, stating the numbers, dates, sums, names and residences of the parties, and other terms of the securities, the particulars of the time, place, and mode of loss, description of the supposed felon, and reference to one or more persons who will make any further communication, should be framed, and with or without a promise of reward, to be paid on delivery up of the securities, if lost, or on the apprehension and conviction of the felon if stolen(m). Care, however, must > (f) Byne v. Vivian, 5 Ves. 604; Newland on Cont. 494, 495; Fitzroy v. Gyllim, 1 T. R. 153; Hindle v. O'Brien, 1 Taunt. 413; Benfield r. Solomon, 9 Ves. 84.

(g) Rawson v. Samuel, 3 Juris, 947.
(h) See in general Lettre de Change perdue, 1 Pardess. 432 to 436.

(i) Per cur. in Beckwith v. Corrall, 3 Bing. 445; 11 Moore, $35, (Chit. j. 1291); post, 257; Poth. pl. 132.

(k) Beawes, pl. 179. (l) Per Best, C. J. in Snow c. Pencock, 3 Bing. 408, 411; 11 Moore, 286, (Chit. j. 1280); and see Beckwith v. Corrall, id. 445; 11 Moore,

335, (Chit. j. 1291).
(m) In Bridger r. Heath and another, K. B. Sittings at Westin. Middlesex, A. D. 1828, cor. Lord Tenterden, C. J. and a special jury, MS. post, 258, note (2), the following was the form of advertisement inserted in the several news-

Twenty-five Guineas Reward .- Lost or · stolen, from the person of a gentleman, at the Russell Street entrance into the pit of Drury Lane Theatre, on Monday night last. a Bank of England note value 2007., numbered 7071, and dated 3d February, 1827. When lost it was divided into halves. Whoever will bring the same to Mesers.

—, law stationers, Royal Exchange, if lost, or if stolen will give such information as shall lead to a conviction of the offenders, shall receive the above reward."

Hand bills also containing the like advertisement were stuck up about London, and left at most of the banking houses and police offices, and were also circulated at Newmarket, Doncaster, Plymouth, Dover, Portsmouth, and several other places; and see a description of bills, antc, 97, note (k).

With respect to the party entitled to the reward, in a very recent case, where a party who had been robbed of bank notes put forth a hand bill, wherein it was stated that "whosoever would give information whereby the same might be traced, should, on conviction of the parties, receive a reward of 201.," it was held that the only person entitled to the reward, was he who first gave information by which the notes were traced to the robbers, so as to ensure their conviction, and that it was not necessary that such information should be communicated to the par-be observed in framing the notice of the loss not to introduce any statement III. Of the that can be treated as libellous; it may and ought, consistently with the facts, Loss of Bills, to state in direct terms the fraud, embezzlement, felony, and even forgery, Notes, &c. but there should be no necessary intendment of any individual in particular, unless it be a clear case of guilt in a particular individual, when the statement of his name and description may be absolutely essential for the purpose of leading to his apprehension(n).

*This notice should immediately be forwarded to all the parties, to the se- [*254] curities (o), to the Bank of England, and all banking houses, to whom the securities might possibly be tendered; printed copies of such notice, in case of felony, should be left at Bow Steet and other public police offices, and inserted in the Hue and Cry, (a paper circulated by order of the Secretary of State for the Home Department, to announce the perpetration of offences,) and in the Gazette, and in all the principal London newspapers. The like notice should also be circulated in hand-bills and placards about the metropolis, and at all the expected principal races, fights, large fairs, and places where it is usual for stolen or lost bank notes and bills to be attempted to be circulated. when the loss has been considerable, or has taken place in the country, then the like notice should be circulated in the country newspapers, and communicated to all the country bankers, and at the markets and fairs in the neighbourhood by placards and otherwise(p); and if the securities were bank notes, or of a nature likely to be transmitted to the Continent, the like notice, in French and English, should immediately be given to the bankers and other commercial agents in the principal towns on the continent, and also inserted in their public papers (q). An advertisement stating the loss of a pocketbook, and that the contents were of no use to any but the owner, and not describing the lost bill, has been considered as misleading and improper, and on that account the jury found against the loser(r). So the notice should be immediate, and if the party cannot instantly ascertain the particulars of the securities, he must give the best description he can, and as soon as possible afterwards obtain the particulars, and then give a second fuller notice; and where a party having been robbed of a bill eight days before it was due, gave no notice till the day before it was due, it was held that he could not recover in trover against a party who discounted the security six days after the loss(s).

Where a person having lost a bill of exchange, which he supposed to have ty robbed, if it was given to a person authorised to receive it, and to act upon it in the apprehension of the offenders, as to the constable. Lancaster v. Wulsh, 4 Mec. & Wels. 16.

(n) See form, ante, 97, note (k), and form in Bridger v. Heath, supra, n. (m); and Stock-

.x ...'

. **

ley v. Clement, 4 Bing. 162.
Stockley v. Clement, 4 Bing. 162; 12 Moore, An advertisement in a news-paper was as follows: "To bill brokers and others. Caution. Reward.-Whereas information has been given to me, that attempts have been made to obtain the discount of a bill of exchange, bearing date, London, May 26, 1825, and purporting to be drawn by one John Stockley upon, and to be accepted by, the Dowager Lady P. Turner for 6000l. with interest, payable twelve months after date to the order of the said J. Stockley: I do hereby give notice on behalf of the Dowager Lady P. T. that she has not ac-cepted such bill, and that if her name should appear on any such instrument, the same has been forged, or her hand-writing to the said acceptance of the said bill if genuine has been obtained by fraud, in total ignorance on her part of the intended effect of the signature. Any person who will give positive information to me of the party in possession of the said instrument, shall be handsomely rewarded. Thomas Binns." This was held not a libel on Stockley, at least without innuendo and proof that he was the person designed to be charged with having forged Lady P. Turner's name.

(a) Poth. pl. 132.

(p) See Snow v. Pencock, 8 Bing. 406; 11 Moore, 286, (Chit. j. 1280).

(q) See the expediency of this step also in De la Chaumette v. Bank of England, 9 Bar. &

(r) Beckwith r. Corrall, 2 Bing. 445, 446;

11 Moore, 335, (Chit. j. 1291). (s) Beckwith r. Corrall, 2 Car. & P. 261; post, 257, note (h).

III. Of the been stolen, went before a magistrate and related the circumstances of the loss, and the magistrate granted his warrant to apprehend A. B. on a charge Bille, Notes, &c. of having "feloniously stolen, taken, and carried away" the bill of exchange, (language which the complainant did not use when he laid his information,) and upon subsequent investigation of the case it turned out to be no felony, it was held that an action on the case would not be supported for maliciously procuring the magistrate to grant his warrant, because, to sustain the averment of malice, the charge must be wilfully false(t), Conse quences of Loss, and where a Right acquired.

If the holder of a foreign or inland bill of exchange, check, bank-note, or other note, transferable by mere delivery, (which we have *seen may be when the bill was originally payable to bearer, or when the first indorsement has been in blank(u), lose or be robbed of it, and it get into the hands of a [*255] person not aware of the loss(x) or robbery, bona fide, and for a sufficient consideration, previously to its being due(y), such person, notwithstanding he derived his interest in the instrument through the person who found or stole it, may maintain an action against the acceptor or other parties; and the original holder who lost it, will consequently forfeit all right of ac-[*256] tion(z)(1); and a bank *note cannot in general be recovered by the legal owner

(t) Cohen v. Morgan, 6 D. & R. 8.

(u) Anie, 225, 226.

(x) See in general Chitty's Eq. Dig. tit. "Deeds lost," 311; 1 Pardess. 427, 432, 476, tit. "Perde da la Lettre de Change" per tot.

(y) Good v. Coe, cited in Boehm v. Stirling, 7 T. R. 427, (Chit. j. 593); Glover v. Thom-son, Ryan & Mood. C. N. P. 403, (Chit. j. 1806); et ante, 215, 216, as to time of transfer.

(z) Anon. Ld. Raym. 738, (Chit. j. 202); Anon. 1 Salk. 126, (Chit. j. 208); Anon. 3 Salk. 71, (Chit. j. 222); Exors. Devaller v. Herring, 9 Mod. 47; Miller v. Race, Burr. 452, (Chit. j. 346); Grant v. Vaughan, Burr. 1516, (Chit. j. 365); ante, 198, note (i); Pencock v. Rhodes, Dougl. 633, (Chit. j. 403); ante, 227, note (x); Hinton's case, 2 Show. 235, (Chit. j. 166); Lawson v. Weston, 4 Esp. R. 56, (Chit. j. 640); Lee r. Newsam, Dow. & R. C. N. P. 50.

Anon. Lord Raym. 738; (Chit. j. 202); 1 Salk. 126, (Chit. j. 208); 3 Salk 71, (Chit. j. 222). B. lost a bank bill payable to A. or bearer; C. found it, and assigned it for a valuable consideration to D. who got a new bill for it from the Bank. Trover was then brought against D., for the first bill; but by Holt, C. J. the action will not lie against him, because he took it for a valuable consideration, though it would against C. as he had no title; but pay-ment to C. would have indemnified the Bank."

Miller v. Race, Burr. 432, (Chit. j. 346). A bank note, payable to William Tinney or bearer, was stolen out of the mail in the night of the 11th of December, 1756, and on the 12th came to the hands of the plaint if for a full and valuable consideration, in the usual course of his business, and without any knowledge that it had been taken out of the mail; he afterwards presented it to the Bank for payment, and the defendant, being one of the clerks, stopped it, upon which an action of trover was brought; and upon a case reserved upon the point, whether the plaintiff had a sufficient property in the note to entitle him to recover, the court was clear in opinion that he had, and that the action was well brought.

Lawson r. Weston, 4 Esp. Rep. 56, (Chit. j. 640). A bill for 500l. had been lost, and the loser had advertised it in the newspapers. and it was discounted by plaintiff, a hanker. for a stranger, who, on being required, wrote a name upon it, whereupon no further question was asked, and it was held by Lord Kenyon at nisi prius, that plaintiff was entitled to recover; he said, "I think the point in this case his been settled by the case of Miller r. Race, in Burrow. If there was any fraud in the transaction, or if a bon't file consideration had not been paid for the bill by the plaintiffs, to be sure they could not recover, but to adopt the principle of the defence to the full extent stated, (namely, that the bill being for so large a sum. further inquiries ought to have been made). would be at once to paralyse the circulation of all the paper in the country, and with it all its commerce. The circumstance of the bill having been lost might have been material, if they could bring knowledge of that fact home to the plaintiff. The plaintiff might or might not have seen the advertisement. It would be going a great length to say, that a banker is bound to make inquiry concerning every bill brought to him to discount; it would apply as well to a bill for 101. as 10,0001. With respect to the evidence offered, of the usage of other banking-houses, I cannot admit it; it depends on their mode of doing business

⁽¹⁾ Where a negotiable promissory note, indorsed in blank by the payee, has been fraudulently or feloniously taken from the true owner, and that fact is shown at the trial, the person into whose hands it passes, cannot recover upon it against the maker, unless he show himself to

:

د میل از میرا

. 47

در د قرره فرره

1.7

. t ,

:r -: -

The second of th

from a bona fide holder for valuable consideration, who received it without III. Of the notice of the lossor robbery (a); for it may be laid down as a general principle, that whenever one of two innocent persons must suffer by the act of a Rilla, Notes, &c. third, he who has enabled such third person to occasion loss must sustain it (b). And if a person who has not given a consideration for a lost or stolen bill transferable by mere delivery, present it to the drawee at the time it was due, and he pay it before he has notice of the loss or robbery, such drawee will not in general be liable to pay it over again to the real owner(c).

The rule thus established, and which we shall presently see still prevails, was afterwards qualified by more modern decisions(d).

or on their funds. This could not affect others who acted on different principles but with equal integrity. That which had been called the usage of trade depended on the different degree of confidence different men possessed, and not on any settled or regular rules. The magnitude of the bill has been pressed as a ground of suspicion by the defendant's counsel; I do not feel it of such importance. A person going to the country, and having occasion to bring a sum of money, might prefer bringing it in that way rather than in money. I therefore see no misconduct imputable to the plaintiff, but I think he is bound under the circumstances of the case to prove the value actually paid for it." The plaintiff proved the consideration paid for it, and had a verdict.

King v. Milsom, 2 Campb. Rep. 5, (Chit. j. 764); per Lord Ellenborough, "It would greatly impair the credit, and impede the circulation of negotiable instruments, if persons holding them could, without strong evidence of fraud, be compelled by any prior holder to disclose the manner in which they received them." See also Rees v. Marquis Headfort, 2 Campb. 274, S. P. (Chit. j. 823).

Lee v. Newsum, Dow. & Rv. C. N. P. 50.

A tradesman having, in the course of business, received a bunker's check which had been stolen from the payee, and given the difference to a strunger, who presented it in payment of an article purchased, brought assumpait against the drawer for the umount; it was held, in the absence of fraud and negligence on his part, that the action was maintainable.

Negligence, though gross, not now sufficient to defeat claim; there must be mala fides. Goodman v. Harvey, 4 Ad. & El. 870; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C.; post, 257, note (n).

(a) Lowndes v. Anderson, 13 East, 180; 1 Rose, 99, (Chit. j. 810).

(b) Per Ashurst, J. in Lickbarrow v. Mason, 2 T. R. 70.

(c) Post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Of Payment—To whom; Poth. pl. 168, 169; 1 Pardess. 477.
(d) Id. ibid.; Patterson v. Hardacre, 4
Taunt. 114, (Chit. j. 836). Where a bill has Taunt. 114, (Chit. j. 836). Where a bill has been lost, or fraudulently or feloniously obtained from the defendant, the holder who sues must prove that he came to the bill upon good consideration.

Solomons v. Bank of England, 13 East, 185; 1 Rose, 99, S. C. (Chit. j. 811); Lowndes v. Anderson, 1 Rose, 99, (Chit. j. 810). The be an innocent and bona fide holder for a valuable consideration. The Fulton Bank v. The Phænix Bank, 1 flall's Rep. 562.

The Phænix Bank of the City of New York issued a post-note payable in sixty days after date, to J. G. or order on demand. This note being indorsed to J. G. was put into the mail at Charleston in the State of South Carolina, to be transmitted to New York; but the mail being robbed it never renched the hands of the true owners, but passed into the possession of Prime, Ward, King & Co. who deposited it in the Fulton Bank and received credit for a like amount, in account with that bank. The plaintiffs presented the note to the Phænix Bank for payment, and it was refused, upon the ground that the note had been stolen from the true owners, who had requested the defendants not to pay it. The amount of the note although passed to the credit of P. W. K. & Co., by the Fulton Bank had never been drawn out by them, and upon action brought by the Fulton Bank, against the makers to recover the amount of the note, it was held, that the more act of giving credit to P. W. K. & Co. for that amount, by the Fulton Bank upon their books, did not constitute them bona fide holders of the note for a valuable consideration. Ibid.

Bank post notes, over due, are not to be regarded as subject to all the rules applicable to ordinary promissory notes, but they become assimilated in their character to ordinary bank notes. Thid.

Where a person takes a promissory note transferable by delivery and not over due or otherwise apparently dishonored, for a valuable consideration, in the course of business, and without actual or constructive notice that the holder has no right to receive it, his title thereto is valid, though the note may have been lost by or stolen from the true owner. Wheeler v. Guild, 20 Pick. 545.

A notary, though the agent of the plaintiff, is a competent witness to prove the loss of a note in an action for the recovery of it against a broker who bought it from the notary's clerk. Nicholson v. Patten, 18 Louis. Rep. 218. In an action for the recovery of a lost note, when the fact of the loss, is proved the defendant must show that he came in possession of it in the course of trade, and that he acquired it in good faith, and for a valuable consideration. Ibid. }

III. Of the Loss of Bills,

It was considered that the decision of Lord Kenyon in Lawson v. Weston before referred to(e), encouraged robberies, by the facility the doctrine in Notes, &c. that case (viz. that a person is not bound to make inquiries before he takes a bill or note) had given to the disposal of stolen property; and accordingly, in Caution to be observed. Gill v. Cubitt (f), where the plaintiff sought to recover the amount of a stoled in taking en bill, which he had discounted without making any inquiries, Lord Tentera Bill. &c. den directed the jury to find for the defendant, if they thought the plaintiff had not used reasonable caution, and had taken the bill under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent and careful man. This doctrine of Lord Tenterden's was soon adopted by the other judges, and became the rule applicable to every description of negotiable security, whether bills or notes payable after date or on demand, Bank of England notes, bankers' notes and checks on bankers; and in all these cases, after the plaintiff had proved his loss of the instrument, the question for the jury was, whether the party who took the lost or stolen instrument, took it under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent and careful man(g)? 1 *257] Sometimes also another question *was made, viz. whether the loser of the instrument used due diligence in giving due, explicit, and immediate notice of his loss? and in one case, where a jury found a verdict against the loser, on the ground that he had not given due notice, the court refused to grant a new But this was by no means a settled point(i), and in general, if the party receiving the instrument ought not to have taken it, the want of due immediate notice from the loser would not give the taker a better title, and therefore the first was considered the true and proper question. Nor was the rule thus laid down confined to cases of loss and robbery, but became extended to all cases of fraud; such as the fraudulent dispositions by bill brokers and others of bills and notes entrusted to them for the purpose of getting discounted, or to be otherwise specially applied.

A difficulty, however, was felt in the application of this rule, and some of the judges of the present day have expressed themselves unable to understand what is meant by a party's taking a bill 'under circumstances which ought to have excited the suspicion of a prudent man.' The first case in holder of a bank note is primit facie entitled to prompt payment of it, and cannot be affected by the previous fraud of any former holder in obtaining it, unless evidence be given to bring it home to his privity. But where a bank note for 500l. had been fraudulently obtained by some person unknown, and on its being presented for payment some time afterwards by un agent of a foreign principal, information was given of the fraud, and the principal was desired to inform the Eank how he came by it; but the only account he would give of it was that he had received it in payment of goods from a man dressed in such a way, of whom he knew nothing; and it was further proved, that bank notes of so large a value were not usually circulated in that foreign country; this was held to be sufficient evidence to be left to a jury of a principal's privity to the original fraud, in an action of trover brought by his agent to recover it from the Bank, who had detained it under the original owner, to whom it properly belonged. And the question was not altered by the agent, who received it on account, having, after notice, made payment for his principal, which turned the balance in favour of such agent; De la Chaumette r. Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 208, S. P.; Dans. & L. 319; 2 Bar. & Ad. 385, (Chit. j. 1419, 1542).

(e) Ante, 255, in note.

(f) 3 B. & C. 466; 5 D. & R. 324; 1 Car. & P. 163, (Chit. j. 1237)

(g) Egan v. Threlfall, 5 D. & R. 326, note. See Down v. Halling, 4 B. & C. 330; 6 D. & R. 455, (Chit. j 1262); and see the following cases, Snow v. Peacock, 3 Bing. 406; 11 Moore, 286; 2 Carr. & P. 215, (Chit. j. 1280); Beckwith r. Corrall, 3 Bing. 444; 11 Moore, 335, (Chit. j. 1291); Snow v. Sadler, 3 Bing. 610; 11 Moore, 506, (Chit. j. 1296); Strange r. Wigney, 6 Bing. 677; 4 Moore & P. 470, (Chit. j. 1504); Slater r. West, 3 Car. & P. 325; 1 Dans. & L. 15, (Chit. j. 1376); De la Chaumette v. Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 208: Bridger v. Heath, K. B. MS.; post, 258, note

(h) Beckwith v. Corrall et al. 3 Bing. 444; 11 Moore, 335, (Chit j. 1291).

(i) See Easley v. Crockford, 3 Moore & S. 700; 10 Bing. 243, S C; Buckhouse r. Harrison, 5 Bar. & Adol. 1038, 1104; 3 Nev. & M. 188, S. C.

which this doctrine was shaken is that of Crook v. Jadis(k), where a bill bro- III. Of the ker had fraudulently disposed of a bill delivered to him for the purpose of Loss of getting discounted, and Lord Denman directed the jury to find for the plain- Notes, &c. tiff, who had discounted the bill, if they thought he had not been guilty of gross negligence; and the jury having found a verdict for the plaintiff the be observcourt refused to grant a new trial on the ground of misdirection. In the ed in taking subsequent case of Backhouse v. Harrison (l), which was the case of a lost a Bill, &c. bill, the same principle was adopted; and it was held, that although it was a good defence that the plaintiff took the bill fraudulently, or under such circumstances that he must have known that the person from whom he took it had no title, or that the plaintiff was guilty of gross negligence in taking it; yet it was no defence that he took it under circumstances in which a prudent and cautious man would not have taken it. In Foster v. Pearson(m) also, the Court of Exchequer seemed to consider that the want of due care and caution is not sufficient to defeat the right of a bona fide holder for value, and that the want of such care and caution is only material as affecting the bona fides and honesty of the transaction. And the case of Goodman v. Harvey(n) has since finally decided that even gross negligence is not alone enough to destroy the title of a holder for value, but that a case of MALA MALA FIDES on the part of such holder must be made out in order to defeat his FIDES ne-So that the doctrine of Lord Tenterden is now completely explod-defeat ed, and the old rule of law, "that the holder of bills of exchange indorsed claim of in blank, or other negotiable securities transferable by delivery, can give a holder. title which he does not himself possess to a person taking them bona fide for value," again re-established in its fullest extent.

Inasmuch, however, as the question whether a bill or note has been taken Instances bona fide involves the question whether it has been taken with due caution (p), of Want of it may be proported patient of the instances # f and f due Cauit may be proper to notice shortly some of the instances *of want of due tion in takcaution which have been decided upon; thus—Taking a bill from a person ing Bills, whose features were known, but name unknown, without making any inquiry &c. (o). of him how he came by it(q). Taking a check for 50l. five days after its [*258] date, from an unknown person, in exchange for goods under 10l. and delivering the difference in money(r). Taking a 500l. bank note, in exchange for a banker's own country notes, from a respectable looking stranger who had just arrived by the mail, and stated his name, but without making further inquiry(s); and perhaps taking a 50l. Bank of England note from a stranger at one of the principal races, in payment of bets won, without inquiry, or taking the number of the note, so as to distinguish that taken from others(t). So a country banker cashing a 100l, bank post bill for a stranger, who said he was on a journey,, and wrote his name thereon in an illiterate hand, but without inquiring at what inn he was staying. (u). Taking a bill of exchange in London, in part payment for goods, from a person who represented himself to be a tradesman from the country, and recommended by a named customer, and sending the goods at a fixed hour to a public-house, not an usual booking-office, without making any inquiries, excepting (k) 5 B. & Ad. 909; 3 Nev. & Man. 257; 6 C. & P. 191, S. C.

(1) 5 B. & Ad. 1098; 3 N. & M. 188, S. C. (m) 1 C. M. & R. 849; 5 Tyr. 255, S. C. (n) 4 Ad. & El. 870; 6 N. & M. 372, S. C. see post, $20, (34).

(o) As to the degree of caution required from a banker in taking bills from a broker, see Cunliffe v. Booth, 5 Scott, 17; 3 Bing. N. C. 821,

(p) Per Holroyd, J. in Gill v. Cubitt, 3 B.

& C. 477; and see per Bayley, J. ib. 475, 476. and per Lord Mansfield in Peacock v. Rhodes, 2 Dougl. 636.

(q) Gill v. Cubitt, 3 B. & C. 466. (r) Down v. Halling, 4 B. & C. 330. (s) Snow v. Peacock, 3 Bing. 406; 11 Moore, 286; 2 Car. & P. 215, S. C.
(1) Snow v. Sadler, 3 Bing. 610; 11 Moore,

506, (Chit. j. 1296).

(u) Strange v. Wigney, 6 Bing. 677; 4 M. & P. 470, (Chit. j. 1504).

Loss of Notes, &c. der(y). Bills, in taking Bills, &c.

III. Of the as to the respectability of the acceptor(x). Exchanging a bank note for a large sum in France, without particular inquiries as to the right of the hol-Exchanging at a country banker's, on the day of a prize fight, a bank note for 2001, which had been divided in halves, for a stranger, who of want of called twice on that day, and gave his name and address in London, but due cantion without further inquiries (z);—were all held irregular transactions.

So though it had been intimated, that no inquiry need be made when the holder was well known(a), yet that suggestion was to be received with this qualification, that the possession of the particular bill was consistent with the situation and circumstances of the party; and therefore where a bank note for 10001. was taken by a money broker from a person with whom he was well acquainted, but who was then in pecuniary difficulties, and he changed it, by giving bills which had some time to run, and cash, deducting a commission, without asking any questions of the holder how he came by it, the jury and court held, that the loser was entitled to recover the value from the broker by action of trover (b).

Proper Ingested.

It was considered that where a stranger presented a bill or note in payquiries sug- ment or exchange, especially when to a considerable amount, particular inquiries should be made of him, and he should be required to call again, until the truth of his statement in some respect had been ascertained, which course of conduct would, if he were not a bona fide holder, probably deter [*259] him from completing his fraudulent purpose, or *lead to his apprehension and conviction; as in the case where the party represented himself to have just arrived, he might have been required to state the mode of conveyance; the place he came from; his permanent residence; the inn or his lodgings in the place; his profession or business; names of some of the persons with whom he was acquainted; where he was going to; persons known to him there; the object of his journey; how long he was going to stay, and when he intended to return; how he came by the security, and for what purpose he wished it changed; and he should be required to write his name and residence on the note. Such inquiries might lead to seeming hesitation or contradiction, and if not, still the party should be told, that inquiry at the inn, and of the coachman and guard, and passengers, would be immediately made; and that, if all was satisfactory, at an appointed time the security would be exchanged, and which in the mean time might be deposited whilst An honest man ought not to be offended by this such inquiry is making. A thief might take alarm, and his immediate apprehension, or precaution. at least the stoppage of the instrument, might be effected. At all events, if the party returned, the inquiries might lead to the apprehension of the offender, and thus the banker or other party would perform his duty to himself, to the real owner, and to the public(c). These and other like inquiries, though not now strictly essential to the holder's right of recovery, will at & Lloyd, 15, (Chit. j. 1876).

(z) Bridger v. Heath and another, K. B. Sit-

(x) Slater v. West, 3 Car. & P. 325; Dans. tings at Westminster, Middlesex, A. D. 1825, Lloyd, 15, (Chit. j. 1376). MS.; ante, 253, note (m).

(a) Per Lord Tenterden, in Gill v. Cubitt, 8 B. & C. 466; 5 D. & R. 324; 1 Car. & P. 163, (Chit. j. 1237); and see Snow v. Peacock, 8 Bing. 415; 11 Moore, 286, (Chit. j. 1280).

(b) Egan v. Threlfall, 5 D. & R. 526, note. (c) See different observations in the several cases, especially in Snow v. Peacock, 3 Bing. 410 to 421; and 11 Moore, 286, 288; 2 Car. & P. 215, (Chit. j. 1280).

⁽y) With respect to Bank of England notes, several cases have occurred; Miller v. Race, 1 Burr. 452, ante, 255; Solomone v. The Bank of England, 13 Esst, 185; 1 Rose, 99, S. C.; Snow v. Peacock, 2 Car. & P. 215; 3 Bing. Bnow v. reacock, 2 Car. & P. 215; 3 Bing. 406, S. C.; Egan v. Threlfall, 5 D. & R. 326; De la Chaumette v. The Bank of England, 9 B. & C. 208; Dans. & L. 319; 2 Bar. & Ad. 385, (Chit. j. 1419, 1542).

11

~ at : 1

..... Z

ja 🗯 3 79 15

11.15 7157

(r 1.7

:57

: :T

·g1#

1. 蛇

7

اج ,,

T

177

.

, kr

g 9 🛎 gri 🔅

- -

4)%ز ج

331 νĦ

1. مسابه

1 4

15.

2 2 1

100 .

.

12.

, *****

2.50

はないと

once furnish an answer to any case of mala fides set up on the part of the III. Of the

So, on the other hand, although the loser's remedy will not be destroyed Notes, &c. by the want of due publication of the loss, where the holder has taken the bill, &c., mala fide, yet immediate and public notice thereof is always proper, because it may occasion notice in fact, and prevent persons from taking the instrument, and also lead to the apprehension of the felon; though, generally speaking, care is taken to transfer the instrument long before any notice of the loss can be given, and, consequently, it can rarely be of any avail in preventing the circulation of the security.

If a banker or other party, after notice of the loss, discount a bill drawn Conseon a customer, and by the acceptance made payable at his bank, and after- Notice of wards debit his customer with the amount, and write a discharge on the bill, Loss. and deliver it up to the customer; this is an illegal assumption of the property, and such a conversion as will enable the loser to support trover against such banker without any previous demand (d).

In remitting bank notes or bank post bills, it is expedient to divide them, Halves. and send them by different conveyances; and it should seem, that if one part should be lost, stolen, or misapplied, no person but the real owner can acquire a right to or lien upon the same, however bond fide his conduct may have been, because, as the instrument was not perfect when be received the same, he had no right to rely on the authenticity of the transaction, and can look only to the party from whom he received it; and the real owner may recover from him the half in an action of trover, if it be withheld after demand(e); though he could *not recover from the acceptor or maker without [*260] producing both the halves, and being able to give them up(f)(1). have seen how far the circumstance of an overdue bill or note, payable on demand, in circulation many days after its date, will be considered a fact that ought to excite suspicion, and require a party to make inquiries(g).

The halves of country bank notes sent in a letter are considered in law as goods and chattels, and a person who steals or embezzles them is indictable for such larceny or embezzlement (h).

After notice of the loss, the acceptor of a bill must not pay it without ade-

(d) Lovell v. Martin, 4 Taunt. 799, (Chit

(f) Mayor v. Johnson, 3 Camp. 324, (Chit. j. 883); ante, 154, 155; post, 265, note (x). (g) Ante, 216, 217.

(e) Per Lord Tenterden, at Guildhall, A. D. 1828; and see Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, (Chit. j. 786); post, 269.

(h) Rex v. Mend, 4 Car. & P. 535.

Where a bank note has been divided for transmission, and one of the parts is lost, the holder may recover on presenting the other part, as the parts of a divided bill are not separately negotiable. Patten v. Bank S. Car., 2 Nott & M'Cord, 464. Martin v. Bank of U. S., 4 Wash. Cir. Rep. 253. U. S. Bank v. Sill, 5 Conn. Rep. 106. Farmer's Bank v. Reynolds, 4 Rand. Rep.

The holder of bank bills cut in two parts for the purpose of safe transmission by mail, is entitled to recover of the bank the amount of the bills, where it appears that the bills were actually mailed, and that only one set of the halves came safe to hand. The Bank of Orange v. Hinsdale mailed, and that only one set of the halves came safe to hand. & others, 6 Wend. Rep. 378.

Such recovery may be had under the common money counts. Ib.

⁽¹⁾ The bona fide owner of a bank note who has transmitted one half thereof by the mail. cannot, on the loss of that half, demand payment from the bank of any part of its amount in consequence of holding the retained half merely; but he is entitled to demand the whole amount of said note on satisfying the bank of the truth of the facts, or establishing them by the judgment of a court of Equity, and giving in either case a satisfactory indemnity to secure the bank against a future loss from the appearance of the other half. Bank of Virginia v. Ward, 6 Munf. 169.

III. Of the quate indemnity; but we have seen, that if the acceptor or maker of a lost bill or note pay the same at maturity, not having had notice of the loss, such Notes, &c. payment will be valid(i)(1). The premature payment of a check the day before it bore date, which had been lost by the payee, was held to be invalid, and that the banker was liable to repay the amount to the loser, it being proved to be contrary to the usual course of business(k) to pay drafts before the day on which they are dated (l)(2).

In an action by the holder of a bill, &c. when it is proved on the trial that the instrument has been lost, or fraudulently or feloniously obtained from the defendant, it is incumbent on the plaintiff to prove that he came to the possession of the instrument bon? fide, and for a sufficient consideration(m).

In a very strong case of suspicion cast upon the holder, the loser of the bill need not give so strict evidence of the actual loss, and it would suffice for him to prove that the bill was at one time his property (n); indeed it does not seem necessary in any case to give direct evidence of the loss, and it suffices if such circumstances are shown as satisfy the jury of the fact of the loss(o). And positive evidence of the possession and loss of the identical bill will not be required, and what the loser does and says at the time of the alledged loss, will, upon proof by other evidence of his previous possession, Where A. lost a 201. bank note, which was found by be admissable (p). B., who took it to C. to get it changed, and C. changed it accordingly; and B. being afterwards taken up on a charge of stealing the note, gave A. 71. as part of the change; in an action of trover brought by A. against C. to recover the value of the note, it was held, that the action was maintainable, and that the acceptance of part did not affirm the act of B. or waive the tort, but that it only went in mitigation of the damages (q).

For gery of In-&c.

When a bill is assignable only by indorsement, as no interest can be conof inbe obtained through a forgery, any person getting possession of it by a forged indorsement will not acquire any interest in it, although he was not aware of the forgery(3); and consequently the original holder in such case may, [*261] when he has regained possession of the *bill, recover against the acceptor

> (i) Ante, 254, 255. (k) This was much relied on in Grant r. Vaughan, 3 Burr. 1516, (Chit. j. 365); and Peacock v. Rhodes, Doug. 611, (Chit. j. 408); Miller v. Race, 1 Burr. 432, (Chit. j. 346). See Gill v. Cubitt, 3 Bar. & Cres. 475; ante, 258, n. (q); per Bayley, J.; and in Snow v. Peacock, 2 Car. & P. 222, Best, C. J. said, that the course of business must require the usual and ordinary manner of conducting it, a proper and reasonable degree of caution necessary to preserve the interests of trade."

(1) De Silva v. Fuller, Sittings at London, Easter, 1776, Sel. Ca. 238, MS. (Chit. j. 392); post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Payment—To whom.

(m) See the cases ante, 254, 255, 256; Paterson v. Hardacre, 4 Taunt. 104.

(n) Down v. Halling, 4 Bur. & Cres. 330; 6 Dow. & Ry. 455, (Chit. j. 1262). (v) Holiday v. Sigel, 2 Car. & P. 176, (Chit. j. 1275); Bridger v. Heath, MS. ante, 258, note (z). (p) Bridger v. Heath, MS. ante, 258, n. (z). (q) Burn v. Morris, 2 Crom. & M. 579.

(2) And if a bank pay to a bona fide holder a forged check, it cannot recall the payment. Levy v. Bank of the United States, 4 Dall. Rep. 234. S. C. 1 Binn. Rep. 27.

There is an implied warranty in the transfer of every negotiable instrument that it is not forged.

^{(1) {} It is no ground of defence by an acceptor, that the payee has written to him that the bill was lost, and not to pay it to any one but himself. Lambeth v. Rivarde, 16 Lonis. Rep.

Herrick v. Whitney, et al. 15 John. Rep. 240. (3) { A bank is entitled to recover against the second indorser of a note discounted by the bank, a though the indorsement of the name of the payee is a forgery, and although the note was offered for disco int by the maker, and not by the second indorser. The State Bank v. Fearing, 16 Pick. 533. }

14

di:

125 .

y: -

F . ..

and drawer, although the acceptor may have paid the bill; (1) and if the per- III. Of the son attempting to derive an interest under such indorsement, sue the accep- Loss of tor, he will be permitted to prove that the indorsement was not made by the Bills, Notes, &c. person entitled to make it(r). Where a promissory note made and delivered by the defendant to the plaintiff, payable to the plaintiff's order, was sto-Forgery of Indorselen from the plaintiff by his clerk, who, after forging the plaintiff's indorse-ment, &c. ment, obtained payment of the defendant's banker, and the banker handed the note to the defendant, it was held, that the plaintiff, to whom no negligence was imputed, was entitled to recover the amount at the hands of defendant in an action of trover, notwithstanding six weeks had elapsed before the plaintiff discovered and gave the defendant notice of the loss of the And where the original indorsement of the payee's name on a bill of exchange is a forgery, a real indorsement by the payee after the bill arrives at maturity will not give the holder any title(t). Bankers who pay a forged acceptance or check of their customers must bear the loss, and not the customer(u). And in a late case where the holder of a check substituted a larger sum for that originally mentioned in it, without the knowledge or

(r) Smith v. Chester, 1 T. R. 654, (Chit. j. 439); Cheap r. Hanley, cited in Allen v. Dundas, 3 T. R. 127; Mead v. Young, 4 T. R. 28, (Chit. j. 467); ante, 198, note (e); Gibson v.

Minet, 1 H. Bla. 607, (Chit. j. 479). Cheap v. Hanley, cited 3 T. R. 127. In this case, tried before Buller, J. it appeared that the defendants, who had a house in America as well as in London, drew two bills of exchange there, the first and second of the same tenor and date, on their house here, payable to the plaintiffs; one of them being lost, came into the hands of a third person, who forged an indorsement of the payees, and received the amount of it from the defendants here, and afterwards the real payees brought their action upon the other bill, and recovered.

Smith, assignees of Bagnall and Hand v. Sheppard, London Sittings after Hilary Term, 16 Geo. 3. The defendant was indebted to Bagnall and Hand, the bankrupts, in 80% for goods sold October, 1774. Comberstall, the bankrupts' servant, brought a bill of parcels in the same handwriting that all their former bills had been, and fraudulently said his master was in want of cash, and desired he would accept a bill of exchange, which C. immediately drew, signed with his own name, payable to Bagnall and Hand or order, and gave a receipt on the bill of parcels. The defendant accepted the bill, and C. afterwards carried it away. The bill was brought to the defendant by Spencer, who had it in payment for goods. The name of Bagnall and Hand were indorsed on the bill, and defendant poid it, but, that independent and defendant paid it; but that indorsement was a forgery. It was the bankrupt's practice to deliver in their bills at Christmas; but at Christmas, after this transaction, no bill was delivered to defendant. No evidence appeared in whose hand-writing the indorsement was, but it did not appear to be like the bankrupts' or Comberstall's. Lord Mansfield said, " Each party is innocent; the question is on whom the loss must fall? It should be on him who is most in fault. It is admitted that Comberstall used to receive money, but not draw bills. Here is a bill that does not trust Comberstall at all, for it is to pay to the order of the bank-rupts; in this case, if he had been used to draw bills, that would not vary the case, because it is not pretended that the indorsement was by Comberstall; then he that takes a forged bill must abide by the consequence, for the man whose name is forged knows nothing of it. If a bill payable to bearer be lost, and found by another person in the street, who carries it to a banker who drew it, and he pays, it is a good payment, for it is the owner's fault that he lost it. In this case, the name of Bagnall and Hard is forged; it could not be paid without their hand, and the defendant has been negligent in inquiries whether it was their hand or not. The ground which defendant relies on is, that the bill was not delivered at Christmas, as usual; but that is of no weight, because it had been delivered before in October." Verdict for plaintiff. MS. of Mr. Serjeant Bond, in Sel. Ca. 243.

(s) Johnson v. Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225; 8 Scott, 608, S. C.

(t) Esdaile v. La Nauze, 1 Y. & C. 394; and see the same case, ante, 252, note (e), as to relief in equity.

(u) Hall v. Fuller, 5 B. & C. 750; 8 D. & R. 464, S. C. See per Lord Ellenborough, in Forster v. Clements, 2 Camp. 17, and post, Ch. IX s. ii. In Smith v. Mercer, 6 Taunt. 74; 1 Marsh. 453, (Chit. j. 923), it was held, (Chambre, J. dissentiente,) that bankers who paid a forged acceptance of one of their customers, made payable at their house, could not recover the money of the bond fide holders of the bill to whom the payment was made, on the principle that it was the duty of the bankers to have as-certained the authenticity of the order before they obeyed it. Vide also Price v. Neal, 3 v. Windle, 3 Bing. N. C. 225, supra. When not, Young v. Grote, 4 Bing. 253; Morrison v. Buchanan, 6 C. & P. 18; post, 262, note (y). III. Of the consent of "the drawer, and the bankers paid the larger sum, they were held liable to bear the loss(x). But where the drawer of a check himself permit-Notes, &c. ted the check to be so drawn as to enable the party fraudulently to alter the sum, it was decided that he must bear the loss, and not the bankers (y).

Liability of Postmas-

It is settled, that no action can be supported against the post master general ter-Gener- for the loss of bills or bank-notes stolen out of letters put into the post-office(z); but a deputy post-master may be sued for neglect in not delivering letters in due time(a). Unless, indeed, the plaintiff, by due diligence, might have prevented the damage arising from such neglect (b).

Carriers.

With respect to the liability of carriers for the loss of bills and notes, &c. exceeding 101., the 11 Geo. 4 and 1 Wm. 4, c. 68, s. 1, enacts, "that no mail contractor, stage-coach proprietor, or other common carrier byl and, for hire shall be liable for the loss of or injury to any article or articles or property of the descriptions following; (that is to say) gold or silver coin, &c. bills, notes of the Governor and Company of the Banks of England, Scotland, and Ireland, respectively, or of any other Bank of Great Britain or Ireland, orders, notes, or securities for payment of money, English or Foreign, slamps, &c. contained in any parcel or package which shall have been delivered either to be carried for hire, or to accompany the person of any passenger in any mail or stage-coach, or other public conveyance, when the value of such article or articles or property aforesaid contained in such parcel or package, shall exceed the sum of ten pounds, unless at the time of the delivery thereof at the office, warehouse, or receiving-house of such mail contractor, stagecoach proprietor, or other common carrier, or to his, her, or their book-keeper, coachinan or other servant, for the purpose of being carried or of accompanying the person of any passenger as aforesaid, the value and nature of such article or articles or property shall have been declared by the person or persons sending or delivering the same, and such increased charge as hereinafter mentioned, or an engagement to pay the same, be accepted by the person receiving such parcel or package." It is provided, however, that the act shall not affect special contracts; nor extend to loss by the felonious acts of the servants of the carrier (c).

It is incumbent also on the party who has thus lost the bill, even though Necessity of applying it has been destroyed, to make application at the time it is *due for payment, ment, &c. and to give notice to all the parties of the refusal of the drawee to pay the same, of lost Bill.

&c. when due.

(x) K. B. June 10th. 1826, Hall v. Fuller, [*263] 5 Bar. & Cres. 750; 8 Dow. & Ry. 404, (Chit. j. 1294).

Abbott, C. J. "It was the duty of a banker to take care that he did not pay away his customer's money, without a sufficient authority for that purpose; and if he paid to a forged order, he must bear the loss, and it was immaterial whether the order was forged wholly or in part. Here the defendants had paid a sum of money belonging to their customer, which the latter had never authorised them to pay, and therefore they could not charge him with the loss. Under these circumstances, the defendant was entitled to judgment." Bayley, J. concurred. "The banker was bound to pay only to his customer's order, and if he unfortunately paid a forged order, he alone must bear the loss. It is the banker's duty to see that a check is genuine in all respects." Judgment for the plaintiff.

(y) Younge v. Grote, 4 Bing. 253; 12 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1344); and see Morrison v. Buchanan, 6 C. & P. 18, S. P., post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Payment by Mistake.

(z) Lane v. Cotton, I Salk. 17; Whitfield r. Lord Le Despencer, Cowp. 754, (Chit. j. 938). (a) Rowning v. Goodchild, 8 Wils. 443; 2 Bla. Rep. 906; 5 Burr. 2711.

(b) Horden v. Dalton, 1 Car. & P. 181, (Chit. j. 1204). It was there held, that if a post-master has agreed to deliver letters in a particular mode, and by mistake does not deliver one for two days, and that letter contained a returned bill, he is not liable in damages for the amount of the bill, if the plaintiff could give notice of dishonour in time, if he sent a special messenger, though too late to do so by

(c) See this act with notes, Chit. & H. Stat. tit. Carriers.

Ί.

193

- 17

(2)

...51

2 7

:::

11.41

. . 3

1 37. 140

, 4 · 1/2

7 1

. .

.

1. 144

. .

1.17

ا ان بران

100

1. 1.

y 150

٠,٠.٠

.

 $\gamma \sim 0$

3 3 2

for otherwise he will lose his remedy against the drawer and indorsers (d). III. Of the It is said by Marius (e), that the holder of a bill which has been lost, should, Lose of in the presence of a notary and two witnesses, acquaint the acceptor with the Notes, &c. loss, and signify to him that at his peril he pay it to none but himself or his order; and the same writer says, that no person should refuse to pay a bill which he has accepted, to the loser, on the ground of its having been lost, if he have sufficient security and indemnification offered to him; and that if he do, he will be liable to make good all loss, re-exchange, and charges (f). The drawee, however, has always a right to insist on production of the bill before he pays it, and may legally defend an action if it be not produced, it being part of his contract to pay only on presentment of the bill(g). If the loser and holder contest the right, the acceptor must require indemnity, or file a bill of interpleader, or apply to the court under the recent act, 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 58, s. 1(h).

We shall hereafter see that the fraudulent misapplication by bankers and Embezzleagents of bills and notes entrusted to their care, is punishable by recent stat- ment and ute as a misdemeanor(i). Other statutes have provided, that to steal or take how punby robbery any bills, bank-notes, or promissory notes, shall be felony (k). is bed.

In France, it has been long established, that the drawer and indorsers of a Loser's bill shall be compellable to give the holder of it another of the same tenor, in require ancase the original bill, or the accepted part, has been lost(1). In this coun-other Bill, try no such general rule prevails in the case of inland bills. There is, how-&c. ever, a proviso in the stat. 9 & 10 Will. 3, c. 17, s. 3, by which it is enacted, "that in case any such inland bill shall happen to be lost or miscarried within the time before limited for the payment of the same, then the drawer of the said bill is and shall be obliged to give another bill of the same tenor with that first given; the person to whom they are delivered giving security, if demanded, to the drawer, to indemnify him against all persons whatsoever, in case the said bills so alleged to be lost or miscarried shall be found again(m)." It should seem, that from the word "such," the statute does not extend to all bills of exchange, but only to the particular bills therein mentioned, namely, such as are expressed to be for value received, and payable after date(n); but it has been observed, *that the equity of the statute [*264] would comprehend indorsements also, and that the 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9, which gives the like remedies upon notes as were then in use on inland bills, would extend the statute of William to notes (o).

(d) Thackray v. Blackett, 3 Campb. 164, (Chit. j. 849). (e) Page 77.

(f) Mar. 10; Beawes, pl. 182, 185; Tercese v. Geray, Finch's Rep. 301, (Chit. j. 164); Vin. Abr. tit. Bills, R.

(g) Hansard v. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 90; 9 Dow. & Ry. 860, (Chit. j. 1340); post, 266, n. (a).

(h) See this act with notes Chit. & H. stat. title "Interpleader."

(i) See the 7 & 8 Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 49, post, Part III. Ch. II.

(k) See repealed statutes, post, Part III. Ch. II.; and the cases and precedents relative to this offence, 3 Chitty's Crim. Law, 2d edit. 932; 3 Maule & S. 539; 2 Leach, 1103; and the recent act, 7 & S Geo. 4, c. 29, s. 5. As to stealing half bank-notes, see Rex v. Mead, 4 Car. & P. 535, ante, 260, note (h).

(1) See the modern regulations, 1 Pardes. 432 to 436; Pailliet Man. 950, whether in case of the loss of a single bill, or of the accepted part of a foreign bill in sets. The delivery of a duplicate by the drawer, and of the indorsements, can there only be enforced by resorting to a tribunal, and on giving indemnity against the claim of a bond fide holder; which indemnity is only to be in force three years, although the time of limitation, in France, as to the instrument itself, is five years; 1 Pardes. 432, 436; Palliet, 850.

(m) It is not unusual to declare specially in assumpsit, for not giving a fresh bill; sed quere as to the remedy at law; post, 265.

(n) Sed quære; see Walmsley v. Child, 1
Ves. sen. 346, 347, (Chit. j. 323); Leftly v.
Mills, 4 T. R. 170, (Chit. j. 473); 2 Campb.

(o) Powell v. Monnier, 1 Atk. 613, (Chit. j.

Bills,

Loser's Remedy

III. Of the I It is perfectly clear, that in case of the loss of a bill, &c. whether before or after it was due, or when it is payable on demand, and might by possible Notes, &c. lity be in the hands of a bona fide holder, a court of equity has jurisdiction to enforce payment of the amount upon a sufficient indemnity being given; and if such indemnity has been tendered, the defendant will in general have Remedy in Court of to pay the costs in equity (p) And although it has been held, that when the Equity. Instrument is not negotiable, or has been specially indorsed, and there is a remedy at law, a bill in equity is not sustainable (q); that determination seems questionable, for, in another case it was held, that the indorsee of a bill of exchange which has been lost, has a remedy against the acceptor by bill in equity, and that although he might have recovered on the bill at law, and although the bill was merely to accommodate the drawer, and plaintiff might have applied before; or though the drawer has since become insolvent; nor is plaintiff in such case bound to file the bill within any particular time(r). A mutilated bill or note of an old date, and part of which has been lost, may also be established in equity(s). Where a bill is filed by an indorsee of a [*265] lost bill against *the acceptor, it is not necessary to make the drawer or prior indorsers parties(t). The right to prove under a commission of bankrupt, in > 293; Walmsley r. Child, I Ves. sen. 346, 347; 2 Campb. 215, in notes.

(p) Walmsley v. Child, 1 Ves. sen. 338, 344; Toulmin v. Price, 5 Ves. 288, post, 268, 269; Tercese r. Geray, Finch's Rep. 301, (Chit. j. 164); Vin. Abr. tit. Bills, R.; Ex parte Greenway, 6 Ves. 812, (Chit. j. 674); Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, (Chit. j. 678). As to the mode of proceeding in equity, 1 Ves. 34; 5 Ves. 338; 6 Ves. 112; Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit. j. 996).

(q) Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, (Chit. j. 678), post, 269.
(r) Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit. j.

996)

(s) Hawkes v. Hawkes, Vice-Chancellor's court, 6th June, 1832. Sir E. Sugden said "that the bill in this case was filed for the purpose of charging the real estate of a testator with a promissory note amounting to 4801. under the following circumstances:-Mr. William Hawkes died in the year 1813, leaving his real estates to his eldest son, but subject to several debts and liabilities, among which was the promissory note in question. By the death of the son the note came into the possession of the next brother, who shortly after died, leaving his brother, the present plaintiff, his executor. The note had been accidentally torn, and the whole question in the case turned upon the fact whether the hand-writing of the testator was proved to the satisfaction of the court, and whether such a note had actually been given by the deceased." The note was then handed in as evidence, and inspected by the court. It consisted of two fragments, the note appearing to have been torn into three, and the middle piece lost. One of the pieces contained the name of "Hawkes," but the Christian name was written on the piece which was lost. Mr. Richards then read the evidence of several persons, who swore they had seen such a note in the successive possession of the two brothers, and ultimately in the hands of the plaintiff, unmutilated. Evidence was also produced of the hand-writing of the testator; and likewise that he was indebted for the precise amount of the note, at the time of his death, to the party to whom it was given. The plaintiff therefore prayed that it might be referred to the Master to take an account of the real and personal estate of the testator. Mr. Pepys, for the defendant, rested his case upon the many glaring improbabilities in the statement made by the plaintiff. The promissory note was made in the year 1812, and the testator died in 1813. It was therefore a most suspicious circumstance, that the note had passed into the hands of three parties, neither of whom had asserted his claim on the estate of the testator; and that it was not until the year 1830, that the bill was filed, at which period the plaintiff alleged the note had been torn by accident a short time before. The learned counsel then called the attention of the court to the note itself, which, he said, was evidently torn into three pieces for the purpose of destroying it. Had it been merely torn in half, it might have been occasioned by accident; but an instrument of this description could not have been torn in three pieces (and the most important piece, containing the Christian name of the ma-ker of the note lost) but for the purpose of cancelling it altogether. The evidence of the tertator's widow was then read, stating that no such note was ever drawn by him, and that the note in question was not his hand-writing.

The Vice-Chancellor was of opinion, that the evidence produced by the plaintiff most satisfactorily proved the hand-writing of the testator. And from the abundant proof which had been given that such an instrument was seen in the possession of three different parties, he entertained not the slightest doubt in his own mind that the note was given by the testator. He should therefore decree a reference to the Master, as prayed by the plaintiff's bill."

(t) Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit.) 996); Macartney v. Graham, 2 Sim. 285. (Chit. j. 1394); tamen ride Lloyd r. Gurdon, 2 Swanst. 180; Foley r. Carlon, 1 Younge, 373, ante, 99, note (1).

.:

2017 respect of a bill alleged to be lost, will be considered in the Chapter on III. Of the Bankruptcy (u).

When the defendant himself wrongfully obtained possession of, and with Notes, &c. holds the bill or note, it is clear he may be sued at law(x). And in an action against the acceptor of a bill, which could not be produced at the trial, When Remedy at it having been proved by the plaintiff's attorney, that he had drawn the Law, but præcipe against the defendant from the original bill in his office and that he in general went out, leaving both on his desk, and that on his return the bill was mis- not. sing; and a clerk proved, that during the attorney's absence, the defendant called to ask for time, and was shown into the attorney's office where the bill was left, and that he remained there a short time, and then left; and it having been proved, that a diligent but unsuccessful search had been made for the bill, and notice served on the defendant to produce the same, it was left to the jury to presume whether or not the defendant had taken it away; and the plaintiff recovered without the production of the bill, and on proving its contents by the draft of the præcipe(y).

But in general no action at law can be supported against a party to a bill of exchange, note, or check, indorsed in blank, so as to be transferable to a bonâ fide holder, and even in halves, and lost before or on the day it is due, although a bond of indemnity has been tendered to the defendant(z); and if the bill be

(u) Post, Part II. Ch. VIII. s. iv. What Bills may be proved.

(x) Smith v. M'Clure, 5 East, 477, (Chit. j. 699); Pierson v. Hutchinson, 2 Campb. 212; 6 Esp. Rep. 126, (Chit. j. 776); infra, n. (z).

(y) Dark v. Hanks, cor. Abbott, C. J. at Westminster, 14th Dec. 1820; Marryatt and Chitty for plaintiff; Hunt, attorney.

(z) Pierson v. Hutchinson, 2 Campb. 211; 6 Esp. Rep. 126, S. C.; Powell v. Roach, ib. 76; Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 339.

Pierson v. Hutchioson, 2 Campb. 211; 6
Esp. Rep. 126, (Chit. j. 776); cited Hansard
v. Robinson, 7 Bar. & Cres. 92; 9 Dow. &
Ry. 860, (Chit. j. 1340). This was an action by the indorsee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange. Lord Ellenborough: "If the bill were proved to be destroyed, I should feel no difficulty in receiving evidence of its contents, and directing the jury to find for the plaintiff. Even on a trial for forgery, the destruction of the instrument charged by the indictment to be forged is no bar to the proceedings. I remember a case before Mr. Justice Buller where the prisoner had destroyed a bank-note he was accused of having forged, by swallowing it. He was acquitted on the merits: but the learned Judge who presided, held, that he might have been convicted without the production of the bank-note; and this doctrine was approved of by the whole profession. Here, however, the instrument is not destroyed. It is lost after be-ing indorsed by the payee. It may now be in the hands of a bona fide indorsee for value, who might maintain an action upon it against the defendant. This brings it to the indemnity. But whether an indemnity be sufficient or insufficient, is a question of which a court of law cannot judge. There are dicta to be sure, that upon the offer of an indemnity, the indorsee of a lost bill may recover at law; but these are so contrary to the principles on which our judicial system rests, that I cannot venture to proceed upon them. Since the plaintiff can neither produce the bill, nor prove that it is destroyed, he must resort to a court of equity for relief.' The Attorney-General said, "they could show that the bill had been discounted for the defendant's accommodation, and that the money had come into his hands." But Lord Ellenbo-rough, observed, "that would not alter the case; for if the plaintiff were allowed to recover on the money counts, the defendant might still be compelled to pay the sum a second time to a bona fide holder of the bill." Plaintiff nonsuited; and see Dangerfield r. Willey, 4 Esp. Rep. 159, post. 267, note (c).

Mayor v. Johnson, 3 Campb. 324, (Chit. j. 883). A traveller received a country banknote payable to tearer in a provincial town, which he cut in two, and sent the halves on different days by the post, addressed to his employers in London; one of these was stolen from the mail coach, and they received the other. It was held, that under these circumstances they could not maintain an action against the makers of the note, on producing that half of it which reached them safely. Lord Ellenborough said, "I am of opinion, that this action cannot be maintained. It is usual and proper to pay upon an indemnity, but payment can be enforced at law only by the production of an entire note, or by proof that the instrument or the part of it which was wanting has been actually destroyed; the half of this note, taken from the Leeds mail, may have immediately got into the hands of a bon't fide holder for value, and he would have as good a right of suit upon that, as the plaintiffs upon the other half which reached them; but the maker of a promissory note cannot be liable in respect to two parties at the same time." Plaintiffs non-

N. B. This case is distinguishable from that of Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, (Chit. j. 786), post, 269, n. (r), because in that case the notes were not payable to order or negotiable, whereas, in the above case, they were

Digitized by Google

III. Of the transferable by indorsement, *and is indorsed in blank or transferable by Loss of delivery, it should seem, that even if it were lost after it became due, and Bills.

Notes, &c. even after action brought(a), the same rule prevails(b); nor is the defend-payable to bearer.

In the case of a commission of bankruptcy, if an undue bill be lost after its production by the petitioning creditor, and after the party has been adjudged a bankrupt, the commission may, however, proceed and be supported on the trial of an action at law. Polly r. Milliard, 9 Law J. Exch. E. T. 1831; post, Part II. Ch. VIII. 8. iii. Bankruptcy—Petitioning Crelitor's Debt.

(a) Hansard v. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 90; 9 Dow. & Ry. 860, (Chit. j. 1340); Ryan & M. 404, in note. The holder of a bill cunnot, by the custom of merchants, insist upon payment by the acceptor, without producing and offering to deliver up the bill; and therefore it was held, that the indorsee of a bill having lost it, could not, in an action at law, recover the amount from the acceptor, although the loss was after the bill became due, and the indorsee offered an indemnity; and although the defendant, on being applied to after the bill was due, required time, and promised payment. The court said, "It is not necessary to say whether any special action could have been framed and maintained upon the particular facts and the defendant's promise, because the declaration in the present cause is not founded upon such facts, but upon We would the bill itself in the usual way. not, however, be understood to give any encouragement to such an action, and we think the special facts cannot be properly considered as affording a satisfactory ground for decision in this case; but the case must be considered generally as an action brought upon a lost bill, and introducing the general question whether such an action can be maintained.

"Upon this question, the opinions of Judges, as they are to be found in the cases quoted at the bar, have not been uniform, and cannot be reconciled to each other. It is not necessary to advert again to the cases. Amid conflicting opinions, the proper course is to revert to the principle of these actions on bills of exchange, and to pronounce such a decision as may best conform thereto. Now the principle upon which all such actions are founded, is the custom of merchants. The founded, is the custom of merchants. general rule of the English law does not allow a suit by the assignee of a chose in action. The custom of merchants, considered as part of the law, furnishes in this case an exception to the general rule. What then is the custom in this respect? It is, that the holder of the bill shall present the instrument, at its maturity, to the acceptor, demand payment of its amount, and upon receipt of the money, deliver up the bill. The acceptor paying the bill has a right to the possession of the instrument for his own security, and as his voucher and discharge pro tanto in his account with the drawer. If upon an offer of payment, the holder should refuse to deliver up the bill, can it be doubted that the acceptor might retract his offer or retain his money? And if this be the right of an acceptor, ready to pay at the maturity of the bill, must not his right remain the same if, though not ready at that time, he is ready afterwards, and can his right be varied if the payment is to be made under a compulsory process of law? The foundation of his right, his own security, his voucher, and his discharge toward the drawer remain unchanged. As far as regards his voucher and discharge towards the drawer, it will be the same thing whether the instrument has been destroyed or mislaid. With respect to his own security against a demand by another holder, there may be a difference. But how is he to be assured of the fact, either of the loss or destruction of the hill? Is he to rely upon the assertion of the holder, or to defead an action at the peril of costs? And if the bill should afterwards appear, and a suit be brought against him by another holder, a fact not absolutely improbable in the case of a lost bill, is he to seek for the witnesses to prove the loss, and to prove that the new plaintiff must have obtained it after it became due? Has the holder a right, by his own negligence or misfortune, to cast this burthen upon the acceptor, even as a punishment for not discharging the bill on the day it became due? We think the custom of merchants does not authorize us to say that this is law. Is the bolder then without a remedy? Not wholly so. He may tender sufficient indemnity to the acceptor, and if it be refused, he may enforce payment thereupon in a court of equity; and this is agreeable to the mercantile law of other countries. In the modern Code de Commerce of France, liv. 1, tit. 9. Art. 151, 152, this is distinctly provided. And this provision is not new in the law of that country, but is found also in the Ordonnance de Commerce of Lewis the Fourteenth, tit. 5, art. 19. The rule for entering a verdict for the plaintiff must therefore be discharged." See Davis v. Dodd, 4 Taunt. 602, post, 267, note (d). But see post, 268, when bill destroyed.

(b) Poole v. Smith, Holt's C. N. P. 144, (Chit. j. 950). In an action by the indersee of a bill of exchange against the acceptor, it appeared that after action brought, and solice of trial, the bill, which was indersed in blank, had been lost, and it was held, that although the bill had been drawn more than six years, the plaintiff was not entitled to recever, without producing it at the trial; and per Gibbs. C. J. "Upon the ground of non-production of the bill, I think I am called upon to nonsuit the plaintiff; the rule is an extremely splutary one, and ought not to be relaxed." See also Powell v. Roach and others, 6 Esp. Rep. 76, S. P. (Chit. j. 731).

But in Brown r. Messiter, 3 Maule & S. 231, (Chit. j. 915); after judgment by default, the court referred it to the master to see what was due for principal and interest upon a bill of exchange, upon the production of a copy of the bill verified by affidavit of the plaintiff attorney, the original having been stolen out of his pocket, and no tidings of it gained. See further on this point, post, Part II. Ch. III. Judgment by Default.

1,2

2.33

. 20 22.2

11416

, T. 15

r Win

12:18

... ×

15 12 11

111

البير

12.3 1611

1.23

11 50

اهرين. اهرين

1 - 12 31

1370

و الحد ،

A 151

1700

3. J. 18

· " z:1,

34.19

, cis

1139

. 352.5

1: 2 1

417 y is t

(- T x^{-1}

7 1

11.5

, y 2 1.00

الار الاراب

1

74.10

~ <

. 1

ant liable to be *sued on the consideration of the bill(c); and even an ex- III. Of the press promise, without any new consideration, cannot be enforced at law(d); Loss of Bills, though *if there be a new consideration for the promise, as the executing Notes, &c. of a bond of indemnity to the defendant, he may be sued thereon(e).

[268]

(c) Bevan v. Hill, 2 Campb. 381, (Chit. j. 788). A check given for the stock sold was lost by the vendor in going home from the Stock Exchange; the purchaser was immediately informed of this fact, but refused to pay without an indemnity; four months after, the bankers, on whom the check was drawn, stopped payment, with sufficient money of the drawer's in their hands to answer it; held, that under these circumstances, an action would not lie for the price of the stock. Lord Ellenborough said, "It is certainly possible, that this check may have got into the hands of a person who might maintain an action upon it. The very day it was lost, it might have been passed for value to a bont file bolder without notice; I therefore think the defendant was entitled to an indemnity; he could not without this have safely withdrawn the money from Walpole and Co before their bankraptcy; he then ceased to be liable upon the check, but the money was gone; besides, the bankruptcy of Walpole and Co. may not be sustainable, and the defendant is not to be exposed to the risk of the commission being superseded." Plaintiff nonsuited. Cited 7 B. & C. 92.

Dangerfield v. Wilby, 4 Esp. Rep. 159, (Chit. j. 648). Payee against the maker of a promissory note. The declaration contained the usual money counts. At the trial no note was produced in evidence, nor was there any evidence that the note declared upon had been destroyed; or that it was not in existence; but it was merely stated that the note had been lost, and proved that the defendant on the amount of the note being demanded had apologized for its non-payment. The plaintiff's counsel therenpon abandoned the note and proposed to go into evidence of the consideration, viz. money lent. Lord Ellenborough said, he was of opinion the plaintiff was not entitled to go into the consideration of the note, for as the note, for any thing that appeared in evidence, was in existence, it might be still in circulation, and the defendant be liable to be called upon to pay it, so that he might be subjected twice to the payment of the same demand; it was therefore incumbent on him to show it to be destroyed, so that the defendant should not be again subjected to the payment of it(1). As to any de-mand therefore on account of the note, he thought the plaintiff not entitled to recover. The plaintiff was nonsuited; and see Pierson v. Hutchinson, ante, 265, note (z).

Champion v. Terry, 3 Brod. & B. 295, 7 Moore, 130, (Chit. j. 1144). The defendant being indebted to plaintiff for goods sold gave him a bill of exchange not due, (drawn and accepted by two other persons) to a greater amount than the price of the goods, and plaintiff gave defendant the difference in money. Defendant indorsed the bill in blank. Plaintiff having lost the bill, it was held that he could not sue defendant for the price of the goods or on the lost bill. Aliter, where the bill not indorsed; Rolt v. Watson, 4 Bing. 273, post, 268, note (h).

(d) Davis v. Dodd, 4 Taunt. 602, (Chit. j. The plaintiff declared upon a bill of ex-876). change for 961. 9s. drawn by Allen to his own order, and accepted by the defendant, and in-dersed by Allen to the plaintiff. There were also the usual money counts. Upon the trial, at Maidstone Summer Assizes, 1812, before Lord Ellenborough, C. J. it was proved that the witness had lost the bill out of his pocket, whereupon, when the bill became due, he applied to the defendant, stating the circumstance, and requesting him to pay the bill, which until the time of action had never been presented for payment by any other person: and defendant repeatedly and expressly promised to pay it. Lord Ellenborough was of opinion, that as the plaintiff had not presented the bill for payment to the defendant, and as the bill was not produced at the trial, the plaintiff could not recover in this action, and directed a nonsuit. Best Serjeant, moved to set aside the nonsuit, and have a new trial; he contended that the express promise to pay the bill was upheld by the consideration of the moral obligation to which the defendant was subject to pay the sum due on his acceptance. The court denied that there was any moral obligation on the defendant to pay this sum to the plaintiff, who, by his negligence, had exposed the defendant to the danger of being compelled to pay the bill when produced in the hands of another holder. It was quite clear that the plaintiff could not recover in this action; if he could recover at all upon this promise, which they much doubted, it must be in an action upon the special undertaking; the party might have proceeded to enforce the giving of a new bill under the statute, and that seemed to be his only course. The promise contained in the bill is the equivalent given for the consideration paid for the bill, and no new consideration had been subsequently paid to sustain this new promise, and which was therefore nudum pactum, and could not be enforced. Rule refused. Hansard v. Robinson, 7 B. & Cres. 90, S. P., ante, 266, note (a).

(e) Williams v. Clements, 1 Taunt. 523. Special assumpsit, alleging that the defendant was indebted on a bill of exchange, and the plaintiff having lost the same, had, at the request of the defendant, given him a bond acknowledging payment and conditioned to indemnify him against the bill, in consideration whereof defendant undertook to pay the money on request. On motion in arrest of judgment it was held, that such count, stating a new con

⁽¹⁾ The same point was ruled in the same manner in Holmes v. De Camp, 1 John. Rep. 34. Angel v. Felton, 9 John. Rep. 149. Cumming v. Hackley, 8 John Rep. 202. Pintard v. Tackington, 10 John. Rep. 104,

III. Of the Loss of Bills, Notes, &c.

Destruction of Bill, &c.

It seems, however, that if it can be distinctly proved that the bill has been destroyed, the party who was the holder may recover at law(f); so if the bill was not negotiable (g) or has not been indorsed at all (h); or if it was only specially indorsed, the party who lost it may proceed by action on such bill, and secondary evidence of the contents may be admitted (i)(1). And if the sideration, viz. the execution of the bond, was sufficient. In Hansard r. Robinson, 7 Barn. & C. 90, the defendant had promised to pay. See note 266 page (a) ante, 266, note (a).

(f) Per Parke, J. in Woodford v. Whitely, Mood. & M. 517, (Chit. j. 1508); Pierson v.
Hutchinson, 2 Camp. 212; 6 Esp. Rep. 126,

Hutchinson, 2 Camp. 212; 6 Esp. Rep. 126, S. C.; ante, 265, note (2); Dangerfield v. Wilby, 4 Esp. Rep. 159, ante, 267, n. (c). But see the observation of the court in Hansard v. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 90, 95, ante, 266, note (a).

(g) Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 439, (Chit. j. 768), post, 269, note (r).

(h) Rolt r. Watson, 4 Bingh. 273; S. C. 12 Moore, 510; 5 Law J. C. P. 172, (Chit. j.

1312, 1346).

The defendant had accepted a bill at three months for goods purchased. The seller lost the bill, not having inderset it, and became bankrupt. No demand was ever made on the defendant in respect of the bill; and it was held, that the acceptance of this bill was no defence to an action for the value of the goods; nor, per Best, C. J. "Under the statute 9 & 10 W. 3, the holder of a lost bill could not in a court of law compel the acceptor to give him a new bill upon receiving an indemnity for such a purpose; he must resort to a court of equity. The question for us therefore is, whether the bill which the defendant in this cause has accepted, be an instrument which can never rise in judgment against him? Now the jury have found expressly, that the bill was unindorsed, and though payable three months after date, it has not been heard of from 1825 to 1827. There is no decision in which the party has been held to be responsible in respect of an outstanding bill unindorsed. In all cases in which a defendant has been holden to be discharged in respect of a supposed liability on a bill, the bill has been in such a state as to be likely to be used against him, as in Champion v. Terry, 3 B. & B. 295, ante, 267, u. (c), where the defendant paid for goods by a bill which he had indorsed in blank. The bill having been lost, it was holden be could not be sued for the value of the goods. The defendant is not liable to be called on in the present case, and therefore this rule must be discharged." And see Wain v. Bailey, 2 Per. & Dav. 507, post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Of Payment.

(i) Long v. Bailie, 2 Campb. 214, in note; cited in Hansard r. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 90, ante, 266, note (a); Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, 434, post, 269, n. (r); Selw. N. P. 9th edit. 33J.

Long r. Baillie, Guildhall, 13th December, 1805, coram Lord Ellenborough, 2 Campb. 214. This was an action against the acceptor of a bill of exchange, payable to the order of the drawer, and by him specially indersed to the plaintiff. It was proved that a person took the bill to have it compared with the affidavit to hold to bail, that a copy was then taken, and the bill was afterwards atolen from such person. The correct-

Though the holder of a negotiable promissory note, over-due, which is not produced at the trial, in an action against the maker, is not bound to prove its absolute destruction, yet he must give such proof as shows that the defendant cannot afterwards be compelled to pay the amount to a bona fide holder. Swift v. Stevens, 8 Conn. Rep. 431.

But direct and positive evidence on this subject is not required. Ib.

Therefore, where the plaintiff in an action against the maker of a promissory note, payable to bearer, proved, by the cashier of a bank, to whom the note had been confided for safe keeping, that he had made diligent search for it, but was unable to find it; that he had never delivered it to any person; and that he had no doubt, and verily believed, it had been, by accident, destroyed; it was held, that this was proper evidence to go to the jury to prove the destruction or non-existence of the note. Ib.

So where, on the trial of an action on such note, it appeared, that more than four years had clapsed from the time it fell due, and that there had been two former trials of the same action without the production of the note; it was held, that these circumstances were entitled to great consideration on the question of its destruction. Ib.

Where a note payable on demand had been lost or destroyed, and it did not appear that it was negotiable, or if negotiable, that it had been negotiated, the payee was allowed to recover on the note. Pintard v. Tackington, 10 John. Rep. 104. But a recovery cannot be had upon a note merely lost and not destroyed, if it had been indorsed before it was lost.—Ibid. But see Freeman v. Boynton, 7 Mass. Rep. 483, and Anderson v. Robson, 2 Bay's Rep. 495.

There may be a recovery against the acceptor on a bill of exchange, indorsed to the plaintiff, and lost or mislaid; and the existence of the bill being once established, the plaintiff may prove the loss of it by his own oath. Meeker et al. v. Jackson, 8 Yeates' Rep. 443. See, as to the evidence in the case of lost note, Peabody v. Denton, 2 Gallis. Rep. $51.

⁽¹⁾ Where the existence and amount, and loss or destruction of promissory notes are shown and it does not appear affirmatively that the notes were negotiable, the plaintiff is entitled to recover on the lost notes. M'Nair v. Gilbert, 3 Wend. Rep. 344. And see Rowley v. Ball, 3 Cowen's Rep. 303.

defendant has suffered judgment by default, and thereby admitted his liability III. Of the to the action, the amount of the principal and interest may be referred to the Bills. master, on production of the verified copy of the lost bill(k). But the mere Notes, &c. circumstance of the statute of limitations having run on the bill before the loss will not enable the loser to sue(l).

In Walmsley v. Child (m), it seems to have been considered, that a party who had lost a bill payable on demand might proceed at law; and in Hart v. King(n), where a bill of exchange was protested, and afterwards lost, the plaintiff recovered, but it does not appear in what character the plaintiff sued, and it is probable that the bill had never been indorsed. In Ex parte Greenway (o), Lord Chancellor Eldon said, "That when he was Chief Justice he tried an action in the Common *Pleas upon a bill alleged to be lost, which had been previously indorsed by the payee, an indemnity was offered by bond, but that he nonsuited the plaintiff; that the counsel objected strongly upon the offer of indemnity, and it came before the court on motion for a 'new trial, and there was a long discussion on the nature of these indemnities in a court of law; that the court had not come to a decision upon it when he left them, and he did not know the result. But that he could never understand by what authority courts of law compelled parties to take the indemnity(p)." It seems quite clear courts of law have no such authority(q).

In the case of Mossop v. Eadon(r), where a bill was filed in equity for payment of a promissory note, which had been cut in two parts, one of which was produced, and the other alleged to be lost, and offering an indemnity, the bill was dismissed on two grounds; the first, that only half the bill was lost; and secondly, that it was not payable to order, and consequently an action at law was sustainable; and it being urged that the jurisdiction of the court of equity is not destroyed by the courts of law assuming a jurisdiction in such cases, the Master of the Rolls said, "It is very clear that an action would have laid upon the note had the loss been proved. The single question is, whether the indemnity you offer is not a ground for coming here? of law could not take notice of it and give a conditional judgment; but equity gives that relief at the same time that it orders payment of the money. other half of the note may be in your possession; therefore it is fit that you should indemnify them against the possibility that the two parts may be brought together and passed into another hand." Upon a further hearing, the counsel for the plaintiff insisted, that the mere loss of the instrument gives the court of equity jurisdiction, and that it does not depend on the was proved, and the plaintiff had a verdict.

. 1.3

5.03

î. i

. 2

(k) Brown v. Messiter, 3 Maule & S. 281, (Chit. j. 915); anle, 267, n. (b). See further, post, Part II. Ch. III. Judgment by Default.
(l) Poole v. Smith, Holt's C. N. P. 144,

(Chit. j. 950); ante, 266, note (b).
(m) Walmsley v. Child, 1 Ves. sen. 341, &c., (Chit. j. 323).

(n) Hart v. King, 12 Mod. 310; Holt, 118, (Chit. j. 212); Dehers v. Harriott, 1 Show. 163, (Chit. j. 495).

(0) Ex parte Greenway, 6 Ves. 812, (Chit. j. 674).

(p) See also Tonmlin v. Price, 5 Ves. 238; Bromley v. Holland, 7 Ves. 19, 20, 249.

(q) Id.; Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit.

(r) Mossop v. Eadon, 16 Ves. 430, (Chit. j. 768). This case has been argued as overruled ness of this copy and the special indorsement even in equity by Hunsard v. Robinson, 7 B. & C. 90. See Macartney v. Graham, 2 Simons' Rep. 285, where it was held by the Vice Chancellor, that a bill will lie by the last indorsee of a lost bill to recover the amount from the acceptor, and that prior indorsees need not be made parties to the suit. But note, that case is very distinguishable from Mossop v. Eadon, where the lost note had been cut in two, and was not payable to order, and therefore could not have got into the hands of a bona fide holder. In Macartney v. Graham the lost bill had been indorsed in blank, and though there was a subsequent special indorsement in full, that might be erased, and a bonû fide holder might have sued. The same reason also distinguishes Mossp v. Eadon from Mayor v. Johnson, 3 Campb. $25, (Chit. j. 883); ante, 265,

Jose of

III. Of the right to require an indemnity, observing that there was no distinction whether . a note was negotiable or not. But the Master of the Rolls said, "This ar-Bills, Notes, &c. gument is in direct contradiction to that of Lord Hardwicke, who, in the case of Walmsley v. Child, assumes that this court has no jurisdiction, except for the purpose of ordering an indemnity where indemnity is necessary(s). I am unwilling to turn the plaintiff round, thinking the merits are with him, but at the same time I am afraid of breaking in upon the rules established as to the jurisdiction of the courts, that where a party can recover at law, he ought not to come into equity." In some cases a court of equity will relieve without an indemnity being given, by injunction restraining proceedings Relief in equity need not be applied for within any limited at law(t). time(u).

It is now settled, that whether the bill or note was lost before or after it became due, or after actual demand of payment and even an *express promise [*270] to pay, still no action at law can, if it were negotiable, be sustained, though it was contended that a distinction ought to be taken between an undue and an overdue bill, and that the promise to pay ought to bind(x). It was urged, that when a bill, &c. has been lost before is was due, unless the party proceed under the statute 9 & 10 Will. 3, c. 17, s. 3, it may be proper that he should be confined to a court of equity for relief; for as a transfer before a bill is due, though made by a person not entitled thereto, may give a bona fide holder a right of action thereon, it is but just that the parties called upon to pay should be previously sufficiently indemnified, and the sufficiency of an indemnity can be more correctly ascertained in a court of equity than at law(y). But it was contended, that where a bill has been lost after it became due, and that fact be clearly proved, there seems to be no reason why the party who lost it should not be permitted to proceed at law, and indeed without offering an indemnity, inasmuch as the law itself would in such case indemnify all the parties to the bill from any liability to a person who became holder of it after it was due; because(z), a person taking a bill by transfer after it becomes due, holds it subject to all the objections which affected it in the hands of the party who first became wrougfully possessed of it, or who tortiously transferred it, and consequently, he could not sustain an action thereon against any of the parties to the bill; and there is an additional reason why this should apply as to the drawer and indorsers of a bill, and the indorsers of a note, namely, that they must have been discharged from liability to any subsequent holder, by the want of notice from such holder, of the default in payment by the drawee(a). But the answer to this reasoning is, that it is part of the contract of an acceptor of a bill or maker of a note, to pay on the presentment of the instrument to him for that purpose, and that he has therefore a right to have the instrument delivered to him as his voucher. Besides, though he may have a good defence against a subsequent holder he may be put to risk, trouble and expense, in establishing ii(b).

It is said(c) that if one part of a foreign bill of exchange, drawn in sets,

⁽s) And see Davies v. Dodd, 4 Price, 176, (Chit. j. 996).

⁽t) Id.; anie, 264, note (r).

⁽u) Id. (x) Hansard v. Robinson, 7 Bar. & C. 90; ante, 266, note (a).

⁽y) Ex parte Greenway, 6 Ves. 812, (Chit. 674); Pierson v. Hutchinson, 2 Campb. 212; 6 Esp. Rep. 126, S. C.; ante, 265, note (2).

⁽z) See Tinson to Francis, 1 Camp. 19; ante, 217, note (m).
(a) Post, Ch. X. s. i. as to Notice of Non-payment.

⁽b) Hansard v. Robinson, 7 Bar. & C. 90; ante, 266, in notes.

⁽c) Beawes, pl. 188; Mar. 121; Bul. N. P. 271; ante, 263.

be lost by the drawee, or be by his mistake given to a wrong person, or if by III. Of the any other means the holder cannot have a return of the bill, either accepted Bills, or not accepted, the drawee must give to the holder or to his order a pro- Notes, &c. missory note for payment of the amount of the bill on the day it becomes due, on delivery of the second part, if it arrive in time; if not, upon the note, and if the acceptor refuse to give the note, the holder must immediately protest for non-acceptance, and when due must demand the money, though he have neither note nor bill, and if payment be refused, a protest must be regularly made for non-payment. In all cases, if a bill of exchange be lost, and a new bill cannot be had of the drawer, a protest may be made on a copy (d).

The loser of a bill or note must take care, at the time it becomes due, to observe precisely the same conduct as if he had it in his possession. *He [*271] should demand payment, and give immediate notice of the terms of the refusal to the drawer and all the indorsers, and tender each an indemnity.

But the loss of a bill only suspends the remedy at law, and even a tender of payment to the loser, if he will give up the security, will not be equivalent to payment; and therefore if the bill be afterwards found, the loser may sue all the parties, and the circumstance of an agent of one of the parties having made such tender, and afterwards failed with the money in his hands, will afford no defence (e).

(d) Dehers v. Harriot, 1 Show, 168, (Chit. (e) Dent v. Dunn, 3 Campb. 296, (Chit. j. j. 485); post, Ch. X. s. i.

*CHAPTER VII(a).

OF PRESENTMENT OF BILLS FOR ACCEPTANCE, AND OF ACCEPTANCES.

1. Or PRESENTMENT FOR ACCEPT-	- 1	6.
ANCE	272
1. When necessary or advisable	ib.
2. Who to present	274
3. To whom	ib.
4. The Time of Presentment	ib.
5. The Place of Presentment	278
6. The Mode of Presentment	ib.
II. OF ACCEPTANCES	280
1. Definition of an Acceptance	ib.
2. Of the Obligation to accept, &c.	291 j
3. Who to accept	283
4. At what Time	294
5. Form and Effect of Acceptances	287
Of a Foreign Bill	238
Of an Inland Bill must be on	- 1	7. face of it	291	8.
Absolute	ib. j
Conditional	800	9.
Partial or varying	303

6.	Liability of Acceptor	303
	Of an accommodation Acceptor	305
	Personal Liability of Executor
	In Case of Forgery	ij.
	When Acceptance revocable	308
	How Liability discharged	809
	By local Law	310
	By Waiver or verbal Release	311
	By formal Release	312
	By Payment	314
	By Neglect to present for
	Payment, when	315
	Not by giving Time to Drawer	ib.
	By Alteration	317
7.	Indemnity to Acceptor	iò.
	Liability of Drawes promising to pay out of Funds	321
9.	Liability of a party guaranteeing	323

On delivery of a bill of exchange to the payer, or any other person who becomes holder by transfer, it is in some cases necessary, and in all advisable to present it for acceptance. On such presentment, the drawee either complies with the drawer's request, by accepting the bill, or refuses to do so: in which latter case, it is in general incumbent on the holder to give notice to the various other persons who became parties to the bill antecedently to himself; after which, any person not originally a party, may accept it supra protest for the honour of the drawer or indorsers; and in some cases the holder may protest a bill for better security. In the present Chapter we will consider the law as it relates, First, to presentments for acceptance; and Secondly, to acceptances.

I. OF PRESENTMENT OF BILLS FOR ACCEPTANCE.

The holder of a bill always has a right to present for and insist on acceptance, even so late as the day before the bill falls due(b). When a bill of ex-

I. Presentment for Acceptance.

change is made payable within a specified time after sight, or after demand, it is absolutely necessary, in order to fix the period when it is to be paid, to pre-

1st. When necessary or advisable.

(a) As checks, promissory notes and bills, when payable on demand, are never presented for acceptance, or accepted, the observations in this Chapter in regard to presentment for acceptance, will, in general, be inapplicable to those instruments. It seems, however, that sometimes bankers, who hold a check for a customer, present it to the bankers on whom it is drawn, who mark it, which binds them to pay it the next day; Robson v. Bennett, 2 Taunt. 388, (Chit. j. 794); see post, Ch. Xl. as to Checks.

(b) 1 Pardess. 383.

(c) Per Eyre, C. J., in Muilman v. D'Eguisent it to the drawee for acceptance(c), for otherwise the time of payment would I. Of Pronever arrive(d); but in other cases *it is not necessary to present the bill sentment before it is due(e)(1); and even a banker's deposit-note, payable "with for Acceptance. interest on the day of acceptance," need not be presented otherwise than for immediate payment(t). In Bristol, it is said that the practice is not to pre-1st, When sent a bill for acceptance or to accept(g). It is, however, certainly most necessary or advisable. advisable in all cases to endeavor to get the bill accepted (h)(2), as by that |*273|means the holder obtains the additional security of the drawee upon the bill itself, and which consequently becomes more negotiable(i); and if the drawee refuse to accept, the drawer and indorser in this country may immediately be sued(k). And it is said, that it is incumbent on the bearer of a bill, when he is but the mere agent of the person entitled to it, and on the payee, when he is directed by the drawer to do so, to present it for acceptance as soon as possible, because it is only by acceptance that the person on whom the bill is drawn becomes debtor, and responsible to the holder; and if the affairs of the drawer should be deranged, an agent who has neglected to present the bill for acceptance, might be answerable in damages and interest to the person who employed him(l). If a person be holder of a bill which is no, 2 Hen. Bla. 365, (Chit. j. 549); but if a bill be on an insufficient stamp, no presentment seems necessary, ante, 124.

(d) Holmes v. Kerrison, 2 Taunt. 323, (Chit. j. 791); Thorpe r. Booth, Ryan & Mood. 389, (Chit. j. 1293). And see Dixon r. Nuttall, 1 C. M. & R. 307; 6 C. & P. 320, S. C.; post, Ch. IX. s. i. Presentment for Payment-When necessary

(e) Per Gibbs, C. J. in O'Keefe v. Dunn, 1 Marsh. 616, 621; 6 Taunt. 305, and 5 Maule & S. 28, in error, (Chit. j. 937); Selw. 9th edit. 332, 333; Goodall v. Dolley, 1 T. R. 713, (Chit. j. 440); Blesard v. Hirst, Burr. 2670, (Chit. j. 384); per Lord Ellenborough, in Orr v. Magennis, 7 East, 362, (Chit. j. 726), acc.; Mar. 46; Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, F. 6, semb.

٠.

ا اح_ا

:: 5

15

0.2

The 3d & 4th Anne, c. 9, s. 7, enacts, that if the holder do not take his due course to obtain . payment, by endeavouring to get the bill accepted and paid, and make his protest for nonacceptance or non-payment, the taking the bill shall be considered a payment; but the statute does not appear to require a presentment for acceptance, when it would be unnecessary at com-mon law. There is a similar enactment in the Irish Act 9 Geo. 4, c. 24, s. 6.

Molloy, B. 2, c. 10, s. 16. If a bill is drawn upon a merchant in London, payable to J. S. at double usanco, J. S. is not bound in strictness of law to procure an acceptance, but only to tender the bill when the money is due.

Beawes, pl. 266, p. 453. There is no obliation to procure an acceptance of a bill payable at a day certain, as the time goes on, whether accepted or not; but it is otherwise with bills payable at so many days sight. See also Marius, 12, 13; Philpot v. Bryant; 3 Car. & P. 244, (Chit. j. 1387).

(f) Sutton v. Toomer, 7 Bar. & C. 416; 1

Man. & Ry. 125, (Chit. j. 1852).
(g) Johnson r. Collins, 1 East, 99, (Ch. j. 633).

(h) Mar. 48; Poth. pl. 143. The Bank of England, in consequence of a bye law made by them under one of the Bank Acts, never accept bills for a customer in respect of deposites made by him. Still, however, if a bill payable after sight be presented, they will mark it to denote the day of sight and pay at maturity.

(i) Mar. 4th edit. 12; Beawes, pl. 266; Claxton r. Swift, 2 Show. 496, (Chit. j. 167, 168, 171); Selw. Ni. Pri. 9th ed. 331.

(k) Ballingalls r. Gloster, 3 East, 181, (Chit. j. 673); Allan v. Morson, 4 Campb. 115, (Chit. j. 920), post, Ch. VIII s. i. Proceedings on Non-acceptance—Liability of Parties.

(1) Poth. pl. 82, 128; Mar. 12, 46; Beawes, pl. 49; 1 Pardess. 380, 381, 424. In Scotland. where an agent employed to get a bill accepted neglected to do so for four days, during which the drawer failed, and then the drawee refused to accept, he was found liable on that account for the bill, subject to a deduction of a dividend from the drawer's estate, Dunlop v. Hamilton, 1 Bell, 320, n.; Thompson on Bills, 437. In England he would be liable in damages, Van Wart v. Woolly, 3 Bar. & C. 439; 4 Dowl. & R. 374; Mood. & M. 526, (Chit. j. 1235); post, Ch. VIII. s. i.

^{(1) {} Bills of exchange payable after date, are not required to be presented for acceptance, as between the holder and endorsors. It is only necessary to have bills payable after sight presented for acceptance; and the object of this is to give them a date. Crosby v. Morton, 13 Louis.

^{(2) {} The drawer of a bill, or the indorser of a note, is not discharged by the omission of the holder to make presentment or demand; or to give notice of non-acceptance or non-payment where it is clearly shown that he has sustained no damage in consequence of such omission. Damage bowever will be presumed, until rebutted by proof. Commercial Bank of Albany r. Hughes, 17 sentment for Ace ceptance.

L Of Pre- not addressed to any particular individual, but is accompanied with a letter of advice, mentioning the person on whom the bill is drawn, it is said that the bill should be presented to the person mentioned in the letter of advice, who may thereupon accept the bill, and that if he refuse to do so, it may 1st, When be protested for non-acceptance (m).

necessary or advisable.

In cases where it would otherwise be necessary to present a bill for acceptance, the holder may, as will be seen hereafter, excuse his neglect to do so, by proving that the drawer or other person insisting on the want of it as a defence, had no effects in the hands of the drawce, or had given no consid-[*274] eration for the bill(n). It seems that though the *drawer require the drawer not to accept the bill if presented for acceptance, yet the holder must present the bill for acceptance in order to render the drawer liable(0).

But if the holder has once presented a bill for acceptance, and it be refused, and he give due notice to the drawer, who thereupon states, that if the plaintiff would again present the bill to the drawee he would accept it, the holder need not present it again, but may immediately sue the drawer on the bill, or for the goods for which it was delivered to the holder, producing the bill unaccepted at the trial (p).

2dly, Who The presentment for acceptance should in general be made by the rightto present ful holder. But it is stated, that if a wrongful holder should present for acceptance the drawee should nevertheless accept the bill, and may do so without risk; and if he refuse, it is said that a valid protest for non-acceptance may be made, and which will enure to the benefit of the party entitled to the bill(q).

8dly, To (r).

The bill should necessarily be presented to the drawee as described in whom Pre- the address of the bill, and if he be not found after diligent inquiry, and the senument to be made bill has been addressed to another person, "au besoin, &c." then to that If the bill has been addressed to two or more persons not in partnership, it is said that it must be presented to each(s). The presentment must be made to the drawee, or to some agent authorised by him to accept, and though, in the case of a presentment for payment, it may suffice to demand payment at the residence of the acceptor, yet, in case of a presentment for acceptance, the holder must endeavour to see him personally; and therefore where, in an action against the drawer, on a refusal to accept, it appeared that the witness had carried the bill to a place which was described to him as the drawee's house, and that he offered it to a person in a tan-vard, who refused to accept it; and the witness did not know the drawee's person, nor could he swear that the person to whom he offered the bill was he, or represented himself to be so; it was held, that this evidence did not amount to proof of a demand upon the drawee(t).

4thly, Time of Present ment

With respect to the time when bills payable at or after sight should be presented for acceptance, the only rule, whether the bill be foreign or inland, and whether payable at sight, or at so many days after sight, or in any

(m) Mar. 142, 143; Gray v. Milner, 3 Moore,

90, (Chit. j. 1022, 1052).

(n) De Berdt r. Atkinson, 2 Hen. Bla. 336, (Chit. j. 526); Terry c. Parker, 1 N. & P. 752; 6 Ad. & El. 502, S. C. And see post, Ch. IX , X.

(o) Hill v. Heap, Dow. C. N. P. 57; Prideaux v. Collier, 2 Stark. R. 57, (Chit. j. 989).
(p) Hickling v. Hardy, 7 Taunt. 812; 1

Moore, 61, (Chit. j. 983).

(q) 1 Pardess. 444. See order in Bankruptcy, Appendix, 811.

(r) See further, post, 278, Mode of Presentment.

(s) 1 Pardess. 383.

(t) Per Lord Ellenborough, in Cheek v. Roper, 5 Esp. Rep. 175, (Chit. j. 702); post, 278, ٧

· #

· :' '

: 19

.: ':::$

. ,. 3

;;·1

تميتن er باد.

. . . . ·

. ,15

, esk (*

esi T

, 51 √1.*

. . .

.....

other manner, is, that they must be presented within a reasonable time(u); I. Of Preand, as the drawer may sustain a loss by the holder's keeping it any great sentment for Aclength of time, it is advisable in all cases to present it as soon as possible; opptance. but he is not obliged to send it by the first opportunity (x). According to the French law, bills payable at or after sight must be presented for accep- 4thly. Time of tance within certain specified periods according to the places at which they Presentare drawn(y); and the French law has also provided against a purposely hasty ment. presentment and demand of acceptance before the drawee can have received advice, and that the holder must allow as many days as there are five *leagues or fifteen miles between the place of drawing and place in which [*275] drawn(z).

In the case of a foreign bill payable after sight, it has been decided, that it is no laches to put it into circulation before acceptance, and to keep it in circulation without acceptance, as long as the convenience of the successive holders may require; and it has even been laid down, that if a bill drawn at three days sight were kept out in that way for a year, this would not be laches; and that if a bill were payable in India sixty days after sight, it would not necessarily be laches to omit presenting it for acceptance for twenty-six days after its arrival; but that if, instead of putting it into circulation, the holder were to lock it up for any length of time, this would be deemed laches(a). *However, in a more recent case, where in an action by the holder [*276]

- (u) Per Eyre, C. J. in Muilman v. D'Eguino, 2 Ilen. B. 569, (Chit. j. 549). See also Selw. 9th edit. 331.
 - (x) Poth. pl. 143.
- (y) 1 Pardess. 434, 435; Code de Commerce, No. 160; 2 Pardess. 391. (2) 1 Pardess. 382.
- (a) In Muilman v. D'Eguino, 2 Hen. Ela. 565, (Chit. j. 549.) In debt on bond conditioned to pay certain bills drawn on India at sixty days after sight, in case they should be returned protested, defendant plended that they were not presented for acceptance within a reasonable time after the drawing. They were drawn and indorsed by defendant to plaintiffs, 5th March, 1793, who procured them for a house at Paris; that plaintiffs sent immediate advice to the house at Paris, and, on receiving their directions, on the 30th of April, sent them to India, where they arrived on the 3d of October. On the 5th of October, the bolder wrote to the drawce, who was from home, requesting acceptance, and on the 17th of October, he sent an answer of refusal; some of the bills were thereupon protested the 29th of October, and the rest the 18th of November. Eyre, C. J. left the case to the jury, but told them that he thought the bills had been sent to India in time, as as they were put up here for negotiation, and were therefore liable to be delayed, and that they were presented in India in time after their arrival. The jury found for the plaintiff, and on a rule for a new trial and cause shown, the court expressed satisfaction with the verdict, and plaintiff had judgment. Eyre C. J. said, "it is not necessary to lay down any new rule as to bills of exchange payable at sight, or within a given time afterwards; if it were, I should feel great anxiety not to clog the negotiation of bills circumstanced like these. It would be a very serious and difficult thing to Goupy c. Harden, 7 Taunt. 159; 2 March. say, that a person buying a foreign bill, in the way these were brought, should be obliged to transmit it by the first opportunity to the place of its destination. There would also be a great difficulty in saying at what time such a hill should be presented for acceptance; the courts have been very cautious in fixing any time for presenting for acceptance an inland bill, payable at a certain period after sight, and it seems to me more necessary to be cautious with respect to a foreign bill phyable in that manner. I think, indeed, the holder is bound to present the bill in a reasonable time, in order that the period may commence from which the payment is to take place, but the question, 'what is reasonable time,' must depend on the particular circumstances of the case; and it must always to for the jury to determine, whether any laches are imputable to the plaintiff." Per Buller, J. "The only rule I know of, which can be applied to the case of bills of exchange is, that due diligence must be used. Due diligence is the only thing to be looked at, whether the bill be forcign or inland; and whether it be payable at sight, or at so many days after, or in any other manner. But I think a rule may be thus far laid down, as to laches, with regard to bills payable at sight or a certain time after sight, namely, that they ought to be fut in circulation; and if a bill drawn at three days sight were kept out in that way for a year, I cannot say that there would be laches; but if, instead of putting it in circulation, the holder were to lock it up for any length of time, I should say that he would be guilty of laches; but further than this no rule can be laid down." Per Heath, J. "No rule can be laid down as to the time for presenting bills payable at sight, or at a given time afterwards." In the French ordinances of 1673, in Postlethwayt and Marius, it is said that n bill payable at sight or at will is the same thing.

I. Of Pre- against the drawer of a bill of exchange addressed to the drawees at Rio de sentment for Acceptance.

4thly,

Time of Present-

ment.

276

Janeiro, payable at sixty days after sight, it appeared that the plaintiff purchased it in the market and kept it in his own hands nearly five months before he resold it, the rate of exchange having fallen after he had bought it; and before the bill was presented to the drawer at Rio de Janeiro he had become insolvent; it was held that the jury were properly directed to consider whether, looking at the situation and interests of both the drawer and holder, there had been unreasonable delay on the part of the holder in forwarding the bill for acceptance, or putting it in circulation, although it was contended that the correct question for the jury was, whether due diligence in forwarding or circulating the bill had been used by the holder with reference to the interests of the Where bills were drawn on 5th March, 1793, in India, and put in circulation, and presented for acceptance in October following, this was held not an unreasonable delay; and where a bill, payable thirty days after sight, dated in London, 12th May, 1315, on Lisbon, and was circulated in France, and not presented for acceptance till the 22d August 1815, this was held not an unreasonable delay(c). But where a bill of exchange was drawn in duplicate on the 12th August at Carbonear in Newfoundland, payable ninety days after sight, on S. and Co. in England, for the freight of a voyage from Liverpool to Carbonear, and the bill was not presented for acceptance to S. and Co. until the 16th November; and it appeared that Carbonear was twenty miles from St. John's, with a daily communication between those places, and that from St. John's there was a post office packet three times a week to England, the average voyage being about eighteen days; it was held, that the jury had properly found that the bill was not presented for acceptance within a reasonable time, no circumstances being proved in explanation of the de-

454; Holt, C. N. P. 342, (Chit. j. 971). Indorsee of two bills of exchange drawn in London, 12th of May, 1815, upon Gould and Co. of Lisbon, at thirty days after sight, pumble to defendants, and by them indorsed in London, and transmitted by them to the plaintiffs in Paris, and afterwards indersed by the plaintiffs to Ricci and Sons, who further negotiated them. It was proved that the drawces paid their bills to the thirtieth June, 1815, but the bills were not presented to them for acceptance until the twenty-second August in the same year, when they were refused, and protested for non-acceptance. In this action against the defendants as such indorsers, it was objected that there had been laches in not presenting the bills for acceptance; that the bills were payable at thirty days after sight. If they had been sent to Gould and Co. with due diligence, and they had refused to accept upon notice of the dishonour to the defendants, they might have recovered against the house of De Franca and Co. the drawers, who continued solvent more than two months from the date of the bills, but instead of transmitting the bills in the ordinary way to Lisbon, they are sent in general circulation, and the defendants hear nothing of the transaction till five months after the indorsement. Per Gibbs, C. J. on the trial, "The distinction is between bills payable at a certain number of days after date. and bills payable at a certain number of days after sight. In the former, the holder is bound to use all due diligence, and to present such bill at its maturity; but in the latter case, he has a right to put the bill into circulation before he presents it, and then of course it is uncertain when it will be presented to the drawee. It is to the prejudice of the holder if he delays to do it, and he loses his money and his interest. There are dicta that it ought to be done in a reasonable time." Verdict for the plaintiffs.

(b) Mellish v. Rawdon, 2 Moore & S. 570;

9 Bing. 416, S. C.
(c) See ante, 275, note (a).
(d) Straker v. Graham, 4 Mee. & Wels. 721. In this case Williams, J., before whom the cause was tried, intimated an opinion in favour of the plaintiff, but the jury, after a deliberation of twenty-four hours, found for the defendant. After argument on the rule for a new trial, Abinger, C. B., said, "Here the bill was drawn at Carbonear on the 12th August and (which is very material) drawn in duplicate, it appears that there was a daily communication from Carhonear to St. John's, and a post-office packet from thence to England three times a week, the voyage being about eighteen days; yet the bill was not presented for acceptance until the 16th November, by which it was made to run at least two months longer than was necessary. No evidence was given to account for this delay; and for aught that appeared, the captain might have had it in his pocket for a considerable time after his arrival in this country. At all events, the bill being drawn in sets, the plaintiff might have transmitted another set of it by St. John's. I

ď

297

 G^{*}

13 3

The holder of an inland bill payable after sight is not bound instantly to I. Of Pretransmit the bill for acceptance, he may put it into circulation, and if he do not sentment circulate it, he may take a reasonable time to present it for acceptance, and for Acceptance, the keeping it even an entire day offer he received in and a label and ance. the keeping it even an entire day after he received it, and a delay to present until the fourth day a bill on London, given within twenty miles thereof, is not 4thly, unreasonable (s)

And *it seems to have been considered that a disjusting of Time of And *it seems to have been considered that a distinction Presentunreasonable(e). may be taken as to the the nature of the bill, and whether it was intended for ment. immediate payment, or to be kept some time in circulation, as is the case of [*277] bills after sight, drawn by country bankers on London bankers, and put in circulation by the former, especially if the party objecting to the delay has himself kept the bill in his possession for some days (f).

think, therefore, that the verdict was perfectly right, and ought not to be disturbed. The other judges, Parke and Alderson, B.'s, expressed themselves of the same opinion. Rule discharg-

(e) Fry v. Hill, 7 Tannt. 397, (Chit. j. 992). Action for goods sold. The defendant, early on Friday, 9th of the month, delivered at Windsor to the plaintiff's servant, a bill, to which the defendant was no party, drawn by the defendant's bankers upon their corresponding banker in London, at one month after sight, for 140l. The bill was presented for acceptance on Tuesday the 13th of the same month, and the country bankers having failed on the same day, acceptance was refused. Shepherd, Solicitor-General, contended, that as well by this course of dealing which the plaintiff himself had elect-ed, as by his laches in presenting the bill, he had made the bill his own, and was paid for the goods. The jury found for the plaintiff. The Solicitor-General now moved to set it aside, and enter a nonsuit, renewing the same objections. He insisted that it was the duty of the plaintiff, receiving a bill payable at a certain soon as he conveniently could: If the plaintiff had forwarded this bill for acceptance on the Friday, Saturday, Sunday, or Monday he would thereby have enabled the defendant to withdraw his funds from his banker's hands. The necessity is more urgent to present for acceptance a bill payable after sight, than a bill payable after date, because, by deferring it, the holder pro-tracts the period of that payment, whereby the drawer proposes to withdraw his effects from the hands of the drawee. Secondly, it was for the plaintiff's own convenience of remittance, that instead of taking a check for the sum which the defendant proposed to pay, he had commuted it for a bill, and this was strongly evinced by his taking a bill not for 1341. 18s., but for 1401. paying the difference, and by blending his own property with this payment, he had rendered the bill completely his own, and was paid for his goods. On motion for a new trial, Gibbs, C. J. "The defendant's argument on the first point would go to the extent that the holder of a bill payable after sight, is bound to transmit it for acceptance, without putting it into circulation at all. But even if it were a case in which it was required to give instant notice, it has been repeatedly determined that the holder of a bill is not bound to send it on the same day that he receives it; and there was no post to London on the Saturday. He might have sent it on the Sunday. But I do not go upon that ground. The holder must present a bill payable after sight in a reasonable time; but it is in the power of the holder to postpone the day of payment by postponing the day of the presentment for acceptance, and he certainly may put the bill into circulation if he will. In the recent case of Goupy v. Harden, the bills were put into circulation; here it does not appear what was done with the bill in the interval. The question on these bills drawn at sight certainly is left very loose by the cases. The result of the cases undoubtedly is that which I have stated; and Eyre, C. J. says, in Muilman v. D'Eguino, 2 Hen. Bla. 565, that it is, under all circumstances, a question for the jury to determine whether such a bill was presented in a reasonable time. Buller, J. in the same case, rather narrows that doctrine, and though he agrees that if it were in circulation a twelvemonth, there would not be laches; yet he says, that if, instead of putting it into circulation, the holder were to lock it up for any length of time, he would be guilty of laches. Is this, therefore, a case in which the plaintiff can be said to lock up this bill for any length of time? If we were to grant a new trial, the result would come at the last to this: it would be a question for the jury, whether there has been a default to present a bill within a reasonable time. That question has already been left to the jury, and they have found that the bill was presented in they have round that the bill was presented in a reasonable time. We think, as the matter stands, it is perfectly right." Rule refused.

(f) Shute r. Robins, Mood. & M. 133; 3
C. & P. 80, (Chit. j. 1868). On 17th of November, plaintiff's traveller received from the defendants, who were bankers at Liskeard, a bill for 100l. at twenty days after sight, drawn by the Plymouth bank upon their London banker. The defendants had kept the bill some days before they delivered it to such traveller. The latter used to transmit weekly to plaintiffs what securities he had received; and he transmitted such bill to plaintiffs, who lived at Bristol, on the 24th of November. It did not reach Bristol till after post-time on Monday, 25th. Plaintiff sent it to London on Monday, 28th, and it was presented for acceptance on the 29th. The Plymouth bank stopped on the 24th, and none of their bills were honoured by the London house after the 26th. Acceptance was re-fused, and the defendants insisted they were discharged by the plaintiff's neglect to present I. Of Prefor Accept-4thly, Time of Presentment.

*It has been said that the question, what is a reasonable time, must depend sentments on the particular circumstances of the case; and that it must always be for the jury to determine whether any latches are imputable to the plaintiffs(g): and this rule appears to have adopted in some of the cases applicable to this subject(h); but from other cases it should seem, that reasonable time is to be taken as a question of law dependent upon the facts(i). It was said by Lord Mansfield(k), that what is a reasonable time for giving notice of the dishonour of a bill is partly a question of fact and partly of law; it may depend in some measure on facts, such as the distance at which the parties live, the course of the post, &c.; but that whenever a rule can be laid down with respect to this reasonable time, it should be decided by the court, and adhered to for the sake of certainty (1); and in the case of Shute v. Robins (m), Lord Tenterden stated it to be a mixed question of law and fact.

Hour of the day.

Presentment should in all cases be made during the usual hours of business(n); a presentment to a tradesman need not be made during banking hours; a presentment to him at eight in the evening would suffice (o); and a presentment at any time in the day or evening is sufficient, if an answer be given by an authorized person (p).

Delay in making a presentment at a proper time may be excused by illness, or by the circumstance of war having been declared, or from the political state of the country, or by other reasonable cause or accident, not attributable to misconduct of the holder (q)(1).

and obtain an acceptance of the bill, while the bankers in town honoured the drafts of the Plymouth bank.

Lord Tenterden, C. J. said, "The only question in this case is, whether the plaintiffs or their servant used due diligence in forwarding the bill in question, which is made payable twenty days after sight, for acceptance. is a mixed question of law and fact, and in expressing my own opinion I do not wish at all to withdraw the case from the jury. The bill was certainly a considerable time in the hands of the plaintiffs and their traveller long enough to enable them, if the bill had been imme liately sent to them, and forwarded by them in the regular course of business to London, to get it accepted three or four days before the drawees refused to accept such bills. In considering whether this be an unreasonable delay, we must look to the character of the bill and the course of dealing, as far as we can collect it with respect to such bills. The bill is drawn by bankers in the country on their correspondents in London, and the defendants, who are themselves bankers, held it for some days without sending it to London for acceptance; whatever strictness may be required with respect to common bills of exchange, payable after sight, it does not seem unreasonable to take bills of this nature, drawn by bankers on their correspondents, as not requiring immediate presentment, but as being retained by the holders for the purpose of using them within a moderate time, (for indefinite delay of course cannot be allowed,) as part of the circulating medium of the country, and the conduct of the defendants themselves furnishes some evidence that they are in point of fact so considered. If this be so, the delay in the present case dees not seem unressonable; this, however, is for the jury to consieler, and as they think it reasonable or otherwise, their verdict must be for the plaintiffs or the defendants." The jury found for the plain-

(g) Per Eyre, C. J. in Muilman r. D'Egaino, 2 Hen. Bla. 569; Boehm r. Stirling, 7 T. R. 425, (Chit. j. 593).

(h) Muilman v. D'Euguino, 2 Hen. Bia. 565; ante, 275, note (a); and Fry r. Hill, 7 Taunt. 397; ante, 276, note (e).

(i) Durhishire r. Purker, 6 East, 12, 13,

(Chit. j. 707). (k) Tindal v. Brown, 1 T. R. 167, (Chit. j. 43ì).

(1) Appleton v. Sweetapple, Bayl. 5th edit. 239, n. 45, (Chit j. 421, 422); see also Dar-bishire v. Parker, 6 East, 12, 13; Parker v.

Gordon, 7 East, 385, (Chit. j. 727).

(m) Mood. & M. 133; ante, 277, a. (f).
But in Fry v. Hill, 7 Taunt. 397, the question was left to the jury; ante, 276, note(e). And see Straker v. Graham, 4 M. & W. 721; ante, 276, note (d).

(n) Mar. 112; Parker r. Gordon, 7 East, 385, (Chit. j. 727); Elford r. Teed, 1 Maule & S. 28, (Chit. j. 879).

(o) Barclay v. Bailey, 2 Campb. 527, (Chit. j 818).

(p) Garrett v. Woodcock, I Stark. Rep. 475. (Chit. j. 979, 981); 6 Man. & Sel. 44, S. C;

Henry v. Lee, 2 Chit. Rep. 124.

(q) Vide post, Chap. VIII. IX. as to what will excuse the want of giving notice of nonacceptance, or not presenting for payment;

⁽¹⁾ No absolute rule can be laid down as to the time when a bill must be presented for acceptance The only rule is, that it must be presented within a reasonable time; and what is a reasonable

A bill should be presented for acceptance at the residence or domicile of I. Of Prethe drawee, without regard to the place where it is drawn payable, because sentiment the former is supposed to be the place where he is to be found to accept, ance. and the place of payment is not material until after acceptance (r). It should seem, however, that if he has removed, or is not to be found, that in EngPlace of land at least diligent inquiry should be made after the drawee, before the bill Presentis treated as dishonoured(s).

The presentment should be to the drawee himself, or to his authorized 6thly, agent, for otherwise the drawer or indorsers will not be chargeable (t). has been said, that ex rigore the drawee ought to accept the *bill immediately on presentment, or refuse to do so, and he is certainly not allowed [*279] three days for deliberation by the custom of merchants (u); as, however, it is but reasonable that the drawee should have an opportunity, before he determines whether he will accept or not, of seeing whether he has effects of and see Patience v. Townley, 2 Smith's R. 323, cept it; but he did not know Hammond's per-224, (Chit. j. 714)

(r) 1 Pardess. 383; 2 Pardess. 396. As to acceptance supra protest, see post, Ch. VII. s.

(s) Post, 279, 280.

(t) Check v. Roper, 5 Esp. R. 175, (Chit. j. 702). Declaration against drawer of a bill for default of acceptance. To prove the fact of the bill having been presented to Hammond for acceptance, the plaintiff proved that the bill was sent by the witness, who was called, who carried it to the house which was described to him as Hammond's house. He offered it to some person in a tan-yard, who refused to acson, nor could be swear that the person to whom he offered the bill was him, or represented himself to be so. Lord Ellenborough said, " that the allegation respecting the bill was a material one, as the drawer could only become liable on the acceptor's default, which default must be proved. That the evidence here offered proved no demand on Hammond, and was therefore insufficient, so that the plaintiff could not recover on the bill. Some evidence must be given of an application to the party first liable."

(u) Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, F.; Marius, 15, 16; and see Hamburgh Ordnance.

time, depends upon the circumstances of each particular case. Wallace v. Agry, 4 Mason, 336. Murray r. Judah, 6 Cowen, 484. Aymar v. Beers, 7 Cowen, 705. Cruger v Armstiong, 3 Johns. Cas. 5. Conroy r. Wurren, Id. 259. In New York, it has been decided that what is a reasonable time is a question of law under the circumstances of each particular case, and not a question of fact to be submitted to the jury. Aymer r. Beers, ut supra. Bank of Columbia r. Lawrence, 1 Peters, 579, 583. Mohawk Bank v. Broderick, 10 Wend. Rep. 304.

The holder of a check must present it at the bank before he can charge the drawer. Cruger

v. Armstrong, ut supra.

A bill of exchange payable in a given number of days after date, need not be presented for acceptance before the day of payment. Bank of Washington v. Triplett, 1 Peters, 25. Townsley v. Sumrall, 2 Peters, 170. But if presentment is made, and the bill be dishonored, notice must be given. Bank of Washington v. Triplett, ut supra.

A bill of exchange was drawn in the city of New-York, December 12th, 1822, payable at these days sight to be borned by the never who was then at New-York. It Richmond in Vicinia.

three days sight, to be borne by the payee, who was then at New-York, to Richmond in Virginia, where the drawees resided; but in consequence of the ill health of the bearer, the bill was not presented for acceptance until the 10th of January, 1823. When acceptance was refused the drawer had due notice of non-acceptance and non-payment; it was held, under the circumstances, that the delay of presentment was not unreasonable. Aymar v. Beers, 7 Cowen, 705, See Fernandez v. Lewis, 1 McCord, 322.

It seems that a bill of exchange payable in a fixed period from the date, may be presented for acceptance at any time before it becomes due. Thus a bill drawn at Boston upon a merchant in New York, dated April 23, payable in four months from date, and presented for acceptance on July 13, was held to have been presented in due season. Bachellor v. Priest, 12 Pick. Rep.

A bill or note must be presented for acceptance at the place specified on its face. Wolfe v. Jewett, 10 Curry's Louis. Rep. 384.

Although as between the payee and drawer the remedy of the former against the latter is not affected by the omission to make presentment for acceptance of a bill payable a given number of days after date, provided it be made at the maturity of the bill, the same rule does not prevail as between the payee and a broker, or agent with whom the bill is left for collection. He is bound to present the bill forthwith. Allen v. Suydam, 17 Wend. 368. As to reasonable time, see further, Straker v. Graham, 4 Mee. & Wels. 721. Two days after the last day of grace is not in time. Fulton Co. v. Wright, 12 Louis. Rep. 386.

for Acceptance.

6thly, Mode of Presentment.

I. Of Pre- the drawer in his hands, the payee or holder usually may leave the bill with him twenty-four hours, or until the next day after the presentment, unless in the interim he accept or declare a determination not to accept(x); but it is said that this must not be done if the post go out in the interim(y). The practice, however, in all cases, is to allow the drawee till the day after the presentment to determine whether or not he will accept, without regard to the departure of any post; and the drawee is justified in re-delivering the bill on the day after presentment to any person who applies for it and mentions the amount and describes any private mark or number upon it, though it afterwards turn out that such person had no authority to call for or receive it(z).

If the drawee of a bill cannot be found at the place where the bill states [*280] him to reside, and it appear that he never lived there, or has *absconded(a), or the house be shut up and no one there (b), the bill is to be considered as dishonoured; though formerly held, that if he have only removed, it is incumbent on the holder to endeavour to find out to what place he has removed, and to make the presentment there (c)(1); and it is advisable in all cases to

> (x) Ingram r. Forster, 2 Smith's Rep. 243, 244; Bellasis r. Hester, 1 Lord Rayın. 281; Mar. 62, 2d edit. 16; Beawes, pl. 17; Molloy, b. 3, c. 5, s. 1; Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, F. 6; Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, pl. 16. The law in France also allows twenty-four hours, 1 Pardess. 362; Code de Commerce, No. 125; 2 Pardess. 327

> Bellasis v. Hester, 1 Lord Raym. 281, (Chit. j. 204). Per Treby, C. J. The party may have the whole day to view the bill, and that is allowed him by the law.

Marius, 15. "No three days for acceptance twenty-four hours for acceptance. But if the party to whom the bill of exchange is directed be a merchant well known unto you, and when the bill is presented to him to accept, he shall desire time to consider of it, and so shall intreat you to leave the bill of exchange with him, and to come to him the next day, provided the post do not go away in the interim), and that then he will give you an answer whether he will accept or not, herein he doth demand nothing of you but what is usually allowed between merchants known one to another; fer, according to the custom of merchants, the party on whom the bill is drawn may have four-and-twenty hours time to consider whether he will accept the bill or not; but that time being expired, you may, in civility, demand of the party on whom your bill is drawn, the bill of exchange you left with him to be accepted, if so he pleased; if he then say that he hath not as yet accepted it, and that he would desire you to call for it some other time, or the like, the four-and-twenty hours being expired, it is at your choice to stay any longer or not, and you may then desire a notary to go to the dwelling-house of the party that hath the bill, and demand the bill of exchange of him, accepted or not accepted, and in default of present delivery thereof you may cause protest to be made in due form. But though this may be lawfully done, yet, notwithstanding, amongst merchants which do know one another, they do not usually proceed so strictly for acceptance, but do leave their bills with the parties, to whom they are directed, to be accepted, sometimes two or three days, if it be not to their prejudice, as namely, if the post do not depart in the interim; but if the post is to depart within two or three days, then it is a very reasonsble thing, and which men that know the custom of merchants will not omit to demand their bills, accepted or not accepted, so that they may give advice thereof by the first post, after the receipt of their letters, unto their friend who sent them the bill, or who delivered the value thereof; for it is to be noted by the way."

Ingram v. Forster, 2 Smith's Rep. 242. Upon the question whether more than twentyfour hours may be allowed to the drawee to determine whether he will accept, the court appear to have considered, that if more than that time be given, the holder ought to inform the indorsers thereof.

(y) Mar. 62; Com. Dig. tit. Merchant, F. 6.

(2) Morrison v. Buchanan, 6 C. & P. 18. (a) Anon. Lord Raym, 743, (Chit. j. 216). (b) Hine v. Allely, 4 B. & Ad. 624; 1 N. & M. 433, S. C.; post, Ch. IX. a. i. Present-ment for Payment—Where.

(c) Collins v. Butler, 2 Stra. 1087, (Chit. j. 285). The maker of a note shut up his house before the note became due, and in an action against the indorser, one question was, whether the plaintiff had shown sufficient in proving that the house was shut up? And Lee, C. J. thought not; but that he should have given in evidence that he had inquired after the maker or attempted to find him out. See also Bateman v. Joseph, 12 East, 433, (Chit. j. 801);

^{(1) \(\}text{Where the holder of a bill sent a person on the day of its maturity to present it at the place to which it was addressed, who was informed by a woman coming out of the house, (who, as it subsequently appeared was a lodger there), that the acceptor had formerly lived there, but had recently quitted; held, that this was evidence to go to the jury of a presentment to the accept-or so as to charge the indorser. Buckstone r. Jones, 1 Scott, New Rep. 19. }

٠.,- ﭘﻨ

. . . 5

: 20

41 % [4] %

٠ ا ا ا ا

make every inquiry after the drawee, and if possible present the bill to bim; I. Of Prealthough it will be unnecessary to attempt to make such a presentment if the sentment for Acdrawee has left the kingdom, in which case it will be sufficient to present the ceptance. bill at his house(d), unless he have a known agent, when it should be presented to him(e). If on presentment it appear that the drawee is dead, the Mode of holder should inquire after his personal representative, and, if he live within Presenta reasonable distance, should present the bill to him(f). When a bill is left ment. for acceptance, and the drawee, after its remaining in his possession twentyfour hours, requires time to consider of it, and the holder grants him that time, or if he offer a conditional acceptance, it is at least advisable, if not necessary, to give immediate notice to the indorsers and drawer, of the particular circumstances(g); and in the latter case their consent to the taking the conditional acceptance should be required.

SECTION II. OF ACCEPTANCES.

Acceptance may be defined to be the act by which the drawee evinces_II. Of Ac-- his consent to comply with, and be bound by, the request contained in the ceptances. bill of exchange directed to him, or, in other words, it is an engagement to 1st, Defipay the bill when due(h); and it may be expressed by merely writing on the Acceptbill the word "accepted." This engagement is made by the drawee of the ance. bill, or by some other person supra protest; and, as regards foreign bills, it may be verbal or in *writing, and is either absolute, partial, qualified, or con- [*281] ditional. We will consider these points in their natural order.

The drawee of a bill, unless he has for adequate consideration expressly 2dly, Of or impliedly engaged to accept it, is not, although he be indebted to the the Obligadrawer in the full amount, or although adequate funds have been remitted to cept, and him for the express purpose, legally bound to accept, nor is he liable to any when or action for the consequences of his refusal; though, according to mercantile not a Drawee usage, such refusal would be deemed very improper(i). In this respect the should ac-in which Lord Ellenborough left it to the jury whether the plaintiff had used due diligence to find the party's residence, that being a question of fact. See Beveridge v. Burgis, 3 Camp. 262, (Chit. j. 870); Browning v. Kinnear, 1 Gow, 81, (Chit. j. 1054). But see Hine v. Allely, 4 B. & Ad. 624, supra, note (b).

(d) Cromwell v. Hynson, 2 Esp. Rep. 211, (Chit. j. 571). Indorsee against the indorser of a foreign bill. When the indorsement was made, Hynson (a master of a ship) was in Jamaica, where the bill was drawn, but his residence was at Stepney. The bill was presented for acceptance, dishonoured, and protested, and then sent to Hynson's house for payment, with notice of non-acceptance. Hynson was not then in England, but the bill was shown to his wife, and the circumstances stated to her. It was urged, 1st, that notice should have been sent to Januaica; 2dly, that the demand was not sufficient. But Lord Kenyon over-ruled all the objections, and the plaintiff had a verdict.

The King r. Merton, 4 Maule & S. 48, affords information on this subject. In order to establish a settlement by apprenticeship, it was proved that the indenture was only of one part, and that upon application to the pauper, who was then ill, and soon afterwards died, to know what had become of it, he declared, that when the indenture was given to him he burnt it; and it was also proved, that inquiry was made of the executrix of the master, who said she knew nothing about it; and it was held, that this proof was sufficient to let in proof of parol evidence of the contents of the indenture. Lord Ellenborough, C. J. " The making search and using due diligence, are terms applicable to some known or probable place or person, in respect of which the diligence may be used." See also Starke v. Cheeseman, Carth. 509; 1 Lord Raym. 538; 1 Salk. 28, (Chit. j. 209); Carth. 509; and post, Part II. s. ii. as to notice of non-payment.

(e) Id ibil.; Phillips v. Astling and another, 2 Taunt. 206, (Chit. j. 777).

(f) Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 34; Poth. pl. 146.

(g) Ingram v. Forster, 2 Smith's Rep. 243, 244; anic, 279, n (x); Molloy, b. 2, c. 10. pl. 16; 1 Pardess. 382, 362; Code de Commerce, No. 125; 2 Pardess. 327.

(h) Per Lawrence, J. in Clarke r. Cock, 4
East, 72, (Chit. j. 676).
(i) 1 Pardess. 384, 388, 389, 466.

2dly, Of the Obligation to accept, and when or not a Drawee should accept.

II. Of Ac- situation of an ordinary debtor or agent differs from that of a banker, who is ceptances. liable to an action if he should refuse, having sufficient money in hand to honour the check of his customer(k); and, in case of refusal, the holder (though the drawer may withdraw the funds, or sue the drawee for the debt) has not in this country any remedy at law against the drawee or the funds in his hands (l). However, in commercial transactions, frequently from prior intercourse and dealings between the parties, an engagement to accept may be inferred(m); and it should seem, that when funds have been remitted to a drawee for the express purpose of providing for a bill drawn upon him, and he receives and retains the same without objection or returning the amount, an engagement to accept may be implied. If the drawee has expressly or impliedly promised the intended drawer to accept the bill, to be drawn on him for a valuable consideration, and afterwards should refuse to perform such contract, then the drawer (but not any other party) may certainly sue him, and recover re-exchange and other damages occasioned by the dishonour of the bill(n); and where the drawee has money in hand, very slight evidence, as previous commercial transactions, will support the presumption of a contract to accept(o): and a promise to give notice to a party when he might draw a bill, amounts to an undertaking to accept the bill when drawn in pursuance thereof (p).

Precaucepting.

The drawee, before he accepts, should, upon presentment for acceptance, tions to be assure himself most carefully that the signature of the drawer is genuine, and before Ac- that there has not been substituted for payment a larger sum than that really required by the drawer(q); the *frequency of frauds in this respect gave rise to the usage of letters of advice. If the drawee accept a forged bill, or a bill with a larger amount than that fixed by the real drawer, he will nevertheless be liable to pay the bona fide holder, and will have no claim upon the supposed drawer(r). And although the true sum be expressed in the > (k) Marzetti r. Williams, 1 Bar. & Adol. 415; 1 Tyrw. R. 77, note(b), (Chit. j. 1652). (l) 1 Pardess. 384, 388, 389, 466. In France > it is otherwise, for there the holder of an unaccepted bill may, when at maturity, sue the drawee in the name of the drawer for the funds in hand, the drawing being considered as equivalent to an assignment and specific appropriation of such funds to the use of the holder. and the drawer's intervening failure does not defeat the right; 1 Pardess. 429.

(m) 1 Pardess. 389.
(n) See the special declaration and decision in Smith v. Brown, 2 Marsh. 41; 6 Taunt. 440,

(o) Laing v. Barclay, 1 Bar. & C. 398; 2 Dowl. & Ry. 530, (Chit. j. 1170); I Pardess.

(p) Smith v. Brown, 2 Marsh. 41; 6 Taunt. 340, S. C. A. in London, consigned goods to B. at Bristol, and after they were shipped off wrote to B. inclosing the bill of lading, and requesting leave to draw on B in about three months; to which B. replied, "that the moment the goods had arrived, A. might depend on hearing from him, when he might draw upon him, or that B. would send him a banker's draft." The goods arrived, and a bill at two months sight was presented to B. which he, being a creditor of A. refused to accept; and it was held, 1st, that the promise by B. to give notice to A. when A. might draw upon him, was an undertaking to accept the bill when drawn; 2dly, that the three months were to be reckoned from the date of the letter, and not from the arrival of the goods; 8dly, that the goods were to be considered as in the act of being sent until they arrived, and therefore that the consideration was well stated, as executory, though they were on their voyage; 4thly, semble, that B.'s undertaking left it optional with A. to consider it, either as a promise to accept the bill, or to send a draft; and therefore that it was not necessary to declare on the contract in the alternative.

(q) 1 Purdess. 470, 471. An instance of the necessity for this precaution recently occurred in the case of Bulkely v Butler, 2 Bar. & Cres. 434; 3 D. & R. 625, (Chit j. 1193); post; Ch. IX. s. ii. where a person having obtained from the drawer in Spain two genuine small bills for 141, and 181, payable to his order, and addressed to the plaintiff in error, and such person by some chemical process subtracted the small sums and inserted very large sums in lieu, and then obtained from the defendant in error the substituted amount of the bills, and indorsed them to him, and the plaintiffs in error afterwards, without waiting for letters of advice from the drawer, accepted such bill; it was held, that they were liable to pay the defendant in error the full amount; id. ib.

(r) 1 Pardess. 471, 472. Sec cases of paying altered checks by mistake, Hall v. Fuller, body of the bill at the time it is accepted, it seems advisable, and sometimes II. Of Acthe practice, to repeat in the acceptance the sum for which the drawee ac- ceptances. cepts; for otherwise he may incur the risk of subsequent alteration of the 2dly, Of sum in the body of the bill, and be exposed to the risk of being obliged to the obliga-pay a larger sum, or at least to the trouble and expence of litigation (s). If cept, &c. the drawer has sent a letter of advice, the drawee must accept for the sum therein expressed; but if the bill is to be accepted or paid without further advice, then if the drawee is deceived by the false introduction of a larger sum, it is said that he may recover from the drawer all he is obliged to pay, because the latter is blameable for not taking better precaution(t): and we shall find, that if the drawer of a check has so carelessly inserted the sum as to have enabled a stranger fraudulently to alter it, such drawer, and not the banker, must bear the loss (u). But if the sum is fraudulently altered after acceptance, then the acceptor is liable only to the extent of the sum for which he really accepted, and the holder, however bon's fide, can recover no more, and must protest as to the surplus (x).

It should seem, that where a bill has been drawn in payment of a debt from the drawer to the payee, the drawee may legally accept the bill after notice of the death of the drawer, such death not revoking the order given in favour of a bona fide creditor (y).

*When the holder of a foreign or inland bill presents it for acceptance, he saly. Who is entitled to insist on such an acceptance by the drawee as will subject him to accept. at all events to the payment of the bill according to the tenor of it(z); and Capacity. consequently such drawee must have capacity to contract, and to bind him- [*283] self to pay the amount of the bill, or it may be treated as dishonoured. competency of the contracting parties in general having been already stated(a), it will be unnecessary here to make any observations relative to the capacity of the acceptor; it may, however, be observed, that if the holder find that the drawee is an infant, femé covert, or otherwise incapable of contracting, he may treat the bill as dishonoured. An acceptance may, as has 5 Bar. & C. 750; 8 Dowl. & R. 464, (Chit. j. 1294); Younge v. Grote, 4 Bing. 353; 12 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1344).

(s) 1 Pardess. 472.

1.54

. ...

500

V 2.

٠,

(t) 1 Pardess. 473, 474.

(n) Younge v. Grote, 4 Bing. 253; 12 Moore, 484, (Chit. j. 1344); post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Of Payments by Mistake.

(x) 1 Pardess. 467.

(y) Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jun. 115, 116, (Chit. j. 510); ante 75; Hammonds r. Barclay, 2 East, 227, 235, 236; (Chit. j. 646); post, Ch. IX. s. ii. Of Payment. But as this point is not settled in this country, it would be prudent in such case for the drawee to pause before he accents.

It was held, in America, in Cutts v. Perkins, 12 Mass. Rep. 206, that a drawee may legally accept and pay after notice of the death of the drawer. Abbott, the master of a vessel at London, bound for Boston, and having on board goods consigned to Perkins, drew a bill in fayour of one of his (Abbott's) creditors upon Perkins for the amount of the freight to be paid by him. Abbott died, and his estate was insolvent; and after his death, which was known to Perkins, he accepted and paid the bill. Abbott's administrator then sued Perkins for the amount of the freight, but the court held that the draft was an assignment of the money that might become due for the freight, and that Abbott's death was not a revocation of the request on the drawee to accept; Cutts v. Perkins, 12 Mass. Rep. 206, Bayl. 5, American edition.

If the drawing of a bill is to be considered as a mere bare authority that is revocable, then the death of the drawer would determine the authority of the drawee to accept or pay, but if it is an authority coupled with an interest in favour of a payee or indorsce, then death would be no countermand. In one case, Hotham, B. said, " a bill in its own nature amounts to nothing more than an authority;" Gibson v. Minet, I Hen. Bla. 586, (Chit. j. 479). But in other cases it is more properly treated as an assignment; per Eyre, C. J. id. ibid. 602; per Heath, J. in Stock r. Mawson, 1 B. & P. 291; per Eyre, C. J., Walwyn c. St. Quintin, 1 B. & P. 654; 2 Esp. Rep. 515, (Chit. j. 578). In France, the drawing a bill is considered such an assignment or appropriation as to give the indorsec a right to the funds in the hands of the drawee; 1 Pardess. 313, 429, 442,

- (2) Mar. 2d edit. 22.
- (a) Ante, 18.

II. Of Ac been already observed in a preceding Chapter(b), be made by an agent; but in such case it will be incumbent on the agent, if required, to produce his 3dly, Who authority to the holder, as, if he do not, the holder may consider the bill as to accept. dishonoured, and act accordingly (c). If a bill be accepted by a person acting as agent, per procuration, for a supposed principal, the party receiving it must ascertain the extent of the supposed agent's authority, and if he neglect to do so he will have no claim on the supposed principal if it should turn out that the assumed agent had no adequate authority (d). And it may per-Agent. haps be doubtful whether the holder is in any case bound to receive an acceptance by agent, as it multiplies the proof which he will be obliged to ad-

Partner.

The act of one partner, as has been before shown (f), being considered as the act of both, acceptance by one for himself and partner, or in the name of the firm, will in general be a compliance with the request of the drawer; but if the bill be drawn on two, not being partners, and it be only accepted by one, it should be protested (x).

duce in case he should be compelled to bring an action on the bill(e).

How many.

There cannot be a series of acceptors of the same bill; it must be accepted by the drawee, or, failing him, by some one, addressed "au bewin," or for the honour of the drawer, &c.(h); and therefore, if a bill of exchange be accepted by the drawee, another person, who, for the purpose of guaranteeing his credit, likewise accepts the bill in the usual form, is not liable as an acceptor(i); and unless the consideration of his engagement be expressed on the face of the instrument, *it is questionable whether he would be liable in any form of action(k).

4thly, At what Time may be made.

[*284]

A bill, on presentment for acceptance, must be accepted by the drawer within twenty-four hours, or in default thereof, it is liable to be, and indeed should be, treated as dishonoured (l). This space of time, we have seen(m), is allowed the drawee, to give him an opportunity of examining into the accounts between himself and the drawer; if, however, the drawee refuse to accept within the twenty-four hours, it is not incumbent on the holder to wait

(b) Anle, 32. (c) Beawes, pl. 87.

(d) Attwood v. Munnings, 7 B. & C. 278, (Chit. j. 1342); Man. & Ry. 66, S. C.; ante, (e) Coore v. Callaway, 1 Esp. Rep. 116; Richards v. Barton, id. 269.

(f) Ante, 39, et seq. 57, 59.

(g) Dupays r. Shepherd, Holt, 297; Bul. Ni. Pri. 279. In the case of two joint traders, an acceptance by one will bind the other; but if ten merchants employ one factor, and he draw a bill upon them all, and one accept it, this shall only bind him, and not the rest. Vide also Marius, 2d edit. 16; Beawes, pl. 223;

Molloy, b. 2, c. 10, s. 18; 1 Pardess. 383.

(h) That none but the party to whom the bill is addressed can be liable as acceptor, unless he be an acceptor for honour, see Polhill v.

Walter, 3 B. & Ad. 114, ante, 85, note (1).

(i) Jackson v. Hudson, 2 Campb. 447, (Chit. 799). This was an action on a bill drawn by the plaintiff on I. Irving, and accepted by him, and under his acceptance the defendant wrote "accepted, J.s. Hudson," payable at,

&c. The defendant was sued as acceptor. The plaintiff offered to prove that he had had dealings with Irving, and had refused to trust him further, unless the defendant would become his surety; and the defendant, in order to guarantee Irving's credit, wrote this acceptance on the bill. Lord Ellenborough said, that this was neither an acceptance by the drawee or by any person for the honour of the drawer; that the defendant's undertaking was collateral, and ought to have been declared on as suchalso Clark v. Blackstock, Holt, C. N. P. 474, (Chit. j. 968). See observations on this point, Manning's Index, 63.

(k) Ante, 263, n. (i); Wain v. Walters, 5 East, 10; Saunders v. Wakefield, 4 B. & Ald. 595; Manning's Index, 63; sed vide Ex parte Gardom, 15 Ves. 286; Morris v. Stacey, Holt, C. N. P. 153, (Chit. j. 950).

(1) Ante, 278, 279, in notes; Ingram r. Forster, 2 Smith's Rep. 243, 244; Code de Commerce, No. 125; 2 Pardess. 327; 1 Pardess. 382; Pailliet Man. de Droit Français, 846, 8.

(m) Ante, 278, 279, in notes.

. 34

3.7

~ A **

12 mm 12 mm

....

الدم الأساد الدران بعد الدوا

J. 37

-1.

till the expiration thereof, but he may instantly consider the bill as dishonour- II. Of Ac-And if a drawee has refused to accept, and on the next day accepts, ceptances. notice of the refusal must be given, or the parties will be discharged (o).

4thly, At what Time

Since the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, the acceptance of an inland bill made after may be made. the 1st of August, 1821, must be in writing on the bill itself. The very term acceptance seems to suppose a pre-existing bill, and independently of the accept a act alluded to, it seems to be the better opinion, that an acceptance, or a pro-Non-existmise to accept, a non-existing bill, cannot be available as an acceptance in ing Bill not the hands of the drawer(p); and it is at least questionable whether a third an Acceptance. person, who has taken a bill on the faith of such promise, can treat the promise as equivalent to an acceptance, so as to enable him to sue the drawee on the bill (q). It is true, that in Pillans v. Van Mierop (r), it was held, that a promise by the defendant "to accept such bills as the plaintiff should, in about a month's time, draw upon the defendant, upon the credit of a third person," (for whose accommodation the plaintiff had already accepted bills), amounted to an acceptance; but Lord Mansfield afterwards, in the case of Pierson v. Dunlop(s), qualified the doctrine laid down in the above case, and observed, that "a promise to accept *such a bill did not amount to an ac- [*285] ceptance, unless accompanied with circumstances which might induce a third person to take the bill by indorsement;" and Lord Kenyon, C. J. in Johnson v. Collings (t), observed, that "he thought that the admitting a promise to accept, before the existence of the bill, to operate as an actual acceptance of it afterwards, even with the qualification last-mentioned, was carrying the doctrine of implied acceptances to the utmost verge of the law; and he doubted whether it did not go even beyond the proper boundary." And that case established, that a mere promise by a debtor to his creditor, that

(n) Id. ibid.

(o) Post, Ch. VIII. s. i. Notice of Non-acceptance when necessary.

(p) Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 105, (Chit. j. 633). Milne v. Prest, 4 Campb. 893; 1 Holt, C. N. P. 181, S. C. (Chit. j. 951). By the law of France a promise to accept a bill or bills not drawn, is not binding as an acceptance, but if made after the bill has been drawn, it has then the legal effect of an acceptance. See 1 Pardess. 385, where the difference is explained and reasoned upon, and it is shown that the drawer, but not the holder of the bill, may sue the acceptor for the breach of his engagement to accept, when he has received funds or consideration for meeting it, id. ibid. In America a written promise to accept a non-existing bill operates as an acceptance, provided a bill be drawn within a reasonable time afterwards, but not otherwise; Coolidge v. Payson, 2 Wheat. 66; Weston v. Clement, 3 Mass R. 1; Bayl. 105, Amer. edit.

(q) Id. ibid. (r) Pillans v. Van Mierop, Burr 1663, (Chit. j. 372). See this case observed upon in Pierson v. Dunlop, Cewp. 573, (Chit. j. 392); Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 105, (Chit. j. 633);

Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 70. Pillans v. Van Mierop, Burr. 1668, (Chit. j. White drew on plaintiffs at Rotterdam for 8001. and proposed to give them credit upon desendant's house in London; plaintiffs paid White's bill, and wrote to the desendants to know, "whether they would accept such bills as they (the plaintiffs) should draw in about a month upon them for 800l. on White's credit." The defendants answered that they would; but White having failed before the month elapsed, defendants wrote to plaintiffs not to draw. Plaintiffs did, however draw, and on defendants' refusal to pay the bills, brought this action. The jury found a verdict for the defendants; but, upon an application for a new trial, as upon a verdict against evidence, and two arguments upon it, the court was unanimous that the defendants' letter was a virtual acceptance of such bills as the plaintiff should draw to the amount of 8001.; and the rule was made absolute. See also Mason r. Hunt, Dougl. 297.

(s) Pierson v. Dunlop, Cowp. 573, (Chit. j. 392); Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 106, n. (a),
8. P.; Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 70, (Chit. j.

676); ante, 280.

(1) Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 98, (Chit. j. 633); Collings owed Ruff 231. 10s. 6d. Ruff applied for payment, and Collings said, "that if he would draw for it at two months he would pay it." Ruff drew accordingly, and indorsed the bill to the plaintiff, but did not mention to him Collings' promise. The plaintiff now sued Collings, on the ground that his promise to Ruff was virtually an acceptance. But Le Blanc, J. thought, that as it was not made to a third person, nor with circumstances which might induce a third person to take the bill, it was no acceptance, and nonsuited the plaintiff. On a rule nisi for a new trial, and cause shown, the whole court thought it no acceptance, and Lord Kenyon made the observation stated in the conII. Of Ac- if he would draw a bill upon him for the amount of his demand, he should ceptances.

4thly, At what Time may be made.

then have the money, and would pay it, does not amount in law to an acceptance of the bill when drawn, and that an indorsee for a valuable consideration, between whom and the drawee no communication passed at the time of his taking the bill, can neither recover upon a count in the declaration upon the bill as accepted, nor on the general count for money had and received(u). In a more recent case at nisi prius, it was decided by Gibbs, C. J. that a promise to accept a bill of exchange, in a letter written before the bill has been drawn, can only be taken advantage of as an acceptance by a person to whom the letter was communicated, and who took the bill upon the credit of it(x). And in a late case in bankruptcy, where a firm in England sent out an agent to America with authority to draw bills on the firm and sell and discount them, and the firm undertook duly to honour all bills so drawn, and the agent drew and discounted bills accordingly, but the firm became bankrupt before the bills arrived in England; it was held, that no proof could be made by an indorsee of the bills, although he had discounted them upon the faith of the bankrupts' engagement, as the authority of the agent did not amount to an implied acceptance(y). Assuming, however, that where a person was, for a sufficient consideration, engaged in writing, or in some cases even verbally, to accept a bill thereafter to be drawn, such promise may be rendered available as an acceptance when in the hands of an indorsee, yet it must appear that the promise was communicated to the indorsee and that he took the bill upon the credit thereof; and unless so communicated, an action for the breach thereof must be brought in the name of the person to whom the promise was made, and the declaration should be spe-[*286] cial, founded on the agreement. In America, *a written promise to accept a non-existing bill operates as an acceptance, provided a bill be drawn within a reasonable time afterwards, but not otherwise (z)(1).

(u) Id. ibid.; Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 60, (Chit. j. 676); Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700), S. P.
(x) Milne v. Priest, 4 Campb. 393; Holt, C. N. P. 181, (Chit. j. 951). It was insisted that the following letter, written by the defendant before the bill was drawn, amounted to an acceptance:-" We acquit you of buying wheat instead of oats; we will however accept the bills for the wheat when we receive notice of its being shipped." The case of Johnson r. Collings was cited for the defendant, to show that a promise to accept a bill not in existence was not binding. Per Gibbs, C. J. "You are within that case, unless they show that the letter was communicated to the plaintiff, and that he received the bill with a knowledge. A promise to accept, not communicated to the person who takes the bill, does not amount to an acceptance; but if the person be thereby induced to take a bill, le gains a right equiralent to an actual acceptance, against the party who has given the promise to accept.

(y) Ex parte Bolton and others, 3 Mont. & Ay. 367; 2 Deacon, 537, S. C. Sed quere, the bill having been discounted upon the faith of the bankrupt's undertaking. See judgment of Gibbs, C. J. in Milne v. Prest, 3 Campb. 393, last note.

(2) Coolidge v. Payson, 2 Wheat. 66; Weston v. Clements, 3 Mass. R. 1; Bayl. 105, American edit.; ante, 284, note (p).

⁽¹⁾ In Mason v. Hunt, Dong Rep. 296, Lord Mansfield said, "there is no doubt but that an agreement to accept may amount to an acceptance, and it may be couched in such words as to put a third person in a better condition than the drawer. If one man to give credit to another make an absolute promise to accept his bill, the drawer or any other person may show such promise upon the exchange to get credit, and a third person who should advance his money upon it, would have nothing to do with the equitable circumstances between the drawer and acceptor. But an agreement to accept is still but an agreement, and if it is conditional, and a third person takes the bill, knowing of the conditions annexed to the agreement, he takes it subject to these conditions." These observations were made in a case, where the bill was drawn after the supposed promise of acceptance was made; and therefore are entitled to be deemed something more than mere obiter dicta. The doctrine here stated has been recognized and suffered in respect to than mere content dieta. In the doctrine here stated has been recognized and enforced in respect to a promise to accept a bill not in esse in Maryland. (M'Kim r. Smith, 1 Hall's Law Journal, 485.) and in the Circuit Court of the United States in Massachusetts District. Payson r. Goolidge, 2 Gallis. 233. The decision in this case, was affirmed, on error, by the Supreme Court. Wheat. 66. And the same doctrine has been recently fully recognized in the same court.

But if the intended drawee merely write his name at the bottom of a blank II. Of Acpiece of paper duly stamped, this will have the operation of an acceptance, ceptances. after the drawer has subsequently drawn the bill and signed his name; and 4thly, At the holder need not prove any custom of merchants thus prematurely to ac- what Time cept an intended bill; and although the declaration state in the usual form may be the drawing of the bill, and that the drawee afterwards accepted, this is considered no variance (a). And it has been decided (b), that an indorsement written on a blank stamp will afterwards bind the indorser for any sum and time of payment which the stamp will admit, and which the person to whom he entrusts it chooses to insert; and that a person signing his name to a blank paper, and delivering it to another person for the purpose of drawing a bill in such manner as he should choose, is bound by such signature as a See post, 821 (35). drawer(c).

An acceptance being an absolute undertaking to pay, may be made even May bo after the time appointed by the bill for payment(d), and even after a prior due.

(a) Molloy v. Delves, 4 Car. & Pay. 492, (Chit. j. 1544), see post, 821, (36).

(b) Russel v. Langstaff, Dougl. 514, (Chit. j. 415); Powell v. Duff, 3 Campb. 182.

(c) Collis v. Emmett, 1 Hen. Bla. 313,

(Chit. j. 461).
(d) Waynne v. Rakes, 5 East, 521, (Chit. j. 700); Jackson r. Pigot, Ld. Raym. 364; Salk. 127; Curth. 450; 12 Mod. 212, (Chit. j. 208). In an action against the acceptor of a bill, the declaration stated, that it was dated 25th March, 1696, payable one month after date, and that in April, 1697, it was shown to the defendant, and he promised to pay it according to its tenor and effect. After verdict for the plaintiff, it was moved in arrest of judgment, that the promise was void, because, as the day of payment was past at the time of acceptance, it was impossible to pay the bill according to its tenor and effect: but it was answered for the plaintiff, that it amounted to a promise to pay generally, and the court being of that opinion gave judgment for the plaintiff. Mitford v. Walcot, Ld. Raym. 574; Salk. 129; 12 Mod. 410, (Chit. j. 214); Gregory v. Walcup, Com. R. 75, (Chit. j. 214); to the same effect, Beawes, pl. 224; Selw. 9th edit. 326.

Schimmelpennick v. Bayard, 1 Peters, 283. See Goodrich & Deforest v. Gordon, 15 John. Rep. 6. See also Van Reimsdyke v. Kane, 1 Gall. Rep. 630, and M'Evers v. Mason, 10 John. Rep. 207. Mayhew v. Prince, 11 Mass. Rep. 54. Banorgee v. Hovey, 5 Mass. Rep. 11. And an agreement to accept a bill when drawn, if shown to a shird person within a reasonable time after the agreement was made, and he take a draft on the credit of it, has been held in Mussa-chusetts to be an acceptance. Wilson v. Clements, 3 Mass. Rep. 1. But although it be clear that a verbal acceptance or an acceptance by a collateral paper is good in law; (M'Evers v. Mason, 10 John. Rep. 203.) yet an agreement to accept a non-existing bill, when drawn, will not operate us an acceptance, unless it be in writing, and shown to a third person who takes a draft on its credit, within a reasonable time. Therefore if a person in writing authorize a draft and agree to accept it, a draft drawn two years afterwards, in favor of a person who took it on the faith of the agreement to accept, will not bind the drawee. Wilson v. Clements, ut supra. See also, Coolidge v. Payson, 2 Wheat. 75, note (a).

Where the drawee said to a person not a party to the bill nor acting for a party "that he must pay the bill" or he "would have to pay it,"—held not to be an acceptance. Martin r. Bacon,

2 S. Car. Rep. 132.

A promise to accept a bill thereafter to be drawn, specifying the amount and time of payment, so as to leave no reasonable doubt as to the identity of the bill intended to be accepted, is, if shown to a third person, who, on the faith of such promise, takes the bill for a valuable consideration, in point of law, an acceptance, binding the person who makes the promise. Per Sutherland, J. This doctrine is discussed at large, and fully established, in the following cases. 10 Johns. R. 213; 15 Id. 6; 2 Gallison, 238; 2 Wheaton, 66; 3 Burr. 1666; Cowp. 571; Douglass, 297; 1 East, 98; 4 Id. 57; 5 Id. 514; Milne v. Prest and another, 1 Holt, 181; 4 Campb. 393.

S. C.; 3 Com. Law. R. 17; 1 Atk. 611; 2 Barn. & Ald. 113. Parker v. Greele, 2 Wend. 545. A promise in these words, "I have no objection to accepting for you at 3 and 4 months, for $2500, on the terms you propose," contained in a letter, is an absolute and not a conditional engagement; and such a promise authorizes a draft for the schole sum at four months, the longest period specified. Id. The judgment of the Supreme Court, in this case is affirmed by the Court of Errors; but the Chancellor and seven Senators voted for its reversal. Greele v. Parker, 5 Wend. Rep. 414.

And see Parsons v. Amer, 3 Peters, 426. Boyce v. Edwards, 4 Idem, 121. Ward, 2 Dana, 95. Ogden & Co. v. Gillingham & Co., 1 Bald. 38. Kennedy v. Leddes, 8 Port, 263; Canollton Bank v. Tayleur, 16 Louis. Rep. 490. } may be made.

II. Of Ac- refusal to accept(e), so as to bind the acceptor, though it would discharge the drawer and indorsers, unless due notice of the prior non-acceptance or of non-payment were given (f); and in such case the acceptor would be li-4thly, At of non-payment were given (f); and in such case the acceptor would be limbar Time able to pay the bill on demand (g), though in pleading, his liability may be stated to have been to pay according to the tenor and effect of the bill(h). It has been observed(i), that the drawee, although he have effects of the drawer's, ought not to accept bills after he is aware of the failure of the drawer, because after that event, one creditor of the drawer ought not to be paid in preference to another. But payments made to a bankrupt without knowledge of his being so, are protected by the 1 Jac. 1, c. 15, s. 14; 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 82(k); and as an acceptance of a bill for a precedent debt has always been deemed a payment in satisfaction, provided the bill be honoured when due, there is no doubt, and indeed it has been so decided, that if a person, not having notice of the bankruptcy of the drawer, accept a bill drawn on him after such bankruptcy, he will be justified in paying his acceptance, although he has afterwards heard of *the bankruptcy(l). But where a trader, after a secret act of bankruptcy, consigned goods to a factor, who agreed to advance money thereon, and accordingly accepted and paid bills drawn on him by the trader, and a commission afterwards issued against such trader on such prior act of brakruptcy, after which the factor sold the goods and received the money, it was held, that he was answerable to the assignees for the value of the goods(m). If a person draw a bill of exchange on another, and deliver it to the payee for a sufficient consideration, and the drawer then die, it should seem, that this having been an appropriation of a particular fund for the benefit of payee, the death would be no revocation of the request to accept, and that the drawee may accept and pay(n)(1).

In case of a foreign bill drawn in sets, the drawee should accept only one part, and insist on that being produced to him before he pays(o).

5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

An acceptance may be considered with reference, 1st, to its form, and 2dly, to its extent or effect.

In France all acceptances must not only be in writing, but also signed(p);

(e) Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700). The defendants having previously refused to accept, afterwards wrote to the drawers a letter, stating "our prospect of security is so much improved, that we shall accept or certainly pay all the bills which have hitherto appeared," was held to amount to an acceptance. See post, 290, 297.

(f) Mitford v. Walcot, 12 Mod. 410, (Chit. j. 214).

(g) See the cases, supra, note (d).

(h) Id. ibid.

(i) Poth. pl. 96, et vide Pinkerton v. Marshall, 2 Hen. B. 334, and cases there cited.

(k) Since extended to all contracts, &c , by 2 & 3 Vict. c. 29; see ante, 206, 208.
(1) Wilkins v. Casey, 7 T. R. 711; ante,

207, note (h); and see observations in Copland v. Stein, 8 T. R. 208.

(m) Copland v. Stein, 8 T. R. 208. This is altered as to transactions upwards of two months before the date of the commission by 46 Geo. 3, c. 135; 49 Geo. 3, c. 121, and 6 Geo. 4, c. 16, s. 81; and as to transactions before the date of the commission, by 2 & 3 Vict

c. 29; see ante, 206, 208.
(n) Tate v. Hilbert, 2 Ves. jun. 115, 116, (Chit. j. 510); Hammonds r. Barclay, 2 East, 227, 235, 236, (Chit. j. 646); ante, 292, s. (y); post, Ch. IX. s. ii. " Of Payment," sel quære.

(o) Ante, 155.

(p) 1 Pardessus, 390.

A merchant has a right by the usage of trade to draw on effects placed in the hands of the drawee by shipment, and the consignee must pay the bills, if the shipment places funds is hands. Schimmelpennick r. Bayard, 1 Pet. Rep. 264.

⁽¹⁾ And see Peyson v. Hallett, 1 Caines' Rep. 379, and Cutts r. Perkins, 12 Mass. Rep. 206, to the same effect. So also, an order drawn upon an agent in possession of funds, out of which it is to be paid, when accepted, fixes the funds irrevocably, and is a good assignment of the funds; and they do not become assets, upon the death of the drawer. Debesse r. Napier & Co. 1 M'Cord, 106.

. . .

i:i

1 m 3

9973

......

100

. . 3

: ****

. 3

J. J. 1

. - 3.7

-

... ...

الله الإ الإ الإ

and by the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, s. 2, all inland bills accepted in England II of Acmust be accepted in writing on the bill itself; and the same regulation was by ceptances. a subsequent act (9 Geo. 4, c. 24, s. 8,) extended to Ireland(q)(1). But 5thly, as these regulations are merely local, and do not effect foreign bills, even Form and when accepted in this country, it is still necessary to consider the previous Accept.

ances.

The holder might in all cases insist on an absolute acceptance in writing, Holder on the face of the bill, according to the very terms of the bill, and in default may insist thereof might consider the bill as dishonoured (r). And, therefore, where, ceptance in an action on a bill against the drawer of a bill, drawn on Lisbon, "paya- in Terms ble in effective and not in val reals," the drawee had offered to accept it, of Bill, and payable in val denaros, another sort of currency, it was held, that the holder might have refused such acceptance, and protested the bill as dishonoured; and Lord Ellenhorough said, "The plaintiff had a right to refuse this acceptance; the drawee of a bill has no right to vary the acceptance from the terms of the bill, unless they be unambiguously and unequivocally the same. Therefore, without considering whether a payment in denaros might have satisfied the term effective, an acceptance in denaros was not a sufficient acceptance of a bill drawn payable in effective. The drawee ought to have accepted generally, and an action being brought against them on the general acceptance, the question would properly have arisen as to the meaning of the term(s). So in Parker v. Gordon(t), Mr. Justice Lawrence said, "The bolder of a bill may refuse to take a special acceptance payable at a banker's, but if he chose to take it, *he must comply with the terms of it, [*288] and present it there in the usual banking hours, or he will discharge the drawer and indorsers." If, however, he be satisfied with any of these acceptances, each will be obligatory on the acceptor, and if due notice thereof be given to the other parties to the bill, they will also be liable. seems, that according to the French law, the drawee may, in his acceptance, introduce words protecting his own interests, provided they do not qualify the absolute right of the holder to receive payment from him according to the terms of the bill, as "accepté pour payer a moimeme," in which case the holder neither can nor ought to refuse such acceptance or protest on account of it(u); and though the drawee offer an acceptance, "reserving all claims ⁽q) And see per Parke, J. in Mahoney v. 80, (Chit. j. 904).

Ashlin, 2 B. & Ad. 478, 483, that the 1 & 2

Geo. 4, c. 78, s. 2, applies to every part of j. 756). the United Kingdom.

⁽s) Boehm e. Garcias, 1 Campb. 425, (Chit. (t) Parker v. Gordon, 7 East, 385, (Chit. j.

⁽r) Poth. pl. 47; 3 & 4 Anne, c. 9, s. 5; Parker v. Gordon, 7 East, 887, (Chit. j. 727); Gammon v. Schmoll, 5 Taunt. 344; 1 Marsh.

⁽u) 1 Pardessus, 171.

⁽¹⁾ So by the Revised Statutes of New York it is enacted that no person within the State is chargeable as an acceptor on a biil of exchange, unless his acceptance be in writing, signed by himself or his lawful agent; and the holder may require the acceptance on the bill, and a refusal to comply will be a refusal to accept.—An acceptance in writing if not on the bill, will be of no effect except to a person receiving a bill on the faith of it. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it be drawn is an acceptance in favor of the person who receives the bill on the faith of it for a valuable consideration.

And every drawee who refuses to return a bill within twenty-four hours to the holder, shall be deemed to have accepted it. 1 Rev. Stat. 268, s. 6—11. 3 Kent's Com. 2d cd. 33. { Under the provisions of the Revised Statutes of New York, an acceptance of a bill is not obligatory unless it be in writing, signed by the acceptor or his agent; and if it be written on a separate paper it does not bind the acceptor, unless the fact of acceptance be disclosed to the person taking the bill, and he receive it for a valuable consideration. Bank of Michigan v. Ely, 17 Wood. 508. }

othly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

IL Of Ac- on the drawer," the holder may receive it, although the drawer has given coptances. express orders not to consent to any reservation against him, and has imposed on the holder the obligation to protest in such case. Premising, as a general rule, that what amounts to an acceptance is a question of law and not of fact(v), the nature of the several acceptances will be considered in their proper order.

Foreign Bille may be accepted verbally, or by a formerly Inland Bills the same.

It was established that a valid acceptance might be in writing on the bill itself, or on another paper, as by a letter undertaking to accept bills already drawn(x), or that it might be verbal(y); although an inland bill could not have been protested for non-payment, unless it had been accepted in writseparate ing(z). And this is still the law as to joreign pins(a). By the statute of Paper, and 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, s. 2, it is enacted, "that from and after the 1st day of ing(z). And this is still the law as to foreign bills(a). By the statute of August, 1821, no acceptance of any INLAND bill of exchange shall be sufficient to charge any person, unless such acceptance be in writing on such bill, or if there be more than one part of such bill, on one of the said parts;" and the 9 Geo. 4, c. 24, s. 8, contains a similar enactment as to inland bills made in Ireland. Upon these acts it has been decided, that a bill drawn in [*289] Ireland on England is not an inland but a foreign bill, and therefore *an acceptance by letter is sufficient (b)(1). As these acts only relate to inland > (v) Sproat v. Matthews, 1 T. R. 182, 186, (Chit. j. 433).

> (x) Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 71, (Chit. j. 676); Ex parte Dyer, 6 Ves. 9; Holt, C. N. P. 83, 84; Selw. 9th edit. 326. In Crutchley e, Mann, 1 Marsh. 29; 5 Taunt. 529, (Chit. j. 908); it seems to have been doubted whether an engagement on another paper to accept a foreign bill already drawn must not be stamped, but this it should seem, cannot be necessary.

There is no stamp on acceptances.

(y) Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 67, (Chit. j. 676); Ex parte Dyer, 6 Ves. 9; Lumley v. Palmer, R. T. Hardw. 74; Stra. 1000, (Chit. j. 275); Clayvy v. Dolbin, R. T. Hardw. 278, (Chit. j. 280); Dupays v. Shepherd, Holt, 297; Mar. 65. See 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9, s. 5.

Cox v. Coleman, Mich. 6 Geo. 2, cited arguendo, Ann. 75, (Chit. j. 274). A foreign bill drawn on defendant was protested for nonacceptance, and returned, and afterwards de-fendant told the plaintiff, "if the bill comes back I will pay it," and this was held a good acceptance.

Lumley r. Palmer, Stra. 1000; R. T. Hardw. 74, (Chit. j. 275). In an action against the defendant as acceptor of a bill the acceptance appeared to be parol only; which Lord Hard-wicke; C. J. ruled to be sufficient, that being good at common law, and by the statute 3 & 4 Ann. c. 9, sects. 5 and 8, which requires an acceptance to be in writing, in order to charge the drawer with damages and costs, having a proviso that it shall not extend to discharge any remedy that any person may have against the acceptor. But Eyre, C. J. of the Common Pleas, having ruled it otherwise in Rex v. Maggott, 7 Geo. 2, an application was made for a new trial, and the court, to settle the point, ordered it to be argued; upon the argument the court held Lord Hardwicke's direction right, and Eyre C. J. waived his opinion and agreed with the Court of King's Bench, and this determination is referred to and approved of in Julian v. Scholbrooke, 2 Wils. 9; Powell v. Monnier, 1 Atk. 612; and in Pillans v. Van Mierop, Burr. 1662, Lord Mansfield says, "a verbal acceptance is binding," and in Sproat v. Mathews, 1 T. R. 182, it was taken for granted by the court and bar, that a parol acceptance was good. See also Stra. 817, and see Windle r. Andrews, 2 Barn. & Al. 696, (Chit. j. 1062). (z) Fairlie v. Herring, 3 Bing. 625; 11 Moore, 320, (Chit. j. 1300).

(a) 9 & 10 Will, 3, c. 17.

(b) Mahoney r. Ashlin, 2 B. & Ad. 478, (Chit. j. 1550). But the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, s. 2, (as well as the 9 Geo. 4, c. 24, s. 8,) applies to bills drawn in Ireland upon persons there, id. ibid.

The court, in giving judgment, referred to the statute of William the Third, regulating the acceptance of inland bills of exchange, which applied only to England, Wales, and Berwickon-Tweed; and as none of the subsequent Acis of Parliament had extended the description of an inland bill, so as to include a bill drawn in Ireland upon England, their lordships were of opinion that the Act of Union could make no alteration in that respect, and consequently this must be considered as a foreign bill. The letter, therefore, was a sufficient acceptance, and the plaintiff was entitled to recover. See Chaters v. Bell, 4 Esp. R. 48, (Chit. j. 636); and anle, ⁽¹⁾ The same doctrine was recognized in M'Evars v. Mason, 10 Johns. Rep. 207. Wilson v. Clement, 3 Mass. Rep. 1.

......

n 18 5

J 62 4

لاخ مد

J. +1.

.

, ... , *

ंच । , '।

100

bills, it will be necessary to consider the decisions as still affecting foreign II. Of Ac-

The current of decisions in the English courts establishes, that a verbal 5thly. acceptance of a foreign bill already drawn is sufficient(c); and this is still Form and the law in England as to such foreign bills (d); though the law of France re-Acceptquires the acceptance to be signed, and consequently there it must be in ances.

It is also established by a current of English decisions, that with respect to FOREIGN bills, it is not necessary that the acceptance should be on the bill itself, it may be on another paper (f), and this is the law in France (g).

In Johnson v. Collings(h), Lord Kenyon, C. J. observed, "that it is much to be lamented, that any thing has been deemed to be an acceptance of a bill of exchange, besides an express acceptance in writing; but he admitted that the cases had gone beyond that line, and had determined that there might be a parol acceptance." And in Clark v. Cock(i), Lord Ellenborough, C. J. observed, "that if the law in this respect were to be framed de novo, it might, perhaps, be desirable to have nothing else taken as an acceptance, than an acceptance in writing on the bill itself, that every one to whom it passed might see on the face of the instrument itself whether or not it was accepted; but that it is now much too late to recur back to that, after the various decisions in the times of Lord Hardwicke and Lord Mansfield;" and he also observed(k), "that it might be for the convenience of mercantile affairs, that a bill might be accepted by a collateral writing without the bill itself coming to the actual touch of the acceptor, which would sometimes create great delay." And therefore in Clarke and others v. Cock(l), where A. in consideration of having commissioned B. to receive certain African bills payable to him, drew a bill upon B. for the amount, payable to his own order, and B. ackowledged by letter the receipt of the list of the African bills, and that A. had drawn for the amount, and assured him that it would meet with due honour from him; this was holden an acceptance of the bill by B.; and the purport of such letter having been communicated by A. to third persons, who, on the credit of it, advanced money on the bill to A., and who indorsed it to them, it was also holden that B. was liable as acceptor to an action by such indorsees, although after the indorsement, in consequence of the African bills having been attached in B.'s hands, who was ignorant of his letter having been *shown, A. wrote to B., advising him not to accept the bill when tendered [*290] to him, which, as between A. and B., would have been a discharge of B.'s acceptance, if the bill had still remained in A.'s hands. And in Wynne and another v. Raikes and others (m), it was holden, that a letter from the drawees of a bill in England to the drawer in America, stating, that "their prospect of security being so much improved, they should accept or certainly pay the bill," is an acceptance in law, although the drawees had before refused to accept the bill when presented for acceptance by the holder who resided in England, and again, after the writing such letter, refused payment

⁽c) See cases, ante, 288, note (η) . (d) See Fairlie v. Herring, 8 Bing. 625; 11 Moore, 320, (Chit. 1300).

⁽e) 1 Pardess. 390; Manuel de Droit Frangais, 845, edit. A. D. 1818.

⁽f) Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 57, (Chit. j. 676); Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700); Ex parte Dyer, 6 Ves. 9.

(g) Man. de Droit Frang.; 1 Pardes. 390.

It is not indispensable that the acceptance should be written on the bill, and see the reason, id. ibid.

⁽h) Johnson v. Collings, 1 East, 103, (Chit.

j. 633); ante, 285, note (t). (i) Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 67, (Chit. i.

⁽k) Id. ibid.; 4 East, 71.

⁽¹⁾ Id. ibid.; 4 East, 57. (m) Wynne r. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700); ante, 286, notes (d) and (e).

11. Of Ac- of it when presented for payment, and although such letter, written before, was not received by the drawer in America until after the bill became due.

othly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

In Fairlie v. Herring, bills having been drawn on the defendants by their agent, and with their authority, in respect of a mine which they afterwards transferred to A., they requested A. to place funds in their hands to meet the bills when due, saying, "it would be unpleasant to have bills drawn on them paid by another party." A. placed funds accordingly, but when the bills were left with defendants for acceptance, no acceptance was written on them. A.'s agent having complained to one of the defendants on the subject, he said, "What, not accepted! We have had the money, and they ought to be paid, but I do not interfere in this business, you should see my partner." And it was holden, that all this amounted to a parol acceptance of the bills, on which the defendants were liable to an indorsee, between whom and A. there was no privity, and that the indorsee was not precluded from suing, by having made a protest in ignorance of this acceptance(n).

*But the verbal or written engagement in another paper must import a [*291] direct and positive engagement to accept or to pay; and therefore a letter,

(n) Fairlie v. Herring, 3 Bing. 625; 11 Moore, 520, (Chit. j. 1203). Best, C. J. " We are all agreed that there has been a good acceptance of this bill, and therefore have declined entering into the points as to money had and received. If the facts of this case are understood, it appears to me no man can doubt that both in point of justice and in point of law the plaintills are entitled to recover. From Mornay's testimony we ascertained that he had been in America as the agent of the defendant, for the purpose of exploring a mine. He made an arrangement with the Mexican Company, in the course of which the present defendants had the benefit of the money for which the action is brought. bill on which the defendants are sued was drawn by Exeter, the sub-agent of Mornay, who was the agent of the defendants. The bill, therefore, was created by the defendants for their own benefit, they have had the advantage of it in their dealings with the Mexican Company, and they are the persons who in point of justice ought to pay. The business on the part of the Mexican Company being also under the management of Mornay, Powles, one of the defendants, applies to Mornay, and desires that he will consent to the defendants having the money in question, for the express purpose of paying these bills, complaining it would be a hardship if their bills were paid by any other house, that it would being discredit on their house, that they who had trusted the Company ought in turn to be trusted for such a sum of money as this Here is the most distinct promise to pay that could be made. My brother Wilde does not deny the promise to pay the bill, but says it is distinguishable from all similar cases in this, that it is not a promise made to one of the parties to the bill. I consider it is a promise made to one of the parties to the bill.
Who is the drawer? Exeter Exeter is the subagent of Mornay. I consider Exeter and Mornay the same. There is, therefore, a promise to pay to these persons, and as was said by Mr. Justice Le Blanc, in a case that was referred to in argument, 'If a man premises to pay a bill, he promises to do all the formal part.'

It has been determined, in a great variety of cases, that if a bill comes into a man's hands with a parol acceptance, though the party who receives the bill does not know of that parol acceptance, he has a right to avail himself of it afterwards. It is impossible for any man to doubt, on principles of common sense, that such ought to be the law, for if I take a bill, I take it with every advantage the holder had before it came into my hands. This promise being made to Mornay, and money being obtained on it, amounted to a promise upon adequate consideration to one of the contracting parties. Is there then any thing in the case which has prevented the plaintiffs from availing themselves of that promise? It has been supposed, that by protesting the bill for non-acceptance they have abandoned their claim. At the trial of this cause I put an end to that hy leaving it to the consideration of the jury, whether, at the time that protest was made, the plaintiffs were aware that this acceptance had also been made. The jury expressly found that the protest was made in ignorance of what had taken place between Mornay and the present defendants. If the plaintiffs were ignorant of this, it is quite impossible that that which they have done in ignorauce can prejudice any right which was before vested in them.

Therefore I put the case on the principle contained in the language of Lord Manafeld: "If a man undertakes for the substance, he undertakes for the formal parts: if he undertakes to pay the acceptance, he undertakes to accept." The plaintiffs in this case have done nothing to waive their right on that acceptance; and it would be an opprobrium to the law of England, if, upon a bill drawn by an agent of these gentlemen, and of which they have had the advantage, they could turn round and say, "our agent in America is a person not to be trusted, we will not pay the bill though we have received the money for the purpose." I should be exceedingly sorry if the plaintiffs could be so turned round. I am happy to find in this case that which I find in most others where statutes have not interfered, that the common law will enable us to do justice."

nia ye

5.1

. .:

::"

1121

. . .

. •

3)

تنور

و بور^د

,] ["

3.5

1

4

·r·

stating "your bill shall have attention," was holden by the court too ambig- II. Of Acuous to amount to an acceptance, in the absence of evidence to show that in ceptances. mercantile acceptation the phrase amounted to an equivocal acceptance(o). 5thly, And where the drawee said, on presentment of the bill, "there is your bill; Form and take it, it is all right?" that was held to be no accompanied. take it, it is all right," that was held to be no acceptance (p). Accept-

If a party to a bill, on being asked if it be his own hand-writing, answer ances. that it is, and will be duly paid, or if he has paid several other bills accepted in the same hand-writing, he cannot afterwards set up, as a defence, forgery of his name; for he has accredited the bill, and induced another to take it(q)(1).

An acceptance, in regard to extent or effect, may be either absolute, conditional, or partial, or varying from the tenor of the bill. In regard to these, many of the points in the pages immediately preceding are applica-

An absolute acceptance is an engagement to pay the bill according to its An absotenor. At present, the usual mode of making such an acceptance of an in-lute Acland bill is either by writing on the bill the word "accepted," and subscrib- on the Bill ing the drawee's name; or by writing the word "accepted" only; or it may itself. be by merely writing the name, either at the bottom, or across the bill, though it is not necessary that the acceptance should be signed or subscribed notwithstanding the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, s. 2, requires it to be in writing(r). But in foreign bills drawn on France, the holder cannot legally refuse an acceptance made by any other equivalent words, as "je ferai honneur" "je paierai" "j'acquitterai;" but the word "vue" does not absolutely import an acceptance, for it may have been written with a very different intent(s). In addition to the word "accepted," or some equivalent expression, the French law expressly requires that the acceptance shall be signed, and the word "accepted," without signature, notwithstanding any ancient usage to the contrary, is unavailing(t). It is not, however, necessary in that country to repeat *in the acceptance the sum which the acceptor engages to pay, unless [*292] when it varies from the bill, though we have seen that it may be expedient to state the sum to avoid fraud (u). If by the terms of a bill it is to be pay-

(c) Rees v. Warwick, 2 Bar. & Ald. 113, (Chit. 1039), observed upon by Park, J. in Fairlie v. Herring, 8 Bing. 631; 11 Moore, 520, (Chit. j. 1300).

(p) Per Lord Kenyon, Powell v. Jones, 1 Esp. 17, (Chit. j. 509). See further, the cases, post, 297, &c.

(q) Leach r. Buchanan, 4 Esp. Rep. 226, (Chit. j. 657); Barber v. Gingell, 3 Esp. Rep. 60, (Chit. j. 618); Jones v. Ryde, 1 Marsh. 159, 160, (Chit. j. 906); and Price v. Neal, there cited. See post, 307, note (h).

Leach v. Buchanan, 4 Esp. Rep. 226, (Chit. j. 657). Indorsee against the acceptor of a bill of exchange; the only evidence as to the acceptance was, that the defendant had acknowledged to witness that this acceptance was in his handwriting, and that it would be duly paid. The defendant offered to prove that the acceptance had been forged by the drawer, but Lord Ellenborough held, that unless the evidence given by the plaintiff was wholly discredited, it could not entitle the defendant to a verdict; and as he so accredited the bill, and induced a person to take it, he should hold him liable for the payment; and the plaintiff had a verdict.

(r) Dufaur v. Oxenden, 1 Mood. & M. 90. (s) 1 Pardessus, 391, 392; but see post, 294, note (t).

(t) 1 Pardessus, 392. (u) 1 Pardessus, 890.

^{(1) {} W. accepted certain bills of exchange in the name, but without the authority of his brother J., which bills were dishonored when at maturity. W. was arrested upon another charge of forgery, and while in custody, the holders of the above bills applied. Held, that the written acknowledgment by J. (after the bills had been dishonoured,) that he was responsible for the bills and also that he engaged to pay them in case his brother should fail to do so, was not sufficient to make him liable upon the bills; no antecedent authority having been given to W. to accept the bills, and the subsequent acknowledgment of liability being made to screen his brother from a charge of forgery. Ex parte Edwards Lond. Jurist, 1841, p. 706. } ceptances. 5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

, II. Of Ac- able at another place than the drawee's residence his acceptance should particularize the house or place, in order that the holder may there present for payment and make protest if necessary, and if he do not, the holder may refuse such incomplete acceptance (v). We have already considered the consequences of a bill or note being drawn or accepted payable at a particular place(x).

> Where a bill, payable at days, usuances or otherwise, after night, is accepted, it is usual and proper to require the drawee to certify or write the day of the presentment and of the acceptance, by which means, in case of dispute, the same evidence which will establish the handwriting to the acceptance itself will also prove the time it was made(y). But it has been decided, that if on production of such a bill an acceptance appears to have been written by the defendant under a date which is not in his hand-writing, the date is evidence of the time of acceptance, because it is the usual course of business in such cases for a clerk to write the date, and for the party to write his acceptance under the date(z). If there be no date, it may be inferred to have been accepted on the date of the bill(a). On a written acceptance by any other person than the drawee, it is said to be essential that the name of such third person should appear(b). By the practice of the London bankers, if one banker who holds a check drawn on another banker, presents it after four o'clock, it is not then paid, but a mark is put on it to show that the drawer has effects, and that it will be paid, and this marking binds the banker to pay on the next day at the clearing-house(c).

By a Partner or Agent.

When an acceptance is made by one partner only, on the partnership account, he should regularly subscribe the name of the firm, or express that he accepts for himself and partner (d); but any mode which indicates an intention to be bound by the terms of the request in the bill will bind the firm(e). And when by an agent for his principal, he must subscribe the name of such principal, or specify that he does it as agent, as otherwise it may, if he be named or described in the direction of the bill, make him personally responsible(f).

Acceptances payable at a particular Place before the Act 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78.

It has been adjudged, that if a bill be made payable in a city or large town generally, it should by the acceptance be made payable at some particular house or place there, and if not, that the holder may protest it, which seems reasonable, as otherwise it would be difficult in many cases for the holder to find out the residence of the drawer (g)(1). Much discussion in modern

(v) 1 Pardessus, 393.

(x) Ante, 151 to 154; and see post, Ch. IX. s. i. Presentment for Payment.

(y) Beawes, pl. 266; 1 Pardess. 392, 393. (z) Glossop v. Jacob, 4 Campb. 227; 1 Stark. Rep. 69, (Chit. j. 944).

(a) 1 Pardessus, 393.

(b) Bayl. 5th edit. 183, 184. (c) Robson v. Bennett, 2 Taunt. 388, (Chit. 794). See further as to checks, post, Ch.

j. 754); unte, 58, note (z). And see Lloydr. Ashby, 2 B. & Ad. 23, 29, ante, 43, note (f).

(f) Ante, 32, 33, 34; Poth. pl. 118; Thomus v. Bishop, 2 Stra. 955, (Chit. j. 277); Macbeth r. Huldimand, 1 T. R. 172. It should seem an acceptance by an agent, not specifying that he accepted as such would render him personally liable, though the drawer knew he acted as agent; Leadbitter v. Farrow, 5 Maule & S. 345, (Chit. 970); anle, 88, note (u).

(d) Ante, 57.
(g) Gregory v. Walcup, Com. 75; Mutford
(e) Mason v. Rumsey, 1 Campb. 384, (Chit. v. Walcot, Lord Raym. 574, (Chit. j. 214).

⁽¹⁾ Where a foreign bill is drawn on persons residing in A., payable in B., without any particular place in the latter city being designated where payment is to be made, the holder may demand acceptance and payment of the drawees, at A., and a protest for non-acceptance or non-payment will be good if made there; or the holder may at his election, if payment is not made at

1 19.38

· . . 4

. 4.

: X

.

times arose upon the effect of an acceptance payable at a particular place, and II. Of Acbefore the recent act, *the following points were settled in the House of Lords, ceptances. in the case of Rowe v. Young(h); it was decided, 1st, That if a bill were 5thly, accepted payable at the house of P. and W. it was a qualified acceptance, Form and restricting the place of payment, and the holder was bound to present the bill Acceptat that house for payment, in order to charge the acceptor; and that ances. if he brought an action against the acceptor, he must in his declaration [*293] aver, and on the trial prove, that he made such presentment; and for want of such averment the declaration was held bad on demurrer. That an acceptor might qualify his acceptance was clearly established by cases including almost every species of qualification; and that if the qualification as to place could not be introduced by the acceptor, it must be on account of some circumstance which belongs to place, and does not belong to time or mode of payment, or any other species of qualification whatever. 3dly, That when a bill is drawn generally, considering that it is an address to the person who is to accept it generally, it is the duty of the acceptor who intends to give a special acceptance, to accept in such terms that the nature of his contract may be seen in the terms he has used, that the acceptance may clearly appear to be qualified or special, which he insists is not general. 4thly, That when the acceptor uno flatu writes the words "accepted payable at such a house," the word "accepted" is not to be taken to express the whole of the acceptor's contract, but the latter words are also to be taken as part of it, and are to be construed distinctly as a direction or expansion of engagement. 5thly, That if an acceptor promise to pay at his banker's in London, and the holder calls upon him in Northumberland, the payment is not the same. He presumes that the demand is to be made at the banker's in London, and the funds are deposited there. But if the acceptor is unexpectedly to meet the demands in a distant place, the cost of the exchange and remittance backwards and forwards must be added. 6thly, That if the law be, that although a bill is drawn generally, it may be accepted specially, it is the effect of the law to impose a duty upon the holder, of giving notice to the

(h) Rowe v. Younge, 2 Bligh, Rep. 391; 2 tains much useful argument and learning on the Brod. & B. 165, (Chit. j. 1084); and Hal-, subject. comb's separate report of that case, which con-

B. at the maturity of the bill, protest the bill there for non-payment. For as no place in B. is pointed out to which the holder might resort, and the drawees reside at A., an attempt to search for them at B. would be without object or effect; and the holder is not bound to go elsewhere, as the bill has directed payment at B.; and he may conform his conduct to the tenor of the bill. And on the other hand it is a sound rule that where no particular place of payment is fixed, a demand upon the drawees personally is good; and a general refusal to pay is a refusal according to the tenor of the bill, and is equivalent to a refusal to pay in B. Mason v. Franklin, 3 John. Rep. 202. Bort v. Franklin, 3 John. Rep. 207.

Where a note is not payable at any particular place, and the maker has a known and permanent residence within the state, the holder is bound to make a demand of payment, there, in order to charge the indorser; but where a note was dated at Albany, and the maker had removed to Canada, a demand of payment at Albany was held sufficient. Anderson v. Drake, 14 John. Rep. 114.

See Galpin v. Hard, 3 M'Cord, 394. If the place of payment of a note be designated in a memorandum at the bottom; or if to the acceptance of a bill of exchange, be added a particular place of payment, with the assent of the holder; such memorandum or qualification becomes a part of the contract; and if only the name of the place be written on the bottom of the note or bill, it is within the province of the jury to determine the object and effect of it. Tuckerman v. Hartwell, 3 Greenl. 147. It seems, that as against the maker of a promissory note, or acceptor of a bill of exchange, payable at a particular place, no averment in the declaration, or proof at the trial, of a demand of payment, at the place designated, is necessary; but as against an indorser of a bill or note, it is in general otherwise. Bank of the United States v. Smith, 11 Wheat. 171, 174.

ceptances. 5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

II. Of Ac- drawer and previous indorsers, if he intend to keep alive their liability. 7thly, That it is not true that an acceptor must be antecedently the debtor. and that all the cases of qualified acceptances show the contrary; and that a man may accept to pay out of the produce of a cargo consigned to him, when that cargo shall arrive in England; and that in the case of a consignee, his acceptance is almost universally qualified. 8thly, That money paid at Torpoint and in London are different things; and if an acceptor of a bill is liable to be called upon at both places, his liability is rendered more inconvenient.

1 & 2 Geo. to acceptances payable at a particular Place.

This decision occasioned the passing of the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78(i), for 4, c. 78, as England, and the 9 Geo. 4, c. 24, for Ireland, the terms of which enactments we have already considered(k); and we have seen, that to constitute a special acceptance the drawee must express "payable at a banker's house or other place only, and not otherwise or elsewhere." And in an action against the acceptor the omission of these words now prevents the bill from being deemed necessarily payable at the particular place, although in the body of it the drawer requested the drawee to pay there(1). And the [*294] omission to present a bill so drawn or accepted *without those special words, precludes the necessity for a presentment at the banker's, and this although the acceptor has really been prejudiced by the neglect(m). But where a bill is drawn payable at a particular place specified in the body of the bill, and the action is against the drawer, a presentment there is still necessary (n). Nor is it necessary, in order to constitute a special acceptance, that the word "only" should be introduced; if a bill be accepted payable at a particular place, "and not elsewhere," this is a special acceptance(o).

And where a bill has been accepted payable at the house of S. P. and S. and be so declared upon, it is not necessary to aver a presentment to the acceptor himself, or to S. P. and S., the averment and proof of a presentment. at such house suffices(p). So that notwithstanding the terms of the act, an acceptance payable at a particular place has some effect given to it(q).

(i) 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, called Sergeant Onslow's Act. Per Best, C. J. in Selby v. Eden, 3 Bing. 613; 11 Moore, 511, (Chit. j. 1297).
(k) Ante, 152.

(1) Fayle v. Bird, 6 B. & C. 531; 9 Dow. & Ry. 639, (Chit. j. 1239); 2 Car. & P. 303, and Addenda, ix. S. C.; Turner r. Hayden, 4 B. & C. 1; Ry. & Moo. 215, (Chit. j. 1246). In this case the plaintiff, who was the drawer, in the body of the bill, requested the defendant to pay to his order in London, and the defendant accepted the bill payable at W. Metcalf, Esq. Coal Exchange, London, and the decla-ration averred presentment there. The plaintiff failed in proving any presentment, and was thereupon nonsuited, and it was contended, that as the bill was by the act of the drawer made payable in London, the statute 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, did not excuse the want of such presentment; but the court, on the authority of the case of Schy v. Eden, 3 Bing. 611; 11 Moore, 511, (Chit. j. 1297); held, that the circumstance of the drawer having himself made the bill payable at a particular place, made no difforence, as the statute declared that all acceptances should be deemed general acceptances, unless the particular words mentioned in the statute were incorporated in the acceptance.

Lord Tenterden, C. J .- " I should certainly have entertained some doubt whether this case fell within the statute 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, had it not been for the authority cited on behalf of the plaintiff. It appears that the Court of Common Pleas, in Selby r. Eden, supra, have decided, that the act embraces every bill payable at a banker's or other place, and that there is no distinction between the case where the bill is rendered so payable by the language of the drawer, and the case where it is rendered so payable by the language of the acceptor. It is of great importance that there should be an uniformity of decision in the different Courts of Westminster Hall upon all questions, but particularly upon questions affecting negotiable instruments of this description. Upon the authority of that case, therefore, we are of opinion that the rule for entering a verdict for the plaintiff should be made absolute." Rule absolute. Aliter, if action against drawer; Gibb v. Mather, 8 Bing. 214, infra, note (n).

(m) Turner v. Hayden, 4 Bar. & Cres. 1; Ryan & Moo. 215; 6 Dow. & Ry. 5, (Chit. j. 1246); ante, 153, note (e)

(n) Gibb v. Mather, 8 Bing. 214; ante, 152, note (a), and post, Ch. IX. s. i. Presentment. (o) Siggers v. Nicholls, Bail Court, H. T. 1839; 3 Jurist, 34.

(p) Hawkey v. Borwick, 1 Younge & J. 376; 4 Bing. 135; 12 Moore, 479, (Chit.). 1333). See post, Part II. Ch. II. s. iv. Of the Declaration.

(q) Id. ibid.

~ 1

- 2

4. .

612

1: ::

ور

,215

0.7

; i.e

1

4.00

. [2]

نو تهروه

1.5

•4

3

Ţ,

And though an acceptance payable at a particular place is not obligatory on II. Of Acthe holder to present there, and it may be made to the drawee at any other ceptances. place, unless the special words are inserted, yet a presentment at the place 5thly, will always suffice and be proper(r). And where a bill was accepted paya- Form and ble at No. 18, Bishopsgate Street, and the acceptor died before it became Acceptdue, it was held sufficient, in an action against the drawer, to prove present- ances. ment at the specified place, and that it was not necessary to show a presentment at the house of the deceased's representative(s).

With respect to acceptances of inland bills made in England or Ireland, What any writing of the drawee upon the bill which evinces a consent to comply Words with the request of the drawer will constitute an acceptance. Thus the amount to word "accepted," "seen(t)," "presented(u)," the *day of the month(v), an acceptor a direction to a third person to pay the bill(x), written thereon, (or before Inlandthe 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, on any other paper relating to the transaction(y), Bill. will amount to an acceptance. So, since that act, any words intended as [*295] an acceptance, written on the bill by the drawee, may amount to a valid acceptance, though not subscribed by or with the name of the drawee(z). And though the bill be not addressed to any person, yet if defendant write across it, " accepted, C. N." he will be liable as acceptor(a); nor, indeed, as we have just seen, was it necessary before the act, that the acceptance of inland bills should be in writing (b).

An acceptance may also as to foreign bills (except those drawn on Implied or Construc-France, where a written signed acceptance is required (c), be implied as tive Accepwell as expressed; and it is said that it may be inferred from the drawee's tance of keeping the bill a great length of time, or by any other act which gives cre- Foreign dit to the bill, and induces the holder not to protest it: or is intended as a surprise upon him, and to induce him to consider the bill as accepted (d).

(r) Ante, 152, note (s).

(s) Philpott v. Bryant, 3 Car. & P. 244; 4 Bing. 717; 1 M. & P. 754, (Chit. j. 1887), but on a different point.

(t) Poth. pl. 45. But see 1 Pardess. 391,

(u) Anon. Comb. 401, (Chit. j. 193). Per Holt, C. J. If the drawer underwrites a bill " presented such a day, or only the day of the month," it is such an acknowledgment of the bill as amounts to an acceptance, and this was declared by the jury to be the common practice; and see Vin Abr. tit. Bills of Exchange, L. 4.

(v) See preceding note.

(x) Moor v. Whitby, Bull N. P. 270, (Chit. j. 381). A bill, drawn by Newton on the defendant, was presented for acceptance; the defendant wrote upon it, "Mr. Jackson, please to pay this note, and charge it to Mr. Newton's account. R. Whitby." It was insisted that this was no acceptance, but only a direction to Jackson to pay it out of a particular fund, and if there were no such fund the money was not to be paid. Per cur. "This is a direction to Jackson to pay the money, and it signifies not to what account it is to be placed when paid; that is a transaction between them only, and this is clearly a sufficient acceptance." Selw. 9th edit. 826.

(y) Wilkinson v. Lutwidge, Stra. 648, (Chit. j. 263). Drawer against acceptor of a bill of exchange. The question was as to the validity of the acceptance. The bill was drawn in New England, and remitted to the plaintiff's correspondents in London, together with another bill drawn upon the same account, both which were sent to the defendant for his acceptance, who, in his letter acknowledging the receipt of them wrote thus, "the two bills of exchange which you sent me, I will pay them, in case the owners of the Queen Anne do not. and they living in Dublin, must first apply to them. I hope to have their answer in a week or ten days. I do not expect they will pay them, but I judge it proper to take their answer before I do, which I request you will acquaint Mr. Wilkinson with, and that he may rest satisfied with the payment." The defendant insisted that this was only a conditional acceptance, to pay in case the owners of the Queen Anne did not. But Raymond, C. J. held the acceptance an absolute one. See also Pillans v. Van Mierop, 3 Burr. 1663, (Chit. j. 372).

(z) Dufaur v. Oxenden, Mood. & M. 90. (a) Gray v. Milner, 3 Moore, 91; 8 Taunt. 789, (Chit. j. 1022, 1052); ante, 164, note (q). (b) Ante, 287, 288.

(c) Ante, 287, note (p); 289, note (e). (d) Clavey v. Dolbin, Hardw. 278, (Chit. j 280); post, 298, note (g); Peach v. Kay, Bayl. 4th edit. 75; post, 298, note (k); Harvey r. Martin, 1 Campb. 425, (Chit. j. 756); Fernan ceptances. 5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

II. Of Ac. But it should seem that the mere detention of a *bill for an unreasonable time by the drawee will not amount to an acceptance (e), nor will the drawse's disfiguring, cancelling, or destroying the bill(f), have the effect of an acceptance.

And where a bill was sent by the post to the drawee for acceptance, that having been the course between the holder and drawee, it was holden, that a neglect by the drawee to return it for ten or twelve days, whilst he was waiting to see whether the drawer would send him funds, was no acceptance(g), especially as he kept it at the instance of the drawer, on a promise from him of funds; and it appears to have been considered, that at most the neglect of the drawee had the effect of subjecting him to a special action on the

It has, indeed, been supposed that the drawee's destroying a bill may amount to an implied acceptance(i); and in one case, two learned judges (Lord Ellenborough and Holroyd, J.) were of that opinion; but the other judges (Abbott, J. and Bayley, J.) thought that the destruction of the bill dey v. Glynn, 1 Campb. 426, (Chit. j. 756); amounted to an acceptance. Poth. pl. 46; post, 296, note (m).

Harvey v. Martin, I Campb. 425, (Chit. j. 756). In an action by the payee and holder of a bill against the defendant as acceptor, it appeared that the bill was drawn in Guernsey, where the drawer and the plaintiff resided, on defendant, who lived in Cornwall, dated 13th of March, 1805, at three months; that within a fortnight after it was drawn, the plaintiff sent it to the defendant, desiring him to accept it, and remit to S. Dobree, the plaintiff's correspondent in London On 13th April, 1805, the plaintiff, finding that the bill had not been sent to S. Dobree, wrote to the defendant, requesting him to accept and send it, stating, that though he considered the keeping of the bill as tantamount to an acceptance, yet that it was not the same to him, as S. Dobree would not give him credit for it until he received it accepted. The defendant, however, did not accept the bill, or remit it, or give any notice of his pefusal so to do. On the 1st of June, the defendant signed a letter, admitting that he had kept the bill, though told by the plaintiff that he considered his doing so as tantamount to an acceptance, as he intended to have paid it, but having no effects of the drawer's refused to pay; and on the 4th of July, when the bill was protested for non-payment, he said he had neglected to write an acceptance upon it, thinking it of no consequence, as he meant to pay it. Lord Ellenborough referred to a MS. case of Trimmer v. Oddy, (see 6 East, 200) in which Lord Kenyon expressed an opinion that a mere keeping of a bill was an acceptance, and said he inclined to entertain the same opinion, but should leave that question to the jury on the custom. Gibbs, however, for the defendant, admitting that he could not answer the case, a verdict was found for the plaintiff. And on an application to Lord Ellenborough to certify for a special jury, his lordship refused, saving, that this was a clear case, but that if it had not been attended with such strong admissions on the part of the defendant, but had been a mere case of a bill kept by the drawer, he should have thought it a fit case for a special jury to decide whether such detention of the bill

See Scaocia de Commerciis et Cambio, folio 383, num. 335, who, in enumerating the different acceptances, mentions that which is made tacite per receptionem et detentionem literarum. See also Poth. Contrat de Change, part 1, chap. 3d, p. 39, who observes, that the ordonnance having directed that an acceptance should be in writing, had rendered inadmissible the acceptation tacite resulting from the drawee's having received and retained the bill. In Thompson on Bills, 369, it is observed, "It has been decided in England that acceptance is implied when the drawee not only detains the bill, but from the whole of his conduct leads the holder to believe that he considered it as accepted;" and he adds, "This appears to have been the true ground of decision in Harvey v. Martin, 1 Campb. 425, and not the mere circumstance of the drawee having detained the bill."

(e) Mason v. Barff, 2 B. & Al. 26, (Chit. j.

(f) Jeune v. Ward, 1 Bar. & Ald. 653; 2 Stark. Rep. 326, (Chit. j. 1021, 1027). In Cox v. Troy, 5 B. & Ald. 474; 1 Dow. & Ry. 39, (Chit. j. 1129); the court held that the drawee might crase his acceptance previous to any communication of his having accepted the bill. In France, the keeping a bill after twentyfour hours may subject the party to damages, but does not amount to an acceptance. Code de Commerce, No. 125; 2 Pardess. 396; 1 Pardess. 383.

(g) Mason and others v. Barff, 2 Bar. & Ald.

26, (Chit. j. 1034).
(h) Id. ibid. And see 1 Pardess. 383; Code de Commerce, No. 125; 2 Pardess. 396. In Thompson on Bills, 369, it is thus observed, "It has been decided in England, that acceptance is implied when the drawee not only detains the bill, but from the whole of his conduct leads the holder to believe that the drawee considered it as accepted," and that this is the true ground of decision in Harvey v. Martin, 1 Campb. 425, (Chit. j. 756); and not the mere circumstance of the drawee having detained the bill.

(i) Bayl. 5th edit. 192.

٠,٠

11.5

والمرازين

9-16

فتروي

10.13

14.5 . 5 2

: 🛷

15

y)

الإزي

11.5

. 1

. .

, ;

was no acceptance, and a doubt was expressed by the latter, whether in any II. Of Accase destruction would do more than subject the party to an action of tro-ceptances. And it has been decided, that if there has been a refusal to accept, 5thly, and the holder submit to that refusal, but omit taking the bill away, a subse- Form and quent destruction of it by the drawee is not necessarily an acceptance(1); Effect of and indeed it seems singular that it should ever have been supposed that the Accepttortious act of destroying a bill, which is calculated to defeat the remedy on the bill, should have been deemed evidence of a contract on the part of the drawee to pay the bill to the holder.

By the usage of trade in London, a check may be retained by a banker, on whom it was drawn, till five oclock in the afternoon of the day on which it is presented for payment, and then returned, though it has been previously cancelled by mistake (m). And constructive acceptances *ought to be watch- [*297] ed with the utmost care, for when a party puts his name on a bill, he knows what he does, and that he thereby enters into a contract: but it is laying down a very loose and dangerous rule when any degree of latitude is given to these cases of constructive acceptances. The cases which have been determined in favour of these constructive acceptances have all been decided upon very special circumstances (n). As far as respects inland bills drawn after the 1st August, 1821, these constructive acceptances have been put an end to by the 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 78, requiring the acceptance to be in writing on the bill itself(0). It is not, however, necessary since this act, in a declaration against the acceptor of an inland bill, to aver that it was in writing (p).

A verbal or written promise to accept, at a future period, a foreign bill Promise to already drawn, or that a bill then drawn shall meet due honour(q), or shall be accepted, or certainly paid when due(r), amounts to an absolute acceptance; and a promise of the same nature, as for instance, "leave the bill and I will accept it(s)," and it be proved that the bill was sent or left accordingly(t), (k) Jeune v. Ward, 1 Bar. & Ald. 653; 2 Stark. Rep. 326, (Chit. j. 1021, 1027).

(1) Id. ibid.

(26) Fernandey v. Glynn, 1 Campb. 426, in notes, (Chit. j. 756); plaintiff paid into the house of Vere and Co. a check on the defendant's house. Vere's clerk took it to the clearing-house to be paid, and put it into the defendant's drawer. Vere's clerk received it back before five cancelled, with a memorandum written under it, "cancelled by mistake." The course was proved to be for the clerks to take the checks from the drawers, and send them to the respective bankers, and those which they will not pay are returned before five o'clock. Lord Ellenborough held that notwithstanding the cancelling, the defendant had till five o'clock to return the check; and having so returned it, it amounted to a refusal to pay. And see Novelli v. Rossi, 2 B. & Ad. 757, as to cancelling an acceptance, post, 309, note (t). See also Turner v. Mead, 1 Stra. 416, (Chit. j. 248); Wilkinson v. Johnston, 5 D. & R. 408; 3 Bar. & Cres. 428, (Chit. j. 1231), where indorsements were cancelled, ante, 243, notes (x) (y).

And see further as to checks, post, Ch. XI.
(n) Mason v. Barff, 2 B. & Al. 35, 36,

(Chit. j. 1034).

(o) See anie, 287, 288. (p) Chalie v. Belshaw, 6 Bing. 529; 4 Moore & P. 275, (Chit. j. 1498).
(g) Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 69, 70, (Chit.

j. 676).

(r) Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700); Ex parte Dyer, 6 Ves. 9.

(s) Bul. N. P. 270; Molloy, B. 2, c. 10, a. 20; Mar. 17, acc.; Pierson v. Dunlop, Cowp. 573, (Chit. j. 392). Semb. contra, and quare if this answer would amount to an acceptance, if given within the twenty-four hours which the drawee usually has to accept the bill.

Bul. N. P. 270. A small matter amounts to an acceptance, as saying, " leave the bill with me and I will accept it," for it is giving a credit to the bill and hindering the protest.

Lord Ellenborough, in Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 69, (Chit. j. 676), said, "It has been laid down in so many cases, that a promise that a bill when due shall meet with due honour, amounts to an acceptance, and that without sending it for a formal acceptance in writing, that it would be wasting words to refer to books on the subject."

Lord Ellenborough, in delivering judgment in Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 521, (Chit. j. 700), said, " A promise to accept an existing bill is an acceptance. A promise to pay it is also an acceptance. A promise therefore to do the one or the other, i. e to accept or certainly pay, cannot be less than an acceptance."

(1) Anderson r. Hick, 3 Campb. 179, (Chit. j. 855). A bill drawn upon the defendants was returned unaccepted, but one of the defendants afterwards told the plaintiff, " if he would send it (the bill) to the counting-house again, he would give directions for its being accepted." The plaintiff contended that this promise amounted to an acceptance; but could not prove that the bill was sent back to the defendant's counting-house. Lord Ellenborough said, "This was only a conditional promise to accept, and could eeptances.

Digitized by Google

5thly, Form and Effect of Acceptances.

II. Of Ac- will also amount to a complete and absolute acceptance, in the hands of a bona fide holder, although the drawee had no consideration for the pro-So a letter promising that a bill already drawn shall be paid, will operate as an acceptance, although the letter be not received until after the bill has become due, and although no person has been induced by such promise to take the bill(x). Where the drawee of a bill, on account of a cargo consigned to him, says it will not be accepted till the ship with the wheat arrives, upon arrival it is an absolute acceptance (y). So a verbal promise to accept, though the party expressly defer a written acceptance, yet where he says, "leave the bill and I will accept it," is a complete acceptance(z);

[•298] and a verbal promise to accept a returned bill when it shall come back, *is binding if it be returned(a). But as we have already seen(b), a promise to accept a non-existing bill is not an acceptance, although the party may be sued specially for the breach of his engagement by the drawer, or person to whom it was made, upon adequate consideration(c).

A promise to accept in future, made on an executory consideration, will not bind, while the consideration remains executory, unless it influence some person to take or to retain the bill(d); and in all cases, if the promise to accept in future be obtained from the drawee by any fraud or misrepresentation, it will not bind him, unless it be in the hands of a bona fide holder(e).

To constitute an acceptance there must be some circumstance from whence it may be inferred that the drawee imagined he had induced the holder to consider the bill as accepted (f), and the whole of the circumstances must be taken together, and there must be evidence of a contract to charge a party as acceptor(g). Therefore an express refusal to accept, as, "I will not accept the bill(h);" or an answer given by the drawee when the bill is called not operate as an acceptance till the bill was sent back to the counting-house;" plaintiff nonsuited. See also Cox v. Coleman, cited R. T. Hardw. 74; 1 Atk. 611.

(u) Pillans v. Van Mierop, 3 Burr. 1669.

(Chit. j. 372). (x) Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 514, (Chit. j. 700); ante, 286, notes (d) and (e). And ante, 290.

(y) Miln v. Prest, 4 Campb. 393, (Chit. j. 951); ante, 285, note (x), and post, 302, n.(l).
(z) Molloy, B 2, c. 10, s. 20.

(a) Cox v. Coleman, ante, 288, note (y). And Anderson v. Hick, 3 Campb. 179; ante, 297, note (t).

(b) Anie, 234, note (p); 1 Pardess. 385 to

(c) Smith v. Brown, 2 Marsh. 41; ante, 284, 285.

(d) Pillans v. Van Mierop, 3 Burr. 1669, (Chit. j. 372); and see Clarke v. Cock, 4 East, 70, (Chit. j. 676); Wynne v. Raikes, 5 East, 521; Holt, C. N. P. 183, (Chit. j. 700). In Pillans v. Mierop, 3 Burr. 1669, Lord Mansfield says, "it was argued at the trial that this imported to be a credit given to Pillans and Rose, in prospect of a future credit to be given by them to White, and that this credit might well be countermanded before the advancement of any money, and this is so."

(e) Pillans v. Van Mierop, 3 Burr. 1669,

(Chit. j. 872).

(f) Ante, 295, note (d); Bentinck r. Dorrien, 6 East, 201, (Chit. j. 712); post, 309, note (x).

(g) Per Lord Hardwicke, in Clavey v. Dolbin, Hardw. 278, (Chit. j. 280). Action upon an inland bill of exchange against the acceptor, and the evidence of an acceptance was this;the bill having been presented for acceptance, and refused by the drawee, because he had no effects, was returned into the country, and a little while afterwards, the bill being hazardous, plaintiff's agent met the drawee and asked him if he could not help to secure him his debt, and he said he would if he could, for he had now some effects in his hands; whereupon the agent immediately wrote for the bill, and presented it to the drawee, who bid him leave the bill and he would examine into it, and it was left with him eight or ten days, and then the agent called again, and the drawee offered to let him sell some of the effects and pay himself, which the agent refused, and thereupon this action was brought; and per Lord Hardwicke, "Indeed, it has been adjudged, that a parol acceptance will be good, and possibly leaving the bill ten days with the drawee, might of itself be such a consent as to amount to an acceptance. But this is not so, for you must take the whole together, and there must be evidence of a contract to charge the acceptor, whereas it is otherwise upon this evidence." Rees v. Warwick, 2 B. & Al. 113; 2 Stark. 411, (Chit. j. 1039); infra, note (o).

(h) Peach v. Kay, Bayl. 4th edit. 78, infra, acc.; Lumley v. Palmer, Hardw. 75, in notes, (Chit. j. 275), (where a written refusal is said to amount to an acceptance) contra-Lumley v. Palmer, Hardw. 75, note. (Chit.

'nΪ

و. د کر دور

for, "there is your bill, it is all right (i);" cannot be construed into an acceptance II. Of Acunless accompanied by expressions intended to deceive the holder, and to coptances. induce him to consider it as an acceptance(k). And where the drawee, after 5thly, a refusal to accept, on the ground that he had no effects, promised to at- Form and tempt to procure payment for the holder, because he had just received some Accepteffects; on which the bill was presented to him, and he desired the holder ances. to leave it, and said that he would examine into it; whereupon the hill was left with him eight or ten days, and was then called for, on which the *drawee offered to let the holder sell some of the effects, and pay himself; [*299] this conduct was holden not to amount to an acceptance (l). So it has been determined, that if the drawee of a bill say he cannot accept it without further direction from I. S., and I. S. afterwards desire him to accept and draw upon A. B. for the amount, the mere drawing a bill upon A. B. will not amount to an absolute acceptance, nor can become such before the bill upon A. B. is accepted(m). And where the drawee of a bill, on presentment for payment, said, "this bill will be paid, but we cannot allow you for a duplicate protest," and the holder refused to receive payment without the charges of such protest, this was held not to amount to an acceptance (n). So where a drawer of a bill wrote to the drawee, stating, that he had valued on him for the amount, and added, "which please to honour;" to which the drawee answered, "the bill shall have attention;" it was held, that these words were ambiguous, and did not amount to an acceptance of the bill, inasmuch as although an acceptance may be made by a letter to a drawer, still that can only be so where the terms of the letter do not admit of doubt(o)(1).

j. 275). "Underwriting or indorsing a bill thus, I will not accept this bill, is held by the custom of merchants to be a good acceptance," but in Bayley on Bills, 4th edit. 78, it was stated that Lord Mansfield, in Peach v. Kay, Sittings after Trinity Term, 1781, said, "It was held by all the judges, that an express refusal to accept, written on the bill, where the drawee apprised the party who took it away, what he had written, was no acceptance; but if the drawee had intended it as a surprise upon the party, and to make him consider it as an acceptance, they seemed to think it might have been otherwise. The case of the note, "which I promise never to pay," may be assimilated, ante, 131.

(i) Powell v. Jones, 1 Esp. Rep. 17, (Chit. j. 509).

(k) Id. ibid.

(1) Clavey v. Dolbin, Hardw. 278, (Chit. j. 280); ante, 298, note (g); but see Harvey v. Martin, 1 Campb. 425, 426, (Chit. j. 756); ante, 295 in notes.

(m) Smith v. Nissen, 1 T. R. 269, (Chit. j.

(n) Anderson v. Heath, 4 Maule & S. 303, (Chit. j. 986). Where the holders of a foreign bill of exchange, payable sixty days after sight, presented it to the drawees for acceptance, which being refused, they protested it for non-acceptance. and afterwards, on the day it became due, presented it to the drawees for payment, making a charge for the expenses of protesting it; to which the drawees said, "this bill will be paid, but we cannot allow you for a duplicate protest." And the holders refused to receive payment, without the charges; and afterwards the drawees revoked their offer to pay; held. that they might well do so, for this did not amount to an acceptance of the bill by the drawees. Lord Ellenborough said, "In this cuse the defendants had as it were commenced the work of discharging the bill, and were up-on the very brink of paying it, when the subject of the charge for the duplicate protest was started, which caused them to hold their hand. But at this time neither of the parties were treating about accepting the bill, nor was it ever mentioned or contemplated by them; all that was thought of was the payment of the bill. If therefore this would enure as an acceptance, it would enure against the plain intent of the parties. It is undoubtedly true, that if a merchant, upon being applied to for his acceptance, uses words which import a promise to pay the bill, this will amount to an acceptance; but it is not so where the words are used upon a different occasion, and with a different intent. Now in this case all that was ever contemplated was payment, and as to that the defendant says, if you will take the amount of the bill it shall be paid, but if you choose to insist on having the seventeen shillings, I will not pay it. Not one word passes about acceptance; and the party unfortunately elected to stand upon his claim to the seventeen shillings, but for which he would have been paid." And Le Blanc, J. added, "That to hold this an acceptance, would be to hold it something never intended by the parties." And per curiam, judgment of nonsuit.

(o) Rees v. Warwick, 2 B. & Al. 113; 2 Stark. 411, (Chit. j. 1039). See post 821 (37).

